(2:32:27) that's absolutely fine with me and like i said i'd actually prefer you maintain that but um you know this is this is the way it is uh we just have a couple of minutes left here gene why don't you tell us what you've got going a couple of uh projects uh writing projects that you're working on and then we'll ask the same question of bob all right i'm uh well i'm researching a book basically i i told bob about a chapter i was writing last week and he wanted to make a t-shirt and the chapter in the book was
(2:32:58) i'm already ashamed to be an american let's stop this before i'm actually afraid to be an american and what this is all about is i'm trying to examine you know anyone who just about anyone you question who travels abroad today uh if they're sitting in an airport lounge whatever overseas no one even wants to admit or bring attention to the fact that they're an american citizen because they feel like they're a target so i'm just examining and examining how we got to this point you know why it's at this
(2:33:28) point and maybe how we can prevent this from being perpetuated into the future well you have to let us know when that book comes out and bob the same question to you uh what's what's in in store for you i guess that the most obvious one is you're waiting to see what happens with this the possibility of legal charges right yeah that is but uh you know both my wife and i try and uh prevent that from dominating our mind we're very busy with united nuclear which has turned into quite a big business in fact
(2:33:58) we're just finishing construction on our new facility and we'll be uh producing manufacturing all kinds of different scientific equipment and materials so that this is keeping us busy most of the time i'm still you know actively planning on releasing hydrogen system kits and uh you know though it's kind of difficult we're just looking for ways around the regulations that are apparently in place and you know i assume i'll eventually be able to do this the systems work quite well the hydrogen generator is a little slow so the
(2:34:42) process you use to make your own fuel needs improvement but still you know things do work well and there just has to be some common ground or some loopholes we can get through so we can legally sell this material without all the red tape and you know it's it's something that i hope the people realize that are trying to prevent this from occurring it's something that they'll benefit from too you know this is uh this is something really that helps everybody bob lazar and gene huff great to talk to
(2:35:13) you guys thanks for staying up so late thanks to all the callers who uh called in with their questions and stuck it out for all these hours uh thanks also to art bell for allowing me to sit in and to george nori uh all the staff at premier radio and lisa the producer at the uh down there at the with the coast to coast program for uh giving me this shot uh i'm george knapp signing off on coast to coast art bell will be back on april 15th thanks everybody

(00:00) you can tell it must have puddled there because there's tracks that have mudded up a few places what about inside this rough concrete work no it's cut it's uh the entire slab is you know large piece of concrete and it's um if I can put a gloss or lacquer coat on it it's uh but it's concrete but they put some kind of coating on it yeah yeah it was very very shiny also probably slippery too there's a lot of painted marks on the floor no I saw it oh it's a yellow uh yellow tape it was already uh rules about Rings

(00:48) watches you have to remove phase before you went to these areas or you remove those before you went in to the installation to leave your bags then stains are bad no no well to get in and get that so you didn't have a badge when you first get there yeah and exchange it like for a white one for yellow we got on the airplane you went through yeah and then you got your badge right at the installation right and that's foreign on board the planet the EG and G yeah Dennis was always waiting there okay [Music] not that I saw on anybody
(01:49) that's really interesting it tells you something about the truth yeah Los Alamos yeah Mark too and places in places where there was no radioactive material there's Canada anyway yeah my my son-in-law is a nuclear powered clients officer for the Nimitz and he says oh yeah badges all the time tested all the time yeah everybody's done everyone but uh no none for none from that area he's got to say something about the safety of the material yeah perhaps that no I I don't think so I when you when you got the job or (02:36) whatever were you given any kind of like a outline of what has to happen by a certain date or was it just do those you have to or get it done as it goes or that was strange it really there was really no uh you know goals set were there any like morning briefings afternoon briefings or no I wasn't to that stage yet it was more of a casual employee there was no set job for me to perform yet you know every uh what did they ask of you by the universe were interviewed or the second interview at agmg what were they concerned it was (03:17) strange they went through the uh with a typical interview um what I had done incidentally this this is just amongst us this is not going to go anyway uh you know what I had done in previous jobs what jobs of my field of expertise was specifically what I did in Los Alamos and uh things along that so I put the second interview which I think really weighed heavily they really wanted to know what I did in my spare time it was almost like my personal life and uh you know I kept reverting back to well you know you know I worked
(04:27) again at that time then I just gave up and just answered the questions you think they were looking for a situation where if they had to deny anything that you've ever said they could find it easy to do so because of the background maybe so I mean they asked me you know questions and things they knew that obviously they had spoken to somebody and all of this other stuff they know about that they knew about everything a bunch of crazy things I did and uh it's almost like food hi the fact that I would say maybe you should
(05:30) know they all laughed and that was essentially the end of the interview when I was told to come but um I don't know what the point when they checked on me they checked on my neighbors and it never came to me never talked with me but they talked with my neighbors they kind of never talked to my parents oh they taught me everything exactly when I had heard that there were two investigators this goes back in 1950 and uh I called the FBI in office in Chicago and I said look this is what I do right on I'm an aviation historian (06:04) and I I discovered the U2 and what it does and I have an interest in aerial reconnaissance airplanes rb57e rv36js you know and so I'd be happy to talk with you but this is what I do I intend to keep doing it and I'll come down to your office or send your guy out and we'll sit down and talk and they never confirmed it or anything else you know they never said that it was their people or anything my neighbors know they just said that the two are you they asked me are you changing jobs are you going to work for

of questions it's a good father a good citizen all you know the whole background so I discovered that I called FBI and then they they never called me in and they never confirmed that it was them and at that time it could have been CIA because I was I was interested in the YouTube at that time that's what it was all about yeah one of my friends who they talk in depth with um he said again they were uh you know they really wanted to go about my personality (07:08) they said uh you know in fact I think specifically one of the questions was now I'd like to understand gets mad as he starts throwing screwdrivers around or things like that you know how much does he drink questions along those lines stability issues yeah of course marketing the hot water you kind of like the gel little lady in England who was with the IRA and the Air Force frowned up on it positive problem yeah they came and told one of my friends out of work until they're ones to find any any real Niche they can get a crowbar into about (08:01) your past eventually is evidence well should we go back make some sketches side views and try and get it as right as possible we'll have a great variety to look at it make your comments we're trying to get the level is running out or we can take it from there I can do the nice illustration you might want to use but I'll do them soon should be gone yeah that should be a new drawing I'd love to imagine to get enlarged in something in fact do a line drawing of that too or photocopy it before you color it so I can have my (09:01) t-shirt yeah yeah this is still a I I I I just wonder how far they're going to go before or tolerate and allow everybody to mess with this before they say something unless like so many people said maybe that's how do you it's so well contained how do you approve it or disprove other than that isn't that well-containable I mean is it really look how much no it's not but did you see you couldn't tell where the door was anymore unless the door was facing the other side Italians here did you ever see the retainer with the (10:05) door yeah that's it as a model so we're going to be really neat inside everything is I think this is the type of project that's got to have artwork on a box that looks like the most boring model this isn't even an inset of a grade at one of the seats inside and do a little plastic Ray figure or treat or three or four up in the account a guard you know the question is what was the total crew compliment on this were there any dogs out there three dog names you know it's so remote and buried so
(10:55) far maybe they felt that anybody trying to come in would have been caught at the periphery well I thought maybe they might yet at the same time the guys on the face well look at what happened just this week with the British that got on board for that test that nuclear test there were three people almost at Ground Zero they were about a half a mile away or something that's pretty deep penetration yeah but that's an easy place to get on you just hike it's there's no security there at all that's not similarly defense near (11:30) Mercury I feel like a big deal out of it you can walk right onto Ground Zero well I was I was told by by OSI kernel this goes back in the 19 70. 78. about Area 51 he said John if they really seen someone walk on to 50. well no he said if if if somebody really in numbers made an intense effort to penetrate 51. and there was enough people doing it it could be done because we don't have that many people out there to handle a real Hamas charge so to speak of people trying to get into the area he says that's one of the reasons why we (12:24) kind of keep it quiet low key so that we don't get hundreds of off-roaders out in that area and trying to penetrate he said we really couldn't keep them all away but then again it's true for me at all yeah what length would they go to yeah that's exactly it but there's still a lot of crap out there at Area 51 that's flying an interesting machine hot stuff what kind of time did you spend there when you were there I mean you could spend like a few hours sometimes well sometimes I spam up to eight hours but that was only on a
(13:07) couple occasions usually it was only about four or five hours but where did you eat usually I had a break room no because I I'd eat before I went out there I usually eat about 3 30 before I went out and when you got to uh 51 and waited for the bus there was a little like snack shop cafeteria thing where you could get something but there was no place to eat down there if they have drinking problems at all yeah they had drinking pounds but there's foreign yes [Music] I never did see uh and went inside too I (13:50) never did see any place to eat but then I never asked so I don't know maybe and like I said I only saw the installation and where I worked this thing could be big of course it could only be that that's too but how many times before you after actually six the guard was with you all then coming constantly and was this the case with everybody that was there for the most part or just a new man most of the time but uh most of the time with other people but more with me now and it wasn't every single time because when I (14:36) went out so we did have some alone time there um but there was never any any socializing off that facility or be back here in Las Vegas right now I like it so that's one of the reasons I think they worked on the buddy system do you have someone to work with and someone to talk to it's almost like the nuclear bomb thing I mean so you have you have something to let out stuff too yeah he's also part of the project so you know you can talk to him but that's it kind of he's given good psychological

(15:08) studies who was the Buddy it's older than me maybe 35 40. we get to talk a lot about where you come from okay with the intensity of the Guard what was he guarding you against I have no idea it was just there were you gonna take something or I don't know he could make a phone call it almost seemed like it was just intimidation yeah I don't I don't know if they're really good serve any purpose

(00:23) thank you are you Robert Scott Bazaar yes [Music] [Music] about whether you have lied about flying saucers or anti-matter control do you
(01:27) intend to answer my questions truthfully yes did you knowingly lie when you said that you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation now did you knowingly lie when you said you had seen an anti-matter reactor now did you knowingly lie when you said that you actually saw a 30 odd foot gravity-powered flying disc now [Music] foreign
(02:38) this week we've heard the contention of UFO researchers that there is a secret government within our government while that may be hard to believe coming from the UFO perspective we've certainly learned in Watergate and the Iran Contra Scandal that factions within our government can and do person pursue their own hidden agendas outside of the law outside the control of Congress or the knowledge of the American people this is exactly the type of operation we'll hear about tonight it's a chilling
(03:04) scenario with Worldwide implications that may have its roots right here Area 51 that mysterious corner of the Nevada Test Site is no longer much of a secret the fact that secretive things go on here is a given even to the Soviets who make daily spy flights over the facility to take a peek at what's going on these photos never before shown in public are about as close as anyone will ever come to seeing what the place looks like again the dry bed of Groom Lake corrugated metal buildings a three mile long Runway and some highly (03:36) sophisticated radar and detection equipment it's been known by many names over the years Dreamland the ranch the Skunk Works if ever there was a place to test a secret new technology this is it and that's exactly what's been done here for decades 51 is where stealth technology was nurtured where Star Wars devices are still tested and were all manner of CIA monkey business has been plotted and refined it's the perfect place for secret things but of course that's no secret 51 is ringed by The (04:06) Forbidden vastness of the Nevada Test Site by by the looming groom mountains and by sparsely populated desert expanses speculation was heightened in 1984 when the Air Force seized nearly 90 000 Acres around Groom Lake the action was by most accounts illegal during Congressional hearings about the land grab congressman John cyberling grilled the military about the legal Authority used in the action and was told the authority was at a much much higher level than the Air Force cyberling asked what Authority is higher than the laws (04:37) of the United States the Air Force official said he could respond but only in a closed briefing in 1987 when the Air Force sought to renew its Stranglehold on the groom Range News articles once again mentioned the talk about alien spacecraft and subsequent articles in National magazines quoted unnamed sources about things of alien origin flying in Nevada things that would make filmmaker George Lucas drool despite the speculation no one who knew Area 51 from the inside ever talked publicly about the saucer stories well

(05:08) there's several well uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin the live interview with the shadowy dentist Drew International attention portions were broadcast by radio and six European countries and in a nationally televised TV special in Japan actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs despite numerous inquiries and feelers Dennis has remained Anonymous until now his real name is Robert Lazar a young scientist with eclectic interests the choice of Dennis was an (05:46) inside joke he says that's the name of his Superior at Groom Lake it wasn't a joke to Dennis he called right after he said you have any idea what we're going to do to you now and I I said well no he hung up the phone lazar's story is by any standards fantastic he says he's telling it in order to protect himself he says he was hired to work at an area called S4 which is a few miles south of Groom Lake at S4 he says are flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is (06:14) seemingly Beyond human capabilities right this this came from somewhere else I mean as bizarre as that is to believe but I mean it's there I saw it I know what the current state of the art is and in in physics and it's it can't be done checking out lazar's credentials proved to be a difficult task he says he earned degrees in physics and electronics but the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him he also said he worked as a physicist at Los Alamos National Lab where he experimented with one of the
(07:13) told us he still had no records on Lazar EG and G which is where Lazar says he was interviewed for the job at S4 also has no records it's as if someone has made him disappear oh they're trying to make me a non-person okay to explain you called where well the schools that I went to the hospital that I was born at uh past job and essentially nothing comes up with my name in it he smiles but out of futility knowing the whole thing must sound ridiculous I did not believe that this should be a security matter some of it sure
(07:51) but just the concept that there's definite proof and uh we even have articles From Another World another system you just can't not tell everyone the word nap Eyewitness News 8. thank you are you Robert Scott Lazar yes foreign (09:01) [Music] [Music] about flying saucers or anti-matter control do you intend to answer my questions truthfully yes did you knowingly lie when you said that you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation now did you knowingly lie when you said you had seen an anti-matter reactor yeah did you knowingly lie when you said that you actually saw a 30 odd foot gravity-powered flying disc
(10:06) now foreign [Music] this is a hard part of the story for people to understand it's uh they they don't really get a sense of what it was like because really literally you had to be there for some of this I lived through it I know what it was like what Bob was going through at that time they were breaking into his house and playing mind games you know they'd leave the doors open they'd leave drawers open nothing's taken they'd write things on his Blackboard or erase things move things around he goes to the gym with (11:04) his with his buddy and he's kind of scared so he's got an Uzi in his car he comes out an hour later after working out the doors to the car open the windows are down the glove box is open and the uzi is laying there on the front seat that wasn't a burglary that was somebody messing with him that stuff really happened it's both uh frightening and infuriating do you on a deeper level trust Bob's story now than before what you take away from it 25 years later after sitting down with Bob and hearing him
(11:42) tell this story with the same details he's not adding any stuff to it he doesn't have to worry about remembering the truth because he remembers the same version the same story in the same way same details and he's telling things that actually happened to him I tend to it carries a lot of weight with me I uh 25 years later still telling the same story reluctantly by the way this is a reluctant UFO Messiah the only reason he came out to talk to us again is because I bugged him about it relentlessly come

(12:16) on Bob when are you coming out uh are we there yet kind of a uh and he finally relented and came out but he wasn't happy about it nothing good comes from the UFO field for him it does nothing but cause him trouble if he had to do it over again I I suspect he wouldn't do it because it changed his life and there was a part of him as he said in our most recent conversation there's a part of them that would really like to still be working on that stuff I mean it's really amazing technology the most amazing
(12:45) technology he's ever seen I think I believe the story more than it did before the idea that Bob was a disinformation agent or part of a program to mislead the public is wrong he's not and I can say that after knowing the guy for a quarter of a century the story he told then is the story he tells now he didn't add to it he's not making it more elaborate he's not remembering new parts of it it's the same story it's consistent all the way through all right well we'll take it from the (13:24) top then I mean okay well go ahead uh how you got involved with this program I had sent resumes to several National Labs around the country uh I got a response from a couple of them they said we might have something in the near future you would be very interested in you know you say you work on little projects I said yeah I have a particle accelerator in my master bedroom and and things of that sort and uh some time went by and they called me back in they said uh there was a as senior staff physicist that was leaving this (14:02) organization and they basically interviewed me for that job okay you're there on the first day what happens on the first day first day was when I read most of the briefings 121 of these things right what did they say through some reaction it produces a gravity field that's not completely understood one of the things that they were teaching me was the physics that they connect all this together to create fields and power such as these discs required to do what they do to lift off the ground without a body of gold propulsion system requires
(14:46) a tremendous amount of energy that's the only way they can achieve it how does that work I mean how does that field become useful it's the most potent energy source that there can be just as a rough guesstimate a kilogram of antimatter is equal and energy to 47 10 Megaton hydrogen bonds it's extremely potent energy source it's a direct conversion of matter to energy if you want to tell the full story of John Lear you have to cover the story of Bob Lazar and the only way to do that is a talked about and I don't know if it'll
(15:26) talk to you or not but you need to try well it was it's all going to be circumstance for you is the moment that you approach him the mood that he's in what else is going on in his life at the time you might hit the jackpot I'd get him at exactly the right time and the the universe is aligned and he's willing to talk about it but you'd have to be awfully lucky because in general Bob doesn't like to talk about it I think he's very happy in his life he's happy to have left the UFO
(15:54) stuff behind he misses his friends he misses John Lear he misses Gene Huff maybe even me some extent but he doesn't miss the UFO topic and he doesn't miss talking about it because ultimately it's disturbing these are disturbing issues they go to the heart of who we are as people as human beings the nature of reality itself is this a computer simulation are we all the product of an alien video game or some multi-dimensional movie drive-in movie theater production or something big questions disturbing answers and Bob
(17:30) not made on Earth I know it was maybe the materials that we cannot fabricate we cannot duplicate and we've never been able to I know it uses a power source that's so Advanced that we could only dream of something along those lines and the energy density on it is phenomenal it's nothing that to I would ever expect to see um I know that you know this is done in the highest levels of security and you know that they use all kinds of methods to keep it quiet from disinformation to uh I mean some exotic ways of just hiding (18:06) things like I said the installation itself was buried in the side of a mountain and you know uh I also know that there's lots of nonsense information that has gone around and whether it was started by the Navy or military or whoever's at the absolute bottom you know of the project uh and I I truly suspect that be the case because look this information is the most powerful you know way to distort facts you just throw a bunch of useless stuff out there and you know they just take the real facts along with the nonsense and bundle it (18:44) together and say well this is just impossible and you know there your security is maintained but uh I also know that at some point they've examined or had bodies of alien creatures somewhere so I know that stuff for a fact and that's the bottom line well well I am telling the truth I I've tried to prove that uh what's going on up there could be the most important event in history you're talking about contact physical physical contact and proof of from another another system another planet another intelligence

(19:23) that's got to be the biggest event in history period and it's real and it's real and it's there [Music] [Music] Lazar says he has no intention of going on any UFO lecture circuit he's not looking to do any additional interviews in fact he wasn't too crazy about doing this one he did it after a certain unfavorable things started happening in his life and he did it because he feels that whoever is running the show up at S4 is perpetrating a fraud on the American people and on the scientific (20:06) community you believe his story don't you yeah yeah I've got to know him uh pretty well over the last couple of months and I believe he's telling the truth foreign [Music] this is a reluctant UFO Messiah it changed his life
(21:45) he says he was hired to work at an area called S4 which is a few miles south of Groom Lake at S4 he says our flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly Beyond human capabilities I did not believe that this should be a security matter some of it sure but just the concept that there's definite proof we even have articles From Another World another system you just can't not tell everyone [Music] it was like a Twilight Zone episode just kept getting stranger
(22:36) the fact that that was happening at all was the weirdest part look it's been 30 years and all of a sudden you raised it to this level you know this is a powerful technology fearsome technology and you just don't want everyone to have [Music] they'll become obvious how to make constructive as well as destructive devices from it it's my only guess as to why they have never released information it's kind of difficult once you release the technology to be analyzed and give it to everyone they can just run with it
(23:13) you really can't keep the weapon potential hidden you really can't look with ET technology you can literally rule the world well I am telling the truth I I've tried to prove that uh what's going on up there could be the most important event in history you're talking about contact physical physical contact and proof from another another system another planet another intelligence that's got to be the biggest event in history period and it's free and it's real and it's there [Music]
(23:59) thank you this is a reluctant UFO Messiah it changed his life this week we've heard the contention of UFO researchers that there is a secret government within our government well there are several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin the live interview with the shadowy dentist Drew International attention portions were broadcast by radio and six European countries and in a nationally televised TV special in Japan despite numerous inquiries and feelers
(24:38) Dennis has remained Anonymous until now his real name is Robert Lazar he says he was hired to work at an area called S4 which is a few miles south of Groom Lake at S4 he says are flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly Beyond human capabilities [Music] thank you [Music] this is like a powerful technology Fierce of technology and you just don't want everyone to have they'll become obvious how to make constructive as well as destructive devices from it once you
(25:31) release the technology to be analyzed and give it to everyone they can just run with it you really can't keep the weapon potential hidden look with ET technology you can literally rule the world I'm telling the truth I I've tried to prove that physical contact and proof that'll be the biggest event in history period and it's free and it's real and it's there [Music] [Music] this line was really strong how much can a man take before a submissive away and this is does he fade back into the Shadows that formed him (26:30) okay how much can a man take before he wait consequence of distrust does he fade back into the Shadows that formed him frizzy lash out to carve his words into your flesh to carve his words into your flesh well there's several uh actually nine flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin this story is extraordinary especially if it's true and it all started in the desert just north of Las Vegas a local scientist who worked at Groom Lake said to be where top secret weapon systems have been tested over the

(27:22) years he has asked that his identity be shielded exactly what's going on up there what's going on up there could be the most important event in history [Music] physical contact and proof of from another another system another planet another intelligence what would happen to you if the government was information he just wanted to stay alive maybe this has been kept from us for a good reason thank you sir how do we know you are who you say you are my name is Bob Lazar I'm known for working at a classified base and reverse
(28:01) engineered alien spacecraft Area 51 on the map can we ever be made whole before not believed we can't verify what was going on in his background I have no motivation to lie the science and the technology can change us we've always looked to the skies for answers instead of looking into our stuff all right so the only record of this is going to be on the audio on this one
(29:06) file and then this video I'm not going to cut it I'm going to let it run I understood okay then what I'm going to do is I'm going to encrypt it and I'm going to put both of those two files into an encrypted thing to not be touched unless we decide it should be touched that's fine okay maybe on two drives but that those two files are both being in encrypted folder so here's the deal did you ever get a piece of element 115 out of Los Alamos how much monitoring they do with me I'm (29:45) sure it's virtually none after all this time hold on a second let me um do you have your phone on you yes um let's at this point uh take our phone let me just throw them let me put them in the ground over there I'll turn mine off I mean maybe this has been kept from us for a good reason a lot of people agreed to keep this secret so first of all who am I to upset it and second of all who am I to I'll think these guys maybe they went over all these scenarios already and they know how [__] up everything
(30:21) will be so there's no guarantee that this Revelation is going to make everything great there's just as much chance it's going to make everything terrible and I'll be to blame for that several uh actually nine flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin like spaceships from another world they seem to ride on hibiscus materials Channel Through empty space by heat that rises and separates petrifies everything it contacts like like a like a green glass honey and goddamn psychedelic liquid drowning
(31:09) The Emptiness with imaginations of imagination foreign punctuated by a thousand gaping holes created in a thousand Atomic blasts that define an era what are they building in the desert north of Las Vegas what are they hiding what are they hiding [__] are they hiding I have actually watched a craft do Maneuvers one night for about 20 minutes even today ever seen anything that could really move as fast don't open the door because then the bugs come in oh [Music] well get a few more goodies [Music] [Laughter] [Music]
(31:58) my name is Pat Travis I own the little alien in beautiful downtown Rachel Nevada the little aliens started in 1988 actually in 1990 but my late husband and I have owned the little alien for since 1988. we were newcomers to Rachel well just after that the UFO activity started and it was like a gift that was put in our hands and we needed something for us we had added a couple of motel rooms so here we are with more and better now next time stay the night [Laughter] are we ready to roll again we had tour groups earlier today and it's just you (32:45) go in you do what you have to do and then come out and mingle with everybody that's what life's all about this isn't work this is fun there are people that come here from every country in the world and if you look at all the dollar bills that are signed on our ceiling you'll see so many different countries every state in the United States people have been here from and it's awesome and this is really where things started you know and and it's been something that keeps going on the one question that everybody asks is (33:23) how do I get to area 51. it just goes without saying so we give them we have a little map we teach them directions and let them go and we've had some that don't like to listen to us you've got to pay attention it is a high secure area every country in the world has this type but ours is really well known without world's best known secret base because of Bob Lazar that's it and when there are secrets everybody wants to know a little bit about that secret you know when Bob Lazar and George Knapp (34:02) John Lear Jean half it was just a whole group that was continued to go and it was all something that was brought here and given to us and a lot of Articles were written because of so many different sightings of so much so many different things that it's like a snowball and there's no end to this people come here from around the world to talk about sightings do I believe all of them probably not but there are many of them I do because when you talk to somebody you know whether they're really projecting (34:44) something or if it's kind of just a story do you believe bubbles are oh without a doubt thank you if a man is going to tell a lie about something it changes because you don't remember all those things if you tell the truth about something it always stays the same can I prove it no but I can tell you when I tell that my arms will cover with goosebumps it's happening now do I believe that there are aliens that walk among us without a doubt I have no qualms about that it's happened here more than once

(35:30) [Music] that's a fact all right [Music] [Music] I got how much monitoring they do with me I'm sure it's virtually none after all this time hold on a second let me um do you have your phone on you yes let's at this point uh take our phone let me just throw them let me put them in the ground over there I'll turn mine off I mean maybe this has been kept from us for a good reason a lot of people agreed to keep this secret so first of all who am I to upset it and second of all who (36:36) am I to out think these guys maybe they went over all these scenarios already and they know how [__] up everything will be so there's no guarantee that this Revelation is going to make everything great there's just as much chance it's going to make everything terrible and I'll be to blame for that they identified themselves as FBI and um they said your problems are right and then you know one of them got on the radio saying yeah he's here apparently they also had my house staked out and they were deciding whether or not to (37:16) go there the conveyor belt of vehicles and agents and police did not stop the whole thing it was like a Twilight Zone episode they came in and then they said there'll be a few other people coming here just got a couple questions to ask you in a short time the street filled up with vehicles and the building completely built with agents it was really something else did they identify themselves initially as yeah those FBI identified themselves then came in State Police and a few other agencies I don't remember who but (37:56) um there were a lot standing room only in the building it was it was crazy yeah they had like a forensic truck they had a bunch of different agents they gridded off the building I mean obviously they're they're looking for something yeah yeah and what they said they were looking for some paperwork and all the order from two years ago about a customer that uh you know in order to potentially toxic material which they could have called for but uh this was certainly way over the top I looked up to select the right key and (38:33) they were right beside me it was quite surprising considering you could see all around here and they would generally have to be a vehicle or something somewhere but I just pulled up got out picked the key and then they started talking from behind me I thought that was really strange of course it got much stranger as the day went on what what got stranger about it well just the sheer amount of people that came agency after agency I mean they had computer experts here going through you know all the computer equipment we had here they had people
(39:08) sectioning off the building labeling it in cubic meters so they can search each one you know what they're looking for was just a an order form so very strange [Music] [Music] this story is extraordinary especially if it's true and it all started in the desert just north of Las Vegas a local scientist who worked at Groom Lake said to be where top secret weapon systems have been tested over the years he has asked that his identity be shielded exactly what's going on up there what's going on up there could be (40:03) the most important event in history physical contact and proof of from another another system another planet another intelligence what happened to you Nation he just wanted to stay alive maybe this has been kept from us for a good reason you know you are my name is Bob Lazar I'm known for working at a classified base and reverse engineered alien spacecraft [Music] can we ever be made whole but for not believed we can't verify what was going on in this background I have no motivation to lie the science and the technology can change us we've (41:01) always looked to the sky a Jeremy Corbell Hello nice to have you back for having me yeah no I know last time we had you on we were talking about skin walker Ranch and then we were hinting about how you were like eyeballs deep in the edit for Bob Lazar Area 51 and flying saucers the reason I made this movie because I'm fascinated I want to know too this is what inspired me when I was a kid is this real is this true so my whole goal is to get people talking about it if you watch the movie you will come out of it knowing more

(41:51) about Bob and his story especially if you've never heard about it before even if you have there's at least seven points of new information in the movie my name is Bob Lazar I'm known for working at a classified base known as S4 out in the Nevada desert near area 51. and there we reverse engineered alien spacecraft and it's changed my life a lot you know it's probably changed every aspect of it positive or negative well for the most part negative I mean I it's really difficult to find positive
(43:37) multitude of UFO programs currently and from past that are actively studying different elements of the UFO phenomenon from biology to crash retrieval so I think in time what I'm saying now will be proven that maybe there'll be these four programs I mentioned before that are named let's see yeah but there are more than that and I think over time we're going to learn that historically the Bob was our testimony is important and so you be the judge of it he's told you his story because he felt it's important for you
(44:10) to know that there is a science and a technology that is being held from you and that technology can change the world and we already know about it and it's non-terrestrial and I think that's what he wants you to know take it or leave it Bob just wants to live his normal life he never wants to do this stuff I begged him to do it so yeah I think he's I think he's done I think he's told you his story again I'll try to get him for some q and A's when I when I show my movie or that kind of thing but he just (44:35) wants to live his normal life but he felt it important to untwist his story the way people have Twisted it over 30 years I keep saying this and I mean it you know the the his critics have had the mic from for more than 30 years and we took the mic back and that's the point telling you his side of the story now you're telling me there's a different physics that was your job you were working on that the science was something we were trying to figure out but we knew how the devices would operate you know for instance the propulsion of (45:04) The Craft everything that we have whether it's a propeller plane or a jet or a rocket it throws something out the back either high speed exhaust or a large volume of air it's an action reaction force the action is you throw something out the back and it moves you forward so everything works this is the first time there's a craft that's it's a reactionless craft it's a field propulsion craft and what it does is it creates a distortion in space and time in front of it where space actually (45:38) bends and my analogy to that has always been put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and then a foot in front of it take your fist and push down on the mattress the bowling ball Will Roll towards it and that's exactly how the craft works it creates a distortion right in front of it and the cat craft Falls forward there so there's a different physics that well the science that explains how the technology works I mean it's all encompassed as one thing alien technology and science what is the big picture what are the

(47:35) a big big deal but in my mind that's there's a lot to deal with that however the science and the technology can change us dramatically it can change the way the entire world operates the economy everything so those stick out in my mind as being critically important and we have it oh we haven't you don't have to believe it but we do and you've seen it I've seen it and you've touched it I've dismantled it I know that this is um kind of out of your real house you get to calm down a
(48:22) little bit I am sure knowing you you have another project right on the on the back end I do I'm not going to tell you this time so much going on right now and there's so much more to tell I have so much more to give from the footage that I haven't released yet you're going to find a lot like I release into my YouTube channel stuff like that you're gonna find a lot of content and information uh coming out in the next year for me thank you so much Jeremy Corbell everybody for joining us congratulations on the movie (48:50) um we will see you guys next week and bye foreign [Music] this is a reluctant UFO Messiah it changed his life this week we've heard the contention of UFO researchers that there is a secret government within our government well there's several uh actually nine uh uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin the live interview with the shadowy dentist Drew International attention portions were broadcast by radio and six European countries and in a nationally televised TV special in Japan
(49:34) despite numerous inquiries and feelers Dennis has remained Anonymous until now his real name is Robert Lazar he says he was hired to work at an area called S4 which is a few miles south of Groom Lake at S4 he says are flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly Beyond human capabilities I did not believe that this should be a security matter some of it sure but just the concept that there's definite proof we even have articles From Another World another system
(50:10) you just can't not tell everyone [Music] it was like a Twilight Zone episode just kept getting a stranger the fact that it was happening at all was the weirdest part look it's been 30 years and all of a sudden you raised it to this level you know this is a powerful technology fearsome technology and you just don't want everyone to have [Music] they will become obvious how to make constructive as well as destructive devices from it it's my only guess as to why they have never released information
(51:03) it's kind of difficult once you release the technology to be analyzed and give it to everyone they can just run with it you really can't keep the weapon potential hidden you really can't look with ET technology you can literally rule the world well I am telling the truth I I've tried to prove that uh what's going on up there could be the most important event in history you're talking about contact physical physical contact and proof from another another system another planet another intelligence
(51:41) that's got to be the biggest event in history period and it's real and it's real and it's there thank you [Music] [Music] [Music] he's not full of [__] babazar's not [__] nope all they did was kill his credibility by making people think he was crazy that's how you kill anyone's credibility oh no that person is crazy they can say whatever the hell they want (52:45) because now everything he says is it's not true but in fact I'm living in the neighborhood where he lived and meeting people that actually went out there and saw the stuff and the look in their eyes I mean they saw it Real Testament from real people in this neighborhood it has a lot of history here my next door neighbor he actually had lots of interactions with Bob Lazar and actually went out and uh proved everything I've seen in the videos he was one of the people there with him I've never met Bob (53:17) Lazar personally but I've met people that worked with him and uh I wish I could have I could have been there too I mean it's talking about two three in the morning watching UFOs fly so Bob's history here in this neighborhood is still alive and well well through some of us yeah and anybody I see just like you a photographer I see hey you know that's Bob lazar's house I mean it's uh I think it's a pretty damn neat you know Bob Lazar there's so much stuff that we're not being told that (53:52) he'd be foolish not to believe him I mean why would people just make crap up I mean he's not crazy he wasn't crazy then my neighbor's not crazy they live normal lives it's uh not an attention-seeking thing me and other people have seen these things what about New Mexico what about Arizona all these lights we've all seen something right and not some [__] video you don't know if it's been made up or made people have seen stuff and no one's there to explain it to see something like that you're never going (54:20) to forget it but somebody telling you at an exact time exact place to go see something and then it happens I mean How's that gonna give you chills down your spine I mean [Music] I have met people in this neighborhood that have had interactions on the mountains and seen the UFOs with Bob Lazar so that's that's one soul on this Earth that definitely could uh testify to it that's not just Bob someone that could back up that story [Music] this week we've heard the contention of UFO researchers that there is a secret

(55:10) government within our government exactly what's going on up there well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs uh that are out there of extraterrestrial origin they're being test flown and uh basically just analyzed what was your function working on this you were doing what what was your job we were to reverse engineer the power and propulsion system of this craft and see if it can be duplicated with available materials I just want to go over with you what it is that you saw to draw it out for (55:58) people to make a sketchy as you're seeing it as if you're there at that moment to kind of go back in the past it takes different views to show you different places I'll draw you with the craft essentially looked like I haven't done this in a really long time when it had the classic most of it the classic shape however that didn't come out that bad this time basically that's the shape of The Craft it's the thing I turned the sport model underneath this floor there are three three large cylindrical devices hanging
(57:01) from the floor these are on mounts that allow them to completely swivel up to 180 degrees and in 360 degree rotation directly above each one it's a small rectangular object this is on the floor above and these are the gravity amplifiers themselves looking down from the top you'd have the center in the very center there is a small reactor surrounding this in three equally spaced areas are the amplifiers so this is looking at it sideways this is looking at it down from the top and under these amplifiers underneath the floor below
(57:54) are the gravity emitters so it's the reactor here powering the gravity amplifiers gravity amplifiers output goes into the gravity emitters at the bottom and the resulting gravity beam or anti-gravity wave can be pretty much put anywhere you want to um there was another level up here now I had access and was permitted to view and look at the operation of this main level with the gravity amplifiers and the level below the gravity emitters there is a level above which consisted of these two areas that I'm not all that familiar with I assume (58:43) they used to be some sort of navigational engine uh people call these large black rectangular areas on the top portholes I believe they were some planar sensor array that just took in information from the surrounding area whether it be patterns of stars or what have you uh and there was their version of a computer or something to make determinations here that takes input from Those sensors and then let the craft know how to orient itself and where it was in space so that's what I assumed to be up there I don't know for a fact again that was not (59:26) part of my job and I was only led to believe that the center antenna is really an extension of the reactor in the center and that's a wave guide which allows the uh the emission of the gravity wave which forms kind of a heart shape over the whole the whole craft that's how it creates its Distortion these uh gravity emitters can be swung all the way up to 180 degrees and this allows the craft to essentially stand on two of them and hover while this one swings up and creates a distortion in front of it allowing the craft to slide forward so
(1:00:12) that's how they're low power mode uh Omer crime configuration operate the

Delta configuration uses all three and unlike science fiction movies where you see flying saucers just flying along like that they actually fly a belly first the craft flies along leaves the atmosphere of the planet it turns its belly to the destination the three amplifiers focus in on the destination and that's how it proceeds so that's basically the operation of it and overall how things were laid out inside the craft there were three seats in here
(1:00:52) and uh just around the uh the reactor there are no controls no buttons no anything everything has a nice smooth curve to it there are no right angles anywhere everything is exactly the same color and uh whether it's metal or some other Advanced material I don't know again that was part of the Metallurgy Division and all I can say is it felt cold like metal um but it's actual composition who knows it was ceramic or you know again some Advanced alloy or something along those lines but uh the manufacturing technique
(1:01:31) is unknown and certainly was back then um today 30 years later there are things like 3D printing and now that kind of begins to make sense because it looks like this craft was just built from the ground up like a 3D printer and that would be about the only way to produce some of the things we saw because there were no Fasteners anywhere it was just all together not even a seam so um I don't know how that was actually assembled is a good question but I bet it was something along those lines some gigantic printing mechanism or something we would
(1:02:10) consider a printing mechanism that actually put this together when you were allowed to go into the middle and look down into the bottom layer of this craft what did it feel like to step in like was it instantaneously obvious to you that we could not make this upon walking in the craft yeah it was really and pardon the planet was really unworldly everything again was alien it really was in that uh again nothing is always completely monochrome and things people build there's always scenes there's always something other
(1:02:52) than a radius a curvature there's a sharp edge there's some kind of control everything was different there wasn't even wires in this thing as we started to dismantle it but um it was more of an ominous feeling because we really didn't know what we were getting into how dangerous it was and certainly didn't know how dangerous it was to remove anything or change it look I mean we have energy sources this day and age you can't just remove caps you know off of reactors and have a peek inside and see what's going on and
(1:03:26) we really didn't understand the energy source we had no idea what you know a housing might be holding back so it was fearsome technology as I've said before and uh you know so was it exciting going inside not exciting in that way it was exciting because we were afraid uh and really just looked around inside the reason for going in was to have a look there was a little access port here where you could push it open and stick the top half of your body and hang upside down and look and see the orientation and how the gravity
(1:04:08) emitters were hanging from that you know the floor above what was your first indication that it was not human it was not ours it was not made for us well certainly the size I mean this is only about a little over 50 feet in diameter the only time you could ever stand up would be the middle so nobody would make something like this it was extremely uncomfortable to move around in the seats were not for full-size humans everything looked like it was child size and the access port I couldn't dream of getting through so
(1:04:42) there was certainly something smaller operating this the opening Port was like a a hexagon a hexagon honeycomb with an edge cut out and if you grab the edge and just pushed a little bit the Honeycombs would all collapse some sort of flexible metal and all snap open and I remember seeing or saying to myself that's that's something we could make today that that's really because it has a lot of strength standing on it but no strength the other way so you can pop it open use it as an access port snap it
(1:05:16) closed and it would support weight on it uh something very simple not that it really stood out I was standing in a ocean of alien technology but I think the reason it stood out was there's something I understand you know and nothing I I understand anything else so I kind of grabbed on to that it's like I I see what you did guys here not anywhere else um so the other fascinating thing was um it was essentially a pipe I mean if you want to just give you analogies these gravity emitters look like 55 gallon drops
(1:05:55) and a big oh I'd say four inch diameter pipe down maybe 10 inches long can maybe a little longer connected the top of the drum to the floor above to solid thick pipe somehow they were able to manipulate the structure of that pipe where it would just bend as if it was made of clay so they can apply some form of control to it and have a solid piece of pipe move like a tentacle so they can get very fine movements and adjust and point these things wherever they were and then stop stimulating the stuff and they were (1:06:39) locked in place like it was welded on there with a giant pipe how do you know that they could Bend these pipes that way we did we had one of these setups in the lab when you had made adjustments it would move it would pass yes that is putting out a gravity wave yeah oh absolutely yeah when we bench tested this setup yeah it worked you know you've got these seats no seat belts and then it goes belly facing where it's supposed to go how do the occupants you know not fall out of the seats what's that about

(1:07:45) know that you're upside down you know in relation to the Earth or other things it creates this field around you almost heart-shaped and then that kind of is that Cocoon of what we'd call gravity and it holds you so you can just be inside of that field and then wherever you end up focusing that's where you're going to fall to right that's the propulsion okay now of course we never it's I never had information of us flying The Craft at that performance level but it's assumed that's how it works from the
(1:08:16) information we we cleaned but you saw this crap oh I said this craft and these work and you can certainly extrapolate if three of them together work like this first one we know how it how it operated so there's you know extremely high confidence in that and the craft that you're drawing here is the one that you guys would take Parts out of and work on yes is it also the one that you saw the test of yes so they were able to take Parts out and put them back in no no no no no no they did not this flew on two
(1:08:49) amplifier this was already removed I mean I should put a dotted line around here this was on the bench in our room when I went in there this was already out and it still worked I I can't imagine how they made the decision to remove that I'm really glad I wasn't there at some point you were inside and it was activated and something happened to the inside of the wall I guess that is an important part the other to explain that around the wall it was essentially a set of archways which were extruded from the wall all around and we later
(1:09:30) found these out to be I just this is a big thing I should touch on uh we found these to be wave guides and this is how the gravity field was being manipulated it almost looked like it was just a design element but it was it became very obvious that nothing here uh was done for Aesthetics everything had a functional purpose and you know even in our spacecraft everything has pretty much a functional purpose or no house plants or anything just to look at there but these archways were extruded from the base wall and for the most part it seemed they
(1:10:12) were all the same but in fact they were not one of them and just putting this here so they looked like this all the way around one of them was different and the one time I was in there there were other people also working on there in their own particular group they activated this by some means and we could see from inside we could see right through that I guess the modern day analogy would be a electrochromatic glass where it's normally opaque some energy is applied to it and becomes transparent and whatever the other group was doing
(1:10:55) this panel here underneath this Archway became transparent and we can see the hanger outside they also did something else and we can see something the only thing I can relate it to is some sort of writing some kind of symbols like that I'm assuming that's some sort of written written language I I really don't know that's that's a guess on my part but there were symbols that were displayed here and then it went back to looking outside so somebody had a handle on how to control what was going on without any (1:11:30) wires or switches so that was kind of good to see some somebody was making some progress somewhere again we weren't even permitted information about that and I was fortunate enough just to see it so um now is it possible these other archways did something too uh it could be I didn't see it but I know this one this particular one did this is an alien spacecraft right right obviously another entity had to make this right reality simply isn't what it used to be things are not what they see everything around us is a mental (1:12:15) construct the Creator in real reality breaking that down is hard to do and once it's done there ain't no coming back [Music] thank you [Music] imagine a place between Shadow and substance a place where the world has just been not many pass through here they just tend to get burnt up infected is a knowledge corrosive

(1:13:19) like a an acid the mind can unwrap so you're going to want to keep your words about you you gotta show grit and patience they say the secret of the finder sometimes that's true you better hope that's true welcome to the world extraordinary beliefs [Music] area 51. The Secret of spots on the planet is located on the northeast edge of the Nevada test site and is said to be where numerous top secret weapon systems have been tested over the years According to some UFO researchers it's also where the government is test flying
(1:14:22) alien spacecraft it sounds pretty far out but some Las Vegas residents report having seen these flying saucers a local scientist who says he worked at Groom Lake and saw the saucers joins us in tonight's interview he has asked that his identity be shielded sir how do we know you are who you say you are and that you actually have knowledge about what's going on at Groom Lake well I guess there's no way you could really know uh uh there's really no way I can prove it without revealing my identity and
(1:15:30) in propulsion and the power source where did we get these saucers uh how did they come into the hands of the government I haven't the slightest idea and you have to understand the information is very compartmentalized and uh I was only allowed information that pertained particularly to what I was involved in but I mean couldn't couldn't our government have made them as opposed to getting them from some alien beings totally impossible uh the propulsion system is an uh a gravity propulsion system the power source is an
(1:16:31) said uh you referred to getting into trouble have you had some repercussions already yeah I've been threatened with uh being charged with Espionage I've had my life threatened by them my wife's life threatened by them and uh I I mean I don't know where else you can go from there well we want to thank you for joining us pretty interesting stuff you've got to say thank you thank you sir or more news in just a moment now in Beijing for a look at ahead of the live interview with the shadowy dentist Drew International attention
(1:17:14) portions were broadcast by radio and six European countries and in a nationally televised TV special in Japan despite numerous inquiries and feelers Dennis has remained Anonymous until now his real name is Robert Lazar he says he was hired to work at an area called S4 which is a few miles south of Groom Lake at S4 he says our flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly Beyond human capabilities word nap Eyewitness News 8.
(1:17:47) foreign [Music] [Music] and the inner workings of nuclear reactions they can't not know how to make a bomb out of it and just make a nuclear reactor to make Power [Music] [Music] it was like a Twilight Zone episode just (1:18:54) kept getting a stranger the fact that that was happening at all was the weirdest part look it's been 30 years and all of a sudden you raised it to this level you know this is a powerful technology fearsome technology and you just don't want everyone to have they'll become obvious how to make constructive as well as destructive devices from it it's my only guess as to why they have never released information it's kind of difficult once you release the technology to be analyzed and give it to everyone they can just run with it
(1:19:35) you really can't keep the weapon potential hidden you really can't look with ET technology you can literally rule the world you're going to an investigative reporter at a news station and you are outing the most secret project ranked higher than the the h-bomb and you're essentially putting your face and voice on the news although you did a shadow interview first [Music] other that's the that's no question it's easy to joke about or laugh or remember just the good times now almost 30 years later but at (1:20:12) the time yeah I was petrified this was no joking around I mean it was hard to sleep I had a people wait up at night and keep an eye out it it was crazy it was crazy it absolutely destroyed my life I mean I weighed like 119 pounds or something and I was stressed out all the time it's safe to say your employers were pissed as [__] obviously they were pissed what was the fear from at that time I was really afraid of the people that worked at S4 I had no idea how far they would go angry they were with me was made really

(1:20:47) clear so there were so many things that happened I mean people breaking into my house searching my car even when I went gym to work out and I mean I had friends with me that saw things like this happening and even they were afraid so I yeah I left in constant fear at the time this is the hard part of the story for people to understand it's uh they they don't really get a sense of what it was like because literally you had to be there for some of this I lived through it I know what it was like what Bob was (1:21:27) going through at that time they were breaking into his house and playing mind games you know they'd leave the doors open they'd leave drawers open nothing's taken they'd write things on his Blackboard or erase things move things around he goes to the gym with his with his buddy and he's kind of scared so he's got an Uzi in his car he comes out an hour later after working out the doors to the car open the windows are down the glove box is open and the uzi is laying there on the front seat I
(1:21:54) wasn't a burglary that was somebody messing with him that stuff really happened I can remember getting calls from Bob and and the night of just that he'd had somebody in this house messing with him I go over to see him to calm him down and he's walking around with his Uzi peeking out the windows sounds paranoid but but as the old saying goes just because you're paranoid doesn't mean somebody isn't after you and in his case they were they were messing with him that was real it's both uh frightening
(1:22:25) and infuriating do you feel that you have been utilized in this mechanism of information release I think I'm doing something that somebody once done I think I have been used in that regard I think somebody maybe not all of them but some of them wanted this stuff out they wanted to see how it would fly I think that's why Bob Lazar was hired out there I think on many levels it does not make sense that they would put him in that job but the fact is they did he was out there and he was working on this stuff for a short
(1:22:55) period of time I think they probably selected him because they knew he wouldn't keep his mouth shut and that story would come out and then I did my part of it and telling it to the world I suspect that they figured I would quit uh and that I would give up that I wouldn't continue it for another 25 years and still be plugging away at it but in the in the larger context I think I was probably doing something that they wanted done let's get this story out there see if people freak out and then we can always pull it back we can
(1:23:58) was there we had him in the phone book we had him in the uh in the newspaper I had confirmation from the company that that recruited him kirkmeyer that said that yeah we hired him and they were going to give me the records and then they said no I know that the lab lied to me I know that they they thwarted my attempts to prove that he was there but he was there and one of the reasons I know he was there is because he took us in we went there on a weekend my photographer and I Bryant Blackburn flew to Los Alamos and went to the lab and (1:24:28) Bob took us in was like a a rabbit in his burrow I mean he was taking us through buildings obviously he knew his way around we were there he took us in uh I guess you know I I guess there might be some other explanation for how he was able to have that access but I'd like to know what it is this is a reluctant UFO Messiah the only reason he came out to talk to us again is because I bugged him about it relentlessly and he finally relented and came out but he wasn't happy about it nothing good comes from the UFO field (1:25:04) for him it does nothing but caused him trouble if he had to do it over again I I suspect he wouldn't do it because it changed his life and there was a part of him that would really like to still be working on that stuff I mean it was really amazing technology the most amazing technology he's ever seen and the descriptions of the golf ball experiment where you throw a golf ball at the sports field and it bounces off or the the this this demonstration where it freezes time it freezes a flame how the flame could still be burning

(1:25:40) uh without moving without consuming this this candle how does that work even if he has been LED down a path and and me along with them that they have shown him glimpses of something for their own reasons run it up a flagpole let's see how how the public reacts and then discredit him down the line he acknowledges that's possible and I and I've thought about it all the way along that we're we were being played with but the idea that Bob was a disinformation agent or part of uh a program to mislead
(1:26:16) the public is wrong he's not and Aina can say that after knowing the guy for a quarter of a century the story he told then is the story he tells now he didn't add to it he's not making it more elaborate he's not remembering new parts of it it's the same story it's consistent all the way through he's telling me something that really happened to him the mountains are beautiful float on Dry Lake beds light spaceships from another world they seem to ride on hibiscus material channels through empty space by
(1:26:50) heat that rises and separates it vitrifies everything it contacts like a like a green glass honey a goddamn psychedelic liquid drowning The Emptiness with imaginations of imagination this desert is parked and punctuated by a thousand gaping holes created in a thousand Atomic blasts that define an era what are they building in the desert north of Las Vegas what are they hiding what do they hiding [__] are they hiding I knew the date of a specific test we rented a car took my wife a few friends and drove out to this this place
(1:27:38) and turned the lights out and snuck into a little area and uh so we all watched it what made you start showing your friends exactly where and when the test fights were going to be why did you do that start showing people the flying sausage at that time I was beginning to worry that I was going to suddenly disappear or something like that so I finally broke down and told my close friends really what my job didn't tell what I was doing and I knew the test flight schedule so I knew when to go out what time to go
(1:28:11) out and brought them there at that time and on schedule the craft came up you know did incredible Maneuvers and flew around and then then landed so I wanted them to witness when I was so there'd be something backing up what I was saying and certainly witnessing the craft actually being tested was you know what turned them on you the people that you worked with at us for what turned that administration of people against you when did it become dangerous for you why did it become dangerous I think that the
(1:29:50) hard to go ahead and accept the possibility that he's telling the truth but if I did not believe it if I thought for a moment that he was lying about it I'd be done with it I wouldn't still be supporting it 30 years later your life has been under a microscope every word you said for 30 years recorded has been under a microscope and that's that's a fact to you yeah of course it is it'd affect anybody how has it affected you in the way I talk and how much I do I'd rather not you know

in a public forum
(1:30:23) I'd rather just not say anything why do you think people are so obsessed with every word that you say about your experiences you know when working they're just looking for a way to to look for an inaccuracy and and to be able to Discount the whole thing oh he said this one time and said it's slightly different this time you know obviously he's making it up no that's just the first word that entered my mind you know I don't put that much thought into it what I'm saying Liquors as much as a lot of people hate
(1:30:56) it this stuff really happened I mean if it bothers you that's too bad I think that's just hard for people to accept I mean so yeah it would be look I fully understand I would feel the same way I'm not sure I would believe my story boy there's not enough evidence you know but uh I couldn't discount it either [Music] since the New York Times [Music] foreign [Music] I think it reflects positively on Bob's our story and I hope that the world will take another look at it the fact is the people that know him best believe him
(1:32:19) telling us the truth you bet this [__] happened you got it the fact is that that's a very dramatic and very important development they weren't there looking for records about some customer he had a couple of years ago they were looking for 115. [Music] reality simply isn't what it used to be things are not what they see everything around us is a mental construct the Creator reality breaking that down is hard to do and once it's done there ain't no coming back [Music] oh
(1:33:22) [Music] but it's true it's true what I have seen is true I don't know about the big story where they came from what they're like and and but certainly these crafts came from another not just another planet another solar system entirely extremely far away and they're here this week we've heard the contention of UFO researchers that there is a secret government within our government exactly what's going on up there well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs uh that are
(1:34:20) out there of extraterrestrial origin they're being test flown and uh basically just analyzed this is released by the Department of Defense they authorized the release this is one of three videos this one where I want to show it to you they call it the gimbal why it's interesting is because here's a fighter pilot he's tracking this object you can see the shape of it and it does this move and when it does this move it doesn't change its velocity of speed anything so I want to see at the end of this video which is only 30
(1:34:58) seconds okay what you think of the movement and I know it's like an IR video it's not that great you know but just I won't yeah I won't critique it bro there's a whole Fleet of them look on the essay oh my gosh they're all going against the wind the wind's a hundred and point out west oh okay dude that's not our LNS though is it but if there's a good thing it's rotated so that's something that people comment on is as it's going it's got this rotation and it's not um you know if (1:35:47) what we're seeing is correct and and it's rotating and it is actually shaped like that let's say it's kind of hard really to see the shape I know it's really hard you know is that in fact the shape or is that if this is just a heat signature are we seeing Bloom from it you know just the you know the the infrared image I mean what is the actual visible item look like is it uh and there's a little protrusion on the top or in this case the bottom there you know is that just heat or is that
(1:36:20) the shape of The Craft so we're not going to be able to answer that a lot of people have the exact questions that you're asking there is there any more of this is that this is this is this is the only video there is there is more but it's not Declassified it's not allowed to be out in the public so the I happen to personally know these videos are longer okay but what's been released to the public is small Snippets because remember the the whole methods and that sort of thing they don't want to release
(1:36:48) too much any flear video is classified by Nature because of what it could show to potential enemies right so there there are a lot much longer videos this is all we get and I'm not asking you to validate what you're seeing here no I I couldn't yeah people have huge questions but why this is interesting and a lot of people ask me is that the craft it is interesting that it did rotate like that because the craft that I worked on that when it's when it's going to travel a long distance that is how it operates it

(1:37:17) flies along and it it puts its belly to the Target and then brings all the amplifiers to power and you know it shoots off in that direction now it's did something like that I would say that's yeah we don't incredibly similar yeah we don't know but that is kind of the point of me showing I wanted to talk to you about that so you often discuss your the craft you worked on how it's like this and then it would turn its belly towards where it wanted to go yeah if it's going to fly fast or long distances it doesn't fly as
(1:37:47) it would in a science fiction movies it flies with the belly the bottom forward and the occupants if there are occupants inside this craft when it flips and points its belly somewhere can you explain kind of what what happens to those it's generating its own gravitational field so it it really is not just shielded by its own field but it the the Earth's field to where you would think they would tilt up and they would fall down inside that really has no bearing on it the craft is generating its own gravity they're standing
(1:38:19) straight up or whatever you know your glass of water is sitting there and it's not spilling I mean the bottom of the craft is always pulling all matter to it so the way it's designed is that if there's occupants in it as it were to move the octans would not notice a single difference in the grout their gravitational no nothing at all so this craft at any speed so so the Tic Tac um Commander David fraver talks about watching this object that was like a Tic Tac you know cylinders 46 feet whatever and like it would bounce he said like he
(1:38:52) said to me personally like um ping pong ball in a glass sometimes it would slow down and it would move it had no it didn't have to slow down he said as it went to from one point to another just it would bounce off you know and you know go One Direction and come back so that's what you're talking about and what you call that inertia what you said how you explain that well I mean you know that it might only look that way too it's really difficult if you're difficult to know for sure because if
(1:39:25) you are manipulating the space around the craft I mean time and space around there it may just appear that way you know it may just be an artifact of the way the Craft's operating it's not really bouncing back and forth like that but it's just appearing that way the way they're distorting the space and moving around but either way either way it's nothing it's a gravity driven craft because you need if you're distorting yeah if you're coming to a dead stop you know from high speed or or making ridiculous movements
(1:39:55) like that shaking back and forth um yeah that's not a convention it's not conventional technology at all so when I told you about the way that commander fraver who is you know one of the top fighter pilots in America especially at that time and he described this crack moving the way it did you said that's gotta be if it moves like that it's got to be a gravity propelled craft yeah you really can't move any other way like that and so like the craft you worked on that is the key the gravity propulsion
(1:40:23) right okay so these videos that have come out in some ways we've talked about this this is in very small ways Vindicated some of your story the government has admitted they have a a UFO program albeit a reactionary UFO program to military sightings right back in 89 I think they said the only UFO research or program they did was Project Blue Book which had come to an end a long time ago and there was nothing going on so if they admitted there was a program so they're they're admitting that that was a lie and that
(1:41:00) there really was a program continuing which is a big step I'm surprised they did that and they also admitted that there are materials associated with UFOs but inside sources say that there's actually a lot more than just a metal that was discharged from from a UFO that they may even have a craft inside sources meaning people like George Knapp who have their finger on the pulse of all this if they admit something beyond the fact that they just have Alloys although that's a big deal you know that they have that's a
(1:41:27) tremendous deal it's a tremendous deal and they said that the alloy itself the corona meta material that the design of the material is essential to the way the craft functions which kind of makes sense that's not a surprise yeah right anyway so it's a new day it's quite interesting just thought I'd show you this and you know

let's see yeah I'd sure like to see the rest of it but I'm sure everybody would too everybody would too yeah yeah and you know I'm hopeful that something's gonna happen but at (1:41:54) least we get little bits and you know in little ways you you and George you know putting his neck out on the line because he believed you from day one he didn't just believe me he spent a lot of time and we traveled all over he went with you into Los Alamos to your work he put you through two or three polygraph tests yeah this was no no George never had you sit down with people who he knew worked at Area 51 and landed you know from McCarran on the Jada flights landed there and they asked you questions and
(1:42:24) went put you through your Paces he doesn't advertise this but the people he sat you with they said oh yeah he's saying it right so that's another confirmation that George didn't just believe he put you through your Paces oh absolutely yeah I was just it took a long long time before people don't appreciate that they just get the end result which is that people like Georgia but but they didn't get to hear all the things he he did to poke at you see is Bob yeah it was years to get to that
(1:42:52) point literally so and you know and over that time you did develop a friendship with George oh yeah yeah how can you not going through something yeah we spent a lot of time together sure and and he found your your name the phone book at Los Alamos and they're showing that even though they denied you were never there there you were in the phone book right as well as Joe the person that I worked with at Los Alamos George interviewed job right and he was in the phone book you know with me we worked in the same place so
(1:43:27) um I actually the world has never seen you like in Los Alamos right but I actually have some home videotape of you where you're walking through Los Alamos with Joe Van and Eddie you guys are just walking around laughing about how people say you never worked there and you're endless I have that footage oh wow and you also go to this one place and you you find a piece of concrete in the ground and in that concrete you brush off some pine needles and you go oh my God and in that footage is your name with like 1981. there you were at Los (1:43:56) Alamos and you had cargo name and Savannah oh you know what that is that's where we put in back then they were called Earth stations big satellite dish but you know now they're two feet they used to be seven feet across and larger and um yeah I remember putting in that pad and putting in a big you know Earth station satellite receiver there but yeah that was around 82 or 83 something like that no maybe yeah I don't remember what I don't remember 81 it doesn't matter but it wasn't Los Alamos and you
(1:44:26) made a joke you brushed off the Pioneers in New York's oh yeah see Stan I never worked there and you know it was funny because you just like rediscovered it so you've never been like really deeply interested in like proving everybody wrong that you're right and and that's been admirable no no I don't care in fact like I always said I I prefer everybody don't believe it because that nobody bothers me yeah he's crazy and that's it yeah it makes your life if everybody believes the story
(1:44:54) um I would be hounded till the end of time so really I I don't really care well that is the deal if everybody did believe your story um it would be looking at something totally different I mean that that might blow [__] up [Music] reality simply isn't what it used to be things are not what they see everything around us is a mental construct breaking that down is hard to do and once it's done there ain't no coming back [Music] thank you foreign [Music]
(1:46:12) [Music] [Music] [Music] dropping bombs in the middle of the desert all the atomic energy fused sand together that's what gets its really nice glassy and green you know texture that people really look for in it so and it's rare you know it's running out it's definitely a you know there's not enough on the planet for it to be an infinite resource so you can't even do any more tests so that's why it's so rare all of a sudden you're selling a whole bunch of Trina type yeah and why why is (1:47:02) that well apparently Twin Peaks came out with an episode last week or so where they make a it's a really cool shot of the bomb going off in 1945 at White Sands New Mexico and all it is is a two minute close-up of the bomb going off and then it goes deeply into like this Atomic you know everything's going off exploding and all this you know fusion and that's it that's all that happens in the episode the only mention of it really and then I guess later in the episode you see a bug crawl out of what (1:47:35) the aftermath of the bomb but there's no explicit mention of trinite or anything like that and with sales just went through the roof like we hadn't sell we sold more in the in one week than we had all year of this stuff so I was but yeah it was bizarre I thought for sure there would be an explicit mention like you said with the Trinity type ring or something but nothing so that was it really it's really nice because you get to hold that like a bomb exploded in my hand basically that's why I really like (1:48:04) Trinity so and it looks pretty cool too pretty nice that you have the genuine piece of American History be able to hold it in your hand so that's why I like it a lot and it's all like it's called tuna type because it was from the first atomic test it was called the uh or the trinite bomb Trinity test size Trinity test side that's what it was yeah and that's why it's called um turn its height that's the only reason so yeah I love my job there's a lot of craftsmanship and all the stuff that I

(1:48:37) do I really like working with my hands it's a really unique job I don't think there's any other job where you get to do this kind of stuff every day I work for Bob Lazar and what more can I ask for that was kind of a coffee drop moment when I realized to my boss was because when I interviewed with him I had I thought he was just some guy and then I go back home and I kind of start putting two two and two together when I you know researched who am I working for and all that and I was like oh my God I'm (1:49:05) working for Bob because this is a guy I've known about since I was 12 years old so my uncle showed me a conspiracy video you know it's the Bob tape with the interview with him at S4 and Area 51 from the 80s or so and I remember that because that was like the only video I'd ever seen where I actually trusted the it was like the only conspiracy video where I actually trusted the guy and what he was saying so Flash Forward 10 years later and I'm actually interviewing with him and I'm like oh my (1:49:30) God I get to work for this guy the bonus is is that he's actually a really cool boss I never I never asked for that I never would have expected that but he's a really cool box and he's a really cool guy so that's what makes his job so awesome I found him to be an endlessly fascinating person he's always working on something different something cool and then he and I are always matched on curiosity about science in general so that's the best part is that whenever he's coming up with something new he'll (1:49:56) come up and be like hey Zach check this out it's super cool and I'm like oh my God you're right it is just that kind of like curiosity about the natural world and science is what really motivates me to come into work basically Bob's not a scientist have you heard that stuff before oh yeah oh yeah you hear that all the time or you know he's a liar he never worked for area 51.
(1:50:15) that's why they can believe whatever they want you know above that I know is like one of the most honest people that I've ever met and I love his ethics as a businessman that's kind of something that I try to you know propagate as a person as well he's got really good principles the more you get to know him the more you realize he's telling the truth yeah yeah that's the story's true it's like the most unbelievable story in American history and then it kind of clicked him he was
(1:50:37) like he actually worked there it's like that was the most unbelievable part to me it's like this whole time I thought it was just some crackpot honestly I thought he was going to be just some you know another guy that's propagating these UFO conspiracies like we never landed on the moon I think like the first week I worked here I heard him call somebody out on the phone because they asked him did we land on the Moon he's like I personally know somebody who's been on the moon and that kind of
(1:51:00) set the taunt for me like he's not one of those guys he doesn't want to associate with those guys he doesn't want to be just some conspiracy nut so that really kind of started to turn the wheels like you know maybe his story's true maybe he actually did work there and understanding him as a person as being like somebody that's pretty honest that only reinforces the idea that yeah he actually worked there and he doesn't care he doesn't care if you don't believe him he doesn't care if you think
(1:51:26) he's a total crackpot UFO guy um and that to me is probably the biggest indication because Liars will always try to go the one step forward to make sure you believe their story and he does not he doesn't care he doesn't want people to believe that actually he just wants to be left alone and run his shop that's it so he hasn't even told me the full story and I'm not going to press him for it it would be almost really convenient if ever if everyone just didn't believe him I think that's kind of the life that he

(1:52:00) wants he just wants to be known as Bob he just wants to live a normal life so I guess if you know people didn't view him as the area 51 guy would be a lot easier to do that in his life and that leads Credence to you know me trusting him and trusting his story and all that is unbelievable as it may be [Music] [Music] foreign [Music] [Music] you're telling me there's a different
(1:53:14) physics that was your job you were working on that the science was something we were trying to figure out but we knew how the devices would operate you know for instance the propulsion of The Craft everything that we have whether it's a propeller plane or a jet or a rocket it throws something out the back either high-speed exhaust or a large volume of air it's an action reaction for us the action is you throw something out the back and it moves you forward that's how everything works this is the first time
(1:53:48) there's a craft that's it's a reactionless craft it's a field propulsion craft and what it does is it creates a distortion in space and time in front of it where space actually bends it's just technology that doesn't exist yet I mean you're talking about that there is science doesn't even know what gravity is much less how to produce it or control it and here is a device that's producing it and controlling put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and then a foot in front of it take your
(1:54:21) fist and push down on the mattress bowling ball Will Roll towards it and that's exactly how the craft work creates a distortion right in front of it and the craft Falls forward there so there's a different physics that well the science that explains how the technology works I mean it's all encompassed as one thing alien technology and science what is the big picture what are the what is the takeaway of your story after you're gone you're not a rebel kid with a with a jet car at Los Alamos today today's a different Bob
(1:55:51) delivered to you on Thursday can we make that a part of the record we can I think that all of that is appropriate to put on the record we do have a W-2 form of record that shows that you work for the United States Department of Naval intelligence I also note that he is in fact listed in the Los Alamos National Laboratory telephones directory it's obvious that it's very difficult to get information from government sources enormously your honor what has happened with Mr Elizabeth has had a devastating effect
(1:56:29) on him and his ability to carry on us what he does here or elsewhere he would like to be in a position to move on [Music] without describing specifically what's in the photographs it's a magnificent clear photograph of Papu's leg taken in the daytime during the daytime now I got within a mile of the lake bed and I had a powerful set of binoculars yes it looked like a dry lake bed to me nothing else well that's what it might it was a different story so he came from the other direction okay this is supposedly before S4 was built
(1:57:16) well see 49ers came through before it but he was out there when escort was operating he did his stuff when it was operating he did it like two years after Bob's story came out but he had no idea about the UFO stuff this guy is an archaeologist his name is Jerry Freeman and he had an idea he wanted to track the uh history of the 49ers the groups of settlers who came across the country um uh in 1849 to get to the California Gold Fields so he had a unique idea he infiltrated the Nevada Test Site from the south and the west and traveled all
(1:57:55) the way across it he sneaked across it avoiding security knew he was trespassing but he would travel at night and hide under rocks and in caves during the day he made it all the way up to Papu's Lake this was in see the story is 1997. so it's after the Bob Lazar story has come out this guy has no idea about Bob Lazar he has no idea about flying saucers he's not into that but he traveled all the way up to Papoose Lake and in his story and I I inherited a lot of his files he says he was out at night by Papoose and all of a
(1:58:31) sudden out of nowhere a door opens up I mean like just a door in space a light a bluish light that opened up a door way to who knows where and then poof it was gone this guy had no idea about Appliance officers boblazar John Lee or any of this stuff but this that's the story he told unfortunately as he traversed the Nevada Test Site he ran into pockets of radiation and got contracted cancer and died nonetheless a lot of his files a lot of his footage his home video is here I got it it's a great story the arch the huge Stone Arch depicted in (1:59:15) this Photograph does not exist he says the department of energy has decreed it so why because you and I might want to see it and it's within a stone's throw of Yucca Mountain which was designated as the nuclear Repository so basically he was petitioning Senator Reid to say look that's Stone Arch is out there the department of energy doesn't want to admit it because people would want to see it and it's it's a crime to not allow people to see it as far as the department of energy goes doesn't exist because they don't want

(1:59:44) people asking to see it they don't want people to access that this guy did he got out there took pictures of it and petitioned Senator Reid and others to acknowledge that it's out there and to let people in to see it and that is that his his ark of the covenant that's what he went there for he found that carving 1849 and some rocks adjacent to Papoose Lake and that was one Brave dude and committed and that's pretty ballsy the guy could have been arrested thrown into jail I think there were people who wanted to (2:00:22) throw him into jail after he admitted his story that he'd trespassed because it was pretty clear that in fact he'd been out there two years after basketball how do you even get on that land without he came from the west and they didn't stop him sensors enough it was a gigantic facility and he slipped in my mind he traveled at night and he hid under Rock so he knew you shouldn't be there right oh no he knew he was trespassing well [__] he didn't know for us born to look for the [__] hole in the side of the
(2:00:55) mountain and why he didn't care about that he was looking for the Rocks they there's that carving right there that he took the picture of [__] nerve that was the that was the big prize for him but while he's there hiding that's when the door opened up no way he said he saw the door open up and he's not a UFO he doesn't know that [__] has no idea about the [__] way and he died from radiation stuff because he's sitting out there in the dark holy [__] what the hell is that and it was light
(2:01:25) inside and a door opened from the side of the mountain that's where Bob's not in this not on the side of the mountain right in the middle of the desert in nothing nothing's there there is no Side of the Mountain it opens in complete darkness in the middle of the desert you're not saying the floor opened uh no I am saying he's sitting here looking out of interdimensional space a door opened with light behind it yeah and he said saw it said this to you yeah Eddie okay but he came to talking
(2:01:55) because he knew you're into this area yeah but he came to me but I didn't get to do the story it ended up being somebody else because I wasn't there at the time so there's some [__] going on out at S4 that is way beyond our imagination and this guy like I said not a UFO guy dream lately different Adventure you look like a dry lake bed to me nothing else well that's what it was a different story what did you see I can clearly see what we're security lights on the perimeters and I could see lights
(2:02:24) that opened and closed near the center of the lake I I felt vibration I know I wasn't imagining it because there were real looking sand coming down just on the other side of this little watch and I could see him and I thought well hey an earthquake well then I realized this is not an earthquake it continued and continued for maybe nearly two minutes it's something they're testing either directly underground or I was feeling vibrations completely from the Green Lake I don't know I think if they'd have (2:02:53) caught me in there that it lit me up like a Roman Candle well the briefings were blue folders and just had an overview of the other projects going on that could potentially connect to what we were doing and there were three in particular yeah our project was Galileo and the two other ones were project sidekick and that that dealt with any other weapon potential the craft that was the biggest project on the base the other one was looking glass and that had to do with the effects of gravity's distortion and time you know about you
(2:03:34) know potentially being able to get information forward through time so there were other projects again dealing with other aspects of The Craft some biological and you know like metallurgical things of that sort but the fact that there is actually a concerted effort to use gravity to actually manipulate time and I actually would rather have been part of that project

(00:57) and i don't know where to begin tonight with the the mundane news or the you know we're we're in this window and we're in the crescent window i guess i might as well begin here huh [Music] preston as you know has made a prediction uh that there's going to be the biggest ufo's hiding of the century or maybe of a century i'm not sure tonight now soon uh the window for it began at 9 50 p.
(01:28) m and as i said uh we're at uh we're at 10 uh 1007 and 30 seconds and that'll tell you how long uh a delay there is from my voice to your reception you know with the delays and such in fact let's try that just for fun if you're watching the clock uh you'll be able to tell how much delay time there is there's a building uh six or seven second delay and then there's satellite time uh for my voice to get to your voice uh so we're coming up on uh 108 5 4 3 2 1 mark 10 08. so that'll give you some (02:06) idea now uh he said again uh that uh between 9 50 and between midnight so it from now until midnight there's gonna be the biggest ufo sighting uh in a century or in this century there is actually a pretty big difference and and we're in that window so uh if you want to go here's what i've done if you want to go to my website and i hope we don't bring it down i really hope we don't bring it down uh if you want to go to my website artbell.
(02:40) com uh instead of the usual webcam that i've got there i have a uh a video camera hooked up to a third generation night vision scope pretty wild stuff huh i've had that for uh several years and so i've got it pointed at uh las vegas and i want to explain to you what you're gonna see in it's taking a picture it's snapping a picture every minute now in between those minutes should i see something say spectacular you know whatever i could snap an instant picture and i want to explain to you as you take
(03:53) you're going to see uh kind of a glow you're going to see a glow and that glow is las vegas nevada 65 miles away from me so that's the the glow you see between the phone poles in the tree that's las vegas and nevada uh you're also probably going to see some stars there's not that many stars but you're going to see some stars in the photograph as well uh there's many uh more fruitful areas of the sky if we wanted to look at stars with night vision i could i could do that but uh we're seeing a substantial portion of
(04:27) the skies immediately above las vegas nevada from nevada west of las vegas so should anything really spectacular occur in this time period um i think that i would see it i'm going to try and keep my eyes on it it's kind of hypnotic i'm watching it real time while you get a snap of it every minute that's on my website if you have if you feel like looking pretty cool what i've done is uh i've reduced the color saturation which i can do on the computer and what that does is pull uh all of the uh the green out of it you (05:06) know night vision is normally green and this would be except i pulled the saturation out so that you have a night vision black and white picture from about 65 miles away and again that glow between the two phone poles and the in the tree that's las vegas through a mountain pass so so we'll see i mean from here we may see nothing uh or you know i may be pointed at the wrong place in the sky but i figured with the prediction the way it is best bet point toward las vegas so you've got some ground references again (05:42) let me give it to you one more time a tree on the left sometimes you'll see a car go by don't let that you know extremely bright then there's two telephone poles and then there's a glow an area of kind of a glowing area between the phone poles and the tree on the right and that is las vegas that is light from las vegas in the night sky here otherwise it is a clear night you will see some las vegas air traffic um and you'll be able to discern that i'm sure by the fact that in one picture it's there

(06:12) in the next picture it's there you know one one minute apart uh going either toward san francisco or seattle or back from that would be the route that we'd be seeing in this portion of the sky so i thought what the hell we'll put the webcam up and uh if anything really wild happens we'll maybe we'll get a shot of it i'm prepared to snap one instantly if i if i see something happening you know what the problem is though i'm going to have to look away i just realized i've got other things
(06:41) going on so i can't stare at that screen all the time in fact i'm going to have to look away you know i have commercials i have news i have stuff i have to do so i can't sit here and stare at it all the time there's a lot of anticipation out there i know in fact here's kind of a side story for you uh stung by intelligence failures are president tonight in a speech asked congress to remake the government with a terrorist fighting department of homeland security if it should happen the president wants a new department
(07:13) would inherit 169 000 employees oh my god that's a lot of employees and a 37.4 billion dollar budget from the agencies that it would absorb now listen to this this agency would absorb the secret service the coast guard and the embattled immigration and customs service congress welcomed the agency shuffling plan even as lawmakers intensified their inquiry into lapses before the september 11 attacks uh they're having this whistleblower hearing going on uh right now and it's pretty compelling they were really
(07:52) questioning this young lass very heavily she sent in the uh the infamous memo so uh so that would absorb quite a few ages in other words the the coast guard uh immigration and naturalization a customs uh in other words it'll all be under one banner that and that's a very interesting it would be under the banner of you know a terrorist something or another and i wonder if the only thing i wonder is whether some of the natural duties that these agencies perform that are important will get somehow changed or (08:31) absorbed when they become more of a terrorist fighting agency a homeland security terrorist fighting agency i don't know interesting yasser arafat ridiculed suggestions that israel just might er exile him because of the unrelenting palestinian attacks said he expel me i'll die here he told reporters during a tour of his damaged headquarters on thursday israeli tanks and giant bulldozers uh had uh had away with uh part of it the wall there and as kind of a wreck and you know every time something happens why they
(09:09) pulled the tanks uh up to mr arafat's door sort of oh there goes a car now see if if it happened to snap one during that you would have seen an extremely bright light that might have fooled you and that would have been a car headlight you know in in night vision they're extremely bright huh well all right at least you got a little reference in that photograph and uh i hope i hope it stays up i hope you can see it winona ryder ordered to stand trial on charges alleging she shoplifted some six thousand dollars worth of merchandise
(09:45) from sacks fifth avenue six thousand dollars my god and possessed a drug without a prescription uh and then uh her fans are i guess doing some kind of boycott or something so wow that's interesting isn't it now here's something i don't know i i'm a kind of a fan of world cup uh i went to uh my wife and i were in paris for the last world cup and you know the french they play a mean game of soccer real mean game of soccer and they're always in the top contenders you know they're right on up there (10:26) they're either going to win or they're going to be right up there so it's not so good this year the french are in danger of becoming the first defending champions eliminated in the opening round of a world cup since brazil in 1966 the team followed their stunning 1-0 loss to world cup newcomer senegal oh that's embarrassing huh by uh trying uruguay uh tying them 0-0 on thursday leaving them on the verge of elimination the french eliminated oh my god could it really happen

would anybody really care
(11:09) all right in a moment uh we'll come back now i am i should tell you that i have sources i understand there's a large i want to hear from somebody in this hour bob lazar is coming up next hour i want to hear some from somebody out with the crowd uh right now and i want to hear how big this crowd is and where they are and that kind of stuff so uh everybody else uh just uh don't call right now i know that there's a lot of people with crescent or wherever it is i want to have a description of where you are so
(11:40) everybody else hang up please only if you have a cell phone and you are with the crescent crowd should you call this radio program right now it's all i'm gonna take with the exception of one call here otherwise uh you you would better be uh with the crowd when you call because i really want to hear what's going on and i want to bring it to the nation as best i can and the best way i can do that is to use you all as reporters right that's the deal everybody else i don't care what you have to say hang up
(12:11) because we we want to hear what's going on anyway i want to hear what's going on so that means you have to listen to what's going on i guess uh the numbers that you can use first time call our line 775-727-1222 yeah one two two two that's seven seven five seven two seven one triple two or the wild card lines at uh seven seven five the area code seven two seven one two nine five and the east and west of the rockies lines you can use those two but unless you are with the crowd unless you are with the crescent crowd do not repeat do not
(12:49) call because along with the photograph that i've got every minute on the webcam obviously i want to know what's going on out there and where everybody is and all that kind of thing so with all that in mind i'll talk a little more about the whole chrisken prediction in a second we've been getting calls here non-stop about the thing so i'll tell you more about it uh in a moment all right here we are uh coming up on uh 10 23 pacific time right now and uh once again kresgen has made a prediction and we are (13:30) in that window right now for what it's worth but what i said last night i'm going to repeat again tonight for those of you who don't know what i think about this i've said what i think i'll say it again i can't figure out what the upshot of this is for kresgen i can't figure it out uh if he'd made a prediction for a year or two years then you could see oh you know you're gonna get your publicity value out of it and uh but to to you know to predict something so close term you know he predicted it (14:03) for tonight within the week that that makes me wonder he's put up fifty thousand dollars if he's wrong about this ufo prediction that'll says three or four craft are gonna be seen uh by people in las vegas who are with kresgen and out in the desert and i'm out in the desert i just saw a very neat falling star and i'm sitting here looking at the lights of las vegas as you can be if you wish in the meantime we are going to try and take calls with the exception of this one coming up only from people who
(14:36) are out there with a crescent crowd and i know you've got cell phones and cameras and you know it's probably like independence day right shouting for the aliens hurry up and come in and we welcome you and all the rest of it i can't figure out the psychology of what kresgen has done i just for the life of me cannot figure it out because the downside seems too great for whatever immediate publicity value you get if it doesn't happen the downside people are coming from australia right the the downside to this is that uh
(15:08) the angry people i suppose nothing happened and then again uh you know i'm going to qualify this by saying a lot of my audience is out there i know that and they they're they know what they're doing they know what a satellite looks like uh crossing the sky they know what an airplane looks like they know what navigation lights look like they know what of the space shuttle should it come over would look like um all of that so you know the majority of the crowd is going to be able to delineate between an
(15:39) event of that sort and the event the kind of event that kresgen is talking about so i've really thought hard about this i can't figure out what he's doing why he's doing it seems the immediate downside's pretty heavy if he's wrong and you know we've got what an hour and 35 minutes or so to find out whether he's right or wrong [Laughter] uh the president gave a speech tonight and i started to uh you know that i just told you about the combining of the agencies and i i just started (16:12) i took a few calls uh during the news at the top of the hour and one of them said the same thing that several of my emails said so i thought i would bring this gentleman on and there you are sir you're on so during the president's speech which i did not see uh about the combining of the agencies and homeland security and all the rest of it uh you're claiming you saw a ufo yeah i think i don't know if it started during the middle of the speech but uh behind his his sort of right shoulder um coming out from behind his head was sort (16:46) of a white glowing sphere and it kept sort of changing shape as ufos are known to do and when i replayed the tape because i recorded it as soon as my wife and i saw that i just like my jaw dropped all right all right uh okay so you've got this on tape i don't suppose you're you're not a computer geek are you uh no i'm not damn you see you can actually do a snap of that and uh send us a photograph so somebody out there will have taped the president or we'll get it and do a snap for us and (17:16) send it to us and we'll get a picture of it up there how about that yeah i mean that's great there was actually two though um the one one of them there was the big one that was on the sort of right side of his ear but one shot up from behind the trees and it just sort of flickered in and off and went past the other one and uh i i couldn't figure out what else it was i didn't think it was a reflecting light okay well look it's well recorded uh with downtown professional uh video equipment who'd you know they'd

(17:45) be shooting the president so uh i guarantee we will come up with a photograph of it sir and we'll all take a look-see huh sounds like a case for richard hoagland well i don't know richard would say no no no i i don't deal with that stuff well i appreciate your call though sir thank you so there might have been something uh seen behind the president i i received a bunch of emails on that and then of course his call all right now i'm going to say this again only those of you out there with crescent need call right now that's all
(18:15) only if you're out there with kresgen everybody else hang up so we can find out what's going on on the first time caller line you're on the air hello hi art hi there um i'm out here at the uh crescendo okay you are out there yes i am all right and it's it's over what do you mean it's over i mean uh some people saw some things and uh most of us didn't see anything uh well then how do you know it's over well everybody's going home chris can turn off the lights and did chris down there like (18:51) whoa whoa whoa whoa whoa whoa whoa did kruskins say it was over yes crescent said it was over you're kidding no and uh also you're not going to believe who i was standing behind who daniel brinkley daniel was there yes did daniel see anything uh as soon as everybody started well not everybody as soon as five or ten people started seeing things yeah um daniel said he was with two girls and he said well we can gather the kids and go home now that's daniel all right uh he said he said you know the girls were saying well what (19:31) do you what do you think's going on and he said well they're saying what they need to see yeah well how many people do you think were out there um i would say probably about a thousand a thousand people yeah and how many people do you think started screaming they saw something uh about 11 or 12. i don't i'm listen uh well listen hold on sir all right all right all right hold on i'm artbell this is [Music] [Music] [Music] all right there you just heard what ramona saw she was outside and i didn't
(20:31) i wasn't looking at the uh the webcam at that time so i don't know if it caught any of it but uh look uh we're gonna continue for the next few minutes anyway to take calls only from people who are out there uh in the crescent area were with the crescent group it's now said that it's over uh let me bring this caller back on you're back on now hello hi hi this is joel in vegas yeah hey there uh so anyway it's over it's over and what would you say the majority of the people thought (21:04) um they thought that uh we we did see we did see some low-flying airplanes go go over kind of like my wife just described yes of course you know of course we're right here by the airport yeah um and that's what that was the consensus you know that it was airplanes yes uh okay i listen i'm gonna move on and try to get some more you know witnesses like yourself uh and try to get a sense of the only people that saw it were the people that were in the uh show before he went out there so it was like a hypnosis deal okay i appreciate the (21:40) call were you in the show no i wasn't in the show well then i don't know how you can know that it was a hypnosis deal uh but uh that's that's interesting um very interesting what was to the rockies you're on the air hello i take it you're in las vegas that's correct okay so what do you have to tell me well i was in the show and of the 500 people in the showroom he dismissed about 200 and kept 300 pulled him down to the front of the stage and did a little extra with us i don't really think it was hypnosis uh we (22:16) walked in about a quarter of a mile um well okay let me stop you uh he put you say he dismissed a couple hundred from the audience kept about 300 and did what he actually i don't i don't think i would call it hypnosis i wouldn't call it a trance i wouldn't even call it a suggestion but he he did some of the uh the close your eyes and hold your arm out in front of you straight rigid and now you're unable to put it down and visualize a circle in your palm it's it's it's standard mentalist kresgen is (22:47) a fabulous mentalist yeah but what does that have to do with seeing ufos nothing at all nothing okay so you went out with the group right yes and yeah and you what it was estimated there were a thousand people there by another caller that i would say four to five hundred i did not see a thousand uh all right four or five hundred uh he dismissed the crowd at 11 at 10 20 i mean 20 minutes after the hour so then it sounds like what my wife saw uh would have been about the right time about 10 15.

(23:16) she actually got a better show than we did really so there were maybe well so so now well i mean what did kresgen say for himself um when he said it's over uh that was it he just said that that is the conclusion everyone is dismissed and good night he made no explanation for what was seen or was not seen um the crowd was uh understandably not very excited because i mean after all we are in the flight path you know we're right under the mccarran flight path yeah i know uh so so then uh as you can see we saw nothing then as you point out
(23:55) my wife apparently had a better view of it than you all did i believe she did i personally saw nothing of these four airplanes correct uh four airplanes okay i appreciate it thank you very much uh and you personally saw nothing okay well you know just based on what i'm hearing here it sure sounds like a miss to me but uh i get you know we're yet to hear from well let's just keep moving uh hello there are you out there with a crescent crowd yes uh okay uh you're on a cell phone too huh yes a hummy one too uh
(24:30) what's your first name tia tia okay tso what's the deal well everyone's saying that they didn't see anything but i definitely saw something what'd you see i definitely saw a couple ships you saw a couple of ships i did i mean they were saying they saw a lot of low-flying airplanes which we did see we did but i i saw them they were very obvious to me were you one of the 300 people that kresgen kept after his show no no but i wasn't a show yeah i wasn't a hypno they're saying the hypnosis thing
(25:06) yeah i was in that yes oh you were in that yes okey dokey uh bless your heart and thank you very much for the call so she was in that select group uh but says she saw something are you out there with the crescent crowd oh no i'm in north las vegas north las vegas yes yes sir oh my daughter and i were looking at a cigar-shaped object that's directly overhead just about oh no it's it's brightly lit is that going on right now yes right now we're both sitting here looking at it and there's like a small
(25:39) smaller object that seems to be moving back and forth away from it it's so weird but this nowhere near downtown yeah i hear you crescent said it's already over yeah well we were listening to that on the show so i don't think this has anything to do with that but this is definitely not a star something something different it's uh all right well let's see if we get more more reports of it yeah yeah this is in north las vegas huh all right all right thank you very much sir for the report and take care
(26:11) you know there's going to be a lot of sightings a lot of things i mean a lot of people out uh of course just you know watching uh and you know when you pay attention to the sky you see things that some of them are hard to explain just comes from looking people don't usually look at the sky but i'm still saying i think from what i'm hearing so far this doesn't sound like much to me doesn't sound like a hit to me first time color line you're on the air hello hey art this is uh this is ginger i'm (26:38) out at the site hey ginger yeah so yeah so i was one of the ones that was hypnotized or whatever you call it okay i don't know if he was giving suggestions and stuff and i thought you know i'm very susceptible i thought i'd see something right and we saw planes planes but it was a great scene there was lots of people they're selling beer and water and for free i got a free crescent book three question pictures were passed out by the radio station yesterday yesterday but the the critical all critical thing is

when christian stood up there and said it's over we i didn't hear that oh you didn't hear that his mic wasn't very loud i see and but you know when we were like in the little room there and he was like telling us what was going to happen we were going to see something we were going to get a message he said when i dropped the handkerchief then you're going to you know you'll that's when it's going to start (27:43) happening you know and just remember what you saw and tell everybody and and so he went out there and he dropped a handkerchief dropped the handkerchief twice twice and then you know we see in planes and people and isn't that the flight path oh yeah i guess it is yeah okay that's exciting yes go ahead there's one other thing that i can't figure out is he said it was like from 9 50 till midnight that's right why did he leave at 10 15.
(28:09) well because he said it was all over yeah one of our callers said he said it was all over right and but you know if he's the one that said till midnight so you would think he would hang you know it's like what up yeah well uh yeah yeah you're right that's a very good point and i appreciate you making it thank you yeah thanks all right i don't know it sounds like a bust to me you know it sounds like they were airplanes and it sounds like uh they're exactly the same thing my wife saw coming from this side you know as she
(29:10) it is where are you i'm in vegas okay were you uh at this affair uh yes and uh what pray tell did you see uh i thought i saw something but it was it flashed across the sky so fast but i couldn't really tell what it was hmm there's some kind of light but were you in in with the crowd that uh yeah you were one of the crowds supposedly was hypnotized or whatever you want to call it i see did you see all this when the handkerchief fell um shortly after yeah shortly after all right i appreciate the testimony
(29:49) thank you i think we're getting a picture here huh just talking to people the best way to get a picture of what happened you're beginning to get a picture of what happened out there i am i certainly am on the first time color line you're on the air hello hello hi hi hi turn your radio off hurry up hurry up all right ready to turn that radio off no they've still got it on i know we're turning it off is that better oh yes thank you all right so so you're you i take it you're out with what was the (30:24) crowd yeah actually we're out at blue diamond and industrial oh yeah okay and a lot of people showed up um i would say i mean they had police control everything out here the only thing that i've seen which was on a satellite pattern however the only thing that i saw was a very green light but it took the same pattern as a satellite but it was very bright green did it did it move across the uh the sky at a at a regular rate um no it was um it was much slower than a plane but much uh and it was actually slower than a
(31:05) satellite okay well what was problem look what was promised was three or four craft and the biggest sighting of the century and i don't think we got that do you no i'm waiting but you know what he said till midnight i'm not really sure if he left or what the deal is with that because i'm not why aren't he doing that i've got callers telling me he left now we'll play it on the safe side and wait till midnight but he said i think you know kristin apparently said it's over you know what i'm not privy to that (31:29) conversation however i am out here and there are literally um hundreds of people still out here probably maybe even a thousand people still out here um a lot of people have left but there's still a lot of people out here so i'm waiting to see what's going to go on what's going to happen yeah i want to see something i understand and i i understand that was a motivation for a lot of people so you're you you're actually at a different location blue diamond is that's it's kind of dark out toward (31:58) blue diamond away from the city a little bit and not as dark as we have it over here but it's it's darker and oh it's very dark and so you're telling me at that location there's like a thousand people huh oh yeah yeah he's easily i mean they got we're about 50 yards away from where they had all the big lights in the sky yeah you know they had like the um they had the big lights on they turned the lights

off at 10 o'clock and the news stations were out here and yeah so i mean they're still here (32:30) everybody's still here a lot of people have left but there are a lot of people still here all right well okay the word is that kresgen just so you know apparently according to my other callers said it's over it ain't over for me honey i'm staying till midnight you hang in there you hang in there i'll i'll see you later all right good uh she's gonna stay with midnight fine uh and there's a there's a plane crawling across right now uh bright plain um i'm watching the skies above
(32:57) las vegas and uh there's a pretty bright plane that's uh that's crossing right now that's a night vision camera i've got on and again you're seeing on the left two telephone poles then you're seeing a little glow in the sky that's las vegas and then the tree on the right those are closer uh oh i'd say it was about a half mile away and then uh you're seeing a big piece of the sky of las vegas on my webcam now ramona did see the apparent airplanes that's what more people not
(34:06) a believer did you get that yeah i heard that i'll continue so did you really see something in your mind and actually what we were doing were you at the uh i was there when i said that i was showing a technique that could be used by enemy enemies it had nothing to do with physical it had to do with you does it make you feel bad at all that a lady just spent 600 to come down here from seattle washington on her own money to do that no no but you made the people believe that it would be able to be seen anywhere else
(34:42) i heard you say that sir i was there monday night how's that okay i heard all that so okay so listen i've taken a whole bunch of calls and so far some people said they saw airplanes my own wife saw airplanes from this side of the hill that was it though uh yeah you saw i saw yeah that's all you saw airplanes but but we are we did have somebody who was in our group and she just claimed to see it and we're going to have her talk about it on out there tomorrow or sunday night but we none of us saw it and there were like 30 of us
(35:12) together so there's nobody left there now would you say the general consensus was that it was a bust it was a bust it was a hoax it was a cheap trip well right okay thanks for your call uh there you go that's an opinion and uh what i wanted to do tonight was to get on here and to give you a sense of what was going on and uh and i think you've got it uh i'll try one more here first time caller line you're on the air hello hi i i wasn't part of the crescent crowd but i do have something to tell you well where where (35:51) are you first of all well we me and my girlfriend were no dear stop where are you right now yes in what city oh las vegas okay okay we're out here right now we're sitting out here in the middle of the desert but we've taken our horses and we were going up to potency so that we could see this phenomenon right and we didn't make it because my truck broke down and we had to break down up at uh red rock and this was about 8 40 tonight here we are didn't make it and we saw something up at red rock it was a an amber and it it
(36:24) blew out four different times and i saw that too those were four flares and i saw them go up myself those were flares okay well i didn't know that i knew i saw something yeah i saw four flares um over potency at different positions over potency and you could tell they were flares because they went up and they were orange and then they faded right out the way flare is due this was over by red rock well you would have seen it from that direction but i saw it from this direction it was actually over potency and you could see (36:53) it was clearly uh flares and if you think about it how they went up they went up you could see them going up then they flared up at the top and then they faded away those were flares okay well you know what i never seen anything like that before it was pretty intriguing thank you okay you're very welcome now those were four flares and i saw those because i was out setting up uh the uh the webcam at that time and i said oh man look at that flares and i called my wife out and she saw one of them too uh that those were four flares that (37:27) somebody fired but you know if somebody wanted us to think those were ufos they out their mind those were absolutely flares all right so kresgen's saying it's all over i think that uh i gave you a pretty good picture i hope i did of what's going on out there tonight just over the hill from me coming up next and i i'm in a way i'm thanking kresgen for declaring this over and we'll just leave it you i think you've got good impressions of what happened we'll just leave it right there because we have a (38:00) hell of an interview to do this is the real mccoy uh coming up uh bob lazar now this is a physicist who worked at area 51. so i'm kind of glad the other story is uh clear of us now and that you understand just as i do everything we just heard in this last hour however coming up what's coming up next uh you've never heard bob lazar's story uh you are really in for a treat he worked with alien craft at area 51 s4 actually and he's got new information if you've heard the story before he says new (38:42) information tonight all of that should be coming up next i'm artbell [Music] in the mid 1980s a fascinating story emerged a man claiming to have worked out at a test site designated s4 which is part of the groom lake test site came forward to tell his remarkable story to local las vegas news anchor george knapp i'll bet george knapp was out there at the crescent affair tonight with cameras the man was robert s lazar bob never claimed to have made contact with worked with or has ever seen any aliens at s4

(39:31) but he did claim to have worked on a revolutionary propulsion system seeing saucer-shaped craft in a hangar built into the side of the mountain and witnesses live trials uh had witnessed live trials of a a man flying disc his story made headlines around the world brought hundreds of thousands of people to the desert spawned a multi-million dollar publishing and merchandising circus and shook up a country to the core of its beliefs it is worth noting that for nearly 15 years now bob lazar has never tried to embellish his story
(40:13) change it uh and neither the u.s military nor the government has ever denied any of it to be true bob lazar the man behind the legend of area 51 as the center of a massive us government cover-up surrounding craft alien spacecraft has recently signed a deal with uk-based blue book films to finally bring his unique story to the screen and this is a man who does not do interviews he's even worse than i am i mean he's very shy uh probably somewhat reclusive i get i get accused of being inclusive a lot and
(40:48) i am uh and and i guess bob is too bob are you reclusive i guess you could say that you uh you hardly ever do any interviews i had one or two with you over the over many years and that's been about it i mean you you have not given that many have you no i i really hate doing interviews and uh i understand well you know i do know and i i hate them too and i i just i refuse almost all of them every now and then i'll do one i don't know why but uh i hate him and i i especially hate television i agree um however your story
(41:30) is really important so important they're now going to finally do a movie about it how do you feel about them doing a movie about you well you know this is the third try initially columbia pictures wanted to do a movie uh some years back and they hired a writer and spent somewhere around four hundred thousand dollars to pay this guy to write the story oh my goodness that's a tremendous amount of money and uh you know essentially it's just a chronological list of events that you're going to have to form into a movie
(42:09) however writers want to get creative and you know this guy turned it into a james bond story there were actual scenes of the guy playing bob lazar running on the tops of cars that were parked on las vegas boulevard in the silhouette of the erupting volcano in the background and they had robots holding me underground trying to drown me to stop me from talking i mean some oh real ridiculous stuff and you know my point is if you're gonna go make make up a story about flying saucers don't bother using my name just go ahead
(42:50) and make up a story but if it's gonna be accurate to the facts then it has to be accurate to the facts i understand there has to be a little glitter put in it somewhere to make the story flow or whatever makes hollywood happy that's too much glitter though yeah you've got to stick to the facts and make it at least somewhat factual so what you got a chance to read this and said i'm sorry i'm not associating with this or what well they never give you right of refusal to the script you're dealing (43:21) with a with a movie company and i'm sure you know that so then you go oh my god what have they done to me exactly but the i mean the only thing you can really do is just say you know hey i'm not going to support it because they essentially force you to go to other interviews on tv and whatnot and you know they're gonna sit

you down and the first thing you're gonna say well is this an actual account in your life and you're gonna have to say no yeah and you know there goes the movie so the thing is though that this the real (43:53) story itself um is so compelling or or have we gone so far into the world of science fiction that as compelling as your story isn't it's an incredible story it's not enough for the screen uh without embellishment maybe not there's no explosions there's no shootouts with aliens you know there's it's it's just an account of events that you know happened at a secret installation out in nevada and the end of the exact same thing happened with a new line who bought it from columbia they tried it they tried to (44:30) not produce the film but first they tried to get it written and get it into production and they hired another writer and one of the first things i said was make sure you get a guy that's familiar with science to some degree because it's a technical film right and the first day i met this guy they flew him down he said now what are these things called atoms again so really well this is a terrible start yeah and uh anyway so now what about what about this okay so what about this new company uh blue book uh that's got (45:03) it now what what what's the promise well supposedly and for everything so far that i've heard sounds like they're going to follow an actual account of the events that happened of your story yeah which is great you know that's that's fine i've got no problems with that at all and uh you know they're really not going to embellish anything they're not going to say anything that didn't happen and uh what more could you ask for okay let's let's get the real story um bob you're you're a physicist correct
(45:39) um well i was at one time right i'm not doing anything yeah i know take me back to way before as um and before area 51 and all the rest of it uh and just tell me something about yourself i mean how did you get interested in the things you're interested in that eventuated and you're getting that job uh how'd you get to be who you are well i wonder how far i should go back i guess at at one point uh i had moved to new mexico in the early 80s and that was to take on a job with los alamos national lab
(46:15) what kind of work well that was physics that was with the uh at the los alamos maison physics facility which now has a different name okay you know it's been quite a while ago but uh at the time we were running experiments on their linear accelerator there and uh really looking into the basic makeup of matter that's pretty exciting uh that's pretty exciting work period oh it was it was fantastic it was uh it was a lot of fun working there a very strange town to live in but uh now i i enjoyed it quite a bit how long were you with (46:49) them with los alamos well i was almost i believe i was there only a couple years before um i realized that you know i i could make a lot more money on my own just operating as a contractor and consulting for the lab as opposed to working for them that happens a lot oh and it's it was certainly worth doing so i left the lab and at that time started lazar energy systems and we developed designed and repaired radiation detection equipment radiation detection equipment specifically alpha radiation detection which is uh
(47:30) the type of particles given off by plutonium and los alamos making bombs and that sort of thing has a lot of plutonium laying around so they want to be able to detect even my new particles that may cling to clothing so on so in other words this was a sort of a protective uh detective device right for human beings they essentially frisk you with it when you leave it also scans the floors and cars as they leave too was that a pretty good business being that was fantastic it was absolutely fantastic at the time and we were awarded a government
(48:05) contract about four years in a row and uh things were great i did still uh go down to the lab a lot because i knew people there and one day there was a local los alamos newspaper called the monitor right and uh you know at the time i was building all kinds of strange projects and was really into building things with jet engines in them and built uh really yeah race cars and i even built a little honda passenger car that had a jet engine in it a jet engine yeah in a car how does that work bob how does a jet engine in a car work i mean there's this (48:47) famous myth of the uh uh the guy who plowed himself into a mountain with some jets i mean how does a jet that was a jado rocket that jado rocket that's right yeah that's a famous urban legend it is uh but but in real life uh how in god's name do you in real life this was i i think it was uh i don't remember the year in 1980 something or other honda civic which had the engine up front right and the back in the back i installed the jet engine so you could drive the car around normally yeah

and then um push a lever (49:19) and the license plate would open up exposing the nozzle to the jet fire that up and take off at high speed and uh they had put that on i think it's the june 82 uh front page of the monitor newspaper and um what kind of what kind of jet engine was that do you recall it's a it's a pressure jet engine which is kind of a it's a jet engine with no moving parts at all right and you know if you know how jet engines turbo jet engines and the like work i do generally that's real confusing because you need some moving parts in there to (49:55) make things go that's right and uh it's not a ram jet and ram jets need to be moving extremely high speed before they can brutus thrust but this is kind of a a strange hybrid and it produces thrust statically without it moving really cool uh how much thrust do you know that was about two thousand pounds two thousand sixteen hundred pound car that was yeah oh yeah so in other words you're already moving it like what 50 60 miles an hour when you let go yeah exactly and then what well and then you better hold on
(50:30) yeah well how fast i mean it takes you from 60 to what 212 was the fastest we ever had that car going 212 miles an hour yeah you out your mind where were you uh driving these things well the the high-speed run was done at el mirage dry lake in california and uh the car was pretty much retired after that because it was a unibody construction and the whole car started pretty much bending from all the forces but uh i mean the only reason i brought up the whole jet car thing was that uh you were the driver right right did you
(51:04) have a death wish no that kind of stuff isn't dangerous if you know what you're doing well i mean for example the car had shaken apart uh during you know maximum thrust yeah but it didn't well right it didn't but it did it bend itself up pretty well huh yeah that was kind of expected i know i know that you have a car that uh i remember when we interviewed before you you would build a car that runs on hydrogen also right yeah that was a 1978 trans am and in fact i entered that in an alternate fuels
(51:38) contest which was a race at that time from woodland hills to calif california to kit peak arizona and uh it drove non-stop there on one tank of fuel well you know that's interesting because that's a long time ago and now all of a sudden president bush is saying we are going to begin moving toward a hydrogen economy well we should i mean it it's the perfect fuel in fact i was just talking to my girlfriend the other day saying i think i'm going to go and convert our existing car over really and uh i i kind of miss making my own
(52:13) fuel i mean it's it's essentially free okay but here's here's the question i i talked to a lot of people about this bob right now uh i think the oil companies imagine hydrogen is fine because you know they'll use fossil fuels to put the hydrogen to great hydrogen get it in in this cells uh you still have to use energy to make energy right however there are other ways now of course the oil companies and the gas companies want you to crack hydrogen from methane or some other hydrocarbon fuel absolutely
(52:45) that's ridiculous you're defeating the whole purpose of using hydrogen water is h2o now you know every school kid knows you take a glass of water you know add just a drop of salt in there to get the ions moving around and take a 12 volt battery and put the positive and negative leads in there i see one lead let off a little bit of bubbles and the other lead lets off twice as much bubbles well the lead with twice as much bubbles is the h2 and the o2 is coming off the other one so just running a little electricity through water gives you a
(53:17) flammable gas and so the way to make hydrogen okay so uh other than the creation of the voltage uh to do that which well the way i had done it before was i had a a fairly large solar array and what that did was during the day it took and cracked the height using an electrolysis set up right which is what i just described crack the hydrogen out of water and during the night it was pressurized using the available water pressure into the hydrogen tanks which contained an iron titanium hydride it's kind of a granular
(54:01) substance that absorbs hydrogen like a sponge soaks up water as opposed to just compressing a tank with hydrogen which is a dangerous i was about to ask you in this process is there a danger no once it's uh chemically stored in the hydride uh you can shoot incendiary bullets at the tank and it just does nothing but smolder but the gas uh itself could be dangerous yeah but it only the tank only produces as much gas as the car needs at the time the way that the setup that i came up with is that the car radiator fluid

hydrogen and it gets into the carburetor so there's never more than the volume of hydrogen that fits in the tube from the tank to the carburetor or fuel injection system so it's it was a very safe system all right what about what about the car itself the performance of the car compared to uh a piston engine uh what was the performance like we're talking about the hydrogen car or the jet oh hydra no the jet i can imagine that (55:04) no no the hydrogen carbon hydrogen car it is a piston car and you know the beauty of the system is you can convert any existing piston car to run on hydrogen yes you just need to the timing because hydrogen burns so much faster the flame front uh just flashes through the cylinders and it'll cause detonation or knocking but uh with a couple minor modifications any car can run on it and you do lose a little horsepower because it's you know there's a difference between spraying a flammable gas in there as opposed to having you know a
(55:36) liquid hydrocarbon with all that carbon energy in there well when you say a little uh how much real difference in performance well i lost i i lost a significant amount in the trans am and you know probably i believe the car was 220 horsepower and i think i was down to about 150 running on hydrogen oh but still usable then oh yeah you weren't you weren't following electric cars by any means uh well that's pretty good uh that's damn good actually so why not do that now to all cars i am i mean i'm gonna convert my car over
(56:16) but uh you already did that you're what your wife is okay with this right right bob hold on a sec right at the bottom of the hour i'm art bell and you're listening to coast to coast am my guest is bob lazar i've been aware the eagle flies rode his wings crossed all the skies kissed the sun touched the moon but he [Music] come on down [Music] once again uh here is bob lazar and it's good that you've told us some of this bob it gives it you know kind of every everybody a background for you
(57:20) know what kind of guy you are and uh what you've been doing and sounds like you've been having a hell of a lot of fun actually i mean i mean putting a jet in a car that's got to be a lot of fun yeah it was a crazy thing to do and a lot of people if you ever do you have a website well there's a website about me that's not mine my website is my uh is unitednuclear.
(57:44) com which is scientific supplies and and whatnot that we sell somebody was hoping you'd post the process for the creation of hydrogen on some website somewhere something well they'll have to dig back in the archives and listen all right so um now how did you get involved uh if you can remember the first moment or the first contact that anybody made with you regarding uh area 51 and s4 and all that stuff over here well this is the reason why i brought up the jet car initially that day on june 82 the front page of the los alamos monitor
(58:29) newspaper had a picture of me and the jet car on it and on the flip side of the front page there's an announcement there that uh edward teller father of the hydrogen bomb uh was going to be giving a lecture down at one of lecture halls at the lab and uh i was anxious to uh to hear the lecture so thinking there were going to be lots of people there i got there really early because at the time i was still working for the lab right there wasn't now i'm trying to remember for that i was still working for it but in either case i got to the (59:09) lecture hall real early and as it turned out there was nobody there and now i'm kind of waiting around about 15 minutes goes by and i see ed teller sitting on a little wall outside the hall reading the front page of the newspaper which i thought was a perfect segue for me to introduce myself because you know he's sitting there reading about me and i always wanted to meet the guy of course and um so i went and introduced myself and you know we talked for a bit and um actually the lecture got delayed a little bit so we had walked around and (59:45) and uh you know i i got to talk to the guy what was he like uh out of curiosity i mean how did he strike he's a very stubborn guy um stubborn yeah and it's um it's a feeling you get speaking to most of the older scientists and physicists in almost every lab i've seen uh you can't present them with anything new that they didn't think of first you know they're they're scientists they're supposed to be open-minded and explore new ideas and things but there is nobody as close-minded (1:00:24) you know as a scientist or physicist that's been in the business you know for over a decade can you remember the conversation that uh that made you form that opinion no this is opinion not just based on him but based on the other scientists and physicists that i've worked with they all act exactly the same oh and you caught the same drift from him yeah i identical and uh anyway i got to see the lecture and you know time passed and actually as time went on i moved out of los alamos and moved to las vegas

(1:01:01) and after some time there uh involved in other businesses i kind of missed being back in the mainstream science field and uh started sending out resumes eg g and uh i wonder who else was around there at the time but people might not know egmg is a i think they're a contractor for uh for area 51 for the test size right they they're uh eg g measurements in fact those are the guys that uh in fact edinger who's the e in eg is the guy i think that invented the flash the xenon flash bulb or high speed flash photography something like that because
(1:01:43) eg g started out as uh the company that came up with a way to photograph the atomic tests which was which was really difficult and um big flash very very hard to photograph yeah very high speed and you know they wanted to actually see the fireball expanding as it cracks the case and moves apart and you know you're talking over a million frames a second wow and they came up with some fantastic cameras uh in fact i was just told the other day by uh a movie movie studio executive that uh all those old cameras found their way
(1:02:23) into most of the motion picture companies now and they use them for special effects all those atomic bomb cameras yeah we got a lot of uh you know scientific advance uh from defense if you wish to call it that and uh the defense industry of course you know they'd develop the latest stuff i guess so that's not a surprise um so you applied uh to eg e and g i i'd sent a resume to everywhere that was in driving distance now there wasn't a whole lot in las vegas but you know i i gave it a shot and what i
(1:02:55) also did was i sent one to dr teller who was at livermore at that time hoping he would remember you i'm sure right and i referenced our meeting and so on and so forth and uh you know any suggestions you know just pass them along and i believe it wasn't too long after that um but i got a call from egng really now at that time egng was located at mccarran airport cto's egg special projects and for the people who lived in las vegas a long time they they remember that they've since moved it behind the fence at
(1:03:34) nellis air force base okay um and they they said to you what they told me to come down for an interview i did and apparently this was under the recommendation of dr teller which was fantastic of course and uh did you know that by the way at the time i think i found that out after if i recall okay um so in this interview uh what were they what what did they want what were they after what were they curious what they want to know the initial interview was uh for a lesser position and i was interviewed by a board of people
(1:04:19) uh over a span of about an hour and a half and that's some interview yeah it was pretty intimidating you know it was uh it was an uncomfortable interview do you recall the uh any of the key questions i asked you as an hour and a half my god not for that because i did go back for another one oh um i mean they did ask me one of the strange things i found about it was that they weren't asking me that many technical questions they were asking me questions about my demeanor about uh what i do under stress if i get
(1:04:54) all angry do i start throwing screwdrivers and things around and uh which was kind of weird uh you expect them to you know certainly have well they they did have some technical questions and and test my abilities but um well you know that is though not that irrational question i've thrown screwdrivers well generally i don't i just you know give up and walk away for a while yeah i know but um i assume what they were doing was just uh they knew of my work at los alamos and the other things i was doing and they
(1:05:26) you know they just assumed that it fit the bill sure but they wanted to know about your demeanor for op for some reason right and and as it turned out this all had to do with security as i found out later but um i went home i wasn't that thrilled about the interview and it was several days later i got a call back and they said you know as it turned out we felt you were overqualified for the job we were offering and we're pretty sure you would become bored with it after a while however there is something else that we have
(1:05:58) it's at a re i'm trying to remember verbatim what they said i believe it's that it's at a remote site on the test site uh so you will have to fly out there and everybody should know that those flights leave every single day from las vegas and go up to the test site right at the time they were called the key flights because key something airlines have the contract they will they still fly every day do they yeah oh sure i didn't even remember i i didn't know if the tesla was still operational now oh yeah

(1:06:27) it is we have um here in pahrump it's it's kind it's kind of interesting of the test site that doesn't exist uh we have every morning at the very uh they may have stopped it now but up at the vfw lodge up the street from me here uh they have a parking lot at vfw lodge and they have buses at about i don't know like four something in the morning a little before five in the morning and on the side of the bus it says area 51.
(1:06:53) no kidding yeah no kidding yeah no kidding and they pile in and they bust from here in parum but they're in las vegas they fly and they still fly so yeah you're right about that well they had me come down for an interview that was a little more in depth that time and uh i did very well and they would say it was or they told me that it was going to be fairly heavy security and it was going to be working on an advanced propulsion system and i know that's that's great this is exactly what i want to do and here's the guy
(1:07:27) that's tinkering around with jets and running on hydrogen i mean propulsion was my thing stuff i even played around with when i you know was at home a natural thing for you right you know certainly excited about it and i i was under the impression that this was going to be a field propulsion system for some new fighter aircraft a field propulsion system like some sort of electromagnetic drive something with uh that uses some of the basic forces of repulsion and attraction whether it's extremely high voltage or or who knows
(1:08:01) what bob at that time uh you obviously knew about the test site everybody knows about the test site did you know about some you know had you heard the rumors of a secret base up there when when way back then i'm trying to remember i probably did and i in fact thinking back i probably i almost remember there were some silly stories about aliens working out there and and whatnot and you know i was a hardcore non-ufo believer i mean i thought all that stuff was absolutely ridiculous and the people that believed
(1:09:11) pay a lot of attention and so did you have any idea where you were going to be working did they tell you that no they just had a remote site or remote area on the test site and um you know wherever that was going to be was fine well that's got to get your blood going a little bit i mean well it does i was excited and it was uh you know a job on the cutting edge of technology so i was you know i was back at home again they had a strange way of calling me to work it was initially apparently i was supposed to be
(1:09:50) replacing somebody and there was kind of a rush to get me up to speed now because i worked at los alamos i had two clearance which is civilian top secret so you know they knew i wasn't a foreign agent or anything like that right uh however this required a higher clearance to work at this site higher than q right and um what happened next well they probably invested they probably investigated you is what happened yeah they started doing that and there were visits to the house even when i had a house full of people
(1:10:26) over guests having a little get-together uh there'd just be guys knocking at the door and would just show themselves in and start looking through the house and you know lots of people witnessed this stuff going on and it was it began to really interfere with my life um shortly after the investigation started they allowed me out to the site now they didn't start handing over everything or showing me everything how did you get to the site i drove well first they'd call it what the the job was not something like on
(1:10:59) nine to five or every day at seven o'clock to be there you you had you were almost on call initially and somebody would call from eg g and the phone call would go exactly like this they you pick up the phone and they say hello mr lazar it is now 4 43 p.m we expect you to be at the installation at you know 6 25 it was always an odd number and that's it and they hang up the phone it's very strange yeah and but every time i went out there they i pick up the phone they tell me what what the current time was (1:11:39) and they tell me what the time they expected me out there was and i drove i drive out to um mccarran airport i drive to the special project cgng building yes and right in back of that at the time is really where the key flights took off from

or at least were they parked or anyway that was the gateway to getting on the plane did they block the windows out there's stories that people who traveled but once you got the plane flew from mccarran to groom lake right which is the only big runway out there and it's (1:12:21) really big yeah it's it's giant um once you get there you get in a bus and drive about 15 miles south that was the bus with the blacked out windows those stories are definitely true in fact i got a picture of one of the boxes how many uh how many people typically would be in that bus ride with you uh going south i never saw more than three people myself included wow wow okay uh so your initial employment was that just at the test site or did they begin taking you south to s4 immediately they began taking me to s4 immediately
(1:13:03) in fact we weren't really allowed to wander around or anything at groom we just sat there waited either at the cafeteria or right where we were for the bus if it wasn't there and it drove us down south to s4 which is which is a short drive on a dirt road uh you know of course they don't admit any of that even exists out there but there are now zillions of photograph uh photographs courtesy of the russians and other satellites and even planes that have been nearby and all there's a lot of photographs of area 51 so we all know
(1:13:41) uh it's out there and we all know the runway's there despite what they say a lot of people even disputed the road that i talked about right and said no it's impossible for it to be there and john andrews the guy that uh worked for the tester model corporation that was so into all of this he's the one that came up you know that tried to buy the satellite photograph from the us government and they wouldn't sell it to them because they said it's classified and he's the one that bought it from the russians for
(1:14:08) 1500 is he really the one yeah that's where that photograph came from and with that photograph you know we blew it up and there's the road exactly where i said going right to the side of the mountain where the hangers are so it uh that really did help out so it's kind of strange that americans have to go you know to a foreign country to get stuff that they're hiding from america yeah especially the russians yeah that's just absurd but uh do you remember clearly and i bet you do uh the first day that you took that bus uh to
(1:14:39) ask for did you know it was called s4 yeah they told you you're going to an area called s4 yeah yeah they did there's actually signs out there uh there are signs yeah there are there are actual signs the average person never gets to see that no no all right uh good place to hang everybody up uh hold on bob it's top of the hour bob lazar is my guest uh this is a man who worked where the real saucers are or were i guess i could be uh and probably is debated but when he was there he got to actually work on
(1:15:21) alien aircraft back engineering alien aircraft this is [Music] [Applause] [Music] [Music] [Applause] [Music] once again bob lazar bob can you remember the first ride down to s4 in the bus blacked out buzz you remember that huh yeah i do it was it was quite a day well give me a sense what was it like well the uh the first time i went down there was essentially to read i
(1:16:24) was brought into a a small room at the facility they had there and these well i guess you just call them briefings because they were just an overview of some of the other satellite projects going on uh that's interesting well going on that were connected to what i was doing i'm just trying to find the a good way to put this in other words they had to give you enough of an overview so so you'd have some understanding of what you were about to work on right because just like they do at los alamos or any
(1:17:00) other national lab where you work on high security uh systems and subsystems as they compartmentalize everything and what they do is they have people working on different aspects of one project so nobody really knows how the whole thing connects together well some people do but for the most part most of the people working on it only work on you know a specific module a specific subsystem and you know they somebody else worries about what it connects to and that way your knowledge about what's going on is limited just to the thing
(1:17:35) you worked on makes sense it was the same here and because this was a back engineering project we weren't teaming together to try and build something we were essentially teaming together to try and find out how something was built you had to have a little knowledge of what was on the other side of the wall yeah you know what the next guy was doing so they gave you a little briefing about some of the other aspects of what was going on but not doing really not too much in detail but just enough so you go well okay i know

(1:18:08) where this plugs into uh did they did they tell you that you were to be working on propulsion systems that were not ours no not until later even though it became pretty obvious that's what was going on initially i began reading what the people had done before me and immediately they're talking science fiction about power sources that put out tremendous amounts of energy at propulsion systems with technology that doesn't even exist and you begin to wonder if these guys are just are testing you in some way of course and
(1:18:48) this is just a joke or uh or what so it was like it was like reading science fiction initially it was and um it wasn't until the next time that i came down that i discovered it wasn't the the following time i came down which was the only my second time to work one of the hangar doors was open now i believe it was open intentionally and instead of going around the side of the building in the main entrance we stopped out in front and cut in through the hanger and it was obvious it was in the hangar the second i stepped out of the (1:19:26) the bus there was a large disc shaped craft sitting on its belly on on the ground um okay not on what would be some sort of touchdown or landing gear no landing gear no man-made support it was sitting on the concrete on its belly on the ground and it was a disc the typical flying saucer type disc yes how big do you think it was well john andrews and i spent some time working on that and he brought some people down from the model division so we could scale things up by trying to guess my distance from it and looking at objects that i knew
(1:20:09) approximately what the size was so they could crunch all the numbers through and figure out within a a fairly good estimate how big the craft was that came out to about 52 feet in diameter that's pretty big 52 feet huh yeah it was big it was big and when you saw that there must have been this moment where the jaw drops and you go oh my gosh you know well not at that time you would kind of think of it but uh when i left the bus and i saw that to me it had the opposite effect it said see i'm right there are no flying saucers this
(1:20:48) is just an advanced us-made aircraft and they've been testing it and people think it's aliens from outer space it made complete sense and in fact when i walked by the craft there was a little backwards american flag stuck on right next to the opening in the craft well that absolutely does it there's no offense or buts so i was by the time i walked in it made complete sense this was the big new secret fighter that was going to replace the f-15 and and who knows what else and uh you know i was going to work on the
(1:21:21) propulsion system so yeah actually it would make more sense that you would think that especially with a little american flag that was a nice touch yeah absolutely later did i learn to find out that that was more or less a sticker that says this belongs to us now as opposed to we made this did you uh get introduced to who was to be your uh boss is boss the right word yeah kind of it was tough to really figure out who your boss was there they worked on the buddy system and you know what what moves science forward
(1:21:58) is free discussion it's people sitting around working on a condom common problem and discussing that sure you know it's just brainstorming yes especially for something outrageous like this but that was not permitted what they did is they had a buddy system you had one person who you worked with who you could talk to there was no communication with anybody else not even if you sat down for lunch now how interesting is that bob because uh you were talking about the atomic bomb earlier and teller and they had the same arguments in the (1:22:31) development of the uh the atomic bomb that they weren't exactly that they were not allowed to sit around and throw ideas back and forth and that it was holding the whole damn project up it's exactly what was happening here and all that has told me is that since the the 40s the military has not changed the way they do anything and it's probably the reason why this project moved ahead so slowly they were more obviously more concerned about security than moving anything forward and of course i guess they
(1:23:06) did not give anybody any idea where they got these craft or did they well in one of the briefings they said information gained from the craft and they really didn't say how but uh that the craft came from the zeta reticuli star system which is a apparently a binary star system that you can only see from the southern hemisphere that is exactly correct and uh the one thought to perhaps hold a possibility of harboring life uh and you're right it can only be seen uh from way down south uh it can't i believe it cannot even be seen from (1:23:48) puerto rico where sibo is now that that's really interesting so they actually did say from information gleaned in the investigation of this craft they thought it was zeta reticuli that's how it was worded um okay so to work you go on what well the first person i was introduced to was a guy by the name of barry barry castillo or castillo i don't know how you pronounce that name but um i was introduced to him this was the guy i was going to be working with and we had a a moderate size lab and specifically we (1:24:30) were working on the power source and the propulsion system of the craft so he was your buddy he was my buddy that i was going to work with in the lab the first day in the lab meeting him it was a very down to earth guy and what was there was a reactor moved from one of the craft and one of the propulsion mechanisms that were on the bench so they had already removed something now i at that time i had only seen one craft the one you described yeah right um and as it turned out there were nine there nine right and we'll get to that but

(1:25:13) these this portion of the propulsion system or the main portion of the propulsion system do you remember what your initial impression listen by the way i i don't know if we've we're gonna i'm gonna press you to talk about things that you are unable to how much you unable to talk about or unwilling to talk about or or will get in trouble for talking about is there is there anything that you hold back that you have to hold back well the only things that i i there are a couple things that i haven't said and and for a
(1:25:41) reason um it's not that oh there's a new news flash or something i just want to say that's new the only reason there are some things i've held back was so i can recognize somebody from the area yeah you know how all the chats and whatnot that go on on the internet they are they're they're full of just nut cases i know and on both sides of the fence though i mean you have people that will swear up and down you know i never lived in los alamos i never worked there yeah or or who knows what but on on the
(1:26:18) other side of the fence you also have people that just because they want to support me say that uh yeah i was a security guard or something there and i saw bob going to work every day well you know both of those people don't help because because neither of them are true and in it and you know as much as i appreciate the help from people that say stuff like that it really doesn't help because all it does is confuse matters and you know in the this this field of ufo research or whatever they call it these days is so
(1:26:54) inundated with garbage and just ridiculous stories you do not need to add even one percent more because it's impossible for anybody to take anything seriously so um there are there were only 22 people working there 22. yeah and i have the list of them you have a list of the names of every person that worked there every person that had clearance for that now that's the only thing i've kept to myself there were a couple other little things here and there and uh they talked me into releasing them in the movie and and
(1:27:32) that's fine but uh the number one thing are the names i mean their name of course uh there's so many times you hear people say well i've got a friend that worked there really what was his name you know and it's it's never i've never seen a name come through well when you and your your buddy uh first saw when you first saw this propulsion stuff how did it hit you as a physicist uh what did you you know when you looked at it you said to yourself i'm looking at what well the first thing i saw that was
(1:28:06) absolutely mind-boggling and i will never forget it was the reactor operating now this is something very small probably on a base 12 or 50 inches square with a [Music] about a basketball size sphere on top okay well semi-sphere it's you know right the basketball setting on the on the plate right this was the reactor for the craft it is produced a tremendous amount of energy and also it was the source of the gravitational propulsion system where it got its its its basic gravity wave from that they amplify now these are you know we
(1:28:56) know what with the effects of gravity are but we cannot produce gravity or any gravity you know i've uh i've spoken to a lot of people and i ask people you know that you see uh in nasa training films astronauts floating around and uh you know that's all done in that large plane that they put into a crash dive and people go weightless inside vomit coming right the vomit comment exactly um you know the majority of people i've spoken to even people that seem fairly not knowledgeable to me think that nasa has (1:29:33) an anti-gravity device in this room where they just turn it on and people float around now if we had something like that there wouldn't be airplanes anymore cars would fly i mean the world would be changed we don't have a machine that can make gravity because if you do you can also control time so if we had something like that the world would be so different all right we probably wouldn't even be on the on the radio here this is the um go ahead this device that you just talked about that you just described (1:30:04) how did you uh and your body endeavor to measure its energy output and in what form how did you take a look at it well the like i was describing the first time i saw it operating um all he had to do was put the lid the semi-sphere on top of this device and it became operational and he said just put your hand on the top of it and when i did i could not touch it it was the exact sensation of taking two like pole magnets and trying to push them together wow but it was just my hand approaching a metal sphere now that in itself

(1:30:42) is shocking because there's nothing that can do that in other words you found a repelling force uh as in like a wall i mean you just could push on it yeah i could push uh starting from probably about a foot away i could begin to feel something and as i got closer it got more intense and probably at two to three inches it was impossible to make contact with it and you could push on the top your hands would slide to the bottom it was it was a very intense field and he had a golf ball there and we even you know even something moving at high speed
(1:31:20) could not penetrate the field this was the basic gravity wave that the that the system produced did you determine it to be a 360 degree field no it wasn't it wasn't it wasn't and again that's something else it's a completely directional gravity field only on the skin of the hemisphere oh and it didn't appear on the base at all and so this alone was just absolutely mind-boggling because here's a machine doing the impossible uh the next thing that i was shown and i and you know it couldn't be a magic
(1:31:56) trick it's my hand approaching a metal sphere there's there's no room for any question there and what did your buddy you and your buddy discuss at that point i mean you obviously asked questions or he offered information or he just said well this was the initial introduction to what was going on and yeah i mean you could see it in his eyes he took pride in showing off what they had because the the next thing he showed me was connecting it to the amplifier and he said you want to see something really neat now yeah
(1:32:26) yeah as if that wasn't amazing um there is how am i going to describe this there's a fitting almost like a pipe that slides down and makes contact with the hemisphere okay this apparently from what was described to me as a tuned pipe almost like uh resonance wave guides are tuned for microwaves would be resonant exactly um so once this pipe is placed upon the hemisphere the field completely disappears so that's giving you evidence that it's now traveling through the wave guide the waveguide goes to another extremely
(1:33:11) large tube probably about two feet in diameter four feet long and has plates i guess is the best way i can describe it on the outside this well this is actually the emitter the gravity emitter there's something in between the two which is the actual amplifier hold it right there bob we're at the bottom of the hour uh we'll pick it up right there so so that was the driver stage the uh the gravity energy driver stage for what was to come i'm arbel this is coast [Music] before i get up once again here's bob lazar by the way
(1:34:13) he's not in las vegas anymore i don't think bob you're somewhere else now aren't you the mountains of new mexico back to new mexico huh yeah cool that's a that's a good place to be yeah all right uh what you were describing the first thing you were describing that you saw that was obviously a driver but you know in broadcasting it would be the driver unit in the generator itself and now you're starting to describe uh what terrestrials would regard as waveguide or whatever carries this
(1:34:42) energy to some kind of amplifier huh exactly however if i can take one second and just step back to the hydrogen thing the only reason i'm saying this is because i guess because of the show sure there are a million people hitting the united nuclear my united nuclear website and asking about asking me to post some kind of instructions about i told you yeah so i'm going to go and i just no way i can answer all the emails so i'm going to i'll go ahead and generate a web page about that so uh well you could (1:35:12) either do that or give out your home phone number yeah i'd rather do the website okay so there'll be some information up there eventually yeah thank you i'm going to give you some time to do that on behalf okay back to the reactor right uh or the propulsion system anyway the way it was configured was supplying the basic wave the basic gravitational wave to the amplifier and to the emitter in the craft there are three emitters three and in a triad pattern and what i found interesting

is you know after being involved with the project
(1:35:51) that kind of made me start looking into ufo stories to see what's true and what's not yeah sure and there were so many stories uh especially uh russia belgium sightings in the early 90s i think or middle 90s where they saw from the on the bottom of the craft three bright spots of light right and that is exactly how this operated another interesting thing was i know i'm jumping ahead of myself here but the other crafts that were there all had the same power and propulsion system in it which i found all three emitters
(1:36:31) yeah which i found really interesting in itself which means that whatever civilization made these it's almost as if there's you know it sounds crazy but a factory that's producing these and subbing out the propulsion systems for different models of crafts i mean it almost sounds like a cart well that's how manufactured that's how we'd do it but uh it was the identical system in all crafts um all right now he demonstrated the amplifier to you yes that was the uh the reason he connected up the
(1:37:06) the reactor um how was the amplifier demonstrated in other words what further did you see when he brought the amplifier online when he fired that up he took an ordinary candle and put it probably about six feet in back of the emitter and i was waiting for things to get started but he really didn't do anything at least that i saw and went over and looked at the candle and the flame was no longer flickering it was essentially frozen the way it was frozen yeah it just the candle was there and the flame it was like a
(1:37:45) two-dimensional picture of it oh my god and it wasn't the flame wasn't moving but it was still emitting light um which means well it could mean all kinds of things it was just it's just another thing that is bizarre that you really can't i mean how how in the world would you do that now wait a minute now we know uh don't we physicists know um that gravity uh bends and affects oh absolutely nothing but without using gravity how could you do that you couldn't yeah exactly so in within that field it
(1:38:23) froze to your eyes it froze that image right solid the candle was removed and to show me how this how the emitters can focus gravity because this is very crucial to how they operate they must be able to focus and diverge the gravitational wave uh apparently he set it for a tight focus and increased the power to it and at the focal point which was at that time probably about three and a half to four feet from the rear of the emitter right a black dot formed a black ball not not a black hole or you know stuck in the desks and things there yeah so
(1:39:07) what what he was showing me was the fact that light was being bent now there is nothing that we have that can do that that would have been at the focal point now for example with the satellite dish a lot of people know about satellite dishes a parabolic dish that's right out at a certain point which is the focal point on a good dish it's about the size of a quarter or even smaller that's what's called the focal point where all the energy from that satellite dishes radiate right to that little tiny spot
(1:39:37) and that's where they put the collector or the lna or lnb to get the signal um and that's a focal point so you're saying just like that uh at the focal point but out in the middle of nothing in the middle of air there was a black dot right and that we was demonstrating the fact that the that the device was bending light away from the area i mean it was a completely black black dot later to find out well i again i don't want to jump ahead of myself but um anyway there are a couple small demonstrations like that that were
(1:40:11) extremely impressive and uh you know this is what we were supposed to be working on and you know our mission was really not just to find out how it worked but the aim of the project was to see if these systems and subsystems can be duplicated with earthly materials when these uh engines uh for lack of a better word we're running uh was there any uh was there any audible noise uh you were there in the room why i mean was there a other than the test of putting your hand up was there any uh anything that hit your sensory
(1:40:52) system that you could describe when these things were running on the test set up in the room it was completely silent that's i wasn't even sure if the thing was operating however during the test flight of the craft with all three amplifiers operating there was a definite hiss and corona discharge on the bottom of the craft a hiss uh like a high voltage hiss if you've ever been around always you know i volted power lines or you know high power transmitters you must have of course and um you know you have that which is uh kind of uh not a saint elmo's fire but a uh a blue glow that you typically see again around high voltage systems and what's happening in the air is breaking down and emitting photons and you know it glows it's the same reason why lightning bolts are visible um so but that it was obvious there was high voltage on the skin of the craft and obviously it was leaking off because that sound is unmistakable as the craft lifted off higher (1:42:01) uh you know and approached 20 or 30 feet the sound disappeared so it was obviously interacting with the ground uh just in free flight there would be no sound at all now do you know you say there were three emitters on each craft do you know offhand how these emitters uh in in flight were manipulated to uh for example leave the ground and then begin propulsion that would take you horizontal or vertical or wherever you wanted to go do you know how that energy was manipulated yeah the the craft operate in two modes it's omicron and delta
(1:41:23) that familiar or high voltage yes and you set a corona corona discharge

(1:42:43) omicron is using a single amplifier to move the craft and delta uses all three amplifiers whenever a craft is near another gravitational source such as the planet or whatever it's only using one amplifier to lift itself off the ground the amplifiers are these you know like i said or i keep using word amplifier the emitters are these up four foot long two foot diameter pieces of pipe essentially held by a two or two and a half foot three inch diameter flexible pipe and these hang in the bottom of the craft one of them points down and it produces
(1:43:24) a gravitational wave that will lift the craft off the ground the other two are swung almost horizontally so in the bottom of the craft they're really pointing out in front gotcha now most uh vehicles and aircraft that we're used to either accelerate hot gas out the back or use a propel propeller and you know throw air out the back and the craft moves forward sure these do the exact opposite and my best analogy for it is the uh the old rubber sheet or the bed if you take a bowling ball and stick it in the middle of your bed
(1:44:10) and in front of the bowling ball about two feet take your fist and just push it deep into the bed what happens the bowling ball rolls forward absolutely so this is exactly what they're doing the craft is standing using one gravity emitter standing on a gravitational wave and they're using the other two essentially to make a little divot a gravity well in front of the craft it rolls forward and it's why they look so ridiculous when they're in that low speed mode because it's an unstable form
(1:44:43) of flight well that was going to be my question when they do the vertical lift i wonder how uh of course i don't understand how that energy is distributed but i wonder how the craft is stable as it goes vertical uh it's well the the gravitational wave was propagating from the emitter not in a linear fashion but it's diverging so it's on a pedestal almost like a pyramid oh so the bottom is so stable in fact as it goes higher because the area of the base increases it becomes more stable it's only when it's very (1:45:16) close to the ground that it's it's wobbly and and kind of goofy looking for such an advanced machine no i've got it all right and look people should understand that uh not just your word tonight but thousands and thousands of people have gone to uh you know as close as they can get to area 51 and they have seen uh there's a million eyewitnesses that have seen craft being tested over the years over those years um so that a lot of witnesses to what you're saying right now about how they oh i had you know if you remember at the
(1:45:51) time i had the test flight schedule and i brought you know when i started to leak some information i brought my friends out there at night uh john lear was one of the first people out there and you know we brought a big 10 inch celestron telescope and uh you know at that time you could get a hell of a lot closer to area 51 than you can now yes i know you know we all saw what was going on i i'm i am curious about this uh let me ask you obviously had been treated to plenty of security warnings probably had to sign a bunch of
(1:46:24) crap and so you made some kind of decision at some point to begin leaking stuff describe to me how you went through that metamorphosis you know how did you get there well i was perfectly content with the way things were going um you know once you're on the inside it's a different state of mind and uh you know if you're on the outside of something you know hey it's not fair we all should have this information so on and so forth but you know you get kind of a change of attitude once you become privy to the information you go you know
(1:47:01) those guys don't deserve to know anyway but that does change after a while and uh the impetus really had nothing to do with me uh initially uh remember they were still going through all my security uh what not whatever they do to it goes on

uh yeah i mean they they do everything and they're they're very concerned about your your mental state because that you know if a person is very depressed or despondent or something like that it's going to affect their work performance and especially if they're trusting him
(1:47:36) with very important secrets there's going to be a problem national security exactly and now i had given a written order to have my phone monitored and myself monitored um god that's something to give i mean i know you're a pretty private person but to give i was excited to work on this that was that was nothing more more exciting than being monitored oh by far and i was absolutely following the rules you know at the time i was married and i wasn't saying anything to my wife and initially this is where the problem began
(1:48:11) and you know i mean what do you say you leave the house at 11 o'clock at night where are you going oh i'm going to work yeah really and you know night after and then you come home you know six seven hours later where were you i was at work at work yeah and you know after a while it begins to sound like you're having an affair yeah of course well that's exactly what happened that's exactly what happened and uh as time went on my wife began to have an affair and they knew it and i didn't because they
(1:48:42) monitored the phone this is all new stuff i've never heard any of this so they had all the written transcripts of what was going on oh my god and they stopped calling me out to work because they had to make a decision on what to do they either gonna just let it sit and you know see what happened you know if we broke up or you know that ended or whatever but at any rate you were suddenly a risk yeah and you know at that time they stopped calling me out and i kind of began to get a little concerned and this is when
(1:49:19) i had the flight schedule and brought a few of my friends out at the time including my wife and you know showed him what i was doing at night and they all saw that and in fact you know we got away with it the first night and we got a little a little greedy and went a couple other times and we finally got caught and you know they what how many of you got caught in what happened i think it was four of us and they we were standing there you know on out out close to area 51 in the absolute black desert where you couldn't see your hand in front of your
(1:50:03) face now we had been staying there about half an hour and my friend jean and i were sitting there joking about uh well maybe we should just take the base by force and you know just saying ridiculous things like that now little did we know that the security guys had snuck up on us and they were no more than six feet from our noses listening you say things like right and they had no idea what was going on so you're awesome we're sitting there talking and out of the out of nowhere a sniper not a sniper scope by night vision scope
(1:50:38) falls on the ground we see this little green light fall down and roll and it came out of nowhere we had no idea anyway the guy had dropped it so you know they walked forward and you know uh made everyone go back up to the up to the road they call him the sheriff and would these have been the whack and hot security people as far as i know i had taken off into the desert because we had all assumed if i was caught there was a problem well that's a good assumption because you know these guys could have just wandered out there and been looking
(1:51:09) what's going on but if they saw somebody from the inside there so i took well i'm not even going to say that i took off into the desert and um you know they how many people were there toward or away from the area away from the area away from the area you know out into the desert and there were three or four people there and then when we got back up to the road and the sheriff came out from there i think his name was la mero who's still around there and um that's when i re-emerged and he said wait we got a discrepancy there's an
(1:52:07) said let everybody go and it was the following day when i got called in and dennis who was the security supervisor at the time uh drove to my house and we went down there in my car and that's when that's when it really hit the fan and you know kind of to make a long story short uh they were passed to say the least and well don't make it too short this is pretty interesting stuff i i'd actually like to get some details of that uh you called it a debriefing uh probably it was more like a let's see (1:52:42) how far how scared we can get this guy well that's that's exactly what it was all right then hold on to that thought and we'll be right back my guest is bob lazar uh they're making a movie about all of this by the way uh which you're definitely going to want to see we'll tell you more about that it's blue uh blue book films gonna bring the whole thing to the silver screen from the high desert not far from the areas being talked about right now i'm art bell and this is coast to coast a.m

(1:53:17) [Music] oh baby uh there is indeed uh just over the mountain from me a place called indian springs and there is an air force base there and that's where they called you bob right uh summoned you said you uh would you get one of the calls you know it's now noon you will be you'll be up here at some certain time or what this was a little different this dentist called me who was my security supervisor at the time called me personally and came to my house which was very unusual and then we both drove down in the same
(1:54:17) car to indian springs which is an auxiliary air force base in this little town which is you know the base is essentially shut down but um i guess some of it you know remains operational um in any case that's where they took me uh-huh and and that's when they started the debriefing um the first thing they brought up was of course that you know tremendous breach and security and uh they were they wanted to know everybody that i had told anything to uh why i went ahead and did it and you know i was pretty straightforward with them
(1:54:58) but they tried to be as intimidating as possible and and uh were you threatened all right oh very much so yeah and so was my wife's life so i became very concerned about that um do you care that you actually do you actually care to tell us what they said to you i mean did they say you know you'll end up a lump in the desert like so many others or you know you know there was a lot of fear present at the time and i just i don't remember verbatim you know what tagline they used but it it did get my attention
(1:55:34) and this is when they brought up the transcripts of my wife's affair on the phone oh that they told you yeah so i found out from them at that moment yeah at that moment one was something they had to slap in my face gee whiz i wonder why they picked that moment to tell you well who knows but uh anyway that's that's how the separation between us really came about it was because of that because of you know bringing my friends out there to see what was going on and you know all the yeah so that's that's really
(1:56:15) what said everything in motion all right a lot of stories have flown around uh about what happened bob after that for example um you know we have the mutual friend of john lear who now by the way doesn't talk about any of this anymore doesn't want any publicity you can't blame him he's lost some jobs he's back working uh he's doing fine and he just doesn't want to talk about this anymore and i don't blame him do you no john's uh i think john's rave now is about the the dump up there at yucca mountains
(1:56:49) yeah about the new grace dump sure you know that's the one thing i agree with and john with john lear is uh you know i know everyone in las vegas doesn't want it there but if you're going to put it anywhere in the country why not put it where you've already exploded 100 atomic bombs it's already a wasteland you know at that part of the test site so well you're right that's a big controversy anyway listen um there was a big controversy about something called element 115 which was um said to be some kind of fuel an
(1:57:27) element we don't have now on earth that was uh the fuel or the what what can you do well i guess you could call it a fuel it's what what made the reactor operate and it's a super heavy element something that we've theorized can exist um you know if people think back about you know high school or college chemistry uh you recall that as the elements get heavier you know once you pass uranium um they decay and some decay very fast as the elements get uh very heavy their half swipes become extremely short sometimes microseconds
(1:58:14) so they're just around they exist just for a blink of an eye well it's been theorized and has been some time ago that there are islands of stability somewhere higher up in the periodic chart there are places where groups of elements would again become stable and this occurs what theoretically was to occur in the 114 115 area and again another an island of stability right where these elements are relatively stable and again there is supposed to be another island of stability somewhere up in the 200s but

(1:58:50) these are unattainable things and no one says that nature has ever produced them except but you know when you talked about element 115 years ago what so many years ago um since then interestingly uh we progressed to the impossible in other words since you actually talked about it they've been discovering elements moving up uh right on up the chart oh they've they're getting close yeah they're getting very close and close and then the and the half-lives are getting longer yeah i know people back then
(1:59:21) hoo-hawed at this but now they're not huawing so hard anymore because we're getting pretty close right and i'm sure eventually they'll synthesize it somehow they use uh instead of bombarding it with neutrons now they use this new fusion technique where they fuse the nuclei of uh two other elements together which is kind of a an odd way to do it but it's got um i think the heavy ion the lab for heavy ion research in darmstadt germany has pioneered most of the new uh heavy elements and you know just mark my words they're
(1:59:54) going to be the guys that synthesize 115. bob there was um there was talk that you spirited uh some element 115 out of s4 is that true [Laughter] where'd you hear that all right oh i got friends too you know [Laughter] do you do you would you want to know you want to do you want to say no you don't want to comment on that no i don't want to comment about that but it's you know that would be a good sledgehammer [Laughter] uh all right well we'll just uh we'll we'll leave that one alone i guess
(2:00:38) uh you think do you do you think that since the time that and and you know what we didn't cover we missed it you you described the one craft but at one point while you were there you saw a total of what would you say nine craft nine crowns minecraft and um if i recall that was the day uh barry and i were working in the lab and dennis came in and he said come on out there's a test flight so there was a flight scheduled and they were allowing me to see it and we went from the lab out into the first hangar which is the
(2:01:10) only one i ever saw open and as i went out there the craft was already outside the hangar and sitting on the ground i don't know if they rolled it out it flew out or whatever but as i was walking through the empty hangar i looked to the right and there are big bay doors in between the hangers and they were all open and i could see all the craft lined up so they had an outright collection of these things anyway the um the craft was outside and there was a guy sitting near the door uh with an what i surmised was an ordinary vhf
(2:01:49) radio and this is something that to this day really bothers me because it should be if this is a gravity-propelled craft which is bending and distorting all forms of electromagnetic radiation around it and and whatnot it should be impossible to communicate with the thing uh the radio should be hf radio which should have been trash yeah right but maybe it wasn't maybe it just looked that way to me and it was something more advanced but anyway he was apparently in communication with somebody in the craft so i know it wasn't being flown remotely
(2:02:23) and anyway that was the first time i got to see and the only time uh all the crafts inside the hangar did you ever get to see the inside of any of the craft yeah just the one the one i coined the term the sport model because it uh in comparison to the other crafts it was really sleek and thin and look like a sporty version um can you describe the inside i mean what did it seem as though uh it was designed for say a human or something close to a human well it's hard to say it was designed designed for something small
(2:03:48) simple figure idea but it was as if the inside of the craft was all molded with these parts out of wax molded in other words an aircraft we have uh rivets we have uh a various everything flow together as if it was made out of wax and heated and then cooled so there were no sharp corners everything just kind of blended together like the entire thing was injection molded there was no visible seam or right angle anywhere and everything was just a dull uh pewter's a little dark but a dull aluminum color so it's a just being in

looked at there are varying colors shapes and sharp corners and everything was rounded and everything was monochromatic it was just one color what about apparent controls for control of the craft there were none there were none there were none that's really interesting there are no buttons lights or you know navigator position or anything of that sort of the two places i was (2:05:02) allowed to look at in the craft now obviously whoever piloted the craft was on the central level the level immediately below it there's a small access hatch with a collapsible honeycomb access way and i stuck the upper part of my body in there kind of upside down so and i was i was told to do that so i can see the placement of the gravity emitters and how they're hung and how they move oh yes and so that was that was the bottom level underneath that was just the skin of the craft now above that i was not allowed to venture there was a
(2:05:41) small area above it and on this particular craft the hump on the top or the dome on that saucer whatever you want to call it right it's it's not round it's kind of flat on the top there were these black portals i believe there were four if i remember correctly and there weren't windows they were from what i surmised is they were some sort of of planar sensor so the craft could get its orientation in space or wherever it was where it could you know these would detect positions of stars or something like
(2:06:16) that so it can get a fix on its orientation and you know where it is where it's going and that sort of thing now that's my guess no idea but you use your minds that there probably was an area of some control that you didn't get to see well either that or there is a different type of control yeah so that that has no obvious you know buttons or knobs or anything well i know now even in our fighter jets uh they're beginning to get to the point where they put on helmets and they can actually think commands i mean
(2:06:51) we're doing that here on earth yeah i say it's not as a realm of possibility that the craft would operate that way how we interfaced to it i would love to know because if in fact it did work that way uh using an alien creature's mind who in the world came up with the interface and what would you have to go by so there's so much information i would have loved to have known to complete the picture for me but you would surmise from what you did see that these craft were probably made for creatures that would be on average much
(2:07:26) smaller than humans they would have to be they would have to be almost close to half our size to comfortably fit in there now you never ever saw any alien beings no were there between you and your buddy or anybody else that you ever talked to up at s4 were there any discussions of beings i mean it would be a how would there not be discussion of uh well there was about who piloted the craft and they called them the kids that was the term they coined the kids the kids and that's probably because of their size or or who
(2:08:08) knows what but uh that's it oh that's pretty interesting though they call them the kids and it and actually everything looked like it was uh i set up for a child so maybe that's maybe that's where it came from bob but how far since you have left which is a lot of years now do you think uh well for example when you were there how much progress had actually been made in either duplicating or beginning to get a handle on how these generators operated and and beginnings of duplication or trying to duplicate what they were doing
(2:08:49) well i don't think they got very far you know i use this analogy i probably the last time i was on your show and you know if you took an ordinary modern day motorcycle and just transported it back in time to the 1800s to the wagon train days and just left it out front in the morning everybody woke up and discovered it there with the keys in it now they can poke around and prod with it and play with it you know and eventually they're going to figure out how to start it just out of sheer luck and it's going to start and it's going
(2:09:23) to run and they'll be proficient at driving it as long as they keep playing with it and when it runs out of gas after crashing quite a few times well yeah but they'll pick it up and they're pretty tough and yeah you know go on and when it runs out of gas it'll never work again it'll sit there yeah and however when it comes to duplicating it if they wanted to make one they couldn't even make the plastic fender on the thing because that material is just amazing to them right i mean you know that's a (2:09:49) polypropylene or something like that they just look at it and go wow it's solid but it bends and it melts and you know they couldn't even make a fender or a turn signal on the thing much less the engine or the oh forget about the working part but this is exactly where we're at we got a really cool toy and we've played

around with it enough to where we know how it works and we can make it move around but when the fuel runs out or something else happens to the craft that's it then you've just got an inert
(2:10:18) piece of stuff that you never figured out right i don't think they're ever gonna duplicate in our lifetimes anyway what's there you know they may use it and may get some other information off of it now again i'm going on thoughts that are 12 years old so they could have made some tremendous strides since i was gone and uh i was certainly not privy to all the information but that's the impression that i was left with all right hold tight bob uh we're at the bottom of the hour here actually
(2:10:54) [Music] right once again here's bob lazar bob an obvious question and one coming from madison wisconsin on my computer is uh were there any signs on any of the craft of obvious damage not on the craft that i worked on at all and you know everybody's wanted to know well how did we get them sure and uh you know that's information i wasn't privy to i would love to know too was this uh you know you hear so many stories in ufo lore about uh an alleged exchange of technology you know did this actually
(2:12:02) make any sense i hear you what about did you ever learn anything of the um of the material that the craft were made of in other words could you take a blow torch and uh cut could you could you damage dent or otherwise bend spindle or mutilate the material the craft was made of at all i don't know again that was compartmentalized that's the metallurgy guys that got to play with that the only contact i ever had was going in the craft and then the the first day walking by it i stuck my hand out and slid it
(2:12:39) along the craft and you know just felt cold so i assume it's metal but it certainly could have been an advanced ceramic or some other unknown material but it kind of felt like metal though yeah it was metal has that you know cold feeling to it the surface didn't feel exceptionally smooth it was uh aluminum is the only thing that comes to mind just uh you know unfinished aluminum but uh i doubt it was actually that but um do you think that was there any sense of weight uh in other words did you ever have an opportunity to see
(2:13:13) anybody attempting to lift or move any of these craft getting an idea of the kind of weight they were trying to move uh no i didn't the only thing the only thing that caught my eye in relation to weight was above the craft in the hangar there was one of those suspension cranes with a hook on it and it was rated at 10 tons because they had that in big bold lettering on the side so that makes me think well if they in fact use that to move the craft it weighs less than 10 pounds that's about as far as i can i can go on
(2:13:52) that but uh i've heard people make comments that you know actually they only weigh a few pounds but i i don't think that could possibly be true number one is you know at different times moving into the craft you're sitting on the extreme edge of it and it would certainly teeter plus the amount of equipment they had moved into the craft lights and whatnot uh for investigation of it it it makes me think it's something of some pretty sizable weight it's it's not uh you know it's certainly not a flyweight
(2:14:24) piece of material uh bob you know a lot of the interesting news stories i get uh about world affairs and maybe wars between india and pakistan all the rest of it they come from the united kingdom which i think is embarrassing it annoys me that i've got to get to news i can't get here from the uk your movie is going to be made in the united kingdom are you going to have any input at all uh during the the production of this movie are you they can fly over i don't know i imagine they would i imagine i would be put in a position
(2:14:58) as technical consultant at the very least um you know if they wanted to progress yeah in an accurate truthful fashion uh and i believe that bruce did uh go over that already so um you know i'll at least be in that sort of position bob uh you have a list of names uh which you've revealed tonight of the other people that were there uh you're speaking right now i'm certain to many of those names and they're listening to you right now uh what would you say to them um at this point i mean you're you're out in the

(2:15:38) public and your story has been hanging out there now for a lot of years and now it's going to be even more public with a movie what do you say to the other people that were up there given a chance which you have right now to say something to him well you know that's changed over the years about the only thing i would like to say to him is contact me in some way you would think maybe by now some of them would have gone through a thought process that would bring them to the point where they'd be ready to be in
(2:16:10) contact with you and maybe others yeah and there's obviously a reason they haven't because it's been 12 years and yeah there is and they haven't and you're still alive you wonder about that not really because the the way things progressed it would it would have been really detrimental to the program and to them if all of a sudden i disappeared and probably the only reason for that was that uh john lear's suggestion and insistence of going to george knapp at the time yes george knapp is a las vegas
(2:16:45) um he's an investigative journalist investigative journalist that's right a big time one here in las vegas he's done a number of ufo specials over the years and you went to john and john said go public go go to george now well at the time i i think there was a few days there where i hid at john's house i remember those tensions got got pretty high so i just looked for a place i could stay other than my house because i had no idea what was going on and the decision was made to go do that and in fact george
(2:17:18) broke in more or less it was at the top of the five o'clock news in las vegas and uh i went on in silhouette and said what was going on and uh you know certainly if anything would have happened to me from that point on it would have cast everything in stone and said hey you know this guy said so and so and you know it looks like it was true if he was just a nut case what would you bother killing him well they didn't erase you but they kind of erased uh part of your employment histories and as much uh information as they could
(2:17:51) about your history with them right oh absolutely absolutely in fact uh bob axler was one of the guys that did uh the research and i think he was a nasa system specialist and now um well i don't know about now but then you know was pretty heavy into ufo investigation and he had some contacts down at the irs so i let him have all the information uh my w-2 formed from there you know with naval intelligence and social security number and you know he went after everything and from the irs he got uh notified that
(2:18:31) uh information re regarding my social security number is classified that uh the numbers the employer designation numbers on my w-2 form uh were for i forgot what bizarre government agency but they were valid and i mean he did bring up a lot of good information and it ran into a lot of block walls that were completely inaccessible even your history at los alamos was somewhat erased although i'm remembering that you came away or somebody came away with your name on an employment list or a phone list from los alamos yeah that was the only
(2:19:14) thing that they couldn't have deleted was the old printed phone list and you know that's one of the things on top of that what proved to be a uh a big plus two is remember again the jet car article and in the front page of that newspaper in the first few paragraphs now this is a small town los alamos everybody knows everybody's business they say bob lazar a physicist working at the los alamos maison physics facility this is the los alamos newspaper so you know you can't go back in time and get rid of that paper so i had that i
(2:19:48) had my name in the internal lab phone book directory so you know they were they were stuck with that before they had denied it for years he never lived here he never worked here you know it's just a big lie and yeah they did reach back and erase as much as they were able they just didn't get it all yeah george knapp is the only guy at the time that i not that i trusted but also had you know the ability to do this and i flew with him back to los alamos and went back to where i worked and to the people i worked with and you know the
(2:20:21) areas i got him into in the lab and uh you know he did a lot of footwork look i i've had i've had a lot of dealings with george over the years and i've come to trust him he's yeah he's a he's a very trustworthy guy he certainly is all right very quickly just a couple questions uh what's west of the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar anything real quick is that me that's you oh okay uh i was wondering hi mr lazar uh do you feel that we had any technology or do you have (2:20:49) technology to go to the moon i don't feel that we did well uh you you mean you think we never really went to the moon is that what you're saying oh yes you know a lot of people have been saying this to me just in the past couple weeks

there's a good friend of mine john furrette who's kind of a big wig in hollywood and you know he absolutely and this is a real knowledgeable guy and apparently there was some show on fox where they aired uh all the old apollo films and oh yes uh analyzed them and i never saw this
(2:21:19) but it seems to have convinced him that we never went to the moon and i don't know i've spoken to edgar mitchell who was the sixth man on the moon and it sure seems like he went there but but i i don't know i i really don't know you know ed mitchell made an interesting comment to me i did i've done many interviews with ed and uh one question that seemed to really stump him was uh ed do you remember what was it like walking around on the moon and he said you know it's really strange uh i just don't remember that many details
(2:21:53) of the whole thing he said i obviously remember it but there are some details that strangely are missing and he did make that comment uh so i mean it's it's possible to have faked the whole thing but who knows we know that the shuttle goes up there because you can look up in the sky and see it go by you certainly can uh so why is it that much more difficult to go to the moon it's not that far away uh first time caller line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hello are you doing okay sir where are
(2:22:23) you north hollywood california okay yes uh hi bob hi there still driving a corvette yeah yeah it's all right anyway um are you familiar with the lockheed facility in burbank the skunk works um not about skunk works talk about on the premises of the airport where the janet flights took off in burbank yeah burbank california you worked in the 80s what time do you work at uh groomlike facility what time the time is varied no i sorry i mean the year that was in 88.
(2:23:02) 89 okay so um one i'll give you a name there's a guy who worked i don't know if he worked in your division by the last name of haze do you know him uh all right well let's hold it there um do you do you want to disclose whether the name haze is on your list there is a name a's on the list oh there is on the list really yeah there is now i don't know if there's a billion hazes in the world but there's a haze on that really okay okay i mean there's also what jones do yeah i know but one still
(2:23:39) there is a haze what are the odds right uh wild card line you're on the air with bob lazar hello yes sir where are you please uh here in from nevada from oh and listening to uh k-9 k-n-y-e 95.1 in perrom nevada yes sir yes sir uh mr lazar i'm a big fan of was wondering how you feel about how the government's just about knowledge of you and disrespected your your your work and everything well i'm needless to say not too thrilled about it there isn't much i can do but uh i mean with there will never be a common
(2:24:15) ground between us uh you know as far as i'm concerned all ties are broken and all promises are broken too and you know it's one of the reasons i'm on the air you want to treat me like that well guess what here's what you get yeah if you uh if if they came back to you then they said you know with all the water that's going on in the bridge uh bob uh we we've made a lot of progress we'd like to take you up there and show you how much we've done how far we've come impossible as this is uh if
(2:24:51) they came to you with that and said uh however uh they're gonna be a million conditions and more security checks and blah blah blah would you be able to turn that down would you tell them to go fly a kite i would certainly love to do that but in view of what's gone on i i can't possibly trust them you know it's a completely remote isolated area and once you're there they could really do anything to say hey you're not going home and and you wouldn't go home you'd just be uh not even a lump in the desert but
(2:25:23) far below us who knows i mean maybe that's all fantasy but uh you know i just i i cannot trust him and i would absolutely love to get back into the technology i mean it was it was the greatest scientific experience i've ever had you know working with it and i'd love to see what else they've done and you know love to lend a hand and and become part of the project again but i can't you know i'd say the chances of them coming to you like that are zero absolute zero anyway just interesting (2:25:56) questions to the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar hello bob yeah uh you fascinate me by saying what part of the universe's thing came from where did it come from did you say how can you say that with deficitness with being definite assurance in your voice and was your job to reproduce this fuel and this fuel call 115 and how far did they ever fly this thing or did they tell you all right well first of all uh the the assuredness in his voice uh came from the fact that they told him that's where it came from correct bob (2:26:30) right i did not determine this myself and and again this is just in a written satellite briefing of the project so whether or not that's true or not you know i cannot stand up to that fact but it it is possible because the other things that i read in the briefings that i did get hands-on experience with are accurate and true so i don't have any reason to disbelieve it but because i don't know it for a fact it just kind of sits in that special place in my mind where it possibly might not be true but again

(2:27:05) you know why why throw a lie in there if we're trying to get all this work done and find out what the basis is of this thing the origin of it may have something to do with the operation of it so i don't think they would have taken the opportunity to lie about it there so i i just i kind of believe that was true now knowing what you know about the drive systems you said you referred i think earlier to the some of the belgian sightings uh when you consider all the ufo sightings and uh i'm sure you've seen a
(2:27:33) million pictures and moving video now of ufos and all the rest of it you think the belgian sightings uh were perhaps uh accurate with what you know about the drive systems uh have you seen any other film or stills of ufos that that look like the real mccoy to you absolutely because once i started looking into it now i don't research this stuff anymore and i get a lot of people asking me ufo questions and actually believe it or not it doesn't interest me i like being involved in the project but i don't you know look into
(2:28:09) ufo stories or research this stuff but when i did when i said the craft operate in two modes the omicron and delta configuration when it's transitioning from omicron to delta the way the craft flies through in space is belly first not flying horizontal like you see in a science fiction movie and as the craft leaf the ground in omicron mode they perform a roll maneuver where the craft raises and you know eventually you see it at a 45 degree angle and then it becomes straight up and down 180 degrees right the
(2:28:42) amplifiers come up to power they focus on a point and the craft flies belly first at the target and you see a lot of ufo photographs here and there with crafts ascending in the sky at a 45 degree angle but flying up or or sitting at odd angles in the sky and at least from what i can guess from the photographs if they in fact are genuine it looks like the crafter transitioning from one mode to another and so you've seen quite a few of those i've probably seen three or four of those three or four yeah so the majority
(2:29:18) of ufo photos are by you pretty much dismissed but every now and then one hits you and you say hey hey look at that yeah if it has something that clicks somewhere but you know these days boy you just take a picture into adobe photoshop and you know you can make anything i do know uh bob i can't thank you enough for coming on tonight with regard to your movie blue books hey do you have any idea what the title might be no idea the only thing they talked about are the people that might play me is it james spader kevin spacey or mark
(2:29:50) wahlberg so that's about all i know at the time brother good luck with the movie and thank you so much for laying so much new detail on us tonight no problem art and i'd just like to say hi to my buddies debbie and nancy out in chicago and the incredible duggar good night bob good night art all right there you have it folks a whole lot of stuff you've never heard before that was bob lazar i'm art bell this is coast see you tomorrow night open lines [Music]

(00:00) [Music] so [Music] [Applause] [Music] from the high desert and the great american southwest i did you all good evening good morning good afternoon wherever you may be in the world's time zones because we cover all of this with this strange unusual program this eclectic adventure in the night called coast coast a.
(00:47) m it's a an honor to be here it's honored to certainly be interviewing the man i'm about to interview amarillo slim you may not have known that he was on the way tonight but indeed he is uh tell you all about him in a moment and then in the second hour of course bob lazar and so this should be quite a night all in all folks

i want to note for you very quickly i've had about 10 000 emails richard c hoagland's website is just temporarily down as is he with the flu richard c hoagland has the flu
(01:20) look out out there i'm hearing stories that this year's shot may not do the job and so now being in isolation may be a good thing anyway his website will be up shortly understand we may take a moonshot with a shuttle that's something we'll talk with richard about i spoke with him a couple of hours ago coming up in a moment oh what an honor uh the book is amarillo slim in a world full of fat people the memoirs of the greatest gambler who lived that's who you're about to hear from uh thomas austin amarillo slim
(01:58) preston 74 years of age is a fast talking colorful texas gambler and poker ambassador who won the world series of poker in 1972 never without his snakeskin wrapped stetson and custom designed cowboy boots he lives in amarillo texas is 6'4 and weighs 170. he is skinny he's so skinny he looks like an advanced man for a famine despite his string being build amarillo slim is larger than life and considered around the world to be the greatest gambler of all time the greatest gambler of all time what does he do what kind of things has he done to (02:36) give you a little taste he played minnesota fats in one pocket uh with with a broom in one pocket playing one pocket with a broom he took 21 and a half points on the jets and we won a six-figure bet on broadway joe and super bowl because that couldn't be three well maybe it was um he um he he made a cat pick up a coke bottle this is what i got to hear about made a cat pick up a coke bottle he bet on which sugar cube a fly might land on in an arkansas jail whatever he was therefore he won the world series of poker no
(03:24) small matter at binion's horseshoe in 72. he beat evil knievel in golf with a carpenter's hammer betting 2 out of 30 cab drivers in dallas would have the same birthday he beat bobby riggs playing ping pong with a skillet beat willie nelson out of 300 000 is playing dominoes in vegas played bob stupak my neighbor over the hill there pitching coins for 65 000 at the rio in las vegas played larry flint heads up poker at the phipps club in los angeles betting a prominent politician betting a prominent politician yeah that
(04:09) george w bush would win the 2000 presidential election a whole lot more in fact they've got 21 listed here the crazy bets and crazy things the man you're about to hear from has done in a moment amarillo slim now to where else amarillo texas and here's amarillo slim amarillo welcome to program good to be here bud what's going on haha you at the moment my friend um i spent 18 months in your fair city back in the days when you used to have an air force base there emerald air force base well yeah but when lyndon (04:49) johnson failed to carry potter county where our air force base got phased out i recall i think last time i was there only thing left were a few red and white towers out there where the air force base used to be that's about it that's about it but amarillo's a good town hell i i've lived here nearly all well all my life i i met a pair of really good-looking twins in amarillo so i i remember that place for a long time why you should because our population has been the same the last 30 years never (05:17) married every time someone gets pregnant some man leaves town so amarillo just been the same forever why why are you a gambler well i don't know i uh i don't know why it seemed like it come pretty easy for me and hell that's soft is butter for me i enjoy it uh yeah but i mean there must be something in your psychological makeup you must thought about it from time to time why do i do this why am i a gambler uh sometimes it's uh it's a good thing sometimes and today it's a bad thing my gosh look what southern cal did that
(05:56) last field goal you'd like to go spend what it cost me i had taken 22 points on that game so uh you haven't let up at all have you that's for women and children nobody gives up i would love to hear your your book is out how is your book being greeted by the way folks if you go to my website uh and just click on arts webcam i'm holding a copy of emerald son's book picture of them right on the front and uh so there's a lot of really cool stories in this book uh let's talk about a few of them i mean (06:27) you you played minnesota fats in one pocket with a broom well yeah when uh in in my youth i uh i was a professional video player uncle sam sent me all over the world giving uh rocket boarded exhibitions when i was only 17. and when i came back from europe i ran the patch at perth amboy new jersey and uh and we played and he beat me out of roy beat me out of a good-sized figure but a little later on he found out he should have won about five times that so let's get him a couple of sponsors together and they come to amarillo to (07:03) play me some and i matched a proposition game with him a game that i had practiced for a long long time and there was a handicap involved but that was a good player but what he smelled cooking wasn't on the fire you know what i'm saying he uh a broom well yeah just like you sweep the floor with and uh and bless his heart he uh he left here scratching a broke tail and i felt it was good for him i liked that so i was one of a few people that liked that but we knew him as new york that's he only become minnesota fats after the (07:40) movie come out oh the movie did that to him yeah yeah we knew that i played bet in uh in new york and i played him in atlanta i played him in hot springs arkansas we played several times you said you were one of the only people who liked him huh well yeah because he was a man he was stronger than nelly's breath that that son of a gun was uh well i like splash hill he was okay with me very few people knew his name his name was rudolph walderon and he was a showman and a good one in fact he told me one time i played him an (08:16) exhibition in reno and skulled out on him i couldn't meet him at that time and he says to me say you skinny cowboy if you want some notoriety go set yourself on fire so i thought fast was all right that suited me just fine uh he was as good as his reputation says yeah yeah uh i i'm a cat person i own four cats and so when i saw that you i mean you you you made a cat you you bet somebody that a cat could pick up a coke bottle now cats can't pick up coke bottles oh yeah i've done it several times in my life i make (08:56) the cat pick up the coke bottle made it take up the elevator to the parking lot and put the bottle on top of his car what i made the kill yeah i heard you i just said i'm saying like how could you do that well all trappers don't wear fur caps and early that mean this man had been playing some high god and one evening we always went to the office bar that way in lawrence there in new york and when we when we did that well if anyone had a phone call they'd say where are you well we was always at the office you know

(09:31) what i'm saying so now i had given a newspaper kid a 50 bill that morning and told him to catch me a cat he said what kind i said just a grown cat i don't care if it's a i don't care what it is it's just a grown cat not a baby kitten so he caught me a cat and i had stationed this gentleman on the outside of the booth where he'd be sure and see him had he been unable to see him i would have pointed him out to him but he saw this kid through this cat in the lounge where we were it was the office
(10:04) uh he said my god what's a her cat like that doing in a nice place like this so i leaned completely over him and saw the cat and i said that's a real smart cat and just sat back down and he grabbed me with a shoulder and he said well you mean a smart cat as you can tell by the width of the distance between his ears that he's real intelligent well i'm a non-drinking stiff so i was drinking a coca-cola which wasn't out of land i asked well like i bet i can make that cat pick up this coke bottle and take it
(10:35) up there on that parking lot and put it on top of your car oh man you could hear a mouse wet on cotton it got just this quiet in that building so naturally they they sent and got a yellow legal pad and they wrote out stipulations as to what you could and couldn't do you know what i'm saying yeah the the uh the way the bet would come down sir i'm taking it you mean the outline of the the bet exactly how yeah because i couldn't uh you know i couldn't tie it to him or something so none of them
(11:07) covered what i did and so i i was real sure that the cat would how much money was on the table over this oh man that way we bet enough hundred dollar bills to burn up 30 wet mules this everybody in the joint met me when you take an empty coca-cola bottle and snap the cap back on it just hit it with your hand there's a very very slight minute indentation where you open it it raises the edge on that cap yeah you grab a cap by his tail now i had some welders grill but spaced in that place and you grab him by one hand by the tail
(11:45) and he'll turn over and scratch you you put both of your hands on his tail right at the face of this tail yeah and keep him off of it well if every entry to any restaurant or lounge or bar or business or anything there's generally a tile surface especially right in the front of the cash register so i lay this coke bottle down and i drug this cat when you drag him he grasped everything he just he lets his claws out and he's trying to get hold of anything that's right they'll grab on anything that's right so i drag him over (12:15) the bottle it doesn't take long and he his claws will catch on that indentation now you knew you knew this because you'd done this whole bunch of times

obviously you weren't just oh i wasn't flying by the seat of my britches i knew that cat is going to pick up that bottle so when i pick him up by his tail as long as i'll hold on to his tail he'll roll onto that bottle if we went out and we opened the elevator and everybody got in that good and the rest of them climbed the stairs took it to the top of (12:44) the parking lot up there and when i turned listen to the coke bottle he turned this is the i mean when i turn loose with his tail he turned our skulls to the bottom that was so uh i felt it was good for him because they uh they should have known he was a smart cat but they looked at the whip between his eyes well they should have been looking at your eyes probably well that doesn't do them any good because uh i i'd only let them see what i wanted them to see so there's a lot more than uh tibetan gambling especially this kind of (13:18) gambling then than just betting i mean there's really there's one element of showmanship there's one element of well there's a little bit of deceit a little bit of uh i was gonna say grifting well yeah because see some of the things the only one i ever did that was just an out and out i'd call damn near a swindle was about that eating a quail a day for 30 days yeah what was that all about well all my life i've heard that you couldn't either no one could eat a quail a day for 30 days why not well that meat's too
(13:57) strong you get to where you can't even walk in the room where it's being prepared a quail a day 30 yeah i know an attorney in austin that better big figure that he could and he didn't do it i know about 20 people that tried it no one ever did and couldn't do it so a friend of ours bought the holiday inn casino in reno and a bunch of the bosses and then some of us peons too we went to reno to welcome him to nevada and he said femme get us something unusual for dinner so i sent back home and got some turkey fries none
(14:31) of these guys are there eating turkey fries so one night then i got uh some cat fries and i sent to louisiana and got some problems you know a bunch of old spoiled millionaires sitting around there and uh finally i he said don't you have some quail and i said yes well i i got some massive quail so he volunteered it it all come up on the natural and when it comes up natural it's always a certainty to become a reality you know what i'm saying i uh well i think i do well tom said oh these are real people i'm talking about he
(15:04) said uh lemon do you think you could eat a quail a day for 30 days i said well i know i can't because i you know i knew that he said well you you only win a couple hundred thousand i bet you can't eat a quail a day a couple hundred thousand two hundred thousand dollars on that well yeah see those kind of people aren't on any budget uh well so that would that'd be that's not an out-of-line wager no i i know it isn't i i know i've been watching some of these world series of poker tournaments and uh i want to talk to you
(15:32) about that insane well we get a stack of hundred dollar bills out there the show dog couldn't jump over you know when i left the world series last year and went to the host opening of a new casino in colorado i put eight million three hundred and twenty thousand hundred dollar bills on the end of that poker table oh my god we had 832 players post 10 000 a piece to play in the tournament that's eight million three hundred and twenty thousand man that's got some whiskers on it oh yeah it sure does you
(16:01) know mine anyway yeah yeah so anyway that night where we went up we had adjoining sweets and about two o'clock in the morning benny come in he said john you're awake i said to hell no go on back and go to bed let's get some sleep he says i got a chore for you that's what said he said you got to find a way where a man can eat a quail a day for 30 days i said benny you can't do it i said i know a lot of people have tried he said i've heard that all my life but he said now you will find some way for a man to (16:34) quail a day i said i don't know he said well i'm designating you a job to find a way to do it so about four or five months later by sheer accident i was in roswell new mexico trying out a new cutting horse i had him in a round pin there and i told the cowboys brought the horse over there i said open that gate there for me let me show him a little bit of country he said well flam just go down when you get out the gate turned right there in that pasture and said yeah you're going into about a three section pasture i said i'll see (17:08) you later so i looked down at the end of that lane and started to step off the horse to get open the gate and this guy says oh my slim let me get that gate for you so this guy opens the gate where i'm going in that big pasture and i said how in me hell did you beat me down here he said what are you talking about well you just let me out of that round pen down there about a quarter of a mile or he says that's my twin brother identical twin i said lord lord look here so apparently you can either quail every (17:45) other god i'd let one of them eat it for about three days and then go to a dark movie or something and come out and he'd eat him for three or four days now see that's pretty close to a swindle what did i just tell you you did it was so much fun but when this guy after about the 12th day and this guy looks like he's doing all right with it but these these folks had waited they couldn't swallow bald okay it looked like the wheel had already run off and uh i had i enjoyed that one because it was a

(18:26) little uh well i guess you could say it was unethical i don't know i just uh will you gamble uh i mean you gambled on a fly landing right while you were in jail or something being uh well i wasn't in jail i've never been incarcerated but never no well now see that that right there is something interesting you've never officially been in jail that's right i i've got a call oh from the little old town over in arkansas from the sheriff and he said he had i was a always drug lord in his jail and he had an awful lot of (19:00) money on deposit and he wanted me to come over and see if i couldn't find some way to beat him so we agreed to cut it like a watermelon you know how you cut a watermelon don't you i do right down the middle so i went over there and they determined that if i smoked in the hall there at the courthouse and couldn't pay my fine that they put you in jail for a couple hours so i let me a cigarette and i was unable to pay my fine so it looked like it was on the square and they put me in there with this fella
(19:30) and uh we were sitting on the edge of a little well i guess you'd call it a bunk because one below and one above there was a little bench in front of us and this guy knew who i was or he heard some stories about me and he said my god i bet you could get us some coffee i said well probably why were you on he said man i'm a coffee hound i know you are let's have some coffee i said okay we hollered for what they call the jailer that's the guy with the keys i guess he come back there and i told him we
(20:03) wanted some coffee and this guy said slim i use cream and sugar bowl so i said well can you get us some cream and sugar and the guy said yeah so he brought us some but the sugar he brought us was uh love sugar cubes you've probably seen them yeah of course they look just like a paradise or just a little well that's what they look like paradise yeah they do so uh it wasn't real sanitary in there anyway and uh and there was some flies buzzing around so i thought well looky here i've already got me a way to break this gap
(20:37) and so i put fabulous sugar cubes on this little bench right in front of us about you know two foot in front of us hold that story right there amarillo we're here at the bottom of the hour uh he was gonna bet the guy that he could cause a fly to land on a particular sugar cube this is a man who bet on anything obviously and pretty much has from the high desert in the middle of the night doing what you never expect always the surprise this is coast to coast am don't touch that dial [Music] got [Music] [Music]

(23:30) uh what he had on deposit but after he got told a lot of times a lot of people thought he had more on the prize than he did he had 37 000 37 000 all right but actually what was the bet 37 000 and whatever odd things you had no i asked the money i meant what were you betting on well i put five little sugar cubes out there on this bench fine and he said uh uh what what do you mean i said well i'll you see those flies i said i bet i can tell you which one that those sugar cubes and fly

(24:05) not even money there's five of them and even money would be four to one but i'll take seven to two i knew he had fudge you know he wanted the best of it which is three and a half to one so he didn't disappoint me he said no no no i'm not going to lay three and a half one ladies three to one i said if you got anything of course i already knew he had so he said yeah i'll let for what i've got on deposit i said well you haven't got glass pockets let me see a receipt where i can tell what you got on the (24:34) phone of course i already knew so i designated the cube it would land on and we wagered yeah but you see sugar just in its normal form uh one of those sugar cubes is just like a teddy bear i'm looking at one on the tv or a picture or something it's nothing but to apply but if you're moisten your finger and wet that sugar cube it'll dissolve a little bit of it it gives off an aroma now when it gives off an aroma mr fly he doesn't even see those other four they're just like that bent he just died about that cube oh my god
(25:12) you're gonna play generally on this man's shirt tail it was sticking my foot out when you sleep but uh i knew which one that flower was gonna land and it did well it always will that's something to remember so you just get a little you're just going to put a little water there on there a little bit of spit on the end of that thing and that's exactly well you know it dissolves it oh my well when it evaporates but naturally it gives off a sweet aroma amarillo what's your wife's opinion on the on your lifestyle the way
(25:43) you live well i guess she thinks i'm a pretty clever little fella because in my youth i used to make some trips and they weren't all positive but it was very seldom remember asking if it was how did you do i'd even if i had a bad trip i'd say oh i beat these folks so there wasn't any need to be being a burden or a hardship on my family over my gaming listen i've been watching these uh poker tournaments and yeah man amarillo to play i understand these are good poker players but my god people land down
(26:20) sometimes hundreds of thousands of dollars on you know like no hand i it's just i it you you would have to have i don't know great big giant brass ones to play in a tournament like that those people are crazy well let me tell you uh years ago they uh i was a guinea pig for a thing that they they wanted to do and originally i turned it down and a friend of mine got me to go ahead and do it they put some monitors on me like they stepped on those astronauts yeah and they wanted to show why under the arrest i didn't show any emotion right
(26:59) there's a way it was kind of worded to me and hell i could look you right now and you know it's just like that guy that stands there and he swears to you it's raining outside but all the time he's wetting on your leg so uh i'm not i don't know but it takes a different breed of cat see everybody move the chips up and down you watch these tournament games which you're doing and so is everybody else in the country all these guys shuffle their chips straight up and down well everybody can do that but it takes (27:31) a different breed of cat that can move them chips out there in the center without a hand now anyone can if they've got the nuts or a cinch hand or a good hand but i uh i respect the guy that can combat all that without without having anything i know it uh well i tell you it's uh it's a it's a it's a pretty tough goal everybody asked me about they wanted to become a professional poker player or something and my suggestion has always been they get them a driver's license and go to driving a dump truck what the hell
(28:09) they have to guarantee the income and it might be easier because this is no laugh for the week at heart you know i guess not uh listen my wife is uh she was uh she she dealt uh in las vegas and she's got a question for you she wants to know why a woman has never won the world series poker i don't know what this leading up to well no you don't because even not even i don't uh why hasn't a woman ever won and and will do you think one ever will what but see y'all are going back 20 several years ago when that lady got home about (28:47) or she got hold of seven or eight hundred thousand about eight hundred thousand in less than two hours in one of our big tournaments so i was doing an interview with upi in there in the sombrero room during a break and naturally she stuck her goat smelling fanny right in the middle of it and said well it's like well i'm gonna find to be the first woman that wins the world series of poker now i did not say if a woman wins it i said vera well i said miss if you win it you can take a dull knife and cut my throat (29:22) well by the time guys like you got hold of it i i was quoted as saying if a woman ever wanted they'd cut my throat so every year during the world series of poker some some lady will get hold of a few hundred thousand or else no amarillo i'm not listening to me now i wasn't going down that trail i really i wanted to know i mean why hasn't a woman won i mean just the plain odds it's gotta be something different i i just don't think a woman right here say i'm gonna catch health on them again (29:52) yeah i just i've got i've kind of got an agreement with the ladies if they won't do any gambling i won't have any babies and i'll i'll stick to my part of the deal but i do say this that's the only place in the world i can be the woman or not get thrown in jail so i welcome all the ladies to play yeah but you still haven't answered the question why do you think one hasn't won what is it about a woman playing poker that's different i just don't think they've got a heart as big as a p

(30:20) and under duress i think they'll give it up maybe they won't now wait a minute i know a lot of good lady poker player i know a lot of good would-be lady poker players in fact uh uh the best lady poker player that ever lived is a girl named betty carey she hadn't been around the last few years she she went to alaska and played and she got herself completely rich now i think she's living in montana but she uh she played about 10 different guys in vegas head up poker and beat every one of them and i'm talking about top water players
(30:56) i'm not talking about uh somebody that's running around looking for a hundred thousand to get in a game with i'm talking about successful players so she called me and said i'm ready to graduate and i said what do you mean she said you're next so i didn't disappoint them yet i went out there in fact she and i played right after my first tournament at the hilton uh i treated her like a stepchild but on your hand and uh that's the psychology and poker so somebody told her that i knew her hand i mean not by the (31:30) seat or the deception i had she had a tail on her and uh i call that's why i say there's a lot of psychology to poker yeah now a tell is something uh that somebody does it's a giveaway right yeah well i'll tell you what it is now that everybody knows about it now okay uh when we set down the place she played me a hundred thousand dollar freeze out with uh you had to play with somebody who wanted lost it in other words you couldn't get winner and go to dinner you had to stay and play you know what i'm saying sure
(31:59) so prior to playing they're going after the tips well it takes a little while to get a couple hundred thousand dollars worth of chips and get a couple of decks in the dealer and everything so as i said i'm a coffee hound anyway i said betty i'm gonna have a cup of coffee would you like something to drink she said well thank you slim said i would i'd like some hot tea so they brought her some hot tea well they're getting all this ready and i had finished my coffee i looked at her and i said betty how was your tea
(32:28) oh the tea was very nice liam thank you very much i enjoyed it well in about 40 minutes after that pot come up that the show dog couldn't jump over i mean it's really in technicolor you know what i'm saying yeah so i say to her betty how do you like your hand she says oh slim this is a real good hand well i know that's what we're alive you understand that's not what she said about that t that was on the square you know she didn't know that was a trick for her oh that's a tello well i called her yeah
(33:01) and i caught her with the weakest i caught her with two fives now i'm talking about something that a couple of years good salary you know and uh it got uh it got awful quiet in that room but on your hands so word got out some stupid inner tattletail went and told her what had happened to her so the next time she played me she played me again next time she played me she played me down at the golden nugget yeah i know it was and they had told her that she couldn't talk to me so she showed up with one of them
(33:37) the little disc that uh plays music and headphones over both ears and uh i was at a disadvantage because i tried to get her to talk to me and she she was told if she talked to me she couldn't play anymore wow but i liked betty betty was betty was a good player the best woman player i've ever seen when you uh win a bet uh is it most times intuition skill or luck well i don't believe in love i i think you make your own luck in there in luck yeah no matter whatever your endeavor is if you're a farmer you'll be a lot (34:12) luckier if you'll spend more time on that tractor than you do down at the golf course i i've got a question and maybe you can answer this no one has ever been able to for me you know what card counter is of course right yes well okay card counters are banned i understand from las vegas casinos on a regular basis they just don't let them in and i i have always wondered amarillo what's wrong with card county is something you're doing totally in your head right well let me tell you i was a i was a guinea pig for a program called (34:41) 60 minutes you know may not be familiar with it it comes on oh i know the problem oh yeah and i was supposed to have not been able to play then they the nevada gaming commission made a ruling that i could play and i played it the only place in the world where i could bet what it did and they filmed me playing 21 for a lady now this lady was square's an apple box she didn't know she thought the king was a ruler of a foreign country and the queen was his dead mate she didn't she didn't know a thing in the world

(35:13) about cards yeah and i i and that type ass producer give her 200 well i'm supposed to take this 200 and make this lady win some money and i put it on 29 800 for her in about three hours and she showed no excitement no relation whatsoever until we got ready to go to the cage and cash it in and she is shaking like a leaf so i know uh there's 16 people in the world that's barred all over the world 16 people 21 yeah they're in the griffin book and uh people can win uh i understand that i just don't i don't think you
(36:22) out there in nevada and i remember when atlantic city first opened uh everybody thought that it'd take off maybe twenty as much as twenty two or three and five percent didn't happen nevada's business all it did was increase it yeah because it creates new players and now those blanket ass indians have opened up a casino everybody that's got a ubangam tribe has got a gambling license and i don't think the poor indians are winding up with them but there must be i hosted an opening of 14 different indian casinos
(36:55) the last two years so they're everywhere and i think i really truly think they'll break the whole world uh do you think las vegas of course you know las vegas used to be an adult playground now it's like disney vegas i mean it's changed i mean they they used to throw around the drinks and the cigarettes and uh it was just a different kind of place and now it's a better place then you think so yeah when the mob run everything back there where you're safe walking down the street you wasn't going to get hijacked
(37:30) in your room and and just ordinary folks that had maybe maybe twenty or thirty thousand they got their room compton food and beverage and everything and now everybody's uh there's no there's no camaraderie you're not an individual you're a dollar mark walking around yeah well i'm involved in i know some places out there where with a hundred thousand dollar card you can't even get a room during chinese new year or the super bowl or new year no that's true no it's still successful i mean las vegas is (38:01) it's grown like crazy successful my god they i i think they're gonna i still think they'll break the whole the whole world you know eventually either them either vegas or lawyers you know yeah i'm sick of the lawyers they they milked me like a rocky mountain goat my titties gets a sword can't button my shirt so i know about the lawyer yeah i bet you do they take a third of everything my theory is eventually cutting out just a little well i said they take a third of everything so my theory is eventually (38:33) they'll have everything well yeah i guess the only lawyer i've got no no i was surprised with a lot of them your mayor and i are pretty close i know he come out to jim miller's show and introduced me and told a bunch of lies what a good sign of a gun i was they sat in the other but but uh what do you what do you think is the the hardest bet you've ever won oh the only one only time i ever risk anything other than money was when i bet all that money i could go down the river of no return what the hell i didn't know you couldn't (39:03) do it after i'd already bet then i went and had jacques cousteau make me a wetsuit that would keep me alive in that water for up to 15 minutes by then i'd already charged a couple of helicopters to hover on the serious part of that you're a cross between a gambler and evil knievel say hey i like that boy too i've done some awful dirty things to the little pillar yeah you want some you beat him out of something didn't he oh man i have really been a hardship on him but it was good for him it kind of (39:35) builds character and and he is a character anyway well i'll tell you what i did one day i beat him down in dallas playing guy with a bow and arrow i'd already beat him playing with a hammer so i played him some with a bow and arrow a bow and arrow so now i thrashed his little penny so i was a guest speaker at the po bowl banquet that night after we got through yakking up there and everything why he would come around he said gee what swim is there anything we can do i said well i don't know there's a map of the (40:05) united states in the telephone call somebody i play nearly everything there is he's well i hate to leave here so now i remember some things i had done before and i said how many people's in here he looked around and where's the anatole in one of those big banquet rooms he said probably 150 why i said you pulled them not me and i've been out of the first thirty people you go to two of them's got the same birthday yeah brother the wheel run off everybody in that building except two people one was a

(40:40) well he was a big shot official with the nfl the other one was an nfl owner that me something they might have just bet 600 or a few hundred or a few thousand but everybody bet well sure enough the 18th person that they went to had the same birthday as the second one did you know that beforehand oh i knew it at work i didn't know i didn't put anyone in there but one of the guys stole my money in the floor so i know he's dissatisfied you understand yeah so he's insinuating there's something wrong with it yeah so i scolded him and (41:14) had him pick my stuff up hand it to me and i said well it's obvious you think there was something wrong with it so let me tell you what do you think of some place we can go i said we'll go to a theater a bowling alley the police station anywhere there's 30 people we'll bet again now one of the wise guys that was down there says hell why don't we call 30 taxi cabs i said y'all call them and we won't ask them nothing in texas they've got a little identity badge that hangs over that visor and we're almost (41:46) out of time here yeah all right let me tell you so anyway we called 30 cabs and i paid off i paid off the last 17 drivers because the 13th driver had the same birthday as the number nine in your gamble in life amarillo how much money uh just guessing how much money do you think you bet one way or the other winning losing altogether how much money passed through your hands in bets oh you couldn't it's not all a win see it's uh there's you have some sizable losses too oh i know that's what i'm saying winning
(42:17) losing how much money back and forth you figure you've dealt with well you couldn't you couldn't put it in a train you couldn't put it in a tray all right listen buddy uh we got to take off we're out of time but it was sure pleasure thanks a million i'll see you later all right take care amarillo slim [Music] in a world of fat people all right we're going to take a break here at the top of the hour and then along comes bob lazar from the high desert i'm mark bell [Music] inside that we need so much
(43:14) the sight of a touch or the scent of the sand or the strength of an oak roots deep in the ground the wonder of flowers to be covered and then to burst up through tarmac to the sun again or to fly to the sun without burning a wing to lie in a meadow and hear the grass sing all these things [Music] [Music] take this place [Music] wanna take a ride to talk with art bell call the wildcard line at area code
(44:22) the 775-727-1295 time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east to the rockies call toll-free 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618 international callers may recharge by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art valley it absolutely is it's the weekend everybody and you're off and boy do i have a guest for you bob lazar he is a man
(45:04) who is probably one of the more controversial uh people in the entire field of ufology i mean really controversial bob lazar is president of united nuclear they specialize in research and development of cutting-edge technologies design and manufacture of radiation detection equipment for the nuclear weapons industry and the retail of scientific equivalent supplies he was formerly senior staff physicist for the us department of naval intelligence at the nevada test site you know that area near me and the nuclear physicist at los alamos
(45:43) national labs where he was involved in advanced nuclear weapon design and development and in the middle of all that he's seen things that very few living americans have ever seen he's actually seen the ships he's actually seen the saucers in a moment bob lazar some of you i know probably didn't hear the first program uh or the last program i guess i had to say i did with uh bob lazar he is a fascinating guy who got to see the real mccoy at area s4 near or seen from this area 51.

(46:30) i just i guess it was uh last book a few weeks ago now i interviewed our mutual friend john lear oh what an interview that was uh bob it was really something welcome to the program well thanks all right um gee bob uh i you know what i'm gonna start at the end um why do you hate talking about ufos well there's a few reasons first first of all it's gotten pretty old it's been you know over a decade and uh second of all uh yeah i'm i'm glad i was involved in the project for a short time but um you know once you leave that and try and (47:19) enter normal life especially if you're peddling your services in research and development in a scientific field it becomes really tough for people to take you seriously when you're known as the ufo guy so it's just hard to kind of divorce all that stuff that's kind of the same problem that john lear had you know when he was working for the airline so it finally got to the point where i had to say no more and for years of course he didn't talk at all right i know he had a lot of problems with that and (47:50) that's something people just don't take into account got fired actually got fired because of it from one airline yeah that's that's right that's that's what i heard um how how do you now remember that special year with john or maybe it was more in a year but the time period of time you spent with john and you went through all of that how do you now remember that do you remember it fondly do you remember it as something you wish you hadn't done or what oh no it's those are fond memories it
(48:21) was uh it was fun and exciting back then uh you know before all the problems started and all the hassles from the feds and whatnot but uh yeah back in the early days before all this became popular in area 51 was on the tip of everybody's tongue uh you know we were sneaking around out there when there were minimal security and and whatnot and i had the uh the test flight schedule at that time so we knew exactly what was going to happen and what was going on and well you know what i'd like to know why did you i mean you at that time had a (48:54) pretty damn good secure job uh at an extremely secret place what made you decide to grab john by the collar and say hey buddy i can show you something i mean how do you make that choice i have to place myself back in that time welder i it's one of that's kind of a loaded question because there was a lot of stuff going on at that time and you know i kind of make a long story short at the time they were just calling me out usually at night on specific days to go out there when i initially started working down at the
(49:40) test site right and you know this was causing problems with my wife at the time because i would i was keeping everything confidential even from her sure and you know a hero 11 or 12 o'clock at night i get this call and you gotta disappear and you know and this happens time and time again and where are you going honey i'm sorry i can't talk about that right yeah i'm going to work i'm sure you are yeah you know and uh as this goes on for quite a while suspicions begin to build up and uh you
(50:12) know i i kind of kept my friends at at arm's length at that time because i just didn't want any problems i wanted all the you know this newfound security to go smoothly sure and uh was pretty much playing with the game so it started causing suspicion in my friends and you know immediate family and that sort of thing so i decided to take the risk one night and just bring everybody out close enough to where they could see a test flight when i knew a test flight was going on yeah but you you had to know what you were risking right
(50:49) oh i did and you know i can't i can't really say what the actual motivation was back then you know specifically what made it you know what made me snap on that day but uh were you angry at them uh were you sure no not at that point were you showing off there's nothing wrong with that by the way i mean that's what it was that's what it was i mean i i can understand no i i it really wasn't that you know and that that would actually be an easy answer but uh it really wasn't that if i recall that (51:23) we didn't start we didn't start butting heads until after that right but um that was about it i think it was to alleviate suspicion and show you know several of my friends what was going on what was really going on yeah um how much during those sojourns how much did you actually get to see along with john while we were out of the area or while i was actually working there in the area well yeah they're two separate things no i meant when you took john and others up there what how is what you saw uh was it convincing for (52:06) those who came along with you there was no question in the mind about what they were seeing oh no there was no question i mean john hauled out his even though we got much closer in than you can today near the area well i have no idea what it's like today but at least when i was last in las vegas a few years ago you really couldn't get very far out on the road but we we drove in close to 10 miles and you can't do that anymore but john hauled out his celestron 10-inch telescope and from there it was quite a view

(52:41) so [Music] and you were seeing saucers a saucer yeah a saucer um hovering moving yeah just lift it off the ground and hover it around do you have any idea now of course you actually it's another story but i mean you of course got in to see the real mccoy um you saw how many saucers ultimately at s4 well there were nine total nine total but you know these were seen at a distance the only one i actually had direct contact with was the one that was being test flown uh-huh um do you have any idea how they sufficiently back engineered whatever in (53:26) the hell they found inside that saucer to be able to test fly it do you have any idea what went on to to to learn about i mean there must been i mean what was it like inside inside this thing what was it like if you were standing there looking at it inside what would you be seeing well i guess the most shocking thing about it is it was everything was one color there was no aesthetics at all everything was a light gray and uh it was as if and i've said this before it was a as if the entire device was made out of carved
(54:05) out of wax heated for a bit and cooled off there were no sharp edges no right angles everything was rounded and smooth both inside and out there are no seams or anything like that looks like they've been done by from a mold or something right like a giant injection mold of some sort but um so that's it's yeah i mean that was probably the most obvious thing you'd notice when you walk in there it just uh didn't look conventional at all any idea again i mean from that could you see but what how did they navigate this thing were (54:42) there buttons were there joysticks were there what sort of i have no idea no idea and so you would have no idea then how they back engineered i would have to be a pretty dangerous thing to take a craft that you just had and try to figure out how to fly the damn thing i imagine so and from the stories i've heard that it was quite a dangerous thing but unfortunately a lot of this went on way before i ever got there and obviously they had at least found out to some extent how some of the systems and subsystems operated do you know how they got their
(55:21) hands on these in the first place i mean how did they get them i don't know i don't know unfortunately a lot of the information is compartmentalized so nobody has no one person has the whole story about everything and that's typically done in any government project so nobody can walk away with you know the whole project or knowledge of everything but uh yeah i i wish i had the complete picture sure of what was going on even just smaller pieces to the picture i did have i would be very interested in how the navigational
(55:53) system operated that still kind of puzzles me uh as do flight controls and and things of that sort but and propulsion this element what is it 116. 115. yeah 115. 115. um do you have any concept of how the propulsion system did what it did i know how a you know a jet plane moves from a to b and so forth and so on i mean how was this element 115 used to to to move the craft what kind of propulsion system is it it's a gravity propulsion system something that's uh completely alien to us if you don't mind
(56:37) me saying that that's good work the um instead of an action reaction system i guess the analogy i always use is if you go put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and three feet away from it push your fist into the bed and push down really hard the bowling ball rolls towards it that's correct and what happens in these craft or on this particular one anyway there were three gravity amplifiers in them and what these are are long tubes that are in the belly of the craft and they're on kind of a universal pivot
(57:14) type joint to make it simple it's actually something more complicated than that but what they can do is swing two of the emitters up at one time focus on a point in front of the crass and cause a local distortion and essentially the craft moves forward towards it just like the bowling ball would so it's kind of a it's falling into a path it's making for itself right it's kind of it's kind of constantly rolling downhill so to speak yeah uh which is the opposite of how our vehicles travel
(57:48) we always accelerate air throw exhaust out the back do something to propel

something forward and uh in the air anyway and this essentially operates the opposite now is it dependent on a local field of gravity in other words obviously these ships are designed to fly through interstellar space and i wonder what that if they're using gravity in that manner then how does local gravity i wonder affect them in other words the earth has um gravity and when they're within our field is it any different than when they're in interstellar space (58:28) in terms of the way it operates yeah completely there's two different modes of travel there's delta and omicron and the omicron configuration is when the craft uses one of the emitters to essentially hover on and causes that local distortion with the other two in front of it right causing it to move forward this is something i've never heard before okay oh the delta configuration in fact there let me take a step back for a second that's how the craft has flown in an area of gravity now when you want to leave a local area of (59:09) gravity say fly into space what is done is you transition from omicron to delta and in a lot of the uh ufo pictures you see occasionally uh you'll see these ufos at these ridiculous angles at 45 degree angles hanging in the middle of the air sure and uh that the reason for that is that's the transition between the two different flight modes ah as the craft lifts off the ground it has to fly in a gravity-free environment in space with the belly forward it doesn't fly like a flying saucer does in a science
(59:52) fiction movie the emitters focus on one point right all three of them out in space and that's how the the thing travels so you're kind of going from a conventional mode of flight lifting up in the air raising the belly and then aiming that towards your target and that's how you you progress bob knowing what you know about at least the propulsion system um what can you imagine that might go wrong and cause a craft crash as it allegedly did for example at roswell you know i've wondered about about that
(1:00:30) for a while and i can't i really can't see how one of these things could could crash um but apparently it did but i just i can't see where a failure is going to typically occur i don't care if there's a a lightning storm or what locally is going on unless there was something that occurred within the craft i don't think there's any external force that's going to act on it certainly any natural force and cause any problems because if you're generating your own gravitational field
(1:01:06) you're essentially immune to everything that's going on around you um if that field should fail for some reason well yes that's why i say if something if some defect occurred inside or if something was done unintentionally as far as piloting the craft that i could see happening but i i don't buy the story somebody comes cruising in from 30 light years away runs into a thunderstorm and crashes into the ground yeah you bet uh are you convinced that roswell was in fact a crash of an alien craft no
(1:01:40) oh oh really now there's a surprise well you use the word convinced um well i know there's a lot of information that leads me to believe that but you know i'm one of the most skeptical people when it comes to flying saucer stories and i know that almost sounds hypocritical but that's that's just the way it is becoming involved with you know one aspect of it uh kind of cemented that in my mind but you know but there's lots of wacko stories out there and and i'm sure you've you've heard you're sure of them
(1:02:13) maybe more than anybody perhaps i have um but but you know if if this propulsion system i mean it could mean so much for the world uh if we knew how to manipulate gravity in that way that obviously would be a power source that could be harnessed and utilized in a world where we're running out of coal and oil and all the conventional stuff we've used uh we really badly need another energy source if i mean when you saw these saucers it was how many years ago now well it was in 88 89 88 89 and now 2003 we're starving for energy we're probably
(1:02:53) gonna have wars if well we are having wars because of it and there will be more wars because of it so why do you suppose bob that all of this has been kept from the world i don't know there's also you know there's also a tremendous weapon potential here that too you know a tremendous weapon potential maybe more so than energy because as far as duplicating the the power system well you need access to materials elements things of that sort that that we simply don't have and cannot fabricate and uh (1:03:29) well you know they'd be making weapons well yeah of course of course you know if you can control i think i said this on my last interview with you you know we have we have devices that can produce magnetic fields we have devices that can produce artificial light but you know the big gap is we don't have a machine that can make gravity you know there's there's nothing that does that well yeah that's a big gap in physics or we haven't made it public and then and the question is why is this technology still buried i

(1:04:06) tell you what we're at the bottom of the hour hold on bob we'll come back and we'll jump right back into the same place it's what uh dr greer who by the way will be here tomorrow night a lot of other people want to know about why is all of this being kept secret from the high desert this is coast to coast am [Music] is [Music] [Applause] [Music] with no more angry words get into a car
(1:05:14) and drive to the other side [Music] to talk with art bell call the wild card line at area code the 775-727-1295 time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 [Music] to talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618 international callers may re-chart by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art bell it is and my guest of course is bob lazar the
(1:06:14) very controversial bob lazar is a physicist and he's actually been where few living human beings have ever been and that's standing right in front of the real mccoy ufos flying saucers flying discs some describe one described i recall as the sports model but the real thing in fact i believe what bob saw resulted in the tester model do you remember the tester model of the uh the saucer well that came from at least in part if not in totality bob's description i think that's right we'll ask about that in a moment bob
(1:06:49) lazor all right the ability to create or manipulate gravity some incredible thing to be sure and bob we're talking about the you know the energy needs of the world and then you brought up weapons and you betcha i mean do you believe for example that they have in fact uh developed weapons using this technology and that we have them now in our arsenal my own personal belief absolutely absolutely uh absolutely because i saw evidence of that even when i worked there part of the part of the briefing contained a couple hints
(1:07:34) about using gravity as a lens or uh one of the gravity emitters as a lens to focus energy weapons so which to take a step back if your particle beams and other uh energy type weapons of that sort disperse quickly in an atmosphere and uh it's kind of hard to keep a focused uh intense beam on your target but if you can manipulate gravity you know i'll you can really really change the dynamics of that so what would such a weapon do well that's th what they're using a technology there essentially to focus
(1:08:16) something that's conventional but if you could maintain the energy density maintain uh you know essentially a tight focus spot right of any high intensity energy you could burn you know penetrate [Music] destroy different targets but also it's also a great defensive thing because uh once you start talking about manipulating gravity and you can create a gravitational field in any plane you wish you know things that become possible are are what we consider science fiction now the popular shields in star trek become possible now
(1:08:57) well how about not quite so as fictional uh suggestions made by ronald reagan about star wars right you know you gotta wonder if um some of what that man said at that time came from some knowledge he might have had about what was possible it could certainly have had i've heard several people talk about reagan in that way and i know he made several of those uh yes he did speeches with uh making reference to aliens invading the earth that's right and whatnot but uh yeah that's that's very possible uh
(1:09:34) certainly that would have been one of the early conclusions any military mind would have drawn and that could have easily made it to the top to the president ronald reagan was somebody who said what was on his mind uh to the consternation of many around him and you know he'd just say what was on his mind and uh to hell with the consequences so one does have to wonder about that but still there it is maybe we've got the weapons we didn't use them in iraq no i think these are these are way too valuable to use in
(1:10:05) combat these aren't things that have been produced you know we have if we have any uh we're using the parts from the craft and their prototypes and i don't think anybody is risking putting these valuable things into battle [Music] i think it's you know unless we've developed another source for the materials or have been able to duplicate them you know in the past 10 years i really don't see that we're going to be going anywhere with that but who knows maybe maybe by this time research has continued and they've

(1:10:42) actually come up with something one of the key things that uh john lear did during our inter last interview was he said hey art i'm going to take you to a briefing and you're going to get to say whether you think all of this uh there should be total disclosure about everything the united states government has done since day one regarding this whole issue of extraterrestrials what we've learned what information we have how we got it what we've done with it the terrible things government has done to (1:11:16) protect the secrets and all the rest of it i'm going to lay it all out for you and you decide whether or not it should be all publicly disclosed you know everybody in in ufology is screaming for disclosure and so i'm wondering about you bob um if you had a litany of things laid in front of you that we had done some of them pretty terrible if you buy it uh would you would you say that there should be full disclosure or is this something better kept from the american or the world public well it's not better kept from the american
(1:11:50) people because you know we're we're supposed to be the government we hire these guys elect them to their positions to take care of business yes sir so nothing is supposed to be kept from us however you know there are other countries we do have an awful lot of people in the world that just hate us because we're alive and uh you know if you're concerned about weapons and the proliferation of things of that sort uh you do need to keep certain things secret from the rest of the world however it's one of the things that i had said
(1:12:21) initially go ahead and keep all that stuff secret but just admit hey by the way you know a long time ago we ran into some of these things this this technology is real there apparently is actual intelligent extraterrestrial life somewhere else and you know we have a few artifacts and you know go ahead and release some stuff to the public so look up here you know here's a hinge made on another world just something generic and uh you know keep all the other stuff secret but then i can also see the flip side of
(1:13:00) that that's gonna wet everybody's appetite and there's going to be a furor over you know disclosing the rest of the information and if the government's been keeping that for secret for so long what else have they been keeping secret well yeah i don't see the government coming clean with any of this stuff i mean they're they're up to all kinds and no good so uh do you believe that there is uh a government uh behind the government you know sort of pulling the strings as it were i don't know about that i think ours is
(1:13:32) pretty screwed up as it is so i don't think it needs anybody else pulling any strings yeah you're right about that uh but surely there is uh some method for keeping this gigantic secret and not not all politicians nor even perhaps uh all presidents are told about the existence of that do you believe that no i think yeah i think very few people know and one of the things they told me which was one of my first comments there when i finally knew what i was working on uh how do you guys keep this secret yeah and what they told me was this is
(1:14:07) the easiest thing in the world to keep secret because it's so unbelievable and you know when you really think about it they're right well they are because everything just gets uh dismissed or perhaps erased how much anger do you uh have for them now i mean what they did to you they virtually erased your life they brought a steel fist right down in the middle of your life and kind of ruined things for quite a while for it for you well i don't know i've tried to put this out of my mind you know as i fight to try
(1:14:44) and just put this behind me and forget about everything you know a lot of people uh keep prodding me for information and you know that it resurfaces in my mind but for the most part i just try and get rid of this at the time sure i was pissed off uh more so than you can possibly imagine and you know as my friends at that time recall i drove around in my little 280z with an uzi you know that's the kind of trouble i expected and i didn't go anywhere without it but uh you know times have changed a lot of time has gone by and
(1:15:21) uh i don't know it's it's kind of hard to say yeah it's always in the back of my mind but you know what am i going to do to this day i'm still fighting to get some uh paperwork and well some things i can't even talk about but back back to the way it was so i could be a normal person you obviously thought they were going to kill you oh no question that was the impetus for going on the news yeah and and uh the famous or infamous channel eight uh thing yeah um you want to tell everybody about
(1:15:56) that because of course not everybody in the rest of the country uh either recalls or knew about what happened with regard to that um explain exactly how that came down well i i'm wondering how far i should go back well essentially after i left the project um and it wasn't really voluntary but uh i'm trying to remember exactly what happened then i think in fact i think it was john that interview took place at john lear's house um it was george knapp that talked you into it wasn't it yeah it was a combination of both i

(1:16:43) think i had i had gone down to john lear's house and really was afraid to go home at that time and hid out there for a while and john said why don't you go talk to george knapp and maybe if the stuff's all over the news they'll just leave you alone it'd be your way of kind of pushing back george knapp folks is a reporter for channel 8 um the cbs affiliate in las vegas and yeah he was uh i'm sorry for interrupting no no that's right george is just a very heavy duty uh investigative reporter for that station
(1:17:18) and um i guess he was sort of doing stories on john lear at that time and then somehow you got involved in this and and then and then if i remember correctly uh you were put on television in a shadow behind something or i can't remember yeah it was just a backlit shadow so um you know you couldn't recognize who i was and the pseudonym i used was the name of my boss at the time which was kind of a little smack in the face to say hey just back off and leave me alone and apparently that caused quite a stir and i got a call shortly
(1:17:57) after that and needless to say they were pretty upset with that move do you think john well i bet they were do you do you think john wanted you to do it to in essence back him up at that point oh i'm sure at that time now i mean you have to look at things at that time first of all i got into the project thinking i was going to be working on a new fighter a propulsion system for a new fighter aircraft yes and uh i was certainly not one of the people that believed in ufos these were people that were just you know something
(1:18:27) to laugh at as far as i was concerned so um [Music] i already lost my train of thought well let me put you back in that chair and that night when the interview got done was done what what did you say to the audience that night well that was essentially just admitting that there were nine craft out there that they were actively back engineering and you know attempting to duplicate the power and propulsion system of the craft and that's that's basically about all that was said i mean there were a few details about where it was that was
(1:19:05) enough that's like taking a match and throwing it on gasoline what was the reaction like after that uh well it was it was pretty widespread yeah it went all over the place if you know i had i had seen uh new because they interrupt well i don't know if they interrupted it but it was in the middle of five o'clock news oh yeah a live broadcast and and i've seen that exact broadcast repeated on japanese television and you know in germany so it it made the world fast what was the nickname you used for
(1:19:41) that interview dennis dennis yeah that's right dennis a long time ago now that must have taken great big ones to sit in that chair and say that on television dennis mariani was my supervisor at that time i see um okay so after that story broke um i mean you must you and john probably just sat back and watched the world explode around you well kind of yeah i mean at that time you know john o'leary was out there himself saying that uh there were flying saucers at the test site and you know all kinds of stuff that i thought was pretty silly
(1:20:24) but as it turned out you know he was right i don't know what information source he had at that time but uh he'd been telling you and saying that so i guess maybe maybe that's the reason that you went to john uh as as dragging him along saying hey i got something to show you maybe maybe you just sort of felt as though you owed it to him in some way huh uh maybe i can't i actually can't remember the exact reason but uh it was just the people around me at the time i felt obligated to at least give a peek to wasn't the uh the tester
(1:21:02) the tester company that makes models came out with a model of a ufo of a flying saucer uh quite a unique um scale model of a flying saucer i have one of them and um how much of your input was used to create that money oh 100 100 yeah yeah john andrews from testers just sat down and said hey we want to make a model of this and you want to help us or not i said yeah okay this is it they brought a couple guys in and you know off the top of my head i tried to remember some dimensions and we did some initial drawings and the craft just (1:21:40) didn't look right and he had a couple friends that were i don't quite remember what they were they were skilled in but in any case they were able to get the correct dimensions by me recognizing the sizes of known objects at various distances sure and they kind of you know back engineered it from that and were able to get uh the proper dimensions and when the drawing was done it that did that did look correct and i think i'm more comfortable with the the final drawings and um dimensions they came up with and it was (1:22:19) i think came up like to 52.8 feet in diameter or something like that well when you look at the the tester model today uh does do you look at that and say yup that's what i saw yeah no no question but they they hit the nail on the head with that really yeah yeah that's exactly it how long a process was that for you to accurately finally you know i guess it's like going to a police station and going to a sketch artist and have them finally come up with something that matches you know the person you saw

(1:22:51) if i remember it it took a while um it probably took a month on and off of uh going over drawings drawing the layout over and over again and you know having these these guys look at it and then scale it up and see if it if things fit and but it it did take it did take quite a while all right uh am i right or wrong do you do you really have do you own a a missile silo in roswell new mexico yeah john ferrat and i have uh a project going down there and uh it's it's yeah it's a decommissioned nuclear missile silo just
(1:23:36) outside of roswell and it's not like i wanted a a place outside of roswell it just happened to be where i was oh yeah but how does the prison go about getting a missile silo in the first place i mean who do you approach well i think they're actually on the internet if you type in missile silo there are there are a few left for sale but they are they are pretty neat it's uh i believe the the main where the missile sits is 200 feet deep and uh you know these places are uh quite a deal compared to what the
(1:24:12) government paid for them i think they paid close to 13 million dollars just for the concrete to build these places and it's literally bomb proof you can set a you know a thermonuclear bomb on the door and set it off and still be drinking beer inside for a while why did you want a silo oh it was cool just because it's cool well we also have some other plans for it but uh that you can or can't talk about no i'm really not i'm gonna see um but so this is a full decommissioned nuclear missile silo yeah in roswell
(1:24:54) yeah just not something that uh the average person would have or want and i wish i knew what you were going to do but you just you can't talk about that at all huh well not really i can i can tell you some of the things we're not doing with it we had not launching missiles unfortunately i couldn't find a reload kit for the place but i would certainly have bought one if i could i see all right uh hold that thought we'll be we'll be right back it's top of the hour my guest is bob lazar he does he owns a
(1:25:24) missile silo in roswell new mexico and he'll tell us shortly things that uh well i guess he's not going to tell us he's going to tell us things you can't do with it or he can't do with it or maybe things that he will do with it we'll see what we can pry out of them next [Music] settle down [Music] but you know he's never gonna stop [Music] when you wake up it's a new morning
(1:26:34) the sun is [Music] area code 775-727-1295 the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5030 from west to the rockies call art at 800-618-8255 international callers may reach our bell by calling your in-country's print access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with artbell i liked his after actually why would you own a missile why would you buy a
(1:27:31) missile silo well because it's cool now you see i can understand that answer because it's cool indeed owning a missile silo would be cool bob lazar owns one and he's pretty cool and he'll be right back once again bob lazar bob you said you could describe some things that what you you can't do or well one thing i do have to correct is my partner john ferrat and i are involved in the silo and john has far more invested in it than i do so just to say that it's mine personally so you have it's not part of us
(1:28:18) i guess and in the respect um i mean but did you there's it had to be more well maybe there didn't i i you know i was going to actually put a rocket on my front lawn to impress my neighbors i thought it'd be cool i mean if you're a neighbor and you see a rocket go up in a guy's lawn so do you own a silo for the same reason just for just well you said it's cool it is well now we we actually have some serious plans for it i thought you might and uh you know you don't invest all kinds of money just for the hell of (1:28:49) it but um it's amazing the amount of rumors that start and generally for some reason when my name's involved somewhere all kinds of ridiculous stories pop out of the woodwork but uh i i think even channel 8 carried that story in las vegas um there and in fact when i was down at the silo uh we got a call from the police in roswell oh and they sounded kind of embarrassed and said uh you know we're going to have to come down and check out the facility there and we asked why and there was kind of a hesitation and they said i know this (1:29:28) sounds crazy but you know we have people that actually have come down to the station and said that they believe you're holding alien hostages on your ground in this silo yeah every day and you know because they filed a report they actually went down they're obligated to go check things out so they had to come down and verify that there's no aliens being held hostage in there they actually did that yeah yeah they did that while i was there and um that's a story in itself that got reported i missed that one well

(1:30:02) that was most recently before i moved to new mexico [Music] what had happened was uh just a a random guy drove out there and was planning on committing suicide now of all the places in the world this guy could have gone to kill himself he drove down the road to the silo parked on top of it and set his car on fire or something like that anyway the thing burnt to the ground and the guy was dead and prior to that there's also wild animals antelope cattle whatever in the area and there's been a couple dead cows
(1:30:40) out there so the connection between cattle mutilations and all this stuff started brewing in the mind to some people so somehow it got around that i was developing a death ray in this underground facility and that i had tested it on cattle which is why they were dead and of course a guy came driving down the road and i vaporized his car and killed him and you maintain that none of this is true no of course not all right but it's just amazing the stories that get started well of course you are bob lazar there is a
(1:31:16) certain aura around you and when you connect that with buying a missile silo people's imaginations naturally go berserk well berserk is a good word but but then again you are bob lazar it is a missile silo and to be honest you haven't actually answered my question yet about what you're going to do with it and you say you can't answer that question and you know that's going to feed rumors it's got me thinking okay well all right well i hey you know i just can't help that yeah bob over the
(1:31:55) years um especially in in the in that time period when you were with john and the whole thing was coming down um how much and you've done a number of public interviews several with me how much is left that you can't talk about can't can't can't are unable to concerning the ufo the whole thing yeah information yeah uh not a whole lot but some there's there's just a couple little tidbits and i think i've told you that before there's a couple things that i need and this isn't to burn anybody and hold
(1:32:35) information back but it's in case somebody claims that they were involved with the project or work there there are a couple things that only those people will know and anytime that anybody brings those up when questioned by me i'll know so that's that's the only reason there's there's just a few little bits and pieces of information here and there all righty then then let's go down that road for a second i mean there are other others like you bob who worked out in and saw all of that
(1:33:43) had promised you he would step forward with you well kind of and you know i wonder if it's wise really to comment too much on that because i don't know what barry's situation is now but we had you know we had talked about things but if somebody would come forward and claim they had seen what you saw they also know it to be true because they work there you would have a couple of questions you'd be able to ask them that would verify the authenticity sure instantaneously instantaneously all right now why did you move i mean
(1:34:17) you've been a very long time desert rat uh out here in the las vegas area nearby me and of course uh the infamous area 51 s4 and all the restaurants i mean you lived here so long why'd you move um you know after a while las vegas gets to you i was there and uh certainly working at the test site uh was fascinating and um

a little bit of the work i did there when i initially moved to las vegas but after that um being out of the scientific field i i really went stagnant and really didn't produce or do anything
(1:34:58) that i really considered worthwhile and just needed to get out of the las vegas environment completely and new mexico especially around the albuquerque area you know you have two of the most prominent oh yeah national nuclear labs here los alamos and sandia and you know the cities here are filled with phd scientists and it just feel it felt good to get back into into the mainstream of things and uh you know in the short time i was here in the first 18 months uh i just began to actually produce what i considered decent work i started
(1:35:37) filing for patents and now as you know working on the hydrogen system and uh yeah i want to talk a little bit about that as a matter of fact yeah patents and uh on hydrogen fuel systems and i i know you've had them in your car you've run your car on hydrogen do it for a long time right right um whatever patents you have uh what's this about a swat team coming in and grabbing all of your uh data and computers you know i have to stop you there we can't even touch that one i spoke to my attorney after (1:36:10) uh i sent that out now we gotta totally just not talk about that huh yeah okay uh at any rate now that you're back or you're in new mexico you feel like you're you're doing good work in in your area once again yeah and it's uh yeah i guess it's just a different mindset and also the immediate area that i live in you know moving up isolated and in the mountains in the middle of a forest and you know on a lot of acres of land and is different than living right in the middle of las vegas and you know typically in town so it's just (1:36:51) it's a freer environment and that i'm building my own research lab here and uh i don't know it's it's a lot more fertile ground for for thinking and actually doing something serious well i do get the sense there is still an awful lot you can't talk about you said a couple of things but then we can we keep touching on uh several things that still there's aspects of it that you can't talk about so i would say a lot of your life still is surrounded by having to keep secrets are you good at keeping secrets no i think
(1:37:29) it's been proven pretty well that i can't do that but it drives me crazy because the thing i would love i could spend four hours on the phone more pissed off than you can imagine talking about the swat team thing but i my hands are tied right now oh no i maybe in the future i can say something about no but no attorneys are that way i know when there's ongoing stuff uh and they're right of course ultimately they're right but it does kill you not to be able to talk about something yes it does
(1:37:58) um do you think that you're working on without asking you specifically what you're working on did any of us try it this way did any of your experience at s4 and what you saw and what you learned technically have application in any work that you're either doing now or contemplating yes [Laughter] oh my uh yes um now i'm obligated to ask you about your project what what you envision what you're doing even in general terms can you tell me a little bit about what you're working on well there's a
(1:38:41) there's i actually i'm overburdened with projects in progress [Music] as mentioned as you mentioned the hydrogen fuel systems uh that's actually something i've been working on since the late 70s and that's finally come to fruition and a lot of the materials needed long-term testing and they've certainly had it now um that's probably the biggest okay perhaps you can answer a hydrogen question for me now it's hydrogen is being touted even the president of the united states is touting it as
(1:39:19) the way to go and but there are others bob who say look um this is in a way all foolishness because you know to create hydrogen in amounts that would be good for the public to use you know cell energy cells fuel cells uh would require manufacturing pollution the use of energy in other words all you're really doing is finding a new storage facility and way to store energy that still has to be produced frankly in the old-fashioned way no not really well then lay it on me not really how well first of all there's (1:40:02) there's two trains of thought here the automotive industry the president and his advisors are all going down the fuel cell path and for those that don't know a fuel cell is a device that takes gaseous hydrogen and oxygen combines them and makes electricity and little fuel cell water dribbles out of it because when the hydrogen and oxygen combine that's the only the only by-product is water right and so you can use these in cars or to power homes or whatever right right well you can use these things and that their car of the (1:40:35) future has fuel cells and an electric motor and that's how the car is powered now that's that's very efficient it's around 35 percent efficient okay uh overall and uh that is pretty neat however all the technology is not there the vehicles will be fantastically expensive none really exist right now in in production and what about the billion cars that are on the road now you know what is everybody going to dish out 175 000 for a new car and on top of that they want to just replace gasoline pumps with hydrogen

(1:41:11) pumps and sell you the fuel again all right let's get back to refuting this in other words no matter how it works bob and it's it sounds like you're almost more on the negative than the positive side of this but i mean no matter how it works aren't conventional fuels going to have to be used in copious amounts to produce these cylinders of of uh of hydrogen no i don't how do the systems that i came up with first of all converts a conventional car to burn hydrogen conventionally with how much cost
(1:41:47) well let me get to that in a second the actual conversion is not that difficult not that terribly expensive um i have i have not used any energy producing any of the hydrogen that i make as far as power off the grid fossil fuels or whatnot hydrogen is easily electrolyzed by water you know if you need to prove it to yourself take a 12 volt battery put both wires in the water add a pinch of salt you'll see bubbles coming off of one side well some off the other two that's got to be hydrogen right anyway it's easily
(1:42:20) produced and it can be produced uh with solar panels or a wind turbine i use solar panels that's where all my hydrogen comes from i fill up the corvette with it and we drive 700 miles on it and the car will also run on gasoline all right all right so that's perfected i mean it works right right and it's worked for years and years and years all right let's say i buy a conventional automobile for i don't know 20 30 grand something like that um what would it cost to convert a car like that to hydrogen
(1:42:52) well the big the big hang up right now has been the actual storage medium you don't want to store hydrogen is just a compressed gas because it's dangerous it's flammable and on top of that you need thousands of times more space to hold the hydrogen then you would an equivalent amount of gasoline okay so it just doesn't work right you don't want to store it liquid because that's cryogenic it's dangerous it's just a big thermos bottle in your tank and it's another big headache the the third way
(1:43:25) is the best way and that's a metal hydride and this is a granular material that absorbs hydrogen like a sponge absorbs water and it only releases the hydrogen when it's heated and when it's not being heated i can fire incendiary bullets through the hydride tank and it just smolders like a cigarette so it's extremely safe wow and this is the material that i store the hydrogen in in the vehicles and for home use is this the subject of a patent yes it is yeah now there are various hydride materials and
(1:44:02) some were actually very difficult to get a hold of because some of them like lithium-6 deuteride which is a a hydride actually well the material i use is a hydride the only use for that material is in thermonuclear bombs and it's restricted obviously restricted for sale yeah um and the only reason some of these hydrides are manufactured was for the weapons industry and they're done so in such small quantities the cost was very high for instance to convert the corvette just for the tanks of hydride we were looking at fifteen thousand
(1:44:40) dollars without the hydrogen conversion itself so this is you know that's that's a a pretty large price tag out of line right now right but if if this pro uh whole thing were perfected and you had access to the materials and it were done in mass i'd like to get some idea of what it would cost to convert well we've been working with the hydride manufacturers and uh they promise a 70 reduction in cost in volume production so does that make it viable very much so i mean wouldn't you pay between forty five hundred and six
(1:45:19) thousand dollars to have your car converted you'll have your hydrogen generator at home so you can drive locally and even up to seven hundred miles away on hydrogen and if you want you can always put gas in the tank and the car will switch over to gasoline when uh i've always wanted to know would i need to do that uh it would hydrogen give me the same uh equal amount of horsepower would i be happy with a hydrogen fuel you get a little less you know for instance in a and a larger engine in fact that's the reason
(1:45:52) we converted the corvette was a lot of these alternate fuel cars you see little ford escorts and these little tiny motors and it leaves everybody wondering well can't you power something substantial so he purposely did a large v8 engine and uh yeah it still lights up the tires and you know screams away that there's a little loss in horsepower but in a in a large engine you're not going to detect a 10 loss in horsepower but you're still having a lot of fun though i mean it's uh it's enough horsepower that that (1:46:22) generally most people can be happy campers oh sure and most people are willing to pay that price tag if they never ever have to go to a gas station again and who wouldn't on top of that you're not supporting you know the oil cartel that's right or anything else that's going on or polluting the air all right i'll hold it right there bob has a corvette converted to hydrogen and he's had that for a long time and i guess the rest of the world is yet to come we'll continue to talk with bob lazar

(1:46:51) who knows lots of things we'll see what we can pry from him as the hours continue from the high desert i'm art bell [Music] [Music] okay [Music] hey [Music]
(1:48:19) to talk with art bell call the wildcard line at area code 775-727-1295 the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east of the rockies call toll-free at 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618-8255 international callers may reach out by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option 5 and dialing toll-free 800-893-0903 from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art bell bet on it we'll get questions uh from all of you for bob lazar coming
(1:49:06) up in the next uh hour listen check out my webcam by popular demand i did put up a picture of the tester model i'm holding the tester model for you in case you've never seen it there it is that's bob's accurate recollection of what he saw at area s4 i'm holding in my hands that's on my webcam top left-hand side of the coast coast m.
(1:49:30) com website by the way there may be in fact we know there are other bob lazars out there and if there are i'd like to encourage you to contact me we'll work it out trust me a lot of people get a little older now and perhaps they'd like to talk about the things they saw up there if you would email me my email address is artbell mindspring.
(1:50:00) com that's artbell a-r-t-b-e-l-l mindspring.com so if you're another bob lazar out there and you figure the time is right for you and you want to tell your story i'm your guy that's the way to get me our bell at mindspring.com bob lazar will be right back and by the way i was probably going to screw up my little scenario pleading for some more bob lazars to come forward but out of curiosity uh bob tonight all across uh the world people who have been in involved uh up at area 51 s4 have seen what you have seen these people they're probably
(1:50:41) listening bob a lot of them are listening you can be sure of it actually and so what would you say to these um these people would would you say you know what art's right why don't you go ahead and email them and why don't you come on and tell what you know would you advise them to do that no no i knew you'd screw it up don't tell anybody what you know just take my word for it right now you'd do that i knew it yeah well that that that really is my message just forget it forget it huh just forget it don't
(1:51:17) bother saying anything it's not worth the hassle it's not worth it it's not and for the most part nobody's gonna believe what you have to say anyway so don't don't even think of doing it oh thanks for the help i'm i'm sorry but you asked yeah and i knew i knew i guess what i was in for um okay well i know but still all right but let me take the other side of it bob uh let's fight this a little bit um the there's a lot of people out there like stephen greer who i've on tomorrow
(1:51:45) night and they really do make a compelling damn strong case that gosh darn it all if we've been visited by aliens if they've really been here if we have their craft their technology and even bodies and this is such an incredibly large story so important to the human race that nobody has a right to keep anything like this secret and it should be told it should be out in the open and if these bob lazars don't come in and talk to me and others then how in the hell are we ever going to find out because (1:52:17) you said it yourself the government sure isn't going to tell us yeah and i agree with that completely well then how can you say that [Laughter] from personal experience yeah in other words you're not really a crusader at all are you no you're not no no i'm not involved in ufo research i don't follow the stories i don't do lectures i don't uh i know you don't you know i i don't do any of that stuff you know i i try and put it behind me you know and a lot of people really you know have the drive to get this

(1:52:49) stuff on covered but uh generally those are the people that haven't been involved with anything and uh you know sticking your neck out on the line really does change your life forever and it's it's not a positive thing uh you know people really get the wrong impression they think that you know this is a uh you know a big boost in some way to you and and it's not by any stretch the imagination so i you know why would i recommend somebody do that well a lot of people bob think that uh i mean when they have
(1:53:21) these reality tv shows and people line up for blocks and wait two days through the ice and the cold to get a chance to be you know i have face time on television we do live in that kind of world and so some people suspect your motive is that but um yeah but i hate me being on tv i hate doing interviews and i don't do lectures and all that how could that possibly be my motivation yeah that's right well i i believe me i do understand do you have any knowledge diane up in washington wants to know i get a computer message every now and
(1:53:51) then a lot of them actually yeah do you have any knowledge it's a good question of any agreement between any group of aliens and humans or the us government do you believe that to be true or know it to be true that there is some understanding i i've heard rumors of that uh from various sources but um you know i i don't have any first-hand knowledge of an actual agreement agreement that was cut between anybody uh there's a lot of speculation of course about an agreement to allow some human beings for example to be
(1:54:27) abducted you know for research in return for let's say technology uh and john lear alluded to all that and said that they in essence reneged on that aspect of what was supposed to be a deal of course to make you you know you'd never make that kind of thing public if you had made a deal to shuffle off some of your citizens at random to guys who are going to do god knows what to them chop them up cut them up whatever they do you could never talk about that ever uh i i don't know i find that kind of hard to believe
(1:55:06) um so then john has gone too far for you is that right i'm sure he's listening i'm sure he's with me that john knows he's gone too far for me john's convinced that there are people living on or some sort of being beings living on on venus and some other local planets that's right and that drives me crazy does it it yeah it absolutely does and a bunch of the things he says well he's convinced there are artifacts on the moon gigantic artifacts on the moon and mars um and others have said that as well
(1:55:40) richard c hoagland and others have said there are uh things on on the moon in fact you know what there's speculation that the president of the united states uh mr uh george bush is about to make a speech in which he says he's going to say the united states is going to go back to the moon there's going to be a shuttle mission to go back to the moon i heard that yeah yeah i heard he's supposed to make some sort of announcement and we would do it presumably with a shuttle which is really yeah really how are you
(1:56:13) gonna get the shuttle don't ask me i have no idea but that that's what i'm hearing and and actually i've i've heard mr hoagland say it's possible i mean you know if they used every in other words once i think richard has said or someone said once you get into orbit uh you're halfway to anywhere well sure but if you want to actually get on the moon it's a different story you know the the orbiter wasn't designed to do that at all and in fact it needs to be replaced with something else yeah it's getting
(1:56:44) pretty old yeah still uh that's apparently what's going to be announced i could turn out to be wrong but i don't know of any other spacecraft that we have in uh current production that would get us to the moon do you no but uh you know we do still we do still have a saturn v sitting there saturn five could do it uh well it was designed to do it with a longer module and everything it's sitting there in florida yeah yeah cut the thing off and launch it because they stopped the program right you know you think it'd be
(1:57:14) all right not like old ammunition i mean it's pretty old now well you know it's for the most part you know it's metal and components just sit there with something you know that works don't do what the united states typically does and reinvent the wheel constantly that got us to the moon many times it worked just update it with some modern materials electronics and components and use it since it's there and stop spending huge amounts of money doing nothing what what can you imagine our motivation would be for going back (1:57:47) to the moon i mean we did go most people believe uh something actually i don't think we even went but uh we i believe we went and we got rocks and we didn't get very many surprises and so what could we do on the moon today that we didn't do then that always seemed more sensible to me to to make a small moon base as opposed to a space station oh really why well for various reasons first of all the space station is limited in what it can do i and i know a moon base is much more difficult to get to it doesn't have to be large (1:58:24) but you can at least try uh some and test out some technology on you know i'm trying to manufacture fuel do some small refining see what you can get from the surrounding environment you know there there have been reports i think the i don't know was the cassini some radar mapping craft over the past four or five years detected that there were supposedly large frozen areas of water that's correct on the moon right however they just went over that data again and had another arbiter now are refuting some of that so oh yeah uh

(1:59:00) you know if you've got water you've got energy and you've got the possibility for all kinds of stuff but uh so we're back to a foggy area there may not be enough water there to manufacture fuel which would be a necessity right so uh that would make it uninhabitable if uh if they're completely reversing themselves now it's kind of strange to me a lot of people believe uh bob that there are things on the moon large glass structures incredible things that were hidden from the uh the world when
(1:59:31) we went to the moon and have been hidden ever since and and that that's the reason they say we haven't gone back i believe john is one of the people who believes that yeah he is i'm not one of the people that believes that you are not no no absolutely not then why go back bob exploration you know why go to the top of the mountain you know that's it it's a completely different world now than it was in the 60s there's a lot more technology so there's a lot more we can investigate there you know and the
(2:00:01) original reason to go to the moon was never to research the moon you know aside from beating the russians there the original intention was only to see the feasibility or to investigate the feasibility of making a small base there and launching a mars mission from the moon this was all about going to mars the moon was only supposed to be because it would be easier to get there from the moon less gravity so on and so forth sure and that was just to be looked upon as a you know as a potential launching site for a mars mission so
(2:00:33) that the interest was never in the moon i mean we we pretty much knew it was just a rock up there anyway the interest is it you know has always been in mars but mars isn't that easy to get to unless you had a moon base and that would help well yeah that would help it it's a shortcut and you know you could store fuel there there would be you know if if plans had gone how they should have uh you know maybe we would have already been to mars but i think that's that's the frontier we should look at is
(2:01:04) investigating that or go to go to europa there's plenty of things in our immediate solar system that are you know potentially fascinating and you know europa has probably the best chance of life you know in our solar system and you know even the hardcore skeptics at nasa pretty much agree there's a good chance there's something in the oceans there so but bob if we've got technology that can manipulate gravity and damn it was back in the early 90s when you knew that we had that uh here we are launching whether it's a
(2:01:39) saturn five or a shuttle or however we get back to limp back to the moon um and for what reason i'm not sure about but what whatever um we're using very ancient buggy like technology compared to what you know exists now absolutely absolutely i don't care what spacecraft they've come up with in my eyes they still look like fireworks and they've proven themselves to be that on occasion but it's uh it is it's archaic technology and we do have something that operates differently however it has limited fuel a limited
(2:02:20) life span and we don't want to lose it so it and as far as i knew at the time we couldn't even come close to duplicating even the the most basic parts of the device so it uh you know what are you left with you're left with your own archaic method of transportation to other planets you can only investigate what's going on around you we have been unable to decipher the the manner in which or duplicate the manner in which gravity is manipulated by the devices on on the craft that you saw obviously we've failed or (2:02:59) what i in other words otherwise we'd be using this technology so we failed well quite possibly now again i hesitate because i'm talking about my knowledge from the early 90s and late 80s i don't know what's happened up till today but uh as far as i knew back then yeah we've we failed that's that's the bottom line can't be duplicating that do you think these craft uh when tested were taken outside the earth's atmosphere no you do not no i i know that for a fact for a fact yeah

(2:03:36) i don't i don't well well no go ahead just whisper it in my ear uh yeah i pretty much know that for a fact um why out of curiosity this is what we're getting right real close to one of the areas that i said that i i purposely don't talk about so i know if anybody's been involved with a project which has to do with the craft and where it's gone oh so that that this is why you're hearing my hesitation on that okay well the next thing out of my mouth was going to be why do you think if we thought or
(2:04:19) we well look this is a very valuable article and it's an operating craft i don't know if the other crafts were operating we know this one does there's only one of them so in other words what kind of thing would you risk taking this out of you know of the earth's gravitational pull and losing it in space yeah you feel it's a very good point it's a very good point you know this is their prized possession and you believe we still have that safely wherever by the way do you think it's still up there or do you think it's been
(2:04:50) moved and if so where do you suppose i don't know you know i always thought that that was an odd place to put it because in the uh you know early days of the nuclear weapon development some of the best places that they kept everything were in the south pacific like kwajalein island and and things of that sort and uh it's a good you know that you don't have any lookie-loos there you have no hassles from from anybody you're in the middle of nowhere and nobody can get there without you seeing them what a
(2:05:18) tremendous point and that's where i would have put it i wouldn't have built this secret base in the middle of nevada you know outside of las vegas the and the only reason they moved the nuclear test site to nevada was because it was just too expensive running supplies back and forth and all the personnel to the south pacific well you don't have that problem with the et program because it's limited personnel limited supplies and you know go hide in the middle of the ocean on an island like they did with
(2:05:46) everything else so if i was going to put it somewhere that's where it would be why do you think instead it ended up here in nevada i don't know i don't know i mean because obviously they're going to be more people conceivably seeing what's going on um there's got to be a reason somebody must have you know i mean bob they still drive up to the mailbox people take videos people take pictures so then there's another great theory that you might want to comment on that is that they want there to be a slow time
(2:06:24) release of information they want rumors they want talk about this subject uh for some reason that fits their agenda otherwise put it in the south pacific and you know nobody well there may be some other shortcomings of having it out in the middle of the ocean that you know that we're not thinking of but uh perhaps i i don't know maybe they need lots of supplies to get to deal with this thing and maybe maybe they figured if it crashed it's going to be deep down under the pacific somewhere potentially and we'd lose it
(2:07:00) that way that's quite possible too uh the desert is good for one thing isn't it it's uh you know it's just there and it's fairly arid and you'd definitely be coming down on land if you landed in a strange place anywhere in nevada yeah yeah so you maybe your original point is actually the reason it could be that they wouldn't want to risk losing the one model they've got then do you figure they're still working on trying desperately to back engineer this or do you think by now
(2:07:33) they've done it it's been a long time i would hope they have made some substantial progress in 10 years but um you know if you don't have access to exotic materials uh then what are you going to do no fuel and that's you know it's like like i said before being you know back in the 1800s and if you want to make something out of plastic you know all you can do is look at it and say hey this is really neat but you know how do we make this stuff and yeah hold on hold on we're at the top of

coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art bell we love you baby because we do we're (2:10:12) going to let you talk with bob lazar in a moment if you'll stay right where you are the forum the questions are directly ahead by the way tomorrow night we'll give uh dr greer what i now call the lear test we'll give him the lear test and i just can't let go of that ever since john said what he said on this program i can't let go of it for some reason anyway coming up in in a moment bob lazar is going to attempt to answer your questions so uh i guess what i would say is uh prepare yourself bob because you never know
(2:10:58) what's going to come all right it's it's it's fun bob don't don't worry it's actually it's fun what's the john lear test by the way oh what's the john lear test uh it's really cool uh to use your phrase john uh took me to a briefing in essence he said art imagine you're going to this briefing and i'm going to lay the briefing out for you showing you slides and um you know putting things on the blackboard and i'm going to explain to you everything the united states and world
(2:11:32) governments have ever done regard the whole et issue and you tell me at the end of it if you would say okay make it all public okay yeah this is what you had touched on before okay yeah and uh you know at the end of it i said no i wouldn't oh really oh absolutely and uh i am now that really intrigues me why would you say that because because some of the things that john said are so far beyond the pale that the religious implications the social implications uh the fact that i do believe people would go to go berserk i mean completely berserk it
(2:12:18) would take down our government it would disturb the world it would disturb the force it would be you really think people would really wouldn't be able to handle this well you've got to remember now that the test was given from the john lear perspective and remember that john believes a lot of things to be true that you don't right i am quite aware and so to take the john lear test you've got to take what he says as gospel in other words here's what some of the terrible things we've done really terrible things
(2:12:52) would you make it public and if you had to assume that everything he said there is correct i guarantee you i'll i'll bet you you'd come up with the same answer so well yeah i come up with the same answer without that but i mean i truly hope everything john lear believes isn't true but uh me too oh me too believe it i have been proven wrong before about many other things so who knows all right are you ready yeah sure okay here we go uh west of the rockies you're on there with john lear hello no bob lazar uh bye
(2:13:27) i've got john on the mind here bob lazar how you doing hi art hi bob hey there howdy what's pleasure to talk to both of you it's been a while since i talked to you art well glad to have you back um bob i just missed meeting you by day one time and i regret that um that was down in nevada no okay um i was wondering if you knew about a material called starlight um it was supposedly created by a couple of scientists but i've always had suspicions it was um you know alien technology starlight what is this material sir well a
(2:14:08) physicist told me about this material it's like two liquid plastics and when you put it together it forms an indestructible solid a nuclear blast won't touch it nothing will destroy it have you heard of such material bob no i'm i i'm pretty skeptical about a claim like that that uh well it's not supposed to be classified and it came came from a pretty reliable source and also john wanted me to ask you about the orange crate in the crater copper nicus wanted you to ask me about the orange grade
(2:14:43) right the crate on the moon john who learned john lear yes that's correct oh okay i know what you're talking about he showed me a picture one time and there was a perfectly square object on a on a moon picture and said well what's this orange crate doing there and we were arguing about uh you know some of the images from the moon and this these grainy little things with a couple dots and john was claiming well that's just the reflection from a giant uh you know glass dome over so-and-so and uh but anyway he did have some
(2:15:13) pictures that you know i couldn't explain but well you know bob uh and some of what john says is pretty wild i mean there's no doubt about it but on one hand bob you're somebody who's actually seen alien craft most of us haven't so to have seen what you've seen uh are the things then john says really so crazy yes well i mean you see a lot of people would say flying saucers we got them you've seen them aw come on that's crazy right that's i know that's crazy and maybe it makes me a (2:15:51) hypocrite for saying so but uh that's look i am the first one to admit that if somebody came forward to me with my identical story and laid everything in my lap i'm not sure i'd buy it so i i can't expect anything else from anybody else and in fact i almost prefer people don't believe it because then i get hassled less about it martin martin in san rafael says and i think this is accurate and why i love interviewing you it says lazar continues to be the most credible witness of all straightforward direct (2:16:25) not self-serving no books tapes no website nothing to sell he just describes what he saw reluctantly at that he makes a believer of this skeptic so in that way you really do sell your story i mean you're so damn low profile about all of this like you don't want it well it's not a business i'm just relaying you know what happened to me at the time and and that's it you know that that's the end of the story and uh you know where it's gone and why the you know how all this stuff came about is beyond my scope of knowledge

(2:17:03) and i don't profess to know anything that i you know haven't been exposed to but uh you know i will stand on what i have seen and i've got that but i mean as incredulous as it sounds um why not br believe other incredulous things i mean if there are saucers here if there were bodies recovered if we actually have aliens then certainly some of the stories about aliens could easily be true well and and maybe so but but you don't know what i'm spoiled i had some things verified to me and had hands-on experience i got to touch him i
(2:17:42) got to see him i got to analyze them and said okay this is real now for the layman or research or whatever that hasn't everything is in the same category to them it's all conjecture you know yet i've had some things proven to me and i hold on to those like an anchor okay i know this is real but i don't know about anything else i don't know if betty and bernie hill were abducted but they have a compelling story i don't know if the roswell crash occurred but that's a compelling story
(2:18:09) some of the stories you hear are totally totally illogical and don't make sense and to me they fit in the category you know you try and maintain an open mind and remain scientific about it but they're you know you have prejudices in either direction you know as most intelligent people do and uh you know they're you know i don't believe everybody that says they were abducted were was abducted um but they might have been how would i know it's just my own personal beliefs no of course not i i don't i don't
(2:18:38) believe it all either bob or even i might even go as far as say large chunks of it that i don't believe but but um some of this i do believe is true and based on what you saw and you know to be true then it's not too hard to imagine that there was interaction we might not know the exact parameters of that interaction but there was interaction with aliens chances are there was in some way shape or form over you know over a period of time by the way on another note i you know i get so many emails about this
(2:19:14) um apparently in some other show and i just got three more recently yeah some other show you spoke to somebody a female that said they claimed that i took her out to area 51 and showed her around that's right does this ring of lps oh absolutely i remember that this is the most ridiculous story i've ever heard so that didn't happen either huh as if they allow visitors to top secret security and still that's absurd who would even claim something like that no yeah in either case that's you know
(2:19:50) it's just one of the another one of those knuckleheads that uh just likes to hear themselves talk for some reason ah okay um as a matter of fact i had an email from this person just uh yesterday bob really yes she imagines quite a relationship with you oh really oh yes yes not not true though no first time caller line you're on here with bob lazar yoho okay um i'm calling because i'm a physics student and uh all right speak up good and loud oh okay that's better i'm uh i'm calling about the
(2:20:28) gravitational um amplifier system i'm interested in this because i'm a physics student and i was thinking that kind of at the forefront of physics research now is kind of a push to detect gravitational waves and which is a tough thing to do and probably ultimately discover the gravitational particle the graviton and i was thinking about this three-pole system that you described as very directional and maybe maybe a gravitational current is involved i was wondering if that maybe hints at why we can't figure out what is going on (2:21:09) there um you have any thoughts on that well this is more of the research i wanted to conduct while there while i wanted to get down to the hardcore research and gravity and and how the energy propagates by itself and by the way i don't i don't believe there are gravitons i don't believe there's particles involved i don't believe it it's even a wave particle duality you know like light photons are i you know i think this is well i it's it appears to be more of a wave effect and exactly how it propagates

(2:21:46) is at least i don't personally understand that it almost seemed to propagate as microwaves did since any time inside the craft the gravity uh the base of gravity wave was rooted anywhere from the reactor to the amplifiers it always traveled inside tuned pipes so uh again that implies at a specific frequency you should have some sort of gravitational effect if it's just a basic you know carrier wave of some sort but you know that that doesn't appear to be true so it's something it's something more than that
(2:22:22) well we know don't we that the microwave can be carried in like oblong tubes right waveguide right exactly wave guides so that's what connected the reactor to the uh the skin of the craft and ultimately to the so then whatever that whatever the nature of this wave is you could imagine it like microwave because it was carried according to your physical description kind of the same way right but if it's just a basic wave you know you could just set up a high frequency oscillator and then as you slowly increase the frequency you get
(2:22:53) different effects you know you'll get microwave you get it it's all part of the electromagnetic specs spectrum and you get x-rays and whatever you should just run into gravity at some point but but you don't so there's there's something else there but they were they were so concerned about the actual application of it they weren't really concerned about you know the research into the the basics of it which you know probably if it would have been done that way when i was there i at least i think it would have given us a
(2:23:22) clue at least a better clue of how to use it and how to duplicate it but again you think bob don't you that uh they're now per still if they haven't done it they're certainly pursuing it you wouldn't give up on something like that would you are you kidding not a chance not a chance i'm sure just tremendous amounts of money are being funneled into this and so then i'm sure they continue to hand pick specific people that they can think anyway are going to keep their mouths closed and uh you know be involved with it but
(2:23:51) uh i there was a frustration even when i got there by the way i wonder what happened to the person that picked you that's a good question hey caller caller anything else uh yeah actually i was wondering if if bob has it i'm sorry mr lazar i shouldn't bob is fine i was wondering if you have any thoughts as to the propagation speed of the wave we know light travels at a certain speed right um or at least we assume it's a constant speed do you think um you think that gravity is different good good
(2:24:24) question yeah excellent question because for all in from all indications the propagation is instantaneously and i know that it upsets everything but remember gravity in itself distorts time and space and every way we attempted to measure the propagation from the reactor base to the emitters themselves there was no delay at all and so i believe that i don't know if the wave is actually propagating instantly or the fact that it's a gravitational wave is distorting the time space around it and making it appear
(2:25:01) as it's an instantaneous propagation but that's those are the results that we got bob you said you actually measured no delay at all how carefully was that measured i mean no delay at all is quite a statement to make uh you could measure this right so right there there was there was no delay at all and we uh again envisioned other potential uses you know here's a look at communication to mars is still a flat 20 minutes between our little robot orbiters and things of that sort uh you know here you have the potential if in fact
(2:25:41) there is instantaneous propagation of gravitational waves uh you know here's uh a fantastic communication device where there's no delay where you can talk in real time at great distances so the uh you know obviously there's just tremendous implications of this technology even time travel it's it's possible you know gravity distorts time and and if gravity if the speed of gravity which is not defined is faster than light then you certainly have time travel based on that alone well you know like they say time travel is a
(2:26:15) lot more common than you think time travel in the future the future happens all the time all you have to do is stand there is stand on a high mountain go into a spacecraft travel fast you do slip nanoseconds into the future time travel backwards is debatable whether or not that's even possible well we're off on a tangent caller and any final thing uh i guess there's one other thing um you notice you uh you mentioned in element 115 i'm assuming that's atomic mass number and that's i think that goes further

(2:27:21) other nuclear materials and there was no success in that so there is something very unique about the fuel and specifically what it is you know on an atomic scale we were only just beginning to look into that so bob i heard some rumors about uh some kind of speculating about or perhaps lab work going on something surrounding element 115 it's just i between when you told your story and now sometime or another i remember hearing about some legit science dabbling with a concept of 115 or something i can't remember yeah i
(2:28:01) believe it was the lab for heavy ion research in darmstadt germany and at the time they were on the cutting edge of coming up with new elements and i they were they were shooting for producing element 115 at one point and they were using a new technique instead of bombarding something with neutrons they were just slamming nuclei together and somehow it was fusing into heavier elements but i don't think they they reached it and in fact i don't know if it was the same lab but uh somebody found out that there was false
(2:28:39) data i mean the last heavy element that was claimed that might have been 113 what do we think what do we think the uh the properties of this element would be generally well that's hard to predict i mean we certainly observed some unique properties of it it's it's incredibly heavy and incredibly dense um aside from that it uh the way the reactor worked in the craft was like a small accelerator and it constantly bombarded the 115 which transmuted and immediately decayed and that's when it produced its gravitational pulses and as
(2:29:14) a byproduct it produced a tremendous amount of heat and outside this one okay all right we're at the bottom power hold on uh this is really good stuff bob lazar is my guest but yeah john lear is on my mind the test tomorrow night for dr greer [Music] you've is seen woman [Music] oh [Music] seasons
(2:30:22) [Music] wanna take a ride to talk with art bell call the wildcard line at area code 775 [Music] the first time caller line is area code 775-727-1222 to talk with art bell from east to the rockies call toll-free three 800-825-5033 from west of the rockies call 800-618-8255 international callers may rechart by calling your in-country sprint access number pressing option five and dialing toll-free zero nine 800-893-0900 three from coast to coast and worldwide on the internet this is coast to coast am with art bell well for sure fascinating stuff
(2:31:23) bob lazar man who's had hands on with alien craft hands-on with area of alien propulsion uh element 115 that's another story that he can't quite totally talk about nor will john lear in a moment we continue with bob stay right where you are from the mountains of new mexico directly to you and with you right now here is bob lazar bob you ready for more sure yeah these are pretty good p and you were in the middle of uh i i don't want to miss out on anything else you'd like to say about the propulsion system and how element 115
(2:32:09) was acting in the process you know i was on a roll at the minute and now i can't go well you remember you said it was bomb it was it was hitting element 115. oh how the reactor operated i just like drifted on to that and yeah the 115 itself was bombarded uh released in some way shape or form releases a pulse of a gravitational wave and kind of as a byproduct releases a tremendous amount of heat and that heat is converted to electricity which runs the craft however there's no wiring or any conventional
(2:32:47) uh connectors or controls or anything of that sort on the grass but uh all incredibly fascinating and you know to a scientist it's a dream come true so yeah yeah sure in some respects i i regret the way things turned out but uh i don't know maybe eventually we'll all find out what's going on yeah i i wonder uh i really wonder as the world grows short of oil and the wars are raging because of it and we prepare to go back to the moon maybe in the shuttle of all things uh i don't know it just (2:33:24) seems like if all of this really is there and yet and yet i guess the answer is that you suggest we have as of well the date you knew anyway not been successful in the back engineering attempt so we don't have it down yet or if we do for some reason we're not willing to begin to release i mean you'd think uh they could do it through industry you know sort of sliding things slowly into industry as some development or something just to get it into the economy possibly and maybe that's already been done

(2:33:58) but um every time somebody points at something you know there is also conventional explanations for we really haven't seen anything you know incredibly amazing pop up we see the improvements over products here and there and uh you know a couple things but there really hasn't been any quantum leaps you know in recent times well you may recall if you ever heard colonel corso's story before he passed on that he suggested that's exactly how a number of things made it from the roswell crash to modern industry
(2:34:29) pretty interesting stuff wild card line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hello yes hi okay uh hi art hi bob how are you there speak up good loud sir okay um this is alan from colorado and i have three questions so i hope you can bear with me all right my first question is is uh if aldrich ames of the cia can go to jail for so many years um because he revealed government secrets um how is it that bob um you know was able to pull this off and then my second okay well let's do them one at a time uh bob uh
(2:35:06) pretty good question um if you'd been revealing secrets of the magnitude that we've been talking about tonight uh well of course uh i swear i can answer what would you tell me for you know i know when somebody gives away you know secrets satellite secrets or other technology secrets and you know that information has to be brought out so okay you're gonna take me to court and say okay you release the information what did he release oh well secret stuff well what you know they you're not gonna trick them
(2:35:39) into admitting what they're trying to keep secretly on something of this magnet exactly so uh so i guess i would answer that caller i mean after all if they charged him with something they would simply underscore everything he said next question okay the next question is are there not simpler ways to create gravitational propulsion effects um you know like with scalar waves possibly i mean i mean we're talking element 115.
(2:36:08) this whole procedure seems so exotic and so advanced can we not worry about what we have now there have been great there have not been gravitational waves produced in any other method and there are claims as such all over the place and people say you can do it with these mercury engines i've heard scalar waves i've seen you know all of that data the bottom line is it's not real next okay last question um t townsend brown uh john searle victor shawberger with his vortex technology john keel otis t carr
(2:36:46) all these researchers which this relates to the second question and i think i know how you're going to answer it um how do you feel about what they've and so-called contributed to gravitational propulsion technology contributed where where is it show me one bring it down here i'll even fly and see it every time i've wasted my time on that looking at everybody that's claimed any of that stuff it's never panned out it's like perpetual motion yeah there's plenty of claims and you know people want you know looking for
(2:37:19) funding to research this or do that and you know for the most part not for the most part there is no device of any sort that can create a gravitational wave now and go ahead and prove me wrong other than what was that as for damn you are such a reasonable person no but that's that's a fact please prove me wrong check out what you're going to claim with you all the way but you you see that that's what makes your other claims so damn legit in my mind just like that person who fast blasted me geez
(2:37:55) louise in every other way you're so now that i'm i'm not belittling these people that are doing this work you know d dom's and brown many others were brilliant people doing work and i think a lot of the things they observed have other explanations yes and uh you know just because something lifts off the ground does not make it gravity propulsion but gravity propulsion i define as something that's acting directly against gravity and i don't mean being lifted by electrostatic forces something like that something
(2:38:27) that's actually counteracting your skepticism everywhere else just uh is so strange in light of what you say uh to the rest of us he's look i barely believe my own story happens to me you said how big of a skeptic i am he's to the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar hello bob it's nice speaking of both of you and to you sir where are you okay yes for over 20 years i've been within the research of exobiology i don't want to mention any names but my ex-father-in-law who was with the cia (2:38:59) at groom lake before he died of agent orange he asked me if there's anything i would like to know about area 51 and i said yes is the government cover-ups of ufos and et's true he said yes because he stood guard several feet away within one of the hangar bays guarding ets from the ufo that was being brought from one place to another but this person is your dad has passed on yes he passed away see he was all fed up with the government for what they were doing to him because he spent so much time in the service and all that you know with them

(2:39:34) that they wouldn't do any more for him and so he just said the heck with it yeah they have a pretty bad record of taking care of their own people right but uh yeah you find a lot of people as they come you know close to the end of their lives look what happened with the jfk thing you know just if enough time goes by people become more comfortable releasing what they know yeah well that's why i said there there's got to be other bob lazars out there and there surely are so um you take the very moral position
(2:40:04) that you'd rather see them not come back for their own sakes then come back and and verify your story oh abs absolutely if you're listening don't listen to art don't say anything let's do the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar hello hello uh this is bob in beaverton listening to kex yes sir uh i want to know uh bob have you ever heard of the work of jerry gallimore who under certain conditions could see gravity no never heard that before okay uh the way he did it uh was um doing the old uh
(2:40:41) high school uh science class project just lay a bar magnet on a table and put the paper on and sprinkle the iron filings on it so you can see the magnetic lines of force okay but jerry was a native american and something of a shaman and around the center point of that magnet he could see a halo of energy uh that was gravity okay and here is where the why did they think it was gravity the metaphysical meets uh science well regardless he thought that so i do you ever wonder about that at all bob i mean the entire metaphysical world uh maybe it's all hui
(2:41:22) and maybe it's another one where you can say prove it to me first but boy i'll tell you there's some good stories out there i hear them all the time about things that we simply really don't understand regarding the afterlife i'm sure that that is true you know to to be to be so bold to say that why we have science handled and we pretty much know what's going on and everything's cut and dry and you know that is so far from the truth we you know we are even at the tip of the iceberg as far as
(2:41:55) knowledge about everything around us and you know talk about the metaphysical stuff we really have no idea what's going on and a lot of these things that you know people think are silly you know and the things that i i may laugh at may actually turn out to be true so there's gonna be a place to keep an open mind there's gonna be a place bob where the metaphysical or something in the metaphysical square on meets science and science suddenly will say oh my god there is another side or oh my god we really now suddenly have proof to
(2:42:28) some degree of a soul some way to prove something in the metaphysical who knows what it might turn out to be but somewhere science and metaphysical will suddenly meet i predict it um first time caller line you're on the air with bob lazar hello hi this is ken in salt lake and i'm just loving your program you guys are both wonderful thank you i have an observation and a question uh the observation is in in carta in microsoft and carter in the encyclopedia there's a reference about element 115 if you go into
(2:43:02) 1976 look under physics 1976 it talks about element 115 as being present in a meteorite that came into the earth's atmosphere and also the heavier elements wait a minute where was this again i'm in in carta yeah which is the i guess that's the uh what is it the encyclopedia that you get for your computer from microsoft microsoft and carto and you go to 1976 where underneath you're talking about a meteor that had element one 115 and they met they were able to measure it and deduce that it had element 115 in it
(2:43:40) and also uh the other reference is for 116 through about 124 at the end of the article it says they were measured in micah schist that was in africa wow so in micros uh micah schist which is i guess a rock formation there is uh there's trace when they bombard it with a van de graaff generator at high energy gives off a pattern of uh of atomic uh some signature that shows that those elements were there the logic is there they talk about it well wow that's really interesting right now this is an isn't in carta we're not

on uh it comes from microsoft right microsoft software program and what did you look up to under physics 1976 all right great at the bottom of the article it's in there uh the reference okay the other question i have the only question i have all right stop for a second uh out there if somebody would be so kind as do the research email it to me i'll have it by tomorrow
(2:44:44) night continue sir okay uh let's see one other question that is i heard the rumor that somebody had tried to open one of the reactors somewhere on the facility there somebody made that suggestion and there was a atomic explosion underground do you know anything about that yeah i heard that and i heard that officially too oh oh really yeah yeah that was one of those things that was told to me in fact that was one of the reasons why i worked there because i was allegedly replacing one of these people so the previous (2:45:13) bible desire got a little too close to what was going on apparently and from from what i recall from the story i believe it was in march and i don't remember the date but it was it was uh announced as a nuclear test and there is a corresponding date for that test and what they have listed as the test is completely false information that was the detonation of the reactor at the test site um the detonation so it exploded with the force of you say they announced it as a it was a low-yield task you know as they
(2:45:52) remember they used to do that in las vegas sure i used to announce it you know get off high buildings that kind of stuff right they they'd always tell you in advance but uh anyway the that data is on their site not about what it was but that date and i don't remember it when march i'm sure george knapp were one of those guys that do you know anything about the nature of the um uh the explosion the uh yeah i know it was the intention was well the frustration was with the reactor at that point and for whatever reason somebody had the
(2:46:22) bright idea well let's try and open it while it's operating oh really yeah oh my extra smart guys working on this problem so they took this uh they they took the one of the prototype not the prototype rag is one of the reactors from one of the other craft and by the way they all looked exactly the same not the craft but the reactors and they uh took it to the nuclear test site and it was done remotely underground and the people monitoring it i apparently were too close and they didn't they didn't realize the
(2:46:58) explosion was you know going to be that large and it did and again this isn't something i witnessed this is something i was told but it was something i was told while i was out at the site so it just has another notch of authenticity because i heard it out how many uh people allegedly lost their lives in this do you know i don't i don't recall it wasn't it wasn't like there were a lot of people there you know two or three people from what seems to stick in my mind but i i can't say that
(2:47:24) for sure i don't recall i i i did hear that exact story i'll be doggoned i had never heard any of that all right uh wild card line you're on air with bob lazar hello yes uh my name is ben i'm just outside of boston okay and uh i've got a question going back to bob's comments about running his car on hydrogen okay fire away okay um over the last bunch of years nexus magazine has run at least a couple of articles about running one's car on hydrogen using electrolysis in other words generating the hydrogen
(2:48:03) on board on demand and i just some people i've spoken to about it say it's a ridiculous idea that it's impossible that it would take i'm one of those people really more energy it's not happening you can't crack water that fast oh really yeah the if you can't because there's a god unless you're carrying a nuclear power plant behind you you you just can't water doesn't come apart that fast and and there are flash ways in fact that i met a physicist from sandia labs here and was
(2:48:37) talking to him and they have uh this neat device that kind of works on a plasma pulse and and cracks water at much higher volume than electrolysis in fact the guy emailed me reason emailed me recently that has something that does that with a hydrocarbons but uh as far as you know driving a car and having and producing hydrogen by electrolysis from water at a volume great enough to keep the car running oh never gonna happen so it just takes so you you you are uh required really to generate the hydrogen at some other time some other place and (2:49:14) then pipe it into the car and store it you can't our product is a small hydrogen generator kind of like a dishwasher uh sits in your garage solar panels and it takes two to three days to fill the tanks because it it you it takes a lot of energy and it takes a long time to do it now there are faster ways but you know they consume more power and well some don't better more complicated don't use water so on and so forth ours is a low cost just uses connects to the water line uses solar panels and slowly cranks

(2:49:44) out hydrogen and you can over a period of two to three days fill the tanks in your car and then you know you can drive 700 miles ideally you'd have several sets of tanks and just fill them and and whatnot but uh that's it's the only way to do it i've been playing with hydrogen fuel systems since you know the the late 70s and uh that you just can't make it fast enough huh call her a few seconds uh well i'm all set you're happy all right thank you thank you thank you and uh take care and i'm afraid that uh time
(2:50:18) is sleeping by and no it has slipped by and the end of the program is here so hey bob man what a great program again every time you come on it's a great program hey always great to talk to you all and uh maybe next time you're here i'll give you the uh the lear test anyway anyway listen thanks for being here huh hey thank you thanks again art take care and good night thank you he always he's a totally excellent interview anytime you talk to him bob lazar from the high desert middle of the night i'm art bell
(2:50:52) see you tomorrow night bye [Music] is [Music]

(00:00) this comes from the associated press are you ready an unidentified wingless object traveling at high speed passed dangerously close to a swiss air jetliner a 747 a boeing 747 a flying between philadelphia and boston according to the airline on friday the pilot and co-pilot gave us investigators different descriptions of the object that passed about get this folks 50 yards from the boeing 747 after it had taken off from philadelphia on august 9th the pilot told the us national transportation safety board that the
(00:41) object was uh long and wingless co-pilot said it was more spherical the incident took place at 23 000 feet the plane's final destination was zurich switzerland that is from the associated press so it looks like a 747 just had a close encounter with something all right here we go bob lazar is the ex-government scientist who in 1989 came forward with the fact that he had been part of a team of scientists who back engineered extraterrestrial discs flying saucers in other words at a base known as s4 some 15 miles south of the infamous area
(01:34) 51 of groom lake bob's story is the main reason behind the state of nevada changing the name of nevada state highway 375 the highway to area 51 or s4 to its new name the extra terrestrial highway deed bob currently runs a company that manufactures and repairs alpha radiation detectors he also creates cgi computer generated graphics and simulations for technical and legal demonstration videos for which he uses his mainframe super computer which by the way is the second fastest computer in the state of nevada second only to (02:22) the one at nellis air force base bob also has a small photo processing lab in his home in his spare time bob does pyrotechnical and rocket research and throws desert blast his annual fireworks blowout at the nevada desert and if memory serves he also fools around with alternative fuels for cars he comes this morning with gene huff bob's long time friend and business partner who is the writer and co-producer of the lazar tape jean is a real estate appraiser and screenwriter his screenplay s4 the bob lazar story
(03:09) has recently been optioned and was chosen over three other screenplays on the lazar story written by writers jim cressen i guess that's right croissant or crescent who wrote the morning after with jeff bridges and jane fonda roy carlson who wrote china moon with ed harris and madeleine stowe and david robbie i guess it would be rob a robe who wrote casualties of war with sean penn and michael j fox and co-wrote the firm with tom cruise and gene hackman so this is quite a coup obviously for an entry-level screen writer
(03:51) but then again gene has had the inside track uh good morning mob are you there i'm here and uh gene are you there yes sir right uh welcome to you both thank you bob is it really true uh it had to have been four maybe five years ago that i interviewed you uh in concert with uh john lear you know i honestly don't remember that my friends tell me i have about the worst memory that can be had but uh from what i recall years ago i remember john lear apparently booking me on your show and never telling me about it oh yeah i (04:33) remember that but i don't and then i really don't remember ever doing the show no there was a time maybe even a couple of years before that when we had you on for a short while all right i think he called in uh that was it that was he called in when lear was on the show that's what it was yes yes well i don't even remember that but i'll take everyone's word for it all right well in fact we now have such a gigantic audience out there that hardly anybody knows who you are uh bob except for of course you know you

(05:04) ufologists and so forth who would be very familiar with your story so the great majority of the audience 99 have no idea who bob lazar is now i guess that means we have to begin at the beginning with regard to how you well first of all bob you're a physicist correct or was at the time was at the time yeah um how did you become involved with or begin to get involved with whatever it is out there at area 51 or is specifically s4 well let me try and give you the reader's digest version some years ago i was working at los (05:54) alamos national labs in new mexico one particular day i was going down to the lecture hall to hear edward teller speak who as most people know as the father of the hydrogen bomb yes i got down there a little early because i wanted to get in uh assuming there was going to be a crowd of people and actually to my surprise there's hardly anyone there coincidentally that day the local newspaper in town the monitor had printed a front page article on me and right outside the lecture hall was dr teller reading the front page of the (06:39) paper so i thought it was a perfect opportunity to introduce myself and just say hi absolutely um it was just a casual meeting and um the only reason i bring it up is years later i had moved out of los alamos after i quit working for the lab i opened up my own business that did some contract work for the lab and also started a one hour photoshop for my wife uh that she ran there uh we later moved out of los alamos to las vegas and again some time later i decided you know i had missed working in the scientific community so i decided to get back in (07:19) and send out resumes uh i sent them out really all over the place to uh the places where i'd essentially like to live a little more i really don't remember where else but one of the other resumes i sent was to dr teller's attention and i had referenced our meeting back then uh a short time later i got a call from him and he did remember me to my surprise and said we might have a position you're interested in i said great i went down and was interviewed at that time there were a couple uh eg g buildings by mccarran airport
(08:04) uh out here i recall las vegas um i really don't know what's there now someone tells me there's still one building but there used to be two before they expanded the airport one of special projects and i don't know what the other one was but in either case i was told to go down there for an interview the interview was relatively short and i really don't remember specifically what the job entailed but they told me i was basically overqualified and would become bored with it in a short time i said fine but they said we might have (08:35) something else in the future for you i said fine okay and basically went back home figuring they had blown you off right um i really don't remember what the job was but it didn't really even sound too exciting to me so i it really didn't you know really didn't ring my belly recall anything about a technician level or something that would have been boring i really don't you know remember this uh when i when i go through most of this stuff people are amazed you know boy how come you can't remember these facts you
(09:07) know this is a you know fantastic point in your life and yeah yeah but you know it's also a decade old now and it's hard to remember specifics here and there however um as it turned out they did call back and had another position um the position was stated to be something that was involving uh a field propulsion system which to me in my mind sounded something along the lines of uh some electromagnetic propulsion uh something that might be used in space maybe uh i don't know an ion drive system using mercury vapor or (09:46) something like that or you you you've always been fascinated by propulsion systems anything anything with you know it exerts tremendous amount of energy from you know explosives to uh you know high-energy weapons anything along those lines propulsion and uh they um and coincidentally the article that dr teller was reading was about a car that i had converted to run on a jet engine now you see i remembered that and then you you converted another one i believe to run on hydrogen didn't you

yeah actually i'm really surprised (10:22) that you remember that i don't remember i have a that is one of the number one things i get asked about i know i have a good memory book um um but in either case i i um after a more or less lengthy interview i um accepted the job and of course i had to go back a second time can you remember any of the details of this rather lengthy interview i mean was a lot of it secure or security oriented well there were certainly a lot of secure security oriented questions and so forth later on however keep in mind that i had just come from (11:04) los alamos just a few a couple years before that's true uh where i had q clearance civilian you know top secret clearance uh so and lady really didn't have to go and dig deep back into my past to see if i was you know of russian descent or anything along those lines so um basically the job just seemed like a uh you know typical research and development job i was anxious to get started on it and uh things went on they all they told me is that it was in a remote area out in the desert and um that i would initially i would fly out
(11:42) there maybe once possibly twice a week just to kind of get caught up on stuff and they had to reinstate my clearance which would take you know perhaps a couple weeks maybe a month at the latest sure and um so in the meantime i was given busy essentially busy work to do or at least that's how it rang in my mind and this is typical too at los alamos you know if uh you're initially hired there before your clearance goes through sometimes you know obtaining two clearance can take up to 13 months so they don't just have you sit at home
(12:19) you'll you know before you go to work for the lab sit around and work on alarm systems or something like that doesn't you know uh something usually below your potential but uh something to keep you busy that rings true i was in the air force they did that to us all the time yeah it's pretty it's pretty common so i thought well this you know very typical i had no idea what this would actually entail until i got into it and obviously they looking through their eyes i guess it it made sense that they couldn't they
(12:53) couldn't of course divulge what this job had would actually entail before they had uh you know gone through all the security uh and whatnot but um you know that's essentially how the job came about all right one thing that i would think you would remember is your impressions of mr teller i do as far as what well what kind of guy was he you know just simple questions what kind of guy was he he was um he seems to have two faces you know which is strange in talking to him uh one on one he's a very polite
(13:37) pleasant intelligent man um however virtually any interview you'll see of this guy he comes across as the most pompous mean person you have ever run into in your life pomp is in me um i don't know how else to describe him but um he was not nearly as short uh not physically speaking but i mean uh you know if you see him in interviews you'll see him answer questions specifically to the point short and on to the next question and not be very talkative not offer any information you know other than what you're immediately talking
(14:21) about and in person he was certainly not that way so he's you know the exact opposite very pleasant and willing to talk about anything let's talk about it in nuclear weapons or anything uh well that's what i was going to ask about last night i interviewed professor michio kaku uh never heard about a very um preeminent physicist uh back at new york university and he too has worked with uh professor teller and i asked professor kaku why he had not participated in the hydrogen bomb development and he said he simply chose not to he
(14:59) wanted to go into a different direction with physics and had quite a bit to say about edward teller and apparently he was consumed during the cold war years with national security you know with the being concerned about national security and uh this is uh dr teller you're talking yes uh-huh and developing uh bombs and in fact even today the programs go on i guess with the third generation of uh hydrogen bombs sort of designer bombs professor kaku said anyway that's why i asked you about edward teller listen uh everybody hold (15:39) tight we're at the bottom of the hour and we'll be right back uh bob lazar and jean huff are my guests and the story that you're about to hear unfold will curl your hair i'm art bell this is coast to coast am [Music] now back to bob lazara and jean huff gentlemen you're back on the air again all right bob uh so you you got the job you landed the job and they had you doing busy work and then well not that busy work hasn't started um that's what i thought was gonna happen uh instead um where did we leave off um (16:30) well actually with busy work they were kind of well it's you know he had anticipated busy work but now you had to go to work the first day yeah essentially i i guess essentially it was to get caught up uh with what was going on and really to my surprise the security was a little more than oppressive um you know generally you're just assigned a badge and showing the general procedures and and things of that sort [Music] this was a little different are you still talking about the facility near las vegas or are you talking about being (17:06) flown up there no this is when finally i was flown um so i go to uh mccarran airport right by the eg building and i'd be flown to groom lake um as i landed there the first time right across from where the plane parked there's a security office there was a security office um and that's i i believe i spent quite a while there but uh you know reviewing you know how secure things are so on and so forth but um you know this is not where i worked where i did work was about from my estimates about 10 or 15 miles

(17:48) south of there we were taken there in a uh converted school bus you know those big blue bird uh jobs it was painted kind of a dark navy blue there's a lot of people bob who don't even believe that area 51 exists by the way much less s4 i live out here in pahrump uh i think i mean people i can tell people don't believe area 51 exists well there are a lot of people who don't but i can tell you bob when when you drive up by the vfw here in trump at about 4 30 or 5 in the morning there's a whole
(18:20) bunch of buses out there and they've got signs right on the side of the buses i saw it about a month ago and it just says area 51. oh really yeah no they're not not bothering anymore to keep that secret i guess [Music] now from the kingdom of nine more coast to coast am with art bell here again is art anyway uh so then they take you uh in some from from groom lake the main facility and incidentally bob up on my website i've got a picture a pretty good one the best one i've ever seen of the groom lake facility and it shows
(19:15) what appears to be three uh large hangers with the one in the center perhaps being the largest is that your recollection three large hangers yeah three big hangers uh there are a lot of other attendant buildings but three rather large hangers i don't recall there being three you know obviously large hangers on the on the approach in from las vegas you know that that stood out that much above everything else okay i recall a huge satellite dish but for the most part most of the time i was going there at night and certainly (19:56) didn't have a run of the place all i did was get to go in one time i got to go to the cafeteria but other than that it was merely a stop uh toward s4 yeah toward s4 but um you know i don't really require recall there being three large uh hangers really that stood out more than anything else did you ever see anything unusual at all at groom lake the thing i did see that was unusual was some sort of advanced rocket or jet plane people have called it aurora i don't i don't i don't know if it was aurora or (20:37) or if even or if it even exists but um john andrews uh from the tester corporation and a few other aviation buffs kind of interviewed me more or less about that it was uh something along the lines of an x-15 shaped type of craft now we were driving away from this as it was taxing but it was a a horrendously loud uh tearing sound that the engines made um and i think my original description was that it made it sound like the air was tearing and that's the the best description i could give to it now i've certainly have heard
(21:20) uh about the new generation of of uh scramjet engines that have supersonic airflow inside that burn liquid methane and so on and so forth whether that was these i don't know but i did get a look up the exhaust as we were turning and it was uh they were rectangular exhausted some sort of veins inside um that's all the information i can give and what it was i don't know but that was the strangest thing i ever saw do you recall the general shape of the aircraft was it close to what we would call lifting body no it well
(21:53) even though the x-15 was a lifting body it was not a lifting body like you'd see on an f-16 or something where there'd be a you know a lot more a lot more wing incorporated into the body it was more along the lines of a long slender body maybe a cross between an f-104 and an x-15 for those people that are familiar with those planes very short stubby wings um you know which translates to me you know you know high speed of rotation uh high flight speed and sure things like that but uh you know again i didn't get (22:29) a very good look at it and uh i don't know it could have been anything a scientific research vehicle or or anything i'm certainly not claiming that was aurora but some time later some of those people were down in rachel and they heard and recorded a sound that they interpreted as the sky tearing and played it back to me and it was in fact the identical sound so a couple of years later it was still operational whatever that thing was but that was the only unusual thing i ever saw there all right so you landed and (23:03) they generally then uh you'd i guess get off the tarmac there and get right on a bus yeah well straight across from where the plane parked head-end straight across from there in kind of a large parking area was the security building um and that's where we picked up the bus and went south the first time we i did go in and it was an extensive uh little get-together with the security people there and signed all kinds of strange forms that uh were there a lot of people on the bus no not going down to s4 generally the

(24:21) i'm trying to remember some of the other paperwork beforehand i gave permission to have my phone lines monitored [Music] boy and can you remember any of the wording i mean son you said you signed something that would allow them if you blab to be judge durian well i had signed something like that yeah i mean that that may be a slight exaggeration of how the wording was but um certainly i signed uh i'm trying to remember what it was like a 10 10 agreement if you've heard that before i don't remember the exact title of the document
(24:54) but you know it says if you violate [Music] the international security secrets you're you know it's ten years in jails and a ten thousand dollar fine does that sound familiar to you i've signed something like that before but this was certainly far above and beyond that which was kind of shocking actually um but at the time you know you pretty much just blow it off and say all this means is that i'm gonna be involved in something you know extremely interesting and uh you know it's it's great so what you know i'm not
(25:24) i have no intention of violating any rules or uh you know causing any problems so there's no sweat i understand i mean by that time you're you're being you're probably tantalized thinking this oh really you know it's uh this is pumped up it's gonna be real fun exactly all right so you sign all the forms uh including one g to tap your phone huh right they did uh i that was again before i went down there that was down to dgng and i gave him permission to do that but that was only for a limited amount
(25:58) of time i don't recall how long that was for and hey that's kind of a silly thing to do in the first place because if you're going to monitor my phone why tell me it kind of defeats the purpose maybe because otherwise they have to go through some sort of legal procedure and get some sort of court to something or another so maybe you would think in the interest of national security they could circumvent all that but uh well they probably do who knows when they need to i had actually doubted that they um (26:29) were actually doing that uh you know once in a while everyone hears little clicks and pops and buzzes on their phone and um you know i i really didn't think that was it yeah my view is a good tap is one you never hear well this is my point exactly sometime later i guess we'll get into that but uh when things turn sour uh actually before they did they had come to my house 30 minutes after i got off the phone with jean one day and we were joking around on the phone they came to my front door 30 minutes later with a transcript of (27:05) our conversation and outlined were the questionable phrases that i had spoken now this is amazing to me considering the closest fbi building down here is on charleston and maryland or charleston and maryland parkway but i mean that's you know that that's an amazing feat it almost makes me think they had a little mobile setup somewhere um well it is you're a computer guy and i've heard maybe you could confirm this for me that the nsc has the ability to have super computers which virtually are monitoring (27:42) perhaps even millions of conversations looking not at the entire conversation but listening to key key words well that's how they caught uh that drug kingpin down in uh where was it panama or mexico that's right and every single phone line right and uh just picked out certain words and grabbed them so i encourage my audience to constantly in the middle of a conversation just simply say kilo kilo art actually we say assassination president just like that all right well anyway so uh

so onward to uh uh to area s4
(28:25) uh i guess is it a paved road or a bumpy little ride that's a quite a bumpy little ride it's a dirt road down there follows along the base of the mountain and coming up to the facility it's right off of papua's dry lake bed and there's a small mountain range on the side and built right into the side of the mountain is the installation itself the s4 installation and it's composed of hanger doors around one side and then i guess i believe on the east no on the south facing side there's a
(29:08) is the main entrance into the facility were the windows on the bus uh darkened or could you see out as you know you could the only place you could see out was the front on the bus most of the times i had gone down there was the driver a security guard and dennis mariani the security guard almost always stood uh right up front uh not sitting down but holding that bar you know which is right by the door on those buses sure uh in i don't know if it was in an effort to block my view out there or just to intimidate me and stare
(29:44) at me but that's how he rode the entire trip down there so it was always difficult to see exactly where uh we were and and what was in between right well there's really nothing in between pretty much uh desert dennis mariani uh who who was he he was my supervisor what his exact position was was was pretty much unclear to me uh he's a stocky guy smokes a cigar kind of looked very military looking short blonde hair he's about the best i could describe him maybe you know late 30s early 40s um not gregarious more security like yes
(30:28) um so i really don't know what his exact function was in the world but he didn't wear a military uniform though did he bobby no no he didn't close right civilian but you can kind of tell military guys yeah just by the way they look and and the way they comport themselves and so forth and so on but you know again that's this is my guesstimation of what sure what this guy was about um was he your constant shadow was he with you all the time for the most part for the most part until i learned how things operated there
(31:03) my i guess i shouldn't jump ahead that far yet um well i might as well for the most part you know for science to progress anywhere if you're doing any sort of research whatsoever [Music] one of the things that is that is vital is free discussion open and free discussion amongst the people that are working on the project okay right well obviously you know it's how ideas are bounced off other people and that was the only way things can progress wasn't that one of the main uh contentious points during the (31:37) development of the atomic bomb in the manhattan project everything was compartmentalized and other military just loves to do that and the scientists just hate it because they want to bounce ideas off each other exactly so you're saying really in 1989 that was still going on well probably well i don't know how would i know how bad it was during the atomic age but um you know it was very oppressive so much so that our job was very compartmentalized every aspect was split into groups of people groups of people are quite literally two (32:17) people you work on the buddy system in other words the only person i can talk to the only person i can discuss anything with the only person i can relate to is the one person who i work with any other aspect of the project any other questions are simply not to be asked so immediately you're interfering with your progress in that if whatever you're doing interacts with anything else anywhere uh you know you've run into a black wall you don't even really know if you're the first person to come down
(32:50) and be assigned this task do you exactly there's another reason that i wasn't oh really yeah but um yeah you really have no idea what's going on and i'm sure if you found that you know while part a connects to part b which we're not allowed to see you know i'm you know i'm sure there would be some way to gain some of that information but uh bob not only were you not the first person to sign that task but this might be an interesting point to tell them why you were told you were hired
(33:25) no that's true i was uh actually one of the questions i've always had is why did they hire me certainly for this project [Music] i would not be the most intelligent uh the most resourceful person that they could possibly hire out of all the people at los alamos or anywhere else in the world for that matter so i've always wondered exactly why they would have picked me um and so why then did they i still don't know i have always wondered this i've ran a lot of things through my mind um you know different possible scenarios (34:08) and they really none of them make any sense uh was it because edward teller just thought i was a nice guy and essentially juiced me into the position that makes

yeah it sounds that way yeah but you know in a project like this why would something like that happen where every person counts you're talking in a project where there are only actually 22 active people working on it um yeah but when teller speaks the military listens yeah that's true but i mean i didn't know him well enough as far as my scientific background it (34:41) was actually fairly limited uh the most i mean i was working at los alamos on the uh working with the accelerator at that point so it really wasn't a propulsion based uh job anything to do with uh you know what i was about to have my hands on maybe they assumed you did have the right background maybe they didn't really know what they had on their hands well one of the i tell you we're coming up on a break and we'll pick up in this point when we get back everybody relax it'll be a good one um bob lazar
(36:24) dean doesn't remember either gene doesn't remember either boy i think my short term memory we were talking right before we broke about he had no idea why they chose him of all the people in the world but that's well actually gene you had said why don't you tell them bob why they chose you and said i have no idea and we were talking about the work he did at los alamos right yeah he was i was implying something else and in other words i was i was telling him uh reminding him of why there were vacancies why they needed to hire
(36:56) someone was why someone wasn't in his slaughter and we were talking about the fact that uh he was not the first one necessarily [Music] uh and that makes sense in other words uh if they had something they didn't understand i can imagine they would bring in a re an array of people of different disciplines to take a look-see well my that might have been the case but yeah you know i to this day i can't figure out why you know if certainly you look at my record and the way i approach things and the work i had (37:27) done before was a little more renegade and maybe that's what they were doing was looking for someone that would approach a project from a different road and are you able to talk about what you did at los alamos i did several things um initially i was working on the polarized proton target on the accelerator the accelerator there at los alamos is a linear accelerator it stretches about if i remember about a half mile and it's one of the more unique setups in that instead of running a single experiment on the output of the (38:08) accelerator the beam is split into different areas and all these different areas [Music] are i don't know really if they're leased or rented to other countries or other scientists but several other people and other groups from all over the world essentially can conduct experiments simultaneously at different times they'll uh fire different particles down the target for different lengths of time and uh you know everyone can run their own experiments and you know see what's going on there was also some star wars uh development done
(38:45) there um okay i'm i'm sitting here listening trying to imagine any application for what you were about to do and you don't at s4 yeah there is there's none there was no there was no direct connection at all this is you know one of the things that uh has perplexed me forever um but how could there be but maybe this was the point that i was going to make in fact it is it just popped back in my mind what was strange about the interviews i had had was you know certainly there was some technical questions here and there um
(39:24) they essentially knew my background already but what they were most concerned was what was what i had done in my spare time which i found to be very unusual now your what had you done in your spare time you had worked with propulsion systems in your spare time right i mean they were essentially concerned with more of my you know for lack of a better word play time than they were was what i was or what i had currently done all right well let's take this back to edward teller when you had a conversation with edward teller did you talk about your (40:04) play time did you talk about well i was talking about at that time the static ramjet engine that that was in fact that was in the front of the paper so we were talking about uh in fact at that time i had filed patents on it [Music] of how the device operated [Music] without the name for fuel pumps and things of that sort

because of the type of fuel it used um what is a static ramjet engine it was an offshoot of a pressure jet engine which is uh which was invented by eugene glueharf who was also coincidentally the inventor of the (40:41) rocket ejection sheet seat that's used on all fighter aircraft indeed he developed that i believe in the 50s and in the 70s i had run into them and really as a kid back then started working in my spare time as i went to uh pierce college at that time working to improve on the design i came off with an offshoot of the design which was a little more complicated but produced a lot more thrust the basic design of the engine is it has no moving parts at all [Music] one property of propane is that it sticks to hot metal
(41:27) this eliminates all the needs for flame holders and things of that sort inside the engine which makes it more complicated i'm trying to think of a couple other points about it but there were it was a pretty different design as far as jet engines go and with the changes i made it was essentially a different type of engine and after i had gone past the development of it on a test stand i've built a slightly larger one and installed it in the back of a car and it was a convenient mobile test setup as opposed well and additionally it was
(42:07) something kind of interesting to play around with in the desert sure which is where the whole article came from in the newspaper but um all right well then i think you've answered your own question but someone playing around with jet engines really doesn't qualify uh qualify him or her to work on uh something of extraterrestrial origin no but but then again uh who does have qualifications to go work on something well there's there's a point so i i can understand and if here's how i would uh based on what you
(42:40) said i'll bet here's what happened uh the article in the paper the conversation with uh edward teller and probably his suggestion which probably amounts to more of an order that uh you'd be a good uh a good person uh kind of a rebel to go take a look at the stuff they had at area s forum uh that's that would be my guess that's a pretty good guess uh what what do you think uh gene i agree i think that uh edward teller's word carried all the weight in the world and and and i also agree with you that uh (43:17) uh who would have a background who would be qualified to work on uh you know a gravity propulsion system and an antimatter reactor and the things bob later ran into and bob's a comprehensive problem solver as a background in physics and electronics and propulsion and uh and i can understand why they'd hire him well yeah if you're going to go if you really have extraterrestrial craft and you're trying to figure out what makes them go then you're going to go find somebody who works out of the box in
(44:20) one of the questions was it you know have you ever thrown tools around in the lab or anything to that effect and i thought these were very strange questions for what uh you know what we were talking about but uh well in either case i you know i got the job and and wound up there but uh haven't you ever thrown tools no actually i haven't i have i've kicked radios too one all the way across the room put my foot through it anyway uh so so then uh you seem qualified in most every way as much as one could be qualified for that
(45:41) work and i think for two weeks until there was a reaction or if there was to be a reaction with any of the substances they put on my skin and they said you know we're working with some extremely exotic materials here that we're not all that familiar with and we want to know if there's going to be any problem with him and i said well that's again odd but acceptable and i was also given an injection there too which was a uh yeah which was a wide spectrum did they call it antibiotics no it wasn't a wide spectrum

(46:18) antibiotic it was a wide spectrum something or other it's always good to know what they're shooting you with yeah i thought now i mean there have been so many i'm sure which we'll get into later uh you know so many ridiculous stories offshoots of uh what actually had happened to me um you know people said oh well they injected you with thorazine or so on or this was the memory drug that wiped out your memory so you could only remember back and forth and you know so on and so forth but uh i'm pretty sure that wasn't
(46:50) the case this was uh they were mainly concerned about the uh oh you know here you're dealing with actual extraterrestrial materials and uh if we're going to be crawling around on them taking things apart and having contact with them you know they imagine they want to make sure that the people working on are fairly safe well that in one hand weighed against the fact that you know don't forget the united states government said fallout to people from time to time and uh you know did other strange things
(47:22) to them but uh you know and when you originally when you originally told your story bob years ago that wasn't known hazel right hazel was not around yet and and everybody regarded your story as absolutely incredible beyond belief uh but then when hazel o'leary stepped out and said the following occurred everybody went in into kind of a stupor and said my god we did that so your story isn't so out of a lot has actually changed in the past 10 years if you remember you know 10 years ago too the predominant theory about how gravity
(47:59) propagates uh in any physics test textbook you know related to gravitons and now the predominant theory is gravitational waves which is exactly how some of uh and and some scientists and physicists at that time uh you know pointed out one of the many reasons they say the the reason this story can't be true was that this was absolutely ridiculous so on and so forth and now it's spoken of uh as a matter of fact this is how gravity propagates through space and it's just interesting to see how things slowly over the span of a decade quietly
(48:34) change you know that's one thing i do keep an eye on yes but um and i take it your arm didn't break out inappropriately so you passed no i think i think it did develop a small eruption somewhere but it was nothing uh nothing to be concerned about or so i was told um so we just proceeded from there as you know there is a group of people suing the government over illnesses they have suffered from work they did at area 51 and that is proceeding quietly in court it's not going to be so quiet when it goes to
(49:46) at a toyota dealer or something like that and he was in he was in uh such pain his kidneys hurt so bad he thought he was gonna die and uh to that point bob had uh never had any health problems or had never had any sedatives or painkillers and the doctor gave bob a shot of demerol and i called him and i was voting on cloud nine it wasn't even coherent and i came to his house to see what was wrong and then he was literally literally high from uh from a painkiller they gave him just so he could stand the the pain in
(50:19) his kidneys so whatever went through his system certainly stuck there yeah so there was an adverse reaction to something do you think that was well of course you have no way of knowing whether it was the uh allergy test they put you through or the shot they gave you or wasn't a you know an amazing coincidence that you know uh but he had no prior yeah i mean it is you know well i take it you went to the doctor i did yeah what do you say i don't remember i think he said uh he gave me a shot of painkiller demerol i believe it was (50:56) and uh he took a urine sample a blood test and um he asked if i had any previous problems anything strange and you know obviously i said no no no certainly didn't mention anything about getting an ejection right a strange place in the middle of a desert right um didn't they do x-rays or a cat scan or something and find out yeah they did just an x-ray to see if there was any blockage but there was not a day later or i think even the next morning everything was fine uh the x-rays came back negative and i believe the blood work came back (51:35) negative too as did the urine sample so i in fact i think his conclusion was that perhaps i had passed a small stone and you know wound up in my bladder and then it would probably hurt coming out again but um you know that never occurred and you know whether or not that scenario is correct uh you know again it's just speculation but uh i don't know that uh you just stirred that up in my memory i don't you know i don't think i well that's right that's how little bits and pieces come back (52:05) uh how's your health now by the way and and since then okay oh fine no problem all right um so anyway uh you pass all their little tests pass all that the next thing to happen was that i was um let into a room with uh quite a number of little briefing packages um briefing papers or these range from two pages to about five pages uh little folders with different aspects of the project that i was working on this was uh i believe the part of the first day and the second day that i was working there um so they just set you down at a table

(52:59) and had you begin to read about yeah what these were just basic overviews of what each group was doing just essentially to give you knowledge of what the other facets of the project were about a general overall right had no specifics whatsoever but if in uh for instance there's a group with metallurgy yeah so on and so forth all right um what also contains some of the names of the projects oh it did yeah all right oh that's a good place to break so relax we'll be back shortly [Music] the story you're hearing is a remarkable (53:36) one and we're beginning to hear new details because bob's remembering new details bob lazar and gene huff are my guests the subject area 51 more specifically area s4 where as you will hear shortly extraterrestrial craft were back engineered yes that's what bob did i'm artbell and this is coast to coast a.
(54:02) m [Music] stay tuned for more of the best of art belle right after a word from your local sponsors [Music] now back to bob lazar and gene hoff now you're welcome to fax in a question as a matter of fact i already have many but i'm going to hold them until the story unfolds completely then we'll ask some of the facts questions then we'll go to the phones so if your dialing finger is itchy and it is because they're all ringing just relax we'll get to the phones in due time right now let us unwind the (54:51) story back to bob lazar and jean huff gentlemen you're back on the air again all right um so here we are uh you're in a little room with a bunch of briefing papers giving you more or less an outline but not specifics of what of the work being done on actually at that point did they did they state what it was that was being worked on well at this point yeah this is the first time i really knew exactly what i would be doing and this is where it was stated that the the project excuse me the project was essentially
(55:31) that of back engineering and extraterrestrial craft that must be quite a line to read well it was and it was also hard to believe because certainly going into the project i was basically a nuts and bolts guy and certainly didn't believe in ufos and thought everyone was crazy that even considered the topic i certainly believe that there was life elsewhere certainly life can exist on other planets other galaxies other other solar systems but i just found it very hard to believe that there was any uh intelligent light visiting (56:07) earth and uh you had never had any close encounter of the third kind no no and i thought people were basically crackpots that but also art he was into science and technology and he certainly wasn't well read i mean he had never heard of the you know betty and barney hill case or he didn't know anything about uh the roswell crash or anything along those lines i mean he wasn't interested he didn't pursue it and if you all remember uh really a decade ago i mean some of that information was available but (56:39) certainly wasn't prevalent to the point that it is today with websites and movies and television shows oh indeed as a matter of fact before we proceed bob i'd be very very interested to hear your reaction i have interviewed now twice uh very rare interviews by the way uh hours-long interviews with colonel phillip corso and i'm kind of interested to get your reaction to colonel corso's uh revelations about the back engineering and insertion into american industry he did of artifacts from the roswell crash uh were (57:15) you surprised to hear about that this is the first i'm hearing about this is that right yeah what is all right all right phillip uh philip j corso colonel um i rip believe it or not i really am completely uninterested in the topic ufos and and never follow it at all all right well this is in the dark as well hey [Music] [Applause] [Music] [Music] from the kingdom of nye this is coast to coast am with art bell on the cbc radio network this is a man who uh was given the job he's now 82 years of age by the way he

(58:18) was given the job of he was actually handed a filing cabinet uh by a general and he was given a job of figuring out what some of these things were and introducing them into american industries specifically bell labs and some others at the time and these were artifacts from roswell and he is very very credible he wrote a book called the day after roswell what specifically uh what devices um devices that led to and i'm going to it's going to be hard night vision scopes for example fiber optics for example
(58:58) the transistor for example a lot of uh leaps that by the way particularly the transistor there's not much of a paper trail for uh if you if you look back at the development in bell labs of the transistor there's not a big paper trail yes it arrived but there's not a big paper trail about how it arrived well i'm so skeptical of something like that the reason being well let me tell you certainly you've seen pictures of the first transistor we know it was developed at bell labs we know there
(59:31) were a couple guys working on it um but you know what the first transistor was it was essentially just wait it was more long lines of a diode it's just a right a p a a p n and a p junction i saw a big slab of silicon it really couldn't do anything certainly if we had been given that advanced technology at that time wouldn't it have been something a little more down the road uh a lot of it was a lot of it they had no idea and uh well is he saying that uh he worked with some of these guys or hinted no to them or or was this all a
(1:00:15) big conspiracy and everyone was no he was a he was just a middle man and his assignment was to take something that looked interesting and take it to american industry and try and determine the function and whether it could be duplicated or not it's a long story and i don't want to hurt you with it but um he's highly qualified i mean this guy is i'm not some place i'm not immediately debunking him but you know this is my natural reaction to jump on that he was an officer in the military and held some
(1:00:45) very lofty positions right oh absolutely well i'd actually be interested to to look at that i actually gave him ufo magazine so he could read about it but he doesn't read about ufos so i understand it really is true people don't believe this about you uh bob they think you are the guru of uh ufology and oh guys boy have you got the wrong guy yeah and it just isn't true no please you see i remember the interview i did with you before i remembered very well anyway uh so uh here you are reading about all
(1:01:17) of this and you get sort of an overview of it all and probably by what are you thinking by then i mean is your mouth hanging open extraterrestrial it is it is to some extent and another part of me is beginning to wonder whether or not this is true at all or if this is some some sort of uh psychological test uh you know everything else was so way out essentially uh maybe this is you know another game that we're playing maybe they're just trying to determine what reactions of people in science would be too
(1:01:53) extraterrestrial craft or the fact of extraterrestrial presence of any kind at all right and and certainly all these thoughts had gone through my mind um from there now the days have kind of blended together in my mind i don't it's hard to separate what happened on each day after that but i believe that the next time i went there uh was the time that i was actually let in through one of the hangar doors now normally we drove alongside of the installation and came in the main entrance [Music] this one time we drove up and one of the (1:02:40) hangar doors was open in the hangar doors as plain as day or in the hangar door as plain as day was the craft that i had later labeled the sport model a very sleek looking very stereotypical flying saucer um my immediate reaction was this is the new generation fighter that we're working on for whatever reason it's saucer shaped but immediately in my mind i said this explains all the ufo sightings throughout history it's just been the development of this thing here it is here it is this makes you know perfect
(1:03:25) sense i've got a model five feet away from me here a tester model which i believe the tester corporation built based on your description right it looked exactly like that is that what we're talking about the export model you you call the sport model yeah very sleek sporty looking um yeah that's it exactly i'll be damned all right uh so you drove by this thing we actually stopped in front i was led out of the bus the security guard first then dennis and myself dennis walked on ahead of me and um the security guard told me to keep my (1:04:06) eyes forward and just follow dennis into the back and at the back of the hangar there was a door that led in to a hallway in the office area [Music] i walked right by the craft the door was off the craft or hatch whatever you want to call it right alongside of it was an american flag adhered to it a little sticker not really now that all that did was cemented in my mind thinking well this is you know obviously this is it um i slid my hand along the side of the craft um which the guard didn't appreciate and i was told again

(1:04:48) keep my hands at my side what did it feel like walk forward it's i i say it felt like metal and the reason i say that is because it was cool to the touch um so yes it could have been an advanced ceramic or something absolutely but to me sure it felt and it appeared like metal um we continued in and this is where i first met um the person that i'd be working with barry castillo or castile however you pronounce that um and this is when i first saw the initial components of the craft that had been taken out
(1:05:31) so they had begun to gut this thing then not this particular one there was more than one there how many there were actually nine craft not all like this but from what they told me from what i saw there were nine craft and don't ask me where they came from or how we got them or anything i have no idea but um the craft were in different uh really different states some were completely dismantled uh some looked as if they would be operational you know that they hadn't been touched at all um but apparently from what i understand
(1:06:13) all the crafts had the exact same reactor and propulsion system in them did any of the craft look look as though they had been in a collision or crash uh no the only one that had damage to it looked intentional it was a crap that had a a it's kind of hard to describe but the area around the craft the lip if you will was very broad and flat and thin and it looked as if it had been stood up and a projectile fired through it the hole from the distance that i saw it looked around four inches but it could have been it any size just it looked uh
(1:07:04) as if the metal was bent outward and uh now that could have been dropped from the sky someone could have fired a projectile through it uh who knows again well that's that alone is very interesting in other words we're not dealing with superman's cape here holes could be blown through it right of course on the other hand it's an extremely unscientific test you take something as prized as that you don't stand it up and fire a cannon at the thing or a howitzer you certainly you know take a small quantity off and
(1:07:38) you know do your analysis of that that piece but for whatever reason that was the only one that looked like it sustained any damage some of the other craft were dismantled to some point but certainly not wrecked the only craft that i was permitted to work on to touch to have anything to do with was the craft that i termed the sport model that's the one that you have a model up there well as you turn around as you walk in on all of this though bob no i did not see this all at one time this is i saw this one craft now the
(1:08:11) hanger doors are all the hangers are all next to each other and only at one time uh you know way down the road where all the bay doors open at one time and i got a glance to see in what was the other in the other hangar doors but for the most part all i at this point all i knew was that there was this one craft and now in my mind i am convinced that this is just a u.
(1:08:35) s manufactured extremely secret you know fighter reconnaissance craft who knows what but and the the little american flag did that for you oh without without question that was it it's a done deal um what do you say you look at it and say turn around to your uh companion we'll call him and say wow or my god or where'd these come from oh nothing all i just had a smile on my face if i remember walked into the back door and then uh you know the introductions began the only other person i really interfaced with was renee i don't remember his last name
(1:09:10) [Music] but and i actually can't remember what in the world rene did but for the most part barry and i worked closely together now this is also the first time that my supervisor left me alone with barry and you know this is where the learning process essentially began this is where my view of everything changed did they tell you at that point what your specific job was in other words there it is and it's sort of like okay what am i supposed to do well that that's what this you know that that's where we begin now
(1:09:52) this is exactly uh what this meeting with barry uh entails is the description of precisely what i'm supposed to be working on what my function in life is now at this place and this is where i find out that we are essentially well number one that the briefings i was reading are correct in other words they are extraterrestrial right these craft are not extraterrestrial the the scope the aim of our project is now to back engineer these craft or this one particular craft with the intention of duplicating it or duplicating the sub

(1:10:32) of the subsystems within it using earthly materials so that's that was the project now this hit me quite hard at that time and needless to say no this night i didn't get any sleep it was fairly exciting before that but and certainly barry just telling me this wasn't enough this is when we also had some demonstrations on what we had found out um or what information had be had been gleaned so far from the technology that we've seen um you know it was all very fantastic and i mean it was absolutely mind-boggling
(1:11:16) well i know you don't follow all this but i have to ask and have you seen independence day oh absolutely oh okay good at least you've done that uh you remember when they brought everybody into uh area 51 and they opened the big door and you want to say well they invited me to the premiere of that oh they did yeah in fact they made me stand up for some reason they made sure yeah they introduced me i see but in fact someone called i don't remember the people involved there but when they were talking about
(1:11:53) the movie the making of the movie so on and so forth the lab technician there um i don't remember his name in the movie but who wore the white lab coat they called the bob lazar yeah dean devlin was the writer oh they i don't remember the other people that were there but uh i i thought that was pretty funny but as they said they had taken uh the for the movie they had taken much of the ufo allure stories and everything that had been circulating around for years and you know threw together the script in a
(1:12:30) short time and you know produced it so that wasn't uh it looked nothing like that by the way but uh you know the idea was the same same right same idea uh all right well we're at an interesting juncture here and the real fun is about to begin uh were you told that you were going to be working on one specific area of back engineering or were you going like only power and propulsion system and everything else was essentially off limits meaning you couldn't even touch it no i couldn't touch it however i did get
(1:13:06) uh i did get to go on the craft one time and this was for the express purpose of only seeing the placement of the reactor and how the the gravity amplifiers worked uh how the emitters moved freely underneath on the the primary level and just how all the subcomponents you know fit together all right um that's a good place to hold it we're at the top of the hour take a good a few moments to relax and we'll be right back and we will kind of recap at the top of the hour and then you're gonna hear about
(1:13:43) an extraterrestrial craft what it looked like what the power and propulsion systems were how they worked and believe me much more it's not independence day but it's the same idea except in this case it's for real from the high desert an area near dreamland this is coast to coast [Music] [Music] you're listening to an encore presentation of coast to coast am with art bell this program is aired live
(1:14:46) monday through friday from 10 p.m to 3 a.m in the pacific time zone and 1 a.m to 6 a.m in the eastern art bells dreamland can be heard live sunday nights from six to nine in the pacific and nine to midnight in the eastern please contact your local radio listings to confirm the exact times that art bell airs live in your area and now coast to coast am with art belle [Music] heart bell is talking to first-time callers at area code 702-727-1222 that's area code 702-727-1222 this is coast to coast am with art bell
(1:15:40) from the kingdom of nine now again here's art here i am good morning everybody what an unusual rare opportunity one that may not come along for a while incidentally my guests are bob lazar and gene huff bob lazar is the ex-government scientist who back in 1989 came forward with the fact that he had been part of a team of scientists who back engineered extraterrestrial discs flying saucers at a base known as s4 15 miles south of the infamous area 51 at room lake nevada along with him gene huff bob's longtime
(1:16:19) friend and business partner hacked really all these years who's a writer and co-producer of the lazar tape which we'll tell you about gene is a real estate appraiser and screenwriter as a matter of fact uh he has written the screenplay and has won the competition for that as for the bob lazar story and in the first two hours of the program we've moved through bob lazar's employment um early employment um in new mexico uh to his introduction to edward teller to his employment uh finally uh and we've had a lot of details we've never (1:17:01) heard before at area s or and we have just arrived at the point in the story where he has met up with what he calls the sport model craft and i've got a studio cam here and i will endeavor over the next 30 minutes to take a good picture of the tester model which is said to be a faithful reproduction and will confirm that uh with bob of what he saw i've got one right here by the way you can get one of those from tester so all of that and a bit of a surprise coming up in a moment back to my guest bob lazar and gene huff and gentlemen i

(1:17:39) have a surprise for you uh bob you were in effect recruited i think by edward teller i have a friend who's listening to the show this morning as we speak uh believe it or not all the way down in perth australia his name is stan dale and he was also recruited by edward teller and he's got a question or two for you i'm going to see if we can bring him up all the way from perth australia there's a slight delay in the phone line transmission uh stan are you there uh yeah art okay very good um bob lazar is on the
(1:18:18) line and i know you followed the lazar story and you might briefly just very briefly recap yours and ask a question uh all right very briefly um i was working um in the computer business in dallas in 1900 i think it was 70 71. and i among other things i was also doing some investigation for the fbi uh at the corporations where i was working as an undercover um kind of plan um during this time at this company where i was working was a large uh corporation it was called baltex optical at the time he had 100 sub-corporations
(1:18:56) and a lot of them operated in nevada and during the time i was there i was approached by one of the senior executives of this company to go meet with a doctor james r maxfield at the radiation research clinic over a couple miles from where we had the office in dallas and i i didn't go for about a month and then um i met this same executive at a morning coffee in the executive tea room and he said to me i hadn't been to see his friend magsfield and the reason he'd asked me to go was because i had talked
(1:19:28) to him about some work that i've been doing in my time off my private time at home in my own laboratory working with two things one was a thermionic electrical converter and the other was a rather novel method i thought of propelling a flying uh aircraft which was circular shaped and you know flying saucer you'd call them today anyway in the course of having told this guy just over coffee well he kind of got reasonably interested in it and told me how to go talk to a friend of his and didn't do it so 30 days passed and he
(1:19:58) says to me look you haven't been to see jim maxwell yet please go this afternoon i booked you an appointment at 3. so i go over this place and it's not like a place that sees people very often it was um it was open the door was kind of a jar but there was no cars in front of it and daylight and um i walked in the lights were off down the hallway and i walked down the hallway and it was kind of dark and this suddenly this nurse uh well i guess the receptionist typed lady appears out of nowhere from the side and said yes can i
(1:20:23) help you i said oh gee i didn't know anybody was here look i i think i've got the right building i'm looking for this dr james r maxfield um she's oh yes dr maxwell's here he'll be out just a second he's down the lap and so sure enough within a minute or so this big tall dude comes out and a white uh medical coat smoking a cigar wearing cowboy boots he says ah yes yes i've been expecting you come on into my office and at this time is when i first got introduced to this clandestine uh organization in the (1:20:54) united states that was headed by dr edward keller and who maxwell worked with with keller and this organization um had been working since the mid 50s on something like 50 some odd projects all related directly to flying software technology if you wish to put it down to that level i was just the the late comer on the scene they showed me about their base down to south pole of the ice cap i had to access it by submarine or something similar and um they explained to me they knew what i was doing i even knew what i was
(1:21:55) started telling me that i need to finish my research with them down in australia instead of america that's why i'm here today because those guys packed me up and sent me down here we parted ways um in 1970 two or three i think it was i was only with him for about a year and uh i got rather um disenchanted with all the technology they were holding back from the people i still was young enough to think that we could um that we could uh save the world by giving technology to uh you know countries needed food and grain and (1:22:29) water and stuff shipped back and forth rather rapidly but uh anyway because of that we parted ways in a real huff and um i kind of hid in the bush for a while because they they really kind of thought be better if i was buried and then after coming out of that i wrote the book to cause conspiracy to kind of be insurance and told a lot of what i had gone through in there and left the rest for i'll tell the rest if you get short with me so uh now that's my side bob that's uh did you run out of my story

(1:23:00) did you ever run into jim maxwell at all on your side of it no i haven't actually now you i've got a thousand questions now but one of the uh uh problem i want on my mind here is what what function what was teller's function well he seemed to be in charge or overseer of all the projects at the highest level that's all that that was told see this is something i've always wondered about the project down down where i worked and you know no one really ever spoke of him but i got just a gut feeling that he was silently
(1:23:34) in charge of everything and uh it's what you're saying is also very interesting because a a lot of what you're talking about seems to mimic some of the things we were working on in fact bob when if i remember right when teller called you when you originally got the call from him to contact the gentleman at eg teller said that he was no longer active but worked in achieving a consultant capacity that's right something happened after i left because in fact i'll tell you i had minders appointed down here who really run this
(1:24:11) country and run the prime ministers my minders operate out of a group called the melbourne club and they're you know the old kind of british raj you know uh cigars and port white haired guys anyway they brought me into their halls of power and i had lunch a few times with the kingpins there and my my mentor was sir john williams and um henry somerset said henry somerset anyway we were sitting there one day at lunch and they were talking amongst themselves about someone moving in on them or they were like like
(1:24:44) an undeclared war status and that they were losing and they never mentioned aliens and that kind of stuff so so don't jump the gun but i you know i heard them say well yeah henry it looks like um we're gonna lose it you know they're just moving in and i waited and nothing else was said and i said well excuse me gentlemen i said by they you know i think i'd be clever i said do you mean the european economic community because we've been talking you know large corporate or money deals in the (1:25:10) country and they both look at me like i'd you know done a root at the table or something and said oh maybe we'll do some fishing up the farm this weekend henry yes john and you know immediately i knew that i asked a question that i should have known the answer to already and didn't anyway they they indicated at that point that they were being taken over well i got away from the organization and wrote the book and all that years passed and about seven years ago i have a friend in scottsdale arizona named conrad murphy and conrad goes uh
(1:25:41) to a lot of places and he's uh he races uh boats and uh cars and he's he's you know fairly active fellow business anyway conor is invited to give the morning devotional that some big business breakfast like for the you know arizona 500 club or something like that and and so he ramy says look guess who i'm going to give the the you know the breakfast benediction right next to who's sitting right next to me next week is you know edward teller and i said wow i said can you get to dr teller and say you know
(1:26:11) take a message do i want to talk to him he said not a problem so i waited and waited and the week passed and so conrad rang me back and he says wow he says well i sat next to him and he said you know it was all kind of you know normal conversation give the benediction eat a bit and he says after he had a couple bites i said to him look um what do you know about um uh this fellow named stan deo you know down in australia working on anti-gravity and you know flying saucers and he said keller looked at him very blankly and
(1:26:41) said don't know the fellow he says oh that's odd and he reaches in his coat and pulls out a copy of my book with my photo on it and turns it up in front of ed teller he said the blood drained out of his face and he looked away and a general over on the side who was in uniform came over and took teller and said dr killer's got another meeting and took him away so i wondered at that point where the teller was in charge of anything anymore you see what i'm saying i do that's very interesting i've never been

(1:27:09) able to get back to the team it's uh you know i think they did lose whatever whatever was trying to take him over did and so anyway uh after all of that stan uh had to sort of lay low for a while and he just sort of ended up staying in australia well art uh i had to give up my u.s citizenship to keep from being extradited at the time that they were trying to to get to the bottom of this okay i'd love to be back in this were they trying to prosecute you for for anything i mean what was well i wasn't sure like
(1:27:39) there's a lot of because sorry sorry say again see that's a delay we have oh i'm sorry my fault uh no just go on it just what what was the reason well were you uh were they trying to prosecute you for uh there were a number of things bob one of them was that oh there were a number of things oh geez can i just put the dog on she wants to say something here just like i don't know um the as i said to you i was doing some undercover work for the fbi and and they deny of course that there were 700 of us
(1:28:12) doing oh it's a clear dog from australia believe me it's coming through very clearly these are the most popular dogs on the planet they've seen a bird out here and they're trying to eat it all right well though all right the question is uh stan were they trying to prosecute you or were there threats on your life how serious was it both um when when i went underground they they had really determined they were going to put me underground permanently in in melbourne well we know as a result iran and for a
(1:28:42) little over a year i i traveled in the australian bush with you know let the hair grow out and wore the sunglasses and travel with the hippies and whatever just disappeared uh finally i got hungry and had to come back in and when i did i came in under an assumed name and worked for a while and uh but eventually they caught up with me because i applied for work in in companies and had to show my passport uh what was that can i interrupt you for a second what was the threat that you presented to them well were they afraid of the information
(1:29:12) that you had or yeah okay so that was their main concern that you were running around with information that you you could possibly divulge to someone else and well first of all i would be able to identify them i mean i could identify you know like by name that people were ahead of it in in the the um um aeronautical research center at fishman's been in uh melbourne and uh in the australian club who of course controlled the prime ministers of this country and there was a number of things that i i was privy to that would be
(1:29:42) rather embarrassing but in their defense let me say this now that i've had time to think about it if i'd have been in their position and they were holding the secrets they were and were under the pressures they were i would probably have ordered my execution as well um it um it's bigger than one person's life it's a really i'm sure you would appreciate this bob what we're talking about is a cover-up of incredible proportions were you able to continue your research or did they have all the requisite
(1:30:11) hardware of course they did i did do something i i did play around a bit what i could do but um you know i couldn't i didn't have access to high temperature coating i couldn't put my barium python or anything else on on the capacitive surfaces uh but your little that video you did with the little ship that had the thermionic converter on it [Music] i don't know why you had to have an element uh whatever it was 115 because we were quite aware that you could convert um thermal energy at around 37 um
(1:30:42) gigahertz uh on the on the sampling frequency you could you could take random heat and convert it into flowing electric energy well that means the thermionic generator i mean yeah that's it that's it um yeah but all that does that yeah that's just uh that's just providing electrical power that's correct that's correct as i said we didn't need 115 to do that though well yeah no one does i mean that's how uh yeah i mean space uh space thermionic generators issues uh you know plutonium to warm uh essentially a you
(1:31:12) know a thermocouple using a you know feedback effect or whatever to uh produce uh you know electrical energy however the the basis of the craft that i worked on the electrical energy was merely a byproduct that was not how the entire craft operated that's where the 115 came in now the other thing i noticed here is you're using gravity wave a and gravity wave b focus fields um in the stuff we were working on it it the field we would generate was in a toroidal field that would curl well that's exactly how (1:31:44) this was generated was essentially in a turret uh around the craft oh okay um in fact there's i just have some um some of the animators uh gave me some fantastic graphics that uh i haven't really been able to post anywhere but i did want to put them up on the web somewhere because there are a lot of people that are interested in the actual propagation of the gravity field and i was just about to uh give those to the guys that uh handle our web page and uh you'd be uh it might be worth having a look at (1:32:21) that what's the website uh it's it look uh sit on your face yeah just go to my site and you'll be able to jump right over stan we're out of time in this half hour but what from what i've heard i think that you two should be communicating i know well i never have been able to reach bob he kind of did like i did went to ground i think yeah well what i'll do is i'll provide bob with your number in perth okay if you with your permission is that all right fine excellent all right i thought you'll see my email

(1:32:51) might work well too yes it does work well and we can make those arrangements as well so well that would be fine yeah i'd like to uh talk to him all right stan um uh thank you very much and uh we'll put you two in contact all right good night all right good night from uh america and um we'll be right back with bob lazar and gene huff this is coast to coast a.
(1:33:16) m [Music] [Music] and now back to the best of art bell uh gene and bob you're both back on the air it's kind of interesting when you listen to people like stan and you listen to people like bob as far as we've gone with the story it's all laid out in such a calm matter-of-fact way that i think a lot of the public has a tendency to lose sight of the implications of what they're hearing but you've told the story so many times bob that i guess it comes out that way sort of in a matter of matter-of-fact
(1:33:59) way huh yeah it pretty much does um all right let us return to your story now you're in you've had a chance to get in the craft and what are you doing what are you working on what are you seeing well if i remember this i have just uh met with barry and we're now going over things um let's see well this is as i said when i first realized exactly what was going on what the implications were and precisely what i'd be doing in the room this is a lab off the main hallway and in the room is one of the reactors from one of the (1:34:52) crafts and one of the amplifiers from one of the crafts also how big are these um the reactor i would imagine is about oh two feet somewhere but around 18 inches two feet somewhere in that general area not really big then no not not large at all odd looking thing has a bottom plate and then half of a sphere on top of it the amplifier itself is about again about two feet in diameter probably four feet long cylindrical shaped with something that would look like plates on the outside of it black in color you know these are very unusual
(1:35:48) and essentially hollow very unusual looking devices this isn't actually the amplifier that i always catch myself calling it that it's the emitter it's the device uh that is moved on a pivot and it's where the gravity wave actually is or emanates from quite similar to a horn on a microwave system um you know as it turns out gravity waves behave a lot more like microwaves at least the gravity waves that are being produced by this system do uh so you have wave guides and things of that sort that you'd see in a microwave
(1:36:36) system [Music] those are the main components of the craft that were in the lab at that time what does that suggest uh or tell us about the nature of gravity well actually you have to look and see what we really know about gravity and you know we really as it turns out don't know anything about gravity as people have said we can certainly measure its forces or measure its effect on things um but really to um to this date there is no and a lot of people don't know this uh that there is there's truly no conclusive evidence
(1:37:22) at the present time that gravitational waves have ever been detected in a laboratory now there have been several gravitational wave detectors uh built and you can assume that they're protecting gravitational waves but they can also be detecting uh many other uh energies of or or fluxes of energies from from who knows where so it's uh it's something we can hardly measure something we certainly know the existence of but um we know very very little about it it's essentially a big hole a black hole if you will in physics as (1:38:02) we know it actually the physicists that i've talked to are not all together certain uh whether it's a push or a pole and uh i think they're pretty sure it's it's a poll but in physics today it's physics itself is so fluid yet so many people either true physicists or armchair physicists or you know scientists whoever you run into uh really stand their ground on on theories and yet you know most people tend to forget that these are just theories you know they are not you know

these are not facts this is a
(1:38:43) topic we know very very little about and as i said uh some time ago we um or the prominent theory was that there were gravitons alleged subatomic particles that actually you know accounted for the force of gravity however uh people that do bring that up really don't know much about that theory either because there was never uh an actual particle called a graviton the whole concept behind a graviton was that because [Music] i'm trying to think how to put this in layman's terms they basically wanted to to quantify gravity
(1:39:30) um maybe i shouldn't get into this yet all right you're looking at this thing when you see it do you know what it is what are we talking about well the uh the already lost okay we're looking at the the amplifier that's right that's right well that we'll save this technical discussion for later then um no basically i i have no idea what i'm looking at okay um you know i had to be led through everything the first demonstration uh that was presented to me was the actual operation of the reactor
(1:40:01) now this in itself is nothing short of a miracle we're dealing with something extremely small maybe two foot square maybe six inches high just on outside dimensions and the power output of something like this is equivalent to a little nuclear power plant i mean it's very impressive um also the fact that it's not producing any waste heat which is a violation of the laws of thermodynamics you bet bob not to interrupt too much but didn't you say that that reactor put out as as much power as hoover dam
(1:40:42) i really i remember i recorded all the uh data i had about it but off the top of my head now i don't remember where the upper reactor the way people like me in the audience so they can imagine the type of power we're talking about but there's a huge amount of power coming out of essentially a very small small place when what what did the demonstration actually entail i mean well first was um was certainly not the electrical output of it but it was showing me the gravitational field around the device
(1:41:12) now the only reason i started going off on a tangent about gravity is because i i guess my whole point was that we don't have a machine there is nothing in existence that can make gravity i've seen a lot of people just lay people telling me stories about how they're watching film on nasa and how the astronauts are chaining and they're in a little chamber and they're floating around you know in a weightless environment they don't realize it's an airplane doing a crash dive that there there
(1:41:43) there is no machine that makes gravity i mean at all nobody has that on earth on earth right and uh here was a device that in operation was doing this uh to do that barry told me uh well he started the reactor when it was operating after a short time he told me to uh put my hand or attempt to touch the sphere on the top of the reactor and as my hand got close to it you can feel a force exactly like putting two like poles of a magnet together wow kind of that soft push yeah soft push but uh you know what what you're experiencing now is
(1:42:28) more of an anti-gravity field which is something you know something entirely different that's extremely interesting bob because as you may have seen they've done experiments now in sweden uh with incredible magnetic fields generated in a fairly conventional manner and they have actually levitated frogs and plants and all kinds of strange little things they've levitated with is this documented oh absolutely i haven't heard anything about with a magnetic field oh absolutely yes well certainly they're not magnetic i wonder
(1:43:04) what is this just a a raw magnetic field electro electromagnetic field raw and gigantic and they had a little chamber big superconducting uh yes set up there yep and they and they're levitating our frog you got it and it's written up anywhere oh absolutely i wonder how this uh managed to pass me back i'm glad to be delivering so much news to you tonight doug but but obviously where can i what that do you have any uh is it on your website run off on another tangent here but uh is there a name of any of the people or (1:43:41) anything you can reference me to where i could look uh i'm sorry this second i can't it was finnish scientist it was carried on nbc abc cbs all the networks had it they had the photographs tremendous discovery there um well it is it just when you mentioned to me the tremendous gravitational field and the effect on your biological hand it immediately flashed to that experiment in finland so there you are hmm anyway so you do one more question have they levitated anything non-conductive something with no water in it like just a uh well i
(1:44:19) don't know what uh well they they levitate or something like that no i don't think so uh i think that it was plants nuts uh frog spiders it was all biological material yes yes but but you said yourself you felt you felt the gravity with your hand now that's right the biological effect right anyway i don't want to stunt your story i just couldn't resist telling you that no i'm glad you brought it up that's that's actually very very interesting to me um as time went on we uh tossed a little golf ball at it too

(1:44:57) uh and it never did hit this sphere it merely ricocheted off the field which again was an impressive display indeed um a golf ball uh is not in any way conductive it has no uh moisture it has no well or minimal amounts very so minimal aside from the fluid sure centered oh that's right they are fluid centers aren't they but um in either case this was a uh quite a uh impressive demonstration just on the fact that this is producing a you know gravitational omnidirectional gravitational field around the unit
(1:45:39) it was later connected up to the emitter and the amplifier [Music] and where the gravitational beam out of the emitter can be focused this again was extremely impressive [Music] the gravitational wave or waves coming out of the emitter were focused into a small point and produced a little black dot in the air hovering in the air really um now this is not to say it was a black hole but um what it was showing me was that it could bend light now the only thing that can bend light is gravity you know it's uh that's right
(1:46:25) the the only a lot of people say well light can be bent on and so forth usually that's diffracted or refracted but uh where you can only bend light is with gravitational waves so to me again this is another impressive demonstration uh but it really was a kind of a black hole well in in the sense that it was absorbing at least in that black hole you know by definition itself would be the source of the gravitational distortion as opposed to you know this focusing on it and you know you're also you know a black hole
(1:47:01) quantum singularity and blah blah blah but the theory is the same isn't it in other words you saw the blackness because of the intense focus of uh right where light was an escape yeah yeah essentially true um still an extremely impressive demonstration to me oh yes um so basically those were the well they were we did get to essentially fool around with it a little more but uh he was updating me with um basically what had been learned in the time that they had the craft there uh he wasn't really specific on how long
(1:47:41) the craft was there i was very elusive on many of the questions uh that i've committed to yeah that that's something i want to touch on you must have had a million questions by then i did i did and uh they he would answer them uh peripherally he wouldn't uh really get down to the meat of the question but at that point uh very had a higher security clearance than you did didn't you uh yeah that's probably true um that may have been the reason yeah who knows if he was told to do that or that was his own decision or or what
(1:48:19) but um again he was just basically filling me in with what they knew and uh what my job was going to be and and this was it this was finding out how this subsystem of the craft operated it operated in the craft operated outside of the craft could this eventually be duplicated using another power source could this power source be duplicated itself without using exotic materials and so on and so forth sometime later i got my only view inside the craft which again was uh extremely exciting yeah no kidding now can you describe what you saw in that
(1:49:03) craft yeah i was let in uh again by um what's his name not barry um dennis and we walked up a small roll-away stairway that led into the craft it was very cramped getting in the doorway the hatch was removed i really didn't pay attention uh to see how it was fashioned to it or if there were hinges or anything a lot of people have asked me that but it was you know you don't spend time looking at how a door was connected somewhere when there's a flying saucer in front of you in either case i went inside
(1:49:48) initially you must bend over to get in there is very little headroom so whoever originally flew in this was small right whatever fluid it was was tiny and if you notice art uh if you're looking at the the model of the sport model there out near the equator of the disc i mean it literally comes to uh to a point and it graduates as you go towards the center so obviously right here very low near the edge and for the benefit of the audience with uh internet access i've got a photograph of the sport model on my live studio cam
(1:50:21) right now okay go ahead bob i'm sorry i didn't mean to interrupt um as you walk into the craft um first of all it's i should address a few questions that people constantly ask me all right please one of them is certainly well how did you feel going into the cracks wasn't it the most exciting thing in your life and i know i've said this a thousand times before to uh to many other people but um it was not the feeling at that time was not of excitement it was a very ominous feeling very much so it was more of feeling like (1:51:03) it's actually i can't i really can't describe it it's difficult to put into words but it was a very ominous feeling more like are you sure we should be here but um of course after the fact you know it was certainly exciting but it was a very very odd feeling because and it was no pun intended it was a very unearthly setting inside all right that's a perfect place to hook them and hang them up until we come back from the news so everybody relax we'll be right back all right um bob lazar and jean hopper

(1:51:34) my guests i'm art bell this is coast to coast a.m [Music] and all of us in the [Music] but trees they send me away [Music] [Music] you're listening to a rebroadcast of one of art bell's most popular programs when you hear phone numbers please do not call
(1:52:42) [Music] now from the kingdom of nine more coast to coast a.m with art bell here again is art all right art bell now turns it back to bob lazar and bob uh you're right i i'm sure you know all the questions that people would ask if i started picking up phone lines now so what about being inside that craft what do people generally ask and how do you respond well first of all is the overall description inside entering the craft is like i said certainly uncomfortable for an adult human being it's um you realize that you're not in a place
(1:53:29) that was designed for humans exactly um and it certainly uh is different from anything that you're familiar with and what i mean to say about that is everything is basically one color normally any area you're surrounded in is always different textures different colors so on and so forth the inside of the craft is essentially all a dull pewter aluminum color very metallic looking there are no sharp right angles anywhere and the description i've given before is it basically the craft looks like it was just injection molded essentially like
(1:54:15) the model was there are no seams anywhere um everything inside the craft looks like um it was fashioned out of wax heated for a short time and then cooled to where everything basically melted into what was next to it what it was sitting on um that's about the best description i can give as to how the inside looked seamless seamless and and very unusual again no right angles anywhere the structure of the craft the skin from the outside was smooth inside this is very difficult to describe uh but if you can picture yourself inside
(1:55:08) uh a disc of a flying softer shape and you're inside looking at the the walls surrounding you there was an additional structure kind of a secondary wall it was kind of repetitive archways [Music] that looks like it was either for structural integrity or as we later found out uh something to do with the wave guide and the gravity amplifiers themselves but if you have the box there you're looking at you notice what i'm saying is kind of difficult there's a little booklet that came in there it has a nice cutaway view of the (1:55:51) craft but it's it's very difficult to describe [Music] without drawing a picture or seeing something visual well the lucky people on the internet can see what i'm i'm holding up uh the others are going to have to make do with your word pictures or i'll go out and get a copy of the tester model or how else might people see uh is is there something on your uh well again it would be your website so it's just people with computers so we've got to formulate word pictures for people without yeah i'm not
(1:56:25) really good at that but um that's basically what the there are three levels to the craft when you enter you enter into the main level and that's basically what you see as far as what's on the main level um well first of all the dimension the craft is about 52 feet in diameter about 16 feet high that's just the overall measurement now back on the inside of the craft what you'll see in the center of the craft is the reactor itself extending from the reactor up to the top of the craft is the wave guide
(1:56:59) it kind of looks like a little chimney more or less uh surrounding the reactor in the center of the craft are three seats these seats all face one direction also near these three seats are the three gravity amplifiers themselves they look like consoles [Music] just solid rectangular objects uh when i say consoles i don't mean there's any buttons lights or anything of that sort and in fact there were no buttons light switches or wiring in the entire craft really really um that's also quite an impressive feat um (1:57:42) no levers no buttons no lights no switches however i did not get to go on one part of the craft so i really can't say what was there but i do have a good idea as to what was now this was all on the center level immediately underneath there's a small breakaway part of the floor as you walk in to the craft over to the left it's a collapse a collapsible hexagonal very unique doorway people have asked me have you ever seen anything in any of these crafts any of the technology that could be used today something simple (1:58:30) and that's certainly one of them aside from the you know high-tech gravitational propulsion systems and so forth something very very simple to understand and easy and anyone that's taken a six-pack of beer or bottles or anything like that you notice that if you push on the sides of the you take all the bottles out you push on the sides of the uh the box it all collapses flat yes and the floor itself was hexagonal in shape and made of little square hexagons like that of thin metal a little notch cut out so basically to

(1:59:12) operate it you just stuck your hand in the notch and pushed and the entire thing collapsed flat and left a hole open however since you're when it's uh i'm getting tangled with my words here trying to because there's so many other things going through my mind when it's extended and it's the opening is closed off it's it's a very strong structure because you're standing on the top of hexagons the metal is relatively thick even though it's it's am i you kind of have a an idea of what i'm trying to present
(1:59:52) here i absolutely do of course i understand how it drives the strength yes uh so yes it's very easy to collapse one way but uh that's one simple thing i thought would find uses somewhere somehow something that could be made right now in fact i've fashioned one of thin metal i have absolutely no use for it but um it it's just one of those strange things i've never seen anything like it and it's uh certainly something that could be i don't know used in some sort of architecture somewhere now
(2:00:25) the craft you were in had all of its the um generator the amplifier right this was all on the first level everything was intact absolutely all right well let me take that back one of the amplifiers was removed all right on this craft when you do collapse this little port hole you can fit your body through at least the upper part of it and look underneath this is the lower level of the craft this is where the emitters that what i sometimes call the gravity amplifiers hang down these are three um of the cylindrical shaped black objects uh two
(2:01:58) piece of pipe it's something very very unusual and we see the same thing being used on the wave guide to the reactor from what we could well from what we could see by applying an electric charge to different parts of this of the structure would bend uh quite easily really yeah it's uh again something very difficult to describe uh without drawing it exactly how this operated but it's uh it was not made of um a telesc in a telescopic forum where you'd see something like a car antenna where it would collapse down
(2:02:42) on each section would collapse down on to one another it was a solid piece if you can imagine just a solid piece of pipe and applying an electric charge to it and having the pipe bend but remain rigid after it had done so anyway this compromised the or composed the focusing system for these three amplifiers they um receive signals from other parts of the craft the amplifiers would focus in on a certain point and you know this is basically how the amplifiers were aimed very um and the craft had again it's kind of a lengthy explanation
(2:03:22) but there were two different modes the craft we found would operate in one is called omicron and one is called delta the omicron configuration was the standard operating mode of the craft and it's where it used one single amplifier to maintain its elevation in the sky one of the other amplifiers was rotated 90 degrees and essentially pointed straight out ahead of the craft so with one amplifier working it essentially produced an anti-gravitational pillar to stand on with the amplifier that was rotated 90 degrees
(2:04:04) instead of what we would normally think along the lines of propulsion uh where a jet would essentially uh exhaust material hot gases out the back right where we would normally think along the lines of a propulsive of a propulsive force what the craft did was essentially create a distortion in front of it a distortion now a gravitational distortion is is that like sort of creating a well in effect exactly it would create a a little distortion a divot in time space if you want to call it that how well is a good a good analogy too

(2:04:53) to where the craft would actually this is kind of the low performance mode if you want to give it a name but where the craft would actually continuously slide downhill yes a very awkward strange mode of propulsion i mean we have nothing that would even really relate to something like that but uh it's kind of backwards if you see what i'm saying i do uh the other motor propulsion and you before we go to that you would imagine this mode of propulsion to be used in in what configuration uh in other words uh in an atmosphere for example in (2:05:28) an atmosphere uh just maneuvering around small objects uh source of gravity probably near planet or moon would you say i would imagine so yeah i don't think it would be used in space there would be so by definition of this mode it requires some force uh some large amount of gravity to be acting on the craft so you would have to be near some sort of gravitational body all right imagine as it was hovering around the ground this is what would it all right makes sense and then there was another mode the other mode is the delta
(2:06:03) configuration and this is how it normally travels through space and makes large jumps the craft flies with the belly facing the direction you want to go not as you would normally see the craft in a science fiction movie ah the gravity amplifiers are all brought up to power and they're focused on a single point this point now becomes an area of intense gravitational distortion many many times more than what we were talking about before and this is where the the true warp drive comes into effect this is where you
(2:06:43) actually bend you begin to distort space and time and instead of the craft actually flying you're basically distorting the fabric of space around the craft and and move without actually traveling you're not um you're not moving so you're you're if i'm visualizing this correctly it's kind of like the other mode except far more intense and you're you're constantly moving toward this warp or with this warp i don't know which way it is well you actually become part of the other
(2:07:16) space um it's a pretty wild concept but something that really isn't uh unknown to us as i've stated before you know to most people this sounds like wild science fiction however we know most of these things are possible we know for example as i stated in uh in that tape that um we can see stars that are behind the sun and the reason for that is the intense gravitational field of the sun bends not just light but it bends space around the sun and we can see some things behind it we know that not just we know space gravity and time
(2:08:01) are all interrelated we know this for a fact we know that around areas of intense gravitational fields time essentially slows down and it's certainly been theorized that if one was to orbit a black hole an area of tremendous gravitational distortion of gravity well for instance um that time would virtually stop right so with all these things interacting this is how you can travel a great distance with essentially no time elapsing first of all you're bending space towards you by doing that you're actually slowing time not to say
(2:08:41) that this is a time machine it's just a byproduct whenever you whenever you produce a gravitational field whenever you're around an intense gravitational field time slows it's just bob did you discern all of this yourself after a long examination oh no this was okay they gave you this then right all right and so god you've got um so then you're in the craft then your job i guess is to go back to the uh the the gravity amplifier and the rest of it that they've already got assembled and try and back engineer the thing or
(2:09:18) try to make it work with materials that we have here on earth is that correct basically so well basically is to start at the very beginning and look at the reactor and try and and try and see how from from ground level the device operates and this is where apparently i came in to the project all right uh and that is where we must pause bottom of the hour bob lazar and gene hoff are my guests don't move [Music] back now to bob lazar and jean huff uh gene basically the silent one right now sort of helping out as he can (2:10:03) uh let's see bob in the interest of time because you know we we could spend 10 hours with this uh perhaps not before you fell asleep but uh well we did make some coffee here i was i detected i started rambling and not saying anything so hopefully this will help we are about three hours past my bedtime i see i i appreciate it the nation appreciates it uh this really is an incredible story now briefly you went to work obviously trying to back engineer this right how far did you get what'd you learn well not very and uh i need to digress

(2:10:39) for a moment here and this is where i learned uh one of the reasons why i was hired initially our work started on the reactor uh we forget that's the center point of everything and this is where we should really concentrate our efforts and apparently that's what the people before me did too apparently there was an attempt to analyze the operation of one of these reactors and i got to read the notes that the gentleman before me had left there was a fatality or actually three fatalities if i remember [Music]
(2:11:16) when they attempted to do this for some reason they attempted to get into the reactor while it was in operation under load and it was never very clear in their notes as to why anyone decided to do that [Music] however again in the interest of time i'll cut this short but they did attempt to do that the reactor did explode and uh the gentlemen were killed i was to replace one of these people did anybody at any point suggest that you go in oh no no i think this is something i think they reached a point of frustration couldn't get anywhere and uh
(2:11:56) you know went on from there again this didn't sound very sensible to me but uh this was the story that was related to me and uh just something i thought i'd pass along another also let me add one other point too that has really nothing to do with this but we were also talking about static on the phone a few minutes ago um coincidentally earlier today now i have no cordless phones in the house i was on the phone with jean and my neighbor comes to the door and tells me that she can hear my conversation on the phone on her
(2:12:31) cordless phone [Music] i found that kind of hard to believe so i picked up her cordless phone and listened and could hear everything fine on mine i mean that's very unusual to say the least he called me and i could literally hear his neighbor talking on a cordless phone in her house from my house what you need then is a sweep of your house absolutely well i called sit and tell and they should be here tomorrow too but uh you know what an odd coincidence that 10 years ago uh i certainly haven't had any problems like this for a long
(2:13:07) time but that is uh pretty unusual anyway back to what we were talking sure uh three who went down before you three who died so there you are what do you do well basically followed in their footsteps up to that point uh what we did find was that the reactor operated at least the lower part of the reactor the base plate operated like a little cyclotron and in fact the first cyclotrons were almost exactly that size [Music] they accelerated particles to a high speed in a circular fashion along the this base plate uh the particles are
(2:13:49) then diverted by electrical and magnetic fields up into a target area which is what was inside the domed part of the reactor these uh and this is now where we get into some exotic material one of the elements we identified in the reactor essentially the fuel or it at least seemed to be uh was um was an awful lot of static here yeah there is a lot of static it's coming from the phone that uh is on gene maybe what you ought to do is hang that phone up and then pick it up when you have a comment all right so [Music]
(2:15:02) and now back to the best of art bell all right go right ahead um we then found well again we had identified an element an element a super heavy element one that doesn't uh naturally occur on earth and certainly one that we haven't synthesized this element was identified as 115. now normally uh the higher level elements the ones that we have you know produced in accelerators decay in a fairly short time um in this case what we were seeing was a stable element one that was not undergoing any radioactive decay
(2:15:51) which is very unusual however again this is something that science and chemists have already theorized that there should be an island essentially an island of stability for elements around the 114 115 116 area however we certainly haven't been able to produce anything that that high up on the periodic chart but apparently you know this is what we were observing how much of this element 115 was available 200 well there were 223 grams in the craft in the reactor 223 grams i heard a story i think it may have been
(2:16:37) from john lear that and this jumps us way ahead but that you somehow got some of element 115 out of that area is that true uh i really don't want to comment on that all right i didn't think so john didn't want to say much about it either uh but that was that was a rumor we'll we'll let it stand as a rumor um all right so element 115 uh something that we don't have yet i think we have progressed a little bit up the scale uh but we're certainly not at 115 where are we now what is i believe the uh (2:17:15) the last isolated was 112 112 and most of the more recent uh more recent work has been done in darmstadt germany all right [Music] in fact i believe there's their plan to produce element 116 uh is coming up next i think they plan on i don't i don't really i think it was californium and uh no calcium or something do you remember that gene uh yes uh i think they were gonna fuse the curium with calcium and and they were going to end up with element 116 which they then thought would decay in a chain of unknown

(2:18:06) nuclides and see where the island of stability actually settled but they are they are very close to uh attempting to uh you know pierce that island of stability and and uh seeing what's gonna happen however producing one or two atoms of it really isn't going to let them determine uh you know how the substance is going to react but at least they're there they're almost to the point now where they can begin to look at some of these exotic substances right there there are a lot of people waiting to to see if they can perform
(2:18:38) any experiments or find this uh you know gravity a that bob alludes to but really when you read and i'm certainly a lay person when you read on these for instance the website for the lab for heavy ion resource research in darmstadt germany you can see that they actually detect these atoms when they make them and and getting an atom or two it doesn't put them anywhere near having a quantity of it that you could hold in your hand and actually study for any macro scale type effect you bet bob how long were you then at s4
(2:19:13) doing your work it was from december of 88 to april of 89 december of 88 to april of 89 okay uh what went wrong when did the whole thing begin to go to a sour and why boy then there's a long story um okay the readers died this this story reader's digest version yeah i reader's digest version of this which is typically longer than the entire story itself um do you want me to tell it if you got a shorter version than i do well go ahead how about this at what stage of work were you when it began to go bad
(2:20:07) well very actually very early um well go ahead gene give it a try well you know bob had been on an all on call basis and right when he got to the point where he's told you about up to this point uh they stopped calling him into work and and uh this was very frustrating he wasn't a fun guy to be around and what had happened is when he uh as he told you before he had to sign documents allowing them to monitor his phone and fax and computer and anything that came into his house over a phone line and to make a long sad story short
(2:20:40) bob's wife was having an affair and they found out and uh when they gave him his security clearance they deemed him to be financially stably emotionally stable and just generally stable and so now they knew that he was going to be having some emotional problems and they stopped calling him ultimately they heard his wife admit that she had had an affair to her mother over the phone and that and she and she ultimately told bob and uh they called him in and yanked a security clearance saying that he would they deemed him to be a sure candidate
(2:21:13) for emotional instability and uh that he could reapply again in six to nine months never heard any of this before you've never heard this no yeah that's the reason that he lost his clearance it had nothing to do with him all right well you would sign all these papers bob what motivated you to go public i mean that that's weird in itself i mean why did you go public surely you had to worry about your life you had to worry about your career and i i don't know whether it's everybody knows but you were virtually
(2:21:49) the modern term is erased your educational records uh were erased uh a lot of the work you did in new mexico was erased saved for one little mistake i think your name was uh uh you know and still is recorded in a phone book isn't it right for the most part uh yeah for the most part everything was they what was it they missed where was that a phone book where that was uh well it was an old phone book in los alamos los alamos however certainly they they couldn't erase the uh as i mentioned at the beginning of our
(2:22:27) conversation the the newspaper article at that time clearly clearly stated on the front page of the local los alamos newspaper that i was a physicist working yeah yes um so you know they're they certainly couldn't go back and make that disappear but um they made a lot disappear didn't they yeah however art you know they they did lie to begin with as you know george knapp uh for your listeners as they uh at that point in time was a a news anchor for the cbs affiliate here in las vegas yes and uh he had extensive
(2:23:03) correspondence with los alamos as well as kirk meyer which was one of the subcontractors that bob worked for and they all denied kirk meyer did say he was issued a z number which was a number uh required to be an employee and to get a paycheck but none of them had said that they retained records that far back and at this point in time it was only you know five or six years earlier it wasn't you know 10 years like it is now and um that they didn't retain any records at all and george gave them numerous chances or he said are you sure (2:23:37) you have no record of bob lazar that he has kirk meyer are you sure you have no record of bob lazar they denied denied denied and then that's when bob came up with the los alamos phone book with his name and uh station number in there and then also he had a copy of the los alamos newspaper from 1982.

(2:23:57) how did they react to that well well we're also talking about two people when i was initially hired on i was hired on uh via a head hunter essentially for los alamos sure and i worked um like i said the uh initial time you work for anyone uh in a secure job you have that uh time before your clearance goes through and that's when i worked for kirk meyer uh and then later became hired on directly uh at los alamos however both people uh you know either quote unquote lost their records uh or just flatly denied uh the existence of me even working there
(2:24:39) well what pushed you to go public what pushed me to go public essentially was fear um fear of what fear of death fear of prosecution fear of well just very general i i imagine you can add them all together and that was essentially what i was feeling at the time [Music] you know at that time i had nothing other than what i had said to anybody for the most part if i suddenly disappeared off the face of the earth uh nobody would have noticed well not only would nobody would have noticed i certainly have friends and family that
(2:25:18) would miss me but no one would have known exactly what happened and people disappear all the time right well especially especially in las vegas so i at least wanted to get what was going on out in the open and uh i believe it worked very well it was essentially a push back uh against all the force that was leaning on me uh where if i i thought if i just went on in a subdued fashion on television and maybe just said a little bit um and just kind of gave a little shove back they would lay off and uh it was perhaps it was a
(2:25:58) big gamble but it worked exactly the way i wanted it to also art at this point when he was trying to show those around him what was going on is when he took uh people like me and his wife and uh john leer out to the uh blm land outside of area 51 and we actually saw one of the discs tested in the sky now bob did this after he after he told us the story after he was in trouble and in fear for his life he told those around him the story and obviously we were a little apprehensive when a friend said you know we thought he was just working in in you
(2:26:33) know some project for the government none of us really cared what he was doing and uh you know so he wanted to prove that uh not that we thought he was lying but it's still an outrageous story to tell your wife and friends and say oh by the way i'm working on flying saucers sure and john has told me the story of the trip up to area 51 and there is video to support your claim as well right right plenty of video now they didn't let you go though because in 1990 and a lot of people used this bob to try to discredit you
(2:27:05) uh you had to plead guilty to a pandering charge related to the apparent operation of an illegal brothel in las vegas now uh a pandering charge that's very serious though actually i got to pick the charge oh you got to pick it yeah i got the charge from three of them uh now my understanding uh is a little vague but i think all you did was some computer work isn't that well what i literally did we have again we have to you know backtrack to years ago after i left los alamos and opened up um opened up one hour of photo business for
(2:27:42) my wife uh in los alamos we had decided uh to move and we began because of our contract with los alamos began to amass quite a bit of money we were looking for a business to buy into uh one of the things we invested in was one of the legal brothels uh in northern nevada a very northern nevada no kidding right well this was years ago yeah people need to know uh here in my county of nye we have legal brothels and uh near reno they have legal brothels as well right which is up where this was okay and uh i was just (2:28:20) another business a business just an investment opportunity um and uh you know we had uh made money off of it and and later got rid of it however uh you know an amazing coincidence uh after all this had not after all this had happened after i left the lab and uh we decided to move to nevada which is essentially what brought me to las vegas here i had businesses in southern california in northern nevada and in new mexico and i needed a central hub and that's the only reason i moved out to las vegas sure um we uh essentially you you knew the (2:29:00) brothel business at that point well yeah to some extent and uh even though we were out of it after um after i had left s4 and uh began to look for uh some other source of income i ran into one of the old managers of the place up north right she said she had a place running down here that wasn't running illegally but she wondered if i could install a computer system like we had up there to make her business run smoother and i said there's no problem it'll take me a while to write the program and i can set the (2:29:34) computers up for you and so so on and so forth they also wanted a security camera outside to make sure a guy wasn't coming to the door with a gun or a knife i essentially installed all that stuff and and left and that was uh you know that was the end of it however it wasn't the end of it no it wasn't the end of it then uh certainly it was pretty um it's actually art what happened after that is as you well know living here in southern nevada that when george nat did his special ufos the best evidence in november of 89 it

(2:30:08) george won uh won an emmy for it and it was one of the highest rated shows in the history of nevada so when it came for sweeps week the next spring george said it would be a great idea to have bob lazar on so the you know bob had a giant following and uh say what does bob lazar went up i've been up to so bob goes on television not knowing that installing all of this equipment for for a brothel was illegal and on television george says what have you been up to bob and bob says oh i installed some security systems and
(2:30:40) computers and things for a local brothel and then needless to say the police were apparently so all right gentlemen hold on we've only got one more hour to go and it sounds like the coffee is working this is coast to coast back to bob lazar and gene huff bob here's a really good question for you i guess we ought to finish up so you anyway you got arrested uh after uh telev after being on television with george knapp well not really arrested they said uh just come down and talk to us but um uh yeah essentially that that was the
(2:31:18) impetus of everything was talking on the uh tv all right there's there's a big long drawn out story behind it which we probably don't have time to go into essentially the madam of the brothel was an informant for the fbi dea and um anyway she got off she was a prostitute who ran the whole brothel and she got off with a misdemeanor from an old early 1900s nevada statute called keeping a disorderly house and they had to nail somebody and bob just went down and turned himself in and they gave him uh probation and that was
(2:31:51) it i see well a lot of people even the judge thought it was very strange that the fbi uh was at the trial and um i think he made some very unusual comments too knowing that that there was some other influence yeah he he the judge said on camera in court that he didn't understand why the madam of this brothel got off with a misdemeanor and considering that bob lazar was certainly not a panderer in the classic sense of the term and had no prior criminal record why in the world he would have pled guilty uh uh to pandering yeah it
(2:32:25) was some bad legal of advice and uh well we can all turn our imaginations loose on that one yeah it's not real and actually the uh the p they gave him probation and the people of the probation department used to fight to try and get to come do the checks on bob so they can speak to bob lazar [Laughter] all right i want to run you through a few fast questions i've got a million faxes one is a good one how could some of the ufos or parts be disassembled if they in essence had no seams they were they were absolutely torn out of the (2:32:56) craft when i had corrected myself and said that one of the gravity amplifiers was removed from the sport model itself it wasn't removed uh surgically like you would imagine it looked like it was almost cut off with an oxy-acetylene torch although there were no burn marks on the uh on the deck but um it was absolutely ripped out now i never did see where the other amplifier to that uh craft went or you know heard any stories about it but uh maybe it was the one on the workbench all right ripped out is the answer all
(2:33:34) right good answer um by the way for your reference uh bob the frog was levitated in the high field magnetic laboratory in amsterdam at 16 tesla if bob would like to take a look at the photographs and read about it i've got to let a web address here the most complete account is given in quote of flying frauds and levitrons by mv barry and ak geim european journal of physics um a version of version 18 page 307 to 313.
(2:34:08) uh that's just for your uh reference i i'm really interested in that um have you ever bob subjected yourself to regressive hypnosis in hopes of recalling details because obviously even in this program they're still coming back yeah i did in fact it was one of the first things we did and it was not uh you know again so many so many offbeat stories get started on this information sure uh you know people said i uh you know was either drugged or hypnotized there at work and couldn't remember anything or uh you know however the (2:34:49) stories go but there are plenty of them and they're more than more than a fair share on the internet but um i initially went to a hypnotist here in town by the name of elaine keck specifically one that had heard nothing about flying saucers alien abductions or any of the other silly things associated with this and went specifically to remember intimate details of what i was working with specifically layouts schematics so on and so forth so i could sit there and you know to the absolute best of my ability draw and record everything

(2:35:28) uh that i had seen and done and uh that did that did help out quite a bit it seemed to you know all right and for the record art uh you know bob had a very good memory of all the the major things that happened he's talking about frequencies and thing you know quantum behavior and things things that he wanted to get into relaxation and try and re-read those reports and uh but you know it was nothing like he he didn't know he had worked on flying discs and suddenly remembered audrey hypnosis that's not what happened
(2:35:59) all right well these are random questions bob uh somebody asked if the uh anti-gravity field has to extend all the way to the ground in order for a saucer to fly or if it has to simply surround the disk itself or the bottom of the disk no it really just has to surround the disk itself in fact that's that's how the uh when i was talking to that other gentleman in australia yeah that is essentially what what we were talking about that the field produced around the craft is like a turret uh a big donut essentially uh however
(2:36:36) with the bottom extended is uh you know the pedestal the uh the the effect of the uh emitter is pointing in that direction but the the field does completely surround the craft all right um here's another one please ask bob if the principles that you've been describing tonight have any relevance in what you've heard of stories uh with regard to the infamous philadelphia experiment you know that philadelphia experiment um a long time ago when i was at los angeles i had heard of the philadelphia experiment
(2:37:15) some time ago and when i was in los alamos they have a classified library there in the library um and i was able to find some general information on the philadelphia experiment and i you know in my personal opinion here that this is a story that has gotten so completely blown out of proportion um the certainly there were people injured and people killed in the opera or this test uh the the aim of the project apparently now maybe i was reading false material but from what i understand the aim of the project was to make this
(2:37:55) this was the apparent first test of any stealth technology was to make an entire ship invisible to radar not optically invisible right correct um and to do this they were essentially using huge microwave generators which is essentially what radar is and um i think the the accident that occurred uh was more along the lines of radiation injuries and things along those lines not the uh more sensationalized space into another dimension continuing people coming up in the middle of the metal and all yeah i think there was a much more
(2:38:37) prosaic explanation uh for what happened and you know in my opinion and from the small amount of information that i was able uh to get my hands on because that had always fascinated me too as to what happened with that but i think that's you know all we're looking at is just a uh an accident along those lines and the reason for the cover-up i think is the same thing same reason for the cover-ups we see around area 51 is uh more of uh a legal reason because of the injuries involved just like the toxic waste
(2:39:08) problem you bet out there then uh then there being something unbelievably top secret all right alvilic won't like that i know but that's all right uh art i'm a computer tech my training includes understanding electronics of course please ask bob if he would give us some figures on the toroid that he worked with perhaps voltages and current i like to tinker the tauride toroid yeah well a toroid is a shape well you were just yeah that's just the shape of the field he didn't you didn't even work with the troy did you
(2:39:39) no i mean what you know that yeah that's that's just the shape i don't i don't understand the question i guess all right uh i don't either so i give up uh have you been approached or have you agreed to be part of the cse program to get a congressional investigation going on all of this have you been approached by them uh no not that i know ever remember all right um uh please ask bob there is a gravity theory out there that says that gravity is rf waves from one hertz to past light

basically energy doesn't get destroyed
(2:40:15) so it must all be out there billions of waves the earth is an rf absorber so on one side you are pushed to the earth by the pressure of these rf waves do you think the engine you were working with was simply a wide band rf amp then taking the signal 180 degrees out of phase canceling any waves coming in thus making anti gravity no i i don't think so i mean i i kind of see what he's leaning to uh he's relating the gravitational waves to rf waves and and in fact in some in some respects there are some similarities
(2:40:51) here and there but it isn't just plain uh rf okay a cavity resonator normally bounded by conducting surfaces in which electromagnetic energy may be stored or transmitted as oscillations whose frequency is determined by the size shape make up of the cavity do these propulsion systems use this technology in scalar form wavelength waveguide form or modulated fm form against or with gravity uh in a waveguide form with gravity essentially is gravity this is along the lines of what i was saying uh that this behaves very similar
(2:41:32) to a microwave system and uh you know we're seeing uh really a lot of similarities in the construction uh of the two the comparison between the reactor wave guides and emitters and um microwave systems themselves all right what does mr lazar think of dr michael wolff he has in the past supported mr lozar's claims about s4 and the sports model um do you remember just refresh me on uh he's the gentleman from back east i think in connecticut or somewhere like that who says um in fact i think i read that he said that um
(2:42:13) he was actually a medical doctor working out at s4 isn't that right art i vaguely recall that something like that and um and uh essentially concurs with a lot of the things you have to say but yeah i i don't think bob has ever spoken to him or talked to him or i i i really don't i really don't remember his entire story so i can't i can't really he wrote a book but we didn't get it all right lee in grand junction colorado asks bob was being interviewed on a program several years ago where he
(2:42:44) described seeing a black and white photograph of an alien which had an autopsy performed on it he said at the time all you could see was one large organ in the chest cavity uh if he has seen the video ellie an autopsy please ask him if that's what he saw or how the two compare no that that isn't what i saw i don't believe that that video is is authentic i believe that's completely fabricated um the um in one of the briefings i had mentioned um there was there were two autopsy photographs of the apparent occupants of the craft
(2:43:23) uh they were both um cut when one was cut in a tea fashion it was a bust shot essentially from the middle of the chest upward um the um chest was cut in a tea fashion the uh skin was pulled back and apparently what was removed from the body was a single large organ and i said uh that it looks it most closely resembles a liver now we're dealing with a black and white photograph so i don't know sure what color it would be but it it has that almost semi-fluid appearance there is uh the other portions of the other
(2:44:03) photograph had that organ cut itself and it appeared to have many other chambers and just from the small amount of information they provided it it seemed to have the function of several organs that we would be familiar with but essentially evolved or grown together however you want to look at it but essentially just one large organ performing the functions of uh many organs that we're familiar with so all you saw to be clear were those photographs you never saw any sort of alien being alive or dead in person no not not that
(2:44:47) no oh no no no you know again this story always gets bent out of shape too well bob this is why i didn't mention dr michael wolf dr michael wolff says well you tell the story about walking down the hall says he's one of the guys that was standing in that room that's what he said okay i will i will tell this all right um do i think i ever i saw a live alien no i am i even sure that those photographs were of an actual alien no how could i be um what we're referring to here art is at one time i was i believe i was (2:45:23) walking away from the hangar portion uh of the installation and down this hallway that connected all the other rooms on a door to my left uh there are these nine or ten inch square uh windows on them that have the wires running through home security windows if you know what i'm talking about sure as i was walking down there i glanced quickly into the room and what i saw in a quick glance was two uh two other gentlemen in white lab coats yes facing my way and then there was a smaller thing thing okay with its back towards the

immediately you know everyone has jumped on it saying well you there's a live alien and so on and so forth now i find it much more plausible to believe that this was a dummy or something uh them trying to ascertain the size of whatever creature flew in these crafts perhaps they were going to sit in the seat see where it's arm placements leg placements would be so on and so forth but i have you know there's certainly no reason for me to believe (2:46:45) that that was a uh an actual alien living or that it wasn't well or that it wasn't however you would think that you know quite possibly barry would have said something about that or i would have been notified uh you're passing the alien room well or it's something along those lines i don't think that would have been left out and uh you know quite frankly if there were living aliens uh there would we be doing a back engineering program like we were wouldn't we be receiving some instruction as to how these devices
(2:47:21) operated so it's um unless they weren't the aliens that knew that yeah anyway i just i no i don't believe that was i believe they had a little dummy because they were sitting there looking at it like they were trying to size it up as to is this thing the right size or so on and so anyway dr michael wolff alleges that he was one of the men in the white lab coats all right that's where he fits in that's all right we're going to break here at the bottom they are only one segment to go and we're trying to fit in
(2:47:46) as much as we can when we come back i want to ask bob whether he ever actually saw one of these crap close up lift off the ground i.e defy gravity we'll be right back [Music] her hands are never cold she's got better on days you won't have to think twice she's pure new york snow she got better days aside [Music] stay tuned for more of the absolute best of art bell right after a word from your local sponsors [Music]
(2:49:05) back to bob lazar and gene hoff uh bob i'm curious i'm told that you're not going to do many interviews or perhaps not any after this one what's going on well what happened is um actually believe it or not there's someone who's trying to call yeah uh gene actually knows more about this than i do well you know when they when they optioned by screenplay aren't they uh you know bob's story has been owned by two separate movie studios who for whatever unknown reason have not allowed the movie to make it to the (2:49:39) screen well that was basically because of me because i kept turning down their screenplay yeah you know bob he gives them freedom in a straight jacket i mean he won't allow them to do all the outrageous things they need to do and so there was long bargaining this this studio wants to get the movie on the screen and um they want bob to give him give them his attention and they want him to be actually actively involved as a as a technical consultant on the movie and uh and bob never does any interviews anyway so it wasn't much
(2:50:10) of a demand he never goes anywhere so he agreed to it to give them the the impact if they're going to spend tens of millions of dollars to get a realistic portrayal of his movie on the screen they'd like him to wait and and i guess do the rounds when the movie comes out well so it's a rare opportunity i want to thank you both all right uh some very fast technical questions if you don't know the answers bob just say no are gravity waves a broadband or narrowband phenomena well they're actually a narrow band phenomena
(2:50:42) but they're not just a simple electromagnetic wave it's uh it seems to be a complex emission and that's that's about all i can say in a short time about them all right uh what is their frequency or wavelength or is there a way of was there a way of measuring that well there was there's uh it's not really a set as i said frequency or wavelength but there was an apparent i wish this person would stop training yeah indeed there was a an apparent carrier wave and that was i i believe of extremely low frequency
(2:51:21) not to say that this is the gravitational wave but it was in the area of 7.46 or 7.2 do you remember what the exact number was gene yeah 7.46 hertz at a one micron bandwidth or something like that right at almost three o'clock in the morning my my iq drops about fifty points maybe together we could get one answer out of them is gravity radiation coherent yes it is can you draw a schematic or block diagram of the propulsion system the answer to that has to be yes you've done yes absolutely uh what level of
(2:51:53) power is produced during travel kilowatts megawatts gigawatts or measurements that we don't have to do it all right gigawatts gigawatts huge and that's the the way the craft runs is the reactor actually operates it at its full potential always uh the the way they if you want to use the term throttle the power

is they just they change the phase of the amplifiers themselves but the um the reactor is always outputting its maximum all right so that answers my next one which was what is the duty cycle peak average power and duration of (2:52:34) output so it's always at full output right uh is there however however i i do have to say that um when the amp all three amplifiers are being used uh for the delta mode of travel there is they they do not operate continuously in other words uh if the craft was sitting here locally in our our local system you can't make a a jump or you can't distort space from here to 30 light years out this has to be done in several consecutive jumps and there is apparently a recycle time uh you know on the system uh that
(2:53:18) and they're they're pulsed right yeah they're they're pulsed and uh again we're working against the three o'clock yes uh iq drop here but i'm trying to remember uh we even calculated the recycle time on them because uh we wanted to find out what the actual travel time would be and adding oh god i can't remember it's microseconds or milliseconds but you know what what we'll do in the future is uh should we ever get the guys to update our web pages post some of this information more some more of the
(2:53:53) technical stuff yeah that would be great people that are interested in it [Music] you're listening to an encore presentation of coast to coast am with art bell all right is there a relatively simple antenna detector that one might use with a receiver or spectrum analyzer to capture gravity waves no absolutely not what em effects are produced near an operating saucer all dramatic ones uh anything you'd see around a uh you know any uh any sort of electromagnetic pulse but you see a a tremendous electromagnetic
(2:54:48) disturbance actually you have an optical disturbance too one that is quite fascinating um if you are directly under the craft uh you will only see the sky above it and and here again is what i was describing as the bending of light you know this is also a potential fantastic camouflage uh should we be able to duplicate a system like this for a military vehicles and what have you because the the way the gravitational field is formed around the craft uh the light is bent around it too so looking up directly at the craft you
(2:55:27) will see this guy to actually see it you need to step back out of the field well you're not really in the field but uh yeah if you kind of see what i mean there there are certain from certain viewpoints uh the the craft is completely invisible all right do gravity waves radio or light waves in any way do they intermodulate radio light is there any way how would you know i guess you wouldn't well i'm trying to guess here how that might happen uh well i i imagine they would because your what your deal what you're doing is
(2:56:04) you're distorting well is that true i i don't know for sure so i i guess i don't want to guess that's an answer here's one uh that i don't understand you might referring to the candle experiment does the flame continue to radiate heat as well as light when it's frozen why or why not this is something that still to this day makes absolutely no sense to me and and i saw it so this has aggravated me and probably will forever one of the experiments they showed me if you remember i mentioned the uh
(2:56:42) producing a localized distortion producing a black dot yes um what the other uh experiment barry performed for me was putting a candle in that space and what he did was uh i really don't recall if he uh pulsed the uh emitter at a lower power a higher power or it was probably a lower distortion but the candle flame continued to emit light but the flames stopped flickering as if it was frozen in time oh that's weird no i didn't i always believe me this is quite beyond weird were you close enough to feel heat
(2:57:22) no and i you know i don't think anyone was brave enough to stick their hands in that general area either that's what it would be like but um uh this the fact is if there was a localized gravity distortion obviously there was and if there's a localized distortion in time uh why is there light being emitted i mean there's nothing here that doesn't make any sense at all and this has really driven me crazy uh and i can't so yeah if they're heat emitted boy i would really love to know myself wouldn't it
(2:57:56) indicate that well i actually don't know as much about photons as we thought we did well really we don't know you know when it comes right down to it but obviously if we're seeing uh you know photons photons emitted in you know are our normal optical bandwidth uh there's nothing to tell me that they wouldn't be in the infrared bandwidth which is heat also so my guess is that there there would be heat but i would certainly love uh to have that demonstrated to me again and really

observe that you
(2:58:27) observed only one propulsion system correct one propulsion system in other words one type right well from what i from what i understood there was only one type all right do the saucers have a communication or did they seem to have any sort of communication system that you could perceive no again however this brings up another point when i did see one of the craft tests flown [Music] there at one point i was permitted to be inside the hangar the craft was taken outside and it was a very unimpressive test the uh the craft just lifted off the ground and (2:59:06) moved around slightly however would have impressed me well as i said that's as as unimpressive as the flying saucer test could be but uh i mean as far as it's zooming around and doing all kinds of exotic maneuvers it it didn't do that in your opinion would humans survive in zooming around mode in these crowds absolutely um but my my point was was that um the person was apparently in communication with someone in the craft now from what i was able to see and i i believe i even asked the guy that he was uh communicating with him on a normal
(3:00:15) try a couple of questions from the audience uh so little time first time caller line you're on the air with bob lazar and jean huff hello hello hi where are you i am in i'm calling from bellingham washington yes sir and respects you mr bell your program is excellent thank you i have a question for mr lazar ask and two times before i follow in any of this did you ever see any sort of strange blue light yeah so around the uh well strange blue light uh wasn't that strange when the craft began to lift off the ground uh
(3:00:50) because of the high voltage present on the very bottom of the craft there was a corona discharge kind of a a brush like fuzzy blue glow around the bottom which dissipated when the craft got up to about 30 feet or so but that was the only you know uh you know unique blue light color effect that you saw right east of the rockies you're all in here with bob lazar and gene huffelo where are you i'm in oklahoma city all right sir and uh i was listening to the program and then he he was talking about that model yes and on
(3:01:23) that on that booklet said that uh when he was inside the craft and he powered it up one of the panels become you know invisible like some kind of weird writing on it all right transparent uh is that correct yeah well that was a i was going to touch on that when i had mentioned that all the seats were facing in one direction between each archway in the craft there's obviously the skin of the craft that one archway that the seats face is apparently unique uh now i say apparently because the other archways may in fact do this but i saw no
(3:02:07) evidence of that but the one time when i went into the craft there was another team working in there and they energized um that portion that archway in the craft where the skin of the craft became transparent now that's not the most amazing thing i mean we have liquid crystals that do that too that's true uh in fact i think the new buick sunroofs do that however this is more metallic uh than crystalline so this was uh certainly another you know unique material that can be used as uh you know obviously a transparent
(3:02:45) translucent viewport or uh some sort of video or whatever their output is a display panel all right also bob on the what this gentleman was referring to you said on the right side of the archway was a solid panel and and and some sort of unknown writing scrolled down that right right well i i related it to writing there it's it's just the closest thing i said it looked like was a korean korean korean right yeah i mean i'm not very familiar with uh uh you know writing that do you know what korean writing looks like it's mostly (3:03:23) lions and little well it's like chinese it's well no not really chinese kind of looks chinese um all right i'll take a look at korean writing but that's my closest analogy to it i'm not saying that it was it represented it in any way i understand well to the rockies you're on the air with bob lazar and gene huff hello yeah good morning this is alexander in central california yes sir i was just curious whether you're able to identify the material that the emitters were hanging off of as far as (3:03:53) elemental sort of thing no we never got to that that was uh certainly further down the line but if it was identical at least apparently to me uh to be what the waveguide was also made of that connected to the reactor and in fact removing the reactor um if you grab the wave guide and lift it up it just collapses in on itself i mean there's no visible seams or anything it just gets smaller uh um but it it um you know there's really no way to describe it we weren't able to perform any tests on it other than just standing (3:04:37) there and looking at it in amazement all right listen i want to give you guys have been so good i want to give you an opportunity to plug something or another uh you've got a tape i know uh gene how do people get can you still get that tape or not yeah you could actually the reason that tape is in existence was uh so i didn't have to do any interviews and uh i used to just give that out to people because i absolutely loathe doing interviews but we found people were selling it instead yeah but they can they can get to your

(3:05:08) website to our website and everything's on there and then in fact we never advertise it or anything we'll uh i'll cook up something we'll give a some sort of discount knock it down for our bell listeners if people are interested in buying it we'll i'll go ahead and discount the uh tape and the poster on that web page if they mention art bell all right but not everybody has a computer so okay well if if you're interested you could uh you could write to uh try dot productions t-r-i-d-o-t
(3:05:36) productions 2413 south eastern avenue suite 225 las vegas nevada 89104 and uh we'll have the girls send you a postcard and give you prices and addresses and places to send money for a taper poster if you'd like do it do it again please not southeastern if south okay it's tridot productions t-r-i-d-o-t productions right 24-13 f period eastern avenue southeastern avenue suite 225 las vegas nevada 89104 and they write and if they're interested we'll send them a postcard all right um when uh the screenplay that you are
(3:06:23) now developing that is going to tell this whole story gene uh when will this be manifested into something that we can go out and watch at the movies well you know i don't think steven spielberg could tell you that the fact is the first movie deal literally the president of the studio came to meet bob and said i'm going to make this movie do you want to help or not yeah and five years later that movie's still not on the screen so i would i would not be so bold as to give a date but these people do seem
(3:06:51) serious and if they could wave a magic wand they'd like to have it on the screen in the in the summer or fall of 1998 but i mean who knows well the atmosphere for it now after the way the genre has been going has got to be just right well they say that if a mediocre movie like uh men in black and and we all had hoped men in black would be great but it was kind of mediocre uh it did 230 million just here in the united states so i i would say that's more than encouraging bob are you going to uh you're going to
(3:07:24) act at all in the movie but actually i don't want them to make the movie you don't no really why not he's all right you really haven't been he's afraid they'll make it outrageous and won't stick to the storyline he's probably right by the way they will you know well you have to when you sign a contract for a movie deal you have to sign you know you have to sign away every right i mean they could turn it into anything they want and uh so bob is as they gets it close to the vest and and (3:07:57) restricts what they can portray they can't portray any live aliens and oh i don't know by the time it's over you'll have little guys going yeah well it sure has been a pleasure doing this and we sure did get a lot of good information out and i want to thank you both and i i'm sure you both wanna coast to coast AM, art bell, radio interview with john lear, september, 3rd (03-09-1993) - YouTube

Transcript:
(00:00) [Music] one moment john lear before i get to john and we have in uh radio the luxury of a lot of time john is uh on the line and able to hear what i'm saying right now and i guess i'm going to begin this show uh with my experience so it's out of the way and i'm going to relate this experience to you because it really in some ways accounts for why john is here on this particular morning because when i saw

what i saw this last sunday i picked up the phone uh the moment i hit the house and called john lear's house unfortunately at that (00:45) point got a tape and uh related briefly my experience and uh john called me the next day and uh i it was like a confession or something i had to get older john so here's what happened briefly this last sunday and i will neither uh if i'm able add add to it or detract from it i'm going to tell you the story just as it happened on my way home to a little town to the west of las vegas about 60 miles to the west uh called nevada and i was about a mile from home and uh on a street that runs from east or east west and i was traveling east to (01:28) west uh to intersect with a street that runs north-south and would take me on the final leg home it was uh about uh 11 it was between 11 and 11 30. i'm sorry i didn't really note the time that carefully but somewhere in that uh window between 11 and 11 30 i should suspect about 11 15 or 20 would be my best guess and i was on this uh final street and all of a sudden uh you'll recall that the moon was a bit fuller than it is now so it was fairly well lit up the weather conditions were calm if there was a breeze it was a very very (02:12) light breeze as to be insignificant my wife uh caught something i guess out of the corner of her eye and turned around looked out the back window and said what in the hell is that i said i don't know and i stopped the car and uh i turned off uh the headlights and rolled down my window and coming up from behind us just off the driver's side was something large i would guesstimate it would be a hundred feet across absolutely triangular and i would guess it to be at about 150 feet uh in altitude and it was coming up literally behind us
(03:10) its uh direction of travel was roughly uh east south east and traveling towards the west northwest and it was lit there were two white lights and one strobing red light strobing at a rate uh faster than you would associate with the normal uh aviation traffic the object was moving very slowly the word i would use to describe its movement was more floating uh certainly it was going um at a rate that would not sustain conventional aircraft in flight there just wouldn't be enough lift at that speed so it was floating and it literally
(03:56) floated uh right across the aura very nearly across the top of my car just a little off to the driver's side and i'll tell you the sky was lit well enough that when i looked up at it i was able to discern the substance of it and it was black and solid and triangular and it moved out and across my area very slowly floated out across and continued to float in a west northwesterly direction uh i could see it uh literally going across uh the entire valley and uh i was able to keep sight of it uh for i don't know
(04:35) uh maybe as much as four four three or four minutes somewhere in there and then i finally lost sight of it so i have absolutely no idea what i saw except that it was large it was precisely as i described to you it wasn't a guess it was not an indistinct light this was without question a craft the question is was it a craft that uh our military has that we don't know that they have or was it from someplace else i don't know i would suspect the first before the second but certainly either one is possible so that was my
(05:13) experience i'm 48 years old i've never seen one of these things before i didn't think i ever would see one but i did my wife was witness as well i actually put her on the air uh the other morning for about 30 seconds just because i didn't want to be out there twisting slowly in the breeze by myself and i'm still thinking about all this so there it is for what it is for what it's worth that's my story and i swear to you it is true john lear john lear is an airline captain john has flown
(05:55) 160 different types of aircraft in over 50 different countries and all types of flying experimental test flying production test flying airline passenger flying cargo hauling movie work stunt flying aircraft ferrying air dropping missions racing and secret missions of all kinds lear held 18 world speed records in the learjet including speed around the world and holds the most faa airmen certificates issued to a single individual which include the airline transport rating flight instructor ground instructor navigator flight engineer flight
(06:33) dispatcher airframe and power plant mechanic control tower operator and parachute rigger he's been a commercial pilot for thirty years and has been flying for thirty five he holds the professional air traffic controllers award for outstanding airmanship presented in 1968. he's slowing missions worldwide for various government agencies flew in southeast asia between 1967 and 73 and has flown extensively in europe the middle east afghanistan the far east and africa as a non-skid pilot he has over 16 000 hours of flight time of which over (07:17) twelve thousand hours are in jets lear's father of course was william p lear

senior who not only helped develop the first car radio the eight tracks uh stereo the automatic pilot for fighter aircraft but who developed the lear jet one of the first and most successful of all business jet aircraft lear studied industrial design at the arts center college in los angeles and was a state senate candidate in nevada 1980 he's written extensively about airplanes and other subjects and was middle east correspondent for combat (07:52) illustrated between 1975 and 1977 while stationed in beirut he is an amateur photographer and astronomer and has won several photography awards for pictures taken during his worldwide travels in the early 70s lear owned and skipped the 12 meter america's cup boat soliloquy out of marina del rey lear's interest in ufos began after reading bud hopkins book missing time and then a chance encounter with u.
(08:26) s air force pilot who was at a base in england where an extraterrestrial craft landed in december of 1980 ladies and gentlemen john lear good morning john eric how you doing good to have you back thank you um i i don't know where to start john except i'm sure you were listening and heard what i had to say that is exactly as my experience occurred i never thought i'd uh have one john and it's still uh it's it i've been very thoughtful about it ever since the audience has helped because they kept talking about
(09:02) it but uh it's just praying on my mind any idea what i saw well uh if i had to guess based on all the stories i've heard i would say that it's [Music] an a12 avenger okay one other fact john that i did leave out and that was that uh it was very still i've said on the air you could hear a cricket a quarter mile away and that was the case it was very quiet and as close as this doggone thing was to me ah john it did not make a sound oh not a sound i mean what what kind of a12 avenger what is that you have some very very quiet
(09:47) airplanes and like i say i'm not saying what it was just what i think it was the a12 avenger is the airplane that was cancelled uh it was the navy fighter bomber that was canceled about a year ago by the pentagon because of cost overruns it was being built by general dynamics and mcdonnell douglas and what happened is when uh the funds were withdrawn for this thing unbeknownst to the public and everybody else there was about 10 to 13 of this craft already in various stages of construction uh most of them already built
(10:23) so when they withdrew the funds uh to this uh craft they uh asked lockheed to get it in the air and they took these uh when it was about 10 to 13 airplanes and uh worked on them what they had to do is these were navy airplanes ostensibly for a carrier and they had to one of the over uh overweight mechanisms was the wing folding mechanism and uh there's some other things in it and put engines in them and started flying and they're extremely extremely quiet um and they're the ones that are flying around now one of the reasons why i say
(10:59) this is is because if it had been anything strange like something extraterrestrial uh it's possible that it would have uh canceled your or put out your headlights or your engine or something like that which is usually the way also it wouldn't have been the white light on it possibly the red light but i don't know if anybody has seen uh a saucer with a flashing red light no matter what one other one other aspect it had john was it was flying too slow to be sustained in flight aerodynamically as i understand it
(11:36) i mean it was john it was floating yeah yeah now that's the one thing because uh the conventional craft you need lift and uh although the the delta plan form does create quite a bit of lift uh it does need a little bit of speed so i i you know since i wasn't there and i don't know you know i didn't see it i'm not sure what it was but it sure sounds like these a12 avengers you know one of the things they do and i say they is is we the public don't to get to know all those secrets so one of the things they do is they play
(12:10) little tricks on us they they find out what what we're doing what the important people are doing what art bell is doing on sunday night and and fly out and intercept him and fly over him and and get him to say that he saw an extraterrestrial craft and then oh no but artbell's not said that and then when they're in the brief room they say hey man guess what art belt city saw yeah saw me uh flying i guess i'm an alien huh and that's their little joke that they play on on the public so i'm (12:38) not saying that happened but that's the little things that they like to do john my guess would have to be i said it uh earlier in the week if somebody pressed me against the wall and said we want your best guess and out with it now or we're punching you i'd have had to say i thought that it might be some sort of military secret aircraft uh that is my first guess and there was nothing about it that would suggest uh except that it it's like it performed as nothing john i've i've ever seen or (13:07) that i've understood on earth could fly here too slow too quiet too close it was so close that was the thing about it john i could see all the substance of it not details no windows no markings nothing like that but i saw the black craft come over you know it was dark black and the sky was lighter because it was near a full moon uh well that's one thing that doesn't make uh sense is they don't like to fly those things on any night when there's a any kind of a moon because it does let people see what they are

(13:39) also the engines that we have even though our technology base is about 30 years ahead of where the public thinks it is uh we're kind of strapped to uh uh turbine and and fan jet engines and they do make some sound so being at that low and that close it would seem that they would make a noise but i'm gonna have to stick with uh uh that it that it's a craft bar there's a lot of things they they have there's probably five or six airplanes that they have that the public doesn't know anything about for instance the f-19 uh
(14:14) which was built right along on the same assembly line as the f-117a has been flying around for almost 12 years now uh it's an av fighter with a delta wing platform very very strange looking aircraft and the public doesn't know anything about that frankly john i had not heard that many reports of triangular ufos i thought mine was unique and i came on there and reported it and all of a sudden people started sending me newspaper articles and reports of triangular objects cited up in the state of washington and on and on and on my (14:47) fax machine lit up and uh so apparently there have been and and so did my telephone so there have been quite a few sightings of that sort uh and you would attribute most of them do you think john to uh experimental us aircraft well some of them some of them some of them are there any uh substantial reports that you know of john uh of alien craft or or craft that appeared to be alien uh that were triangular no not that i've heard they're mostly uh the flying wing type huge flying wings or circular crab but i haven't heard too
(15:25) much of the uh the triangular type being what we uh uh what we think of as extraterrestrial all right there was a uh program on fox last night that i fortunately know that you saw because i called you and uh as a matter of fact my boss called me and said hey it's on i switched over and i caught it and the whole cast of characters was there linda howe she's on my sunday area 2000 show george knapp same deal stanton friedman i noticed uh bob lazar uh there was a picture there of s12 that was attributed (15:57) to you um so the whole cast of characters but hopkins and on and on and on all of them were on it was an excellent show what did you think of it i thought it was very interesting it's about two or three years old and i remember when sightings did that program was one of their first ones uh they did do the interview with uh bob lazar which was uh very interesting and of course george knapp and linda howe were on there uh you know george when i first went on george knapp's program on the record in 1987 you know he i
(16:30) clearly remember him uh very very skeptical you know geez john you know it's kind of hard to believe you know extraterrestrial craft at the test site and yeah after a couple years he went you know got pretty involved in the research and then did those very uh very well done uh um best evidence programs that he did the evidence and and now he's out on the road he does almost every uh ufo uh lecture on the on the uh on the lecture beat that uh that there is right and uh he doesn't it seems as though he
(17:04) remembers you know himself uh initiating the investigation in the investigation into ufos but he doesn't remember that you know that i was on his program and i you know originally started not that i care one way or the other but it would be nice for him to say once in a while you know john lear was the one that that originally piqued my interest and did the initial investigation oh john i would say you are the great granddaddy of researchers in the ufo field there was a lot of people before me but uh as far as george navs is concerned it would (17:36) be nice for once in a while for him to say you know uh john lear was well he made john what he may feel is you know he was a um a mainline sort of journalist and he may feel that he was one of the first mainline journalists to really turn his head to this whole affair and that may be fair to say that's right uh the other thing that i found significant that he said was that he investigated uh the mob you know here in las vegas for years and years and years and um the uh the fear

associated with investigating the mob according to him (18:09) was almost nothing compared to the fear generated by uh the investigation of uh this ufo phenomenon yeah that's that's probably true you you concur with that huh uh yes i never investigated tomorrow but uh i knew uh that day very well he's the one that uh that gave george most of his contacts i'm sure that would be so um but nevertheless that's quite a statement to make that the fear associated with this ultimately is uh even bigger than the fear associated with investigating the mob uh we're going to take a break here at (18:43) the bottom of the hour and uh we'll come back and get into all of this uh a little a little deeper stay right where you are great okay you're listening to coast to coast am from las vegas my guest is john lear subject ufos more in a moment here is my guest standard warning if this kind of program disturbs you by all means take a hike turn your radio off and come back another day and this does disturb and upset some people it's a very sensitive topic it's about ufos unidentified flying objects or as some people call them
(19:25) uh identified flying objects and i think john is one of those um i just had an interesting call john um i just had a call off the air from the source that i trust who said art um area 22 and i don't have any idea what that is and the old uh area s4 or the area up uh right up around as for or above s4 is now occupied by the navy well it was always occupied by the navy as a matter of fact that's where lazar's checks came from was department of naval intelligence uh as a matter of fact the navy has always been ahead of (20:08) all of these projects they've just used the us air force as the whipping boy when the airports recovered the uh the saucers were the first ones in 1947 in fact um uh admiral hillenkotter uh was appointed hannibal mj-12 and the navy took control of the whole program and always have been in charge of this program uh they were head of uh both what was is known old as is area 51 referred to as the box and s4 which is near papua's lake uh in charge of that all right john we have um many new affiliate radio stations here
(20:47) on the network since you've uh last been on so a lot of people really don't know a whole lot about you one way or the other i read your bio at the beginning but uh they don't know a whole lot about you and there is quite a story um so briefly john um i'll tell you as i saw this thing when i saw this thing last sunday i had a full day to think about whether i really wanted to come on the air and talk about it or not and i went back and forth arguing with myself uh during that period trying to decide whether i would
(21:20) publicly admit this and i'm still not fully certain i did the right thing because i've taken some heat because of it john so then this is what i'm relating to your decision working for a commercial airline company coming out publicly with all of this ufo business you might give my audience a little history about what happened when you did that well i got interested in uh ufos so to speak i kind of had a little bit of interest because my dad was used to talk about it quite a bit uh but i wasn't all that interested
(22:01) until 1985 when i ran into a friend who uh i knew in laos i i flew over in southeast asia for about uh six or seven years uh this guy was one of the guys that flew in one of the covert programs uh over there called the steed canyon program he was a raven for those of you know what uh who ravens were uh anyway many years later he came to knowledge air force base transferring into the uh the guard the air force guard and he came and called gave me colic came up to the house and we were talking about one thing and another and i asked him where (22:36) all he'd been based and one of the places he mentioned was bent waters and bent waters is a united states air force base uh in england about 70 miles northwest of london and most pilots have heard about a sausage saucer that supposedly landed in december of 1980 and when he said that waters i said oh that's supposed to be where that uh saucer landed and he said no john not supposedly it did he said i didn't see it because i was confined to quarters but i talked to the guys who did and if you ever run into them uh you
(23:05) know just ask them about it and he gave me their names one was general gordon williams one was the major ted conrad another was lieutenant colonel chuck hald and although i didn't run into those guys i ran into other people who were who had been there and had seen the saucer and the three aliens got get out and walk up to general gordon williams well anyway this set me on a uh investigation i thought i knew a lot about secret and covert programs and it's been you know one of my big interests uh is figuring out what's

years writing letters and uh talking to people and came up with the uh the astounding uh uh revelation that yes uh it was true there were ufos uh that our government was uh dealing with uh extraterrestrials unbeknownst to uh almost 100 percent of the public uh and then it was real and going on and for my efforts uh there were several uh uh very nasty articles that were printed about me uh i was called into the company that i worked for then i was a (24:18) senior captain with a major charter company uh located in the midwest and they called me in one day and they said uh hey is it is it true that you believe in flying saucers said well yeah as a matter of fact yes they said why and i gave them briefly what i just told you and they said well we can't have any captains that believe in that flying for us you're fired and they took my id and i was out the door in 20 minutes from a company that i'd worked for for 10 years so that certainly cost me dearly i i might (24:48) say that i've flown some fun airplanes and had some fun after that so it wasn't a total loss so i went on to fly the dc-8 for some different companies and really enjoyed myself but uh that was basically what happened john there have been a couple times during your um long in investigative years when i know that you've sort of shut down for a time you did no interviews at all uh and i i think perhaps you did one during that period with me other than that you shut down completely and uh i wonder if that was a result of (25:25) this kind of pressure or you just felt you had gone as far as you could go or got discouraged over the whole thing or what led to that sort of shutdown for a while what leads to that shutdown is it's so overwhelming the truth of it all the uh the hugeness of it uh the reality of it when it hits you that it's all so real uh sometimes you can't handle it like there have been several people that i've talked to at the test site that have worked up there and there's very very few of them that are that are in uh to (25:55) the extent where they know about the uh the government's dealing with the extraterrestrials they'll quit the program and they'll say i don't want anything more to do with it i don't want to hear about it i don't want to see about see anything i want to retire and live out my life in peace it just becomes so overwhelming what's going on and that's essentially what happened to me and yet you've come back yeah i come back because i get phone you know you're out of it for two or three months or (26:20) three or four months and then you kind of wonder what's going on you make a call and you hear about some neat new uh thing that's going on and it pulls you right back into it yeah back into the deal all right uh i want to deal briefly with the cover-up aspect of it everybody thinks there's a cover-up uh if indeed all this is going on there has to be a cover-up timothy good wrote above top secret the implication of it and they covered on the ufo report on fox last night uh a couple of presidents uh people in (26:49) high places have tried to get this out but even presidents according to this report last night have been denied and actually request denied uh whoever knows about all this is keeping it very very close indeed if a president of the united states can't pry it loose well first of all the president of the united states does not have a very high security clearance he's an elected official uh and the people who run this have a tremendous disdain for both elected and appointed officials those people aren't in office long enough
(27:21) first of all to be vetted to to get a security clearance uh and they not and most of them are not ian so they don't get it so one of the uh misconceptions that people have is they think that top secret is a big clearance they'll say well i know someone's colonel so-and-so in the air force and he had a top secret clearance and he didn't know anything about ufos well i'll tell you something about clarence's top secret is the absolute lowest you can get above top secret there are 28 levels of (27:53) what they call top secret crypto and they're labeled topsy crypto 1 through 28 and then above that there's 10 levels of clearances each one higher than the other that are names like umbra and ultra and majestic majestic being the highest of all clearances the president of the united states holds around not exactly but around top secret crypto 17.
(28:16) tell him basically what he needs to know the president of the united states makes decisions on information that is fed to him by the cia and nsa dia and various other groups he doesn't look at raw data that comes in he gets summaries of information and those people just feed him the information that they want him to make decisions on and that's the only information he get he really doesn't have a need to know all this stuff although as far as the extraterrestrials and ufos they tell them a little bit they say yeah we have (28:45) some saucers and yes we have uh some dealings uh but that's about it so basically that's how it goes uh the president united states does not have a need to know to run the day-to-day stuff he's merely a figurehead uh as far as running our country all right this implies then an ongoing literally i guess uh i hate to use the phrase because it's such a catchphrase but a secret government a government that transcends uh presidential administrations that come and go and holds some very important information

(29:18) always to itself about right certainly and that was set up by uh president truman in 1947 uh it was called the mj-12 he initially appointed the 12 persons that were part of that secret government they were various intelligence military and scientific personnel to basically study the recovered saucer and the implications of it and uh then when eisenhower was elected in 1952 he felt that the secret was so important uh that he gave the uh uh essentially the teeth to mj 12 to actually make the major decisions uh of the country based on what they had
(29:59) found out and eisenhower essentially regretted what he did in 1960 he made a talk made a speech in which he said beware of the military industrial complex which he himself had created by giving mj-12 so much power for those persons who believe uh or who don't believe that mj-12 exists uh my source i will release when that person dies he's one of the top military figures of this country he is uh well i don't want to push anybody into the grave john but are we going to have a long wait do you suppose elderly
(30:37) uh it will not be a long wait uh and when he does pass away i will tell you my source for the existence of mj-12 which i believe to be the secret government well that's going to be a big story and i hope you'll break it here uh yeah sure uh yeah sure means a lot um john there have been remarkable rumors rumblings and anger about this mars mission the one that just uh apparently i say apparently failed uh here we had a craft a billion dollar just about craft uh with no doubt very high resolution equipment on board
(31:17) i would think at least equivalent to our kh series of satellites meaning we would have received incredible detailed photographs of mars and just before the orbit insertion burn they lost contact it either blew up or it uh transistor went belly up or whatever their latest story is i don't know but i would like your whether you've i know you've got your ear close to the ground on this kind of thing what are you hearing well it was the same thing as the hubble telescope failure uh neither event ever occurred the hubble telescope was
(31:54) looking at things which were in effect none of the public's business so they just said that it failed uh and that way they can look at things they need to do without the public saying hey you know how about showing us we paid for this thing uh let's see it and nasa doesn't want to show us so they say oh you know it failed oh we're sending up some astronauts in a few years to fix it and then we'll be able to you know to show you uh same thing with the mars observer they had some problems uh with the mars
(32:22) observer in that it was going to show some very high resolution uh pictures of mars which we wanted to see particularly the cydonia region in which the uh the the so-called face on mars exists which nasa says it's just a trick of of light and shadows but in fact it is a huge face over uh a kilometer long for some reason carved in the surface of mars and according to richard hoagland located quite near a city it's my understanding from several good sources that yes in fact that city does exist it's not occupied now but there was uh
(32:59) obviously uh an intelligent race on mars uh far in advance to us at one time uh but anyway uh the bottom line was this smart observer was going to give us some very good pictures and michael malen was in charge of the of the private kind of companies selected by nasa to oversee these pictures and to categorize them and and all that michael milan malen said in the first six months that he was going to not going to release any pictures that after that he would release a selected dozen pictures and then after that all the (33:34) pictures would go into computer and would not be available for the public and no to the public and no hard copies would be made how can they dare do that john or even suggest they're going to do that when it is taxpayer money that puts it up there how can they do that and so congress started under pressure from several groups and a lot of people started saying now wait a minute we paid for this we want to see more than a dozen pictures of mars and it got to be uh such a problem for nasa they effectually uh you know uh in effect said well you

point where they were going to pressurize the fuel tanks uh for the insertion around mars and had everything go dead after that so when people would say oh yes uh they pressurize the fuel tanks well it wouldn't take a rocket scientist uh to figure out that they pressurized the fuel tanks and something happened and that blew up and so basically everybody's forgot about it uh pictures are coming down uh great beautiful uh high resolution (34:39) pictures of mars and the public uh is is none the wiser they buy it they believe in nasa they believe in their government they don't believe that governor wood would uh be uh above this kind of substitute john there was a day when i was one of those people and it wasn't very long ago and uh i have been disappointed again and again with the fbi with a batf and so my cynical quotient as i like to call it has risen and risen and risen to the point where i i just i i almost john i almost don't believe anything they say anymore i have
(35:14) a good friend uh that we all know i won't mention his name who's been very skeptical uh of some of the my claims like when the humble blew up uh this guy said well you know those accents do happen and then when we lost the titan fours well this thing these things do happen we lost another kh 11.
(35:34) well you know there are accidents and i was back in the east coast uh doing something and i called in and i said hey what's going on he said have you listened to cnn and i said no why is it about the mars observer got blown up i said oh yeah it's just another one of those that coincided he says no it's a conspiracy and i said now wait a minute uh are you actually falling off the fence now and he says yes i've fallen off the fence and i can't get up yeah i guess i feel a little bit the same way john i really did trust in our (36:08) government for the most part not not very long ago as a matter of fact and it's been a long series of disappointments and i i guess i'm a bit off defense myself and a lot of things about the failure of the mars mission for me don't add up they uh they made noise uh first about the possibility of blowing up then they discounted that latest theory is we had a bad batch of transistors now they they claim this accounted also for the weather satellite by the way lost on the same day uh and uh and and one earlier mission
(36:42) that doesn't add up it just doesn't add up john if if they had lost a previous craft because of one of these transistors they'd have tested the hell out of them run them up to two or three hundred times the rated value been very sure in other words it was a problem point to look at and then on top of all that there's a redundant system so none of this really quite adds up john no but they got away with the hubble telescope they weren't sure whether the public was going to go for that but when (37:11) they got away with that they figured well we could probably get away with some more and basically uh anything that's up there that is going to give information they just say well it doesn't work and essentially the public buys it because there's nothing they can do about it well yes a space is not a precise science and accidents will happen covers a lot of ground and the way that they do it is most of that information or all that information is downlinked to an area near fresno and it goes through four or five (37:42) uh different stations before it ever gets to jpl or houston so your your claim is there they're receiving nice high resolution pictures of mars right this minute no question about it uh but the people at jpl and and houston uh honestly believe that they're not getting information because they are not part of the subterfuge and they cannot be part of the substitutes so that they can give completely uh honest uh information as far as they know the guys that you see on tv they don't know what's going on and the (38:14) reason is is because they have to give totally believable stories to the public all right john hold that thought we'll be right back with john lear right after this this is an encore presentation of coast to coast a.m with art bell from the kingdom of naive [Music] and now back to the best of art belle

Transcript:
(00:07) that varies widely i as far as electronic technology my degree theirs from caltech and physics is from mit when did you graduate did you go to fierce college

yeah i did okay where did you hear that a friend said something that you know somebody i don't even know i just thought yeah i went to pierce and northridge and then uh i'm glad you know i'm terrible at dates i don't remember what date i was at probably like in 76 or something i was at pierce and then 70 seven or eight i went to northridge just for a short (00:51) time for some classes i was at cal tech and then mighty after that yeah some critics have suggested that there is not a department of naval intelligence as shown on your w your irs record i wonder if you could address that yeah i've heard people say that before but the bottom line is if you uh and i've let other people check into that bob explorer is a guy that managed to trace that down through the irs and if you write the zip code number on the bottom of it or nc-101 or something like that or nc something anyway it gets to (01:29) it gets to somewhere in the navy you know as far as if there's a department of there i don't know but uh you know that's that's the w-2 that i got sent so well that same person was saying though the zip code that was on there was someone that was in reserve unused in washington that was unused yeah well now he had he had uh correspondence with someone in the navy through that address i'm not talking about bob extra i'm talking about bill moore oh bill mourinho i don't know bill moore
(02:02) i know he's an enigma himself yeah i'm saying that was his point everything i said he said well there's two different types on here in this and i said well you know i don't know so uh you know that's basically what i get sent and uh you know i've seen enough information where that zip code works and uh that's all the information i haven't i haven't pursued it myself but maybe you clarify for them why you think this is a legitimate document because of the certain elements that are there are
(02:31) correct well because of the amount of money yeah the amount of money except me you know so that's all the information i've got i have two questions uh they're not related to each other but one is are they silent or noiseless and the who signed your paychecks as far as are they silent or noiseless um there's a slight hiss before they take off and up to a certain altitude and that sounds like a high voltage hiss of sorts that's all the sounds that i've heard i've heard lots of reports about you
(03:10) know weird flying's arthrotic sounds but uh you know i've never encountered that um who signed my paycheck there was a signature on it but i don't know you know who's it once but never even you know the time that i catch the paycheck if they've never even concerned me tracing anything now so there wasn't a company name up in the corner like this well when i worked for the federal government years ago all you know is a green treasury check there would be no other papers with it or anything from (03:40) the department of treasury no this is the department of naval intelligence on the check yeah okay thank you why would a crap like that comes into our atmosphere would you expect a loud report that might be well it's solely dependent on the velocity that it enters so if uh you're dealing with something that manipulates gravity and doesn't have to slingshot into the earth uh you know you could come in at a low speed not heat up not not really encountering philosophy depending is that so right well yeah if (04:11) you're traveling supersonic then you get a report if you're not you don't you know it's pretty straightforward now when you were at s4 to your knowledge what was the approximate percentage of civilian versus military personnel and what kind of job category the civilian personnel were scientific in nature and the military personnel were only security as far as the percentage it was a small percentage of scientific to uh military personnel are there any secretaries there i'm sure there are offices all
(04:47) over the place but when i came into the facility i was essentially escorted right to where i work and worked there other than the few amount of times that i got to walk into the hangar and uh under an escort too and when i left it was the same so like i said there might be offices there might be bunkers in there there might be underground levels there might be an alien nest in there you know excuse me how did you eat how did you eat the only place i ever ate was out of area 51.
(05:19) so if there was a cafeteria there i never got to eating i usually came with dennis mariana who was my supervisor now i wasn't on uh a full-time swing essentially i flew in usually between three and or between four and five o'clock at night and left by 11. so i was only there for a short time each day i bought the bus from groom lake to pampoose how many people were on that boarding with you very few more than one more than yourself it's me and dennis and you usually well i'm actually not usually occasionally one other person how about (05:57) barry i don't think i ever saw barry on the bus just two of you is there a chance that any of the workers might defect yeah barry would that's why i spent some time trying to get a hold of him and there was actually some time after all this hit the news and the whole thing went down we got a call from dennis my supervisor and he arranged a meeting at the union plaza hotel and when we got there i brought three people with me and i think he said he'd be in the casino area somewhere and we i think gene huff came with me and

(06:33) we went into the area and walking down the corridor i recognized one of the security personnel from there and then when i finally found dennis he didn't even acknowledge my presence he couldn't get his attention and you know i left so apparently either someone had known of the conversation and sent someone down there and made themselves obvious to dennis or something happened and we left but i think that was uh where dennis really wanted to say something i understand that you used hypnotic progression to get some of the details
(07:07) of your experience if so what is your impression of hypnotic aggression is a tool it's probably reasonable because uh there are specifics they contend that you can sit there and re-read a document as if you had as if you were there reading it for the first time and what i was mainly interested was in some of the schematics and drawings and you know i did some of the hypnosis stuff with lane keck had no therapist in town and i was certainly able to redraw a lot of the schematics and you know engineering drawings along those lines and it's uh
(07:47) so as far as using is it a tool for that that seems to work for anything else i have two two things one's a common the other one's a question uh first of all um when i was 12 years old i i saw a daylight flying disc which looked exactly like one of billy myers photographs 15 years later and uh and this just earlier no uh earlier 15 years earlier i saw this disc and then billy meyer took a photo in 1975 with the same exactly the same disc that i saw you know down to the last detail it was the same and then you said that
(09:16) control that uh said was used on you when you decided to leave them also with friends when i was first brought there they had a doctor or nurse actually in uh political medical setup there and right after i had signed all over these papers and my first time out there i went in and they did when i perceived to be an allergen test because i put a grit on my arm and different uh you know particularly different chemicals and uh you know it was their intention that well but there's a lot of strange elements here and
(09:59) unusual things you'll be working on so they're trying to see if you're gonna have any adverse reaction to them and uh i was given something to drink i i said it smelled like pine uh which it did you know that's that's the best way i can describe it and a lot of people jumped on that saying ah well that's the mind control substance when you leave work you're going to forget everything when you come back you remember everything but you know i think if anything it was an anti-allergen drug or something along
(10:23) those lines how about the threats being used yeah threats like bodily harm or the loss of pension or what kind of stuff well the lots of pension and uh you know jail time that was part of signing the paperwork as far as bodily harm after they caught us the time i brought out john lear and a couple other people up there then they threatened me and uh they really didn't get much reaction out of that then they threatened my wife at the time and uh you know that they really threw out everything they could without physically you know attacking me
(11:00) well that's what i was wondering once i knew it was bill you and not dennis or someone else or anything why didn't they just arrest you under charges of you know violating the act well they can't arrest me because they have to admit you know that this is classified material you were talking about yeah they'd have to release it you know why didn't they you know kill me uh you know that i really don't know maybe that had to do with uh how i got the job or you know referencing the connection to ed teller
(11:29) or something along those lines but um i don't know were there any contractor

names departments divisions that were mentioned or signed on the wall or anything like that referring to any components or no but i know eg g had nothing to do with it that's the only light i can on that because uh i had mentioned that to him once because that's where i was interviewed at the egmg building and i thought that it was part of an egng project and i think it was dennis who said that you know we don't let those people you (12:01) know anywhere near this place or any you know they were just a sore thumb to him well as a as one way of getting this information out at the same time to have the government stop harassing you did you ever consider bringing them to court somewhere in terms of threats harassing you and as a result of that forcing them to with what evidence would i do that i mean it's hard enough to prove it to uh you know the layman in general but taking it to court it's impossible and there's um there's plenty of people that don't
(12:34) believe me anyway so you never saw with regard to any of this well a little well yeah initially and uh you know the bottom line is you know the attorney said there's absolutely nothing to go on it's a total waste of time and you know if anything it's going to be a public forum uh to discredit me in some manner so uh you know i even go through with it what about class action and aclu but still you need you know some sort of evidence that uh this happened if i pulled out a piece of 115 and said here
(13:03) well what does that have to do with anything you know and uh there's nothing that uh and what did they do to violate my rights that i didn't agree to at the beginning so they really had their bases covered it's pretty dirty what they did to you in las vegas there in 1990 in the summer that was pretty well yeah that was that was my own fault so you've been through your counseling by saying that right how would um someone get a piece of paper explaining the physical properties used in these in this modern (13:38) transportation the physical properties i mean i mean the formula is used in the gravity you're being watched currently if you have strange you should mention that uh there's been nothing uh for probably these four years or three years whatever it's been but the other day one of my phone lines has not been working and the other one was breaking up so i called centel down and they checked the house out and said there's nothing in the wiring here and they called me down from charleston boulevard from the from the telephone
(14:14) phone they said my individual line was cut and that the other one those other wires were stripped and twist tied together so of course me being paranoid things when someone tapped in there but i really can't think of another excuse as me being you know just my single lines being played with but uh that's what he said and you know they filed a report on that so that's one form of documentation uh you saw your records at caltech and mit have somehow disappeared in los alamos and apparently everyone else is there any way you can you could (14:45) reconstruct uh your coursework and your professors oh sure i've got people that uh you know that i went to school with and george's spoke george knapp has spoken to some of them and you know even flew with me up to los alamos and spoke to my colleagues there and uh you know it's just could you could you reveal some of your professors at mit and county yeah if you want i don't have a list of them here dr duxler i think was one of them and uh hosefield was another postfield host field h-o-h-s-f i-e-l-d or something along
(15:21) those lines they remember you oh yeah i was feeling well these are mit or hostfield was at mit duxler was at caltech yeah it was barry barry's a guy i worked with they essentially worked on the buddy system there and uh so when you have ideas to bounce bounce off of and uh barrier castilio or castile was he there before you or yeah a long time it's probably still there did you get any information from him well he essentially taught me everything that they had done up to date in the course of your work they ever mention any other facilities
(16:10) installation around the country where associated work was being done no they did mention though that uh this was the place that all of this stuff was brought to and it was really purposely condensed here to keep an eye on everything and have you know immediate access to everything that dealt with this uh you know the alien technology regarding the crap of the alien crap um were there any test personnel that crashed them and if so you know about what the causes were i didn't read about any crashes during tests at all
(16:43) so you'd think that there would be some but um [Music] when you were at caltech were you affiliated with any of the student houses um when i first heard of s4 it reminded me a lot of disk testing that i've heard of that goes on in australia

at time gap and i was wondering if you know anything about pine gap did you read anything about find out that you can tell us about uh i really don't keep up rest of the ufo information as far as officially i never read anything i've heard the name pine gap mentioned but uh (17:20) i haven't heard anything about that has anybody ever approached you with a screenplay offer oh god yeah constantly you ever consider me uh yeah the main problem columbia pictures last year really wanted to do it and uh they said we're making a screenplay and and my only problem is is that uh if you guys are gonna make a movie it has to be exactly what happened and not the hollywood version i don't want to see stephen segal on it or anything i don't know too much about your experiential background or your
(17:58) expertise but um do you have any speculation why they recruited someone with a master's instead of a phd no that's weird that's a really good question i've always said there's plenty more people qualified than i am and if there's any re there's only two reasons they could have is either number one uh was that dr teller essentially juiced me into the position that said you know there's a guy bubbles are no one find a place for him or that the fact that i have traditionally approached everything from a very (18:30) strange angle and uh you know essentially off the beaten path and you know tackling you know technical problems so it's only one of those two reasons and unless there's a third one that i have no idea about two things do you think they'll ever release this information and if they don't how do you think it'll ever come out besides people like you know or will be something like what you're doing well hopefully it's not this way hopefully there's going to be a release of information eventually but uh
(18:58) you know whether or not they're going to say uh you know hey we've been keeping the secret for so long it uh almost seems to me that they need a staged incident to get him off the hook take a flying saucer up in a c-130 and push it out the back and say look at the crash how would they overcome the g-forces in the rapid change direction they don't apply once you've distorted distorting gravity essentially having a gravity amplifier distorts time and space and that those really don't apply there's no interaction
(19:32) so there would be no effect on humans either no there's no effect inside at all bob did your uh when you were working on the escort project did your education and whatever scientific vision that you have permit you to believe that at some point you'd be able to make a meaningful contribution to the program and if so after how much time in russia uh i was always in serious doubt whether or not they were going to get rid of me because i had there really wasn't anything that i could contribute i wasn't an expert in (20:04) any particular field that they were dealing with so i mean i made some contributions as far as determining what element they were dealing with was but that was significant right yeah to some degree yeah um when you work at uh mit and i forgot to be uh did you come for a pretty uh your was your your education pretty traditionally grounded as far as your own views as far as physics and what common knowledge supposed to be and in other words how surprised were you when they started showing you all this hardware and these concepts that (20:50) could do things that it's really oh very i was how long did thank you even when i was reading the documentation you know the alien the alien question really never entered my mind i kept pushing it off to you know all this group of scientists secretly came up with i never and i i just had a mental block against that because i always thought flying saucers were totally ridiculous and the people that really paid attention to such phenomena were we're just out in left field you know they belong thanks bob well it really made very little sense to (21:28) me that that you know anyone would deal with something like that so i really held out to the very end and until they finally said well bob bob lazar, and george knapp, rare interview on sightings: [S3-E03] hosted by tim white, (1995) - YouTube https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=E7nmttz_RSo

Transcript:
(00:01) welcome to sightings i'm tim white the wide open spaces of nevada are the perfect testing ground for the us military's top-secret weapon systems and aircraft so it's not unexpected that people who live there often report seeing unidentified flying objects but the ufos that have been cited most recently are unique you can see that it was definitely a spheroid shaped object and that it was surrounded by this very energetic field that would lag behind the maneuvers that it would make we stopped in this ridge and my partner (00:34) looked at me his eyes were as big as fishbowls and he motioned for me to look back over our shoulders to the east i can't say for sure what we saw was of this earth area 51 dreamland groom lake this ufo ridge area has many names unless you talk to the military despite high level leaks about top-secret aircraft testing here with code names like aurora and black manta the pentagon continues to issue their standard denials even to congress every time that there's a story about aurora or the tr-3a black manta in the popular science

(01:14) or the new york times or something else congress calls the pentagon on the carpet and says what's the deal they want to know if these planes exist and every time they've asked about those planes they've been told there is no such thing the military's established a pattern of denial concerning these uh highly capricious wild aircraft beginning in the late 50s and continuing to this day the pattern of denial started with the u-2 in the 50s sightings of strange cigar-shaped craft were followed by leaks about a new spy plane codenamed u2
(01:47) the military denied the existence of any such plane until francis gary powers was shot down over russia in a u2 the pattern continued in the 1960s with the sr-71 blackbird in the 70s and 80s with the stealth fighter and the stealth bomber and now in the 90s it's happening again there are new sightings of disc shaped craft new leaks suggesting the discovery of an anti-gravity device and the same old denials there's a certain conceit i think among journalists that well if it's real if it's true we can get it
(02:21) because washington the government the pentagon they all leak like a sieve well that may be the attitude in journalism but if you ask military folks they will tell you secrets can be kept secrets are kept many believe the secrets are kept here at this supposedly non-existent nevada military base rumors suggest that anti-gravity technology being used here was actually recovered from an alien spacecraft i think there's a strong possibility that we have recovered some sort of alien technology and are trying to (02:51) incorporate that into military programs in an attempt to penetrate the security net around area 51 investigators michael d gregorio and roger johnson peddled a back country route suddenly a series of red orange objects flared out across the sky they started at a great height seemed to descend and then flared out it was startling then a series of silver pewter flashes went directly across the horizon at terrific speed one of these silver flashes went directly up into the air the bottom one seemed nearly to hug
(03:27) the ground did d gregorio and johnson witness the super secret testing of a new kind of aircraft in fact someone did think they saw too much as they returned to base camp they were detained by a security patrol that seemed to be protecting more than just a stretch of arid landscape boom headlights come on there was an m16 pointed at us and here we were faced with a life-and-death situation but we also knew that we had crossed the line back into public domain and therefore we were safe three months later in the same area
(03:59) independent investigator mark farmer saw the same orange red ufos he had a camera and captured these images on film as an aviation expert farmer was stunned i saw the object exhibit entirely unconventional flight characteristics at times it would wobble around in the sky and appear very unstable at other times it would be in a rock hard hover it was a old blighted sphere multi-colored crimson on bottom blue green on top much brighter than anything else in the sky is this photographic evidence of the military's latest experimental aircraft
(04:36) the answer isn't likely to come from the pentagon let me put it this way i i don't think the military has any credibility with the public in terms of its denials of this program or that program they've denied the u2 existed they denied the sr-71 existed they denied working on stealth all of those programs suddenly were unveiled the only information at this point comes from leaks within the government structure bob lazar an aerospace engineer formerly assigned to area 51 claims the government possesses at least nine disc (05:09) shaped alien craft currently warehoused in nevada i was part of a back engineering group and our job was basically to look at these recovered disks and i say recovered because i don't know really where they came from whether given to us

we found them shut them down who knows what but our group basically was to back engineer them which means to start with a finished product and go backward and see how it was fabricated and try and duplicate some of that technology with earthly materials to me bob lazar is credible over the past
(05:42) couple of years i've spoken to literally dozens of people who have worked at that facility out there in nevada i think the technology at area 51 originally came from somewhere else they were looking at something that as far as bob is concerned didn't come from this planet and they were trying to figure out how it worked john andrews is also considered a reliable source for information about government projects he has an amazing track record for revealing aircraft projects before their official unveiling
(06:11) he's not a military officer nor an aerospace engineer he's a product designer for a toy company called tester and he can't keep a secret secrecy is used often times to hide the details of the funding and the size of the program more often than not it doesn't hide a real true technological secret the pentagon was not amused when testo released a replica of the f-117a stealth fighter before it was officially known to the public the recent release of their project aurora model is also making waves
(06:50) why is a toy company the public's best source for information about military projects they have sources throughout the military they have sources in companies like lockheed and northrop and they get bits and pieces of information from here and put it all together with such a remarkable track record what's next on the tester drawing port john andrews says it will be this ufo replica called the sport model in the case of the ufo model we've made every effort to make it correct and to make it accurate we've made every effort to find
(07:28) out the best information on the subject we went to people who said that they have worked on the craft could the sport model really be the next step forward in military aircraft design tester says yes and the experts are listening the tester corporation has been very lucky in terms of building models that suddenly become real planes but it's not luck now they're telling us that they believe that flying saucers at area 51 are a real possibility this model may be the very very first authentic plastic scale model kit of (08:04) something that was designed and built and flown from another planetary system i cannot say that that is absolutely certain but there is that possibility

Transcript:
(00:10) [Music] well guys the day has finally come today we are privileged to be sitting down with two men who are making huge waves throughout the alien and ufo research community the first is investigative journalist activist and filmmaker jeremy corbell the man behind the upcoming documentary we're talking about today and the other is a man that most of you have only heard whispers about over the past 30 or so years a man that among other things brought the very existence of area 51 to light and is said to have actually worked on
(00:56) recovered alien craft at the secretive military base mr bob lazar gentlemen it's an honor to have you both here thank you for coming on today and we really appreciate it millions of people appreciate this thanks so much thanks tyler yeah i appreciate it man well um as well i'm sure you know jeremy many of the audience members my audience members have commented that they didn't think this day would ever come bob you have become sort of a ufo legend and icon over the years and especially to the younger generations of people
(01:33) curious about the ufo topic because the world wanted it and now it's here finally we have this definitive documentary on your life so the first thing i want to ask you both is was this a smooth process creating this film well that's a tough question that is that it's kind of it was a a long arduous process and um clearly much more difficult for jeremy than for me yeah i don't know uh that's true i mean bob you know lived uh you know this you know experience for 30 years so i don't know it's more difficult for but i think

you know he didn't ask me to make a movie i begged him to make a movie um but i'm really glad that he allowed me to do it because i think where we ended up is somewhere really powerful where the people that have never heard his story will now get to hear it and they'll hear it in its true form they won't hear the lies and they won't hear the propaganda and the things that aren't true they're going to hear it straight (02:44) and of course they'll hear a portion of it but a man's life for 30 years is much bigger than an hour and a half movie right well i mean that my motivation was simply getting out an accurate account of what's going on because there is so much nonsense that's been [Music] repeated on the internet and distorted and um so really i was just looking for a vehicle to get the true story out yeah right right and i think for 30 years now that has been what people have been waiting for now if i could ask you jeremy could you
(03:19) tell us a little about what originally what it was that got you interested to speak with bob about his experiences and get this sort of thing you know get the ball rolling so to say yeah i mean real simple i think like most of your listeners uh if they were born in 1989 already i was 13 years old and i heard bob on the radio and george knapp interviewing him and it really i like to say it weaponized my my curiosity in that when i heard what he said about the gravity propulsion system it kind of flipped the script for me
(03:55) because i was aware of rockets and that kind of thing but the idea of falling into place in space and time i mean it's just really cool and the technology of it and the propulsion system that got me curious and from that day forward i was listening exactly and and as you said earlier there's been a ton of disinformation i mean a lot of the videos that i've made surrounding bob have just been the same old info that's out there i mean there hasn't been really anything new in all of these years and so i really don't know if a
(04:27) lot of the stuff that i referenced regarding his experiences was true uh half true and so i wanted to ask some questions here that i know my audience would would love to hear to you bob now you have said that you worked at s4 on did you say there were at least nine craft that you knew of alien craft at this secretive site yeah there were absolutely nine yeah okay now apart from the sleeker sports model craft that you had mentioned in the past can you give us an idea perhaps of what the condition of the other craft were in were they (05:05) totaled were they shot down in a perfect condition as if they'd been gifted to the military what what type of condition were they in if you could say the condition uh of all the craft with the exception of one which it looked like uh they had intentionally fired a projectile at uh just to see if the projector would penetrate it but with the exception of that craft everything looked like it was new now i've heard stories and you know read on the internet about you know theories about them being gifted or crash landing clearly none of them
(05:44) crashed at all now my gut feeling and this is my gut feeling i have no information on this that i almost believed that this this was some sort of archaeological find in some way so i don't think i don't think there was a i don't think it was a an exchange like we're going to give you a bunch of craft or um i just and again i i really can't say why it's just because of the mutterings of my supervisor and the other people that work there and it was very compartmentalized as i understand it i
(06:19) mean it was all it was basically here's what you need to know and you don't need to know anything else is that basically how it was yeah we worked on the buddy system and you know when i worked on nuclear weapons at los alamos it's it's similar you know you don't get to know the entire project how everything works you're you're assigned a component of it and you work on that component and you unlike los alamos in other places there is no free open discussion and open discussion is really what propels science forward
(06:53) uh that's the one problem i really had down at s4 you know they worked on the buddy system uh my lab buddy quote-unquote was uh barry and you're only given really one person to bounce ideas off of and you can talk to him in fact when you go have lunch at the facility you can only sit with him and you can only talk with him you can't talk with other people or exchange ideas and that in itself can thwart uh you know the entire project moving forward but um it's it's yeah it's very compartmentalized so it was (07:29) barry and i working on that one small sub component at that time right and i think i'm i'm really glad you said that because that's a message i've been trying to communicate to especially the younger viewers out there who in this sort of high-paced internet age they want everything now they want all of the answers right now and so they come to me and they hear that i may be speaking with you and jeremy and they say well look if you're talking to the most well-known name in ufology if you're talking to bob well he should (08:00) know all the answers you should be able to get every answer about aliens where they come from you should be able to lay it out for me in a nice summary and i try to let them know this is not how things work bob was a part he's one of many everything was very compartmentalized and so you do have answers but you don't have the full scope because you were just a link in the chain as it happens working there but your story is fascinating in and of itself and i'd like to pivot to jeremy here and ask you sort of a double

(08:32) question jeremy if i could first of all with this film and with others is it true that you do everything yourself as far as filming interviewing recording audio editing are you truly an independent filmmaker and at the same time being an independent and doing a film like this very controversial film have you ran into anything during the making of this any sort of pushback things happening or from people or places that didn't want this film to come out you know um tyler well first of all look man yeah i'm a completely independent filmmaker
(09:10) people don't understand what that means i also film in the artur fashion which basically means i do everything i edit i film i i finance it so yeah i'm totally independent uh my life you know doing this is dependent upon people liking it so if you watch my films it directly affects me so yes i'm an independent completely independent filmmaker the second part of your question is have i been resisted in any way and doing uh this film i was gonna just say no i'm just like laughing now um so the answer to that is (09:46) i had never been in any way um resisted only assisted people have only helped me in the process of making films they encourage me they give me tips so actually personally yeah no i personally i have never ever experienced anything that would try to stop me from making a film i'll just leave it at that right well uh certainly we do know that bob again from what we know that is public or that he has said himself he has had a great amount of pushback over the years from coming out and what he's done and (10:19) you know i think one of the biggest questions on my viewers minds as well as mine to bob here is if i may ask bluntly if you did what you did and it it looks like you got someone scared i mean i believe that you are telling the truth 100 so let's just say if you did it how are you still alive well clearly that was the whole point of coming out and saying what i did look you just can't kill people as soon as they say something all it does is underline what they said and immediately get everybody looking in (10:56) that direction you know the the fact that i said um what i did and told of my experiences down at s4 that was done to protect myself i had already been shot at before that and um you know so it works in the opposite of what most people think right right to to take us down would would only be to further validate our claims basically exactly exactly i'll tell you a little thing real quick just you know people don't know the humanity of this the actual experience so you know no matter what you think or what
(11:32) you can make up in your mind bob came forward to protect himself that's what happened right and he didn't come forward you know oh you know openly like oh yeah let's do this man i mean george knapp and paul lazar physically wrestled on the ground the day that the tape was being put in to reveal his identity george told me the story i recorded it and and bob told me the story so you have to understand look at it that way if it's hilarious i mean obviously george won you know he's right twice my way yeah yeah like he beat him
(12:04) it's like you know that was the deal man whether you understand it or believe it or not i've come to truly understand that bob came forward to protect himself well it's kind of more complicated than that you know this doesn't i know everybody's used to watching hollywood films and things of that sort you know and that's not how real life goes you don't shoot you know bullets into a gas tank and they explode into giant fireballs that stuff doesn't happen right you know and it doesn't work like (12:33) that either they don't the only time they would go out of their way to kill someone is if they're consistently releasing increasingly damaging information the thing is i released all the damaging information initially and i was done there was nothing else to say there was no reason to stop me any further right what they do at that point they did do they began to destroy your friends and family people i know

had you know we audited by the irs people that had security clearances and other jobs of that sort had their clearances (13:06) pulled so they begin to destroy the world around you so you lose your support group it's a lot more complicated than people think or hollywood portrays was it true that you were shot at at one point in time yes yes i was shot at uh on the on charleston boulevard getting on to the the freeway in in las vegas yeah in your opinion do you think that was part of the sort of campaign to just discredit they know they can't kill you but they know that they can spend years trying to discredit you hurting you and your family now
(13:41) those pop shots that they took at you do you think that was a part of that maybe just to scare you was it just a lone wolf do you think it had anything to do with it or was it just one of those freak things where you were like well what the hell was that but you got away and that was it you never you never found out what that was from i don't know i i think it was just essentially terrorism um you know i think like i think we mentioned in the movie there were times my friend and i would go out uh to work at a health club there and (14:14) you know all the car doors and you know trunk and hood would be open i mean there were constant things that that let me know that you know they could gain access or do whatever they wanted to right and uh they were on you right yeah quite frankly it really was wearing me down at the time i uh i really wasn't sure what i was gonna do george tells uh a lot of this story he says you know he always told me for all these years i mean you know george has been a mentor to me in journalism he's broke the story with bob in 1989
(14:47) uh he has said to me over and over when i first started talking because you're never going to get it because you weren't there i was there he says he goes i saw it this is real this happened someone didn't want bob talk and they wanted to mess with them and they did mess with them so i guess the point is you know looking at it now 30 years later from our outside views you know it's different than the people that lived it and i've talked to a lot of them now a lot of them that lived it some of them went on camera with me for (15:16) the movie so i just want to kind of put an exclamation point on what bob said you know right this is real it is real i mean from from the thousands of videos that i've done and again i just sort of take take what comes to me i try to correlate i post it to youtube and i do stories on people like you and bob and from what i'm found you know it's extremely real they're definitely covering it up it's an ongoing cover-up um you know and my question for for bob would be you know what what is your (15:49) opinion bob on the state of i guess you'd call it the ufo movement where we have guys like me on youtube but we have many others putting out movies and books a lot of them in my opinion charlatans that's why i don't do interviews with them but they do have huge followings a lot of disinformation so you know was it that that kind of caused you to come back into the spotlight and if not what was it that that made you say okay it's been long enough i'm gonna come back out and tell the truth of exactly
(16:20) what happened and do this film what was your major your uh you know your your stepstone to doing that well if you're talking about the stepstone to doing the movie with jeremy um well i mean that certainly played a part there was so much nonsense getting passed around and it began to grow and fester as time went on because i never challenged any of it and people began to build on it and it got to ridiculous proportions and uh i mean that was really shocking and and you know as you mentioned anytime i looked on the internet or read any ufo
(16:57) material it was so blatantly nonsense and whether it's facebook or twitter or i mean i don't i'm not really into any social media but there you can find people that were i mean pretending to be me on on everything i even was listening one time on an am radio driving i think it was to new mexico from las vegas and it was late night i turned the radio on just to you know keep myself awake and it was a ufo program so i turned it on on talk radio and here's a guy that that was talking about yeah i had lunch with bob
(17:35) lazar yesterday and look he told me all this new and it was all nonsense so i mean all of this was just constantly going on and i heard so much nonsense uh i mean from people having interviews with retil reptilians on youtube and it's crazy so that the sad thing is that yeah there's probably two or three percent true and accurate information out there but how especially today the way information is disseminated around on the internet how are you gonna dig through 98 nonsense and mine out the two percent it's almost

(18:10) impossible it is almost impossible i mean in a small way that's what i attempt to do with secure team i i get i have multiple people working for me they bring me you know research summaries every day i try to sift through it it's hard to do anything from a computer screen i mean some things you just need to get out there and do but as you said it's probably three percent of it is real and you know it reminds me of a time where again someone had come on to my channel posted a comment they had your
(18:40) face as their little uh you know screen name face there and said hey guys bob lazar here you know ask me anything you want you know write in the comments on one of my videos and i said there's no way but it was amazing to see how many people were brought in by that totally fooled by it i think i ended up deleting uh the comment after i finally figured out i highly doubt bob would just pop up in the comment section after all these years and you know i i just so you're right i mean the only you know for a brief
(19:09) period but i was trying to answer questions on twitter and that just was overwhelming and that was done with uh however i'm going to take personal credit both for uh our buddy zach's engagement and also for and also for the fact that uh united nuclear which is bob's business is now officially on instagram and his lead employee um zach is the one that uploads the images and i just he just started it a few days i don't know if bob even knows that i think does but zack's doing the official united nuclear um instagram so so there
(19:43) is now finally an official social media where people can but it's not from no it's your business it's your business that's awesome congratulations that's awesome it's awesome news and you know i think it's awesome and you're going to see this in the film i don't want to give too much away but this is the first time in many years that we get a bird's-eye view into the life of mr lazar what he went through very tough times how the controversy shaped him throughout the years and to my viewers who are (20:16) listening you're going to see that in this film you're going to see a lot of stuff and again i don't want to talk about it jeremy without saying too much is there maybe something that happened in this film of note that maybe you'd like to kind of talk about something explosive or that sort of what blew your mind about making this film or what has bob told you rather well i mean yeah look the whole process for me was kind of mind-blowing you know george challenged me in 2012 oh yeah sure get bob to talk to you you
(20:52) have to be the luckiest leprechaun in the world i mean it was like it was hilarious so the whole process i think has been for me really interesting you know bob saying okay total open book what do you want to know let's do it you know here are the tapes here's the photographs i'm not going to pre-sort them just grab the box of tapes and digitize them whatever's on there it's yours so bob has been completely 100 open with me without giving me any restriction put me in touch with his mom his friend whatever so that's been
(21:22) really eye-opening to be honest with you um so i don't know man i think what i'll give you one thing from the movie i'll give you a spoiler right now okay close your ears okay the fans want it uh okay so i'll give you a hardcore one man so uh 30 years ago bob lazar said that uh there was a gentleman named mike thigpen a very specific name that this guy was he thought an agency that was doing a background check on him he didn't know maybe fbi george goes on the news he says oh we've got some news
(21:52) there's a guy named mike thigpen and he came and like questioned babazar that you know we could check the veracity of his claims and you know went on the news and i can just imagine i talked you know i could just imagine this guy he's he's eaten like pasta at his house and he's at dinner with his wife he sees the news and like just it's a fork drop moment he just draws his fork into his food well i know that you know that was his reaction because after 30 years i found him i found mike thinkpin and that could only be
(22:21) done after 30 years because george tried in 1989 called and the fbi he had a source that told him it wasn't the fbi george it was the ofi office of federal investigation they were doing biosecurity clearance so george tried to get a hold of this guy who was by the way in trouble because they wondered if he was impersonating an fbi agent because how did that get confused so this poor guy you know he's just doing his job and he got hit with a storm because of this well for 30 years no one was able to find him i found him tracked (22:48) him down and i talked to him and he is a cool cat he's a good guy and he says yes i was doing security clearances 1989 for nellis and the base and i do he says i'll go as far as i do remember bob lazar well jeremy let me follow that up and ask you know has your personal opinion about the world in general the world we live in has it changed at all since you've gotten to know bob lazar has it enlightened you about certain things or may maybe change your mind regarding certain things or topics i mean look i i think what my hope for (23:23) the movie is that you get to kind of know bob a little bit because i think that's the missing component a lot of people can dehumanize bob and his story and just you know say whatever they want about him because they don't know him and so it's easy to make stuff up that wouldn't be congruent with his character because there's nothing to defend it so i hope in my movie you kind of get a feel as a documentary filmmaker i hope you get a feel for who bob is because i believe a big part of the story is the (23:50) human story it's about who bob is is he somebody that would be trying to like waste his time messing with you for 30 years or is he somebody who wouldn't and i think that's a you know that's the big question everybody in the earth wants to know is bob worthy of our trust when you boil it down that's what it is they want to know is bob worthy of our trust of course it of course everybody wants to believe this so what a cool story we all want to believe it but that's the only way that they're going to get you

(24:24) know to the bottom line is if they kind of look at the facts determine themselves back it up that's what they truly want to know don't use junk data that's bob's don't use junk data don't use the the stories that aren't true so yes my whole life has been changed because you know i wanted to know if this story was true i wanted to know if you the truth about ufos hey that's a bonus really i got to know a guy named bob lazar he's a cool guy so oh i can't say that on your youtube i'm sorry
(24:49) no no it's it's fine he's a cool dude yeah so there you go this is historic say whatever you want do whatever you want get naked if you like so so bob i want to get back if i could i know you've probably talked about this a million times but you know of course i know the viewers would love to know a little bit more about some of these craft that you worked on at s4 so just a few basic questions whether you know all the answers or not at least we can say this is what bob knows exactly so i guess i'd like to start off with now we (25:20) covered the sports model the conditions they were in now were you ever told at any time what star system or area of space that the craft came from did they uh come home from all the same place if you know what i mean when were they acquired do you have any of that information about these craft i don't have any information as far as when and it wasn't you know i like to get very particular on on exactly what was told or read or i saw so uh i was not told that but i did read in the briefings that the correct all of the craft the (26:00) craft came from the zeta reticuli star system so that's the location it's a it's a binary star system uh apparently there are several planets around it and it's only visible from the southern hemisphere so don't bother going out there and trying to find it at night but yeah again that's something that i read and that's that's all that i know about that yeah wildly enough that specific star system is uh well known in the ufology movement um for you know whether it's true or false there have been a lot of (26:35) stories a lot of reports a lot of testimony just a lot of stories that seem to all go back one way or another to that star system so there definitely may something you know something might be there so that's very very interesting now if we could speaking a little bit more about the equipment in some of these craft can you explain uh the equipment that was on board the sport model craft as far as communications weaponry or camouflage you know what did you see when walking into this craft um those are all separate questions
(27:11) so um again to be specific as far as how you know a very uh brief overview how the craft work um there is a reactor in the center of the craft in this craft there are only three seats um at the bottom of the craft there are several levels in there and the bottom the sub-level of the crap there are three gravity emitters they look like for lack of a better analogy like a couple 55-gallon drums stuck on top of one another just big tubes um there were three of them and they're on a very interesting uh connected to the floor above on a (27:55) very interesting pipe i guess you would call it that bends at 360 degrees so these are just three big drums essentially suspended directly above them are the gravity amplifiers uh they sit right above them and the uh reactors in the middle the reactor produces the energy and produces the base gravity wave it's amplified by the amplifiers and it's channeled down into the gravity emitters and the gravity

emitter is can be swung in any direction to produce a distortion in gravity there is no wiring there is no (28:31) interconnection between any components the components work just by being close to one another and considering the power output which is the equivalent of a few nuclear power plants that's really amazing because you know according to the laws of thermodynamics there always has to be a loss you know there's no hundred percent transfer of energy but it apparently was occurring here because there was no excess heat produced anywhere and i i can run off on a technical tangent here but i won't um you also asked what (29:05) i saw inside i think yeah communication systems or or maybe what was the the type of metal used if it was metal at all you know things of that nature again this is uh compartmentalized so there was um a metallurgy group that dealt with that all i can say is i i felt and ran my hand against uh the material all the entire craft is the same color and it's all the same material and there are no sharp corners anywhere there is a radius on everything and it felt to me when i put my hand on it it felt cold in my mind that relates to metal but (29:47) could it be an advanced ceramic of some kind you know absolutely so i i can't can't even comment on what the uh what the craft is made of it was kind of a pewter gray in color right uh and there was an upper level on on the craft that i did not have access to or information on uh it's where if you've seen pictures of the craft that i worked on there are black rectangular what people call portholes around the top they're not they're not windows i personally believe there's some sort of planar sensor
(30:20) that just determines where the craft is in space and how to orient itself right so well i i think that uh having said all that i think what would probably be an even more important question to my viewers which is that do these things have bathrooms there's actually a really cool answer for that that's a popular question let me ask bob something real quick because i actually don't know the answer i don't want to know it's like uh was there an obvious navigation how do you think they flew the craft was there like a some kind of (30:56) navigational i i i really don't know yeah i really i have no idea how they got from i mean i see another thing you know i have no idea yeah you know and i don't even like to speculate because then people will say well bob said right so that's not uh so i don't even want to go okay so do they have bathrooms did you see no no there's no bathrooms and quite frankly there's no need for them because the travel time is so short you know you're taking gigan remember time you know space time is one thing and if you're (31:29) distorting space time you're taking gigantic leaps in milliseconds that right you know you're not traveling you don't really break the speed of light because you're traveling in a linear fashion but you go far in excess of the speed of light because you're bending space and time you know you're just taking gigantic leaps so there's you're never assuming they need bathrooms yeah right um you know um well especially you're not in flight you know for a long enough time you know to have any kind of (31:58) emergency right right and another thought i had had which has been widely discussed is that many of these alien beings or at least particularly the smaller gray alien a lot of people seem to believe that these are uh droids of some sort they are not flesh and blood and they are more like probes that are sent out they fly these things so there is no need for eating or drinking or using the bathroom or anything like that have you heard anything similar or have you at least heard of this theory and it's to you or (32:28) jeremy uh i haven't heard of that theory but i do have to say i did see a briefing now you know there are several other projects going on at the same time and what we do have is each group gets a a two or three page briefing of what the other groups are doing and they're trying again they're trying to keep everything departmentalized but what they want to do is at least let you have a little knowledge of what's going on in the other groups in case there's a connection so you you know can complete your you
(32:59) know your research right but so in my briefing it did have to do with um as far as the you know the actual beings that were in the craft they had a photograph of them where their uh a chest was cut and and peeled back and they had made notes of wow there it was only one central organ is as if all the organs had grown together into one mass and it had multiple functions and that was like the extent of my knowledge of it right but right it was certainly a biological specimen now whether or not that piloted the craft or

(33:39) that was making reference to uh something you know that had to do with the craft uh i don't know but there was there was definitely a reference to a biological entity of some kind right had unique organs inside well and another thing regarding these craft this may be the most controversial of this whole bob lazar topic is that of element 115 which is said to have been used to power these craft and of course nobody knew back in the 80s element 115 did not exist it wasn't until almost 20 years later that yes we have something
(34:18) here now there are debunkers so-called debunkers out there who say well bob didn't know what he was talking about in regards to element 115 it's not stable so what would you say to them regarding element 115 how it exactly worked and maybe how maybe these debunkers today simply just don't understand these things about this element you know they're not in the know as much as you were what can you tell us about that element and why it was perfectly legit and it was used to power these craft yeah well that's an understatement first
(34:54) of all don't tell me i don't know about 115 because it was in my hand second of all 115 was synthesized recently and you know for people saying well it's not stable and you know that's the end of it uh clearly you don't understand chemistry the you know the the way elements work right all elements have isotopes to them and the example i always give is you know for example hydrogen we all know hydrogen is a a gas hydrogen one actually the technical name is protium to it um it has one proton and
(35:32) one neutron well there's actually two other forms of hydrogen one is deuterium and one is tritium tritium is radioactive well there's you know other elements cesium that have 20 or 30 i don't remember what it is uh isotopes to it all elements can have the same number of protons making the element but they can have different numbers of neutrons and by changing the different number of neutrons the element can have remarkably different properties so yeah element 115 probably has many many isotopes of it
(36:11) that decay but there is certainly one isotope that is absolutely stable and it is that isotope that is used in the craft right so it's basically sort of a a an issue where you know just just because we can't figure it out yet today does not mean that these alien beings didn't have it figured out because they did obviously no question in time if they keep experimenting with now keep in mind they only made four atoms of 115 and again if they keep experimenting with it i'm sure they'll find eventually a combination with neutrons
(36:48) that will be stable and that'll be another point of indication but um yeah that's typical of any element there's nothing new about that and everybody claiming you know that that disproves it really has limited knowledge about that yeah i'm gonna jump in here and just say i've done a lot of research for the film on this because i wanted to understand it you know i'm not a scientist i'm a filmmaker but i did talk with some of the top scientists in the nation and outside of our nation from russia to san (37:16) francisco to um gosh washington dc so i talked to a number of scientists and physicists and people that actually work hands-on with the fabrication of super heavy elements and across the board you know some people got ticklish talking to me when they realized that it had anything to do with ufos however the people that would talk to me about the hardcore science they absolutely 100 percent unanimously across the board confirmed and agreed that element 115 that we cannot discount a stabilized version like bob lazar described
(38:06) so i i just want to make that really really clear to your audience tyler because people always use this as a fake news they use this as something to say to dismiss and discount what bob said and and that is they say that it is junk science or it is pseudo science what he said i have confirmed every way from sunday that we cannot discount a stabilized form of element 115 and so i just i want to say that on the record now it is total bs when people try to act like scientists and say that it's they discount it they either don't (38:48) understand the story or they've got an agenda because the top of the top of the worlds deal with this told me to my face so i just want to throw that down well you heard it right there guys that's all the info you need to know about 115 exactly what bob and jeremy just said i mean we have scientists on record who say what jeremy just said i mean we know the element exists and i personally believe that he was there and you know as we were talking about these so-called debunkers who will pick and choose these little things you (39:21) know a lot of people attack bob by saying well there's there's no proof that he worked at los alamos or there's no proof he went to this this college or was that this base or anything like that well we've come to find out that that he is and there has been proof not just finding his name in the phone book registry but as many of you will see in the film and i don't want to give anything away but there is much more to this story that proves that bob was there he did this work so you can count (39:52) on that uh seeing it in this film now you mentioned earlier jeremy uh mr george knapp now he is your mentor is that correct yeah george knapp has been a mentor to me uh he's been an incredible resource of information he originally broke the story about bob back in 1989 and he actually championed for 25 plus years completely alone you know about this story and i really admire him for that he stuck to his guns and uh look george knapp was convinced of bob's truth and if for a second he thought bob wasn't telling the truth he would have (40:29) not only dropped the story he would have exposed bob and people forget look man bob tried to prove his story to you um you know george wanted to know too so george put him through four polygraph tests bob aced them all aced them no deception yeah aced them you know know which way from sunday about that so that was with terry tabernetti period full stop aced them all so what else can he do you know look george put him in front of people that verified worked at area 51 at the time because that's where bob would land in (41:01) the plane and then go on the bus and aced it they all believed he was there at least they could prove area 51 so george really put bob through his paces it's not just like he wanted as a journalist to believe a cool story so there's a lot of history here people need to just understand so george is the bomb is what i'm saying he is and he did the work and he stood up and he stands for and he beat his chest like king kong and he's the bomb that's it he is he that definitely well said sir now he also he also took people

(41:27) out and he said look i know for a fact that they are going to be testing these craft at a certain time of night in a certain area and isn't it true that multiple times bob you took people out and like clockwork these craft were out there being tested and you even got it on film is that correct yeah i did have when i was there the one thing uh that i was able to memorize were the name first of all there were only 22 other people that had clearance to work on the project and i knew those names and there was also (42:03) a clear test schedule and they always the you know the test site is close not close but i mean the closest highway to it is uh i don't remember the distance to that do you jeremy it's it's not but what they did is they looked for statistically the lowest volume of traffic along the highway before they did the test and that was always on a wednesday night all the tests all the flight tests were on a wednesday night and i had the times of those tests down now when things went bad between us and my employers there
(42:40) you know i still had the schedule so that's when i told my friends hey we need to go out what i told you i want to show you guys what i was working on so we you know we'd go out there hide out in the desert and the craft came up and flew around you know at the times that i specified it's amazing footage and you know it i know it's been years but from what you saw them testing in those videos in your experience and in your opinion from maybe some of the research you've done today i'm not sure if you've had (43:12) ever your own ufo encounter but in your opinion would most of the ufos seen today come from a human source from an off world source there's this is almost split right down the middle where half of my audience believe that it's all us every craft even the ones that show you know anti-gravity uh tech everything is ours half the other half believe it's it's all off world and that maybe we have one or two of their craft i mean your opinion where do you think you would fall well um it's certainly advanced technology
(43:49) now i mean can i say that it's not advanced i mean this is really pushing the limits of you know belief here but can i say it's not advanced technology from the future i mean that's possible it is how do you explain the connection to zeta reticuli though i mean is it possible in the future humans live there and we're coming back and just checking on ourselves i mean all of these are it that is another big theory that it is human beings it is it's possible no i have i've i have nothing to say (44:19) that that's possible or not possible it's it's all it can all possibly be real right um but uh i well i really don't know actually well i think i mean it's funny you ask like you know has bob ever had he's gonna come to you next have you seen one jeremy i was joking because of course like you you did because you had asked for but not a classic no i'm glad you actually when i went to work out there the first thing i thought was first of all i never believed at ufos i thought people that (44:52) believed in ufos were just nutcakes and uh you know when i went out there the first time i saw the craft i thought oh well this clearly explains all the ufo sightings we're developing a really advanced fighter and they've been testing it and everybody thinks it's alien life forms this is hilarious i'm so you know happy to be working on this project and it was clear that was not the case right yeah what i meant to say was since then have do you have you seen anything in the skies or do you think

(45:25) there's any uh of our public technology uh fighter jets that we have today that could be potentially using tech from those crafts so many years ago just in your opinion i haven't seen anything at all i mean the technology is extremely advanced and uh i haven't seen anything it's all been just and you weren't you were not able to successfully back engineer it were you i just want to clarify that when you were working on these craft was there wasn't there an issue where i mean you can take them
(45:58) apart you can analyze them but you you couldn't replicate it was that true right it wasn't just back engineering i mean the the aim of the project was to duplicate the technology with the materials available to us now we could at least from what we ascertained is determine how the systems worked but there was no we the problem is we couldn't duplicate anything we couldn't even duplicate the metal and the conduits everything was and pardon the pun was alien to us and uh it was just too big of a project
(46:35) and so you know they would have splinter groups working on smaller components of it like you know you guys figure out how this part works but it's really a dead end the material science was just too advanced for us so no we couldn't duplicate anything now maybe there were some you know that there were some components here or the way things were laid out that might have translated themselves into military components but it you know to me it was just a giant military project but the you know the major technology never made it into anywhere
(47:08) because it's uh it was all very high energy related and we had no way to store and transmit levels of that energy at all do you think they're still likely working on it sort of tinkering with it to this day trying to make something out of it in some dark hanger somewhere it would probably be conjecture i mean um you know i remember when i first talked to dennis that was my supervisor they had an argument about this being out in the south pacific to keep it out of and remember that's where they did the first
(47:41) you know uh thermonuclear bomb test um you know to put it out there just to keep it away from prying eyes and and things of that sort but uh the reason was the same as it was for the you know hydrogen bomb development in the 50s was it's just too expensive to shuttle back and forth all the time um but that was always in the back of their minds they always wanted to leave the continental united states and take the stuff somewhere else um maybe after i came out and kind of you know ruined the situation there they did that or uh
(48:18) it's i would find it very hard to believe that's in the same place and still proceeding at the same rate but uh right uh there's no doubt the research continues on it well and i think and jeremy i think would you agree to this that despite the fact that we don't know where they're coming from would you agree that we are definitely surveilling them i mean with the recent dod releases of those three ufo clips taken from fighter jets everything i've been able to to scrounge up and put on the channel i
(48:50) mean they're they definitely seem to be monitoring these things they they know that these things are here we know that they're here i mean it doesn't take long i mean how many pieces of footage and eyewitness testimonials do you have to go through before you start right i mean look it's not a matter of belief you know ufos are either real or they're not real obviously they're real if you don't understand that then you have a data poor perspective but the you know kind of a social kind of consciousness people are (49:23) starting to understand that now because of the release from the new york times in december of 2017 however i'd like to say i did break the tic tac ufo case the famous before the new york times because commander david fravor who is a friend of mine was talking to me for two years before that and i kept it quiet i didn't tell anybody and i developed sources i broke that story twice before the new york times now what does that tell you yeah i can tell you beyond a shadow of a doubt the united states government does (49:54) have a ufo program and they admitted it to you it was called a tip advanced aerospace threat identification program and guess what it was a reactionary program to military encounters and sightings and that is one tiny program and i happen to personally know that there are more why do you think they let you release that in the first place why do you think they even let you in the door nobody let me release anything i've got a charming personality tyler that you do sir yeah i i called up these individual witnesses these admirals

(50:26) these uh you know fighter pilots and i made friends with them and i didn't burn them and i didn't distort their story or mess it up when i told it and guess what the whole world is now commander favorite story is being twisted and and i told it right and he we talked the other day and he's like everybody else is twisting it i'm like i told you it would happen and i was like yeah i'll try to clear it up but that's the deal man i just don't burn people it ain't worth it and the (50:52) people i talk with is because i want to and they're good people i have a no d-bag policy so right well from this new film which i actually had a chance to watch last night i wanted it to be fresh and i just kind of i wanted to wait as long as i could and stick with the audience because they're having to wait for it but it was an amazing film and it truly gives us an insight after all of these years to what bob's life what he went through how his life has changed and you know i'd like to ask you jeremy (51:23) well you've said before that timing is everything with your films you know why have you chosen as a filmmaker to focus your attention on this story now and is there any new info that the global audience will be learning upon the release of this new film yeah there's new info the whole film this is not a rehashing of the past this is not repurposing vintage footage yeah this is brand new breaking news and information in fact i am shocked because i did not anticipate what we were going to experience in the filming of this
(51:59) movie so yeah you can anticipate to have your socks knocked off for the film you know absolutely you'll hear the chatter as soon as it's out in public people are going to talk about it so um why now though is kind of an interesting question i just want to briefly answer that i mean first of all it's because i don't know bob let me finally film him so that was cool and then second of all because i always thought this is the most valuable story in modern history about ufos and exotic propulsion and i stand by (52:32) them i agree and and because we live in a different world now than we did in 1989 we now live in a world where people are on twitter and social media and all sorts of uh you know every communication device possible yet that they have a lack of credible information this is credible information and the world has changed we now know that it was a lie that the study of ufos ended in 1969 with project blue book that our government lied to us and that in fact we are currently studying the ufo problem on multiple levels and that is a
(53:08) game changer all of a sudden the story that babazar told in 1989 about a government program to study ufos to back engineer them has a completely different meaning and light because of modern day events it is time it is time and as i like to say bob's critics have been holding the mic for 30 years and we're taking the mic back and we're taking it back on december 3rd at the world premiere in los angeles which you're going to be at tyler so we're taking right back and we're not giving up that (53:34) mic for a while we're going to scream into it yeah that's going to be a blast well i know you guys don't have a lot of time i just have a few more questions uh starting with bob let me ask you this what was the if you could say the most important thing that you learned from your time at s4 and follow up if you could would you go back and accept or would you not accept your position at area 51 and s4 if you could do it over um boy as far as the most important thing that's that's a difficult thing to say
(54:10) um i guess the one thing that really caught my attention was the fact that there were alien craft i mean that's it i thought that was this was advanced up you know what they hired me for was advanced technology and advanced propulsion system that the military had made and it just happened to look like what people had called a flying saucer the biggest shock in my life was the fact that the actual aim of the project was we have to figure out how this thing works right um so it was it was really the scope of the (54:44) whole project that there were actually alien craft from another civilization so that today uh remains and probably always will be in my life the most shocking

thing i was ever presented with um i already forgot the second would you go back and accept the job at s4 if you could do it over yeah i would always accept that job because just being exposed to that technology uh things i thought were impossible i will never forget um and usually people ask after that would you if you could go back uh tell the public again and i really (55:28) don't know how to honestly answer that question because sometimes i say i wouldn't sometimes i say i would it just depends on my mood at that day right um you know and i i really don't know but i no i would never turn down that project especially knowing uh you know that technology is real because that was the most fascinating thing in my life right and i think that'll lead me to my final question for you bob and it's a big question that my audience constantly asks which is that in the end
(55:57) why do you think bob that there is so much secrecy why has the public at large been lied to why is this secret being kept about the ufo subject and still is to this day because this is the most powerful technology on the planet and anybody that controls this technology controls the world look it's all a battle you know whether we know it or not between you know russia the united states north korea i mean it's you know if you really take a step back they're all acting like little children on a playground
(56:35) but uh really this is extremely powerful technology and this is a military project and you don't want to give away even the slightest hint to what's going on at one time par you know the project right before i got involved with it the russians were involved and they made a huge discovery at some point again this was right before i came on and they kicked everyone else out and kept it to themselves and there's kind of been you know a point of contention between the russians and the united states at that time well i don't know what that (57:10) was but yeah this is it i think it all boils down to weapons and controlling the world and forcing your views on everybody else that's just the bottom line well do you think that you know is there something that needs to happen for our government to to finally tell us the truth or is it just out of our hands i don't know if i can answer that question i don't think our government ever really you know comes clean unless they're pressured to for some reason right and there's no reason for them to come clean
(57:38) about this um quite frankly i'm more concerned about the repercussions from the movie coming back on me but um uh you know i have it wouldn't surprise me if i suddenly got accused of some bizarre thing and i'm just i'm waiting for the other shoe to drop yeah that's that's been you know i got to tell you that's a debate of mine i in one sense i'm like yes the movie's going to do really well now and the other since i'm thinking oh no you know is that going to affect bob and i think
(58:07) you'll understand that when you watch the movie that there's real world consequences to this type of dialogue and i experienced that for the first time in my life like doing this film so as a friend i want to you know hope and protect that nothing bad is going to happen to bob from this but you know bob has always been able to defend himself he has never needed a defender he just chooses not to engage and i think smartly over the years uh because there's so much signal uh or so much noise in the signal so i'm (58:42) look i'm gonna look at this really positively i'm gonna say we've had 30 years where bob has been you know really beaten up by the ufo community unnecessarily and honestly we're so far beyond it our scope of our audience is so much bigger now with this movie dozens of millions of people are going to see this if not more and it's a new day i don't think bob needs to worry about no repercussions from government or anything like that we are now out in the light permanent let me tell you something
(59:17) we have an army behind us now i mean my little channel alone we're about to hit 2 million subscribers but have had almost a billion views in the last couple of years we have an army we missed you bob we truly did uh you know i'm i'm tired of posting videos using 20 year old vintage footage of you i am so happy that you came on you have nothing to worry about there's an army out there who support you and back you and gentlemen it's been an honor a true honor to have both of you here i want to thank you for (59:49) coming on today um you know bob you truly are a legend you have millions of people behind you so just remember that i know it's been tough for you over these years but sometimes great men have to pay a price for the things they do and for doing what's truly right and that is giving the public the truth that they deserve and you have gone above and beyond that sir so i want to thank you for that to jeremy i want to say thank you my friend for coming back on secure team once again and for all of your hard work

(1:00:23) getting these films made and getting this film made and for being one of the very few left spearheading this movement and leading the march for true disclosure you are both always welcome on secure team thank you both again it truly is an exciting time and jeremy i'd like to end this by asking you you know is there any information that you can give regarding the film when it's coming out when when can we see it tell us what you got to say buddy i'm going to give you that but i'm going to give the mic to bob for a second okay
(1:00:56) well i just i just wanted to thank you for the kind comments and uh i look forward to meeting you when you when you come down for the premiere well thank you sir i truly look forward to meeting you too and it was an honor to have you and so just about the movie yeah let's just get this out so everybody knows i really really want people to see this film that's why i made it as an independent filmmaker when you watch that movie and you buy it on itunes you buy it on vimeo that directly affects my life you know thank you and bob is
(1:01:24) making nothing off this home he would accept nothing i want to clear that up right away it's only me so if you want to see more movies from me yes please get the film so you asked tyler i'm going to tell you okay so we do we want to see more yeah okay bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers that's the title of the movie if you get it on itunes you get over two hours of bonus material the most amount of bonus material and then next up is vimeo you get all that bonus material too but it's available on amazon and all
(1:01:52) pay-per-view platforms just literally click the button buy the movie watch it and you determine for yourself reality otherwise somebody else is going to determine it for you so that's it man i hope you enjoy the film i'm really proud of this one celebrate with me watch the film and engage in the debate all right so you heard it right there guys if you want to see this movie i'll put all the links down below this is a historical film it's not going to be another one like this and from what i've
(1:02:23) seen jeremy has knocked it out of the park it's it's such a treat and especially for bob to come out after all these years after all he's been through and putting his life back out there for the public so let's show both of them they're going to stand behind them we're going to support them support this film we're going to watch it it's an epic film thank you both for being here i'm going to do my best to continue supporting you guys and i hope you will both come back on very soon
(1:02:51) i i thank you so much tyler you know just to make it clear bob lazar is not going on ufo circuits he's not doing raider interviews you were like literally the only one we have rejected everybody every publication everything he he made he allowed me to make the movie that's it guys well you know what i was just trying to leave a little bit of hope that he might at some point come back on that's all it was i know very private and that's been a treat i'm hoping that listen honestly to be a candid here i'm hoping that bob has such
(1:03:22) a good time at this premiere that he'll come with me to a couple more theatricals because i think it's powerful for people to see bob and to actually hear him talk about it so he's not he can't be dehumanized by people they're like oh that's him right so that's my hope but bottom i just want to let everybody know stop calling me stop asking me it ain't happening bob's not doing that the movie you're right you're right bob you have that's true you've done enough i'm i'm i'm selfish of
(1:03:47) course i'm gonna want you back on i'm gonna want you both back on i'm a selfish man but you you bob especially you have done enough live your life enjoy your life my friend you have done it all jeremy you're on your way man i appreciate it buddy you've done great work thank you both for being here all right thank you so much tyler can't wait to see you at the premiere man talk soon buddy have a good day all right all right you

(00:01) [Music] years ago the great screen actor jimmy cagney was working with a young actress that was about to be fired he went to the director and said let me

talk to her and he walked over to the actress and he said look it's simple you walk in the room you plant your feet look me in the eye and tell the truth [Music] the logo of the x-files is the truth is out there the truth is out there [Music] i'm going to paraphrase the truth is in here you're about to hear the truth i'm an actor my name is john cypher
(00:54) for seven years i walked through the door planted my feet and tried to tell the truth as chief daniels on hill street blues as general craig on the hit sitcom major dad i was two years on dynasty you're on knott's landing i've done five afternoon soap operas 12 broadway shows and 20 films one of the broadway shows i did was the great musical man of la mancha on broadway i was richard kylie's original understudy i sang the words to dream the impossible dream to fight the unbeatable foe to bear with unbearable sorrow to run
(01:31) with a brave dare not go i'm here to introduce your host this morning dr stephen greer he's a man who is running pell mel where the braves did not go he was an emergency room physician in fact the director of emergency medicine at a major hospital in north carolina three years ago he sat his wife and his four daughters down and said i've been doing this part-time running after the truth for seven years now now i'm going to do it full time he walked away from all that money to pursue the truth i always think of hamlet's great line to (02:25) horatio there are more things between heaven and hell than i dreamed of in your philosophy horatio i'm going to introduce a man who says there are more things between heaven and hell than any of us have accepted and i have the witnesses and the documents to prove it ladies and gentlemen dr steven green thank you very much john members of the press the american public and people of the world we are here today to disclose the truth about a subject that has been ridiculed and questioned denied for at least 50 years
(03:19) the men and women who are on this stage and the some 350 additional military intelligence witnesses to the so-called ufo matter and extraterrestrial intelligence can prove and will prove that we are not alone i would like to thank sarah mcclendon who is with us today the famed white house correspondent for her sponsorship of this meeting thank you very much sarah [Applause] [Applause] in 1993 a group of military advisers to this project and i met out in the countryside in virginia and we decided that it was time for (04:09) civilians military intelligence and other people to come together to disclose the truth about the subject which is called ufos since that time i have personally briefed a sitting director of central intelligence james woolsey president clinton's first ci director i have personally briefed the head of the defense intelligence agency the head of intelligence joint staff members of the senate intelligence committee many members of congress members of the european leadership the japanese cabinet and others and what i have found is that none of (04:48) them are surprised that this is true but they are uniformly horrified that they have not had access to these projects we can establish through these witnesses whom we have identified which now number over four hundred and these are people who have been inside the cia nsa nro air force navy marines army all divisions of the intelligence and military community as well as corporate witnesses contractors to the government and these are folks who have been involved in so-called black budget or covert unacknowledged projects
(05:28) these unacknowledged special access projects are taking in at least 40 to 80 billion dollars per year and they are sitting on technologies that can change the world forever the reason we are coming forward now is that we are asking for the us congress and for president bush to move towards an official inquiry and disclosure on this subject it has the most profound implications for the human future for the us national security and for world peace specifically technologies connected to ufo and extraterrestrial vehicles
(06:10) if declassified and used for peaceful energy generation and propulsion would solve the looming energy crisis definitively would end global warming would correct the environmental challenges that the earth is facing it is also critical that we begin to debate as a society the propriety of placing weapons in space if indeed as we can prove it is true that we are not alone and that space is territory which we are sharing with other civilizations it could be a very imprudent destabilizing thing to place weapons in space
(06:57) this is not being debated because it is off the national international radar screens it needs to be placed on it and we are here today to do it we can establish through this testimony that these objects of extraterrestrial origin have been tracked on radar going thousands of miles per hour stopping and making right hand

turns that they use anti-gravity propulsion systems which we have already figured out how they work in classified projects in the united states great britain and elsewhere that these objects have landed on terra
(07:29) firma at times have been disabled and have been retrieved specifically by teams within the united states that extraterrestrial life forms have been retrieved and their vehicles have been taken and studied thoroughly for at least 50 years we can prove through the testimony and documents that we will be presenting that this subject has been hidden from members of congress and at least two administrations that we are aware of presidential administrations and that the constitution of the united states has been subverted
(08:11) by the growing power of these classified projects and that this is a danger to the national security there is no evidence i wish to emphasize that these life forms from elsewhere are hostile towards us but there is a great deal of evidence that they are concerned with our hostility there are times when they have neutralized or rendered inert the launch capabilities of intercontinental ballistic missiles witnesses here today will describe those events to you they have shown clearly that they do not want us to weaponize space
(08:46) and yet we are proceeding down that dangerous path and it will be established that these projects because they have not been supervised properly by the congress by the u s president by the international community have become a threat to the national security and for this reason we feel we must disclose the facts this is the beginning of the campaign for disclosure and in a memo that i wrote to president bush last week i've stated that this campaign will persist into our goals are met and they are as follows
(09:29) that we have open honest hearings on the subject in the u.s congress that there would be a permanent ban on the weaponization of space or the targeting of any objects of extraterrestrial origin that there be a full and complete study of classified technologies connected to this subject to see how they could be properly declassified and applied for peaceful energy generation so that the world may get off of fossil fuels in enough time to prevent greater ecosystem damage or war over the looming energy crisis which (10:12) is sure to sweep the earth in the coming decade this is a matter of the most pressing import it has been ridiculed yes i know many in the media would like to talk about little green men but in reality the subject is laughed at because it is so serious i have had grown men men weep who are in the pentagon who are members of congress and who have said to me what are we going to do here's what we will do we will see that this matter is properly disclosed and these courageous witnesses the first 21 of over 100 that we have already interviewed on (10:59) videotape have stepped forward to speak the truth now i expect people to be skeptical but not irrationally so because these men and women have come forward and they have their credentials they can establish who they are and they have been first-hand witnesses to some of the most important events in the history of the human race as was pointed out to me by some of the men here they were charged with handling the nuclear weapons of the united states their word was trusted on everything of great importance for the national (11:35) security we must trust their word now as monsignor balducci said at the vatican in an interview i had with him recently it is irrational not to accept the testimony of these witnesses so please be skeptical but that is not the same as prejudiced and closed-minded this is a matter of great importance and i ask the media the scientific community and the political community to look seriously at this matter and to do the right thing for humanity and for our children we have available for the media and for members of congress a nearly 500 page (12:17) briefing document with transcripts from dozens of these top secret witnesses we have a four-hour video tape summary it's not a commercial product i warn you from this project of the 120 hours that we have in interviews so far they've been boiled down to four hours and it's available for the congress to review and for the major media to review we can establish that this subject is real and has tremendous significance for the human future i ask on all of you who are listening to contact the members of congress that (12:55) represent you and the leaders around the world and other countries and ask them to hold an honest inquiry into this subject to support a ban on weaponizing space since we are sharing space with other life forms and that we move quickly as a people to understanding that this is the end of the childhood of the human race it is time for us to become mature adults in the cosmic civilizations out there to do this we must become a peaceful civilization and we must look as we go into space

with an intent of cooperating with other civilizations (13:40) not weaponizing that high frontier the men and women who will speak next will do so in order beginning on your left they will introduce themselves i ask for the media to refrain from questions until each witness has spoken briefly about who they are and what they have personally been involved with or witnessed in their government military or government connected careers at the end we will have questions all of you may ask questions for as long as we can stay here and we will provide you with all the information that you need
(14:23) so we will begin now with the first of our witnesses mr john callahan [Music] my name is john callahan i'm a retired faa employee i was a division manager for the accidents evaluation and investigation division in dc about two years before i retired i received a call from alaska region where the region wanted to know what to tell the media when i questioned tell the media what he says about the ufo and it went downhill from there what ufo it turned out i told him what any government employee would do at that
(15:13) time was to tell him it's under investigation and then i had him send all that data to the faa tech center in atlantic city the next day my immediate boss service director javi sofia and i went to atlantic city i just purchased a uh a new video camera and i videoed the uh the event in the lake city we had him play back on a on a scope you would call a scope a plan view display pvd exactly what the pilot uh uh scene or what the controller scene and we tied that in with the voice tape so we could hear exactly what the controller said
(15:51) and what he heard and we taped it we came back the next day uh briefed the administrator admiral lincoln on what happened he won the five minute briefing after we started the briefing he wasn't know if he could see the video we put the video on he watched the video the whole video the next day he set up a a meeting for me to give a dog and pony show to president reagan's scientific staff and whoever they brought over and to hand off all that data to them that morning in the faa round room it was either nine at 10 o'clock
(16:25) uh three men from reagan's scientific staff three cia people three fbi people and i don't remember who the other guys were along with all the faa experts that i brought with me that could decide or talk about the hardware and software how it worked we put on a dog and pony show we let them watch the video we had all the data there we had all the printouts that the computer put out they got all excited over it when it was all done the cia one of the cia men told the people they were now sworn to secrecy that this meeting never happened and
(17:01) this event never happened when i asked him why uh you know i thought it was probably just the stealth bomber at the time he says well this is the first time that we have uh recorded radar data on a ufo and these guys are going to get all excited drooling over all this data i said well you're going to tell the public about it and he says no we don't tell the public about this it would panic the public he says we're going to go back and study this i said okay that was what he was going to do now i've told this story many times and (17:36) i get sometimes funny looks from people i have with me the voice tapes of the controllers that were involved the faa original tapes see after we handed this stuff off to the president's staff the faa didn't know what to do with it we don't separate ufos from real traffic so it's not our problem okay i have a copy of the original of the uh video that we took which is rather interesting and once once the thing was all over the report started coming into my office but because it wasn't an faa air traffic
(18:14) problem the faa's report ended up on a table in my office and stayed there until i retired when one of the staffers packed up all my gear and helped move to my house also in a box i found just a few good days ago in my 1992 tax return i have the target tryouts from the computer data which so if you wanted to recheck or look at every target that was up there at the time you can now reproduce this from this piece of paper here and it's called the ufo incident japan 1648 i believe the number was it happened on november the 18th
(18:53) 1986. i'm prepared to go to congress to swear before congress that everything i've told you people and everything that is here is the truth thank you [Applause] [Music] good morning i hope you'll pardon me i'm a little bit nervous my name is charles l brown i'm a lieutenant colonel u.
(19:25) s air force retired subsequently seven years with the foreign service i like the name charlie brown a gentleman by the name of charles schultz of great talent sort of elevated the name if you will uh during world war ii i was a young farm boy from west virginia i got the patriotic bug joined the united states army ended up

flying bombers in europe and ended the war transport in the pacific finished college in the summer late summer of 49 recalled to active duty in the newly formed united states air force i was assigned to an organization called (20:05) office of special investigations the air force as most of you know was formed in 1947 osi as a central investigative agency for the air force was formed i think in 1948 so everything was relatively new needless to say starting in 47 ufos were rather new the air force intelligence air technical intelligence center was at wright-patterson air force base and i had my office in a building adjacent to it and our organization was the worldwide investigative agency for the air force for any unidentified flying objects this (20:45) lasted for about two years the project name was known as project grudge it was a predecessor to a project known as blue book which ed rupelt headed during my experience with it i would collect the data from i didn't collect it it was sent into my office i analyzed it as a pilot investigator i was able to offer some bits of advice to the air technical intelligence people now you might visualize a massive office but as i recall we had a first lieutenant a secretary and a technical sergeant that was the essence of project blue book when he
(21:22) started a project grudge blue book and expanded somewhat during the review as an analyst of these various documentary reports if you will or documents i became clearly convinced that there was substance to what was being reported in that we had ground visual ground radar airborne visual and airborne radar confirmation of some of these sightings the individuals who made the sightings were everything from airline pilots military pilots police officers some of the people that your lives depend upon on a daily basis
(22:05) these are very reputable and credible people i hope that the testimony here from very credible people will convince you of that and will further steve greer's dis closure project in that pressure needs to be brought to bring this to the attention not only of the americans but the people all over the planet these vehicles have been seen and confirmed all over the planet i am willing to sign a sworn statement or testify to my judgment and to what i have observed such things do exist please believe me please believe the
(22:48) those who follow me thank you [Applause] my name is michael smith i was in the air force sergeant from 1967-1973 i was aircraft control and morning operator while i was assigned to klamath falls oregon in early 1970 arrived at the radar site and they were watching a ufo on a radar that was hovering at about 80 000 feet it sat there for about 10 minutes and then slowly descended until it dropped off the radar was gone for about five ten minutes and then instantly reappeared at eighty thousand feet stationary the next sweep of the radar it was 200
(23:44) miles away stationary and hovered there for about 10 minutes and redid the whole cycle twice more when i found out what the normal what you normally do when you see a ufo i was told that you know to find norad you don't necessarily write anything down you don't write anything down and you keep it to yourself it's a need to know basis only and norad one night called me about later in the year to let me know as a heads up that there was a ufo coming up the california coastline i asked them what i should do about this
(24:22) they said nothing don't write it down just it's just a heads up and then late 1972 while stationed at 753rd radar squadron in sault ste marie michigan i received a couple panicky calls from police officers who were chasing three ufos from mackinac bridge up i-75 so i immediately checked the radar confirmed they were there called norad and they were concerned because they had two inbound v-52s going to kinslow air force base so they diverted them because they didn't want any proximity of the two and that night i answered many calls
(25:07) from the police department sheriff's department stuff my standard response was there was nothing on radar and i will testify this under oath to congressional hearing [Applause] [Music] good morning my name is enrique kolbek i am a traffic controller i'm sorry for my english i'm so scared i'm not accustomed to talk in front of a lot of people um i'm here because i'm being a witness in a voluntary way on my work i work in mexico city as radar controller and the international airport of mexico (25:57) and uh i'm going to give an example about this science that we have in mexico for several years and this issue happens a lot of times on my country unfortunately for example in march 4 1992 we detect 15 objects west side of the toluca airport that is very close of our international airport at 50 miles more list then july 28 and 1994 we have almost a collision or something that we can name in that way uh with a international flight i mean uh domestic flight of iron mexico one to nine commands by the pilot raimondo cervantes rano that has a (26:54) trash or something about in his main landing year in the right leg that's okay night at 10 30 more or less then in the next week the same year in the same moment uh the idol mexico fly 904 has another almost collision that was reported for the pilot corso the capitan corso at 11 and 30 in the morning and we detect that object on a radar suddenly just for a moment then uh in the next week we have a lot of silence reports by the pilots that gave us information about their uh weird traffic or something bright in lights and uh different times

(27:52) and we detect some of them uh in in that week but in september 15 of 1994 we having a detection about five hours more or less on a radar and a new equipment that we believed that that equipment was working in not a good way because it's not human that you have detection by five hours of the same object and apparently without movement well we can correct with the technical uh persons of radar in our country that the radar system was working well and um and was very exciting and we surprised when at the next day we received information
(28:46) about uh about paradise naming jaime mauzan that is a study these cases in mexico about that aside in a lot from a lot of people in the meta peak city there is another point in located southeast of the toluca airport about on a signing of the big um flying saucer apparently 50 meters of diameter than for a lot of people and that let the trash is something in the wood in the ground well next november 1924 1994 we have an on service officially our new radar system and after that moment we have information very exactly about of this assignments at the (29:44) same time with the pilots and detections that's why i'm here because we consider in my country that this is very dangerous we have a lot of more cases but i don't want to use more time in this but uh it's very important that the people on the ward knows these events and consider that could be very dangerous for aeronautical situations especially in my country i don't know why in my country that secure frequently but the the point is that happens and and we consider dangers and we had only unfortunately one twas but (30:25) we don't want to happen i know anymore thank you very much and i'm sorry [Applause] my name is graham bethune i'm a retired navy commander pilot had a top secret clearance 50 years ago february the 10th 1951 i was flying from keflavik iceland to argentina newfoundland it was at night it was dark about 300 miles outside of argentina i saw a glow on the water like approaching the city at night as we approach this glow it turned to a monstrous circle of white lights on the water we watched this for a while the lights
(31:14) went out there was nothing on the water next thing we saw was a yellow halo small much smaller than whatever it was launched from and that was 15 miles away up to our altitude because of the trajectory i disengaged the autopilot shoved the nose over to try to go under this thing at that time i heard a noise underneath i thought maybe it hit us it was actually some of the crew members ducking and they collided and a couple of were injured then it appeared over to the right and moved out slowly and flew with us it was still not at our altitude
(31:49) but we could see the shape of it it had a dome we could see the we could see the coronal discharge i went back aft let the other pilot al jones take my seat to see what the pastor's reaction was came back to the cockpit told him not to report anything simply because what that psychiatrist had said to me maybe they would lock us up so basically the instruments in the cockpit we had four or five fares in the area of magnetic compass another electromagnetic effect an area of directional finers and this type of thing
(32:25) the craft was tracked by radar in excess of 1800 miles an hour and never did get to our altitude we had 31 passengers plus the psychiatrists and the crew members that all cited this at different areas when we landed at our junction in newfoundland we were interrogated by the air force an excellent interrogation captain paulson when we landed the naval air test center here at patuxent river we were required by navy intelligence to make out individual reports [Music] out of the national archives i have the 18 page official navy and air force report (33:03) i've made up a a report to straighten out all the truth a stack of books out there that's how i have written all of this up so the truth is here i will testify under oath before congress that everything that i have said is true [Music] my name is dan willis i was in the united states navy i held a top secret crypto level 14 extra sensitive material handling security clearance i worked in the code room at the naval communications station in san francisco in 1969 i received a priority message from a ship near alaska

near port bow a brightly glowing reddish orange elliptical object approximately 70 feet in diameter emerged out of the water shot into space traveling at about 7 000 miles per hour this was tracked on ship's radar and substantiated years later i worked at the naval electronic engineering center in san diego for 13 years the co-worker who i worked with worked at the norad facility when he first started working at the facility he noticed objects going on the (34:43) screens to track everything out in space and in the air objects going off the scale doing wide angle turns when he inquired his older supervisor advised him that quote it was just a visit from one of our little friends i thought it was a little unusual these statements are true and willing to testify under oath before congress thank you [Applause] [Music] my name is don phillips i was in the united states air force and i had worked with certain intelligence agencies of the united states government prior to my air force
(35:31) prior to joining the air force i worked for the famous lockheed skunk works and i was working for them when i was attending college and i worked them i worked for them in the capacity as a design engineer it was one of my proudest moments of my life to work with a man by the name of kelly johnson a lot of you might be familiar with that uh it turns out that the models of aircraft that we were building as you know uh we're all classified we're in the deep black and that i came in on on the end of the youtube project my main project was (36:13) known later as the sr-71 the sr-71 had a predecessor it had a special model built for the cia and that those models were one one passenger one pilot special aircraft in order to get from one place to another very very quickly now these sr-71s as we know them the blackbird are the type of aircraft that are still classified in a sense as far as the altitude that it flies at and also the speed records that it holds i'm very proud to say that this aircraft played a big part in helping to end the cold war the aircraft the predecessor aircraft
(37:03) their strong evidence to suggest that perhaps these aircraft had a different role once in the air each pilot and i knew a few of them each pilot had an assignment before they took off okay they learned about the assignment immediately prior to takeoff and there's strong evidence to suggest that there was a dual role in that they were monitoring some type of traffic to and from planet earth this can be verified at a later point this was pro i'll jump into my military experience my first field assignment for the united
(37:46) states air force was at las vegas air force station and that was my first experience with las vegas and i couldn't understand why people were being so excited about going to a place such as this but i soon found out about a year later nellis air force base is located there nellis is a major training center for different types of special aircraft and fighter aircraft one of the premier training sites for pilots all around the world however when i learned that my assignment was at a radar site 50 miles out of town up
(38:20) near mount charleston uh i had no idea where we where i'd be so finally in the daylight i was able to find the location and report it in in 1965 for duty in 1966 early in the morning about 1 to 2 a.m i was sleeping i was staying there on base and our barracks were at about 8 000 feet i heard a lot of commotion you know at that altitude sound carries sound carries tremendously and i thought well it's early in the morning it's summertime and there is a lot it's very warm and maybe i should get up and take a
(39:06) look i didn't really want to but i got up and took a look walked up to the main road up near my office which was the commander's office i was on the commander's staff lieutenant colonel charles evans and i couldn't i was who's making all this noise who's making all this noise at this time of the morning so when i got within about 50 yards of the five four five people that were standing there one being the chief of security they were looking up in the air and i says gee they all their heads are all
(39:40) head looking at the same direction well i looked up to the west northwest and to my amazement there were lights flashing around the sky moving at anywhere from what seemed like 24 2400 to about 3 800 miles per hour now the fact that we're taking an estimate from a distance you know we figured well this is this is quite something however we continue to watch these fly these darting lights go across the sky and stop absolutely stop come to a dead stop and reverse in an acute angle their direction and then proceed on in sort of they were (40:27) traveling so fast that you could almost see a pattern left by if you are computer people when you move a mouse real quick across the screen you see a little bit of a tail well that's exactly the way these six or seven craft worked after five minutes of watching these things they all seemed to group up to the west northwest okay they started to come in on a circle but what i would like to point out is that where they were putting on their display in the north northwest sky just directly east of that is what is (41:01) known as area 51. area 51 is a aec name okay atomic energy commission that was the old name for atomic energy commission we knew it as the groom lake flight test facility in the air force and it was where we tested our aircraft at the sc after we got the prototype made from the skunk works so here are these let's get back to the circle in the sky what they did was coalesce and and started rotating in a circle and then they disappeared well i thought gee this is something that we have to keep quiet that was verified by the chief of security

(41:40) but we waited there and talked over for a little bit it seemed like i think it was an hour then came the radar people from the scopes which were at ten thousand plus feet came down for their dinner at two o'clock in the morning and the first person off the bus was a good friend of mine anthony casar [Music] he said he was white as a sheet and he says did you see that yeah we all said yeah yeah it was a nice display what a show he says we documented them on radar and he says we didn't give him clearance
(42:10) we just the standing order was let him fly through the radar beam he says we documented six to seven ufos now we don't know who was guiding those but they were certainly intelligent and we don't know where they landed because they coalesced and disappeared so i will say at this point to keep it short that i will testify under oath as to what i say is true and i will do so before congress thank you [Applause] [Music] my name is robert sullis contrary to what it says on the card i was not a lieutenant colonel in the air
(42:55) force i was in the air force active duty after i graduated from the air force academy in 1964 until 1971 and separated as a captain in march of 1967 i was stationed at mountain air force base montana [Music] as a missile launch officer minuteman missiles uh on an early morning of march 16 1967 i got a call from my security guard primary security guard upstairs we had about six as i recall flight security airmen upstairs i was downstairs 60 feet underground in a capsule monitoring and controlling 10 nuclear tipped minuteman missiles
(43:51) i got a call that morning that they were seeing strange lights flying in the sky uh i disregarded that call i told them to call me when something more significant happened i got another call subsequent to that call and this time it was a more uh intense tone in the in the guard's voice is very clearly very frightened um he said there was a a bright glowing red object hovering outside the front gate it was oval-shaped he had all the other guards out there with her weapons drawn right after that call i woke up my commander who was on a
(44:33) rest period uh fred mywald a retired colonel now and told him about the phone calls as i was telling him about the phone calls my weapons started going down one after the other they went into a no-go condition what we call no-go condition they were unlaunchable we lost somewhere between six and eight weapons that morning within minutes of having received that second phone call of a ufo hovering outside the front gate um uh again that morning after reporting it to the command post we were informed that a similar very (45:21) similar incident happened at echo flight i was at oscar flight they lost all 10 of their weapons and under similar circumstances very similar circumstances where ufos were cited over the launch facilities they had they had maintenance crews and security crews out there that had spent the night and they were reporting ufos over those sites and the commander of that flight was eric carlson uh he's he also separated as a captain and the deputy commander was walt uh feigl uh retired as an attack colonel we have those witnesses
(46:10) uh that i just mentioned the the names i just mentioned are have spoken of this event before and they will back up this story we also have documentation that i received through foa requests from the air force uh outlining the echo flight incident and including in in that documentation a reference to ufos we have um telex's covering this incident and in one telex it it says the fact that no apparent reason for the loss of 10 missiles can be readily identified is cause for grave concern to this headquarters this was from sac headquarters (46:58) so we've received we've got those telex's i've got about 12 witnesses that'll verify parts of this story including uh of a man who investigated the incident afterwards for the air force and you'll hear a little bit more about that within from the next witness and also uh another guard that witnessed the ufo in that same time period and another officer who retired a full colonel who had other reports of ufos ancillary to that excuse me i've got the complete report on a minot north dakota incident that (47:45) was minot air force base north dakota which happened in august of 1966 very similar ufo sighted over missile silos and also a ufo incident that was that was investigated by the air force immediately after our incident within a week i'm willing to testify to the truth of all these matters that i've spoken about in front of congress under oath thank you [Music] good morning my name is dwayne arneson i served 26 years as a communication electronics officer in the u.

(48:28) s air force all over the world including vietnam i was lucky to be selected to be commander of three different units in the air force i held the top secret sci tk clearance and for those in the know it is slightly above top secret i retired in 1986 as a colonel at wright-patterson air force base in ohio i would like to relate about three different experiences if you will that relate to ufos as a young lieutenant over in germany ramstein air base germany back in the early 60s i was in charge of the cryptographic center i had a top secret crypto
(49:05) clearance at that time and i can clearly recall seeing a message that went through my crypto center which said that a ufo ufo had crashed on the island of pittsburgh in norway and the team of scientists were coming to investigate it going forward to the 1967 time frame i was assigned to the 28th third division at great falls montana and i was the officer in charge of the communications center there also i was a top secret control officer for the division i had a crypto account i was a account custodian and i also passed out nuclear (49:42) launch authenticators during that time i can recall seeing a message come through that communication center which said basic what bob was just got through talking about is that a ufo was seen near the mississippis and the missiles were deactivated coincidentally my first the person that boeing sent to investigate the particular missile conditions if you will what made them shut down was my first manager at boeing mr bob kaminski who has since passed away and i can recall him on different occasions you lived close to me in (50:19) auburn washington that's where i'm from and he said arnie he says those missiles were perfectly clean that was a result so then one last incident concerned when i was in the as a commander of the unite in great falls or in caswell air force station maine i had contacts with the security police at lauren air force base and they told about ufos that were seen near the nuclear weapon storage areas on lauren air force base and i'd be glad to testify to congress that this is absolutely the truth thank
(50:54) you [Music] good morning my name is harlan bentley during 1957 and 1959 i was a pfc in the united states army stationed north of washington dc on the nike ajax missile base close to olney maryland in may this month in 1960 or 1958 about 6 a.m i heard a noise outside it sounded like a pulsating transformer i sat up in my bunk i looked out the window i saw a craft heading for the ground and crashed pieces broke off of that craft immediately took off again so there's a lot more to that story but i've got to speed this up
(51:48) now the next night i was on radar duty i get a call from the gaithersburg missile base he says hey i got 12-15 ufos outside 50-100 feet above me so i asked him i said what does it sound like he took his head mic off held it out the van window and said here and the sound of the same sound i heard the previous morning except a lot more of them so i my radar was on standby so i immediately turned it on and got the blip just outside the ground clutter i marked it on my radar screen and then for a few minutes later all of (52:30) a sudden they took off as they took off the sweep came around hit the blip the second when it came around it hit it again that blip was two thirds away off my radar scope in order to get that far at a constant velocity with seventeen thousand miles an hour that was my first incident ten years later by this time i received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering and i was working in california now i'm sorry that all i can say is i was somewhere in california working on a classified project that had nothing to do with my (53:09) experience that i had there as i was working and it was like 2 3 in the morning california time i heard a houston astronaut communication link calmly i didn't pay much attention to it until i heard the word bogey of course my ears picked up immediately an unidentified flying object of some sort whether it's a craft meteorite or whatever was on a collision course with that module going to loop around the moon so basically i listened for some time and then i stopped and went back to work and then i heard there they go

called green turtle and it used to be i don't know if it is today or not but it used to be is you're not allowed to use profanity over the net and the first person that does that whoever hears it first and says green turtle that astronauts got to buy that man and his entire family at dinner at the most expensive place of cape canaveral well dennis real quick one of them said damn they went off the ufos took off he says damn that's fast (54:37) and somebody yelled green turtle [Music] and then he said another word a cinnamon to crap and then somebody else yelled green turtle and you could see him you grit his teeth because now he had to buy two expensive meals and my particular experience i will testify before congress if necessary and explain exactly what happened thank you [Applause] my name is john maynard i'm a retired army i retired as a sergeant first class my entire year 21 years of service i held a top secret clearance compartmentalized at times
(55:26) to as high as tk omni crypto and others i had access to very very sensitive documents my testimony is basically two prone one i retired from dia in 1980. i went as an administrator you take over an office you take over everything and you sign for everything and i sign for well over two thousand documents in order to sign an inventory of those things you have to read them not word for word but basically i went through every document to make sure that it was complete it was there as they told me i turned my charge over to the next
(56:14) person those same documents were there so i got quite a good knowledge of what was going on in those documents and believe me there are many many different references to ufos there was also npic pictures that shows that it would targeted objects they were casing you know now i worked on the salt one and saw two areas for the office that i worked in so we were taking pictures all the time for verification of nuclear disarmament and there were some objects in those pictures that didn't belong there the second throng prong to this whole
(56:54) thing is that a lot of people talk about conspiracies over a shadow government i'm willing to testify before congress that these black operations do exist i nearly became part of it but i saw the light i think or was it and i got out and that's it we have to disclose what we know and i am willing to testify before congress under oath or before any other organization that what i witnessed was true good morning my name is carl wolfe and i was a precision electronics photographic repairman with a top secret crypto clearance
(57:53) in the united states air force i was stationed at langley air force base in virginia in 1965 um in mid-1965 i was loaned to the lunar orbiter project at nasa on langley field dr colley was in charge of that project they had problems with a piece of electronic equipment that was bottlenecking their production of photographs i went to the facility and when i walked into the facility there were scientists from all over the world i was stunned actually to see people at a nasa project from all over the world it didn't make (58:33) any sense to me initially i was taken into the laboratory where the equipment was malfunctioning i couldn't repair it in the dark i asked to have it removed a uh airman second class was in the dark room at that time i was also an airman second class i was interested how the whole process functioned how the data got from the lunar orbiter to the laboratory asked the young man if he described the process to me he did about 30 minutes into the process he said to me in a very distressed way by the way we've discovered a base on (59:12) the back side of the moon and then he proceeded to put photographs down in front of me and clearly in these photographs were structures mushroom shaped buildings spherical buildings and towers and at that point i was very concerned because i knew we were working on compartmentalized security he had breached security and i was actually frightened at that moment and i did not question him any further and a few moments later someone did come into the room i worked there for three more days and i remember going home and naively thinking (59:44) i can't wait to hear about this on the evening news and here it is more than 30 years later and i hope we hear about it tonight and i will testify under oath before congress that what i'm saying is the truth thank you carl uh good morning everyone my name is donna hair and i worked at filco ford aerospace for from 1967 to 1981.
(1:00:16) during that time i was a design illustrator draftsman i did the launch slides and landing slides and also projecting plotting boards lunar maps for nasa we were a contractor but most of the time i worked on site excuse me in building eight i had the opportunity to do extra work during downtime which was between missions and i walked into a photo lab which was the nasa lab across the hallway i had a secret clearance which is not that high but i was able to go into restricted areas which this was at the time i was talking to one of the (1:00:57) techs in there and he drew my attention to a photograph that a nasa photograph it had a dot on it and i said what is that well he drew my attention to it and i said is that a dot on the emulsion and he said and he's smiling and he has his hands crossed and he said uh round dots on the emulsion don't leave round shadows on the ground and this was an aerial photograph of the earth i'm assuming the earth because it had pine trees on it and the shadows of the craft or whatever it was were in the same angle as the trees

(1:01:31) and by its very nature ufo and i wanted to clarify that to a gentleman that was talking to me means unidentified so i did not know what this was but i realized at this point that it's very secret that it was kept secret because i asked him what are you going to do with this piece of information and he said we always airbrush these out before we sell them to the public so they're pissed pesky little creatures appearing on this photograph they wanted to get rid of after that i decided i would ask questions to other people that work
(1:02:05) there and i found that i had to ask them away from the site and not on site a guard told me that he was asked to burn some photographs and not to look at him and there was a guard another guard guarding him who was in green fatigues watching him burn the photographs and he said he was too tempted he looked at one and it was a picture of a ufo and he was very descriptive i can go into that later with anyone he immediately was hit in the head and he had a big gash in his forehead he was knocked out and he's terrified so he
(1:02:39) would have to be protected another incident i knew someone in quarantine with the apollo astronauts he told me that the apollo astronaut saw craft on the moon when we landed and that is what he told me and he also was afraid he said that the astronauts are told to keep this quiet they're not allowed to talk about it so i do want to let you know that i worked out there for a number of years and this i ran into this so it's not something everyone knows that works out there for a long time my boss didn't
(1:03:11) know about it uh some people that sat right next to me didn't know about it it's it's very strange because i don't know how they can do it but they can let some people know about it and then others not i'm willing to testify before congress that what i'm saying is true and i thank you very much good morning ladies and gentlemen and members of the press i my name is larry warren 20 years ago in 1980 i was a security specialist assigned to raf bentwaters woodbridge nato uh air force facilities in suffolk east
(1:03:52) anglia i had a secret security clearance i guarded uh our backline nuclear weapons that were stored there at the time on without the knowledge of the people of great britain uh i went through its uh portion of a three-night ufo event where objects made incursions over our wsa fired pencil thin beams of light into them and adversely affected the ordnance possibly these objects were on the ground on two different nights potentially there was another life-form scene this is an unpopular truth these events were of extreme defense
(1:04:31) significance to not only her majesty's government but this government as well and they are still shrouded in secrecy they are very complex they are very vast this is more about a human rights issue than just a ufo issue uh 20 years ago this room would be empty i see a turn in history this is history in motion but unfortunately it's history with the security classification i would be more than honored to swear under oath that i would experience what i did i saw what i saw these events produced not only
(1:05:04) after numerous denials by this government a memo by lieutenant colonel charles holt our deputy base commander which reads like science fiction it also produced years later an on-site audio tape he made as these objects perform their feats and did what they did in violated airspace these events are of extreme defense significance i hope my brothers in arms that went through these events will be given immunity at some point and be able to join us here it is an honor to share the stage with all of these people people
(1:05:36) and uh i think for all our children my son dennis god bless you son um we can change the world your heroes for being here also and i will testify in front of congress if asked to god bless thank you [Applause] hi my name is george feiler the third the reason i'm here is because uh george filer the fifth is in the hangar and will be born on friday and and i'm a retired intelligence officer and flyer with almost five thousand hours and uh i didn't believe in ufos until london control called us in the winter of 1962

(1:06:22) and asked is would we chase one and we said sure so we let down from thirty thousand feet to a thousand feet where the ufo was hovering and we went into a steep dive and actually exceeded the red line of the aircraft so it's kind of dangerous changing ufos any case i was able to get the ufo on the aircraft radar at about 40 miles and we could see a light on in the distance and as we closed we kept on picking up this radar return point i'm mentioning that the radar return was very distinct and solid indicating it was some kind of
(1:07:02) a metallic object we got about a mile from the ufo and it kind of lit up in the sky and went off into space very similar to what the shuttle looks like when it takes off [Music] later on i was working in intelligence in vietnam i braced general brown about ufos when i was in 21st air force in maguire air force base briefed general glau about a ufo over tehran iran in 1976 the two f-4s from the iranian air force had taken off and tried to intercept the ufo and when they turn on their fire control systems they immediately went out all
(1:07:48) the electrical systems went out the planes had to return to base this was particularly significant because it was also picked up on satellites in 1978 on january 18th i was going into the base every morning i did the briefing to the general staff and i noticed that uh there are some lights off in the distance at the end of the end runway there and when i got into the command post the senior master sergeant in charge said that there had been ufos in the pattern all night they're on radar the tower had seen them they gotten
(1:08:28) aircraft reports and so on and that one had landed or crashed at fort dix fort dixon mcguire are right together and this is kind of like the roswell of the east but any case an alien had come off the craft and had been shot by a military policeman and apparently was wounding was heading for maguire so for whatever reason the uh aliens liked the air force better than the army perhaps because they're shooting at him but any case uh our security police went out there and found him on the end of the runway dead and they asked me to brief the general
(1:09:13) staff of general tom sandler and at the eight o'clock stand-up briefing and i said i don't think i want to do this you know the general doesn't have a good sense of humor and i'm not sure i believe this so i did some checking called the 438th command post and everybody had pretty much the same story and at eight o'clock that morning just before i went on was going to brief this i was very worried about it they said don't brief it that it's too hot so to speak that's pretty much my story
(1:09:47) and i'm prepared to tell the story in front of congress and that it is the truth now because of this [Music] i've stayed interested in ufos and i'm the eastern director of the mutual ufo network and between the national reporting center and peter davenport and the mufon we get 100 reports a week on average of people from all over the united states to see these things regularly and if you start checking they're out there and they're low and people are seeing them all the time and these are highly qualified people
(1:10:26) all of whom essentially give us the reports by email thank you [Applause] morning ladies and gentlemen my name is clifford stone i was sergeant first class united states army i had a secret clearance with nuclear shorty i could get the clearance that i needed to do whatever it was that was necessary for me to do at the time on special operations when i was called in on those what i'm referring to here is that i was involved in situations where we actually did recoveries of trash i've crashed saucers for lack of a better term to (1:11:07) breeze thereof there were bodies that were involved with some of these crashes also somewhere alive while we were doing all this we were telling the american public there was nothing to it we were telling the world there was nothing to it i'd like to go into detail on some of the cases about the nuts and bolts cases right here but i will be available if you have any questions concerning my involvement in this you can talk to dr greer to arrange for me to get to talk to you but the whole situation is we have set back we've told the american
(1:11:41) people that there's no such thing as ufos i've been involved where we have recovered these objects we know them to be of extraterrestrials in 1969 i had an event that happened to me while i was stationed at fort lee virginia we went to indian town gap pennsylvania that would be my first exposure to any time that we would be recovering an unidentified flying object when we went there we already had people that was already in the facility we were a backup team which was supposed to be nbc because there was supposed to be
(1:12:13) some nuclear materials that was on board this craft later on most people involved would have been word were to be told that there was nothing on board it was nothing more than just a crash of one of our aircraft i know better because i was one of the people that approached it with a geiger counter to get surface readings i was the first person to go ahead and see that there were bodies on it that would be the first of approximately 12 events ufo crashes are not events that take place every day they're rare

(1:12:44) i know we're not alone in the universe i know that the absence of evidence is not evidence of absence it's evidence that has been denied to the american people i stand before you today in my almighty god and i tell you this if congress calls me in and says will you testify in detail what you know i stand here today prepared and ready to do just that governments must never lie to the people for no reason thank you good morning my name is mark mccandlish and for the last 21 years i have worked as a conceptual artist for a variety of
(1:13:35) defense contractors i've been involved in conceptual artwork of the production thereof for rockwell on the x30 program and also on the uh the high step program that's spelled hystp means hypersonic test bed program uh during the course of my career i've twice had a secret security clearance in 1967 while my father was stationed at westover air force base the headquarters for eighth air force strategic air command i witnessed and watched through a telescope a ufo which hovered over a nuclear weapons storage facility for
(1:14:10) approximately 10 minutes and then departed with an acceleration approaching a bullet leaving a rifle barrel oh i'm sorry in in 1988 in november a college buddy of mine an associate by the name of brad sorensen informed me that he had personally witnessed three flying saucers at a very large hangar at norton air force base during the course of an air show that was held on saturday november 12 1988.
(1:14:44) i subsequently called my congressman from that district i called his office this was congressman georgie brown jr who at the time was the chairman of the congressional committee on space science and advanced technology i naturally assumed that since this presentation that brad talked about was for top military brass and certain congressional individuals that his office must have coordinated this with the local air force office of public affairs a male staff member in congressman brown's office not only confirmed the
(1:15:20) exhibit but the fact that there were three disks at that exhibit these discs were hovering off the floor without any visible means of support they were referred to as alien reproduction vehicles also nicknamed the flux liner because they used high voltage electricity let's see to keep things short this this is a diagram that i made based on a sketch that brad sorensen did for me in rough form uh shortly after he uh had his sighting and uh subsequently cleaned that drawing up and made it much more accurate and that's the
(1:16:03) drawing that dr greer is holding there now later on i obtained photographs that were taken in 1967 by a military pilot harvey williams flying a c-47 for the air force at 12 000 feet approximately 25 miles southwest of provo utah this particular vehicle matches the so-called arv in all proportions and respects in terms of the detail of the shape of the craft and this was photographed as i say in june or july of june of 1967.
(1:16:42) i uh [Music] later spoke to a gentleman by the name of kent selen that i met at an air show at edwards air force base in 1992 the first unveiling publicly of the b-2 bomber he indicated to me that in 1973 when he was a crew chief working on experimental aircraft at edwards air force base that he had unintentionally wandered into an area where there was a classified aircraft namely the arv uh he described it in detail and he added uh other details to the account concerning the configuration and the operation vehicle that brad sorensen was
(1:17:25) not aware of subsequently brad sorensen met with the famous aeronautical designer bert rattan gave him a copy of this blueprint which you've just been shown mr rattan felt that it was a joke and put it on his wall as kind of a joke and a third party confirmed for me later that a colonel ray walsh from edwards air force base was visiting mr rattan saw this uh this blueprint on the wall and registered quite a degree of shock and anger wanted to know where the hell he got this blueprint because there was in fact such a craft at that time
(1:18:02) approximately 194 94 95 in a hangar at edwards air force base north base complex at that time subsequently i've done a lot of research on this product this this vehicle i've come across a number of declassified documents that show that the air force as early as 1960 was wind tunnel testing flying saucer shapes up to mach 20 and i also have declassified nasa documents that show similar shapes in fact this is this is the document here that uh more or less details the wind tunnel testing up to mach 20 this is the nasa

(1:18:46) document right here that was declassified and it shows a variety of spherical and lenticular shapes that were flight tested up to or i should say wind tunnel tested up to mach 6. i subsequently obtain a copy of an interoffice memo from hercules aerospace that describes a particular type of science involving something called zero point energy and scalar waves according to brad sorensen this is the basis of the technology for these anti-gravity propulsion systems this particular document here describes six different meetings
(1:19:27) involving the defense intelligence agency and cooperative efforts with the the russian scientific community in investigating this uh what is called the fundamental enabling technology that was originally discovered apparently by nikola tesla in the early 1900s anyway i could provide you much more detail and at a later time and i am prepared to testify in detail concerning these events and their truthfulness before congress thank you very much [Applause] good morning my name is daniel sheehan i'm an attorney and serving as general
(1:20:10) counsel uh to the disclosure project i'm a 1967 graduate of harvard college in american government studies and constitutional law and a graduate of harvard law school and i served as general counsel and one of the co-counsel for the new york times in the pentagon papers case and was involved in briefing and arguing the case in front of the united states supreme court giving permission to the new york times to publish the classified documents the 47 volumes of the pentagon papers subsequent to that time i served as special counsel to the
(1:20:49) office of ethelee bailly as one of the trial councils when we represented james mccord in the watergate burglary and got mr mccord to write the letter to judge sarika to reveal the uh water the watergate burglar's relationship to the plumbers unit uh in the in the white house at that time subsequent to my service in that case i went back to harvard to the divinity school to study judeo-christian social ethics and public policy did my master's work and phd work there and became general counsel for the united states jesuit headquarters in
(1:21:30) washington dc assigned to the national social ministries office in their public policy office it was there in 1967 1977 that i was contacted by miss marsha smith who was the director of the science and technology division of the congressional research service she asked to meet with me and i met with her and she informed me that president carter upon taking office in january of 1977 held a meeting with then the director of central intelligence who was george bush senior and demanded that the director of central intelligence turn over to the
(1:22:12) president the classified information about unidentified flying objects and the information that was in the possession of the united states intelligence community concerning the existence of extraterrestrial intelligence this information was refused to the president of the united states by the director of central intelligence george bush senior the director insisted that the president in order to have access to this information needed to have clearance to contact the congressional research service to contact the united
(1:22:45) states house of representatives science and technology division to have them undertake a process to declassify this information because the dci suspected that the president was preparing to reveal this information to the american public the congressional research service science and technology division under the directorship of marsha smith was contacted by the house science and technology committee and instructed to undertake a major investigation of the existence of extraterrestrial intelligence and the relationship of the (1:23:18) ufo phenomenon to this i was contacted by ms smith and asked in my capacity as general counsel the united states jesuit headquarters uh national social ministry office to see if we could obtain access to the vatican library to obtain the information that the vatican had with regard to extraterrestrial intelligence and the phenomenon of the ufos i pursued that with the permission of father william j davis the director of the national office and we were refused access as the united states jesuit order to the information in the possession of the (1:23:55) vatican library when i reported this to ms smith she then later subsequently asked me to uh participate in a project which i can go into some detail during the question and answer period or later to individuals uh pursuant to which i was given access to as a special consultant to the united states library of congress congressional research service to the classified portions of the blue book project of the air force at that point it was in 1977 ultimately uh may of 1977 i went to the madison building of the united states library of congress there

a basement office where there were two guards at the door and a third sitting at the table who took my identification verified that i've been designated as a special consultant to the congressional research service of the united states library of congress and was admitted to the room i there upon found photographs some dozen photographs of what is unquestionably a an unidentified flying object on the ground that had crashed and plowed a furrow in a field of snow (1:25:16) and it was embedded in a bank an embankment there were united states air force personnel surrounding this craft taking photographs of the craft and one of the photographs i could see that there were some symbols on the side of the craft so i i proceeded through the photographs and found a close-up photograph of these symbols i've been instructed that i was to take no notes and had to leave my briefcase and all my identification outside of this room but i had brought with me a yellow pad and so what i did is i opened up the
(1:25:52) yellow pad and refocused the overhead camera onto the same size as the the cardboard backing of the yellow pad and i physically traced the copies of the symbols on the side of this craft close the the yellow pad back put the the microfiche back into the canister reclose the box that i had and i said it is time for me to leave and i took this and proceeded to leave the office at which point the security guard stopped me and one of them said what is that you have there mr sheehan which point i handed the yellow pad to
(1:26:28) him and he flipped through all the yellow pages and never found the copy that i had and so i took that with me and brought it to the united states jesuit headquarters had a meeting with the staff with father william j davis reported this to them was authorized at that time by the united states jesuit headquarters to make a report to the national council of churches and to request that the united uh the uh the entire 54 major religious denominations of our country undertake a major study of extraterrestrial intelligence which
(1:27:01) they declined to do i was subsequently asked to deliver a three-hour closed-door seminar to the top 50 scientists of the jet propulsion laboratory of seti the search for extraterrestrial intelligence which i did do in 1977 i'm more than happy to testify under oath to these details to the united states congress i would be happy to meet with any members of the press at that time you may recall i also served as chief counsel to the karen silkwood case in which we uh obtained the rulings in the karen silkwood case i also served as
(1:27:37) chief counsel in the iran contra case was the first one to testify before the united states congress to the existence of the off-the-shelf enterprise of richard c cord and albert hakeem i'll be more than happy to share the details of what i believe to be the relationship between this off-the-shelf enterprise and the secret government which is concealing this information for the american public and i am happy and proud to serve as general counsel to the disclosure project thank you very much good morning my name is carol rosin
(1:28:16) in 1974 after being a sixth grade school teacher i was introduced to the late dr werner von braun in the us the father of rocketry in my first meeting with him during that first three and a half hours he said to me carol you will stop the weaponization of space and i said you know teachers don't stop until june he said no you have to understand this is february and we have to prevent the weaponization of space because there is a lie being told to everyone that the weaponization of space is now first being based upon the evil empire
(1:28:56) the russians there are many enemies he said against whom were going to build this space-based weapon system the first of whom was the russians which was existing at that time then there would be terrorists then there would be third world countries now we call them rogue nations or nations of concern then there would be asteroids and then he would repeat to me over and over and the last card the last card the last card would be the extraterrestrial threat well at the time i kind of laughed when he said asteroids and when he said
(1:29:28) extraterrestrials i knew i wasn't going to deal with that subject and now we hear on the news just today this week that they've slid in another enemy only this time we're going to protect our satellites in other words we have to have some reason to spend these trillions to waste these dollars on a space-based weapon system and they're all lies this is a system he told me that would never protect anyone even back then he talked about suitcase bombs he talked about chemical viral bacterial bad biological warfare that these (1:30:00) space-based weapons would never protect us against and then he told me that in fact if you travel around the world which i did after he died in 1977 i met with people in over 100 countries who were friends they didn't want to build

space-based weapons i became a space and missile defense consultant and i worked with people around the world i became a an advisor to the people's republic of china they don't want to build a space-based weapon system and he told me back then that they didn't he said go to russia they're (1:30:30) considered to be the enemy i got on a plane by myself when i got to russia i had a list of people that i had read out of the newspaper chinenko was in office then he was the only one i didn't get a chance to meet they introduced me to everyone when i got there and when i got back i said oh my lord this man is telling the truth there are is no threat and i've been waiting until this day for 27 years and i'm expecting the spin to happen because he also explained to me that in the as a military strategist as
(1:31:02) a person who worked on the mx missile which i did later he said you will find that there is going to be a spin to find some enemy against whom we have to build space-based weapons and now we should expect the spin because he said part of the formula for the intelligence community is if they might have a weapon then we have to consider that they do have these weapons so now they do have these weapons so now we have to build these weapon systems and that's the formula except that it's all based on a lie
(1:31:32) and we have witnesses here today that have shown you that these extraterrestrial beings that these craft that have come here are now not ufos they're identified flying objects and we know that they have beings in them and we have witnesses here who have told you that they can shut down our missile silos they can stop a rocket going into space that's a test we have witnesses here who have worked in the classified departments who have the courage to come forward here to support what verner von braun told me
(1:32:03) back in 1974-77 [Music] and i will testify before the congress that when i founded the institute for security and cooperation in outer space which i shut down a few years ago because i didn't believe we had a chance with this huge integrated around the world complex weapon system that we had any chance at all of transforming that war industry into a space industry that could provide benefits like dr greer has said of global warming we can end that situation of that problem we can end the energy crisis we can build now non-polluting
(1:32:39) technologies werner von braun used to tell me that we could have cars back then that drove around off the ground he described this to me on beams so that we have no pollution on this planet and we can solve the problems of the people that are urgent and potential and the other animals and the other cultures on earth and in space and we can end the arms race without dislocating the industry jobs without disrupting the economy by transforming werner von braun told me the war industry into a global cooperative space
(1:33:15) industry that will provide he said finally more jobs and profits on this planet than during any hotter cold war time more products and services that can be applied directly to solving the problems of this planet and we can have a whole planet now that lives on p in peace on earth with all the cultures on earth and with all the extraterrestrial cultures in space and these are words that berner von braun told me in 1974 and i will testify before the congress under oath about everything i have said and more thank you
(1:33:58) thank you very much [Music] i'd like to thank each of the witnesses and for your patience we're running about 50 minutes late and i do apologize for that i want to emphasize that all these witnesses each could speak for probably anywhere from two to five hours about what they have witnessed we were trying to give you a snapshot we have another 400 of these witnesses i have carried this burden for eight years i'm now giving it to you the american people and the people of the world to take it forward what i'd like to do now is open
(1:34:30) the audience for questions from the media uh you may address them to me or to an individual witness as as you deem appropriate yes ma'am [Music] yes maribel gonzalez was reformer mexican newspaper i have three questions one is if you give up here right here yes i wanted to know if there are laws in this country that in some way allowed this kind of secrecy or not and then i wanted to know if there's a need to change any kind of law and the next one i wanted to ask you if you may is who is profiting from this secrecy that maintains um
(1:35:17) in secret the solution to the energy crisis i mean well yeah let me get to those okay quickly because we are short on time first of all i think initially there was a an appropriate national security apparatus in place in the 40s during the truman and also eisenhower years by the late eisenhower years we have a testimony from brigadier general stephen lopkin still a practicing attorney that by the late

eisenhower years that he had lost control of these projects primarily because of the compartmentalization into the military (1:35:47) industrial complex operative word industrial there are corporations such as saic lockheed martin northrop and others that deal specifically with this issue with advanced energy and propulsion systems connected to ufos and i think that what has happened from from the best we can tell from insiders that have briefed me for now about eight years is that we have lost control of these projects from a constitutional law perspective because the infrastructure within military intelligence and corporate channels is so well funded and so complex and
(1:36:21) labyrinthine that there are compartments within compartments within compartments and people who are in the congress who make inquiries and in fact president clinton when he made inquiries or simply denied access as you heard earlier that president carter was denied access on your other question i would say that in terms of profiting from the status quo i have big oil there are certain geopolitical and financial infrastructures uh that would not welcome a definitive replacement to the fossil fuels we can tell i will tell
(1:36:51) you and we can prove this with other scientists who are ready to come forward that we already have a complete replacement for any fossil fuels or ionizing nuclear power plants we don't need them we haven't needed them probably have not needed them since the time i was born now of course this is a major issue you're talking a multi-trillion dollar global infrastructure change and so this does hit the alarm bells at the national security council economics area however what is more serious to the national security keeping the status quo
(1:37:26) or letting ourselves go into a global ecosystem collapse and running out of fossil fuels and having massive rolling blackouts not just in california but globally we have got to do something about this and soon and that's why we are advocating open hearings in the congress other media please yes sir i just want to know if anybody at the u.
(1:37:52) n is looking into this uh i personally met with uh uh butrus butrosgali's wife aaliyah golly uh who uh said that her husband was quite concerned about this this was in the 1990s uh since then we know that there have been other people at the u.n who've made inquiries the problem is the u.n has no mandate to deal with this it needs to be given a mandate from its constituent member nations and i think that the public and the member nations need to ask that the united nations get involved with this this is an international peace issue and
(1:38:23) an international security issue and it should be taken up by the u.n security council and of course we are recommending that as well yes sir [Music] so i think my question is actually to my question is to clifford stone you said that you had seen aliens on a craft that had crashed i wonder if you could describe what they look like i could [Music] i could but it would probably take a whole lot of time the reason i state that when i got out in 1989 we had catalog 57 different species you have individuals that look very much
(1:39:03) like you and myself that could walk among among us and you wouldn't even notice the difference except for some of the things that they might be able to go ahead even in a dark room and touch an object and go go ahead and identify what color that object might be they would have a heightened sense of smell sight hearing the situation is that you have various types of what we normally call grays we didn't call them grays in the military but you had at least three types of the grays you had some that were much taller than
(1:39:40) we were the unique thing that i'd like to point out for the most part is that the entities that we did catalog were in fact humanoid now this created a situation where the scientific community was trying to figure out why that would be the case because you would expect that if life evolved on other planets that they would take on some type of other uh being so to speak not necessarily look humanoid or be bipedal such as we are but apparently we got quite a few of the species out there that are humanoid appearance and
(1:40:17) that creates a question that yet has to be answered by science uh yes and i'm as i call on you please state the news agency that you were with uh yes yes ma'am [Music] dean davis with united press international could you please address the vehicle that there was a drawing displayed of why would this vehicle be on display at an air show what is the power source that you are asserting is going to be so very useful and how can you determine this vehicle is not something that is being developed you know by a government agency
(1:40:58) uh in fact i think that was the testimony this is an alien reproduction vehicle and just to be clear this means that it is a based on advanced anti-gravity and zero-point energy propulsion systems those are the propulsion systems they are being manufactured by a consortium of companies that include lockheed martin northrop saic and other corporations they do have super luminal capacity on other words faster than the speed of light capacity um i think mr mccandless and other witnesses that he's identified (1:41:28) could go into more the technical physics of it i'm just a country doctor from virginia i tell people i mean really and uh but this is actually what is the reason it's called alien reproduction vehicle is that it's based on the study of extraterrestrial vehicles but it is manufactured by human uh military intelligence aerospace contracting arrangements uh and this is very important it means that we homo sapiens have the ability to access this so-called zero-point field of energy which the is the ambient field of energy

(1:42:00) from which all matter and energy is fluxing and can access that energy and generate all the power we need to run this planet without fossil fuels or pollution do you have any direct evidence though that this i mean we're talking about the same government that so appropriately named as a super program carnivore so just because it's named the alien reproduction vehicle considering the history and the questions that have been existing for such a long time about flying saucers i mean do you know is there any direct reason to believe that
(1:42:29) this is actually derived from technology any of the witnesses who can attest to that and and how would this uh a propulsion system a rocket engine doesn't necessarily translate into electricity can you elaborate on that uh well the first part of your question i would say that the the testimony of witnesses we have some of whom are here others that are not here but they're in the briefing materials is that they have studied we have studied specifically extraterrestrial vehicles which have been retrieved the breakthroughs in that
(1:43:00) research have led to applications that have led to the building of this and similar anti-gravity devices and that in fact this can be proven in open testimony before congress and that is exactly what we are calling for we have the witnesses to establish this and they also then also have the documents and the specific uh details of the propulsion systems but this is not a jet internal combustion system at all it is actually kicked in by a type electric power source and it then accesses this ambient zero-point
(1:43:32) energy field that is responsible for all matter and energy existing and uh by special configurations and and what have you it causes a a cancellation of mass inertia and an anti-gravity effect and this is a complex technical discussion which probably beyond the scope of this conference but we have materials in the briefing document that we can provide you with references to people who have studied the anti-gravity effect as far back as certainly the 1950s we have one witness who said that his family was connected to the rand
(1:44:04) corporation and that by the mid-1950s that more money had been spent on anti-gravity propulsion systems than the totality of the manhattan project so yes we can establish those elements uh other questions [Music] thank you my name is murray felscher i publish a newsletter downstairs here called the washington remote sensing letter that deals with reconnaissance and surveillance of the earth from space my question is this since uh 1972 with the uh launch of landsat 1 and now with the launch of commercial space imagery there are some archived
(1:44:43) i would say upwards of 35 million photographs of the earth from space uh and not one of them has shown uh you uh uh a flying saucer are you suggesting that uh these have been airbrushed out we're suggesting that there is a system before the public gets hold of anything that's off of a government-connected satellite there is a compartmented operation that does indeed sanitize them from this type of evidence and i think the testimony of of uh the gentleman who here who was with the defense intelligence agency mr maynard
(1:45:18) uh miss hare and others would substantiate that we have other witnesses who have been involved in projects where such uh items have been sanitized out it could also be that if you did a thorough search you might find a few that slip through we obviously haven't had the research dollars to go through all the millions of of images that are catalog to look for them but we do know there's been a very thorough sanitizing of this and people should not be naive about the extent to which covert programs using (1:45:43) billions of our tax dollars have been able to effectively hide this this is one of the sort of myths of both the media and the public it's sort of a pollyanna myth that we we live in a society where such things could not be done in fact they are done and we can prove that they have been done proceedings here and

i'm wondering how your screening process can you tell us a little bit about your satisfaction level today well i'm very satisfied that these are genuine and good people who are speaking truthfully out of 400 people that i'm (1:46:16) dealing with not 20 times this number have i been pulled yeah i'm an emergency doctor let me say something people come into the emergency department with blank paint writhing on a stretcher what have they got a kidney stone right yeah well some of them go into the bathroom prick their finger and squeeze blood into the water the the urine sample to show that they have blood in their urine so they can get a narcotic injection now have i been scammed as an emergency doctor who has a you know i'm bright enough enough to kind of know
(1:46:46) when i'm being scammed but have i occasionally yeah is it possible it's possible is it likely no and here's what's more important you don't not treat or accept the test the testimony or the history of every patient that comes in with plank pain and assume that they're lying just because you've been scammed once or twice this field you make a very good point is filled with hoaxes and scams and what have you it doesn't mean however that all of it is and in fact what we're saying after (1:47:16) eight years of research we have found the documents the top secret witnesses the insiders willing to testify under oath before congress that this is true now here's another key point some of the people who are in this witness pool mr sheehan myself and a couple of other attorneys are members of state licensed professions and what that means is that if we are perpetrating a hoax we will lose our license to practice medicine we will lose our license to practice law because we'll be perpetrating the hopes
(1:47:47) upon the public so what i would say to you is that the group of people before you are very credible and the others and we have identified are we are not the cia we have not been able to do a 50 000 background check on each person i'll give you that caveat but we have done very serious interviews in betting and by the way these people have presented their dd214s their defense forms other documentation that show the two dd214s and others that show that they were in the military at a certain place in a certain time so we're very (1:48:18) comfortable that in fact that the weight of the testimony will carry the day here and that this is real i had an insight and it relates to your question there have been tens of thousands of sightings and experiences from all over the world only one needs to be true because if only one is true then the entire case the narrative falls of the public apart yes permanent a priori all signed agreements and oaths that have flowed from such operations are null and void what that means is and any other in legal theory is that if it's an
(1:49:13) illegal enterprise the agreements those that are entertained as a as a result of that illegal enterprise have no legal standing so one of the things i would like to announce today is all of the men and women listening to this need to know they are free to speak we are declaring all national security owes on this subject null and void they are flowed from illegal operations that have no standing constitutionally my people my mother's family who fought in the american revolution were prisoner of war with the
(1:49:47) british they found this country did not buy and die to form the united states so that this kind of chicanery can go on so these men are free to speak and there can be no legal legal repercussions against them we have legal counsel we'll also support this theory and we're taking this to other constitutional scholars it is time for that game to end it is time for a new era as a human we know for a fact that this has
(1:51:47) happened i personally briefed president clinton's first cia director on this i was informed that they had no access to these projects although they knew they existed i was told the same thing by the senior investigator for the senate appropriations committee a man named dick d'amato who in 1994 told me that there were somewhere between 40 and 80 billion dollars a year going into these classified projects and that he with a subpoena on behalf of the senate and a top secret clearance could not penetrate
(1:52:12) them he told me these were the varsity team of all black projects covert projects so this is really serious stuff and it brings into question have we gone down the road that eisenhower warned us about a little too far when he said beware of the military-industrial complex that it can escape the checks and balances of our democracy and i think on this particular issue it in fact has and it's time for the congress to represent the people in this regard and to reassert its oversight of these projects one last question when

(1:52:43) you talk about putting the checks and balances back into place talk about the passion of these people if you would how confident are they well they know what they saw i mean these are men ranging from uh air force and nro officials to people who have been contract agents for the cia to people who have been pilots in world war ii and our heroes of our country the greatest generation that tom brokaw talks about and so what i have to say to you is that these people know what they saw they're not going to be speaking about anything
(1:53:11) except what they've directly witnessed and we're not talking lights in the sky in swamp gas we're talking people who have actually retrieved uh extraterrestrial vehicles who are going to be here today very good we'll take one picture of it that's concrete and that's based on reality but anyone who does further research in this field will find that they are not hostile none of them are hostile they have shown us that they can shut down missile silos and rockets they have not destroyed us and
(1:53:36) they've been here for tens of thousands of years we know of 50 witnesses the world is still here and they have shown us what their technology is capable of doing and you can yet imagine and you can hear from witnesses who've worked in fields of re-engineering back engineering what kinds of technologies can come out of this to literally save people from the suffering that's going on right i don't got the possibility of that yes and that's what this disclosure is about it isn't about these other
(1:54:30) kinds of stories that you have no proof that nobody does and the fact is so what we're dealing with here is documents people with that you

UFO's the best evidence? - 8 cover story series, george knapp, KLAS-TV, (1990) [remastered] - YouTube

Transcript:
(00:00) the reputed landing of an alien spaceship near moscow recently has once again stirred up the public debate about ufos although the reports about 10 foot tall aliens have been dismissed as nonsense by most people there are many who would argue that ufo landings can and have occurred not only in the ussr but in the u.
(00:20) s and other countries have ufo's been given a fair shake by science journalism and the government george knapp joins us now with part one of a cover story series ufos the best evidence george well gary and mary ruth some people might object to the use of the words ufos and evidence in the same sentence however there is now a staggering amount of information on this subject collected not by crackpots but by respected mainstream level-headed people who want to know what if anything is going on what we've tried to do is sift through as much of this information
(00:48) as possible to see if there's anything to it in part one of ufo's the best evidence we explore whether the subject has been treated fairly by the establishment i have a question feel free to give us a call hi you're next on the billy goodman thing on kveg the eggplant that ate chicago you remember that huh and what was your encounter like when i asked billy goodman's radio talk show was heard nightly in 10 western states stretching from canada to mexico previously the topic of choice was elvis
(01:16) presley's present whereabouts but the focus drifted into ufos and goodman's phone lines have been lit up ever since tell us about the last time when you were abducted at the very last time three hours a night six nights a week the calls come in some callers claim to have been abducted by aliens other callers say they are aliens this is pretty wild stuff tell me about it but this is what we get and it goes on and on and on the popularity of goodman's show is but one indication of the persistent public hunger for ufo lore
(01:45) despite discouragement by government science and religion this is a story that will not go away is it the most pervasive and long-standing mass delusion in human history or is something else at work here prominent sociologists have argued that even if there are no flying saucers or extraterrestrials the stubborn durability of the ufo legend makes it worthy of study [Music] the human fascination with extraterrestrials is reflected in our most popular films and in popular tv programs et books are often perched a (02:35) top best seller lists ufo updates grace the pages of mass circulation

magazines there are ufo hotlines and et news letters flying saucers have invaded the comic strips ufo researchers like john lear play to packed houses at library lectures ufo organizations stage annual symposiums at which conventioneers can buy ufo tapes and ufo keychains hats and booklets and more i was abducted by aliens and all i got was this lousy t-shirt flying saucers are big business but the profiteering seems incidental to the enduring interest millions of people who (03:15) have nothing to gain believe in ufos the most recent gallup poll shows that nearly 60 percent of college educated american adults believe that ufos are extraterrestrial craft the higher the education the more likely the belief in ufos we have a society today which accepts the basic notion of space travel of visits by different kinds of beings to other places that's a big step in just one generation but it's not merely a matter of blind faith more than 20 million americans say they've seen a ufo seventy thousand new sightings are
(03:50) reported each year even the most ardent ufo converts will concede that up to ninety percent of these sightings are mistakes misidentifications of planets or of conventional aircraft or of military flares or weather balloons or other little-known natural phenomena while it's true that nine out of every 10 sightings is probably wrong it's also true that only one in ten sightings is ever reported at all in general these sightings are made by normal well-balanced people who have nothing to gain and much to lose by stepping
(04:23) forward it was dark there was three or four this run along all of a sudden it was daylight just brighter and all get out and yet you could see over yonder that it was dark a tremendous streak just shot out of nowhere from the right and basically tailgated this plane and it followed the plane for a very short period and then it just stopped no noise nothing the same bright red color and it wasn't blinking or nothing was just like a ball of light what i saw were these balls of light traveling from the west to the east all the way across
(04:57) the sky and there was lights all around it the same color as the ship and it was rotating they were doing all kinds of maneuvers zigzag movements go fast this way and then that way and then we'll flip over and i saw this huge saucer shaped vehicle which it was brightly lit and it appeared to have dark areas of portholes of some sort did you see that you know everybody did you see that you know everybody saw it but nobody had an explanation i do know what i saw uh it wasn't a plane it wasn't a plane it wasn't a helicopter
(05:35) it wasn't a weather balloon wasn't a satellite yeah it wasn't swamp gas it wasn't any kind of of light by itself there was there was an actual object many ufo sightings occur in broad daylight many involve multiple witnesses the witnesses include pilots and policemen even a president people who are trained to be observant and whose judgment is trusted the sightings date back to the dawn of recorded history in every country and every culture ufos have been around much longer than conventional aircraft much
(06:05) longer than science fiction writers there are even references in the bible to ufo sightings some of this might count as evidence in a court of law but it means very little to establishment science most scientists have little regard for ufos although few have studied the subject to any significant degree odd considering that mainstream science now vigorously believes that intelligent life elsewhere in the universe is a virtual certainty even ufo skeptic carl sagan has estimated there may be more than a million advanced
(06:35) civilizations in our galaxy alone congressional hearings have delved into the possibility and millions of dollars are spent each year listening for radio signals from deep space but organized science declines to peek over the fence into its own backyard the probability of there being another civilization both nearest and sufficiently close to us in evolution that they would either can or would be willing to communicate you know seems to be a fairly rare thing just the probabilities suggest that that would be a very rare thing any scientist
(07:06) that takes the time to look at the data and the facts and the evidence accepts the fact that we have ufos you have to have an open mind if you simply make the statement that is nothing to this thing and ignore it people like carl sagan who's a brilliant astrophysicist he's never bothered to read the ufo material to him there's nothing there so don't bother me with the facts in more than 22 years as a hobby of investigating famous mysterious ufo cases reports i have never found one that cannot be explained in prosaic (07:39) earthly terms phil class bills himself as the sherlock holmes of ufos and is the world's preeminent debunker he shows up at nearly all of the ufo conventions a fly in the e.t ointment field class dart boards are best selling items at many of those same conventions class takes that as a compliment his success at belittling or ridiculing ufo sightings is beyond question but few people will accuse class of sticking to the scientific method even ufo doubters concede that class has been dead wrong in his explanations of some sightings

(08:12) that he distorts astronomy for his own purposes that he accuses ufo witnesses of being liars or hoaxters even though he rarely investigates any sightings personally even experienced airline pilots military pilots can be grossly an error in what they think they've seen many ufo researchers are convinced that class is a government agent his years of work as editor for the well-connected aerospace mouthpiece aviation week and space technology is suspicious to some i cannot believe that anybody could so persistently be wrong
(08:46) over and over again making claims with your falls demonstrably and so forth without having been told or doing something that he feels is in the patriotic best interest of the country he's not so stupid in the 50s and 60s it was standard practice for the intelligence agencies to recruit journalists mr class as the outstanding example of that was after all unmarried very fast typewriter electrical engineering background in washington dc all kinds of contacts a perfect person to be a spy for either side for that matter
(09:16) and so if he wasn't recruited somebody goofed you ever worked for the government in any company ever never never been paid a penny except when my dear mother died and i got a social security benefit phil class and other debunkers don't have to work very hard to create doubt about ufos the subject has attracted more than its share of crazies over the years the us government has officially decreed that ufos are bunk science has followed suit have they been studied to the extent that they need to be i don't think they
(09:45) have been say to the extent they need to be uh you know there there really should be more study but again the problem is is most credible scientists have other things that they feel safer doing you know just because of the uh the fringe elements associated with the ufos the funding thing hanging over your head too i mean you said you can't oh hey you apply to the national science foundation you want to study ufos they're going to laugh and throw it out without question there is a strong streak of wacko within the ufo field
(10:11) consider the tabloid headlines wherein psychics invite aliens to a monday night football game or a girl gives birth to 52 ufo babies right there alongside the capture of a green bigfoot and the wild bill hickok was gay expose also psychics and channelers advertise that aliens speak to us through them i'll tell you what i'd like to see this sometimes hey that's why i'm here bud you mean you can do it now right now [Music] i want to ask for whatever information comes through to be of interest perhaps (10:51) even amusing if that's called point and whatever energy they come through not affect the taping [Music] all right who put on speaking or who i will respond to questions shapiro seems sincere enough but admits there's no way to verify his claims and he doesn't care much whether people believe him or not this approach is a bit too casual for science the same is true of big time journalism network coverage is quirky and condescending so was it what was it way up there heaven only knows and that's our news do you believe in (11:45) ufos nah an official soviet government news agency has reported that a ufo landed recently near moscow complete with 10 foot tall aliens from space the reporter said his source was a group of children and a scientist said don't believe everything you read in task it's something that people just don't want to deal with the press doesn't want to deal with and people aren't going to listen to something unless uh dan rather or any of your big press people are going to tell them about it and they're just too spooked the air
(12:18) force has made an art form of ridiculing people who have talked about this thing this seeming reluctance by journalism science government and religion to fully explore the possibility of extraterrestrial visits has left the job in the hands of untrained underfunded private organizations and individuals invariably such private efforts attract people whose minds are already made up and whose approach is far from professional or scientific ufology has made important strides in recent years but when you consider that contact with (12:51) an alien civilization would surely rank as one of the most significant events in human history it would seem that a more organized type of study might be warranted if we know anything about science it is this the truth is always changing what is science fiction today is science tomorrow for instance back in the 1800s the scientific establishment scoffed at persistent reports from peasants and farmers and other country folk about rocks that fell from the sky it took more than 100 years for the french academy of sciences to finally concede (13:23) that meteorites were real and just one generation ago most scientists would have argued that life beyond the earth is impossible that is no longer the dominant viewpoint in the days ahead we will take you inside the government's own files to examine previously secret studies of the ufo phenomenon we'll also try to find out if there is any connection between ufos and the mutilations of cattle and other animals taking place across the west we will explore what impact an alien landing might have on religion and (13:51) other social institutions and we will reveal the identity of this man who says the government has already established contact with aliens and is testing alien technology right here in nevada george you said that ufo groups have made improvements is ufology a real science now well they call it they call it ufology but even even they will concede it's not really a science it is making strides if you take mufon for example the mutual ufo network they restrict their membership only to people who are invited so you weed out some of (14:20) the crackpots uh their their membership has doubled in the last two years they have 75 phds who serve not only as members but consultants you know there there have been college courses taught on on ufos now on several campuses and eight phds have been written on the subject so it's not a science but it's moving in that direction a lot of people aren't going to believe it until they see absolute proof what would be proof well we'll be talking about through the course of the week but uh i mean if (14:45) eyewitnesses millions of eyewitnesses count as proof in other in other kinds of proceedings uh you got photos you got movie footage you got video you've got uh all kinds of physical manifestations uh radiation landing sites things of that nature you know it's the totality is what you really have to look at and of course we'll be we'll be taking a look at what constitutes proof through the course of the next several days okay george sounds great part two thank you george the term flying saucer was first coined back in (15:14) 1947 businessman kenneth arnold who made the first major ufo sighting of the post-war era told reporters that the ufos he saw near tacoma floated across the sky like a saucer skipping across the water the name stuck there have been thousands of sightings since then according to some there have also been ufo crashes with the evidence supposedly hidden by the government george knapp checks out some of those claims tonight in part two of our series ufos the best evidence george mary ruth and gary we mentioned last night that there is a

(15:45) large body of information about ufos how much of this constitutes evidence is another matter altogether in some cases it does appear that various government officials have withheld information about ufos from the public in other cases the waters have been muddied by the ufo researchers themselves tonight we examined two of the most controversial incidents billy meyer is a one-armed swiss farmer with a sixth grade education an unlikely choice to pull off the world's most sophisticated ufo hoax since 1975 meyer
(16:15) says he's been in contact with cosmonauts from the pleiades star cluster meyer isn't the first to claim extraterrestrial visitations but he is the first to document contact in such stunning detail with more than 800 photographs of strange aircraft not the fuzzy phony ufo photos the world is accustomed to but clear daylight pictures of multiple flying discs and identifiable reference points in the foreground and background the meyer photographs were the best we'd ever seen in 40 years of record keeping in fact
(16:47) the quote we kept getting is they're too good to be true lee elder says he wanted his face hidden because of some ongoing security work he also says he was coaxed into investigating the meyer case by retired air force colonel wendell stevens elders stevens and others spent five years chasing after billy myers beam ships the evidence included the photos of course but also film footage and sound recordings more than 40 eyewitnesses who substantiated meyer's claims small pieces of strange metal and reputed landing sites with the same
(17:18) swirling impressions that 10 years later would be associated with ufos in england and other countries instead of turning to ufo researchers elders and stevens went to independent experts for their analysis an ibm chemist concluded the strange metal was produced in a cold fusion process a technology that only now is in its infancy on earth hollywood special effects artists said the photos and film footage would be extremely difficult to fake and computer analysis of the photos by nasa's jet propulsion lab and two universities found no

(17:51) evidence of a hoax the bottom line outside experts independently decided the meijer material is legitimate i am personally 98 convinced that meyer did have visitations uh two percent i reserve uh because uh it didn't happen to me however the ufo community angry at being excluded from the investigation declared meyer a hoax unsubstantiated stories were circulated that the meyer photos were of models suspended from a fishing pole number one what's his motive it's not ego it's not money number two (18:28) how could he do it on the resources he had five hundred dollars equivalent swiss francs per month i don't think one man could hoax this case i don't think a team of men could hoax it how do you get 40 people to agree to a hoax over a period of time up to 8-10 years the mutual ufo network or mufon also considers the meyer case to be a hoax mainly because meyer would not cooperate with mufon's attempted investigation ufo hoaxes do happen people build backyard saucers or take snapshots of flying hubcaps but fakes
(19:02) are rare even the air force project blue book found few phonies the number of hoaxes was fewer than five percent the number of unknowns were more than 20 percent the number of uh psychological aberrations beautiful way to say crackpot cases was two percent the hoaxers may get more pressed than they deserve because there are a lot of lazy media people around it's more than lazy media though the meyer case for instance illustrates ufology's most glaring weakness the suspicion and jealousy that permeate the field it sometimes seems as (19:31) if everyone wants to be the only one who knows the true ufo story ufo believers end up using the same tactics as ufo skeptics ostracizing those whose ideas don't conform ask john lear his contention that ets are evil is so far askew from mainstream ufo thinking that some mufon members resigned during a recent symposium rather than even listen to lear lear was accused of spreading government disinformation the most serious insult that can be made in ufo circles ironically one man who made that charge author bill moore admitted at (20:05) that same symposium that he had been duped into disseminating false data planted by the government would the government really go to such lengths to discredit ufo researchers it has and it does some examples the first man to make a modern sighting kenneth arnold was investigated by the fbi cia and irs they thought he must be some sort of commie spy to make such a report later on cia experts devised a systematic program of spying on ufo organizations in one case a ufo club was not only infiltrated by the cia but cia agents were elected as (20:41) its officers cia scientists pondering how to make ufo witnesses keep quiet talked about getting walt disney to produce cartoons that ridiculed ufo sightings they also plan to get broadcaster arthur godfrey involved at one point and most recently a former air force officer with a long history of spreading false ufo information appeared with his face hidden on a national ufo broadcast to explain that the u.
(21:07) s has alien beings in its custody and that they love to eat strawberry ice cream to some all of this has the makings of a government conspiracy that's exactly what it is the government's been lying to the public for 42 years it's very very difficult to go back and say we've been admit that we've been lying to you 42 years is a long time for the government to keep anything a secret let alone something as sensational as ufos ufo researchers couldn't agree more they say there have been huge cracks in the cover-up but
(21:35) that the public and press haven't been listening at the center of this whole scenario is the conservative new mexico town roswell which in 1947 was home to the roswell army airbase these days the locals used these old airstrips to race dragsters in the old hangars as an industrial park but 42 years ago this is where it all began the birthplace of what some have called the cosmic watergate what happened on that night in july 1947 sounds like the plot of an old science fiction movie residents saw a bright object streak across the sky 70 miles
(22:10) out of town it exploded scattering debris over a large area rancher mack brazil found the strange metallic fragments and days later reported the matter to authorities roswell intelligence officer major jesse marcel was dispatched to the scene to collect the wreckage one thing i was certain of being familiar with all our activities that it was not a weather balloon nor an aircraft nor a missile it was something else which we didn't know what it was marcel said the thin foil-like metal was virtually indestructible with strange (22:41) hieroglyphics written on it in his words it was not of this earth base commander colonel william blanchard certainly familiar with all aircraft of the day agreed he called up his press liaison lieutenant walter hot he called and said words to this effect we've got pieces of what we think is a flying saucer hot wrote and released a story that was immediately picked up by newspapers and wire services spurring phone calls from all over the world major marcel was told to load the wreckage into a b-29 and fly it to right (23:16) field in ohio he landed first at 8th air force headquarters in fort worth where general roger raymie took control of the debris ordered marcel and others to keep quiet and issued another news release saying the debris was actually from a crashed weather balloon as he and marcel posed for reporters with debris from a balloon the real wreckage according to witnesses was flown under armed guard to ohio the newsmen saw very little that material very small portion of it and none of the important things like these uh members that had these (23:48) hieroglyphics or markings on and when the general came in he told me not to say anything that he would handle it the story held for 30 years until stan friedman and his colleagues started digging they found more than 100 witnesses with first or secondhand knowledge of the roswell incident they also believe that the debris was from an alien spacecraft that crashed miles beyond the brazzell ranch numerous witnesses say they saw the crashed disk the bodies of dead aliens inside but the military seized the evidence and swore (24:18) them to secrecy walter hot says flat out the story of the weather balloon was a cover-up so does bob sherkey shurky was the officer who ordered up the b-29 that transported the strange debris he saw the wreckage and thinks if it really was from a weather balloon it wouldn't have been flown to ohio in such a hurry shurkey also has knowledge of the alien bodies the information is from a close friend who ran the town funeral parlor in the 40s it has never been made public until now did you see the sketches in (24:47) the paper of the humanoids or the bodies and i said yes he says well i can tell you that's what they look like so our funeral parlor supplied the caskets for the air force to use because we had the contract and they came in and took all the baby size or youth-sized caskets we have what would an alien spacecraft be doing in roswell in the first place well in the late 40s and early 50s new mexico had more ufo sightings than any other place in the world consider one possible explanation it was at los alamos that

(25:27) the atomic bomb was developed and built the trinity site is where the first a-bomb was detonated white sands is where all post-war missile tests were conducted and roswell was home to the 509th the only atomic bomb wing in the world if an alien intelligence wanted to learn about human military capabilities new mexico was the place to be the strange sightings and somewhat flimsy excuses continued long after the alleged roswell crash lonnie james was an air force radar operator in roswell in the 50s he recalls at least three instances
(26:00) when ufos were picked up on radar and seen from the ground jets were scrambled but they couldn't get close the sweep on the radar comes around every five seconds the rate of speed was so great we could not it disappeared off the radar before we could get a check the speed on them how fast is that uh well it was well over 2000 well over the official explanation for what james and others saw the ubiquitous excuse weather balloons i think you know as well as i do georgia weather balloons do not behave in that (26:33) fashion of course ufo buffs smell a cover-up but what about the level-headed people of roswell do they believe that a flying saucer crashed outside their town i don't know percentage-wise uh what the difference would be but i think after the recent exposure i think that really a lot of people believe it an odd footnote to the story in september the roswell incident was featured on the nbc program unsolved mysteries within days of that broadcast the people of roswell started seeing weather balloons during (27:04) our interview with walter hott a weather balloon floated over his backyard another was spotted on the drive from roswell to albuquerque is there a vital need for weather data in the new mexican desert or is someone trying to prove something former u.s senator barry goldwater thinks there's something fishy about the whole story as chairman of the senate intelligence committee and an air force general goldwater had a top secret security clearance during a visit to wright-patterson air base in ohio he asked to view the hangar where the (27:33) roswell wreckage and other ufo information were reportedly stored permission was denied goldwater later wrote that he was told the matter was classified above top secret he was also told to never ask again what does the government know that it isn't telling us tomorrow we'll delve into the government's own files to find out if the cover-up is real and ongoing and later will reveal the identity of this man who says the government is flying alien craft in the nevada desert it's not only a crime against the american (28:04) people it's a crime against the scientific community speculation about some long-standing government cover-up is tough for many people to swallow tomorrow as we mentioned we'll look at files obtained through the freedom of information act to see if there is a real basis for the cover cover-up allegations back to the first part of the story billy meyer the one-armed farmer what happened to him uh he's still alive living on his farm in switzerland but we understand from lee elders that things have changed considerably for him that

(28:30) he's real despondent these days and these visits from the pleiadian cosmonauts if they ever happened have stopped what do ufo critics say about the roswell incident well phil class for example of course who buys none of this stuff he basically says that all of the witnesses involved are lying either they're lying or they're hoaxers of course uh it's also been proven that of the over 100 people with first or second-hand degree knowledge of the roswell incident not one has been interviewed by phil class
(28:58) thank you george see you tomorrow night ufo researchers have long suspected that a government cover-up has prevented the public from knowing the full story about visitors from other planets in 1973 for instance the director of the fbi denied that his agency had ever investigated ufos in 1976 the agency released more than 1100 pages of ufo information that it had collected over many years what forced the disclosure it was the freedom of information act tonight in part three of our series ufos the best evidence
(29:29) george knapp reports on other secrets that have been pried out of the government ufo skeptics often ask if there are aliens visiting earth why don't they announce themselves by flying over the white house the answer is ufos did fly over the white house twice it happened in july 1952 as the new york times reported seven eerie glowing objects were spotted by pilots in the air and people on the ground twelve different radar operators tracked the ufos at speeds of up to seven thousand miles per hour a week later the objects were back
(30:02) again when jets were scrambled the lights either disappeared or zoomed away the air force explained that what everyone had seen was a temperature inversion to a man the radar operators disagreed but the official explanation is the one that stuck government explanations of ufos are often just plain wrong in 1965 thousands of people from canada to mexico watched a formation of ufos maneuver in the skies the air force said it was the constellation orion even though at the time orion could only be seen from the other side of the planet a ufo landing
(30:36) at white sands missile base was said to be a sighting of the planet venus to which one ufo buff responded it was unforgettable the night venus landed on the gypsum flats of new mexico the standing joke at ufo circles is that for every 200 ufo sightings the air force can explain away 201 the possibility that our government might withhold or distort information about ufos might seem far-fetched until you read the mountains of evidence compiled from the government's own files evidence that strongly suggests a cover-up the (31:08) u.s military first started seeing ufos in world war ii pilots called them foo fighters we thought they were a german secret weapon the germans thought they were ours an explosion of civilian sightings in 1947 caught the military by surprise secret investigations were begun a joint study by the fbi and army concluded the flying saucer situation is not all imaginary something is really flying around that report was kept secret until 1976 yes there was a degree of secrecy in certain cases there might be sightings on radar and we didn't want
(31:44) the russians to know we had a radar here or a radar there class is correct but only to a point because most of the early ufo sightings were by eyewitnesses not radar in new mexico for instance over a two-year period dozens of people reported seeing green fireballs over sensitive military installations but when radar and cameras were dispatched to those installations the fireballs mysteriously shifted someplace else a 1949 study by scientists at los alamos lab stated the fireballs deserve serious consideration
(32:17) come on we gotta go wait let's go they'll never believe me you fools you're in danger can't you see how after you but after all some have suggested the saucer craze of the 40s and 50s was a byproduct of cold war tensions and fears both the u.s and the ussr conducted secret studies to find out if the other side was behind the ufos and both concluded early on that the capabilities of the flying discs seemed beyond human technology this secret report done in 1948 by the air force and naval intelligence is

(32:53) among the most fascinating ufo documents ever to surface because it wasn't supposed to exist a confidential memo at the end of the report ordered that all copies should be destroyed but one copy survived and was finally pried out of the pentagon in 1985. it's a study of more than 200 of the earliest ufo sightings including one that occurred in june 1947 near lake mead an air force pilot saw a formation of six ufos the report notes the ufos are some type of flying craft not weather balloons or hallucinations that citing reports were (33:28) made by experienced personnel and that the origin of flying saucers is not ascertainable the overall effort to study saucers was called project sign with headquarters at right field in ohio in 1949 sign personnel wrote a top secret report concluding ufos were extraterrestrial craft when the report made it to the desk of chief of staff general hoyt vandenberg though he rejected it and ordered all copies burned this rejection from the top was in the view of many the death knell for objective study of ufos a few weeks
(34:00) later project sign produced another final report saying its findings were inconclusive that report was accepted and soon after project sign became project grudge grudge evaluated reports on the premise that ufos could not exist according to a later report by the library of congress it was the job of grudge to explain them all despite this slant 23 percent of grudge cases remained a mystery grudge staffers decided these cases were psychologically motivated the first official declaration that people who see ufos are crazy the (34:34) government established an intensive program of ridicule against anyone who said they saw flying saucers and fear of ridicule was the foundation on which the cover-up was placed nobody likes to be ridiculed the sightings continued nonetheless in 1952 there were more sightings than the five previous years combined including the washington dc incidents yet another study was launched project blue book blue book today is notorious in ufo circles as a whitewash there is considerable evidence the project was far from objective the man appointed a
(35:09) head blue book captain edward repelt says he was told in the very beginning that the powers that be are anti-flying saucer to stay in favor it behooves one to follow suit repelt later resigned from the military and wrote a book about what he says was the blue book cover-up and the reality of flying saucers the continued increase in ufo sightings was a source of concern to the cia and a new strategy was born debunking a group of cia connected scientists was assembled in secret to evaluate ufos the so-called robertson panel spent all of 12 hours in (35:42) a roundtable discussion about a handful of ufo cases the panel concluded that ufos are not a threat to national security but that continued reporting of ufos is a threat the recommendation the government should take immediate steps to strip ufos of their aura of mystery through a program of public education the final report even used the term debunking the debunking included spying on ufo witnesses and the infiltration of ufo organizations by the cia and fbi the air force tried to insinuate that saucers were earthly inventions by (36:17) leaking information about an unwieldy craft called the avro disc a two seater ready soon may be the car or chopper of the future help wanted a crew of little green men the strategy included the silencing of military personnel through intimidation bill cooper served in both the air force and the navy and says he and three other sailors witnessed a ufo off the coast of hawaii when we arrived back in port we were debriefed by office of naval intelligence officer who basically the gist of the debriefing was you didn't see anything and you're not
(36:52) going to talk about anything and if you do you're going to be in deep trouble a similar order was issued to hundreds of airmen at a base in alaska who watched two ufos play cat and mouse with air force jets one witness who asked to remain anonymous recalls the order that was issued a gag order in essence that what you thought you saw and heard on the previous day to this directive you did not see and you did not hear and it did not happen even retired military personnel have felt the squeeze if you were of my vintage
(37:24) uh and you were retired from the military and someone said you open your mouth and that's the end of your retirement pay you think not only once you think quite a few times for three decades the military has publicly scoffed at ufos but it's been another matter behind the scenes a secret order issued to air force base commanders in 1960 stated ufos should be treated as quote serious business directly related to national security public pressure spurred congress to hold hearings about ufos in the mid 60s and the air force decided (38:00) enough is enough it commissioned what was to be the ultimate ufo study conducted by edward condon of the university of colorado condon was a respected scientist but was hardly impartial about ufos before the study even began he said in a speech that the government should get out of the ufo business there's nothing to it he later wrote the authors of ufo books should be horse whipped there is even evidence that the study's conclusions were written before the project even began to surprise a few the committee declared (38:29) that further study of ufos would be a waste of time the air force used this as its reason to finally end project blue book none of the evidence that i have examined would indicate any proof at all that we are being visited by extraterrestrials we have not been hiding anything the investigations have been made public call up an air force base today to report a ufo and you'll be told the military no longer collects such information it all ended with blue book government documents contradict these statements a 1969 order by air force

(39:04) general c.h bolander reveals that ufo reports which could affect national security are not part of the blue book system and should continue to be handled through standard air force procedure ufo researchers have long suspected that blue book was merely for public consumption that another secret ufo program existed to handle the most sensitive cases the bollinder memo may verify these suspicions there are other indications that the policy continues kirtland air force base in albuquerque has been the site of numerous ufo
(39:34) incidents including four separate incidents in august 1980. security police reported ufo landings in and around nuclear weapons storage areas base radar equipment was knocked out during the landings a secret air force report about the incident states the air force is no longer publicly active in ufo research but still has an interest in all ufo sightings over air force installations the document also reveals that several other government agencies actively investigate legitimate sightings through covert cover does this (40:06) mean cia the cia responds to ufo requests in this fashion there is no cia program to actively collect information on ufos nor has there been one since the 1950s this statement flies in the face of numerous reports squeezed out of the agency by freedom of information lawsuits a series of internal memos dated 1976 make repeated references to ufo research ufo studies cia ufo experts and agency personnel who are monitoring the ufo phenomenon the reluctance to admit an interest in ufos dates back at least to 1952. an internal letter from (40:43) cia's weapons chief states it is strongly urged that no indication of cia interests reach the press or public in light of their alarmist tendencies officially cia and other government agencies say their lack of interest is because ufos pose no threat to national security yet ufos have made alarming intrusions at our most sensitive military bases as the washington post reported ufos visited five separate nuclear missile launch sites near the canadian border during a two-week period in 1975 one right after the other in at (41:16) least one case the ufos tampered with the launch codes of icbm missiles fighter planes were unable to catch the ufos which makes the government explanation that these were mystery helicopters seem specious mystery helicopters that could outrace f-16s visiting nuclear missile bases if this isn't national security what is oddly the government has used the national security excuse to withhold ufo data stan friedman and others fought all the way to the supreme court to get ufo documents from the national security
(41:46) agency all they got was a summary of the documents here it is legal affidavit nsa and so forth the trouble is as you start to go through this document you rather quickly find that a lot of it isn't really there [Applause] and i won't stop because you'll see how many pages are really full of good information [Applause] uh to make a long story short approximately 75 of this document isn't there it's the one it's the biggest secret in the history of mankind and the government is not going to let this out who's not (42:31) going to let it out is there a secret government within the government and what if anything do ufos have to do with the mutilation of cattle in nevada and elsewhere more on these topics tomorrow george knapp eyewitness news eight tomorrow night george continues a look at the ufos and the debate about their existence part four focuses on numerous encounters between ufos and american astronauts one of the most persistent stories surrounding the ufo phenomenon is that ufos have made a practice of following american space missions several (43:02) astronauts have been quoted about the deep space encounters but there has been no official confirmation of such contact tonight in part four of ufos the best evidence george knapp looks at nasa policies regarding ets he'll also find out if there is a connection between ufos and the mutilation of thousands of animals we should warn you that some of the photos you're about to see are graphic in march 1989 the crew of the space shuttle discovery may have discovered something unexpected a ham radio operator claims to have picked up the (43:35) voice of discovery pilot colonel john blaha speaking on a secret nasa channel we still have the alien spacecraft under observance is this really the voice of blah claiming to have an alien spacecraft under observance listen to the recording again then listen to blaha during a later transmission we still have the alien spacecraft under observance it's a shame we can't be here all the time with a permanent manned space station we ought to get in that direction nasa says it is not the voice of blaha however ufos have (44:13) reportedly dogged the u.s space program since the very beginning ufo researchers claim that nasa's own logs show that virtually all of the early gemini and apollo missions encountered ufos nasa has explained most of these sightings as space debris or solar flares but some of its own astronauts have disagreed ufo sightings have been reported by james lovell james mcdivitt wally sherrah deke slayton gordon cooper and others cooper went so far as to write a letter in 1978 to a united nations panel on ufos saying

(44:45) that he and others had seen ufos but that astronauts are very reluctant to discuss the topic he also stated these are extraterrestrial vehicles visiting this planet from other planets cooper has since recanted his statements but won't say why attempts were made to contact cooper and the other astronauts but no responses were received nasa's official policy states that it is not engaged in any ufo research nor is any other government agency still it's interesting to note that nasa has since 1977 been the government's only official
(45:17) mouthpiece for ufo information it's also true that nasa has extensive written policies governing encounters with extraterrestrial life forms and agency documents contain suggested procedures that should be followed in the event that contact is made with an et civilization ufo researchers believe these policies were created because the government knows a lot more about alien life forms than it's telling us if there is a cover up who is calling the shots many people believe that there's a secret government within the government
(45:47) something called mj12 or magic 12 or majestic this document is easily the most controversial in ufo circles it is supposedly a briefing document prepared in 1952 for president-elect dwight eisenhower explaining that a secret group of scientists and military men had been created by president truman to study the ufo situation and to keep a lid on it the chief scientist in mj-12 was said to have been presidential science advisor dr van var bush if it's a legitimate document it establishes one that a flying saucer crashed two that (46:20) the wreckage was recovered 1947 three that the government has successfully kept that secret since that time for that a very high level group including as it happens the first four directors of central intelligence first secretary of defense etc was set up established to deal with that friedman was given a sixteen thousand dollar grant by a ufo group to research the legitimacy of the mj-12 document he has since found other government memos that refer to mj-12 as well as additional supporting material however arguments about the legitimacy of the (46:53) briefing document have raged in ufo circles for years arguments about such minutia as typewriter brands date placements and phraseology i've tried to deal with every argument their dozens that have been made by the noisy negatives all kinds of format and style and they wouldn't have done this that or the other thing none of i've found that none of those arguments stand up however philip class and others have cast so many aspersions on the mj 12 document that even die-hard ufo buffs now doubt its legitimacy but they don't (47:25) automatically reject everything in it whoever forged it if it's a forgery may have included enough real information to confuse things and perhaps to lead researchers on a wild alien chase there is independent confirmation of some of the mj-12 details from highly reliable sources wilbert smith a respected scientist for the canadian government in the 1950s wrote this top-secret memo to his superiors describing his talks with american scientists said smith in the u.
(47:55) s the matter is classified higher than the h-bomb flying saucers do exist and they're being studied by a small group headed by vannevar bush this memo was enough to convince the canadian government to establish its own ufo study program just two weeks later another source of confirmation is dr robert sarbacher president of the washington institute of technology a key member of the manhattan project and a scientist of impeccable credentials in this 1983 letter sarbacher admitted matter-of-factly that vannevar bush was involved with secret ufo research that

(48:27) crashed disks and alien bodies had been recovered and that ufos were highly classified even ufo skeptics have had difficulty giving sarbacher the brush off if there is or was an mj12 it may have had good reasons for keeping ufos a secret perhaps most compelling is that humans can't presume to know why aliens are here if they are here the behavior ascribed to ets by various witnesses is so foreign to us as to seem unfathomable one of the weirdest activities attributed to aliens is the bizarre mutilation of animals scattered stories
(49:01) of carved up livestock and strange lights in the sky date back to the 1890s in the u.s but it wasn't until the early 1970s that a pattern began to emerge a mutilation explosion rocked midwestern then western states then as now the main targets were cows although horses deer pigs goats and other animals have received similar treatment today nearly 15 000 mutilation reports have been received most often the phantom surgeons remove sex organs udders rectums eyes or ears the carcasses are usually drained of blood but blood is rarely found on (49:36) the ground there are occasional burn marks on or around the dead beasts and the cutting is performed with scalpel-like precision it's hard to visualize or even comprehend why someone would drive up and kill an animal and then take the male parts out i don't know it's beyond me to i never it's beyond me to understand it former state senator floyd lamb has lost two prized bulls to the mystery mutilations like many ranchers he's self-reliant and didn't bother to file police reports his lincoln county ranch sits adjacent to (50:09) the nevada test site so he's seen his share of odd things over the years but he hasn't got a clue about who is carving up cattle i don't know what i don't i don't understand that some kook lamb has several neighbors who've also lost cattle most of those weren't reported either in all of lincoln county we could find only six official mutilation reports dating back to 1975 but many people we talked to had heard of others oh yes there was there was several i hesitate to give a figure but several (50:39) this is jane bradshaw's rant she's filed two reports of mutilated cows in eight years one of the mutilations occurred just yards away from her house no one heard or saw anything and as is normal there were no tracks found still bradshaw and her children surmised that devil worshipers with poison dart guns were responsible you don't just walk up to a big healthy animal like this and tell it to lay down you know you've got to do something to it it wasn't shot it wasn't stabbed i mean it wasn't killed in any (51:09) way so it'd have to have been some kind of a a dart or sleeping thing to make it fall roving bands of shadowy satan worshipers are frequently mentioned as possible culprits in the mutilations some researchers insist there just aren't enough devil worshipers out there especially in rural areas to commit such widespread mayhem former lincoln county sheriff larry wilkinson personally investigated three mutilation cases he dismisses the notion of knife-wielding beelzebubs because of the sophistication involved
(51:41) the cuts that were made up the legs and the inside of the legs and up the belly looked like you could have taken a zipper and zipped the cow right back together again they were 1 8 serrated cuts were made on the count we cut down into the animal and found out that the ball joint was gone completely gone off just on one shoulder and just a perfectly flat cut inside no bone chips nothing that you would get from a meat saw where you're leaving pieces of bone particle or anything like that it was cut i don't know how some government
(52:17) researchers have blamed predators for some mutilations but the likelihood of a mountain lion making an incision like a cookie cutter seems remote and coyotes have never fared well against living breathing cows the bradshaw family insists that neither predators nor any other animal was responsible because not even maggots would come near the carcasses several weeks later i think the coyotes finally did touch the animal's head you know try eating on its head but they wouldn't touch the body which is which is odd because (52:46) they're scavengers and they'll eat anything documentary filmmaker linda howe refers to the mutilations as an alien harvest hal has followed up on hundreds of cases and says whatever cut open these cattle didn't use a knife or pinking shears pathologists have told hal that the cuts went between rather than through the animal's microscopic cells a laser capable of doing such work would approximate the size of an office desk hard to cart out into an open pasture house investigations have found an unusually high correlation between (53:17) mutilations and ufo sightings in some cases the strange lights in the sky are soon followed by mystery helicopters leading some to speculate that the ufo

mutilators are being monitored themselves by someone with a lot of helicopters the lack of blood or tracks the sophistication of the cuts occasional tripod like indentations found near the bodies to howl and others this all adds up to ufos i've never counted ufos out and i still don't to this day i've seen some weird things over this mountain at night (53:49) that's towards the test what do they do well i just remember some kind of a bright light going up and coming down whitley strieber who's written two best-selling books about alien abductions of humans doesn't think the mutilations of cows are so weird it could be that if they are visitors from another planet they use the cattle for the same reason we do and it's true that the the things that are done to the cattle are quite horrible but if you think the visitors are the only ones doing horrible things things to cattle i
(54:17) recommend that you visit a slaughterhouse but is it food or some other use the ufos have for cows scientists have only recently discovered a remarkable similarity between the chromosomes of cattle and of people the possibility of some genetic experiment associated with this strange harvest is enough to make one shutter the proximity of the lincoln county incidents to the nevada test site and the ultra secret area 51 is also of interest to some there's a long-standing suspicion that area 51 is an alien haven
(54:48) a place where ufos drift through the night sky the stories recently prompted radio host billy goodman to organize a field trip to the outskirts of 51. nearly 100 people unfolded their lawn chairs unfurled their american flags and sat back to await e.t what we need is a real strong positive attitude when you get yourself in position zero in on your area and try to make something come your way they don't get clouds in the summertime out here they don't get much rain out here this is a classic mothership appearance but those
(55:27) expecting a mothership were somewhat disappointed on this night there were several false sightings car lights stars and other explainable objects and it all took place under the watchful eye of lincoln county deputies well i came up here to try and see if i could see some ufos basically but i've done i've driven further on for a lot crazier things straight up it's moving look look how fast it's going i knew i i knew my ears rang when it came over despite the ringing ears no flying saucers were seen
(55:59) while our camera was present but the faithful say they saw unexplainable lights later that night these days area 51 adjacent to groom lake has become a nightly desert hangout for ufo believers is it a modern folk legend or is something really going on here tomorrow a scientist who says he worked on flying saucers george knapp eyewitness news 8.
(56:21) i guess we'll get more on that tomorrow this week in our series of reports on ufos we learned a number of things that not everybody who sees the ufo is crazy that our government has lied about ufo information that it's withheld ufo files and even spied on ufo witnesses we've also heard from scientists who say life elsewhere in the universe is virtually a certainty and we heard the majority of americans believe that ufos are real and come from space tonight in part five of his report george knapp introduces us to (56:52) a local man with an amazing and uh disturbing story george gary and mary ruth we've been working on the story for a long time and we'll tell you right up front that it's going to be hard to swallow at first this week we've heard the contention of ufo researchers that there's a secret government within our government while that may be hard to believe coming from the ufo perspective we've certainly learned in watergate and the iran contra scandal that factions within our government can (57:17) and do pursue pursue their own hidden agendas outside of the law outside the control of congress or the knowledge of the american people this is exactly the type of operation we'll hear about tonight it's a chilling scenario with worldwide implications that may have its roots right here area 51 that mysterious corner of the nevada test site is no longer much of a secret the fact that secretive things go on here is a given even to the soviets who make daily spy flights over the facility to take a peek at what's going (57:48) on these photos never before shown in public are about as close as anyone will ever come to seeing what the place looks like again the dry bed of groom lake corrugated metal buildings a three mile long runway and some highly sophisticated radar and detection equipment it's been known by many names over the years dreamland the ranch the skunk works if ever there was a place to test a secret new technology this is it and that's exactly what's been done here for decades area 51 is where francis gary powers and the other u-2 pilots (58:20) were trained in the 50s and where the u-2 itself was developed the sr-71 spy planes that spotted soviet missiles in cuba in the early 60s were also developed at 51. 51 is where stealth technology was nurtured where star wars devices are still tested and where all manner of cia monkey business has been plotted and refined it's the perfect place for secret things but of course that's no secret 51 is ringed by the forbidden vastness of the nevada test site by the looming groomed mountains and by sparsely populated desert

(58:53) expanses the few people who do live out here have no love lost for the military but they're conservative patriotic and they mind their own business you ever see stuff you can't explain sure lots of stuff care to elaborate no on any given night at the rachel bar and grill you might find three or four people who work at area 51 they are amid the flowing budweisers and cowboy hats you might find them but they aren't going to talk to you not about the things they've seen over the mountains a steady trickle of curiosity seekers
(59:29) flows through here strangers drawn by strange stories of lights in the night sky their questions also go unanswered no one who's worked at dreamland has ever publicly acknowledged what so many people have suspected for years that alien technology is being tested in the nevada desert the speculation first surfaced in documents obtained by ufo researchers documents about something called project aquarius the documents allegedly prepared for an organization called mj12 state that a program to fly recovered alien spacecraft was
(1:00:02) established in 1972 and is continuing in nevada the national security agency has confirmed it does have a project aquarius but denies it has anything to do with flying saucers nsa will not say what project aquarius is speculation was heightened in 1984 when the air force seized nearly 90 thousand acres around groomed lake the action was by most accounts illegal during congressional hearings about the land grab congressman john cyberling grilled the military about the legal authority used in the action and was told the authority was at
(1:00:34) a much much higher level than the air force cyberling asked what authority is higher than the laws of the united states the air force official said he could respond but only in a closed briefing in 1987 when the air force sought to renew its stranglehold on the groom range news articles once again mentioned the talk about alien spacecraft and subsequent articles in national magazines quoted unnamed sources about things of alien origin flying in nevada things that would make filmmaker george lucas drool despite the
(1:01:04) speculation no one who knew area 51 from the inside ever talked publicly about the saucer stories well there's several actually nine flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin the live interview with the shadowy dentist drew international attention portions were broadcast by radio in six european countries and in a nationally televised tv special in japan actually nine flying saucers flying discs despite numerous inquiries and feelers dennis has remained anonymous until now his
(1:01:43) real name is robert lazar a young scientist with eclectic interests the choice of dennis was an inside joke he says that's the name of his superior at groom lake it wasn't a joke to dennis he called right after he said you have any idea what we're going to do to you now and i said well no he hung up the phone lazar's story is by any standards fantastic he says he's telling it in order to protect himself he says he was hired to work at an area called s4 which is a few miles south of groom lake at s4
(1:02:11) he says are flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly beyond human capabilities right this this came from somewhere else i mean as bizarre as that is to believe but i mean it's there i saw it i know what the current state of the art is in in physics and it's it can't be done checking out lazar's credentials proved to be a difficult task he says he earned degrees in physics and electronics but the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him he also said he worked as a (1:02:40) physicist at los alamos national lab where he experimented with one of the world's largest particle beam accelerators a half-mile long behemoth capable of generating 700 million volts los alamos officials told us they had no records of a robert lazar ever working there they were either mistaken or were lying a 1982 phone book from the lab lists lazar right there among the other scientists and technicians a 1982 clipping from the los alamos newspaper profiled lazar and his interest in jet cars it too mentioned his employment at

told us he still had no records on lazar egng which is where lazar says he was interviewed for the job at s4 also has no records it's as if someone has made him disappear well they're trying to make me a non-person explain you called where well the schools that i went to the hospital that i was born at uh past job and essentially nothing comes up with my name in it he smiles but out of futility knowing the whole thing must sound ridiculous according to lazar his
(1:03:47) employer was the united states navy he says he and other government employees would gather near eg and g fly to groom lake then a very few people would get into a bus with blacked out or no windows and drive to s4 you get off the bus what do you see very interesting building it's got a slope of probably about 30 degrees the which are hanger doors and it has textured paint on it but it's it looks like sand it's made to look like the side of the mountain that it's in whether it's to disguise it from
(1:04:18) satellite photographs or what he says he was never told exactly what he'd be working on but figured it had something to do with advanced propulsion on his first day he was told to read a series of briefings and immediately realized how advanced the propulsion was the power source is an antimatter reactor they run gravity amplifiers there's actually two parts to the drive mechanism it's just it's a bizarre technology there's no physical hookup between any of the systems in there they use gravity as a wave using wave
(1:04:51) guides almost like microwaves it took a while lazar says before he actually saw one of the flying discs however there were hints everywhere right they had a poster and it looked like a commercial poster almost like it was lithographed and you could buy it at a kmart or something but they were all over the place and it had the the disc that i coined the term the sport model was lifted off the ground about three feet at area s4 on the dry lake there and uh the catch on the bottom said they're here and those are just all over the place
(1:05:21) later he got to see the real thing when i was led in it was the first time i saw the sport model in the hangar sitting down and i was told they could have walked me in the front door but they purposely wanted to walk me by it i was told not to say anything and just keep my eyes forward and walk past the disc into the office area and i did and as we went by it i just kind of stuck my hands on it just to run it alongside the thing and uh you know i that was about the smallest time after that i got to see it actually lift off the ground and operate
(1:05:56) but you you also in between that you saw more than one yeah the hangers are all connected together and there are large bay doors between each one and there were nine total that i saw each one being different like they had the assortment pack security at s4 was oppressive lazar says and his superiors used fear and intimidation almost as a brainwashing tool did everything but physically hurt me put a gun to your head yeah and and said what what actually put a gun to your head well they they did that even in this in the original security
(1:06:32) briefings they had uh guards there with m16s and guys slamming their finger into my chest screaming in my ear some people pointing weapons at me like i said it's not a it's not a good place to work that fear factor would surface later lazar agreed to undergo a polygraph exam as part of this report polygrapher ron slay asked about the technology lazar had seen did you knowingly lie when you said you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation the results of this exam were inconclusive lazar appeared to be
(1:07:10) truthful on one test deceitful on a second sleigh recommended that a second examiner be brought in polygrapher terry tavernetti runs a corporate security operation and is a former los angeles police officer he put lazard through four tests and concluded there was no attempt to deceive and i left there thinking that i feel we do have some credibility to what the subject had to say and that's when i went to some of my colleagues tabernetti sent the test results to a third polygrapher who agreed the results appeared truthful the
(1:07:42) charts were then sent to a fourth examiner who did not agree suggesting lazar might be relating information he'd learned from someone else the polygraphers conferred and decided they would not issue a final statement on truthfulness until more specific testing can be conducted and that's where it stands tavernetti believes that difficulty in determining lazar's truthfulness stems from the fear that was drilled into him i think we're talking about a subject here that is so far-reaching and it is so emotional
(1:08:11) and when you're dealing with emotions this is polygraph because we're dealing with polygraph you're looking at fear the fear of getting caught telling a lie because something bad will happen to you if you do well i am telling the truth i

i've tried to prove that uh what's going on up there could be the most important event in history you're talking about contact physical physical contact and proof from another another system another planet another intelligence that's got to be the biggest event in (1:08:44) history period and it's real and it's real and it's there and i had an extremely small part in it but i'm convinced that what i saw is absolute proof of that there is there is no way we could have created those systems there's no way we could have made the disks the power supplies anything to go with them lazar says he has no intention of going on any ufo lecture circuit he's not looking to do any additional interviews in fact he wasn't too crazy about doing this one he did it after certain
(1:09:13) unfavorable things started happening in his life and he did it because he feels that whoever is running the show up at s4 is perpetrating a fraud on the american people and on the scientific community we intend to have much more about this story about the operation up there on monday and beyond this is by no means the end of this series of reports in fact on monday including in our story there support testimony from other people who say they have knowledge of the flying discs at the test site and information from people who know lazar
(1:09:42) very well and insist his story is true if indeed they have these flying saucers george it seems like it'd be really hard to keep it so secret well uh yeah it's it would seem that way except for as lazar asked his uh superiors up there they say it's the easiest secret in the world to keep it's leaked out many times before and nobody believes it what what's the navy saying about all of this well of course the navy is supposed to have been his his employer and we have put some fairly pointed questions
(1:10:07) and questions to them of course number one it may not be the navy at all information is so compartmentalized up there no one is exactly sure who is in charge we have uh put the questions to several navy departments the answers thus far have been unsatisfactory we've applied for more information through the freedom of information act and that information will be revealed on monday as well you believe his story don't you yeah i do yeah i've got to know him pretty well over the last couple of months and i believe he's telling the
(1:10:34) truth fascinating stuff thank you thanks george former governor government scientists has alleged that the u.s military is flying recovered ufos at a secret base in the nevada desert the allegations about the secret facility near the groom mountains first surfaced on eyewitness news last friday scientist bob lazar says there are at least nine of the flying saucers being tested and that they were not built on earth george knapp has more on the continuation of our series on ufos yeah it's well it's obvious it came from
(1:11:03) somewhere else other than earth scientist bob lazar is convinced that the technology he saw being tested at a secret base in the nevada desert is of alien origin and for lazar the proof is at least partially in the furniture one of the nine flying discs he says he saw at the base which was designated s4 looks exactly like this ufo photographed in europe lazar called it the sport model i i gave everything simple names there's a the top hat one and you know i the jello mold and the sport model operated you know without any hitches at all i
(1:11:40) mean it looked new if i can if i know what a new flying saucer looks like um one of them looked like it was hit with some sort of projectile uh it had a large hole in the bottom and a large hole in the top with the metal bent out like some sort of you know large caliber four or five inch projectile had gone through it even before he saw the sport model operate lazar says he suspected that the ship came from somewhere else the realization slapped him in the face the first time he glimpsed the inside of the disk i got to look inside and it had
(1:12:17) really small chairs and i think that was the first confirmation i had that was just a shocking thing because it every time before that i was able to label well this is just oh a little advanced that a group of scientists had formed and you know they're keeping it secret and yeah we could have built a big disc like that that's no problem and you know we could have adapted these to make it fly but why does it have little furniture inside essentially little seats and now and it and things began to click together just

a round sphere it's my impression that the reason that they're round and have no sharp edges is to contain the high
(1:13:17) voltage like if you've seen on in high voltage systems insulators things are round or else you get a corona discharge in in either case it began to hiss it's in high voltage and it lifted off the ground quietly except with that little hiss in the background the net stopped as soon as it reached about 20 30 feet lazar says the test of the sport model was a short one that it made only a few moves before setting back down he didn't see who was actually flying the craft but was very impressed nonetheless well there's no
(1:13:48) action reaction system to it there's no like in a jet engine exhaust gas being thrown out no propeller no noise it's just for all intents and purposes magic to lazar's knowledge the flying discs are not being used for say any flights to jupiter he says excessive caution and intense secrecy contributed to the plotting pace of the program and were a main source of his disenchantment it's just unfair outright not to not to put it in the hands of the overall scientific community there are people that are much
(1:14:22) more capable of dealing with this information and by this time would have gotten a lot further along than this select group little people yeah select small group of people working out in the middle of the desert they don't even have the facilities really to completely analyze what they're dealing with well he was being quiet and if he kept me abreast of anything he kept me abreast of the security checks they'd randomly dropped by his house they threatened his wife they threatened his wife's life
(1:14:48) they had done all that so we really didn't converse i mean he really was adhering to the program jean huff is a las vegas real estate appraiser a regular guy who just happens to have a friend in the flying saucer business he learned about lazar's s4 experiences only after a long period lazar is anxious for people to know that he didn't just run right out and spill the secrets of the universe and that some things are properly kept confidential i did not believe that this should be a security matter some of it sure
(1:15:19) but just the concept that there's definite proof and we even have articles from another world another system you just can't not tell everyone a lot of people don't believe that but i do when he reached what felt like his bursting point he took huff and a few others to the edge of the groomed mountains to see the flights for themselves a total of five witnesses on two consecutive weeks managed to dodge security patrols long enough to see the strange glowing object lift above the mountain it came up above the same
(1:15:53) mountain it moved around it did a step move it actually went up in the air like this and hovered then dropped way down then it just floated around and cruised around and then it started coming up the mountain range this home video tape was recorded during one of the trips to the groomed mountains no one did you see that move it did no i didn't kept look at how bright it's getting look at it now that's bright enough for me to get the sun over here hold on right here are you are you there no it's bright right now
(1:16:40) admittedly the tape proves very little by itself because with the distance and darkness there are no reference points other than the alleged flying disc but lazar's information about the time and location of the test flights proved correct not once but twice that according to our off-camera interviews with each of the other witnesses jean huff describes his second sighting through the telescope we had seen it was an elliptically shaped light you know that's that's about because you can only get so close even with a telescope to a
(1:17:08) secure facility anyway it came by uh up by us very rapidly it glowed and glowed brighter like a sun and and we almost got the feeling it was going to explode it glowed so bright and we backed up behind the car then it went down it glowed back up a little bit and very softly uh glided back over back where the the mountains where it came up hovered for a while and then just sat down just like you see in the movies bob lazar isn't the only person to claim inside knowledge of the flying discs at the test site he's just the only person
(1:17:37) to say so publicly we have communicated with several people who say they know of the saucer program a technician in a highly sensitive position told us it is quote common knowledge among those with high security clearances that recovered alien disks are stored at the nevada test site a las vegas professional who once served in the military and was stationed at the test site says he saw a flying disc land outside the boundaries of area 51 that it was quickly surrounded by security personnel and that he was taken away and debriefed for

(1:18:07) several hours a man who once worked at groom lake as a technician at our request wrote this letter explaining how he inadvertently walked into the wrong hangar and saw what appeared to be a large metallic disk under a tarp it was being examined by men in lab coats and an airman who worked at nellis at a radar installation says he and his fellow servicemen watched over a period of five nights unusual objects flying over the groomed mountains he says the radar images indicate the object zoomed into range at speeds of 7 000 miles per (1:18:39) hour and then would stop on a dime and that nothing we have is capable of doing that the airman says that when word of his sighting got out he was ordered to turn off his radar sensors for that area and told to keep quiet about the matter because it did not happen none of this means that the military is actually flying alien spacecraft in the nevada desert it could all perhaps be explained to some other secret program lazar insists that's not the case we put the matter to the u.
(1:19:05) s navy which according to lazar is running the saucer show four different naval offices were contacted all denied having any information in their files the naval research lab said it conducted a thorough search but found zip naval intelligence said much the same thing adding it is not required to create a file where one doesn't exist a side note we also requested files on a ufo sighting over trementon utah in 1952.
(1:19:31) the navy spent more than a thousand hours studying film of that sighting a fact that's been noted in several publications but for purposes of our request the navy couldn't find those files either the group that runs this project whether it really is the navy or they just say that apparently these people have executive power they don't report to anyone tomorrow more troubling allegations about the military potential of alien technology george knapp eyewitness news eight astronomer and ufo skeptic carl sagan once remarked that we cannot
(1:20:01) discount the possibility that alien evangelists are wandering the universe looking for souls to save sagan does not believe that aliens have visited earth yet but a lot of other people do a confirmed contact with them would certainly change the way we all look at the world and it might even affect our religious beliefs tonight in the continuation of our series on ufos george knapp talks with religious leaders and also looks at the possibility that aliens have been abducting humans tongues were certainly flapping when these strange christmas
(1:20:31) lights first appeared as decorations at a las vegas home the odd combination of a star and swastika raised the specter of christmas nazis or noel skinheads paulette and george vaku laugh at such interpretations the symbol in the christmas lights is the same one they wear around their necks they say it's an interplanetary symbol of goodwill a beacon to our space brethren to come on down what's the basic message here the basic is we was create in laboratory by the extraterrestrial the fekus belonged to what's called the raelian
(1:21:06) movement named for its prophet rael a former french journalist who says he was told by ets to spread the gospel the raelians now 30 000 strong worldwide believe that space beings created humans through genetic experimentation they firmly believe that jesus moses and buddha were like rael e.t emissaries but they don't think their faith must necessarily clash with mainstream religions but like i'll say you know if you are really good catholic good people you believe you know in god in jesus but the way you
(1:21:39) are and you feel good in your body that's the more important and and that's it don't change raelians aren't the first to see the parallels between religion and the ufo experience the bible is filled with events that if taken literally can just as easily be interpreted as encounters with aliens as with angels the prophet ezekiel reported seeing a bright fiery cloud in the sky from which four creatures emerged and wheels the color of burnished brass zechariah says he lifted his eyes and saw a flying roll 10 by 20 cubits a
(1:22:12) pillar of fire led the jews out of egypt and hovered over the red sea when it parted a bright star followed mary and joseph and jesus was lifted into a cloud and carried away according to his disciples the original hebrew word for god elohim can be literally translated as those who came from the sky in the book of genesis god is quoted as saying let us make man in our image similar writings from other religions are also subject to interpretation hindu scriptures refer to a self-propelled celestial car with many windows and a (1:22:46) melodious sound a blazing missile of smokeless fire brigham young of the mormon faith wrote that mankind is the offspring of parents brought here from another planet theologists and even anthropologists say they've found considerable evidence in ancient writings supporting the idea that e.t and god are one and the same that what we're really dealing with is the fact that we're genetically engineered three hundred years three hundred thousand years ago as a species all the archaeological data that we have at this (1:23:14) point points to it between 4000 and 8000 bc we had just been going along and for hundreds of thousand years not doing anything all of a sudden bang we started making pottery invented the wheel invented fire and everything took off what was the key that did that i don't know but it causes one to thing this concept that humans might have been created by aliens won't be warmly embraced by the major religions it's about as welcome as christianity must have been to the roman clergy however religious beliefs may be at the very

(1:23:45) center of the ufo experience some critics have suggested that ufo sightings are made for the same reasons that people believe in god they want to believe in a higher power that can solve their problems or because they're searching for something in their lives the critics think that's why people call into the ufo talk shows or take trips into the desert in hopes of seeing a ufo this may explain part of it but so many of the sightings are made by well-adjusted people people of all different religious persuasions that it
(1:24:13) can't be the complete explanation major religions aren't necessarily opposed to the belief that there's life elsewhere in the universe one catholic leader told us that a confirmation of alien life wouldn't change much at all in the catholic faith others concur one of the most beautiful things that was ever said about this to me was said by a priest a very an old friend and a i think a wonderful priest who said that nothing like this can do anything except increase the glory of god and i think
(1:24:42) he's quite right dr don christensen a mormon stake president says mormons are confident there is life elsewhere well basically we believe that god through the savior jesus christ created this earth and peopled that that were sons and daughters of god and that other similar earths have and maybe will be created christensen says actual contact with alien life wouldn't change mormon beliefs at all but he doesn't buy the concept that ufos and angels are the same i think the only thing i would point out is i think what what people
(1:25:15) refer to as ufos and what we talk about is angels or heavenly visitations or two separate things the jewish faith also seems to have little trouble accepting the concept of life elsewhere however ufo true believers think despite this liberal view religions will have to make adjustments because aliens aren't just out there religion is going to have to deal with the fact that it's not just here we're going to have to deal as important as the copernican revolution the earth isn't the center of the
(1:25:47) universe now man isn't the senate you know some people have trouble with that the radio astronomers think they're going to discover aliens and they're going to act as the middlemen to society giving them all the secrets of the universe that has nothing to do with dealing today with aliens being here now one of the few religious doctrines that has difficulty with the alien concept is the fundamentalist christian view many fundamentalists say ufos are definitely real but are satanic in origin author
(1:26:14) whitley strieber presents what could be an even greater challenge to contemporary religious thought strieber is one of thousands of people who claims to have been abducted by aliens the alleged encounters follow the same scenario over and over again small gray beings with big heads and dark oval eyes pick up a subject take them off on board a craft perform medical exams and then drop them off strieber has written two best-selling books about his experiences at his cabin in new york this experience because it happens but at the edge
(1:26:43) between dream and reality and seems so caught up in mythological symbolism and things like that seems to me has got something to do with the soul and that it may be that that is the primary issue here i don't know we don't know much about the soul in our life in our world but maybe the visitors are not so blind to the soul as we are maybe they do understand it more housewife elka emmons is one of those who's experienced so-called missing time she says a ufo followed her car for miles and landed in (1:27:13) her backyard and at that point i panicked and i shut off all the lights and i went upstairs and i hid in the corner of the bedroom and as i told you i sat there for what seemed to be no more than a minute or two and then i woke up in the morning you woke up and where were you i was in bed in the morning yeah you uh you have the feeling that something happened or you don't want to think about it i have i obviously lost the time because i i don't know how i got in bed in the morning

evans fears undergoing hypnotic regression as a means of (1:27:52) remembering what happened that night but many other people have tried it their stories are remarkably similar psychologists say that's because the human mind will make things up to fill in the gaps they also say ufos are so common in the media that the alien hypothesis has been drilled into everyone's subconscious others think the abductions are really happening and for disturbing reasons we made a deal with them and their ultimate what they want to do is regenerate their own race now apparently they're either they've either
(1:28:22) had some kind of nuclear accident or they're on the back side of a evolutionary genetic curve and they're going downhill instead of uphill lear thinks the aliens have been implanting abductees with strange little devices as proof he points to this odd item found by british doctors in the placental fluid of a pregnant woman it looks to them like a microscopic computer chip they wrote to an international science magazine asking if anyone could tell them what it was three years later they still have no explanation this dark side of the ufo
(1:28:54) phenomenon has given rise to all sorts of conspiracy theories about why they're here and why they remain hidden tomorrow in the conclusion of this series we'll examine some of these ideas george knapp eyewitness news eight some people say that the ufo cover-up may have something to do with the assassination of john kennedy we will look at that tomorrow the worldwide interest in ufos just won't go away despite discouragement from governments and science and religion people all over the planet suspect that something is going on and
(1:29:24) that world governments are hiding something will we ever find out the full ufo story george knapp joins us now with the conclusion of our series ufo's the best evidence george mary ruth and gary a few days ago in the comic strip calvin and hobbes calvin the little boy in the strip is contemplating the destruction of the environment he says to hobbs the surest sign that intelligent life exists elsewhere is that none of it has tried to contact us calvin may be on to something as we've learned this week
(1:29:52) there is considerable body of information suggesting that the earth has been visited but we still don't have the smoking gun we don't have absolute proof that would be needed to answer our questions one way or the other tonight we look at some possible reasons why solid answers are so hard to come by and a word of warning some of the descriptions in this story are graphic this is not a question of legitimate national security this is a question of a few civilian and military thugs usurping the constitutional authority
(1:30:20) of the senate and the congress and the citizens of these united states of america to cover up an illegal transaction made with an alien nation in which american lives were traded for highly advanced technology if you're looking for the ultimate conspiracy ufos are for you the story has it all aliens from outer space in secret alliance with a government cabal controlled by the trilateral commission selling drugs to finance flying saucer research in a plan to take over the world and put us all in slave labor camps ufo buff bill cooper for one
(1:30:52) says it's all true and that he read it in secret briefings while serving as a naval intelligence officer no such conspiracy theory would be complete without tying in the john kennedy assassination some ufo people point to this enhanced film of jfk's murder as proof that the gunman was actually the limo driver a government agent if you watch it enough times it almost appears the driver reaches around with his left arm and points a shiny object at kennedy just as the bullet strikes the president but what does any of this have to do
(1:31:22) with ufos president kennedy had taken offense to the sale of drugs to the american people to finance the black projects and that he thought the american people should know what was happening and the aliens were here and be able to decide their own fate and for that reason he had to be killed former military officer bill english says he read the same secret ufo reports as cooper he believes space aliens are here to eat us and says he saw evidence of that while serving in vietnam when he was sent into the jungle
(1:31:54) to recover a b-52 that had disappeared after encountering a ufo english says the plane was found intact but the crew had been mutilated sexual organs have been removed anuses had been removed cord to the colon blood had been drained from the bodies completely as far as we were able to tell at that time there was no blood whatsoever in the aircraft most people associated with ufo research don't buy this dark side of the alien hypothesis although they do believe there's an ongoing conspiracy of silence involving (1:32:25) all of the world's major governments with so much conjecture and so little hard information it's extremely difficult to sift through the fabrications and fairy tales but it's clear the subject has caught the attention of some of the greatest minds of this century winston churchill demanded to know the meaning of flying saucers and commissioned a secret british study back in the 1950s president harry truman suspected by some of creating a panel known as majestic 12 to study ufos stated if they are real (1:32:54) they're not from earth other prominent names have dropped more tantalizing hints dr hermann oberth the father of modern rocketry made his beliefs clear that flying saucers were from beyond our solar system dr werner von braun and explaining why an american rocket test had mysteriously gone awry made this statement suggesting that humans were already in contact with a power from beyond he declined to elaborate general douglas macarthur was more specific boldly predicting that the earth would one day have to unite to defend itself

(1:33:26) against aliens general george marshall confided to a close friend that ufos are real and that by hovering over our military bases they've proven they could blow us to bits if they wanted to future president gerald ford said in the mid 1960s the american people should be enlightened on the subject of ufos so why hasn't this happened if you accept the gloomy vision of bill cooper and bill english and others then the government might have good reasons for keeping the truth from the public in fact classified studies done for nasa
(1:33:57) and the cia have concluded that widespread panic would be a real possibility if contact with aliens was made official but those studies were made decades ago and our views of ets have certainly changed i think the public can handle it i think we've been brainwashed pretty thoroughly if you watch television in the morning it's all spaced out stuff you know gumpy was abducted and you know this kind of thing even friedman admits that alien visitations would cause widespread upheavals changing the way we look at
(1:34:27) everything would the oil industry suddenly become worthless if we were introduced to new sources of energy or new technology would people think of themselves as earthlings instead of as americans or russians or chinese a sudden abrupt announcement would certainly have profound effects which is why many people suspect we are being told but in bits and pieces conditioned over generations to accept the alien presence i've often wondered what if all of us in the world discovered that we were threatened by an outer of power
(1:35:01) from outer space from another planet wouldn't we all of a sudden find that we didn't have any differences between us at all ronald reagan made allusions to alien forces not once but five different times including a speech before the united nations and why did he say that five times once it's a nice figure of speech but he said it in the united nations he said it to gorbachev in geneva gorbachev responded saying you didn't disagree with him he said at a high school in maryland why bring that up unless there was some
(1:35:29) reason for bringing it up friedman says reagan also dropped hints in private about ufos one such incident occurred following a special white house screening of the movie e.t the story was related to others by producer steven spielberg when the showing was over reagan got up put his hand on steve shoulders and you know fewer than six people in this room know the whole story now i have a close colleague that got that direct from steve what i'm saying is our society has been brainwashed the possibility that the
(1:35:59) government is using the mass media to influence our attitudes about ufos is an intriguing one and not without at least circumstantial support consider the general tone of 1950's sci-fi movies grotesque evil aliens were on earth to conquer and destroy it's a far cry from the gentle space creatures we know from today's films it's interesting to note that steven spielberg's close encounters of the third kind had as its scientific advisor this bit actor with the goatee otherwise known as dr j allen heineck
(1:36:30) who was chief scientist in the air force's project blue book on television we've got alf an alien nation different approaches to the theme of humans adjusting to an alien presence some ufo researchers are convinced that major corporations are participating in the indoctrination process even in the print media you see this sort of thing constantly this is an a corporate advertisement by amaco oil that runs in phil class's favorite magazine aviation week in space technology and you're there's no direct reference in the (1:37:05) dialogue to this high technology advertisement other than the picture itself and i think what they're trying to tell us is that the picture speaks for itself would private interests participate in the conspiracy in 1969 several requests were put to the rand corporation for copies of a ufo study it had reportedly done for the government rand denied any knowledge of such a study but here it is written just a few months before the requests for copies were made and concluding that the ufo field deserved much more study than it was getting at (1:37:37) the time senator barry goldwater also alluded to a gradual release of ufo information goldwater had tried to gain access to ufo files and was turned down but he can fight it in a letter he'd been told a plan was underway to release the ufo story to the public as a presidential candidate jimmy carter vowed to completely open the government's ufo files because carter said he had seen one himself in 1977 there were hints in national magazines that disturbing revelations were about to be made by the president they never

(1:38:08) were and carter didn't open the files we wrote to ask him why and we're told carter is too busy for any interviews perhaps the secrecy isn't the government's idea perhaps it originates elsewhere it's quite obvious that the secrecy doesn't even originate with the government why don't the visitors land on the white house lawn and make themselves public why didn't they do that this morning the reason is they themselves are the architects of the secrecy strieber who claims to have been abducted by aliens
(1:38:37) several times says that humans should not presume to understand the motives of the visitors perhaps they are adhering to star trek's prime directive non-interference with developing species if the aliens have been observing earth for any length of time they've witnessed untold examples of war barbarism and environmental destruction ufos have been chased and shot at and would probably be suspicious of any culture that produces dissect and alien games for its children maybe they're not ready for us are we
(1:39:06) ready for them so people are used to the idea that there's probably other life out there and for it to contact us i don't think would be major disruption so you fear the unknown if you know all about ufos the fact they're here there's going to be no panic that's the excuse they've used since the orson welles radio mercury radio program in 1938 the people did panic we are far more sophisticated than that i really would like to know i really would and i really would like everybody to know
(1:39:40) i think it's extremely important that everybody have the truth i think people need to realize that yes there has been an alien visitation they're here and i don't think that will upset people it might upset them that the government has hidden it but i don't think they'll fear that aliens have actually been here as much as they fear what possible tidings the aliens may bring it's true what i have seen is true i don't know about the big story where they came from what they're like and
(1:40:07) and but certainly these crafts came from another not not just another planet another solar system entirely extremely far away and they're here what we've learned this week is that the government has lied to us about ufos has withheld information has spied on ufo organizations and has discredited ufo witnesses now none of this proves that ufos are real but it does indicate a disturbing level of interest government interest in the subject if the government won't tell us what it knows what about science well science is
(1:40:39) supposed to stand for the investigation of the unexplained not the explanation of the uninvestigated and so far science has avoided the subject like a plague it's like what rory roy neary the main character in the film close encounters had to say all we want to know is what's going on maybe this answers my own question all that black in that one document you showed what about the freedom of information act well it has been useful we used it it's been useful in the past for getting some information
(1:41:05) out of the government but it's almost like the only stuff that comes out is what the government wants to release we filed foi requests with the navy the air force fbi cia and nasa and got really very little information and some of the information we requested and we're told didn't exist had already been released to other people who had asked for it so obviously they're not releasing everything there are some people who've been fighting the national security agency and the cia to force them to release the documents
(1:41:32) that we saw in that piece that were blacked out and the government has withheld it on the grounds of national security well there's a lot of time people call for a congressional hearing would that do the trick well i think congress has held hearings on the subject twice before once in 1966 and once in 1968.
(1:41:48) in 66 only the air force was allowed to testify in 68 the witnesses were allowed to talk about ufos but they couldn't blast the air force to talk about project blue book now if they were going to have another congressional hearing they'd have to make sure for purposes of public satisfaction that uh it was completely unrelated to government people people without ties to the cia people like that could not be involved with the investigation we should also point out though if you want to get get the real story on this there are people probably watching (1:42:15) this program right now who know a lot about this subject living right here in nevada and our number is in the phone book we should point out some of these people have already called us and that this investigation will continue and that we're planning a two-hour special including all the stories we've done so far later on in this month it has been fascinating

(00:02) this week in our series of reports on ufos we learned a number of things that not everybody who sees the ufo is crazy that our government has lied about ufo information that it's withheld ufo files and even spied on ufo witnesses we've also heard from scientists who say life elsewhere in the universe is virtually a certainty and we heard the majority of americans believe that ufos are real and come from space tonight in part five of his report george knapp introduces us to a local man with an amazing and disturbing story
(00:32) george gary and mary ruth we've been working on the story for a long time and we'll tell you right up front that it's going to be hard to swallow at first this week we've heard the contention of ufo researchers that there's a secret government within our government while that may be hard to believe coming from the ufo perspective we've certainly learned in watergate and the iran contra scandal that factions within our government can and do pursue pursue their own hidden agendas outside of the law outside the
(00:59) control of congress or the knowledge of the american people this is exactly the type of operation we'll hear about tonight it's a chilling scenario with worldwide implications that may have its roots right here area 51 that mysterious corner of the nevada test site is no longer much of a secret the fact that secretive things go on here is a given even to the soviets who make daily spy flights over the facility to take a peek at what's going on these photos never before shown in public are about as close as anyone will (01:30) ever come to seeing what the place looks like again the dry bed of groom lake corrugated metal buildings a three mile long runway and some highly sophisticated radar and detection equipment it's been known by many names over the years dreamland the ranch the skunk works if ever there was a place to test a secret new technology this is it and that's exactly what's been done here for decades area 51 is where francis gary powers and the other u-2 pilots were trained in the 50s and where the u-2 itself was developed the sr-71 spy
(02:02) planes that spotted soviet missiles in cuba in the early 60s were also developed at 51 51 is where stealth technology was nurtured where star wars devices are still tested and where all manner of cia monkey business has been plotted and refined it's the perfect place for secret things but of course that's no secret 51 is ringed by the forbidden vastness of the nevada test site by the looming groomed mountains and by sparsely populated desert expanses the few people who do live out here have no love lost for the military
(02:35) but they're conservative patriotic and they mind their own business you ever see stuff you can't explain sure lots of stuff care to elaborate now [Music] on any given night at the rachel bar and grill you might find three or four people who work at area 51 they are amid the flowing budweisers and cowboy hats you might find them but they aren't going to talk to you not about the things they've seen over the mountains a steady trickle of curiosity seekers flows through here strangers drawn by strange stories of lights in the night
(03:11) sky their questions also go unanswered no one who's worked at dreamland has ever publicly acknowledged what so many people have suspected for years that alien technology is being tested in the nevada desert the speculation first surfaced in documents obtained by ufo researchers documents about something called project aquarius the documents allegedly prepared for an organization called mj-12 state that a program to fly recovered alien spacecraft was established in 1972 and is continuing in nevada the national security agency has (03:44) confirmed it does have a project aquarius but denies it has anything to do with flying saucers nsa will not say what project aquarius is speculation was heightened in 1984 when the air force seized nearly 90 thousand acres around groomed lake the action was by most accounts illegal during congressional hearings about the land grab congressman john cyberling grilled the military about the legal authority used in the action and was told the authority was at a much much higher level than the air force cyberling asked what authority is (04:15) higher than the laws of the united states the air force official said he could respond but only in a closed briefing in 1987 when the air force sought to renew its stranglehold on the groom range news articles once again mentioned the talk about alien spacecraft and subsequent articles in national magazines quoted unnamed sources about things of alien origin flying in nevada things that would make filmmaker george lucas drool despite the speculation no one who knew area 51 from the inside ever talked publicly about (04:46) the saucer stories well there's several actually nine flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin the live interview with the shadowy dentist drew international attention portions were broadcast by radio in six european countries and in a nationally televised tv special in japan actually nine flying saucers flying discs despite numerous inquiries and feelers dennis has remained anonymous until now his real name is robert lazar a young scientist with eclectic interests the choice of dennis was an inside joke he (05:26) says that's the name of his superior at groom lake it wasn't a joke to dennis he called right after he said you have any idea what we're going to do to you now and i said well no she hung up the phone lazar's story is by any standards fantastic he says he's telling it in order to protect himself he says he was hired to work at an area called s4 which is a few miles south of groom lake at s4 he says are flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly beyond (05:54) human capabilities right this this came from somewhere else i mean as bizarre as that is to believe but i mean it's there i saw it i know what the current state of the art is in in physics and it's it can't be done checking out lazar's credentials proved to be a difficult task he says he earned degrees in physics and electronics but the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him he also said he worked as a physicist at los alamos national lab where he experimented with one of the

(06:53) told us he still had no records on lazar egng which is where lazar says he was interviewed for the job at s4 also has no records it's as if someone has made him disappear well they're trying to make me a non-person explain you called where well the schools that i went to the hospital that i was born at [Music] pass job and essentially nothing comes up with my name in it he smiles but out of futility knowing the whole thing must sound ridiculous according to lazar his employer was the united states navy he (07:26) says he and other government employees would gather near eg and g fly to groom lake then a very few people would get into a bus with blacked out or no windows and drive to s4 you get off the bus what do you see very interesting building it's got a slope of probably about 30 degrees the which are hanger doors and it has textured paint on it but it's it looks like sand it's made to look like the side of the mountain that it's in whether it's to disguise it from satellite photographs or what he says he (07:57) was never told exactly what he'd be working on but figured it had something to do with advanced propulsion on his first day he was told to read a series of briefings and immediately realized how advanced the propulsion was the power source is an antimatter reactor they run gravity amplifiers there's actually two parts to the drive mechanism it's just it's a bizarre technology there's no physical hookup between any of the systems in there they use gravity as a wave using wave guides almost like microwaves it took a

(08:31) while lazar says before he actually saw one of the flying discs however there were hints everywhere right they had a poster and it looked like a commercial poster almost like it was lithographed and you could buy it at a kmart or something but they were all over the place and it had the the disc that i coined the term the sport model was lifted off the ground about three feet at area s4 on the dry lake there and the caption on the bottom said they're here and those are just all over the place later he got to see the real thing when
(09:00) i was led in it was the first time i saw the sport model in the hangar sitting down and i was told they could have walked me in the front door but they purposely wanted to walk me by it i was still not to say anything and just keep my eyes forward and walk past the disc into the office area and i did and as we went by it i just kind of stuck my hands on it just to run it alongside the thing and you know i that that was about the smallest time after that i got to see it actually lift off the ground and operate but you also in between that you saw
(09:36) more than one yeah the hangers are all connected together and there are large bay doors between each one and uh there were nine total that i saw each one being different like they had the assortment pack security at s4 was oppressive lazar says and his superiors used fear and intimidation almost as a brainwashing tool did everything but physically hurt me put a gun to your head yeah and and said what what actually put a gun to your kit well they they did that even in this in the original security briefings they had uh
(10:13) guards there with m16s and guys slamming their finger into my chest screaming in my ear some people are pointing weapons at me like i said it's not a it's not a good place to work that fear factor would surface later lazar agreed to undergo a polygraph exam as part of this report polygrapher ron slay asked about the technology lazar had seen did you knowingly lie when you said you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation the results of this exam were inconclusive lazar appeared to be truthful on one test deceitful on a
(10:49) second sleigh recommended that a second examiner be brought in polygrapher terry tavernetti runs a corporate security operation and is a former los angeles police officer he put lazard through four tests and concluded there was no attempt to deceive and i left there thinking that i feel we do have some credibility to what the subject had to say and that's when i went to some of my colleagues tavernetti sent the test results to a third polygrapher who agreed the results appeared truthful the charts were then sent to a fourth
(11:20) examiner who did not agree suggesting lazar might be relating information he'd learned from someone else the polygraphers conferred and decided they would not issue a final statement on truthfulness until more specific testing can be conducted and that's where it stands tavernetti believes that difficulty in determining lazar's truthfulness stems from the fear that was drilled into him i think we're talking about a subject here that is so far-reaching and it is so emotional and when you're dealing with emotions
(11:49) this is polygraph because we're dealing with polygraph you're looking at fear the fear of getting caught telling a lie because something bad will happen to you if you do well i am telling the truth i i've tried to prove that what's going on up there could be the most important event in history you're talking about contact physical physical contact and proof from another another system another planet another intelligence that's got to be the biggest event in history period and it's real and it's (12:24) real and it's there and i had an extremely small part in it but i'm convinced that what i saw is absolute proof of that there is there is no way we could have created those systems there's no way we could have made the discs the power supplies anything to go with them lazar says he has no intention of going on any ufo lecture circuit he's not looking to do any additional interviews in fact he wasn't too crazy about doing this one he did it after certain unfavorable things started happening in (12:52) his life and he did it because he feels that whoever is running the show up at s4 is perpetrating a fraud on the american people and on the scientific community we intend to have much more about this story about the operation up there on monday and beyond this is by no means the end of this series of reports in fact on monday including in our story there support testimony from other people who say they have knowledge of the flying discs at the test site and information from people who know lazar very well and insist his story is true (13:22) if indeed they have these flying saucers george it seems like it'd be really hard to keep it so secret well uh yeah it's it would seem that way except for as

lazar asked his uh superiors up there they say it's the easiest secret in the world to keep it's leaked out many times before and nobody believes it what what's the navy saying about all of this well of course the navy is supposed to have been his his employer and we have put some fairly pointed questions and questions to them of course number (13:46) one it may not be the navy at all information is so compartmentalized up there no one is exactly sure who is in charge we have put the questions to several navy departments the answers thus far have been unsatisfactory we've applied for more information through the freedom of information act and that information will be revealed on monday as well you believe his story don't you yeah i do yeah i've got to know him uh pretty well over the last couple of months and i believe he's telling the truth
(14:12) fascinating stuff thanks george former governor government scientists has alleged that the u.s military is flying recovered ufos at a secret base in the nevada desert the allegations about the secret facility near the groom mountains first surfaced on eyewitness news last friday scientist bob lazar says there are at least nine of the flying saucers being tested and that they were not built on earth george knapp has more on the continuation of our series on ufos yeah it's well it's obvious it came from
(14:40) somewhere else other than earth scientist bob lazar is convinced that the technology he saw being tested at a secret base in the nevada desert is of alien origin and for lazar the proof is at least partially in the furniture one of the nine flying discs he says he saw at the base which was designated s4 looks exactly like this ufo photographed in europe lazar called it the sport model i i gave everything simple names there's a the top hat one and you know the jello mold and the sport model operated you know without any hitches at all i
(15:17) mean it looked new if i can if i know what a new flying zauzer looks like one of them looked like it was hit with some sort of projectile uh it had a large hole in the bottom and a large hole in the top with the metal bent out like some sort of you know large caliber four or five inch projectile had gone through it even before he saw the sport model operate lazar says he suspected that the ship came from somewhere else the realization slapped him in the face the first time he glimpsed the inside of the disk i got to look inside and it had
(16:54) voltage like if you've seen on in high voltage systems insulators things are round or else you get a corona discharge in in either case it began to hiss it's in high voltage and it lifted off the ground quietly except with that little hiss in the background the net stopped as soon as it reached about 20 30 feet lazar says the test of the sport model was a short one that it made only a few moves before setting back down he didn't see who was actually flying the craft but was very impressed nonetheless well there's no
(17:26) action reaction system to it there's no like in a jet engine exhaust gas being thrown out no propeller no noise it's just for all intensive purposes magic to lazar's knowledge the flying discs are not being used for say any flights to jupiter he says excessive caution and intense secrecy contributed to the plotting pace of the program and were a main source of his disenchantment it's just unfair outright not to not to put it in the hands of the overall scientific community there are people that are much

quiet and if he kept me abreast of anything he kept me abreast of the security checks they'd randomly dropped by his house they threatened his wife they threatened his wife's life
(18:26) they had done all that so we really didn't converse i mean he really was adhering to the program jean huff is a las vegas real estate appraiser a regular guy who just happens to have a friend in the flying saucer business he learned about lazar's s4 experiences only after a long period lazaro is anxious for people to know that he didn't just run right out and spill the secrets of the universe and that some things are properly kept confidential i did not believe that this should be a security matter some of it sure
(18:56) but just the concept that there's definite proof and we even have articles from another world another system you just can't not tell everyone a lot of people don't believe that but i do when he reached what felt like his bursting point he took huff and a few others to the edge of the groom mountains to see the flights for themselves a total of five witnesses on two consecutive weeks managed to dodge security patrols long enough to see the strange glowing object lift above the mountains it came up above the same
(19:30) mountain it moved around it did a step move it actually went up in the air like this and hovered then dropped way down then it just floated around and cruised around and then it started coming up the mountain range this home video tape was recorded during one of the trips to the groom move it did no i mountains think i kept it look how bright it's getting look at it now that's bright enough for me to get the sun over here hold on right here all right are you there no it's bright right now admittedly the tape proves very little (20:19) by itself because with the distance and darkness there are no reference points other than the alleged flying disc but lazar's information about the time and location of the test flights proved correct not once but twice that according to our off-camera interviews with each of the other witnesses gene huff describes his second sighting through the telescope we had seen it was an elliptically shaped light you know that's that's about because you can only get so close even with a telescope to a secure facility anyway it came by uh up
(20:47) by us very rapidly it glowed and glowed brighter like a sun and and we almost got the feeling it was going to explode it glowed so bright and we backed up behind the car then it went down it glowed back up a little bit and very softly uh glided back over back where the the mountains where it came up hovered for a while and then just sat down just like you see in the movies bob lazar isn't the only person to claim inside knowledge of the flying discs at the test site he's just the only person to say so publicly we have communicated
(21:16) with several people who say they know of the saucer program a technician in a highly sensitive position told us it is quote common knowledge among those with high security clearances that recovered alien disks are stored at the nevada test site a las vegas professional who once served in the military and was stationed at the test site says he saw a flying disc land outside the boundaries of area 51 that it was quickly surrounded by security personnel and that he was taken away and debriefed for several hours a man who once worked at (21:46) groom lake as a technician at our request wrote this letter explaining how he inadvertently walked into the wrong hangar and saw what appeared to be a large metallic disc under a tarp it was being examined by men in lab coats and an airman who worked at nellis at a radar installation says he and his fellow service men watched over a period of five nights unusual objects flying over the groomed mountains he says the radar images indicate the object zoomed into range at speeds of 7 000 miles per hour and then would stop on a dime and
(22:18) that nothing we have is capable of doing that the airman says that when word of his sighting got out he was ordered to turn off his radar sensors for that area and told to keep quiet about the matter because it did not happen none of this means that the military is actually flying alien spacecraft in the nevada desert it could all perhaps be explained to some other secret program lazar insists that's not the case we put the matter to the u.
(22:42) s navy which according to lazar is running the saucer show four different naval offices were contacted all denied having any information in their files the naval research lab said it conducted a thorough search but found zip naval intelligence said much the same thing adding it is not required to create a file where one doesn't exist a side note we also requested files on a ufo sighting over tremendous and utah in 1952.
(23:08) the navy spent more than a thousand hours studying film of that sighting a fact that's been noted in several publications but for purposes of our request the navy couldn't find those files either the group that runs this project whether it really is the navy or they just say that apparently these people have executive power they don't report to anyone tomorrow more troubling allegations about the military potential of alien technology george knapp eyewitness news

(00:00) most controversial in knapp's ufo report was the story of this young scientist robert lazar lazar claims that out in the las vegas desert he worked on operational flying saucers at an area called site four he says it's our country's number one top secret i had a casual meeting with dr edward teller while working at los alamos national laboratory in new mexico he referred me after several years to a job out in the new mexico desert uh a place known as s4 near area 51 where many top secret government projects
(00:41) had their home base essentially edward tiller is the director of the program uh and i think someone approved by by ed teller someone suggested by him i think that carries enough weight in itself i i had a fascination with the small jet engines i built and installed a jet engine in a little honda civic a small car it made the front page in the local los alamos paper the monitor coincidentally and in fact on the back of that that front page ed teller was giving a lecture on sdi and i believe that was june 1982 uh at los alamos
(01:20) uh as i was walking up to the lecture hall i wanted to hear what ed teller had to say as i was walking up to the lecture hall i got there relatively early thinking there would be a fairly large turnout and as it turned out there wasn't i got there about an hour and a half early and ed teller is sitting outside and he had just bought a paper out of the paper machine and he was reading the front page and i thought well what an opportunity to introduce myself i can say well i'm the guy you're reading
(01:47) about i always wanted to meet you so on and so forth uh just to get into some small talk uh we talked for a little bit uh he seemed interested in in some things i had to say and really just wanted to hear his viewpoints on on certain things and we had a cup of coffee together and a doughnut uh down at the cafeteria uh that was the extent of our meeting after that i i heard his lecture and later after i had moved to las vegas when i decided to get back into the scientific field and sent out resumes to many other (02:19) laboratories around the country also any government research organizations i did shoot a resume to ed teller too he called right after receiving it and said i had directed your resume to someone in nevada it's a highly classified project and they'll be requesting an interview within 20 minutes the phone rang that was the request for the interview so obviously ed teller gave it more than a nudge it was more like a directive that this person will be interviewed for this particular job and that's the bottom line so yeah he he (02:52) did get me into the program in you know early 1989 i was already in the program and and working at uh at a slow pace because at the same time i had to go through an extensive security investigation that was like no other i had been through before i had cue clearance from los alamos and this was something far above it which i was told was 38 levels above q clearance it required an executive order to be signed at that time at that time that executive order was signed by uh ronald reagan um the program was only in the program for (03:28) a short time however i think that lasted all the way until april 1989 when we finally parted ways and you know there's a whole story behind that initially during the interviews it was never specifically stated hey bob we're going to be working on flying saucers or alien craft recovered from crashes or recovered from wherever the job title was a senior staff physicist i was to be working on advanced propulsion techniques certainly when i made a few trips out there began reading briefings things dealing with the origin (04:03) of the craft uh the uh the race or the type of aliens that piloted the craft uh specifics on uh what what these looked like what their physical structure was

from autopsy reports things of this sort seeing the hardware i realized that this is not a research effort that this is back engineering and that we have the device the craft itself and we are working backwards to find out how it works they have the finished product and really want to find out the manufacturing technique the basic physics in it and uh it became very (04:39) obvious what we're working on but it was strange that even up till the very end there really no words were were said about what was going on the time i saw the craft a large disc flying saucer typical flying saucer [Music] even that i basically put out of my mind thinking well this obviously is a creation uh of the government some sort of advanced type of flying vehicle maybe an advanced fighter of the future uh and this explains all those crazy flying saucer stories uh you know people just seeing tests of this craft
(05:13) the real striking part was when i saw the interior of the craft and noticing that the seats and everything was were extremely small obviously made for a small creature or children obviously they wouldn't let children in there but uh and that was before i got heavy into it to see that uh you know we were talking about strange languages and things and technology that doesn't even exist and so on and so forth the information uh concerning the craft itself just the hardware is very compartmentalized there's a group that deals with (05:46) specifics on the navigational equipment the specifics on the metallurgy of the craft and the specifics on the propulsion and power system of the craft which is what what my group worked on um that in itself created a focal point for our research and looking into what you know we were dealing with uh so i in a short amount of time because that was all we had to look at uh really gained quite a bit of information on how things operated of course verifying the employment there is somewhat difficult los alamos denies
(06:20) i've ever worked there as does kirk meyer even the subcontractor for los alamos which is interesting we went back and were able to dig up an inner lab directory phone book with my name in it [Music] certainly i got some of my colleagues from los alamos to verify that i work there but for the most part los alamos has kept everything pretty quiet and even denies that i ever lived in the town though i'm known by many people in the town and many of the people i worked with supervisors so on and so forth when lazar went to trial on unrelated
(06:49) charges in 1990 even the judge agreed that lazar seemed to be a man without a country we do have a w-2 form of record that shows that he worked for the united states department of naval intelligence and uh i also note that he is in fact listed in the los alamos national laboratory telephone directory it's obvious that it's very difficult to get information on mr lazar from government sources enormously get them

(00:02) meet george knapp of klas tv las vegas for two years from 1989 through 1990 george produced several award-winning reports and full-length specials about the ufo phenomenon and those who get caught up in it initially optimistic that his programs would lend credibility to the topic of ufos his programs were seen by millions here in america and overseas his programs ufos the best evidence parts one and two became a hot property on the illegal video cassette market with more people having seen the illegally copied tapes than originally (00:36) saw the programs as broadcast after dealing with the subject of ufos and high visibility proponents of the flying saucer society his initial optimism has turned into pessimism after having his fill of lunatic fringe ufologist we've all seen so many people in this field where you've you know they want to convince you you've got to believe i'm more of the opinion you put out the information and and let people make up their minds i wrote to president carter to ask him a couple of questions and that that's another that's a whole other (01:06) line i never got through to him either i wrote virtually every nasa astronaut who has ever been associated with this phenomenon and never got a single response from any of them you'd figure you'd at least get a form letter back and never got anything i wrote i'm very disappointed with the freedom of information act

how effective that is too because i didn't get diddly out of that wrote to nasa knowing that they had a certain body of information i asked for all of it well here it is here's all (01:32) of it and six months later somebody else asks for all of it and they got a lot bigger pile of all of it than i got so i i think you know there's very few checks and balances on that they give you what they want in that system i ask for my own fbi file i know that that there is one there i've covered the president on a number of occasions i know there have been some background checks i know i've been mentioned to the fbi in the course of investigating various stories here in las vegas an associate association with
(02:01) organized crime they have no file on me that's was their response oh yes they do well they do now some of the information is very disturbing um it changes the way you view things it changes the way you look at everything once this once it hits you what really is going on and uh i think the government could be right in a sense that that if the story came out in its entirety if the president went on television and said they're here we can't do anything about it that it would shake our foundations it would shake our belief in religion
(02:40) and shake our belief in in government maybe people would stop paying their taxes because it would change the way we view everything it's changed my life i mean i'm not seeing god or anything but it's changed the way i view things

(00:20) well george knapp will take a look at that as we begin a special series ufo the best evidence question mark part ones coming up have seen an unidentified flying object yet the subject of ufos is generally scorned by science journalism and the government an eyewitness news investigation into the topic that was broadcast last november has drawn worldwide attention and not all of that attention has been positive tonight george knapp picks up where our previous series left off the new series is called ufos the best evidence
(00:50) question mark gary and mary ruth we've added the question mark for a good reason there are many unanswered questions about ufos and about some of the people who claim to have knowledge about the topic questions about credibility and motives we'll be taking a hard look at some of those questions this week and beyond one thing we found is that despite some sniping from other media and the scoffing of government officials people want to know about ufos even some very prominent people here because i know 15 years ago if he would (01:19) have said something especially with the guys i hang around they would have gone right you know and wouldn't go into sparks kent orem is a hard-boiled semi-cynical public relations man currently running the election campaign of nevada governor bob miller a few years ago orem says he and his wife saw something strange in the night sky over mount charleston and we looked at it for about two and a half minutes and it never budged and at the time i made a joke to my wife you know i mean if if you were under the (01:47) starship enterprise you know that's sort of what it might look like and it was i would say it was gigantic and it was more of a square shape but it was a lot of lights and so i had a pair of binoculars in the back of my ram charger so i went to get them we finally found them and then we looked up in the sky and it was gone i mean just flat gone it depends on who i'm talking to about apprehension you know they kind of raise an eyebrow actions you know chuck woodworth is a 20-year veteran of the metro police department a
(02:16) trained observer who grew up in the shadow of the nevada test site he and four friends saw their ufo in the desert north of ph all we saw was a lot i'm gonna tell you it's the most intense light i've ever seen and i've been under some around some pretty heavy lights i've uh if you stood under uh the uh police helicopter at night when they're lighting up an area and they come right down are really saturated with lights those would be very very dim to the lights we saw from this i would judge this distance so (02:46) we observed them to be at least 20 miles 15 to 20 miles from us and they were intense neither woodworth nor orem can identify what they saw but both believe

recent publicity about ufos has made it easier to openly discuss the subject there are still those who have reservations though two of southern nevada's best-known elected officials say they've seen ufos but neither was willing to admit it on television a veteran las vegas attorney sent us this letter saying he once had access to a top-secret military briefing book (03:17) that included dozens of official photographs of alien beings and alien spacecraft the attorney did not want his name used most people believe that that ufos are physically real rather than imaginary that's what the polls say but the same the different poll also shows that those same people believe that other people don't believe that ufos are physically real no one can say just how many ufos are cited each year primarily because it's difficult to report a sighting metro police won't take ufo reports at (03:45) all and offered no advice on where to send them the faa and mccarran tower also say they're not interested and if you call nellis air force base as ruth ruiz did this is the response you'll get and he told me that they're not interested anymore in the ufos because now we know whoever it is or whatever it is it's not a threat to us our national security now that's what he told me nellis will give you the number of a private ufo hotline located in seattle what's more both nellis and mccarran
(04:18) spokesman say they have no memory of even a single ufo sighting over their facilities a claim that is flatly contradicted by informed sources at both locations some ufo sightings are reported to the planetarium where astronomers can usually come up with a logical explanation venus when it first you know a few months ago and venus first appeared in our evening sky you know for this time around uh you know we got a number of calls what's that bright object in this in the sky uh we'll be getting uh calls on jupiter pretty soon
(04:46) because it's now rising about midnight in the east uh you know so we get those calls mainly it's just curiosity you know they see something strange they hadn't noticed before even die hard ufo believers admit that 90 of all ufo sightings are explainable but it's the other 10 that are of interest one good unidentifiable flying object whose characteristics and appearance indicate we're dealing with a vehicle whose behavior says it wasn't made here is worth 50 cases that you can explain just as most drugs don't cure diseases
(05:17) if you're sick with something you want the one that does don't tell me about the ones that don't so the focus with flying saucers has to be on the evidence the best evidence from all over the world using ufos and evidence in the same sentence as a sore spot with some media outlets the las vegas review journal has taken a dim view of ufo reports columnists have cleverly compared the ufo topic to the search for elvis media critics say it's nothing but a ratings ploy when an international ufo convention was (05:48) held in las vegas the lone story done by the rj was a profile of ufo debunker phil class with a headline suggesting it was class who knew the truth about flying saucers later though the paper succumbed to ufo fever with a front page story in its sunday supplement about ufo sightings in nelson nevada their word seems to be you know snicker snicker and and make fun of it but you know it's just this uh attitude that the journals have got if they didn't know about it before it couldn't possibly be true
(06:19) i mean they've been sitting on this story now for about two years when i first started out and there hasn't been one of them that has done any uh useful research at all anyone who takes about one hour to review some of the available evidence cannot come away without the firm conviction that there is something out there not all media have shunned ufos radio talk show host billy goodman for months devoted most of his program to the topic but goodman's show was canceled by station management his listeners suspect
(06:57) it's part of a government plot station executives say while the show was popular with listeners it wasn't popular with advertisers they canceled goodman they say as part of a format change to news and sports programming much of goodman's multi-state audience is now listening to florida-based talk host chuck harder whose for the people network is heard on 80 stations coast to coast and frequently focuses on ufo developments in southern nevada predictably ufos remain a staple of the tabloids which seem to be getting even (07:28) further out than before nazi astronauts return to earth in surprisingly good health according to nasa sources space aliens stealing our frogs they must be stopped before it's too late remember the psychic who invited aliens to land at a monday night football game they never showed up not because the eagles bears

match-up wasn't appealing but because the goodyear blimp scared them away one weekly tabloid featured a story about bob lazar the young scientist who says he worked at s-4 a secret nevada military base where the (07:58) government is allegedly tinkering with flying saucers of alien origin the article included hyped-up non-quotes and artists versions of s4 lazar has also been featured in ufo magazines this article demanded that he open up his life for scrutiny by skeptical ufo buffs other ufo magazines aren't much different from tabloids this one awards ten dollars a month to the person who can rig up the best phony ufo photo lazar's story has even made it into car and driver magazine a recent article highlighted a nevadan
(08:31) named bob who had built a stealth corvette for the ostensible purpose of penetrating groom lake to capture video of the flying saucers lazar's story also caught the attention of at least one television network nippon television of japan which set a crew to nevada to produce a special about lazar and area s4 ah you know he quite he seemed to be quite interesting guy you know he knew what he was saying it's not another fruitcake you know we just came out and wanted to tell the story so we did some backup check
(09:01) and there seemed to be some truth lee and his crew have produced 17 one-hour programs about ufos for national broadcast in japan he says he can't understand why american networks avoid the topic for the report on the tsar nippon set aside two full hours on a saturday night i don't know about here but in japan to our special and saturday evening from seven to nine it's you know it's a hell of a you know spot there there are more than a few people who consider the public fascination with ufos to be downright dangerous
(09:30) aviation writer phil class says the belief in alien beings and a government cover-up is quote potentially as dangerous as jonestown that's the jungle settlement where dozens of people willingly committed suicide a study by two psychologists concluded that persons obsessed with ufos especially cigar-shaped flying saucers or rounded discs are victims of a familiar freudian syndrome if an interest in ufos is a sign of mental aberration then count the u.
(09:59) s government as being among the disturbed bob lazar of course can recite a litany of strange things he says have happened to him tapped phones break-ins threats but even if you don't buy his story there are others who can attest to a government interest in ufo adherence terry tavernetti is the former police officer who performed polygraph tests on lazar tavernetti who has a corporate security job with a major las vegas business says that shortly after his involvement with the lazar probe was made public his employers were contacted if the (10:28) corporate offices or unemployed received a telephone call from a government agency wanting to know why i was getting involved in something that uh i shouldn't be and i asked well what agency what was said did they identify themselves and i said because i'll be more than happy to talk to him and i always refuse this information told that he didn't know meaning my boss tabernetti who still retains the tapes and printouts from lazar's polygraphs also says his home was burglarized in early january as an investigator of (11:01) over 20 years i don't believe in coincidences there's a reason for everything i mean could it have been a random residential burglary yes a las vegas man named roy byram contacted us back in november 1989 saying he had information about area 51 that he had gleaned by preparing tax returns for several people who worked at groom lake less than 24 hours after phoning us byram says he was visited by two men claiming to be secret service agents who quote just wanted to lean on me a bit journalists who've studied the field for (11:33) many years say that government interest in persons with inside information about ufos is very real a body of information about ufos in the possession of our government which is so sensitive to the people in custody of it that they will do just about anything to protect it finally there's this item a las vegas resident currently working for local government told us she previously worked for a defense contractor and was privy to numerous high-level discussions about crashed disks recovered bodies and alien technology
(12:07) she was going to provide us with some of this information but less than two weeks ago says she was visited at her home by a man identifying himself as a government agent the man said that any release of information would lead to trouble adding that our source does a lot of traveling and that quote accidents can happen the agent also mentioned that harm could come to the woman's family she has now declined to talk with us and you know gary and mary ruth people watch reports like this at home and i think some of you

(12:33) view it with interest but they view it as in the same way they're interested in a movie of the week this is not a movie of the week others uh seem to believe particularly our media critics like we're making this stuff up and we're not making it up we've spent almost a year on on this investigation and uh there's a definitely a body of information out there that deserves an investigation though but proprietors joe and pat travis have few complaints they're expanding now into a second trailer thanks to the patronage of a few
(12:59) dozen locals and a steady stream of ufo buffs drawn by reports of flying discs on the other side of the groomed mountains i i think most people that come up here come up for the enjoyment just to get away from the hassles and the city just to get out and to do something different and this is something different to do ufos have become so synonymous with rachel that a flying saucer was included on posters advertising the annual town celebration likenesses of et's adorn the walls of the bar and joe travis is even talking
(13:30) about renaming the place the ailey in yeah got an alien you know we're gonna have we're gonna will nice drinks you know like the transporter [Music] beam me up like that it may be self-serving but the travis's insist that plenty of folks actually see the flying saucers on any given night numerous headlights slice through the darkness outside area 51.
(13:56) the curious are routinely monitored by omnipresent security forces both in the desert and in the bar if there are any that are kind of acting a little bit strange i know about it and so do they you mean the people over there come over here to see if people are still coming up here oh yes oh yes if rachel was big enough to have a mayor bob lazar could probably be elected his statements about government activities inside the test range are largely responsible for the influx of visitors lazar says he was hired by the united states navy to work in an ultra-secret
(14:29) facility dubbed s-4 approximately 10 miles south of area 51. s-4 sits adjacent to the dry bed of papua's lake lazar says and is built to blend in with the desert according to lazar s4 is home to at least nine flying discs of alien origin the craft are powered by anti-matter reactors propelled by anti-gravity generators the fuel is a heavy element called 115 he says and the mission of those who work at s4 is to master and duplicate the alien technology using earth materials and know-how he believes the technology is (15:03) extraterrestrial for several reasons one because the machines do things that are beyond earth technology two because of the tell-tale small furniture inside the flying discs and three because of briefing papers he says he read at s4 there were autopsy reports i mean i didn't look completely read them because i didn't have time and as soon as i got into some interesting things i wanted to get through these really quickly because i know i didn't have much time uh basically i looked at the pictures in (15:31) them to save time and there were pictures of what dead aliens i mean how do you know they're aliens what do they look like the uh i guess the typical gray if anyone knows what that is the three and a half four foot tall uh smooth head light smooth large head uh with that they had their organs laying out or what yeah their organs some of them the organs were bisected taken apart there were drawings associated with the organs the bodies were all cut up i didn't see a picture of a live seemed like well-being barring a full
(16:08) confession by the government which seems highly unlikely it may be near impossible to prove what lazar says it's tough enough proving anything about him the schools he says he attended say they still have no records of his enrollment los alamos national lab where he says he was employed as a physicist has consistently denied that lazar ever worked there when los alamos was confronted with a 1982 lab phone book containing lazar's name officials came up with a different story they now say lazar worked briefly for a
(16:37) lab subcontractor in a non-sensitive position after numerous inquiries over several months however neither the lab nor the subcontractor have provided copies of lazar's records interviews with lazar's former co-workers confirmed that he did work on sensitive projects including sdi research involving this massive particle accelerator if so he must have had a security clearance but trying to track that down has also proved difficult even with the help of nevada congressman jim bilbray for months bill bray's office has been (17:10) playing postal patty cake with several government agencies concerning lazar's records bilbray's staff has written letter after letter to the navy cia fbi and other agencies requesting files on lazar the agencies aren't saying they have no such files they say they can't find them or are still looking the fbi the world's greatest detective agency has spent almost five months searching its own records but is still looking for lazar's file lazar insists he was investigated by the fbi not only for his los alamos clearance (17:42) but also for his work at s4 it at one time three came to the house one sat me down started talking to me while the others kind of ran around the house doing things i have a little lab in the house and they wrote down everything i was on the blackboard they wrote down any chemicals and things that i had in in the room and just kind of ran all over the place lazar says he wrote down the name of one of the agents mike thigpen the las vegas fbi office says no mike fig pen has ever worked here however an informed source at the fbi

(18:12) says thigpen was here for a period that he worked for a separate division of the bureau came in did a job and left what that job was the source didn't know lazar is as much to blame as anyone for the difficulties in proving his story he is admittedly careless when it comes to paperwork like some absent-minded professor when his first wife died more than five years ago he says he walked away from everything a house full of furniture pictures papers in addition he's done things in his life that do not help his (18:42) credibility for a time he designed and raced incredibly powerful jet cars he hung out with rock stars and helped produce record albums and he and his first wife had an interest in a legal brothel that interest eventually led to some work he did for a small bordello in a residential las vegas neighborhood when you add it all up lazar says he's an easy target to discredit there's a tremendous amount of you know odd things that i've been involved with over the time just because i have a wide variety of interests a lot of it
(19:13) can be misconstrued and you know taken out of context and i'm sure it can be used to make me look look pretty bad and you know there again maybe that's one of the reasons uh they looked at before hiring me i'm an easy person to hammer into the ground you know you can take any one of a million things most people lazar says have been very supportive of his decision to come forward and then there's the ufo community lazar's testimony hit the ufo field like a tidal wave for instance this is an international (19:42) computer network called paranet more than 20 000 people from all over the world are hooked into the system and bob lazar is one of their favorite topics they share information about his background debate his allegations and theorize about his motives and actually there was uh there was international coverage of what was going on here the very first day you know after the special was run what we're really pressing for and what we're watching for is more empirical evidence that we can that we can work with (20:13) one item that popped up on paronet is this supposedly official briefing dated february 1990 that states lazar did work on the test range but that he was never allowed inside the quote advanced systems test area this statement says lazar is merely out for media attention and that all further inquiries should be handled by nellis public affairs nellis officials told us that the briefing wasn't written by the air force and that they have no information on lazar various ufo experts have also been beating a path to las vegas to talk with (20:44) lazar dr jacques valet an astrophysicist computer scientist and author wanted to find out for himself if lazar is believable he seems very credible i think that he was in the places that he described he also seemed to have concern with remembering parts of the things that went went on there uh he seemed to if you remember we asked him if he felt that his memory might have been tempered with now that is is something that i think should be of concern as we explore his story could it be that he was exposed deliberately to certain things
(21:26) uh perhaps to distract attention from from other things and but i i'm certainly of the opinion that he's not lying that he's telling the truth and that he's genuinely concerned with finding out what happened to him valet believes it is possible that lazar's memory was tampered with adding that u.
(21:45) s intelligence agencies have been experimenting with mind control techniques including drugs and brainwashing for decades lazar has stated previously that he was drugged and subjected to intense intimidation tactics valet's statements are also consistent with the results of lazar's polygraph tests my personal thoughts the pre-test interview of three and a half hours the test itself the post-test interview showed absolutely nothing to detour my thought that bob lazar was truthful unfortunately we're dealing with a subject matter here to where fear
(22:18) on behalf of mr lazar of reprisal might far exceed just the threat of losing his credibility as a scientist which would make polygraph may be totally ineffective

lazar was credible enough for the nippon tv network nippon devoted two hours of prime time to a special on lazar and ufos in march the network planned to fly lazar to japan so he could appear live following the documentary but those plans fell through when lazar received a phone call from his ex-boss at s4 the day we were supposed to go had tickets in hand even (23:00) went down and bought yen down at the currency exchange you know we got threatening phone calls i mean that that basically said she'll never make it back here so we really sat down and just thought how important really is the interview and we didn't go and frankly they don't operate like that how do they i mean what they tend to feed uh information into the system through people that they know will repeat it without questioning it bill moore is something of an expert on the government's anti-ufo tactics and
(23:30) he's clearly skeptical about lazar's story he thinks lazar may be part of a government disinformation campaign either willingly or unwittingly more suspicions have been heightened by lazar's unwillingness to open up parts of his private life to public scrutiny lazar says he doesn't care whether ufo people believe him or not and that he doesn't want to have his background picked apart even though he's done things in private that might seem strange he says he stands by his original statement the the job i had the (23:58) involvement with the you know the government cover-up that sort of thing the story isn't altered in in any way i mean that stands as fact and that's the bottom line is government disinformation for real is there an s4 is there a connection between ufos and stealth technology more on these topics tomorrow george knapp eyewitness news healthwatch station atop angel peak can pick out aircraft for 500 miles for the most part it detects commercial craft big airliners traveling at certain speeds on occasion military craft will jam the (24:30) station's sensors as part of training exercises and once in a great while the big radar will pick up signals from something strange something that apparently just hovers over the groom mountain area it mostly stays put it doesn't doesn't move in range or azimuth very much and uses a stationary code that we normally use for a test function the sightings sometimes last for up to 15 minutes barnes says it could be an advanced helicopter but he doubts it so what is it that floats above the most top secret location in the world
(25:04) finding out isn't easy the groom mountain location also known as area 51 is shut off from the world by a combination of desolation motion detectors laser sensors and a highly mobile force of large ominous security personnel men who are according to informed sources culled from the ranks of veteran green berets navy seals and police agencies and are supposedly trained by america's elite delta force so what's the big secret at area 51 it's likely there are more than one but the biggest may be the one bob lazar
(25:37) says he worked on lazar says he worked a few miles south of groom at a place called s4 and that this is where our government is trying to master at least nine flying discs of alien origin the hangers are all connected together and there are large bay doors between each one and there were nine total that i saw each one being different lazar is the first person to publicly proclaim first-hand knowledge of the s-4 saucers but stories about alien technology being tested in nevada have been whispered for years the government generally dismisses such (26:10) reports outright much as u.s senator harry reid did in this letter to a constituent and if a denial isn't enough there's always laughter such as occurred during dedication ceremonies for eg g's new facility at nellis what is it that they do over there well i've tried to tell them that that's where nick keeps the space people from vroom lake and during the week he lets them out and they do root canals for us in our hospital clinic jim goodall for one doesn't think the story is all that funny
(26:46) goodall is one of the best-known aviation writers and photographers in the world and has written what may be the definitive book on stealth technology he did it by cajoling information out of a network of aerospace and military sources goodall was skeptical about ufos in the beginning but his attitude changed during his stalking of the stealth fighter an engineer employed at lockheed aircraft's so-called skunk works operation which tests many of its advanced machines at area 51 told goodall that the ufo stories are
(27:17) true he looked at me says absolutely positively without a doubt they exist i mean it sort of it sort of startled me and i said i said what do you mean he says well we have stuff in the nevada desert that would make george lucas envious goodall pursued it further a civilian who worked on various projects at groom lake over a

10-year period had much the same story he sort of hemmed in hard and he sort of stepped back and said we have stuff out there that that anything in essence anything you've seen on star trek this is really before
(27:51) star wars came out it's anything you've seen captain kirk do or what he what he has so we far exceed his capability but does this mean the technology is extraterrestrial goodall put that question to a third source a master sergeant who says he did three tours of duty at groom so the united states government and the military has things that are out there you can't describe them as airplanes that are literally out of this world they are any any emphasis out of this world he says and they're alien to anything
(28:20) that you've ever seen he says and i i try to press him for some more and he says he says i can't comment i've gone much farther than i should have already in addition to goodall's research there is at least circumstantial confirmation for some parts of bob lazar's account for one thing there really is a place called s4 on the nellis range that according to nellis public affairs captain jeff milkey milky told us the military operates certain equipment at s4 but he wouldn't say exactly where it's (28:50) located or what equipment is tested there lazar says he and other personnel would muster at eg g and would then be flown to groom lake aboard planes much like these photographed outside eg and g's nellis facility once at groom lake lazar says he would ride a bus down a long dirt road to s-4 adjacent to papua's lake the latest maps of that area show a long dirt road leading from groom to papua's what the map doesn't show is the type of activity underway at papua's if there really are flying saucers there
(29:22) it's conceivable that some of the technology may have found its way into earth contraptions for instance the stealth there are more than a few similarities between stealth technology and some characteristics ascribed to ufos which is why some people suspect that both types of vehicles have been nurtured and tested in the same corner of the nevada desert there is no question that stealth has been put through its paces in and around the nellis range in area 51 if there's any person outside the government who might also know about the (29:51) testing of ufos or a connection to stealth it's this man ben rich the brains behind such aviation marvels as the u-2 the sr-71 blackbird and the stealth fighter rich is the longtime boss of the skunk works lockheed's advanced systems division when asked about a possible link between stealth and aliens he didn't bat an eye some people say it's alien technology no it isn't it's just good american ingenuity they take a lot of hard lots of good people working together and then the cooperation of the air force we couldn't (30:24) have done it with the cooperation air force they kept the minimum amount of people knowledgeable about it and we did it in the black but this denial doesn't tell the whole story when it comes to ben rich and ufos rich has confided to close associates that he is a quote believer this letter from rich to a longtime friend confirms this belief a follow-up letter from the friend asked for a clarification whether rich might be talking about man-made or extraterrestrial ufos rich responded saying he believes in (30:53) both but added there are kooks and charlatans associated with each category jim goodall who has known ben rich for 15 years admits that he too has seen the letters and thinks rich is sending us all a pretty strong hint if anyone outside of the select group of people within the military department of defense who would know about alien spacecraft the hardware portion of it if anyone in the world would know about it it would be that gentleman was president jimmy carter also privy to information about ufos on the nellis
(31:24) range that's what this alleged presidential briefing document suggests the so-called aquarius document was obtained in 1983 by journalist bill moore moore says government agents allowed him to photograph aquarius in a hotel room but the photos aren't that clear and neither are photo static copies a retyped version of the alleged presidential paper purports that the u.
(31:45) s military has been in contact with aliens since 1964 and that an effort to test fly alien aircraft has been underway in a misspelled nevada since 1972 under the code named project snowbird bill moore says even he isn't convinced that snowbird is real and even if it is it doesn't mean saucers are flying at groom or papua's lakes in order to divert the attention away from what's really going on up there it might serve the purposes of those responsible for diverting attention to spread stories about ufos and alien (32:17) technology in that area if someone really did try to divert attention away from groom lake by spreading ufo stories they made a big mistake just ask any of the city folk who routinely drive up to sit outside the base and watch more importantly moore's suggestion that someone official might be spreading false information about ufos must seem supremely ironic in certain circles that's because more is considered by some to be the reigning expert on disinformation at a 1989 ufo convention moore admitted he participated in a (32:48) scheme to feed bogus information to a fellow ufo researcher with moore's acquiescence government agents convinced a researcher that space aliens had built a secret underground base at dulce new mexico moore says he has a good reason for allowing a fellow researcher to be bamboozled my involvement was only with the motive of learning how the process worked who is involved with it and ultimately if i could what was behind it why is the government doing this kind of thing i never did quite learn why but i did learn who and i learned a

(33:29) great deal about how many people in the ufo field aren't buying it they say moore was taken in by his own government sources ufo magazine called moore's actions malevolent more counters he did ufology a favor by proving once and for all the government really is spreading disinformation in essence what i was doing was rubbing the noses of the ufo community in what's going on all around them all the time and saying hey fellas wake up you're being had you're being used and you better be aware of it
(34:01) because it's it's gotten to the point where it's beginning to influence what people think about this subject well a lot of them didn't like that a lot of them didn't like it in spades what does this say about the validity of the snowbird document lee graham would certainly like to know graham is a california aerospace worker who forwarded snowbird to the u.
(34:20) s government to find out if it's real what he got instead was an ongoing investigation of his own ufo activities one of the agents sent in to check graham out is a mike majowicz who according to documents filed with the justice department told graham that snowbird was not only real but had been declassified if it's declassified graham says why is he still under investigation the pentagon won't tell him nor would it tell us and we were not allowed to talk to mike madgeowetz but is snowbird real hasn't been declassified
(34:50) dale hartig a media liaison for the pentagon told us he didn't know and he had no idea where to go to find out if all of this seems complicated and confusing then welcome to the world of government disinformation and there's a lot more where this came from well sometimes uh when you deceive the public you're protecting the public uh and i certainly would protect the public and deception operations if it was for their own good is the so-called falcon another source of disinformation or is he for real more on that tomorrow
(35:24) george knapp eyewitness news 8 1889 was the taping of a conversation that allegedly took place between space shuttle pilot john blaha and nasa concerning an alien spacecraft houston uh this is discovery we still have the alien spacecraft under observance was this actually the voice of blah talking about a ufo people wondered voice comparisons were made to find out houston uh this is discovery we still have the alien spacecraft under observance it's a shame we can't be here all the time with a permanent
(35:58) manned space station we ought to get in that direction the man largely responsible for publicizing the alleged blah tape was bob exler a former nasa mission specialist but that was 1989 this year exler says it was all a hoax and the government did it there's a an experimental transmission facility by the air force in the geographic location of the origin of the transmission the national security agency is located within that area it's a hoax of unknown origin but this there's room for speculation it just (36:30) is too good a hoax for someone to just contrive and come up with exler and others suspect that distortion and disinformation are the government's primary tools for dealing with the ufo topic journalist bill moore can recite a long list of examples of how the government has spoon-fed bogus ufo information to gullible researchers moore admits he even played a role in one such scheme moore alleges the official lying dates back to the 1940s when the air force began studying ufo cases 80 percent remained unexplained (37:02) in 1949 yet they were telling the public at that time in public press releases dated the same month that only 10 percent remained unexplained flat out lied to the press at the time the press couldn't say is a different but now 40 years later with freedom of information and access to that document it's clear they lied to the press why did they do that and all the way through you can trace a deliberate

pattern of disinformation deception uh the laughter curtain the ridicule the debunking uh the ufo bashers that (37:44) came out and come out there's still a few of them around and say that anybody involved with ufos is a crackpot anyone who knows ufos knows the brilliant but arrogant bill moore his fingerprints are all over the foremost cases and questions in ufology he and stan friedman are primarily responsible for painstakingly documenting the roswell incident the apparent crash of a ufo in new mexico in 1947 which is perhaps the best documented ufo case of all the so-called mj-12 documents which allege that a secret panel of scientists
(38:17) and military men are in control of a ufo cover-up first surfaced in an anonymous mailing to moore's close friend film producer jamie chanderay the ufo community is deeply divided over the legitimacy of the mj-12 papers even more controversial though is moore's reliance on an informed source code named falcon the entire historical aspects from from day one from the uh first sighting in your mount we're here and to uh recently i think within the last five years is contained in uh a large book that we refer in (38:53) within the intelligence community as a bible can you give me a physical description of these aliens the creature about uh three foot four to three foot eight inches tall their eyes are extremely large almost insect the style uh their eyes have a couple of different inner lids and that's probably because they were born on a planet that had a son or a binary son the uh the days were extremely bright they had no teeth as we know it they have a hard gum-like uh area uh internal organs are quite simple they have a a one organ
(39:33) which encompasses what we would refer to as a heart heart and lungs it's one pulmonary sac their brain is more complex than ours has a several different lobes in ours have uh your hearing is quite better than ours almost better than the dogs small areas uh the side of their heads and uh their sexual organs are they have males and females and if the female has the sexual organs similar to ours similar to our our females that don't require very much liquid they transfer all the the food that they eat into into and the liquids they extract the (40:16) liquid the body extracts the liquids out of the of the food so don't require a lot of liquids but they have been able to eat uh some basic food products vegetables and fruits uh that we would eat but i i believe they're they have problems digesting uh meat products our bee products and i don't believe that they eat meat on their planet falcon is one of a dozen alleged intelligence operatives who've been funneling information to moore and chanduray the other sources have also been assigned bird-like
(40:46) code names including condor and hawk falcon in particular has vocalized support for many of the same ufo positions defended by moore namely the existence of mj-12 the legitimacy of the aquarius document which alleges that flying saucers are being tested in nevada and the reported plot to withhold ufo information from the public moore and chanduray have for the first time produced a videotape for mass distribution sort of falcon's greatest hits our job in the field was to investigate sightings uh landings or contacts with ufos or (41:24) ufos extraterrestrials in a way that we wouldn't draw attention to the public so we had to do our investigation through covert means and that's why we were disguised uh are undercover of military or other federal agencies when we are investigating these ufo sightings we run it just like we were doing an intelligence operation we would solicit either winning or unwittingly we recruit these people just as an intelligence officer would recruit an agent to foreign country to provide us information on these sightings we've used
(42:03) uh newspaper uh personnel uh willingly and unwittingly and we've used uh scientists or we have posed to scientists well sometimes uh when you deceive the public you're protecting the public uh and i certainly would protect the public in deception operations if it was for their own good but uh some aspects of this ufo uh investigations that have occurred over the years have no reason to be helped with health from the public the general knowledge that that there were aliens that landed on earth back in the early 50s my 40s early 50s
(42:45) and that we have had some type of communications with them since moore and chanduray say they have independent confirmation that falcon is or was an intelligence operative but even some of moore's closest contemporaries have reservations about the material this whole business about condor and falcon and guys putting out documents with false statements in them i've seen some and i've tried to stay away from it i try to work with something i can get my mids into i'm convinced for example that falcon

(43:14) and condor the alleged agents who spoke on the ufo cover-up live program in october 1988 were embroidering a lot of the information they gave out i'm absolutely convinced that some of that was disinformation but the important thing is that they are confirming that there has been contact contact has has been established moore's ufo enemies are less complementary they think falcon and condor are trying to use them as pigeons there's a widespread assumption that falcon is a former air force intelligence officer
(43:44) named richard c doty who is infamous in ufo circles for gleefully misleading researchers some have alleged that moore is either an agent himself or is at least on the disinformation payroll still others say more is just out to make money whether on falcon tapes or mj12 documents if if i were out to get rich to make money on this thing i'd have done that five years ago when we got the mj 12 doctor that's sold in the national enquirer in fact they wanted to buy them i wouldn't sell them i had two publishers approach me
(44:16) want to do the story i turned them down we don't know about this stuff until we know something about this material there isn't a story here so it's not money what i'm out to do is find out what the bottom line is and how it will influence man's future i think it's high time somebody rubbed the human race's nose in its own excrement and said hey folks to an alien this is what you look like this is what you're doing to your planet as difficult as it may sound to us are so far advanced
(44:51) and that they can't uh communicate with us like we could communicate with each other on this planet and i believe it's uh partly because of uh them being scared scared of us as a different type of creature if there are aliens it's no wonder they're scared of us considering how some humans have reacted to the prospect of their presence tomorrow a look at how ufos have become convenient vehicles for conspiracy buffs and right-wing zealots george knapp eyewitness news eight ufo picture almost from the beginning
(45:22) con men have used the subject for their own ends many times lately though there's a new twist some ufo believers are using the e.t phenomena as a means of whipping up public hysteria they wrap themselves in the american flag mix in a little old-time religion and laugh all the way to the bank as we'll see in tonight's report some scientists believe there is a real body of data concerning ufos the question is how will that data be used there are people who must have people in washington and elsewhere
(45:51) must have a building full of data that i think the scientific community should have data that comes from radar from sensors on earth from sensors in the ocean and from sensors in space those sensors have been deployed for other reasons for reconnaissance for intelligence for guidance for communications and so on those sensors are all over the place and they must pick up the ufo phenomena because we know the the energy constraints and the boundaries of the ufo phenomenon it has to trigger those sensors we know it does
(46:24) so somebody has all that data jacques valet is something of an anomaly a solid scientist who thinks ufos deserved to be studied valet was the real-life model for the french scientist character in the film close encounters of the third kind his books were among the first in the field to express concern that intelligence agencies might be spying on ufo groups he was also among the first to notice that some of those who were preaching the ufo gospel were pursuing their own political agendas using flying saucers to attract
(46:53) attention to other causes one explanation is that it's simply there are people in society who have extreme beliefs of one kind or another and that they gravitate towards extreme beliefs about ufos and aliens and and bases in you know on earth and so on just as well as in politics they gravitate to extreme beliefs today's et extremists out tabloid the tabloids these aliens aren't merely here to rape our women or steal our frogs they want it all it's just that instead of the illuminati the trilateralists the bilderbergers the (47:30) rothschilds the world bankers and on and on and on being a in a plot to take over the planet and and enslave the world and make a fortune in the process now it's the aliens who are overseeing the whole process and they're doing it the most vocal of today's cosmic doomsayers is bill cooper a former navy petty officer who says he read and copied top secret military documents which outline an incredibly complex plot involving international bankers industrialists politicians drug cartels the cia and of course the aliens cooper's first (48:05) televised unveiling of this grand conspiracy came in a 1989 appearance with john lear on the talk program on the record we are in possession of uh alien technology which we have actually in effect traded human lives and property for there is a formal treaty which is illegal under the constitution with this alien nation everything about it is illegal and to tell you the truth and my estimation just stinks rotten like john after this mufan conference is over i think i'm going to get out of this tube but he didn't get out of it instead (48:43) he jumped into it with both feet cooper soon became the featured speaker at ufo lectures all over the west a january 1989 appearance at the showboat hotel in las vegas drew 700 people at 10 ahead or 15 at the door this promotional material proclaimed petty officer cooper to be the nation's foremost expert on ufos who's responsible for this designation it seems that people in listening to what i have to say and what others have to say have made their own determination on that fact never at any point have i ever made such (49:16) a statement as the audiences grew so did the story cooper's thesis titled the secret government grew from a modest five pages in january 1989 to a much heftier 28 pages by may of 1989. in the earlier version cooper pledged that this was it there would be no additions or corrections he swore part of the statement i swear that this information is true all true two weeks later he changed the story and swore that was true then he changed it again and swore that was true then he started suddenly assimilating information which he got from other

(49:56) researchers and other individuals and incorporating that into his story and claiming that it was part of the material that he had seen in 1972 according to the cooper scenario humans have had a base on the moon since the 1950s and other on mars since the 1960s we've recovered dozens of crashed discs and scores of alien bodies the aliens are here to use us for food and genetic experiments including mass sterilization which is why we must hang on to our guns and oppose birth control george bush is in on it so is henry
(50:27) kissinger the vatican and most of the nation's leading scientists john kennedy was assassinated because he was going to blow the whistle on the drugs and saucers connections bill moore stan friedman phillip class john lear bob lazar and anyone else who questions cooper's credibility have been written off as agents of mj-12 and thus part of the plot so what's the motive get rich quick where he's making thousands and thousands of dollars going around the country he was in atlanta last week and charged fifty dollars a plate for (50:59) people have dinner with him so they could ask him questions you know the man is in my opinion based on the research that i've done about him and i don't mind saying this on camera let him sue if he wants to challenge i'd love to have him in court in my opinion he's a total phony total phony well let me ask you how much money do you make in what you do and how much do you expect to make i don't think it's anybody's business but my own cooper insists his information came from reports he read in 1972
(51:28) moore points out some of the documents included in cooper's thesis contain entries from 1974 75 and beyond and thus couldn't have been read by anyone in 72. when i first met him a couple years ago he said he could vouch for 50 percent of what i was saying since then bill apparently can vouch for 150 of what i'm saying john lear was instrumental in bringing cooper out of the ufo closet but even lear now questions cooper's claims in 1988 lear helped an acquaintance compile and write a ufo paper under a pseudonym o h krill the name is (52:06) an inside ufo joke krill is supposedly the name of the first alien to communicate with humans the o-h was just picked out of thin air but later during an interview program lear says cooper stated otherwise just out of the corner of my ear i heard cooper talking about o.h krill and god i turned beat red and i grabbed him and i walked into the living room i said what are you doing and he said about what i said all age krill is a joke we invented that for some papers no no i saw that in the navy i said that's impossible bill
(52:40) you couldn't have possibly seen that in the navy we came up with that last year so that's that's one cooper's paper states that the basics of his story have been independently verified by two sources one of whom is tony pelham reporter for the now defunct las vegas bullet newspaper i personally believe that bill cooper is a complete fraud and that he's read a lot of ufo books and he took advantage of charging 10 and 15 dollars a person to give some lectures which a lot of people will pay to listen to (53:10) pelham says he found bits and pieces of cooper's background that checked out but there was no confirmation of the big stuff for instance cooper's copy of the 1972 documents now cooper explained to me that his set of documents he had stored while he was living in california in a garage storage area behind his home and he said a mysterious fire destroyed him and as a reporter at the time i said well fine

just simply give me the location and the date the address and i'll verify with the fire department the (53:40) fire and he became angry and said no i don't want to get anybody and i said well how could this hurt anyone for me to verify the date and place of a fire cooper insists his stories are true those who disagree he says are dupes of the secret government former associates like john lear who dare to question cooper's material receive unsettling messages on their answering machines john this is bill cooper you know i really don't know how to express my anger but i'll tell you right now i told you a long time ago anybody that (54:13) attacks me is going to get crucified and mister i've always been very very kind to you and you know it but my patience has run out i hope you have a good flight [Applause] call this a prediction but it probably won't be all that long until eyewitness news is accused of being part of the secret government conspiracy as well because of this report the tragedy in things like this is that well-meaning people who are genuinely curious about the topic are misled and frightened and any hope that the topic might be given
(54:49) more serious consideration is tossed right out the window as bill moore put it it plays right into the hands of those who really don't want the subject to be treated fairly household intelligence are perhaps the least credible aspect of the e.t phenomenon the stories are so unsettling so far outside our realm of experience that the human mind can't easily absorb them the evidence suggests beyond any doubt as far as i'm concerned that we're being visited by some kind of some form of intelligence which is
(55:17) higher than ours and some kind of technology which is higher than ours and it is able to pick up human beings at will as objects of study the way we might a lesser species to admit all of those things as possibility um as a real possibility is to be staggered so we keep it at arm's length conveniently hopkins has done more first-hand work on abduction cases than anyone he lectures all over the country has written two best-selling books on the topic created a foundation to help abductees and has interviewed and investigated
(55:47) thousands of people who claim an abduction experience there's an enormous number of people have been through this experience and who are having recurring abduction experiences i don't know how it operates on the scale i don't know how they can do it but they're doing it who are the abductees hopkins says they come from all walks of life and because so many say they were first abducted as children hopkins and others believe the victims are chosen more for genetics than anything else a university study of 225 alleged (56:15) abductees found them to be above average in intelligence self-sufficient honest and generally devoid of mental disorders is that someone there you know [Music] the movie communion like the book of the same title is based on what writer whitley strieber says are real life experiences strieber doesn't claim to understand the full story of what happened to him but he insists it is real not something he dreamed up under hypnosis the material i was talking about none of it is based on hypnotic regression i've remembered pretty much everything that's (57:06) happened to me at my cabin and most of the other people have too and most of the letters i receive are from people who have just natural memory they haven't been undergoing hypnosis either the experience described by many abductees is sometimes compared to rape hopkins once arranged for a psychologist to evaluate the case files of several alleged abductees without telling the doctor what he was looking for and when we told her that these people were reporting these abduction experiences she said well that her test showed that (57:37) there was no psychopathology present with any of these nine that would explain these accounts as some sort of psychological aberration and she said though it doesn't the uh nothing proves that they had the experiences she said if they had had these experiences these are exactly the sorts of problems you would find as with rape victims and this is a species of rape in a certain sense and then i can't talk anymore i can't feel then the anymore behind me pushes me up and starts pounding on my back pounding on my back
(58:19) what do they want what do you want from me what are you doing for me what do you want i want to go home hypnotherapist lane keck has been contacted by dozens of alleged abductees from all over the country while most proved to be wrong about their experiences keck has found two that apparently were not wrong there's certain cases that i cannot disprove and there are some who seem to remember clearly being abducted going aboard a mothership and being shown different things and of course there's no way to prove it

(58:59) but what i can say is it appears just appears that they have had this experience or believe that they have had it but hopkins says there is frequently physical evidence to substantiate these stories often the victims discover unexplained cuts scoop like scrapes or scars as if skin samples had been taken from them alleged ufo landing sites are sometimes found near the spots where abductions supposedly occur the grass is killed it is the soil is baked to a kind of rock-like hardness and we don't know what does that but (59:35) there is a circle of absolutely dead grass and absolutely rock-like soil at which will not then support life you can test it by taking a sample of it and then control soil from two feet outside the circle uh put seeds and then water them so forth you get nothing from it's as if it's been sterilized now we have something like 2000 cases like this and we cannot duplicate it in the laboratory we can't take some of the control soil put it in the microwave or heat it or do anything to it to get it to this particular degree of
(1:00:05) hardness and sterility we don't know what the energy sources are that are causing this effect but you have to say we have a phenomenon here that that absolutely requires investigation regardless of this other evidence the debate over abductions always seems to come back to the use of hypnosis and with good reason tomorrow we'll examine some of the problems associated with hypnosis and some alternative explanations for abduction experiences we'll also update the investigation of what some have called
(1:00:33) the abductee murder case george knapp eyewitness news eight a group of southern nevadans interested in ufos and alien abductions in early march the bodies of borland and her brother were found in a las vegas apartment borland had been mutilated and set on fire her murder sent shock waves through the ufo community primarily because of what borland claimed she knew she'd confided in letters to friends that she had an inside source involved with government testing of ufos in nevada the source was someone very close to her
(1:01:04) and according to the letters was very upset because of borland's involvement with a ufo contact e group the source allegedly told borland enough about area s-4 to allow her to draw sketches of the alleged ufo base when borland was killed her source was one of the first people questioned by police the source is no longer a suspect lawmen have issued a warrant for a man believed to be in hiding in california the murders are completely unrelated to ufos they say but that assurance hasn't been good enough for borland's ufo group
(1:01:34) membership is dwindled by 80 percent partially because of wild stories being circulated by some ufo lecturers i've received a lot of calls from people in the so-called ufo underground and they're just afraid they don't know what's going on they're afraid to come public um stacy kind of held it together and it's changed a lot since then suddenly up here and there's no explanation the ufo group organized by borland is one of dozens scattered around the country dedicated to exploring the alien phenomenon most
(1:02:10) members don't make claims of having had an alien contact they're merely curious jeff graf is among the curious he says he's seen numerous ufos over the years and decided to undergo hypnotic regression after discovering a scoop-like scar on his leg he says the regression revealed that as a child he'd been taken on board a spaceship it's hard to believe you know and i didn't want to really believe it myself and even after having the regressions i've still gone back and forth as to whether i truly believe it or not
(1:02:39) one reason for the reticence is that graf isn't entirely sure his hypnosis sessions were objectively conducted psychologists and others say there are many problems with regressions which is why even some abductees who've relied on the technique have doubts i think that hypnosis is an inappropriate technique to use to try to find out information about this when hypnosis was used in my case by dr donald klein and by the way i might say to everyone never let yourself be hypnotized by a ufo investigator if you want to do this
(1:03:09) go to a qualified licensed therapist only anyway i was hypnotized by him to enable me to live through the fear not to find out the facts and that's what it's good for science has come up with several explanations why people under hypnosis claim to have been abducted by aliens bad dreams wild imaginations reactions to high stress media brainwashing epilepsy and something called confabulation in which the brain just makes up what it can't recall hypnotherapist lane keck says most of the alleged abductees that he sees are (1:03:44) actually remembering some other traumatic or emotional experience one of the cases had to do with a c-section they had a fee they had seen a movie and the abduction and the probes and all of that and they reacted strongly to that and when they came in the office what it turned out to be was their own birth a traumatic experience and they had a c-section and they were lifted up and out and these memories really do stay with us one of the main problems with hypnotic regressions is the hypnotherapist but hopkins says audiences and readers

(1:04:24) have filled his head with horror stories about hypnotists who were biased untrained or who were gouging their subjects for thousands of dollars often the therapist is the source of the abduction fantasy a person under hypnosis will easily pick up what your own beliefs are and what you expect them to to say and they will lead you consciously or unconsciously they lead the witness to say certain things and i have a lot of trouble with that i think it is unethical and i think it's not going to get us to the truth
(1:04:53) but hopkins who's conducted scores of regressions couldn't agree more during his sessions he purposely tries to lead his subjects away from the abduction scenario to see if they return to it on their own but his data isn't entirely dependent on hypnosis between 20 and 30 percent of all the cases we have people remember them without hypnosis some of the most famous cases hopkins also says the concept of media brainwashing doesn't hold water because even though most americans are familiar with books and films
(1:05:24) about aliens and flying saucers the same isn't true for the rest of the world yet abductee reports from say new york are identical in detail to abductee reports from zimbabwe besides hopkins has an ace in the hole that has not been made public i've been collecting uh drawings that people have made of a notational system it would seem numbers letters whatever that they see inside ufos on a wall or a page or something and they're virtually identical they have never been published obviously they're
(1:05:56) one of my ways of being able to test the veracity of a new witness but i've had a situation once where recently where women made these drawings she had remembered what she'd seen in the ufo she'd remember under hypnosis and and partially normally made the drawings and i was so stunned i showed her a couple of other people's drawings too at that point to show it was exactly the same folks the best evidence gary the long-awaited conclusion some people get very angry about this alleged cover-up stuff they say this is
(1:06:28) america we have a right to know if it's true without realizing what they may be asking to hear tonight we examine a few additional ufo cases some intriguing video tapes and a couple of very big what ifs without a doubt the photographic evidence in this case is by far the best documented evidence i've seen in 40 years of field investigations into the ufo phenomenon the addition of the videotape tended to corroborate the photographic evidence and vice versa bob exler's reference is to a series of ufo sightings in gulf
(1:07:01) breeze florida sightings that are among the best documented in ufo history the gulf breeze incidents have been publicized on national television and in a new book the evidence dozens of color photographs of odd craft videotape of those craft photo analysis by ufo investigators and outside experts alleged ufo lending sites and polygraph and psychological tests conducted on the key witnesses in the case there are skeptics who argue that such evidence can be rigged but what's important in this case is that more than 150 people including public
(1:07:35) officials also saw the same ufos on several occasions at different locations coincidentally perhaps the reports of the ufo sightings were soon followed by the arrival of advanced military radar equipment in and around gulf breeze the military interest in the gulf breeze cases has quite an interesting phenomenon within itself they have reported at the pensacola naval air station a significant amount of radar signatures involving the ufo activity there they have deployed ready alert teams the air and sea rescue squads and
(1:08:09) helicopters have gone out on several occasions none of this means diddly to science and in a sense how can you fault the scientists the ufo phenomenon isn't like botany or zoology the objects of study don't stick around for observation they're fleeting here one minute and gone the next if anyone would bring in some little green men and they would run around on my conference table i would consider that convincing see but absent that kind of physical evidence i remain very skeptical much of the evidence that does exist
(1:08:39) is of uncertain value this videotape of objects cited over las vegas is the subject of much local speculation some say it shows ufos others think it looks like a couple of kites at least one person insinuates it's a hoax this tape obtained from nippon tv shows a ufo that seems to just disappear if it is technology it's

technology we don't have it's small wonder that even ufologists can't agree on where the alleged aliens are from or what they might want jacques valet thinks they may be from other dimensions
(1:09:09) instead of other planets but hopkins thinks the aliens are here to interbreed with humans because their species is in trouble whitley strieber says the visitors may be interested in our souls whether or not there really are alien visitors evidence does exist to show our government hasn't been entirely truthful about the topic documents have been withheld or destroyed agencies have lied about their investigations other agencies have spied on ufo groups and researchers journalist bill moore asked the fbi for
(1:09:39) his own files after a year of legal wrangling the feds released only six of the 61 pages and the six pages they did release were heavily censored stan friedman had a very similar experience bob lazar is still fighting to obtain his records this reluctance by the government to even discuss ufos became evident in our talks with an faa employee in the way of ufos i mean people wonder why we don't pick them up on radar i guess i have to say i'm not in a position to respond to that you're not supposed to talk about it
(1:10:12) that's correct behind the scenes government agencies sing a different tune this is a reproduction of a chapter from an air force textbook written for use by air force cadets it states that ufos have been around for thousands of years that most reports are from reliable witnesses that there is evidence they are of alien origin and that the topic is worthy of in-depth study when ufologists found out about the chapter it was pulled from the curriculum why i think in a nutshell that the government painted itself into a corner about ufos
(1:10:45) for very legitimate reasons 45 years ago and i think the paint's still wet they don't know what to do about it could the government have legitimate reasons for maintaining a cover-up many of the same investigators who've complained loudest about it say yes timothy good thinks alien technology now in the hands of the u.
(1:11:05) s government is so potentially important to the military that it should be withheld it was classified higher than the hydrogen bomb back in 1950 and it's still classified way way above top secret and that's perfectly valid in my opinion it's rather like the the hydrogen bomb i mean i think we're entitled to know that it's there the effects that it has on us but i don't think we're entitled to know how to build one there may be other reasons for the secrecy in 1960 nasa published a study that hypothetically pondered the effects of
(1:11:37) human contact with an alien civilization the study concluded such contact would result in anarchy the complete disintegration of human society institutions religions governments unless it was handled in a very gradual manner with the public being slowly conditioned to accept it otherwise panic if you go on the air and say the age of the world is over tomorrow we die i suppose so but i think that the government's too smart to do that i think it has to be done properly what is the proper way how does a president tell the public the
(1:12:11) government's been lying all these years that beings from beyond are really here the difficulty of such a pronouncement may itself be a reason for non-disclosure what politician in his right mind would want to get up in front of a national press conference and say my fellow americans i come to you before you tonight with an announcement of great importance despite all our denials flying saucers do in fact exist we don't really know what their intentions are we don't really know whether they're going to be friendly or
(1:12:39) not they can fly circles around the best aircraft we have in flight we are unable to duplicate any of the metals found on the several craft we have recovered nor are we able to figure out how they are propelled we do know they can paralyze anybody they want to it will take them into their craft we do not know if they represent a threat but we know that they're here and there's a damn thing we can do about it we have really nothing positive to say about that thank you good night one other note in our reports about bob lazar we told
(1:13:12) you he worked on flying saucers at an area called s4 and that federal agents have done a background investigation on him for his clearance one of those agents was named mike thigpen thigpen is not an fbi agent as we reported but according to informed sources he does work for something called the office of federal investigations which does most of the security clearance work for the test site the ofi is not listed in the phone book the department of energy spokesperson we spoke with didn't have a number for them either nor
(1:13:40) did ofi's washington office yet the ofi is real and it's here we just can't find it to confirm if a mike fig pen works there or if anyone else at ofi

might have investigated bob lazar but we're going to keep trying what about people a lot of people have been calling asking for information on all the stories a lot of people have been calling we have prepared a free handout with a lot of names and numbers and addresses where people can write for information and tapes and books and things like that (1:14:05) other material just write to us here at the station klas tv post office box 15047 or if you can't write this down the address is in the phone book and send a self-addressed stamped envelope and we will get something out to you in the mail in a couple of weeks you went into this believing that that ufos exist well i went into it wanting to know i'll say that have your feelings changed what have you come away with now after a year of working on this as you might have picked up from that that piece i think i'm a little more
(1:14:36) sympathetic to the government's position i mean some of the material that we have seen in the course of this investigation i think would be very unsettling and upsetting to the public it's like one air air force officer put it too the same air force officer who for a while was in charge of the project blue book he said our job in the air force is to identify intercept and destroy aircraft and unidentified aircraft over the united states now we can't identify these things we can't intercept them
(1:15:04) and we certainly can't destroy them so really this is a job for science not for the military i think what we can say about this is there is a body of information there is some kind of a phenomenon here that can't just be written off the government is sitting on a certain amount of information that it isn't letting us know about and i don't think the topic has been fairly treated by science or journalism it would be interesting if we could have a much larger investigation by someone else you

(00:14) [Music] [Music] there is much that appears initially to be black and white and absolute but later is revealed to be more gray than black or white bob lazar in the middle of the barren nevada desert there's a dusty unmarked road that leads to the front gate of area 51. it's protected by little more than a chain-link fence
(01:18) a boom gate and intimidating trespassing signs one would think that america's much mythicized top secret military base would be under closer guard but make no mistake they are watching beyond the gate cameras see every angle on the distant hilltop there's a white pickup truck with a tinted windshield peering down on everything below locals say the base knows every desert tortoise and jackrabbit that hops the fence others claim there are embedded sensors in the approaching road [Music] for decades nevada's area 51 air force
(02:08) facility has represented the eye of a conspiratorial hurricane that swirls around evidence that aliens and their technology exist and are hiding behind its walls books tv shows and even massive online raids have tried to glimpse beyond its stark signs warning against trespassers area 51 was created during the cold war between the us and the soviet union as a testing and development facility for aircraft including the u-2 and sr-71 blackbird reconnaissance planes although it opened in 1955 its existence was only officially acknowledged by the (03:00) cia in august 2013 four months after the cia's disclosure president obama became the first u.s president to mention area 51 publicly the secret base remained under a veil of secrecy until one day a man went public with an incredible story [Music] robert scott lazar is a cult figure in ufo ology the popular bob was once the most mystical figure in america in the eyes of many followers of the ufo phenomenon military analysts and research newspapers when he appeared in an interview with the las vegas tv station klas in may (03:47) 1989 under the pseudonym of dennis no one could have predicted that his testimony about the hitherto unknown phenomenon of the area 51 at groom lake would become a viral phenomenon and an obsession of social network activists eager for an illegal breakthrough into the military parameter there's really no way i can prove it without revealing my identity and getting myself into more trouble than i have already exactly what's going on up there well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs (04:27) that are out there of extraterrestrial origin and uh they're basically being dismantled uh some are well in various stages of of completion built from other parts and they're being test flown and uh basically just analyzed you say there's nine saucers how are those tests going uh as far as what as far as whether they're successful and and that sort of thing oh well some of them are 100 intact and operate perfectly the other ones are being taken apart i was involved mainly in propulsion in the power source (05:07) and you know basically as far as i can remember there are about half of them do operate and the other half are just been torn down uh basically to analyze the components to them where did we get these saucers how did they come into the hands of the government i haven't the slightest idea and you have to understand the information is very compartmentalized the interview had been set up at the last minute dennis whose real name is bob lazar met our news unit in front of the home of john lear put on a microphone then sent shockwaves

(05:41) through ufo circles lazar recalls what was going through his mind at the time it was a very frightening moment it was a certainly not a comfortable thing to do within days the story of the dennis interview had traveled around the world busloads of the saucer curious descended on the outskirts of area 51.
(06:00) the little town of rachel became a hub of e.t enthusiasm and the search was on for the true identity of the man in the shadows up until the very moment i was wondering whether or not this was a good thing to do and to be honest i'm still not sure it was a good idea when lozara told us he was concerned about getting into more trouble than he was already in he was referring to this here's the night john larson's first flying disc two months before the dennis interview lazar began taking a few friends out to the desert
(06:31) on wednesday nights they focused their attention not on groom lake but in the direction of papoose lake which is where lazar said he worked a facility he called s4 and sure enough on each of three outings the groups witnessed a glowing disc rise above papua's even though officially there has never been a base or facility there how did he know three decades later the public is still fascinated with the story lazar unleashed i was you know very worried at the time about repercussions and of course had no idea that we would (07:05) be talking about this 30 years down the road bob lazar was born january 26th 1959 in coral gables from a young age he had an affinity for technology prior to all of his controversial claims he built a jet car that was capable of going up to 200 miles per hour clearly an innovative mind lazar claimed to have worked as a physicist at los alamos national laboratory in his 20s where he helped to work on a particle accelerator from there he was supposedly recruited to a secretive government base known as s4 near area 51 via a third party
(07:50) company this is where the controversy begins it's a sensational story that if true sheds light on government conspiracies more than 50 years old over time lazarus went from being a hero to a fraud back and forth some claim that certain people did everything in their power to silence and discredit him others say lazar played a key role in the government's attempt to seduce and distract those who've shown a little too much interest in area 51 activities lazar's job description was to reverse engineer
(08:38) extraterrestrial spacecraft he was given a collection of documents regarding the craft he was studying he recalls being stunned when on his first few days he was given a brief book that outlined extraterrestrial spaceships and bodies at s4 scientists were split into research groups based upon their area of study in regards to the craft for example bob was in a propulsion group and studied just that propulsion other researchers studied flight controls or navigation or lyft or any other matter of technologies essentially he claimed that these
(09:26) spaceships used three anti-gravity cylinders underneath the ship that could swivel in 180 degrees or 360 degree patterns depending on the direction the cylinders supposedly acted as gravity amplifiers at the top of the ship lazar recalls a reactor on the top of the ship flanked by three gravity emitters when the spaceship is powered on an anti-gravity wave is formed via the reactor amplified and then emitted from the bottom of the ship the rotation of the cylinders on the bottom then allows the ship to move in any direction
(10:07) what makes bob lazar compelling in some ways is that he's different from other conspiracy theorists who come up with outlandish claims he openly admits that he did not have access to every part of the ship and only knows what he does because he was reverse engineering the propulsion [Music] when trying to legitimize the claims made by bob lazar a few things stand out first prior to bob lazar going public with information about area 51 the public had no knowledge of the secret

testing that occurred at the base (10:44) it was his claims that brought it the attention that it receives today remarkably it's been disclosed that secret projects have been tested at the base and have led to aircraft like the stealth bomber bob even has taken groups of people to watch these tests that only a few people knew were happening second lazar claimed to have used a very unique security access system to gain access to the base his accounts describe a hand sensor that analyzes the bone density of an individual to identify them the air force disclosed that such (11:23) scanners were in use at lazar's alleged time of employment at the time of bob's initial interview there was no public knowledge of such technology the most interesting proof for the legitimacy of the claims of lazar is element 115 he talks about a core piece of the propulsion system on the craft he was studying called element 115.
(11:49) what's element 115 element 115 is a super heavy element it's something that we've only only just recently synthesized we only made four atoms of it but the craft uses larger quantities of it 223 gram little triangles of it but it's a unique element when it's exposed to radiation it produces its own gravitational field its own anti-gravitational field and it's what's used to lift and propel the craft and create distortions around it it's a it's an amazing material and it's certainly nothing that occurs
(12:25) here or naturally and it can be weaponized and that's kind of the issue here if this story is all true that can be weaponized absolutely this unknown element was in his words responsible for powering the craft and was capable of manipulating gravity he predicted its existence back in 1989 element 115 is stable and for those familiar with chemistry we know that elements with higher atomic numbers have shorter and shorter half-lives however when you reach a certain point they call it the island of stability there is a
(13:11) place and we've theorized this for a long time somewhere around 114 to 116 there should be an area in there where the nucleus of the atom is geometrically stable with protons and neutrons where it it no longer decays it's not radioactive 115 is in fact this element in fact it does occur again somewhere around element 247.
(13:37) uh of course we're nowhere near synthesizing that we can only predict things like that but that's that's where 115 is did they the aliens give us element 115 in large quantities whether or not it was given to us i i can't answer that question however i was told that we have 500 pounds by one of my co-workers uh how it was obtained and you know where exactly it came from i don't know whether it came in one of the crafts or you know with separate cargo somewhere anyone can speculate but i was i was (14:14) told that was the figure in 2003 element 115 a synthetic radioactive element was discovered by russian scientists and was added to the periodic table in 2013. no stable form of element 115 exists yet which is what he claimed powers the craft moscovium as element 115 was named after its confirmation is incredibly radioactive with a half-life of less than a second in 2019 motherboard vice's tech channel published a lengthy article about lazar it detailed that the fbi and michigan state police had raided lazar's
(15:04) scientific supply company in 2017 looking for thallium sulfate which can be used as a poison however true believers think he was rated because they were looking for element 115 reporter tim mcmillan asked lazar directly whether he had a piece of the element 115 if i had some would i reveal it to confirm my accounts absolutely not said lazar in his 1989 interview bob lazar talks about a propulsion system based on gravity an anti-matter reactor as a propellant and stratification and the information and truths he brought to light shocked the general
(15:55) public as much as the dangerous accusations of espionage and crime against the scientific community and the american public which turned the young 30-year-old science into a ridicule a conspiracy theorist and a foreign agent overnight checking out lazar's credentials proved to be a difficult task he says he earned degrees in physics and electronics but the schools we contacted say they've never heard of him he also said he worked as a physicist at los alamos national lab where he experimented with one of the world's largest particle beam
(16:30) accelerators a half-mile long behemoth capable of generating 700 million volts los alamos officials told us they had no records of a robert lazar ever working there they were either mistaken or were lying a 1982 phone book from the lab lists lazar right there among the other scientists and technicians a 1982 clipping from the los alamos newspaper profiled lazar and his interest in jet cars it too

mentioned his employment at the lab as a physicist we called los alamos again an exasperated official told us he still had no records on lazar
(17:04) eg g which is where lazar says he was interviewed for the job at s4 also has no records it's as if someone has made him disappear well they're trying to make me a non-person explain you called where well the schools that i went to the hospital that i was born at uh past job and essentially nothing comes up with my name in it he smiles but out of futility knowing the whole thing must sound ridiculous the identity of bob lazar a man whose workbook and university degree disappeared from publicly available documentation overnight
(17:44) was discovered quickly the only person who trusted him and thus persevered in providing the truth was the investigative journalist george knapp the public demanded answers so consequently lazar lost all of his privacy irretrievably and after three decades some questions had to get more concrete answers knapp was putting his entire professional career at stake and he wasn't wrong in doing so so we do this third show with lear and he hints that he knows a guy who might be going to work out of dairy 51 and knows something about alien technology
(18:27) that guy turns out to be bob lazar but lear didn't give me the name at that time a couple months later i am anchoring the five o'clock news on klas and we have a nightly or evening interview segment five minute segment live interview our guest doesn't show up and uh we're scrambling to find somebody to to fill that hole and i thought about lear so i called him up not knowing what had been going on in lazar's life or lear's life and i said hey is your uh that ufo guy you told me about his here
(18:55) around would he do an interview just turned out that bob had been through the ringer and a lot of stuff going on in his life he felt threatened and he said yes we had to block out his face we do this interview and he spills the basics of the story i worked out there at a place called s4 i saw nine flying saucers in an underground base this is technology that came from somewhere else i'm in fear for my life holy cow the phones start ringing off the hook my news director comes rushing in the station manager is that for real
(19:24) what's the deal on that and we realized we had touched the pulse of the public in a way that i didn't really understand we arranged to go meet bob lazar my news director bob stollow and i that following weekend and put him through a paces where we would ask him questions about his background and how he got the job we spent a couple hours with him and we walked out of that meeting thinking holy what if this is true um you know this is really risky for us as journalists it's risky for our personal reputations if it blows up in (19:53) our faces we do this story and it would really damage the reputation of our news organization which is klas is a jewel it's always been a leader in in las vegas one of the best tv news operations in the country we're putting a lot on the line well look we decide let's take our time let's look into this guy's story and then in order to understand lazar we'd have to look at the bigger picture of ufos so i started a cram course on ufology and i read everything and i spent eight months like
(20:22) cramming for a final exam that never happened i read everything i interviewed people that same year mufon had its its international symposium in las vegas and there all the world's ufo people came right to me i got to interview him traveled around went to los alamos lazar took us into the lab we took cameras in there he walked us around waving to people we didn't even have to stop for security took us into the the lab like uh it was a rabbit going through its own burrow he knew of the pla his way around
(20:54) we were allowed to take a camera in there we put those stories together put him on the air in november and man it just went through the roof um every night of these nine this nine part series people got uh the the audience got bigger phones ringing off the hook people calling giving us information suddenly it's on something called paranet which was uh sort of a precursor to the internet and it was huge and and um it changed my life for sure i had no idea that there were so many people out there interested in the topic (21:24) and i was hooked and i really got hooked on lazar not only because his story personally you know i was interested in him we became friends i i saw what happened to him after that live interview and in the seven and a half months before we went and i revealed his identity people really messing with them i mean there were you cannot convey what it was like how weird it was then breaking into his house leaving the windows open messing with things in his in his home breaking into his car leaving the doors and windows down just messing with his

think so and then so i had put out a call to people hey i want other people to come forward this was before his identity was revealed yes i am actively seeking information from the public if you ever worked at area 51 or s4 you know anything about this you're at nellis air force base reach out to me so i started getting calls and six people right in a row who had talked to me on the phone and offered to give me information were visited right after the call (22:27) one of them was a guy who did tax returns for people at nellis air force base and he got to know these guys really well and got information about crashes there was a guy who was a golf pro at nellis who had gone on out of road road trips with officers and told him about this weird stuff out at area 51 that seemed to be from somewhere else he gets visited and told to shut up there was a lady who worked in the court system a cop uh told me about her and i talked to her on the phone and uh she had worked at the court system but before
(22:59) she had worked for a company called holmes and narber which is a defense contractor and she said she sat in as a stenographer in these meetings and heard these conversations between the government contractors and air force officials about crashed saucers and they would after the meeting they took take the tape out of the typewriter and destroy it and take all the notes and she agreed to tell me this story it was just a tiny piece of the story the next day she's visited by these two guys in suit they tell her
(23:31) look you are still subject to your security clearance i hope you know that and then they said we know you travel to la to see your daughter and we know she comes here it's a big desert out there it'd be terrible if something happened to either one of you this lady is scared shitless she didn't make that stuff up so six people who had offered to give me information on the phone one right after another get visited and it it made me mad it also made me mad that dealing with you know trying to fill in (23:57) pieces of bob lazar's life i know there's some gaping holes i know it better than anybody i've had to deal with it for 31 years but i always thought if if he worked at los alamos in classified projects in a scientific or technical capacity then it would make sense that he could get hired into a program like s4 as somebody who thinks outside the box despite personal shortcomings or whatever they might bring somebody like him in to help him crack a problem that they hadn't been able to resolve themselves so i focused on los alamos
(24:29) i knew he had been there i talked to people who remembered him from being there but the lab kept telling me no no record of him he's never here and then i showed him well look i've got the los alamos newspaper it's a small town paper there it is on the front page a front page story bob lazar physicist maison facility los alamos lab it's a story about his jet car nope still have no records of him and and then i found his name in the phone book from the arrow when he was there he's in the lab phone book he had been
(24:58) hired by a company called kirkmeyer which is a company that's a a headhunter that fills positions at los alamos and places like that so great i'll reach out to kirk meyer they said yeah we hired him yeah we've got records can i get it can i get his employment records that would show where we went to school whatever information you guys had yes a couple weeks go by nothing a couple more weeks go by i call them again i start writing them i've got a stack of letters that thick it went on for two and a half years and finally by (25:27) the end of it they said he was never here we don't have any records that that pissed me off it made me mad and i think that that is really what got me hooked in the story um is that i was being jacked around by government and national facilities bob lazar had finally decided to go public and discontinue the numerous interpretations of his own statements my name is bob lazar i'm known for working at a classified base and reverse engineered alien spacecraft he stood in front of corbil and rogan's cameras
(26:02) once again becoming the most viral media story 30 years later where it all began in the midst of the hot surroundings of california and nevada today lazar is far more open interlocutor and he has no problem making claims that the skeptic community will automatically take to heart therefore he easily confirms the thesis he once defended quite reservedly these include the connection between the us government and secret alien technology obtained from various sources even the archaeological ones since he also connects the spacecraft that he (26:48) himself had researched to ancient excavations have you ever asked anyone that has any inkling of any idea of where they got them or how they got them no but um something must have been said to me um from barry and but i i it was just too long ago and i i can't quite remember what was said but it it just left a seat in my mind i think at least one of them was part of an archaeological dig so it's old something one at least one of them is old i don't know if it was the one i worked on but i remember something to do with an archaeological (27:29) dig whoa so that's uh that means it's not just old it's ancient while reminiscing lazar speaks exclusively about his personal experiences and avoids any interpretation of what is seen except for the professional frameworks and knowledge he possesses therefore despite its openness he retains a highly rational ground which distances him from the archetype of the average whistleblower in the ufology community lazarus story is supported by an increasing number of technological achievements that bob like nostradamus

(28:10) predicted for example he repeatedly mentioned a device for reading palm telemetry this device worked by measuring the subject's finger bones their specific positions and diameters in the hand itself he characterized these dimensions as unique for each person which makes them ideal for identification despite years of skepticism from the scientific community corbel has managed to obtain a photograph of entry control point at the nellis range a stealth test facility in nevada where the same kind of unusual biometric
(28:50) palm control device was used these small pieces of a larger mosaic give lazarus's story value and authenticity but the results of advanced reversible engineering visible to the naked eye or the public are still missing or at least still insufficiently researched classified or hidden from sight and radars in the starry skies just like the traces of lazar's schooling at mit and cal tech that is his work experience at the state research center in los alamos were erased yet despite denying his involvement in (29:33) the latter project a 1982 internal telephone directory lists robert lazar in alphabetical order alongside fellow scientists and technicians and the official los alamos monitored newsletter from the same time publishes an interview with him however as part of his research work nat also had to comb through lazar's biography he gave me uh uh information about his background educational background and employment background i started with with his claim to have worked at los alamos lab we went to los alamos and got (30:12) nothing even close to cooperation they wouldn't respond to our phone calls they say we have no information on bob lazar there's nothing in the files i said are you sure now no nothing in the files i showed them the the phone book entry that bob had kept that said he was there i showed him the newspaper article that showed that he was there basically los alamos lab tried to thwart me at every step were completely uncooperative and trying to get information about bob and i found that to be the case at every step of the (30:42) way and trying to verify his background what he concluded through numerous conversations with his friends and colleagues was the significant time he'd spent within caltech mit and los alamos implying either he was actually educated and worked there or that he devoted a tremendous amount of energy to scamming and collaborating with people who have his back with their false testimonies the ultimate question is whether the evidence of these diplomas and work experience would mean anything to skeptics improving the reversible
(31:21) engineering of extraterrestrial technology or if they would once again discover something else as a symbol of defamation his mysterious past seems to mark him as a mere conspiracy theorist yet the pentagon's recent videos of an unidentified flying object seem to fly eerily similar to his predictions even defying the wind and moving belly up when i was brought in by bus and for the first time one of the hangar doors the one on the end was open the bus drove up and we stopped there and cleared his day and the hanger taking up
(32:11) almost all the hangar was the desk looked like something right out of a science fiction movie and as i walked in there i thought well this is the new advanced aircraft we've been working on and this is why people keep seeing flying saucers because it's ours and we've just been testing it probably for all these years and what what color and size was it it was a uh dull stainless steel pewter gray very uh unimpressive color wise about 52.
(32:52) 8 feet in diameter and about 16 feet high so was it actually a recovered craft that you were working on or was it one that um scientists had built as a mock-up of a recover crowd well whether it was recovered given or what it was not built as a mock-up it was an it was an alien crap built on another world there was absolutely no doubt about that almost 20 years after he predicted element 115 became reality granted it isn't stabilized but it still exists he also predicted a hand scanner used at s4 that measured bone density to ensure (33:46) you were really you that also was apparently invented in the last few years the very essence of his public appearance is actually just providing information not convincing the general public or the scientific community of the truth of the claims themselves the man who is easy to call a fraud and far more daring to label him a whistleblower still excites the public with almost every sentence he utters during his appearances each of his claims is reviewed each drawing analyzed in each interview rewound and compared (34:30) and those who have known him longest trust him the most but the question above all others does not lie in what it would be like if all this were a fantasy of a charlatan but what if this man was telling the truth the entire time in 2020 the new york times reported that the unidentified aerial phenomenon task force which had been set up to investigate unidentified flying objects and was thought to have been disbanded was still alive and well under the auspices of the office of naval intelligence ladies and gentlemen if you will look (35:16) right here just when you thought 2020 couldn't get any more bizarre the pentagon declassifying three videos of what they're calling unexplained aerial phenomena two videos showing objects spotted by navy fighter pilots during training flights in 2015. [Music] and this one from 2004 showing an object about 40 feet long hovering about 50 feet above the water the newspaper added that luis elizondo who was the director of the task force until he resigned in 2017 believed that objects of undetermined origin had been retrieved for study by (36:02) the pentagon according to elizondo one goal of the project was to determine the physics of ufos how they can achieve the seemingly impossible so let me just ask you point blank the question do you believe that that life from somewhere else while you ran this program came here visited observed i will tell you unequivocally that that through the observation scientific methodologies that were applied to to look at this phenomena that these aircraft will call them aircraft are displaying characteristics that are not

(36:42) currently within the u.s inventory nor in any foreign inventory that that we are aware of so i know you're using you're being clear but i mean the answer is yes my personal i can't speak on behalf of the government obviously i'm not in the u.s government anymore my personal belief is that uh there is very compelling evidence that we uh we may not be alone whatever that means the military came to believe the craft relied on special meta materials stuff that can't be made with known technology
(37:20) lazar made similar claims decades ago and was ridiculed now the pentagon is on the same page the study of ufos did not end in 1969 with project blue book that was a lie and it was an admitted lie by the pentagon we're living in a world where it is understood that there are craft technologically advanced from an unknown origin that are performing maneuvers that far exceed human technology it's been going on a long time and the government has been studying it [Music] so does that mean lazar was right all along
(38:05) some people think so so he generally avoids the topic altogether oh you just you want some of the fame but the fame you know there's no big dump truck dropping money off at my house every thursday night there's no i'm not out for any fame i really have better things to do generally people have to twist my arm to come out and do things like that as you know you're the arm twister those who around him at the time the story broke or took the trips into the desert to see the craft fly above s4 say you really had to be there
(38:38) there's a mufon that calls me every once in a while and he says we don't still believe that guy do you and i say i lived it it the whole two years it was fantastic it was one of the greatest times of my life he wouldn't go through the trouble to make up a story to lie to people and then perpetuate that lie bob has no idea who won the super bowl of the world series last year do you i mean he's busy doing scientific stuff in the bob lazar world he he wouldn't waste his time perpetrating a lie on anyone look i know (39:13) what happened is true there's no doubt period we can't prove a negative maybe bob lazar really did work at a secret government facility in nevada reverse engineering secret extraterrestrial technology maybe the government has undertaken a vast conspiracy to discredit him by erasing his educational records maybe he's an unfortunate genius caught up in the greatest scandal in all of human history uh 1989 bob lazar pops onto the scene and uh and you wanted to meet him you did meet him yeah we hung out we we (39:56) would go out today yeah and just uh bs for hours we'd go up to rachel go out in the desert right um a lot has been written about you and bob your relationship you went into business for a while how you've sort of uh you find him to be a fraud he made it all up you parted ways it was acrimonious can you uh talk about that a little bit i never i never viewed uh bob as as being a fraud uh as to you know area 51 and all of that i spent quite a bit of i spent a certain amount of time in conversations with him (40:34) we put a a little bitty uh business together and tried to do something for about four months in that business and so um there i had opportunities to test him like you would like anybody would you know and and see if he repeated the same thing and and and stuck to his stories and and or what kinds of things could i find that were not legitimate and i didn't find much uh i don't i wouldn't say it was zero but i didn't find much that i could say oh no this guy is is is absolutely off uh you know in in what he's telling me is (41:17) is the truth and uh so i wouldn't say that that um that he had not experienced a lot of the things he claims that he has you think he did i think the odds i would look at in terms of odds this is las vegas right so i would say the odds are bob lazar has for the most part on everything he has said it has been telling the truth those are the odds and i would say if you're betting against that you're betting against substantial odds and that the chances are you're going to lose if you if you think that he's been lying (41:53) the chances are you're going to lose one of the tests you did was to see if he was motivated by money and what you've told me is that you didn't think he was i i tempted him i you know i in different ways i can remember in a conversation that we had and he probably isn't even aware uh that i did that but i i offered him money if uh i forget the circumstances now but it didn't tempt him at all and and so i thought well either he's awful goddamn peculiar you know or there's something legitimate going on (42:25) here some people are willing to go to great lengths for the sake of fame or money but the fact is bob lazar didn't earn a single cent thanks to his story nor did he consent to interviews by going public he was aware that he was putting his own career and privacy at stake for the greater social interest whether you want to believe bob lazar or not is up to you thank you for watching and hit the like button if you enjoyed this video we really hope you subscribe and if you'd like to be notified of future releases just hit the bell button leave

Transcript:
(00:02) beyond groom lake is papoose lake or area s4 [Music] jet car builder bob lazar claims this is home to a flying saucer base lazar also claims he is a former employee of the los alamos national laboratory birthplace of the atomic bomb he maintains he was hired as an engineer on a top secret project i was under the impression i was going to be working on an advanced propulsion system which was right up my alley and i was very excited about it and i was i was lit to believe it was going to be some sort of field propulsion system which in fact it was
(00:38) but i had no idea of the implications of what they were talking about lazar says he was flown from las vegas to groom lake put on a bus and driven to area s4 papoose lake we drove up the hangar door was open and there was a flying saucer i got out was led purposely through it and i was told to keep my eyes forward and walk straight and it was kind of a mental torture because there's a fantastically interesting thing here but i was under the impression that this was something that we had developed and in fact
(01:19) i remember even laughing to myself that this answers all the ridiculous ufo sightings we have been making these things all along test flying them and everyone's been thinking they're flying saucers from another planet and i thought wow this is this is great in fact they even had a little american flag stuck on the side of it which i thought was a nice touch but lazar came to believe that the saucer was of alien origin it was still some time later that i was actually let inside it and it became extremely obvious

(01:48) that this was something we didn't make because only then after seeing how small everything was inside that it was obviously never made to hold a human [Music] and they basically came clean with what we're doing is back engineering this because we want to find out how it was made and that pretty much says it wasn't made here [Music] the disc itself was in three levels the upper level which i never got to go on the middle one where you enter and then there's a lower one where the gravity amplifiers hang down and you can have
(02:25) access to the bottom part of the craft it's a very eerie feeling to be in there there are no obvious control panels or switches the only things sticking up out of the ground were three chairs uh the reactor itself and the actual gravity amplifiers and underneath them were the other components to the propulsion system but that's about all that was in there bob lazar's story has been investigated by a reporter at the local tv station first place of what some have called the cosmic watergate there had been stories
(03:02) about dreamland floating around in nevada for a number of years little bits and pieces in the newspaper references to secret programs occasionally a reference to alien technology there have been some of those same kind of references in ufological circles people saying there's a secret base in nevada you better check this kind of a thing out uh it wasn't until about 1987 i started digging into some of these things in 1989 i met robert lazar and uh and the story he told me was an incredible one by any standards i thought that if in (03:33) fact any of this stuff checks out it may be the biggest story in history does lazar's story check out do any records of lazar's past employment exist for myself and the tv station that the key to his credibility the key to his story was always los alamos because if he worked at los alamos if he worked in classified projects it is at least conceivable that he would have been brought to nevada to work in other classified projects as a test on his uh veracity we wanted to go to los alamos and and have him
(04:06) show us around he said i can get you in but yeah we'll believe this when we see it so we were there on a weekend fewer people are in the lab and and bob in fact did take us in and it was like following him through this labyrinth of different labs and facilities and he knew his way around like like a rabbit in its own borough he knew where everything was and and uh and that impressed me because how would he know if he hadn't been there los alamos was uncooperative from the first day years and years went by and i still (04:35) couldn't get any confirmation from them that bob had ever worked there it makes no sense they'd have no records on someone who worked there just a few years before but that's what they were telling me now i had interviewed other people that work with bob there who say that he was an employee he was a physicist and he worked in classified projects if that were the case where are the records because to this day we still can't find them what this tells me is that someone has tried to wipe out bob's background so
(05:03) that fewer people will give him any credibility lazar claims his first few days at the secret base were spent under guard reading briefing documents according to lazar these documents possess detailed knowledge of aliens and made clear that the spacecraft was not a recent acquisition it it seemed like they had been working on it for at least a couple years but it could have been 20 for all i know each group would work on a very specific part of the craft for instance there was a group working on the metal energy of the craft our (05:47) group and as a group i mean too we had the specific job of dealing with the power and propulsion system of the craft once when i went in the hangar all the bay doors were open all the way down and you can see that there were other crafts in there and they were all completely different you know i was told that all the power sources and propulsion systems were identical in them [Music] as far as how many of them were operational i only know the one that i worked on was operational the rest of them for for all i know could have been
(06:25) cardboard mockups so i really can't even comment on one of the craft looked like it had been stood up on end and a projectile fired through it so i would imagine some of these crafts were non-functional there were nine flying saucers or flying discs altogether george knapp persuaded his tv station to put bob lazar through a polygraph or lie detector test did you knowingly lie when you said you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation four separate tests were performed by two different investigators the results

language if you will there was tremendously positive eye contact there was no fidgeting around and he never deviated we covered it several different ways i asked the same question several different ways and his answers were always the same hooking up going through the test then started the emotional rollercoaster that i experienced that night and it's something that (07:53) i can honestly say has changed my whole outlook on things we started the first test and it went exactly the way i thought it might he was not doing well he was reacting to the relevant questions more than he was to the control type of questions which is indicative of a person who is deceptive because it's showing an emotion that he does not feel comfortable with his answers these questions bother him it was basically have you ever observed a saucer-shaped craft fly out at area 51 and that was asked i think two or three different
(08:32) times the second chart we ran was on another question dealing with the gravity amplifier or an antimatter reactor is part of the powertrain about halfway through that test i'm looking down and all of a sudden the realization sets in that i'm looking at a probable truthful result and i'm getting chills right now talking about it because that's what i got on every chart that i did the one relevant question that was the same with every test was the last one have you deliberately lied to any question
(09:09) concerning the ufo information you've given me and his answer of no was indicated as being truthful on the charts so whatever he told me that night bob lazar truly believes to be the truth bob lazar appeared to be truthful when he described how the craft's reactor functioned we weren't precisely sure how everything worked but we had a rough idea it was a field propulsion system it was something you really couldn't sense but would lift the craft field propulsion can be demonstrated with two magnets
(09:48) set one way the magnets poles will attract set the other way the magnets will repel each other lazar says that the craft used gravity waves to repel and attract through space using earthly materials and state-of-the-art technology we could not possibly duplicate one of these systems not even close what we're seeing was a a total annihilation reactor a reactor that reacted matter in any matter which is something we really haven't even touched on we know this is possible we know we have fission reactors we're (10:35) currently trying to develop fusion reactors that produce energy like the sun does but uh we haven't even thought about working on animator reactors which is a 100 percent efficient and here was a working model of it not just working model of it but it was small it was something that a person could lift and work looking at something that you can hold in your hand and puts out more power than our full-size nuclear power plants so this wasn't just a little bit advanced from our technology this was this was something big (11:10) did bob lazar work at area 51 there is no hard evidence is bob lazar a qualified scientist is what he says in interviews accurate an investigation by one man tom mahood an engineer from california found flaw after flaw in lazar statements but at first even he found lazar convincing about three years ago i um hooked up with the internet i started exploring and i came across bob lazar's story and i really found it fascinating he the way he told his story seemed to ring of truth and there were a lot of little details that he uh
(11:52) had on his stories that i found just utterly fascinating kind of captivated me there was a couple times i woke up in the middle of the night disturbed i mean i really believed that story it seemed that credible to me uh first thing that started kicking things off for me was that i don't live that far from caltech and lazar claimed as part of the story that he had attended caltech and had had his records erased i thought well this is an interesting possibility for me to look into it and see if i could find any trace of lazar
(12:21) at caltech and i thought the easiest thing to do to check on him was just to go through all the caltech annuals for about a ten year period and i literally went through every page looking for a picture or reference to bob lazar now it could be that he might be erased from the school records but it's unlikely somebody's actually going to come in and replace a college yearbook so i went through it and didn't turn anything up and at that point i'm starting to think well maybe he does have a degree in physics
(12:49) but if for some reason he doesn't want people to know where it's from and then he's just concocted a cal tech story lazar claims a university education but gives no hard evidence bob wouldn't be the first person in the history to lie about his education in order to get a job but the only records that he went to school anywhere is one electronics course at a junior college and it doesn't make sense that someone with that level of education would get hired to work at the places where he worked fairchild industries (13:21) in a highly technical position and later los alamos in a highly technical position he had to get educated somewhere if you've been to his house if you see what he does with computers you know he's a as an intelligent and educated man where did that education come from i look at for example mit and although bob can't come up with any names of professors he can't come up with any names of students i asked myself would a school could a school like mit wipe out his records well i don't know i mean they get tens of (13:47) millions of dollars a year in defense contracts they've worked with the cia in the past on this very ufo question could they do it would they do it i think it's possible lazar says he was fired from area 51 after making a blatant breach of security the craft that i worked on was tested quite often most of the tests occurred on wednesday nights they were never taken out of the atmosphere they're barely taken over the mountain range you have to look at the fact that this was their prized possession that they were just learning

(14:21) how to use and they weren't about to lose it [Music] i had the timetables for the specific testing dates and times and i did bring some friends on a specific day where i wouldn't be working and they got to view some of the tests for themselves it's just sitting there lazar claims they saw a brilliant light an alien spacecraft that was moving through the sky in directions and angles beyond the performance of conventional aircraft coming toward us molly my heart is pounding look at that is that beautiful
(15:11) is it now we weren't in the base we were still 10 miles away from it but even out at that far there was still a reasonable amount of security and we were able to see quite a few things and as time went on we became lacks and eventually got caught the day after i was caught i was supposed to show up for work however they had me debriefed at an air force base north of las vegas that's where a lot of the friction began between myself and the people there they pointed weapons at me yelling in my face at a close distance and they were as
(15:52) angry as you could be without hurting someone they threatened my life at the time they threatened my wife's life past employment records places i've been placed at work people i had worked with all this information began to disappear and i actually began to be concerned that perhaps they were going to do the same to me i thought it became necessary to see one of the people on a local news station because i thought if it went on the news they couldn't make me completely disappear it would look very suspicious of all of a sudden this
(16:27) person you know released these claims and then he disappeared himself so that was it was kind of an insurance policy for me well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin after lazar broke the story on the spacecraft he was arrested and charged with pandering helping to run a brothel in las vegas when bob came and told me that he was involved on the outskirts of this illegal brothel operation i saw my professional life flash before my eyes i
(17:02) was very upset i had written and developed a computer system so a local brothel could run efficiently in town and that is in effect against the law and i eventually convinced him we have to break this story you can't let somebody else do it because it will come out that may have been a mistake from a legal standpoint for him but i think it was important and strange for a little case like that there'd be fbi personnel and things like that at the hearing so was there a push on to uh create a lot more fear than
(17:36) necessary sure i'm positive they looked at that as something to discredit me bob lazar seems to have a very peculiar memory um i'm not sure that it's suspicious but it is peculiar in that he seems to remember very tiny details of his time spent at s4 yet he seems to have trouble remembering classes that he took professors names dates a lot of his path seems to be faded from his memory but not s4 on paper i think bob lazar comes across as a complete fraud yet i've talked to enough people and i know enough stories about things that

is careless with the truth in (19:02) small matters cannot be trusted in important affairs bob knew when and where flight tests of these objects were going to take place because three weeks in a row he took people up there and they videotaped it how did he know i had a person who worked up there put him through a series of questions not asking the big questions where are the saucers kept but small questions like where's the cafeteria how do you pay for your meals things like that that person whom i know worked at area 51 was convinced that bob in fact had been at

(00:01) [Music] in 1992 steve douglas was filming military air exercises at roswell new mexico in the near dark his camera caught a few seconds of a very strange triangular craft he took the fuzzy picture to an expert this is probably your proverbial tantalizing image because it is something we believe is is an unusual aircraft one that the government doesn't admit they have so it would be exciting to be able to get a good clear picture of it because this is just interesting it's it's it's exciting it's exciting to discover
(00:40) something unknown i mean this is a black aircraft against a black sky and there's a lot of noise in the frame so that anytime you look at the aircraft it's almost the same color as the background try as he might warren cannot show us what the camera could not record this is a cleaned up processed image that i did using if you would pure image processing but that's still awfully noisy and it's very hard to see anything but it would be very easy to use the computer to help clean it up to go in and
(01:24) electronically you know look at the image and say wow that's that's the sky and that's noisy and here are the edges of the object and i'll just clean them up i'll smooth out those edges well the problem with that is if i have expectations about what i'm going to see and i use those in the work i'm doing then what i end up getting is exactly what i was looking for i can make it anything i want a flying saucer or you name it [Music] it is obviously flying it's obviously unknown so it is
(02:04) definitely a ufo but that doesn't mean it's a spaceship from another planet or a time traveler or a fill in the blank we have strong suspicions that this is in fact a highly secret highly stealthy reconnaissance airplane that the government has and has operated but for reasons of security they haven't admitted that they own or operate it this is what steve douglas filmed the tr-3 black manta [Music] has the black manta been seen in other parts of the world in the last five years the description of ufos has been changing
(02:53) reports of triangular craft are now as common as traditional saucer shapes [Music] last year a british airways flight from milan descended to land at manchester england suddenly a triangular craft flashed past the airplane just yards in front of its nose neither the plane's radar nor ground controls detected the high-speed craft it was a classic close encounter but with what newspaper headlines screamed that an alien spacecraft had buzzed the jetliner what they did not report was what specialist aviation magazines already (03:36) knew less than 15 miles away a british company is building the top secret prototype of a stealth aircraft it has a strange triangular shape the home of america's deep black aircraft is hidden in the nevada nuclear test site for decades nuclear warheads were tested here las vegas is nearby but the tourists play unaware of the secret world hidden over the horizon area 51 of the test site is groom lake aircraft call sign dreamland (04:40) groom lake appears in no list of military installations yet it has the longest runway in the world and the biggest aircraft hangar what it holds is above top secret and yet it has attracted so much public attention that maps of the base are now available to enter here means risking imprisonment without trial the use of lethal force is authorized it was from groom lake that the great spy planes of the cold war were tested in complete secrecy the u2 the cia spy plane was first flown here later the family of aircraft that (05:30) include the sr-71 blackbird lived in top secrecy for more than 10 years the blackbird flew faster and higher than any aircraft like the u2 it was invulnerable until missile technology made it obsolete [Music] unknown to the general public the stealth biker was also tested here top secret aircraft such as these have been confused with ufos for half a century in the mid and late 40s it was a period of fantastic development aviation today we can't appreciate it but there were airplanes without propellers that was akin to a car without a motor

(06:26) there were airplanes without tails there were airplanes that were dis-shaped there were airplanes with swept wings potentially a person seeing one of these aircraft could think that it wasn't an aircraft it was a spaceship a person not knowing about these aircraft would think that there's something beyond earthly performance and assume that these were in fact flying saucers [Music] even today famous aircraft can fool the unwary [Music] the stealth bomber the northrop b2 watching it is an education it would be understandable if people
(07:15) seeing this very unusual aircraft might mistake it for a flying saucer if it was still a secret what would you think man-made aircraft or ufo the lockheed skunk works california generations of deep black aircraft were built here in recent years its parking lot has remained full yet officially it has little work underway too little to explain all the activity production of its blackbird spy plane is long finished its last contract was for the stealth fighter that is near completion it cannot explain the work being done
(08:07) behind closed doors is a new deep black triangular aircraft being built aviation experts suspect that the answer lies in a 1985 pentagon document a mysterious aircraft codenamed aurora project was accidentally included alongside budgets for the u2 and blackbird spy planes there has been no mention of it since the first thing i heard about aurora was that air traffic controllers out on the west coast were being told to expect very high speed targets on their radar screens that it was a classified program they weren't to (08:50) panic and they weren't to report it to anybody else the next piece of information and the one that i think really started me investigating the aurora story was a sequence of sonic booms over california on thursday june 18 1992 at seven in the morning and on six other thursdays at the same hour in the preceding year there was a minor tremor in los angeles spurred on by telephone calls from worried residents jim mori of the u.
(09:31) s geological survey set out to discover what was causing this unusually punctual earthquake at his disposal is a network of seismic recording stations he quickly established that it was a double sonic boom from a supersonic aircraft mori compared the signature of the aircraft sonic boom with the patterns produced by those of the space shuttle landing outside of los angeles and by the sr 71 blackbird on its world speed record transcontinental flight in 1991 it was completely different the size and spread of the boom was unique we actually have quite a few sonic booms
(10:12) in southern california one of the reasons is that the space shuttle lands at edwards air force base which is in the desert here it's possible to tell the direction the speed and the height of the object that's producing the sonic boom if you have good instrumental recording so for these mystery booms that we saw it's clear that they are flying offshore because we don't have any stations there we don't have very much data so we really couldn't get an accurate estimate how fast that particular object was (10:42) traveling all we could really say is it was traveling faster than the speed of sound what are the possibilities that could be meteorite and there are instances of meteorites producing similar booms obviously though meteorite happening every thursday morning seems a little unlikely the official explanation was that u.
(11:00) s navy fighters were responsible but few experts were convinced the breakthrough came when bill sweetman received an eyewitness drawing of what he felt could only be the aurora i'd written a couple of aurora stories suggesting that the evidence was accumulating that something was out there and i received in the mail a sketch and a note from a man named chris gibson this eyewitness is one of the best in the business chris gibson was a member of britain's royal observer corps he was part of their elite international (11:32) recognition team one of the top military aircraft observers in the world one day in 1989 while working on an oil rig in the north sea a colleague called chris outside there was a formation of four aircraft the lead aircraft was a kc-135 strato tanker and off at port side were two f-111 fighter bombers off the tail of the kc-135 strata tanker was a black triangular aircraft no no wings no tail a perfect triangle and there's nothing i've ever seen before looked like that which was an unusual occurrence because (12:17) i'm trained in instant recognition by the royal observer and uh if i didn't know what it was it's not in any books this shape and the sonic booms told bill sweetman a great deal if you're looking at an aircraft that is designed to fly at what's loosely called hypersonic speeds that's five or six times the speed of sound or upwards there are several things that become absolutely essential one is that you require a very high degree of sweep back on the wing leading edges otherwise you start getting into severe

(12:53) problems of drag and aerodynamic heating as you go into this very slander shape you'd still need to have a lot of volume in that shape for fuel for propulsion for true and the best way to provide that is to blend the wing and the body together you get a very characteristic highly blended triangular shape which is in plan view identical to what chris saw in amarillo texas steve douglas may have captured photographic evidence of the aurora he maintains sophisticated military signals monitoring equipment in his home
(13:42) march 10th it was march 23rd 1992. i was back here in my office when the house was shook by what sounded like a large sonic boom i heard a lot of sonic boom before so i know they how they sound but this one seemed to continue it wasn't just a crack boom and left it was a rather large shutter that you could feel in your chest and the windows vibrated and that's when i saw this very high-speed aircraft flying over the house at incredible rates rage i grabbed my camera knowing it was something something different especially because the way the (14:23) contrail work the donuts on a rope contrail is produced by no conventional aircraft its engine noise is also unique it's a deep thrumming regular pulsing booming noise like somebody unzipping the sky you feel it more in your chest than you hear it it doesn't sound like a jet it doesn't sound like a rocket it's just very unique and an amazing sound the donuts on a rope contrail has been reported from around the world this never before seen footage was taken by an amateur cameraman from a transatlantic passenger jet
(15:02) it is very hard to hide an aircraft like the aurora the contrail and engine noise are the signature of a pulsed detonation engine the kind of engine necessary to fly at hypersonic speeds with a cruising speed of 5 300 miles per hour mach 8 operating in near orbit at an altitude of 50 to 80 miles the aurora could reach anywhere in the world in three hours but not everyone believes the aurora exists the name aurora first appeared as part of an unclassified budget document it was assumed by people that this is referring to (15:49) a hypersonic aircraft program ben rich the former head of the skunk works however later revealed that this was actually the funding item for the development of the b2 bomber that it had nothing to do with hypersonic airplane and he has flatly said that such an airplane does not exist aurora is not a belief system aurora is a continuing investigation which is not yet closed personally i think that there's overwhelming evidence that there is a high speed program out there like the deep black projects that came (16:27) before it the aurora's existence is still denied if the aurora does exist its main test base would probably be dreamland at groom lake area 51 in the nevada nuclear test site but something else entirely is rumored to be flown here captured alien spacecraft dreamland has become the focus of those who say that there is a government conspiracy to cover up alien contact from a distant mountaintop one man keeps a vigil over dreamland i'm up here on peak 25 miles east of the base it's an 8 000 foot peak it's the last outpost of public
(17:32) oversight over this government facility i come here just because i need think it needs to be done i want to know what's going on in there but more importantly i i like the process of cracking a mystery this is like a sherlock holmes mystery what is going on out there you have all sorts of clues but but how do you put them together the base itself it just sits there it's like any other air force base i see it like a rorschach inkblot test people come and see this ambiguous stimulus and they impress whatever they (18:05) want on the stimulus some people see conspiracies they say that the one world government is is based out there some other people think all the missing children in the world have been taken here other people see only black programs others see spirits they think that that out there the aliens are communing in some way with uh with our government and you can send out your love and bring them into

you the the stories are as varied as the people who come here these beliefs are based on the claims of one man there were nine (18:46) flying saucers or flying discs all together [Music] rachel nevada population 101 and falling its inhabitants have seen many strange things flying over the mountains above dreamland i believe that there are saucer-shaped craft here on earth i definitely believe it was a saucer i've seen a lot of strange things out here it was just a series of lights dancing lights and they came up close and then they were gone in an instant i believe it's possible it could be within uh regions underneath the earth that have been established as a
(19:23) base there's too much technology out there that can't be explained we might be dealing with an interdimensional phenomena i definitely think the government knows i don't think we're alone in the universe [Music] beyond groom lake is papoose lake or area s4 [Music] jet car builder bob lazar claims this is home to a flying saucer base lazar also claims he is a former employee of the los alamos national laboratory birthplace of the atomic bomb he maintains he was hired as an engineer on a top secret project
(20:07) i was under the impression i was going to be working on an advanced propulsion system which was right up my alley and i was very excited about it and i was i was lit to believe it was going to be some sort of field propulsion system which in fact it was but i had no idea of the implications of what they were talking about lazar says he was flown from las vegas to groom lake put on a bus and driven to area s4 papoose lake we drove up the hangar door was open and there was a flying saucer i got out was led purposely through it
(20:47) and i was told to keep my eyes forward and walk straight and it was kind of a mental torture because it was a fantastically interesting thing here but i was under the impression that this was something that we had developed and in fact i remember even laughing to myself that this answers all the ridiculous ufo sightings we have been making these things all along test flying them and everyone's been thinking they're flying saucers from another planet and i thought wow this is this is great in fact they even had a little american
(21:13) flag stuck on the side of it which i thought was a nice touch but lazar came to believe that the saucer was of alien origin it was still some time later that i was actually let inside it and it became extremely obvious that this was something we didn't make because only then after seeing how small everything was inside that it was obviously never made to hold a human [Music] and they basically came clean with what we're doing is back engineering this because we want to find out how it was made and that pretty much says
(21:52) it wasn't made here [Music] the disc itself was in three levels the upper level which i never got to go on the middle one where you enter and then there's a lower one where the gravity amplifiers hang down and you can have access to the bottom part of the craft it's a very eerie feeling to be in there there are no obvious control panels or switches the only thing sticking up out of the ground were three chairs uh the reactor itself and the actual gravity amplifiers and underneath them were the other
(22:26) components to the propulsion system but that's about all that was in there bob lazar's story has been investigated by a reporter at the local tv station first place of what some have called the cosmic watergate there had been stories about dreamland floating around in nevada for a number of years little bits and pieces in the newspaper references to secret programs occasionally a reference to alien technology there have been some of those same kind of references in ufological circles people saying there's a secret base in nevada
(22:59) you better check this kind of a thing out uh it wasn't until about 1987 i started digging into some of these things in 1989 i met robert lazar and uh and the story he told me was an incredible one by any standards i thought that if in fact any of this stuff checks out it may be the biggest story in history does lazar's story check out do any records of lazar's past employment exist for myself and the tv station that the key to his credibility the key to his story was always los alamos because if he worked at los alamos if he worked in (23:33) classified projects it is at least conceivable that he would been brought to nevada to work in other classified projects as a test on his veracity we wanted to go to los alamos and and have him show us around he said i can get you in but yeah we'll believe this when we see it so we were there on a weekend fewer people are in the lab and and bob in fact did take us in and it was like following him through this labyrinth of different labs and facilities and he knew his way around like like a rabbit in its own burrow he knew where

(24:04) everything was and and uh and that impressed me because how would he know if he hadn't been there los alamos was uncooperative from the first day years and years went by and i still couldn't get any confirmation from them that bob had ever worked there it makes no sense they'd have no records on someone who worked there just a few years before but that's what they were telling me now i had interviewed other people that work with bob there who say that he was an employee he was a physicist and he worked in classified
(24:33) projects if that were the case where the records because to this day we still can't find them what this tells me is that someone has tried to wipe out bob's background so that fewer people will give him any credibility lazar claims his first few days at the secret base were spent under guard reading briefing documents according to lazar these documents possessed detailed knowledge of aliens and made clear that the spacecraft was not a recent acquisition it it seemed like they had been working on it for at least a couple of years but (25:14) it could have been 20 for all i know each group would work on a very specific part of the craft for instance there was a group working on the metal energy of the craft our group and as a group i mean too we had the specific job of dealing with the power and propulsion system of the craft once when i went in the hangar all the bay doors were open all the way down and you can see that there were other crafts in there and they were all completely different you know i was told that all the power sources and propulsion systems were identical in (25:55) them as far as how many of them are operational i only know the one that i worked on was operational the rest of them for for all i know could have been cardboard mock-ups so i really can't even comment on one of the craft looked like it had been stood up on end and a projectile fired through it so i would imagine some of these crafts were non-functional there were nine flying saucers or flying discs altogether george knapp persuaded his tv station to put bob lazar through a polygraph or lie detector test did you knowingly lie when (26:43) you said you had actually seen anti-gravity propulsion in operation now four separate tests were performed by two different investigators the results were inconclusive lazar passed to and failed to but one of the investigators is still shaken by what he heard i was looking for all the little sign the body language if you will there was tremendously positive eye contact there was no fidgeting around and he never deviated we covered it several different ways i asked the same question several different ways and his answers
(27:23) were always the same hooking up going through the test then started the emotional roller coaster that i experienced that night and it's something that i can honestly say has changed my whole outlook on things we started the first test and it went exactly the way i thought it might he was not doing well he was reacting to the relevant questions more than he was to the control type of questions which is indicative of a person who is deceptive because it's showing an emotion that he does not feel comfortable with his
(28:01) answers these questions bother him it was basically have you ever observed a saucer shaped craft fly out at area 51 and that was asked i think two or three different times the second chart we ran was on another question dealing with uh the gravity amplifier or an antimatter reactor as part of the powertrain about halfway through that test i'm looking down and all of a sudden the realization sets in that i'm looking at a probable truthful uh result and i'm getting chills right now talking about it because that's what i got (28:42) on every chart that i did the one relevant question that was the same with every test was the last one have you deliberately lied to any question concerning uh the ufo information you've given me and his answer of no was indicated as being truthful on the charts so whatever he told me that night bob lazar truly believes to be the truth bob lazar appeared to be truthful when he described how the craft's reactor functioned we weren't precisely sure how everything worked but we had a rough idea it was a field
(29:17) propulsion system it was something you really couldn't sense but would lift the craft field propulsion can be demonstrated with two magnets set one way the magnets poles will attract set the other way the magnets will repel each other lazar says that the craft used gravity waves to repel and attract through space using earthly materials and state-of-the-art technology we could not possibly duplicate one of these systems not even close what we're seeing was a a total annihilation reactor a reactor that reacted matter in any matter which is (30:07) something we really haven't even touched on we know this is possible we know we have fission reactors we're currently trying to develop fusion reactors that produce energy like the sun does but we haven't even thought about working on animator reactors which is uh 100 efficient and here was a working model of it not just working model of it but it was small it was something that a person could lift and work looking at something that you can hold in your hand and puts out more power than our full-size nuclear (30:41) power plants so this wasn't just a little bit advanced from our technology this was this was something big did bob lazar work at area 51 there is no hard evidence is bob lazar a qualified scientist is what he says in interviews accurate an investigation by one man tom mahood an engineer from california found flaw after flaw in lazar statements but at first even he found lazar convincing about three years ago i hooked up with the internet i started exploring and i came across bob lazar's story and i really found it fascinating he the way

(31:26) he told his story seemed to ring of truth and there were a lot of little details that he uh had on his stories that i found just utterly fascinating kind of captivated me there was a couple times i woke up in the middle of the night disturbed i mean i really believed that story it seemed that credible to me first thing that started kicking things off for me was that i don't live that far from caltech and lazar claimed as part of the story that he had attended caltech and had uh had his records erased i thought well this is an interesting
(31:58) possibility for me to look into it and see if i could find any trace of lazar at caltech and i thought the easiest thing to do to check on him was just to go through all the caltech annuals for about a ten year period and i literally went through every page looking for a picture or reference to bob lazar now it could be that he might be erased from the school records but it's unlikely somebody's actually going to come in and replace a college yearbook so i went through it and didn't turn anything up and at that point i'm (32:27) starting to think well maybe he does have a degree in physics but for some reason he doesn't want people to know where it's from and then he's just concocted a cal tech story lazar claims a university education but gives no hard evidence bob wouldn't be the first person in history to lie about his education in order to get a job but the only records that he went to school anywhere is one electronics course at a junior college and it doesn't make sense that someone with that level of education would get (32:58) hired to work at the places where he worked fairchild industries in a highly technical position and later los alamos in a highly technical position he had to get educated somewhere if you've been to his house if you see what he does with computers you know he's a as an intelligent and educated man where did that education come from i look at for example mit and although bob can't come up with any names of professors he can't come up with any names of students i ask myself would a school could a school like mit
(33:25) wipe out his records well i don't know i mean they get tens of millions of dollars a year in defense contracts they've worked with the cia in the past on this very ufo question could they do it would they do it i think it's possible lazar says he was fired from area 51 after making a blatant breach of security the craft that i worked on was tested quite often most of the tests occurred on wednesday nights they were never taken out of the atmosphere they were barely taken over the mountain range you have to look at (33:59) the fact that this was their prized possession that they were just learning how to use and they weren't about to lose it [Music] i had the timetables for the specific testing dates and times and i did bring some friends on a specific day where i wouldn't be working and they got to view some of the tests for themselves it's just sitting there [Music] lazar claims they saw a brilliant light an alien spacecraft that was moving through the sky in directions and angles beyond the performance of conventional (34:38) aircraft now we weren't in the base we were still 10 miles away from it but even out at that far there was still a reasonable amount of security and we were able to see quite a few things and as time went on we became lacks and eventually got caught the day after i was caught i was supposed to show up for work however they had me debriefed at an air force base north of las vegas that's where a lot of the friction began between myself and the people there they pointed weapons at me yelling in my face at a close distance and they were as

thought it became necessary to see one of the people on a local news station because i thought if it went on the news they couldn't make me completely disappear it looked very suspicious of all of a sudden this
(36:43) was very upset i had written and developed a computer system so a local brothel could run efficiently in town and that is in effect against the law and i eventually convinced him we have to break this story you can't let somebody else do it because it will come out that may have been a mistake from a legal standpoint for him but i think it was important and strange for a little case like that there'd be fbi personnel and things like that at the hearing so was there a push on to uh create a lot more fear than
(40:16) on may 5th 1984 an alert was triggered at the north america air defense command moving hot and fast through earth orbit it was not an incoming missile it was code named fast walker floating in earth's orbit are the satellites operated by the usdsp or defense support program their job is to provide the first warning of an incoming ballistic missile attack on the united states the satellite sensors are so delicate that they also pick up infrared heat signals even from minor house fires at 1400 hours zulu time a dsp satellite
(41:02) detected a hot fast solid object swept in from outer space it passed within 15 miles of the satellite and then curved back out into deep space it was tracked for nine minutes a top secret summary of the fast walker shows the time and place of the incident the infrared signature of the object and its track through earth orbit it was leaked to a ufo investigator where it appeared in the sensor field would indicate that the object came into the sensor food from outer space one in front of the sensor and left departing (41:41) back into deep space it would indicate that it was some type of craft that had the ability to maneuver if this fast walker was a meteorite then the earth's gravitational field would have sucked it into the atmosphere burning it up it takes energy to break the grip of earth's gravity inanimate objects like meteors or space debris cannot do this spacecraft like the space shuttle can but the fast walker came from outer space there you have you have heart attack you have telemetry from that satellite you have information you have (42:21) systems you have data that you can go back and investigate and check and verify in the past usually ufos events are just eyewitness testimony there you have a very sensitive defense system that sent you the information to the ground i don't even know if you can solve it maybe it's one of those enigmas that's just going to be with us forever you know what type of craft would have that ability some people might say a ufo [Music]

(00:00) [Music] the united states air force admits that between 1952 and 1969 they conducted a study code named project blue book its purpose was to determine if ufos posed a real threat to the american people project blue book concluded they did not and since 1969 the pentagon has denied participating in any other ufo study but ufologists believe this is a lie they point to evidence of a monumental conspiracy designed to hide what the government knows and when it knew it our government has flat out lied to us for forty years or more they've (00:37) threatened people and intimidated people they've spied on ufo groups infiltrated ufo groups spied on researchers compiled dossiers their response is bordered on paranoia in 1988 reporter george knapp of las vegas cbs television station klas began investigating the u s government's involvement with ufos he says he's found evidence proving a massive cover-up that began in 1947 and continues to this day the cia says that it does not collect information on ufos and it hasn't since the fifties there are reams of documents
(01:14) squeezed out of the cia that indicate that they have on staff cia ufo experts agency personnel monitoring the situation on an ongoing basis the fbi denied having any documents on ufos in the nineteen seventies the early nineteen seventies three years later they released seventeen hundred pages of information on ufos documents that they had they lie but for ufo researchers there is one persistent problem with those hundreds of released pages most like this 1958 ufo memo to president eisenhower have been highly sensitive essentially making them
(01:52) unreadable even this national security agency document explaining why ufo data should remain secret is itself almost entirely blacked out ironically the official position of the u.s government is that ufos are not a threat to national security yet the agencies involved claim the censored information is vital to national security from 1947 to 1969 the air force conducted project blue book staffed with just three people it studied 12 000 ufo sightings all but 701 were explained to the military satisfaction and the group that (02:29) remained unexplained it does not contain any pattern of purpose or of consistency that we can relate with any to any conceivable threat to the united states the air force closed blue book in 1969 but project critics weren't satisfied the first person to head it up captain edward j repelt quit in disgust wrote his own book and declared that there was something to ufos and the project blue book was nothing more than a whitewash other government officials including the senator and two former presidents have (03:03) tried unsuccessfully to shed some light on the ufo phenomenon arizona senator barry goldwater president gerald ford and president jimmy carter who actually saw a ufo himself and filed a formal report have all sought to have top secret ufo information released to the public all requests for that information were denied cover-up allegations aren't limited to the united states government either author timothy good claims that governments around the world are keeping ufo information top secret and in his book above top secret he claims only an
(03:37) elite few have access to that information because so little of the research is made known to top ministers one country is bucking that trend belgium has acknowledged tracking unidentified seemingly intelligently controlled craft in its airspace radar tapes released by the air force show an object jumping from 200 meters to 2000 meters in one second a distance of just over a mile the belgium air force has even put aside a plane to search for the objects but the attitude of the united states remains very different (04:18) ufo experts claim our government is conducting top secret research into ufos in the middle of the nevada desert south of a dry lake bed known as area 51 is a place known as s4 allegedly home to a super secret government research facility in the course of our investigation we found a scientist who says he used to work there robert lazar was shocked when he first discovered what it was he would be working on i got out of the bus i was told to walk directly through the hangar and immediately even before entering the hangar you can (04:50) see the edge of a disc this is your classic flying saucer two inverted pie plates if you wish with a segmented larger area dome on top within minutes of that i finally realized that this had nothing to do with something the government was producing and it was quite shocking because everything inside was small this is a full-size craft 30-35 feet in diameter maybe 40 but you're looking at at seats that are you know 18 inches off the ground obviously made you know first for something smaller and certainly wasn't made for children to (05:28) play in lazar says there were nine spaceships in all and he claims to have seen one fly it began to lift off the ground almost silently there was a hiss sound like a corona discharge if you hear around high voltage systems uh accompanied by a faint it probably would have been brighter at night a faint blue glow around the bottom as the craft approached about 30 feet 20 feet something like that off the ground that corona discharge disappeared the sound stopped and the craft stood there silently and slowly drifted over to the left and

(06:01) then to the right the government denies they're testing alien craft at s4 lazar no longer works there and nowadays spends his time working on one of his hobbies jet car racing he alleges that after he went public security officers at the base threatened his life he also says that his employment and military service records have disappeared despite repeated requests the government can't find them the subcontractor who hired him for the job at s4 refuses to comment but a few clues support lazar's contention that he
(06:34) is a scientist and that he has worked for the government this w-2 form indicates that he had been employed by the department of naval intelligence before his stint at s4 lazar claims to have worked at the los alamos national laboratory los alamos officials can't find any record of him but his name does appear in a laboratory phone book from that time reporter george knapp was able to track down a few of lazar's colleagues who could confirm parts of his story but when they talked to nap something strange happened
(07:07) one after another had had visits from from government personnel who basically intimidated or told them to back off followed them around there didn't have to be any direct communication where an agent says you keep talking to this guy you're going to end up in a river the message was very clear since lazar's story broke area 51 has become a hotbed for ufo sightings you see that it just zip to the left see it again while our cameras were there a bright light appeared in the night sky utterly silent it seemed to float below
(07:42) the mountain tops analysis of our videotape proved inconclusive those who might know the answers aren't talking i've been covering organized crime in las vegas for for 10 years dealing with the mob hitman and mob informants people who have been in the witness protection program the fear that is generated by this ufo subject for people who really know about it far outweighs the kind of fear that the mob inspires i mean people are more afraid of our government than they are of organized crime i am exactly sure of
(08:11) what i saw i know what mainstream science is like i know it where physics stands i know all of that and this is an extraterrestrial craft this technology is hundreds and hundreds of years in advance of us and that's the end of that story [Music] the people we've heard from in this report believe that they've had close encounters of the first second third even fourth kind skeptics charge that they're mistaken that they're misinformed or at the very worst just plain crazy but are we the human race so conceited
(08:48) is to believe that we are alone in the universe is it possible that in the infinite frontier of space this speck of intelligent life we call earth is the only one for sightings i'm tim white

(00:00) first though some people say that if there really are captured ufos the authorities couldn't keep it a secret somehow word would get out well maybe that's what we're about to see information that's leaked out area 51 is the most secret military base in the world many people have seen strange lights performing maneuvers above it and recently president clinton placed a huge exclusion zone around it so it's now impossible to view the base what are the dark secrets that lie inside area 51 the american government denies that this
(00:37) place even exists but this russian satellite photo tells a different story showing huge hangars and an enormous runway the place is area 51 in the nevada desert it was built in the 1950s to test top secret aircraft the stealth fighter was developed here securities tight inside and outside the base american scientist robert lazar claimed he worked in the highest security section called s4 the security was unbelievably oppressive there was a security guard everywhere following you all the time there was never any free discussion
(01:17) allowed which is the basis of science recently lazar caused a sensation when he revealed that he'd been ordered to investigate the propulsion systems of captured alien spacecraft my work involved the back engineering of an extraterrestrial craft specifically the propulsion and power source the ufos are very typical as far as a typical ufo is it's two inverted dishes two inverted pie plates if you wish and with a hump on the top metallic looking no wings no fins no visible propulsion sound source inside they're very sparse
(01:54) if you come in the main entryway you'll see three seats the central reactor and waveguide that goes to the ceiling the three gravity amplifiers surrounding it and you'll really see just about nothing else the authorities immediately denied his claims and now he says they've tried to erase his identity from all official records george knapp is a well-respected investigative reporter with klas tv he broke the story including the claim that lazar worked at los alamos in new mexico where the atomic bomb was (02:26) developed the lab denied any knowledge of his existence denied that he'd ever worked there we came back with a phone book from the lab that shows bob's name in it that he he was in fact there they still denied any knowledge that he had ever worked there i asked bob if he'd be willing to take a polygraph test and he didn't hesitate the polygraph examiner after conducting a series of four different tests concluded that bob is telling the truth about what he saw out there about working at the base about seeing the (02:52) flying saucers about working on anti-gravity propulsion systems telling the truth i had a former employee quiz him for a period of two hours about simple things not where the flying saucers stored but uh where's the cafeteria how do you pay for your meal what's it look like inside those sorts of things and that employee is convinced that bob really was out there well you threatened i was threatened and my wife's life was threatened also and why do you think that those threats were not carried out
(03:18) probably because that i went public in the recent blockbusting film independence day the plot features area 51 and a recovered alien spacecraft as you can see from the repairs we've been trying to put her back together since the late 1960s it's long been suggested that alien spacecraft have crashed on her it's only happened in the last few days the most famous incident happened allegedly near roswell air base new mexico in 1947 eyewitnesses claimed they saw wreckage of a flying saucer and injured extraterrestrials
(03:52) whatever happened at roswell there's no dispute about the many official documents which indicate the american government knows more than it's letting on about ufos how do these craft get into the hands of the us government i really have no idea how the crap got there i don't believe there were crashes because the craft weren't damaged and that's about all that i can say how do you know though that these were extraterrestrial craft first of all we were back engineering the technology which means we're taking (04:23) a finished product and trying to figure out how it was originally designed and developed second of all the technology that we're dealing with doesn't exist did you ever see them fly they were frequently tested they were tested normally on wednesday nights when the traffic was lowest in the area i saw one test close up and several tests at the distance of about 15 miles [Music] certainly the american military have been testing saucer-shaped craft this top-secret research film from the sixties has just come to light (04:57) but even after nearly thirty years the security services still refuse to talk about it more recently work on so-called black projects has been carried out at area 51 including the stealth aircraft and strategic defense initiative weapons to be used in outer space but were they only developed to protect america against earthly enemies or was there a more urgent purpose behind president reagan's star wars project perhaps we need some outside universal threat to make us recognize this common bound i occasionally think how quickly (05:36) our differences worldwide would vanish if we were facing an alien threat from outside this world this unique nasa transmission shows an object following the space shuttle [Music] the picture flares in what could be a magnetic pulse next is this a missile or laser weapon being fired from earth at the ufo the ufo changes direction and accelerates away at what experts believe to be a speed of up to nine hundred thousand miles an hour could it be the ufo was taking evasive action from star wars missiles fired at it from the earth

(06:16) many believe this is only the latest evidence of a continuing series of cover-ups of the real truth about ufos

(00:01) [Music] in 1989 one man blew the lid off dreamland his name was bob lazar and he claimed to have worked at the groom lake site back engineering recovered alien spacecraft the base is against the side of a mountain or small mountain big hill there are nine hangar doors and the hangar doors are not just shiny metal out in the desert they are painted or sprayed with a sand texture to them and from what i can ascertain to prevent satellites from photographing the installation so they look like the mountain range it was
(00:41) pretty effective from what i could see on the first occasion when i drove out there all the hangar doors were closed but at close range you could tell that there were doors and they would open we drove around the left side of the installation and there was the main entrance in there and went through some gates and the security check and went inside and it seemed like a typical government building the work that i did basically entailed back engineering the power and propulsion system and i opted to start with the the power the the (01:22) reactor that that ran the craft with the clearance that i had that was known as majestic clearance there were only 22 people at s4 with that clearance to work on the craft [Music] the location he worked on at area 51 was called s4 and was housed on papoose dry lake bed a short drive from groom lake when i was brought in by bus normally we had gone around to the left side of the installation and entered the door there and for the first time one of the hangar doors the one on the end was open the bus drove up and we stopped there
(02:03) and cleared his day and the hangar taking up almost all the hangar was the disc uh looked like something right out of a science fiction movie and we stopped got out and for the first time i was led in through that door and as i walked in there i thought well this is the new advanced aircraft we've been working on and this is why people keep seeing flying saucers because it's ours and we've just been testing it probably for all these years and when i walked alongside it i ran my hand on it uh i say it it's metal because it was cold
(02:41) so i just uh assumed it was a some sort of metal and in fact by the hatch that was taken off there was an opening there and it had a little backwards american flag stuck on it so i was positive it was something we had manufactured i was allowed on the craft on one occasion to see the placement of these systems in case it was important to their operation so i uh was of course escorted in the craft and um it was obviously made to be piloted by something smaller than the average human being very cramped in there there was a sub level (03:23) where a little collapsing floor member opened and i could stick my head in her upper torso down underneath with a flashlight to see how the gravity amplifiers hung upside down looked around the placement of the three seats about one-third to one-fourth the size of a normal human seat at one point that one point when i was in the craft one of the archways became transparent there were some technicians working on something else that i had no knowledge of so and also something began to scroll up on the screen so it might have been (04:09) possible that the skin of the craft whether under you know electrical influence or something else could at times become either transparent to look outside um or be used as some sort of video screen it was that was pretty amazing when i went outside and looked at it it looked as if it was just a plain piece of metal again [Music] a lot of people say well it must have been exciting to go on there and i always say it wasn't it was a very ominous feeling it um you really had the because it's so i know it sounds silly but it it it's so (04:57) unearthly in there [Music] nothing had a sharp edge to it it it was this it was if um the seats the amplifiers that were in there everything as if it was made out of wax and heated for just a little bit and then cooled off everything had a smooth curve to it even where the a chair met the floor with was blended into it it it was if the entire craft was injection molded no one let alone bob lazar have been able to verify any of his academic or professional credentials in 1990 he was convicted of pandering and declared bankrupt in court he simply (05:39) described his occupation as a self-employed photo processor is lazar a fraud did he work at s4 or was he set up by the military to release certain information about the base the notion that he would make a great patsy and he's the perfect scientist to work on such a project is interesting science fiction in the first place we have no reason to say he's a scientist no diplomas no papers no memberships nothing in the second place i worked on a security for 14 years people take security far more seriously

(06:14) than that one of the strange statements he's made there are only 22 people working on this thing well you get more than that working on devising a new mouse trap for the government anyway that makes no sense and you know it has all the trimmings his story of a walter mitty story somebody in his imagination was you know stronger brighter faster than anybody else i did a variety of research uh relative to bob lazar actually met him i obtained a copy of his uh what they call a w-2 form which is one of the irs documents
(06:52) associated with with pay his particular form indicated that he worked for the u.s department of naval intelligence my investigation of this document and the claims that bob lazar made followed a very strict path of sound research i contacted the u.s department of naval intelligence and indeed verified that they were likely responsible for presenting that w-2 i investigated the issue with the internal revenue service they informed me the exact words were it appears to be legit that it was a genuine document it was not something
(07:36) that had been fabricated there were a variety of numbers contract numbers and so forth issued on the document which i was able to research again finding that these were highly classified numbers in fact internal revenue service ran into a brick wall when it came to trying to track down the actual employer associated with it with the document he gave me uh uh information about his background educational background and employment background i started with uh with his claim to have worked at los alamos lab i figured well that's a good starting (08:10) point if he worked at los alamos it's pretty likely that he had an education somewhere they don't just hire people off the street and if he worked at los alamos especially on classified projects it's at least reasonable to assume he could have been hired somewhere else in nevada to work on similar projects we went to los alamos and got nothing even close to cooperation they wouldn't respond to our phone calls they say we have no information on bob lazar there's nothing in the files i said are you sure now no nothing in the (08:39) files i showed him uh the the phone book entry that bob had kept that said uh he was there i showed him the newspaper article that that showed that he was there are you certain that you don't have a bob lazar well maybe we had a bob lazar here's an id number but he didn't work for us he worked for someone else basically los alamos lab um tried to thwart me at every step we're completely uncooperative and trying to get information about bob and i found that to be the case at every step of the way and trying to verify his
(09:08) background i'm the one that couldn't find any records or anything i mean i'm the one that brought that up because i was the first one to run into that initially i couldn't find couldn't get a hold of my birth certificate either and that was one of the things that concerned me is they might be trying to make me essentially a non-person i think it's most likely that bob lazar was indeed set up to be the conduit for certain information relating to this extraterrestrial project [Music] on one occasion in the desert bob lazar
(09:49) saw a flying disc being tested i was brought into the hangar for one of the short duration tests and the craft was already outside on the lake bed and lifted off silently and drifted around for a bit and sat back down and that was uh pretty much of a marvelous sight it's a huge thing it it's like seeing a house lift off the ground quietly it's just you you can't imagine the energy involved to do that and not to make any noise at all there was some audio communication with the craft and so i i can only assume that there were (10:26) humans on board and somehow they had managed to squeeze themselves into those little seats or put something in there to sit on and obviously they knew how to operate whatever controls there was or fabricate their own or retrofit it with something the apollo space missions of the 1960s stirred america into a space fever but as the country's finest astronauts hurtled skywards in conventional rockets did the president know of the existence of sources and propulsion systems that were literally out of this world

(11:00) [Music] [Music] [Music] dr edgar mitchell of the apollo 14 mission and the sixth man to walk on the moon has carried out extensive investigations of the alleged saucer crashes as well as the question of alien contact he met lazar in 1991 i tend to believe that his basic story is true that he was to expose to what he thought were alien craft and attempts to engineer and back engineer i think that his explanation of what's going on and his theory that he's utilizing is probably not on target what i think is (12:00) credible is the fact that he was there since the roswell incident in 1947 that there was a cover-up that that was a valid incident and that there has been an active investigation program reverse engineering program and cover-up associated with that since that time [Music] after working at s4 for several months and in clear violation of his top secret clearance bob lazar decided to tell his closest friend jean huff about his work at the base [Music] my reaction was to without pressing him against his will find out more get him
(12:47) to tell me anything i could and it wasn't disbelief i i think i was actually motivated to further read i started investigating investigating other books on ufos and other researchers information to see if anyone knew anything and needless to say they didn't know what bothered me one month later in march 1989 bob lazar went one step further he decided to take his friends to the desert and show them a flying disc test [Music] i remembered most of the days and times of testing so i believe it was eight or nine
(13:29) o'clock on a wednesday night somewhere in march 89 i believe we went out with gene huff my ex-wife and john lear shortly after the flight time that i had recorded white light uh came up off the ground and hovered and then we do began doing radical step maneuvers and darting from one side of the sky to the other doing some impossible flight characteristics but at times the craft had glowed tremendously bright where we thought i'm being miles and miles away we thought there was something wrong and the craft was going to explode so much
(14:12) so that we all got behind the car it actually came closer it came down the mountain range toward us to where we could actually see it was elliptically shaped uh it looked like something that it's it's strange to explain it looks like an explosion that starts to explode and stops and doesn't explode and dissipate that's how bright the light is your brain interprets it as an explosion about to happen on his third visit with his friends to observe the discs at night bob lazar was arrested he was taken to an unknown location for (14:49) interrogation and never returned to area 51 they threatened my wife they threatened to kill my wife they said they'd stop at nothing they said they thought they made that very clear they couldn't believe that i had taken anyone out there to show them that much less left with information like the flight test data and wanted to know what else i had said who else i had told specifically security agents from the ofi the office of federal investigation had been witnessed doing random security checks at his house
(15:22) there was almost no question in anyone's mind anyone in in bob's immediate life who who talked with him on the telephone that his phone was tapped i mean strange things would have it on bob's phone and really continue to this day dennis mariani who was my supervisor called and all he said was do you have any idea what we're going to do to you now and that was the end of the phone call they were they were crazy they really were they were completely out of control when you go to work out at those low

(00:55) going on up there this area all across the north here is used for the red flag exercises which is the air force equivalent to the navy's top gun exercises they come out of nellis air force base here and fly this whole area right dead center of the test site is what is known as area 51 also known as watertown also known as the ranch at the very center is groom lake it's about 10 miles on each side and this is where most the secret activity goes on just 10 miles south of the groom lakes complex is an even more secret area this
(01:40) is where the saucers the discs are flown an area called s4 there's nine hangers inside the mountain and the disks are flown up the immigrant valley up in this area they're flown like that and this is where they can be seen from this road mailbox road which is right here it's about 14 miles from there to where you see the discs up in this area up here is the tonopod test range and one of the workers up there at this lake right here one day saw a big door open on the in the dry bed of the lake and a disc come out of there
(02:29) area 51 was basically a navy training base until 1955 when in conjunction with the cia lockheed made a secret test space out of it and the reason was to test the u2 uh in 1959 60 and 61 they also tested the sr-71 out of there and it became a perfect area in which to test secret equipment and secret airplanes so it was because it was so remote it was bounded on all sides by mountains and it was essentially a million miles from nowhere the security that it provided was just exactly what they needed in the after 1960 it became a
(03:22) area to test not only planes but equipment machinery all kinds of secret things that they had in 1972 there is according to my research a complete blackout of detailed information records what have you for a period of 18 months nobody knows what happens between the summer of 82 and uh i think it was january uh summer of the 72 in january of 74.
(03:57) there's absolutely no records they talked to security guards they don't know what happened there i don't know what happened there i don't really have any suspicions because the flying saucer program began project red light began it's my information in earnest at green lake in 1960. they didn't attempt to fly one or two of the craft there was a major accident and the testing operation shut down for a number of years the testing operations began in earnest again i believe in 1980 81 82 around that area and the reason i say that is because the
(04:33) security increased drastically uh during that period and i believe that just south of groom lake which is in the northeast corner of of the nevada test site is a place called papoose lake it's a dry lake there's a secret area there called s4 and i believe that that's where they test the saucers out of my sources are varied but the primary source being bob lazar who worked on uh one of the nine saucers that were stored there connor stevens then you investigated rumors about the top secret flying sales investigation project in area 51
(05:16) yes the rumors became a little more real to me in about 1978 when i discovered my first participant in the changeover of that

(00:00) known him for this period of time and i had no reason to to believe that he would tell me anything other but the truth well i had met ed teller at los alamos one day we had a brief meeting and a talk um i had shortly thereafter moved to las vegas and basically left the scientific community to do other work uh some time later i decided to re-enter and send applications out to several other national labs and also went to ed teller and he gave me a call and he said he might have something that i'd be interested in (00:43) and suggested that i go for an interview shortly thereafter someone from egng called and told me to come down for an interview there they made it very clear that egng had nothing to do with it they were just using the building as a place to do the interview after a short time they said i was basically overqualified for the position but they may have something else in the future and i don't remember how much time lapsed after that but shortly thereafter they asked me to come down for another interview and uh they said this was involving uh

(01:19) i don't remember their exact wording but they led me to believe it was uh a field propulsion system and of course i thought it was something that in secret that we were working on uh later only did i find out that it was uh you know a back engineering program dealing with alien craft i flew out of las vegas mccarran airport and i flew to groom lake in a 737 aircraft we land at groom lake and there's a bus there that drives about 15 miles south approximately i'm i'm really not sure exactly how far
(02:00) down to a smaller dry lake bed known as papoose lake and right up against the side of the mountain is the s4 installation and what happened to you first when you entered it how did phil receive you uh it was very military-like it was certainly not a scientific atmosphere very high security everywhere you you walked you had to have an escort an armed escort even even into the bathroom all doors lock and open with your uh with your badge and uh it was a very oppressive atmosphere um how many times did you spend on this
(02:46) atmosphere before you saw the craft for the first time i believe i was only there two or three day probably two days before i saw the craft time what your question was and your feelings when you saw it well my feelings it was very uh um i should step back a minute and say that when i first saw the craft the first time it was walking into the hangar and my impression was well this explains all the ufo sightings this is just a secret military aircraft we're working on and that's the end of that it was actually the second time when i
(03:26) saw the craft when i got to enter it and look over it and i finally realized what was going on that this is an alien craft and of course this was after i read the briefings and uh that was a totally different feeling that was not a feeling of excitement it was a almost an anonymous feeling that a feeling as if you shouldn't even be there is very difficult to describe that it looked like if anyone's familiar with the billy myers uh sightings very astonishingly similar to that uh that craft it was a very sleek thin looking (04:10) uh flying saucer shaped craft kind of hard to describe without drawing it but kind of a typical flying saucer shape did you see just one type of different types there were nine total i only got to essentially work back engineer or analyze one of the craft but there was a separate hanger for each of the crafts and each one was essentially different uh in its visual appearance did anybody tell you about the u.
(04:50) s navy intelligence conflict craft form no no not at all that's uh a lot of people have speculated about it that they were either shot down or they crashed but the craft seemed undamaged so i doubt either of those would be correct can you describe the inside of an alien craft it's very plain it's all one solid color a grayish pewter color the same color as the outside of the craft there are no sharp corners anywhere every device in the craft the seat the amplifier housings everything has a rounded corner on it almost as if it was all fashioned out of wax and then
(05:32) slightly melted so everything curved even where the ceiling meets the floor on the end everything has a curve to it very very plain very wide open very impractical use of space and there are three levels the lower level houses the amplifiers themselves that swing the three of them the center level is where you enter the craft where the seats and the amplifiers are and the uh top level is a small area and i did not have access to that so i don't know what's up there do you think the alien craft was constructed (06:08) absolutely alien craft there's no question about it well first of all the scope of the project was to back engineer it if they were united states craft we wouldn't be going back we're trying to find out how they were built if we had built them second of all the size of the equipment inside the size of the seats the materials that were in use completely alien to us pardon the pun and uh you know the fuel element 115 essentially non-existent all these factors together and of course the briefing information (06:45) stating that they were alien craft could anybody tell you how the propulsion function well that was part of my job was to back engineer that and find out exactly how that operated and they had made some progress but i really don't know how long the craft was was there being analyzed uh if it was one year or ten years before i got there but it seems like only a modest amount of progress had been made the propulsion system is really an amazing setup there's two parts gravity amplifiers and the reactor that provides the power (07:25) the reactor itself is a total annihilation reactor fueled by antimatter total annihilation is essentially the most efficient uh nuclear reaction that takes place of the three fission fusion and annihilation it uses a super heavy element element 115 as it would appear on the periodic chart none has yet been synthesized on earth it's my opinion that this occurs naturally in in certain star systems this element is bombarded in an extremely small accelerator the element under bombardment undergoes spontaneous fission and

(08:08) produces antimiter particles these are interacted with a gaseous matter target and by means of a 100 percent efficient uh thermoelectric device is converted into electricity now 100 percent efficient uh any electric device is essentially impossible uh you know the first law their thermodynamics says that's basically impossible there has to be waste heat and things of that sort but there's none detected in in this system that's another amazing form of technology this uh tremendous amount of power the system generates
(08:48) operates the amplifiers and also as a byproduct of the 115 undergoing uh this bombardment it produces a very interesting phenomena a gravity a wave as it's known to be called this gravity a wave is it travels in almost the same way microwaves travel this is essentially applied to the gravity amplifiers and by means of the electric current also provided by the reactor it's amplified and focused uh the amplified signal is shift shifted slightly out of phase and and by virtue of that they can repel or attract
(09:35) a gravitational body the craft can take off on one gravity amplifier there are three in this particular craft uh when it's using just one amplifier essentially pushing away from the earth it's known as omicron configuration for space travel the craft will rotate up on its side face the three gravity amplifiers at the target they'll focus down on a single point some tremendous distance away and the amplifier and the associated and the reactor the associated reactor will be run up to full power and they essentially pull the fabric of (10:14) space distort space and time toward the craft so they can trim traverse a tremendous amount of distance in in virtually no time at all they're not traveling in a linear fashion they're essentially bending space and space the fabric of space essentially and gravity and time are all interlaced uh when you start distorting gravity you just store time and space along with it and these are these aren't theories we've known these for a while we just have no way of controlling them but apparently the civilization has found
(10:44) out how they've done several test flights in it now not out of the atmosphere these are short controlled low altitude flights essentially they have a prized possession here so they're not going to risk taking this to a point uh where they could potentially lose it as you know at the gravitational pull of the earth or going too high but i witnessed several tests um outside the compound and also one you know probably about 100 feet away from the craft how did the craft behave in a flight very very quietly it it
(11:30) lifted off and it made a slight hissing sound uh a slight uh blue glow from the bottom probably due to the extreme voltage that's present on the craft after a short time that that disappeared as it rose and just gently glided and later sat down it was very uneventful but almost totally silent and can you please describe the briefing documents and the information contained in it uh it was there were an extensive amount 120 some odd briefing documents all of them very short and uh essentially what they were doing was
(12:16) just giving me an overview of the other aspects of the research being done on the craft and the bulk of the information all the technical information was specifically dealing with the power and propulsion system which is what i was supposed to be working on but there were documents uh uh basically stating that these were aliens that possessed the craft there were some autopsy reports that uh not very in-depth they had no reason to give me in-depth reports on that but they did have pictures and two pictures actually have the alien (12:54) carcass with the chest cut open in a single organ removed and the organ itself was uh sectioned uh it seemed to from my non-medical viewpoint it seemed that this one organ performed many functions instead of one there were documents on metallurgical work being done on the craft and really every aspect that separate groups were working on and i'm sure they got a briefing on what my group was working on a very abbreviated one as i did on theirs and this will save every aliens come from yeah it did mention the zeta reticuli (13:38) system and how that information was extracted from the craft i don't know maybe there were star charts or something along those lines did they contain any information about fee um history of mankind the alien involvement and the history of mankind not not really not nothing that said well this is the way things were uh there there there was mention of um alien intervention in in the past i mean extremely long ago something along the lines of uh i have millions of years ago uh for the information that that i

(14:22) looked at it it seemed that uh and there again these are briefing documents so i can't i i can't myself ascertain whether or not these are true i can only assume it because the briefing documents i read that pertain to the propulsion system were true because i i dealt with that but uh they did make reference to uh contact with the earth over ten thousand years ago uh also with uh genetic alterations that ended in uh a simian being and all kinds of claims did you ever meet an alien or some alien body other than in pictures no i've (15:06) mentioned several times that i'd walk through an area and looked in a small window and saw something small there but i don't i really can't say that was an alien body a lot of people jump on that and say yeah you must have seen an alien but uh there's just as much chance that they were trying to figure out the size difference and how the the seats fit a body and you know they had made up a small mannequin or something i didn't see anything moving around alive so i i always say no i i have never seen
(15:37) a living alley what do you that's very difficult to say i i really i really don't know i'm certainly not the most qualified as far as physics goes uh so i really don't know i've i approach things at a very different viewpoint uh they might have been frustrated after a long time walking down the same path and not getting anywhere and they wanted someone essentially to come out of left field and approach it from a different angle with a different viewpoint and uh i'm kind of known for that (16:10) why did you went public with information when why why uh that's again a complex question it's not just one reason there's several stemming from from many things harassment to protect myself the fact that this information being contained is is also unfair but there are many many reasons after you went public they will try to silence you in any way oh in every way yes i was uh shot at while getting on the freeway here in las vegas friends were harassed and taken out of work that that knew me many things happened (16:55) well he was uh he was upset about the security at the base it was an oppressive place to work he was upset that they didn't have

Transcript:
(00:03) this gathering represents every bomb demolition team's nightmare once a year a group of pyro enthusiasts sneak out into the nevada desert far from the reach of the law and go crazy [Music] welcome to desert blast probably the most well-known amateur pyro [Music] helicopters 50 caliber machine guns explosions fireworks some of the most impressive fireworks you'll see anywhere you've got pyrotechnicians competing against each other to see who can impress you know everybody so it's quite a collection of everything
(01:02) 12 years ago physicist bob lazar decided that he wanted to blow things up without getting arrested for it so he and a group of friends headed out to a dried-up lake in nevada and desert blast was born desert blast nowadays is a collection of engineers scientists pyrotechnicians pretty much everyone from every field that you can possibly imagine who just like to get together for a weekend out of the year and you know let it all hang out essentially this is a very exclusive group of techno wackos and maniacs that just kind of (01:40) enjoy the artist growing up i think first of all anybody that would come out here in this hundred and five hundred and ten degree heat has to be a little bit not normal that may be true yet there are plenty of people who are dying to participate in desert blast but this is a private party the festival's location and time are closely guarded secrets that change each year you have to be on the invite list to get in and that's the list that bob and his partner jean huff control completely [Music] getting an invitation to desert blast is (02:18) a really difficult thing and we purposely make it that way we're very selective on who we allow to come and and by doing that we really weed out all of the bad you know any other bad influence you might see at any party of this size anyone can who can have a party as well as do their drinking or whatever they can have without getting in a fight and you know act like an adult we like to do dangerous things and be safe and anyone who can't do that doesn't come next to it which is probably a good thing given the (02:46) lethal toys these people play with this is a smooth war black powder cannon it's made out of three or four thicknesses of laminated steel it's a coffee creamer it has a really high fat content what we have underneath here is some lifting charges three two one let's go [Music] this stuff kind of makes a big deal so you kind of want to get away from it i know mostly for my rockets it's a particular formula that burns intermittently we're just experimenting with a water rocket filled with gasoline and

(03:30) we're igniting it on the way up [Music] more experimentation i think this is a high power rocket seven and a half inches in diameter about 12 or 13 feet tall fire [Music] desert blast is not solely for kicks many of the experts participating are trying out new designs for the first time others are simply here to learn [Music] we run a fireworks business in australia so we attend conventions to learn how people are doing things but this is sort of more cutting edge technology it's people trying new things [Music]
(04:16) here's something new an ultra-light plane equipped with fully armed air-to-air missiles built by brent and todd van hoffman the name of this plane is air flatulence um you can sort of make that whatever you want these rockets are basically like scale models of a phoenix missile which is the only rocket shutoff of the f-14 they should go about a half a mile and uh if i aim for somebody and hit them it should go right through them although they asked me not to do that and for the price of a beer i said all right
(05:02) [Applause] the highlight of the day is usually the air show and like everything else at desert blast it's definitely not normal today we're gonna go out here and blow up a couple of brand new cars [Music] [Music] well i just hope they took the collision damage waiver on this the rental company is going to be really upset as night falls fireworks go up and desert blast 12 comes to a close by daybreak not a trace of the festival
(06:05) will be left in 24 hours we completely return the site to the exact way we found it not leaving a scrap of paper a hole or anywhere and just disappear if you just blink your eyes we're here and gone and it's time for everyone to pick up their toys and return to the daily grind of being an adult but most will be daydreaming about blowing things up they'll get their chance at next year's desert blast guys have an affinity for lighting fuses and blowing up stuff why i have no idea i try to explain it
(06:44) to practically every girlfriend that i've ever had and they're like so let me get this straight you like right light these rockets they go up and they explode and this is fun to you and i'm like yeah because let's face it if a grown man can turn 14 enjoy that year why not stay there that's what

(00:35) they were actually very stable individuals always had they always had they had families and they had lives to look forward to and they had every reason to live and and if there is some form of conspiracy out there then the more people that are talking might end up saving lives in the long run the grade in 1954 treaty would have been violated after after the great fire fight the alien human war i am the only living survivor talking about it worldwide at all only one the other two are in nursing homes in canada and the canadian government refuses to (01:15) allow any us people including myself to talk to them because they are afraid of kidnap probably the reason i got shot to pieces and 11 attempts on my life is i am a direct threat in my hand here i have a piece of what's called corbamite it's the heaviest element in the world element 140 this piece of material weighs 15 ounces three and a half times the weight of uranium it cannot be made to emit gamma rays after roswell debacle our military got before the u.

(02:05) s senate their hall before the u.s senate says what's going on here well we didn't know anything about discs until this happened that flopped in our backyard total lie they lied to the u.s senate they should have been prosecuted as traitors anybody lying to united states senator house of representative any senator house of representative person president united states vice president any any cabinet member lying to the american public is a traitor and should be dealt with in an appropriate fashion is we have to literally ask for the truth if we cannot (02:44) ask for the truth we must demand the truth we must take it before courts of law and common law systems and we must demand it if we cannot do this our founding fathers told us the only thing left is to overthrow to get the parasites out i don't advocate overthrow but it does look like this may be the only alternative uh [Music] [Music] [Music]
(03:57) where everybody else watching [Music] a little bit after [Music] did we see something you won't really have all right i'll tell you that's great i'm telling you we saw [Music] my first saucer and saw two other ones into the pretty close to three hours [Music] [Music]
(05:07) i can't get this timer to work you know i've tried for an hour and a half to get this thing to work but it just won't so i just have to excuse me we're at the little alien right now [Music] and uh i want you to get this let me pan back here a little bit so you can see what it really looks like it's absolutely just gorgeous from where i'm at i just had to show you this because i wouldn't want you to miss it totally tremendous we talked to the two owners and uh they were very nice pleasant
(05:41) people very nice told them about don newman tape got your card going about the videotape and everything you know what's going on want to know if we could see you pretty good we told him we could told gave the what's his name you know to calibrate for us turn around here for a second and back of course this is the little alien from the other side [Music] show you where we're staying at [Music] we're staying right here at this place not a bad place either we went 27 50 92.
(06:23) it's pretty good there's no thieves out here or nothing so they there's no keys to the lock and they never use them so there it is again from my left eye here until it's going down there's the groom lake there facility way up there i don't know i can't see too good in black and white in the viewfinder but if you might be able to make out that snow up there yeah now you can see it snow everywhere we're gonna go down the road here as much as possible wait for a little while for the ufos
(06:58) there's another little friend of ours okay pan back again so you can get a chance to see everything there's another friend of ours okay only cut off about here you saw it moving didn't you yes sure did i set a dog leg to the left then at a about face straight up and then it did a dog leg to the left coming to the right i get really close in this bastard he gets real strange on me it's totally round phil i'm gonna take a beat on him right now yeah get the bikes out quick this is it dudes this is what we came to
(07:56) see i got both my eyes open i saw the dude move is he yeah okay phil's got the binoculars on him he says it's a disc now i'm going to get extreme close-up on him that's it an extreme close-up no i'm filming you look i don't want to break what [Music] a little bit you can see this is the groom dry lake area on the other side of those mountains look around the road see is anyone watching us let me get my radar
(09:11) [Music] real rippy [Music] now this guy's not moving but we saw him move yeah there's a ford twin cab and he's going up by the uh atomic energy road yeah yeah phil got it running i can't see anything i'm hoping that this thing will come in on the film anyway right now i got the advanced game button up this thing's going nuts i know it if you guys can hear this tape we have been watching two flying saucers for what about the last half hour at least the last half hour it's about 10 to 20 degrees below zero out here

up i'm getting heat mirages this far back so i'm lucky i turned this thing on i don't know if it'll come out on film or not but i can see the heat mirage right here i got both my eyes open so i can see down there and right in here but believe me i can't i can't see anything out of this camera i move the camera back and forth see me the heat mirages stay right in the middle no matter what i do are they going yeah they're off the (10:48) floor okay okay i'm gonna point this up the moon real quick see if i can't see the moon at least [Music] no i won't even pick up the moon really oh i got it now all right i don't think yeah i got the moon that's bright enough i still need extra light though i've been sitting out on the desert floor for a while [Music] i'm just trying to aim this by eye
(12:17) i've been looking through the viewfinder good lord can you see that there it is you see that that's above the groomed legs that's not even down on the dry like bed that's above it sucker just picked up and took off and he's moving [Music] it's just pound up in the distance see that that's billy boy over there doing a full zoom right now for you billy boy island and there's a full zoom with billy boy island actually what should we name this saucer huh oh see just kidding okay now listen wow i just did this okay
(13:17) now listen you guys we're at the same place that you saw in the movie where all the trucks are stopping the billy goodman shows that we're in the exact same spot okay and where you guys saw the saucer go up towards the left and then up again well this is over about 20 miles from there towards the left on this side of area 50.
(13:40) on this side of the area 51 that's right we can see these things plain as day they were coming in behind us sometimes i have lights pop of lights like three of them coming on the other side of us i saw one personally go right into groom's right way both mountain plate lightning bolt straight he saw one two i didn't see the one he saw saw three saucers at once setting off his radar alarm like you wouldn't believe it all would move in unison through here one above it this way that way this way and sometimes this one go further and
(14:26) they go this way they're going like this it's unbelievable just doing it like you wouldn't believe it so anyway what about 10 o'clock we had enough of it being 10 miles away we snuck up on it lights out probably got in with about six miles in maybe more and uh then that security thing of jay came up after us so good night a one hell of a christmas though i tell ya after seeing the stuff tonight i got no doubts whatsoever these guys got arvs out here they're testing saucers well i saw it tonight for sausage there's no airplane
(15:16) crap about it airplanes can't go zip zip you know nothing down up in virginia city and these softer shaped clouds come over the mountain over your head and then they completely fizzle out they call it lenticular lin-shaped clouds and some of them are natural phenomena and others are not natural because the ones you'll see over over the non-mountainous areas well this was a this was this one was so perfectly i'd say it was maybe 100 feet diameter and maybe 25-30 feet high but it's just perfectly perfectly round yeah and just (16:18) well i mean just straight like a pillow have you seen uh have you seen the one that gary phelps took out over where you were stuck last night no uh the only reference did you see the ranch house over in the next bed with the lights on that no uh we didn't go that far this little horseshoe well you can see it from the uh
(17:45) sometimes you know [Music] is [Music] but electro physicist bob lazar says according to lazar the united states navy has possession of nine alien spaceships one of which lizard was (18:49) assigned to penalize at area 51. killing hands did not put this together [Music] 115 on a very hard chart there again that's another material that we can't even simplify 10 years ago this same stretch of area 51 was the secret developmental site of the skilled fighter and bomber as well as ground zero for countless nuclear tests many researchers say if the government had a ufo to hide they could certainly hide it here i believe beyond any counter or doubt [Music]
(20:19) ridge from the test site rachel nevada is ufo central sightseeing tourists have put a new stop on the bus route and any night you walk into the only bar in town you hear some strange tales and see even stranger this is where we were last night this is the same patch of road where billy goodman and all the other people come here give you an example where we are looking this way this is going west towards tonopah to show you the road behind us here this is that full zoom magnification the road's back there i don't think you can see it from here (21:10) anyway there's the car we were at this is how we were parked there's the other road we took a ride on last night to go see the saucers that were down they were landed flying saucers there's no doubt about it okay now where am i we roughly we're seeing them right over here that's where we were watching them do their thing last night between here and here flying all over the mountain for about three four hours we sat here gotten out in and out of the car watched them the whole thing yeah okay so this is it this is it somewhere on (22:05) the other side of those hills right there when i get your close-up of this is probably s4 that's where they were testing right in there give you a good idea where it's at and then i'm telling you they tested something fierce okay i'm shutting it off now [Music] last night with the lights off about 10 15 10 30.

(22:37) catch those two grounded saucers give you an idea here it's a little bumpy i'm gonna check this thing off but you get a general idea we got to have our lights off all the way down [Music] okay i'm gonna get a close-up get closer to it and there's those guys probably looking
(23:44) at us right now checking us out i'm gonna scan around here and show you just how desolate this place is it is pretty desolate nothing and there's just nothing here there's the road we came in on you can tell it's way the heck over there [Music]
(24:59) so and then again back to the road again see that little hill right there we're gonna go climb up on top of that take a spin around so you can see all sides of the 360. there's the car a little dusty in the road there we walked all the way up here it's cold it's windy then when we get up here how do you think we find some rock markers as you can tell no we didn't find those binoculars they're just there the whole time [Music] yeah yeah okay here's the fireplace we found up here middle of nowhere
(25:55) let me take a look inside there standing on some level ground here so i'll turn around and give you a quick view of everything like i said we're in the middle of nowhere in the middle of nowhere there's the road up there when we came in at [Music] there's the road right there leading from alamo las vegas there and we were right out in the middle of there watching right last night and right behind me right now is where we saw the flying saucers last night and believe me we saw no doubt neither one of our minds what
(26:44) we saw [Music] prudence is the word [Music] oh i have to say it's just been an amazing christmas present that's all i'm gonna say merry christmas to you all folks

(00:05) [Music] this is a distinguished uh lecture series i don't know how distinguished i am but i'll tell you the more trips you make to that bar the better this is going to be you know i was talking with alan and karen and brian as they were planning on putting together the area 51 exhibit downstairs hope you've all seen it by now it's it's a lot of fun and uh as they were going through we were going through my boxes of old stuff and i'm telling them stories they're asking questions about how i got (01:06) started down this path i would tell them what it was like back in those days and how i got hooked on the story and how i met bob lazar and they seem fascinated with those behind the scenes stories of of how those things went down back in those days why i would essentially put my career and my credibility at risk j something seemingly so crazy and ridiculous uh how i could still be looking at the subject so many years later and so i shared with them some of the backstory and the details on how i became interested what was going on (01:36) behind the scenes the price that everyone associated with this has paid over the years and how my views on some of the larger issues involved have evolved over the years and they seem to think some of those stories were interesting so they asked me to share them with you tonight in some sort of a public forum and you know and i well i have spoken many times in public about area 51 and about bob lazar and some of the crazy stuff that's happened uh the general topic of ufos at least some of these tales here tonight (02:06) uh have not been told in any detail at all and i'm going to reveal the existence of a witness who was whispering in my ear back then we call this in the news business burying the lead but somewhere along the line here tonight i'm going to tell you the name of a guy who was who was interested in this topic and who helped me along the way and i think it could qualify maybe as a headline somewhere i will say at the outset that that although you know i will never be allowed to set foot on that base i'll never get any closer to it than the (02:37) warning signs that say use of deadly force is authorized and i've been out there maybe a hundred times over the years you know dodging around in the desert and trying to keep from from being intercepted by the camo dudes and and dodging uh dirt clods and dust devils and and all kinds of things like that and coyotes um i'll never get any closer to it than the signs which of course the signs are many miles from most of the interesting stuff that goes on out there still area 51 is to me is as much a part of my life as it

(03:11) is for the people who worked out there i mean it's been 24 years the people who worked out there uh people like my friend td barnes who's here in the audience tonight uh the road runners uh they toiled in obscurity couldn't even tell their their spouses what they were doing for a living that they basically protected all of us and we didn't know about it not even their own families could know about it they basically won the cold war out there i mean they were really there so for them it's a real part of their life
(03:39) but i'm telling you it's as much a part of my life and it has been for 24 years now as it is for theirs i suspect that you know years from now when i die there'll be something about ufos and area 51 on a tombstone assuming that i ever am buried somewhere they find the body area 51 i would say is as much linked to my name as is as if it's like tattooed on my butt for better or worse i guess you could say those stories we told long ago back in 1989 um to begin with those stories have i think paved the way
(04:15) for the rest of the people who really did work out there and toiled in obscurity as i mentioned who did all that work to protect all of us who work for the cia and the military for them to come forward and tell their story and back when we started talking about flying saucers you'll recall the government did not acknowledge that the base even existed there was a time back when they first set up the facility that the government put out a little a little notice that sent to channel 8 and other media people says we're going
(04:44) to build this little facility out here in the desert at a place called watertown don't worry it's a temporary thing it'll go away and don't pay any attention to it kind of a thing and that's what they acknowledged and then some years later you know you can look at a map of the nevada test site and there's area 15 there's area 12 and there's this box over here outside the test site itself but it was called area 51 and it was on the maps and all of a sudden it disappeared now it went away
(05:10) and in the years when i first started working on the story the government would not acknowledge that it existed now i've got russian satellite photos that i obtained i can see pictures of it i had guy named john leer who walked right up to the gate in years past who showed me close-up photos of it i talked to people who worked out there you could climb up a hill and look at the damn thing and yet our government would say it didn't exist well naturally that kind of a situation is going to get you curious about about
(05:37) a place like that back in those days though outside of nevada other than people who had worked there or in the military few people anywhere had heard of the place you didn't know the name area 51. it was spoken about in whispers you know and i think that uh you know the fact that the cia guys who worked out there the fact that military people worked out there who have reasons to be proud of the work that they did have been allowed the last couple of years to come forward and talk about it i think a lot of that has to do with (06:11) these crazy flying saucer stories that we told because it sort of blew the lid off the idea that there really isn't a base out there acknowledge that there really is legitimate national security programs going on and sort of paved the way and made it acceptable for them to come forward and talk about the great work that they did as i said uh you know it's hard to believe that there was a time not that long ago when when base really didn't exist and so few people knew about it or those who did know about it had to (06:37) use a nickname or a code name for the place um now however it is known in every corner of the world it's known everywhere in fact i'm going to show you a little clip here in a second um and it wouldn't have happened without these stories that we did about bob lazar and area 51. i think that um you know i've been a journalist as alan mentioned the introduction at channel 8 since 1981 and i've covered just about every kind of story you can imagine organized crime drug dealers gun runners corrupt officials scams rip-offs (07:13) campaign hijack hijinks sex scandals political convention buried treasure polluters murders fires bikers stick ups pot farmers crack peddlers scumbags boneheads and butch cassidy and the sundance kid and yet wherever i go whoever i talk to i'm the ufo reporter it doesn't matter what those other stories some of them were pretty good stories some of them made a difference in the lives of the people who are here in this room doesn't matter about those other stories the thing that people want to talk to me about is ufos

(07:49) i don't care if i'm in a grocery store or a restaurant having a meal and they come up and take up a seat in the men's room in front of the urinal sitting in traffic people yelling out out the window the car window to talk to me about ufos and most of the time it's to ask me hey what do you what do you think about ufos you really believe that stuff the reality of it is they don't want to ask me what my opinion is they want to tell me their story because so many people have stories and i'll bet there are people in here
(08:21) most people here if you don't have a story of your own or a sighting or an incident you know somebody in your family who does because that's how ubiquitous this phenomena is and it certainly is ubiquitous in my life i mean i will be forever branded i mean hardly a day goes by when i don't get a phone call or an email from ecuador or iceland or australia or china or somewhere else that somebody has just seen one of my bootleg reports or something on the internet who want to talk to me about ufos 1989 the year that we did the lazar
(08:55) stories is the year that i officially went crazy off my rocker out the lunch that's uh that's what we broke the story about bob lazar the ridiculous notion that there could be recovered alien craft out at area 51 i know how ridiculous it sounds now i know how ridiculous it sounded then but i'm here to tell you tonight about the circumstances of why we decided to pursue it as a story because as a result of that as i mentioned that's when the world beat a path to area 51's door and uh it has created a a legend a
(09:27) legend was born a mythology an ever evolving mythology one that has at times been co-opted by people for various reasons uh exploited uh for their own reasons by these hopelessly gullible saucer nuts by uh people who think that the the milk carton children are all kidnapped and taken out there to be mixed up into giant human alien vats to make body parts you name it uh people have assigned different stories to it there was a guy after i first did these stories about lazar who would taking people on tours charging them 99 bucks ahead
(10:04) and telling them that aliens from the planet krondak were in charge of the base down there at like the 35 levels below uh the surface of the earth so story has changed uh it has evolved uh but there's no doubt that as a result of those tales it began with bob lazar it's known all over the world it began with an interview with bob lazar that that was in silhouette you saw a piece of that that was in may of 1989 and then we sort of started working on it and it just took off from there and it drove my journalism colleagues
(10:40) crazy um they hated it and and i've sort of paid the price for that i don't mind i mean radio djs back in those days whenever they would run out of belch barf and fart jokes in the morning uh would tee off on me i remember i'm writing a song about the boob on the tube to the tune of the full on the hill that was pretty funny stuff my friends at the review journal my friends and colleagues over there have really had fun at my expense over the years this is one of a couple of columns that john l smith has written
(11:10) about the ufo reporter having a close encounter with skepticism and he ends it with besides i think i saw elvis milling around in the lobby because nobody ever has associated ufos with elvis before this is a column written by their media columnist ken white who said get the nets is the title of the article says las vegas are rushing home from work these days in sheer fits of excitement over george knapp's series on ufos not that they're excited over the reports themselves they want to be there if george does the (11:40) big crack up on screen will he go will he go bull goose looney right there in front of thousands his eyes suddenly going buggy and rolling free in their sockets his tongue wagging side to side funny stuff this is an editorial cartoon i have it in at home by the way on my wall uh the original it's called the marshmallow head chronicles extraterrestrial hitmen who have come to earth looking for me and they're looking at a couple of gasoline pumps and the line says of course they are men that's obvious but (12:12) which one is george knapp maybe and then this is one i did a series about allegations about alien abductions and the certain medical procedures and probes that happen according to the people who go through this and the rj wrote this they were kidnapped by aliens oh it gets better they dubbed me a grand mullah in the church of stratospheric proctology i thought i thought it was a damn fine line it might be the best thing the r.

(12:45) j has ever written i don't know you know it comes with the territory i have a public job i understand that i'm in a public position i do a story like that you're going to catch some grief i understand that i have thick skin and i can deal with it what sort of bothered me over all the years though is how few of these kind of reporters who live here and who could cover the story and go out there interview the witnesses go track it down never did it's easier to bang out some wise cracks do an elvis joke maybe pull
(13:19) in loch ness monster and make fun of this stuff than to go talk to somebody like a td barnes or bob lazar or back in those days he was much more accessible or some of the other folks who worked at the base or to sit out there in the desert night after night as we did and see whatever it is that might be flying around but they didn't they prefer just to take pot shots at it and that's easier to do i guess than to do the actual work and i think the assumption for people for a long time both regarding area 51 and more importantly (13:50) for the larger ufo story is that anybody who's seriously injured interested in this stuff is nuts is crazy is is bull goose looney and um i'll have to tell you that in uh in about 90 of the cases that that assumption is right because people who are in this field are crazy um i will just share with you a couple of the experiences that i have had that caused me a great concern in the early days when i was chasing this stuff there was a woman who showed up at the tv station after the first series of reports
(14:22) she's wearing the skimpy halter top and holding a kid that i later learned soon learned was a an alien hybrid she told me and within five minutes of me meeting her she had to tell me this story had to meet me had to talk to me she's telling me the story within five minutes of me meeting her i knew the most intimate details of her sex life because she said it was while performing a certain sex act outdoors on her porch that she heard a noise and looked up and saw her first ufo and then eventually and i'm not
(14:52) making up one word of this eventually these these beings beamed her up on board on their ship and they told her in their app to put on a bathing suit and they told her in their opinion that she needed breast implants and uh i'm not making this up she's telling me all this stuff and i go huh yeah i'm writing this stuff down oh really yeah and she says she got him and i'll tell you that's the one part of the story i could believe because because there was ample physical evidence staring me in the face
(15:29) i received letters from this lady she was 75 years old at the time and she lived on a ranch outside sacramento california and she would tell me that every time her husband would leave the ranch these aliens would come and have their way with her and she drew me pictures of alien genitalia and and with little diagrams pointing little arrows pointing to it it wasn't very impressive i'll just put it that way um i have been pestered by a millionaire transsexual alien abductee uh a guy who says he's the twin brother of jesus
(16:04) christ and that aliens are coming back uh and to get him and boy they're really mad i had a guy fly to see me it was this is a sad story he flew to see me from australia used what he said was last dollars to come to see me because he said he was he wanted me to use my contacts at area 51. that's a laugh to to talk to the aliens to stop coming and getting him because they come every night to to grab him he was he was troubled he was disturbed and i've had a heck of a lot of people like that uh who've come forward with those kind
(16:42) of stories i've had people claiming to be aliens waiting for me outside the station who followed me home i've had people send me songs that aliens have written and poems uh i've had people who accused me of being an alien of being a government agent and a government plant a government operative reluctantly uh you know i've appeared on a couple of tv shows that i wish i could take back the jesse ventura showed to be one and and as a result of that i've met all kinds of people i've been to (17:11) ufo conferences all over the place i remember meeting onek the 400 year old venusian woman and because i guess the ufo topic is weird anything weird that's mine

come and get it uh you're pia possessed by beelzebub call me up i can probably do an exorcism you had an out-of-body experience can't be get back in call george up he'll know what to do with it so you have to ask yourself i mean why would i stick with this stuff how did it ever get this way and i'll tell you my connection to the area 51 story basically started (17:53) the day i was hired at channel 8 back in 1981. the guy who hired me is the name bob stoddahl he's a good friend of mine he was the news director became a mentor to me and he had at the time been collecting little bits and pieces about area 51 anything that would appear in an aviation magazine sometimes there would be a message a little story about groom lake in the newspaper and he had that file and he showed it to me that's kind of interesting and then i didn't think about it for a couple of more years in 1984
(18:23) the air force illegally seized 89 000 acres around area 51. they just took it as one day it's public land the next day you try to drive on that land and there's guys with guns there and you're turned back and they later two years later asked for permission to do it and i've got a little clip i'll show you in a minute a couple of minutes about them appearing to before congress to talk about it in which they're asked well what authority did you do this under well we'll have to tell you in a closed door
(18:51) briefing and uh so that caught my attention i wrote some stories about that back then but i didn't do anything again for a while however my friend mr stoddall and his friend ned day who became a mentor to me were very busy with a story of their own they broke the story about the existence of the stealth fighter being tested and test flown out there air 51.
(19:13) that was a big story f117a they broke it everybody else picked it up as a result of that story going public ned day was picked up by the fbi they picked him up off a street corner put him in a room it was just like a scene out of a movie with a real hot light in his face saying how dare you endanger the lives of 220 million americans by letting this story out don't you know the russians can find this out and ned was pretty scared for a while until he remembered a lesson from journalism school and he said look man i'm just a little reporter
(19:44) in las vegas if i can find this doubt don't you think that the russians can find it out too and so they let him go that was a big story and the reason we were allowed to we were able to get it is because of a guy named john lear and uh john lear is a as a friend of mine uh i now i met him in first in 87 i think he showed up at the tv station he had been the source to alert ned and them to the existence of this plane out there at area 51 so he had a certain amount of credibility at channel 8.
(20:15) and he had also he had run for the state senate uh his family of course is well known in nevada the learjet developed that john had been a pilot for the cia he'd flown just about every plane you can imagine very accomplished guy and a lot of ways uh uh distinguished and smart and in the view of a lot of people completely crazy uh because he became interested in ufos and i mean when he became interested he went all the way so he shows up at the station one day not long after helping ned to break that story about area 50
(20:48) or the f-117 and he's got a great big stack of ufo documents and he drops him on ned's desk and he says you got to read this stuff this is really interesting it's the biggest story in history and what do you think and ned says i'm not having any part of this people will think i'm crazy i don't have time to deal with ufos forget it well i'm eavesdropping at the time and uh so i as as usual and so i said hey let me take a look at that stuff and i first met john lear i took that stuff
(21:16) home and started reading it some of it was obviously manufactured by someone but a lot of it was legitimate documents obtained from our government secret studies conducted by military agencies and authorities about the ufo issue in which these matters were taken very seriously i thought huh that's that's pretty interesting i had never at the time given any kind of thought to ufos i had had some discussions within my own family about things that had happened long ago but as far as i know i had never seen
(21:49) one i had i had one ufo book that somebody had given me as a gift something i read and put aside no abiding interest at all it certainly was not a religion for me or any cause in my life but i looked at it i thought i'm going to put john lear on this little show i have called on the record it was a one of those 30-minute talk shows political discussions you'd have a city councilman on or something to talk about things that nobody cared about it aired at six o'clock in the morning on a sunday and nobody watched it

(22:18) but i put lear on he started doing this ufo manifesto aliens abductions all this stuff and i just kind of sat there with my my jaw a gog and and listened to it and then the phone the the program ended it aired and the phone started ringing and it's people wanted to tell me stories about ufos this is pretty interesting um it had obviously touched the pulse of the public in a way that i did not understand and did not appreciate i had lear on again and the response was even bigger and in that second appearance he hinted
(22:50) that he knew somebody who might be getting hired at area 51 that person turned out to be bob lazar and then i had him on a third time with another crazy guy named bill cooper who really went off the deep end and the response was even bigger and i realized you know what i'm going to have to look into this stuff i'm going to have to start taking this seriously and read on it read about it so i started sort of my own little learning curve and the learning curve as you probably know if you're into the topic
(23:18) is considerable then came the day the next significant event was in may of 1989 i was co-anchoring their five o'clock news we had a little interview segment we did every day entertainers politicians whoever was interesting in town who just wanted to be a kind of a fun interview and at the last minute our interview cancelled so i called up lear and i said hey do you think that ufo guy you were hinting about um would he come on i'll i'll even black out his face if you have to and sure enough he did and we put bob
(23:50) lazar on and did like a five-minute interview and uh in which he told this story this crazy story about working at a place called s4 papoose lake south of groom lake within the area 51 complex nine flying saucers out there in in uh hangers built in to be disguised like the side of a mountain alien in origin they all look different as if we got the variety pack holy cow what to believe about this but again the response from the audience was absolutely overwhelming so when it finished i went and talked to the news director we said uh well
(24:27) let's figure out what to do here because if this guy's telling the truth obviously this is a pretty damn big story and um and as crazy as it might sound let's do some work and find out if there's anything to it and we'll do some reporting on it so about a week later we went to lear's house to meet with bob uh lear was playing games with us then and wouldn't even still wouldn't tell us lazar's real name uh what he didn't know is that lazar had signed the guest book at the entrance to (24:53) bob to john's house so when i walked in i saw the name there and figured out what it was um we talked to bob lazar we put him through paces stowed all and i asking him questions about his background and he seemed like a humble intelligent sincere guy we left the meeting and said you know what um let's give this a go here we recognize there are risks to our creative professional credibility and standing we decided we would be careful maybe do a couple of parts a couple of minutes a night that instead of a couple of parts over a
(25:25) couple of nights it became 10 minutes a night over two weeks and it was the highest rated series we ever aired but that didn't happen until november and then between may and november i did this intense crash course in ufos in which i tried to learn everything i could not only about ufos in general what the government might or might not know but about lazar and um as i said it was a it's a huge learning curve 90 95 of everything in the field i figure is complete nonsense it's made up it's conspiracy stuff it's lunatic theories
(26:02) it's crap put out by people who either want attention or they're nuts or they want to sell something but there's this kernel of truth in the middle of all that of proof and you have to wade through a lot of chaff to get to the wheat but it's there and i think that any reasonable person who does the work and wades through it all to find the kernel of truth inside would believe likewise that is unless as it is for some a religion just as you have people on one side who believe everything they hear everything in the sky is a flying
(26:42) saucer you have other people on the other side the skeptics they call themselves but really they're debunkers and it wouldn't matter if a saucer landed on the white house law and they wouldn't believe it and you couldn't convince them because it would upset their world view it's a religion for them as strongly as it's a religion for the people on the other side and no amount of evidence would change their minds that's at least what i came to believe um and for me i guess i'll talk a little (27:10) bit in general about the concept of proof because what is proof it's it's what should be able to convince a reasonable person that something is true i happen to think that in the area of ufos there's more than enough and what i learned in the course of those next few months and have learned in the 24 years since is that there's a heck of a lot of proof if people are willing to look at it the first one being in the area of eyewitness testimony now i know that eyewitness testimony can be inherently unreliable (27:38) but you've got people 30 40 million americans who will admit seeing ufos probably as many who won't admit it but have seen them and it's true that 90 percent or more of all ufo sightings can be explained away as prosaic objects misidentifications of balloons and planes and things like that but it's also true that 9 out of 10 ufos are not reported at all because there's no one who will take the reports not except for civil civilian organizations you call mccarran or nellis today and tell them you've (28:10) seen a ufo they'll keep you on the phone or the police they'll keep you on the phone long enough to find out if you're dangerous to somebody but they don't care about a ufo or at least they won't admit it oh our interest in that stuff stop so people like you and me somebody who sees something strange in the sky there's nowhere to report it but millions of people have reported it millions of people all over the world have seen these things dating back thousands of years and every culture on every continent

(28:38) in every civilization in human history have seen them they have different names for them and they have different descriptions but they've seen them that counts for something that that counts for something second type of proof is photographic evidence today with what is done online with uh with computer software it's hard to believe anything you see anymore but in the years before we all had computers with this kind of power in our homes there are photos and videos that are reliable that have been tested
(29:10) even by the military that show anomalous objects along anomalous solid objects solid craft that perform maneuvers that our best technology can't do not even the stuff at area 51. the third kind of proof is physical evidence now i get this all the time well you know why don't we have a cigarette lighter from a ufo or something like that where's the roswell uh crash stuff if i knew i'd tell you but we don't have that however there is physical evidence scientists will say there's nothing to analyze with ufos
(29:42) they're here one minute they're gone the next that is not true all over the world as witnesses have reported these things happening there are what we call landing site trace cases witnesses say this ufo landed in my backyard ah come on get out of here but if you go out in the backyard and you look you find a number of physical types of evidence burned or baked soil impressions imprints on the ground trees that are affected by things that fly up and down animals have been affected people have been affected burned
(30:14) things of that sort it is physical evidence for anybody who has the guts to go ahead and look at it jl and hynek i remember him saying arguing with some scientists there's no physical evidence he says you know what airplanes fly over the australian outback every single day and don't crash and people look up and see them it doesn't mean that they don't exist that they the fact that they don't have the aborigines down below don't have a piece of one the fourth type of proof that i want to (30:41) talk about very briefly is government documents i hinted about this before it's what got me hooked i told you that john lear had helped me in the beginning with those great big stack of documents well he continued to give me piles of documents things that have been squeezed out of our government the most impressive evidence of all i think are these reports and studies written by our government by our military about ufos long before the freedom of information act existed these reports were written for military people only to see
(31:11) evaluations for the president for the cia for the joint chiefs and we were never supposed to know about it now you ask about that kind of stuff before the foia existed and these agencies denied that they had anything in fact the the fbi was asked a bunch of times what do you got on ufos we don't have anything nothing four years passed in the mid 70s fbi was forced to release 2 000 pages of documents about ufos same thing with the cia i've written to them a bunch of times when i first started hey what do you got in ufos nothing we (31:41) never studied it never had any interest well both i mean there are documents that were squeezed out of them through foia in the in even in the 70s what that referred to the cia's ufo experts cia ufo panels cia ufo studies that one study that they had in particular i want to mention is something called the robertson panel

this is in the 1950s they convened this panel it had a whole bunch of ufo sightings this great big flat what are we going to do about this stuff well let's look at the evidence they gathered evidence from about (32:11) 8 or 9 10 cases and looked at it for a grand total of six hours over two days they said you know what we don't think that ufos are a threat to national security but the reporting of ufos is a potential threat to national security so we need to institute some changes we need to strip ufos of their aura of mystery strip them of their respectability make it lack less than respectable to report them so they instituted formally a ridicule factor a laughter curtain a policy of making fun of people that see this stuff
(32:44) belittling the whole subject embarrassing scientists who take it seriously and it's worked it's worked now those documents exist i'll show you some other ones um i gave a pile of stuff to the museum here i'm not sure if it's on display or not this is a report compiled by the u.
(33:05) s air force in the office of naval intelligence in 1948 december 1948 and it was there was something called project sign that was a secret study of ufos and the the guys came back they looked at all these cases they said this stuff's real we think it's entirely possible that these things are from other planets a hoyt vandenberg who is the head of the air force i think back then said i can't allow that to go forward forget it burn that copy and come up with something new so project sign became project grudge and they came up with a much different conclusion but (33:38) later project blue book which was nothing more than a public relations exercise collected 19 000 or so cases and even though they tried to explain them away they couldn't now in this document one copy continued to exist even though we're supposed to be destroyed it says it must be accepted that some type of flying objects have been observed their identification and origin are not discernible since the air force is responsible for control of the air in the defense of the u.
(34:06) s it's imperative that all agencies cooperate in confirming or denying the possibility that these objects have a domestic origin i'll tell you about something else it's not really a document this is a chapter from an air force physics textbook and our best and brightest pilots our future joint chiefs of staff members go to the air force academy for training and education and this chapter is called a introductory space science department of physics u s air force academy was what they taught the cadets at the air force academy let (34:40) me quote you from it conclusion from available information the ufo phenomenon appears to have been global in nature for almost fifty thousand years the majority of known witnesses have been reliable people who've seen easily explained natural phenomena and there appears to be no overall positive correlation with population density psychological factors probably do not enter the data picture as noise it it goes on to say that in the course of your career as a pilot you're probably going to encounter one of these things as far as we can tell
(35:14) there may be four different races visiting the planet and it's been going on for thousands of years this is what they're teaching their best and brightest pilots now after ufo people got a hold of this chapter and pointed it out hey you guys been lying to us they pulled it they yanked it um which has sort of been the reaction all the way along and i don't really completely understand it but that's what they did so i think you know when you look at the the trail the paper trail of government documents
(35:41) it's more than persuasive the kinds of stuff that is squeezed out of the our government report after report incident after incident more than enough evidence to convince a reasonable person that something really weird has been flying around in these skies and i'll tell you it's not only documents from this country as a result of me being interested in this crazy subject i've been allowed to travel all over the world and one of the trips two of the trips took me to russia we had a window of opportunity in the 1990s
(36:10) in which we went to russia this company i work for i left channel 8 for a couple years hired this russian physicist we met him through congressman bilbray who was a friend of ours and he was the physicist had worked at the highest levels of the russian government he's a science national national security adviser to boris yeltsin also to the russian parliament he had trained soviet cosmonauts how to spot american nuclear submarines from space the guy was dialed in so i met him as he was getting ready to go back to

about it we had another beer you know that you mentioned i do have a friend at the kgb who told me that he had heard about read some ufo studies that they had documents over there and then he thought there's a guy i know at the academy of sciences who studied this stuff before we know it we got a list of a couple of people who had never talked about ufos publicly (37:08) before i made a deal with the guy we sent him back to russia sent him up in an office i said here's what i want you to do find people who are in a position to know about ufos but have never tried to peddle this story anywhere and he did and for seven or so seven almost eight months he searched out people like that and then i went over to russia to meet him and um we had to pay a little money here and there but i brought back several thousand pages of what was then classified information from russia their ministry of defense conducted
(37:42) the largest ufo study in the history of the world and it lasted for 10 years and the order basically went out that every unit in the vast soviet military empire had to report and fully investigate any anomalous aircraft ball of light weird thing in the sky anything that we would classify as a ufo so all these reports thousands and thousands of reports over a 10-year period rolled in and they all went to the desk of this colonel borosokolov that i met and we got the documents from him and some of these reports were incredibly dramatic sakalov
(38:17) admitted to me your government studies them we're studying them and for the same reasons we want to be able to do what the ufo craft do and beat you in stealth he said these craft do things that we can't do if we can master them and figure out how they do it we could match you in stealth capability so it was a very practical reason for the study uh and it went on for a long time he told me that they had had 45 incidents in which the russian military planes encountered ufos they had a standing order you see a ufo
(38:48) flying over moscow go get it and in three of those encounters the planes were shot down and two of the pilots died this is not that's not funny stuff and he said after the two pilots died uh the order went out it was changed that if you see a ufo leave it alone and the second time i went back to russia i interviewed a guy named igor maltsev who was there basically their secretary of the air force he's the guy that issued that order and he said i did it because these ufos whatever they are may have incredible capacities for (39:19) retaliation uh i will tell you this how i smuggle i smuggled some of these documents back what happens is in uh in russia is there their classified documents they stamp them on the top page and then the rest of it are not stamped classified at least the documents we got so you remove that top page just throw the rest of that stuff in your suitcases what we did it's carrying these top pages that got tricky but i got them out and if i hadn't i'd be in a gulag somewhere still i just divert to that story only
(39:54) to tell you that governments other governments around the world like our government have studied this stuff of course they would there was an incident in russia similar to something that happened here at which ufos appeared over a an icbm base a base where these nuclear-tipped missiles are aimed at the united states and these things popped up over a four-hour period now all the witnesses who made these reports are military officers and i got all of them and so they described different things these ufos did they were there were some (40:27) that were huge that split apart into smaller craft and then fused back together some of them just sat there some of them zipped around they made incredible maneuvers and then right after being there for about four hours the launch control panels the controls these icbms aimed at the united states lit up something entered the codes that enabled these missiles and they were ready to go and the countdown had begun and the russians couldn't stop it and they were freaking and then the ufos over the base go poof
(41:01) gone control panel goes back to normal russians are shaking their head and wiping their brow they called my friend the ministry of defense guy sakalov to send a team in to study it he took apart the equipment they couldn't find anything wrong they couldn't find anything wrong it had never happened before it had never happened since and they concluded that these ufos were somehow sending a message this may be your most powerful technology and weapons but it doesn't really impress us all that much we had a (41:31) similar set of incidents here at five nuclear bases along the us canadian border in the mid 1970s it was kept secret for a long time but after the foia was became law they forced these documents out ufos visited these bases one right after another over a two week period uh encountered our warplanes we tried to chase them

couldn't do it they entered some codes they disabled some missiles scary stuff so when you tell me that ufos are not in that enough of national security you're full of crap and and that is the official version of our (42:06) government and they are full of crap about this um so anyway i think there's more than enough proof to consider that the subject should be taken seriously back to the story of area 51. um why don't we play this other tape here i'll just give you a little introduction to bob lazar the key for me was i'm never going to prove that bob lazar worked at area 51 so i tried to settle on diddy work at los alamos which he claimed where he worked there in classified projects and so we played a little game
(42:36) with los alamos national lab for a couple of years and here's sort of how it goes there are problems with bob's story here and there and and i'll talk about a couple of them but as i mentioned for for me uh key was uh did he did he work at los alamos in sensitive positions because if he had been there uh then it at least plausible he could get hired to work out at out uh somewhere else in sensitive positions and i think he was there i mean i interviewed people that work with him and i'll tell you this i haven't talked (43:10) about this very often but i went to los alamos we trespassed into the national lab on a sunday and bob took me in uh we went to he he still had a a uh a contract with the lab to produce radiation probes that were placed outside the laboratory so he took me there on a sunday we flew to los alamos and he met us at the gate and we got in a car and drove in and he took us through these buildings the place where he never worked like a rabbit going through an underground maze i mean we're going all through people are waving at us and (43:42) uh they showed us where he had worked we talked to people he had worked with and yet everybody's telling us he wasn't there we went in and got video of this one of the world's biggest particle accelerators at the meson facility where he worked and they still said he wasn't there now eventually i got something out of the los alamos lab in which they said all right we found the number for him he was here but he worked only for a subcontractor and they gave me the name of the subcontractor which was a head hunting
(44:08) company that had recruited him there so i began a process with them and i first contacted him look this guy lazar says you recruited him you got him a job there at los alamos do you have any records yeah we've got records well can i get them sure we'll send them to you a couple weeks go by records don't arrive i call back again ah yeah well can't really find those records so i started a series of writing letters i got a stack of letters this thick eventually they just stopped dealing with me at all they stopped responding
(44:37) period something changed you know and that was enough to really pique my curiosity especially after talking to people who said that they work with them there and i know it's a leap to to make that to area 51. i know it's a leap but some things that bob had said on the on that you saw that newspaper headline excuse me on the day that that story appeared in the los alamos monitor edward teller was at los alamos given a lecture and uh he was sitting outside reading that newspaper article about bob and his jet interest in jet cars
(45:12) and bob walked by and he struck up a conversation this is the story that bob tells and that is how he later when he was here in las vegas looking for something else to do besides processing photos which he was doing for a period uh that he got he says he got an interview at eg and that edward teller was the guy who arranged it years later after my stories came out edward teller was asked about it on camera and he gets really weird about it yeah maybe i knew him and maybe i don't what of it kind of a thing and you know you'll never be able to (45:43) prove it people that i know and trust who say that they have checked the records that lazar was never at area 51 i'll take their word for it i certainly have trouble with bob's claimed credentials at schools he had claimed to have degrees from mit and cal tech now i've talked to people who saw him at caltech but there's no no records there i think it is entirely possible that he would exaggerate his educational background in order to get a great job he wouldn't be the first person to do that (46:13) he wouldn't be the first person to ju to lie about his background and education in order to get a good job and you have to wonder well wouldn't the people who hired him know that and yeah they would they would have to they'd do a background check they'd have to know that but i think in in some way that bob could have been the perfect person for that that position if you wanted to example test some theory run something up a flagpole see how the public would react about a story about flying saucers

(46:40) he might be the guy to do it uh he's technically proficient he's an amazing guy you walk in a room i don't care who's in the room he's the smartest guy there whether he has degrees from mit or caltech or not he just knows amazing stuff and can do anything with electronics or computers he's a really smart guy and i got to know him pretty well i got to know him through a guy named jean huff who i hope was going to invite him here tonight gene was a real estate appraiser who worked with bob and who also knew
(47:11) john lear and um that's how that coalesced a lot of people think it was lear the svengali who sucked bob in and and got him to tell all these crazy stories and in order i don't know what in order to do what but um that's not the way it went down those guys were friends um bob was out there for a period of a couple of months uh from late 1988 until about april 1989 he had some personal issues that were going on his phones were being tapped uh as part of the security background as a story that he told
(47:44) and uh the guys who were listening in on the phones and checking his background found out that his wife was having an affair and they told him and sort of things just kind of fell apart for lazar after that he didn't like the work he was doing out there he said the security was ridiculous that they hadn't made much progress but he told some really interesting stories about seeing these flying saucers out there in the hangars i know a lot of people have trouble believing that but there's some other things that bob knew
(48:10) that you have to ask yourself how did he know if he wasn't there so we got a we had another guy a former uh police officer who done polygraph exams in fact he did it for he still does it for a major casino corporation a corporation that by the way is represented here tonight and uh he was very credible guy he took his time he went through the all the material with lazar talked about flying saucers uh anti-matter reactors which is what the power source was element 115 which was the fuel all that stuff gave him the test four times and he
(48:50) passed and it's not he barely passed he passed any questions passed wasn't even close that polygraph examiner his name is terry tabernetti he gave uh the results to his friend who's another examiner who looked at it who said yeah no question about it a third guy looked at the results and said he passed a fourth guy said well you know i'd like to see him uh ask some more questions but he thought he passed as well he passed it no no question about it i guess it's possible to do it but bob had never taken a polygraph
(49:22) before before i asked him to do it as far as i know still even with all that i'm not sure that i would have gone forward with the story except the fact that after we aired that silhouette interview people started calling me with more information people who said that they had worked out there and i won't give you all of them but i'll tell you that there are more than two dozen of them who had claimed to have some kind of knowledge little bits and pieces of the story out there um six of those people who called me and
(49:53) offered to give me information were visited after they called and told to keep their mouth shut this is the kind of thing that really ticks me off because somebody was listening to my phone it wasn't theirs it was mine there's a lady who works even now in the clark county court system in the in the court system she's been there a long time but before she was there she worked as a secretary for a defense contractor called holmes and arbor which has worked at the test site for a number of years unclassified stuff
(50:21) and she says she sat in on meetings at which the roswell wreckage was discussed she took uh took notes on a typewriter that after it was done the meeting was done they took the ribbon out of this thing and destroyed it she says they talked about the roswell stuff coming to area 51.
(50:41) she told this to a cop who's a friend of mine he set up a meeting we talked about it on the phone we're going to get together the next day she gets visited by these two guys who say you know you're still under your security oath is still in effect you can't talk about anything that happened back then we know that you and your daughter travel back and forth between los angeles there's a lot of desert out there we'd hate for something to happen to either one of you this lady was scared scared to death that's 20 years later i tried to get her to (51:08) talk about it you still wouldn't i had a guy who worked at channel 8 as an electrical engineer who had been in area 51 for a while says he saw what looked like a flying saucer under a tarp and was going to tell me about it it moved to another city i call him up he's living in seattle and i call him up said hey would you tell me that story i'll black out your face he says sure so long as you don't get my identity next morning there's two guys sitting in a car outside his house military haircuts (51:35) sunglasses look like men in black or something talking into a radio making themselves very obvious they follow him to work they're waiting when he comes out of work and follow him home of course he calls me and says the interview's off i'm not going to do it i had a guy named roy byram who does tax returns and he did tax returns for a lot of high-ranking guys at nellis air force base and after the lazar interview called me up he said hey i got some information for you because these guys i got to know them

(52:01) really well and they told me some stories about these discs these alien discs that are out there swear to god he says that they told me the story i said great i'll come and interview you next day very next day two guys from they said the secret service show up they said we hear you've been making threats against the life of the president and we're just telling you that's a prosecutable offense you go to prison for this he wrote back to me said i think it's an attempt to to stifle stifle me from talking to you he was (52:27) still willing to go forward with it but i didn't know if it was a good idea six people right in a row that happened too that that that makes a big impression on me back in those days and it would now and it made me really angry a lot of other people came forward with information that i met with uh people who had varying degrees of experience out there at 51 but is some of whom's background i could convey i could confirm some of them i could not uh there was a guy there was a story a guy named michael hunt who surfaced in (52:58) 1980 who said he had worked for the aec at groom lake in the 60s claimed he saw an alien disc in flight had a lot of really detailed information uh who came forward and told his story there was a whack and hut security guard who had a q clearance at the test site from 1984 to 88 said he was pulling a shift at the internal entrance to area 51 and they were buzzed by this glowing object at night there was a las vegas attorney who served in the military in the 70s says he witnessed a disc shaped craft land outside of area 51
(53:33) seemed to be in some kind of mechanical difficulty he was subjected to several days of tough questioning after uh seeing this thing and told that he didn't in fact see it there was a golf pro from nellis air force base who liked the tax guy and struck up conversations and friendships with these nellis air force guys and went on these outer outer road trips he said they were out of town watching a tv special about roswell and these guys started telling the story now maybe they were pulling his leg but they seemed very serious he thought they (54:02) were serious and they told him that the wreckage some of that stuff had eventually made its way to nevada and not necessarily just area 51 the first stories i heard about it were that they had gone to a place called indian springs which existed as a base before area 51 was opened in 1955. um and then there was a guy i'll tell you about two more one of them if you heard about this this book on area 51 by a lady named annie jacobson i love you it's a really best seller it popped up and uh and has made a bunch of got a lot of (54:36) attention it's a really excellent history of the road runners and the base and the really great stuff that went on and then it goes off the deep end at the end of this book it says that based on the testimony of one e g g senior engineer that yeah there were saucers out there at area 51 they came from roswell but they weren't alien the russians had built them they had taken these nazi scientists and some uh spindly prisoners of war who'd been subjected to experiments by joseph mengele they built this flying saucer based on (55:14) nazi designs put these prisoners of war in as the pilots flew it over to across the ocean to roswell and crashed it to scare the hell out of the american public that we were being invaded by aliens that sounds pretty much ridiculous except that the person who told that story to annie and it's been widely ridiculed and dismissed because of how ridiculous it is it is ridiculous except for the fact that the guy who told her that i know it is because 20 years ago i basically stalked them um there were members of his family who (55:50) hinted to me that he knew something about area 51. this is not a bob lazar this is not a guy whose credentials can be questioned um he really was in the places where he said he worked he really was in a position to know with high clearances i am not saying that the person identified as any source is my source i'm just saying that the same person not confirming that the name that's been made public in reference to her book is the right one because that would be wrong because i made a promise for one thing i made a promise that i (56:22) wouldn't talk about it anyway this guy's family tells me he knows something about it so i start showing up at places where he is and i just ingratiate myself i'm stalking him basically until i got to know him and he invited me home to see his scrapbooks from the atomic energy program nuclear bomb photos and photos of the old days working for eg g and i'm there one day and he he's looking at it and he's showing me stuff and he closes the book and he goes you're not here to ask me about that are you

(56:50) that's no not really this is not what you're interested at all i said no not really so i know what you're interested in yeah that's right and as his wife walks in she goes oh don't tell him that stuff uh but he did eventually he did over the next two years he and i had a series of meetings um at different places having coffee and it was like pulling teeth to get him to to come out with this stuff but the story he told me is much different from the one that ended up in this book no nazis no joseph stalin no prisoners of war
(57:22) it was straight up alien stuff and uh and i would have to ask him questions to get this stuff out i would ask him well gosh weren't you scared this thing was going to crash or something or it would it would get out he said we were more concerned about it getting out it and then he told me they had a live alien out there now i know how ridiculous it sounds we're sitting here and it sounds ridiculous but given who this guy was where he had worked i took it pretty seriously eventually after a period of two years of him
(57:53) telling me this stuff and i wasn't allowed to take notes i i would write it all down as much as i could remember after we had these meetings but he promised me he said that he'd been told to shut up that he was no longer supposed to talk to me and what happened was there was a congressional investigator with high security clearances who was sent out here to check this stuff out some members of congress the senate had an interest in these topics the stories had come out flying saucers aurora secret programs that weren't on (58:23) the book get out there and find out what's going on so this guy came and saw me i told him the story about the other guy he got clearances to talk to him and to talk to his boss and once once the that word was out he stopped talking to me all together but he did make a promise that he was going to make a videotape that would be released to me after he's his death uh he's still alive but he the last time i saw him he said he did make the tape final witness i'll tell you is this that helped convince me that this was a
(58:54) legitimate topic and that i haven't said this before in public and it's senator howard cannon who was a senator from nevada before he was a u.s senator here he was a brigadier general he was a decorated war hero world war ii uh he flew everything when howard cannon was defeated in his last race he was such a good friend of the military had done so much to build nellis had such a good relationship with the guys in charge of area 51 the guys from uh lockheed that they allowed him to fly the sr-71 sort of a going away present so he was (59:28) dialed his best friend in the united states senate with senator barry goldwater mary goldwater even though he's a republican they're good buddies they worked together back then that could happen back in those days i know it seems alien now but democrats republicans talked to each other had had drinks together anyway barry goldwater was his best friend and uh cannon would started telling stuff to me through his family members who i knew pretty well and i finally had a face-to-face meeting with him toward the end of his life
(1:00:00) and did probably what was the last interview he ever did and we touched on some of this stuff but i asked him about barry goldwater had tried was this chairman of the senate intelligence intelligence committee and he'd heard these stories about wright-patterson air force base and and uh the blue room or pri the uh hangar 18.
(1:00:22) and so he called up his friend general curtis lemay said i want to get in there i want to see it and lemay told him basically you know not only is the answer no but hell no and don't you ever ask again and goldwater is like whoa you know i'm a i'm a decorated war hero myself he says he was a general i believe uh he is the senate intelligence committee chairman has all the security clearances he needs what do you mean no i mean no and don't ask again so goldwater later wrote letters about it so i asked howard cannon about this stuff
(1:00:53) and it was clear to me that he and goldwater had talked about it not only about hangar 18 but about area 51 flying saucers he told me basically look what would have been the point he only came close to saying i think i could have gotten into hangar 18 but he said what would have been the point of either of us getting in

there or going to area 51 to see this stuff we couldn't tell anybody about what we had seen and if we did tell them what we know is out there they'd think we're crazy howard cannon is is no bob lazar i like
(1:01:24) bob and everything but there's no disputing his credentials howard cannon's credentials he was there in the positions of power he did have friends in the highest places in the government and then military and intelligence circles so when he intimates to me that the saucers were real that they were somewhere in wright-patterson or somewhere out in the desert i believed him um 1992 things took a bad turn for me and bob lazar bob comes to me i was out of channel 8 working on some private projects bob comes to me and says hey by the way
(1:02:04) i'm i'm involved in this little brothel operation it's a legal brothel it's operating uh in a a couple of apartment buildings i got to know the lady run running it and i i'm trying to help her i put in some security cameras and computer codes and stuff like that i go are you kidding me and he says oh yeah by the way it's on the same street where you live my professional life flashes before my eyes i i don't know i don't know what to do i said i don't believe you show it to me
(1:02:33) and he took me to it and sure enough there it is i i told him look you've you've got to shut this down people want you to crash and burn you're you're probably being followed come to find out he was being followed by a team from another tv station they hadn't got on to that yet but it was only a matter of time the hooker he was involved with had two vice cops who were boyfriends of hers um it was a matter of time i said you got to shut this down get out of this i'm going to call the cops and tell them
(1:03:01) about it and and hopefully you get a pass that was a bad decision it was a bad decision on my part because we did tell bob did shut it down did get out of it we did tell the cops but they didn't let it pass they were afraid we were maybe tested them or something so they came and arrested him i mean you know what not a whole lot of people get arrested for pandering in nevada and bob was facing multiple felony counts um and and this is kind of a key uh insight i think into his character is that parole and probation did this big
(1:03:31) background check on bob and if you were a con man and they were mad at him they recommended he should do hard time because he's lying to us about his background if you were a con man telling a story that you made up about flying saucers and being recruited by the navy and eg and all this stuff that was the time to come clean but he didn't he stuck to his guns in that story and he and he told the same story to them as he told to me in the course of the trial proceedings we got a letter from congressman bilbray
(1:04:08) who had tried to help me get records on lazar and he his office said you know what frankly we have never seen anything like it we write to the fbi and say do you know something about this guy who wants to know is basically the response not they didn't tell them we don't have any information on the guy they said you have no right to know about it it's a congressman so you know you can say what you want about bob and and the weaknesses in his story or what school he went to or or what he really did or didn't do but in a lot of ways he
(1:04:40) might have been the perfect guy for a program like this if you wanted to run it up the flagpole and see how the public reacted and then pulled the rug out from under it he was a perfect guy scientifically proficient very knowledgeable but if you need to discredit him you could i mean he flew a pirate flag on his on his uh on his house he loved machine guns he loved hookers he liked jet cars he was a really interesting guy who had troubles in his personal life and if you wanted to discredit him you could and i think in that way he
(1:05:11) might have been the most qualified person for that job which is why i still believe it's possible that he could have really been there you know i don't know if there were flying saucers from other planets in area 51 i'm never going to know but i do know that there is more than a few people who say that they saw something that looks very much like it out there and who have bits and pieces is the same story that bob has told me um the pursuit of the ufo story as i mentioned has taken me all over the world to russia and china
(1:05:43) and south america and europe and um and and has taught me a lot of a lot of things but my views have certainly changed from those days when we started there's a guy named no jacques valet dr jacques valet if you see in the movie close encounters francois truffaut plays the character based on jacques valet and he told me some years ago i'm going to be really disappointed if it turns out that the answer to the ufo mystery is merely aliens from other planets coming here because i don't think that's what it is

(1:06:14) and neither do i anymore one of these days i'll come back here and talk to you about skinwalker ranch but i think i think this this is not just visitors from other planets coming here that is part of something much bigger much more wondrous uh much more mysterious and a lot harder for us to get our heads around but we need another two days to probably go into that thanks thanks very much [Applause] the question is have i met an abductee who had some credibility yeah and uh some of them right here in in las vegas
(1:06:51) couple in rural nevada you put them through a hypnosis session which is not always reliable but they they come out of it separately describing the same kind of beings the same kind of experiences there is in some of those cases physical evidence there's a guy named bud hopkins who just died a couple of months ago who wrote missing time and a couple of other classic books in the field uh you know there are people who uh who claim to be abducted who want attention who have mental disorders maybe it's uh
(1:07:21) uh epilepsy or some other kind of physical uh problem but there are other cases that can't be explained that way and if you you're looking for a blanket explanation as some people would like to do to explain it all away you've got to explain all of them and there's some of those cases that have multiple witnesses multiple independent witnesses who've seen it from different angles and some physical evidence i met a lady named betty um betty and barney betty hill which is the first famous um abduction case met her at a ufo
(1:07:50) conference one time that's a pretty good case and then i met a lady named betty andreessen as well that's a pretty good case i tend to think you need to be careful with those stories because there are people who confabulate things and make them up some of them are just not very easy to explain away though well i'll i'll answer that in a couple of ways one is that in the 1960 the brookings institute was tasked with doing a study for our government said what would happen if suddenly was revealed extraterrestrials have been
(1:08:22) visiting us for all all time and they basically predicted that society would completely collapse that unless there was a conditioning program to get us ready for this that we would collapse it would be like a cargo cult where uh some primitive tribe we encounter in borneo or or in the amazon we know how that ends up it's the primitive tribe the more primitive tribe that disintegrates and we would definitely be the more primitive tribe in this in this scenario that was true then since that study in 1960 is there anybody who isn't prepared for
(1:08:54) aliens i mean they're everywhere they're in everything every movie and tv show every book everywhere i think we would be ready for the general concept when i did this story back in 1989 i did a little survey of all these different religious faiths all of them said the same thing it's testament to the greater glory of god that there are people out there other people coming here i think they saw it as great good more souls to save more more alien duke it's in the collection box or something so i don't think we would i don't think
(1:09:28) we would disintegrate with the general idea that aliens are coming here to visit us because they've been coming a long time they haven't blown us up yet so what's the threat however what if the ultimate disclosure is not that simple what if they are describing something else entirely by the way yeah the aliens are here they're not really from other planets uh they are actually interdimensional beings they live here among us all the time separated by a thin psychic membrane of some sort they can see everything you do they can
(1:10:00) they know when you're in the shower they know when you're cheating on your taxes they can read your mind they can interact with our li our lives at any time come and go as they please at will you can't see them you can't know it how do you like that you you talk about people freaking out that would that would have been freaking out and i think society would disintegrate yeah well i i just like i think i don't think there was going to come a day when disclosure happens but the effects would depend on what it
(1:10:29) is that they disclose um well phoenix lights case i think is a pretty good case there's thousands and thousands of people saw it there's videotape of it it's nothing that our government uh has in its arsenal that we know of that was 10 years ago or so they made a feeble attempt to explain it away as flares coming from parachutes no we had no military craft in the area that wasn't us we don't know what the heck it was you guys are imagining it oh oh that's right we had some planes there and we were (1:11:04) dropping flares and parachutes and that must be what you saw it wasn't it wasn't planes and parachutes in fact it started here it was seen first over

henderson and then went to phoenix um as for the story and down needles it's kind of complicated but some witnesses saw a giant glowing cylinder come flying out of the sky it landed just off the colorado river nearly hit a guy in a in a uh in a houseboat within a couple of minutes a whole armada of helicopters came including a sky crane out of the sky picked this thing up and (1:11:39) flew it off toward nevada and in the days that passed and i've talked to witnesses in various places who saw this this in different stages in the days after that these like men and black type guys started showing up in needles and in that area bullhead city and and hassling people who had talked about it on the radio and so we started going down there and found these people said you can't believe we keep seeing these uh phalanxes of strange vehicles and military military-looking guys and sunglasses zipping through here and
(1:12:10) back and forth see them all the time so we kept going down week after week after week to try to catch them and sure enough we did we got caught up to them uh this we saw this group we're heading back to town all these cars these strange vehicles just as described antenna and stuff sticking out so we zip around and chase after them and i had a little camera in the front we get up close to them guys with sunglasses military cuts i start shooting video they're talking to the radio pretty soon they pull over one pulls over we pull over
(1:12:42) behind it somebody pulls up behind us guy jumps out uh civilian clothes he's moving a shirt like this i can see he's packing a weapon underneath of it oh this is this looks bad he comes over you guys get off the side of the road get out of our way who are you who are you with what are you doing and we're in an unmarked car we're not we don't have any channel 8 stuff uh we work with channel eight who are you he goes no who are you show me your id i said i'd like to see your id he flashes a badge real quick
(1:13:11) i didn't get to see that and then he does it again and this he says he's working with the nevada test site i said great good i got lots of friends out there we do stuff all the time maybe we can ask you what you're doing because we're working on the story about this crazy thing in needles he says no i'm not going to tell you what we're doing get off the side of the road stop hassling us or you're going to be taken into custody so we continue shooting video they take off and it turns out they work
(1:13:34) for an agency another agency had never heard of before the ost the office of secure transportation i get back to las vegas or somebody a friend of mine called and said that was a bad move because these guys are are badass their job is to transport nuclear weapons and they are trained somebody messes with them on the road to take them out and in fact we learned subsequently that their vehicles are capable even if they were killed their vehicles could kill you by themselves so anyway i got got to know these guys that nope i've never
(1:14:06) heard of you let's do a story about it their national director came out they were doing some training at the nevada test site we got up there got to do an exclusive story got to know them there are amazing people that did an amazing job but they had nothing to do with the men in black who are messing around with the folks and needles it was just a coincidence that they were going through the area at the same time that stuff was going on but it was a very cool story to do i would just say in closing this is a
(1:14:35) fun pursuit and it's a grand story and even if i never get the any answers that you can really point to definitively it's been a grand adventure and a worthwhile pursuit and i think it's something that you should be if you're interested in these topics and you have a curious nature it's nothing to be ashamed of that it is if it came to be true and could be proven it would be the biggest event in human history the confirmation of some other kind of intelligence uh being among us or visiting us would (1:15:03) be the biggest thing ever and it would change everything and that's why i think it is a noble pursuit that is worth your time and i thank you all for coming [Music] you

Transcript:

(00:16) [Music] george knapp is an emmy-winning commentator and investigative reporter at klas tv in las vegas he has won dozens of national and regional journalism awards including recognition for his 1989 documentary ufos the best evidence that program introduced the world to bob lazar and his allegations of alien technology at nevada's area 51.
(01:12) knapp's other ufo research efforts include groundbreaking work in the former soviet union his those works have been profiled by cbs news abc news nbc news the bbc and numerous other national and international news organizations please give a great mufon los angeles welcome to george knapp if i brought enough stuff here i am absolutely amazed how many people would come out on a on a week night to learn about this topic when there are obviously a lot of things you could be doing and i'm sure a lot of you have family members and friends who think
(02:30) paranormal you know those folks phil class's group we all know who they are and what they represent it was a fundraising letter because i subscribed to the skeptical inquirer they're always asking me for money about four or five times a year this letter um was asking for a contribution based on a letter that had been sent to scott cycop and here's the letter that they say was sent to them dear cyclop i was hoping you could send me facts about aliens i am doing a project on ofo i am 14 years old and live in louisville
(03:00) i was convinced that i was a alien when i was a child my family told me i was put in their home by some government and they get paid to keep me my sister says i am part of some big government experiment to see if aliens can be like humans i guess that's why i'm such a believer the cycop writer then in tones how this letter struck such a chord with those compassionate souls back east there at cyclop headquarters and i found myself imagining how they it would make a powerful infomercial for this group if they could they could only land sally
(03:31) struthers to do it you know the letter went on to decry the upsurge in such television programs as the x-files and sightings and that influential film that's now a tv series buffy the vampire slayer it scoffed at the power of prayer it uh at public officials who rely on astrologers at government research into remote viewing and how these expenditures somehow endanger medicare and things like that only they could be so dense to think that the public accepts buffy the vampire slayer as the intellectual equivalent of a
(04:02) national geographic documentary the fact is that regular people like you and i know the difference between a news program and a movie or a sitcom no one i know prays to the teenage mutant ninja turtles i almost wish cycop was right to an extent i wish there was this huge segment of the population a much larger segment of the population that did take the time to think about the ufo question in serious terms but that is not the case not really and i think the reason is it for it is kind of all around us uh ufology likes to label itself as an
(04:35) emerging science we hear that all the time i think it was the theme of one of mufon's conferences a couple of years ago but it isn't i mean i i don't think it is not even close uh people like like you and i like to come to conferences and gatherings like this looking for answers but we don't really get them it kind of reminds me of the jerry lewis telethon you know every year uh he tells us oh we're right around the corner you know they'll go right around the corner from that from that cure just
(05:02) just keep on coming back and you know the next year there really isn't a cure you know i think the problem the roadblock in this sense is ufologists it's a slightly presumptuous kind of a term i mean anybody can anybody wants to be a ufologist is a ufologist you know there's no degree to speak of i've been at this for about 10 years now a pretty big chunk of my life but not nearly as long as a lot of people have a modern ufo era is going on for 50 years or so and i can't think of hardly any conclusions that we can all

uh we we have no uh shortage of uh of semi-important or important sounding topics things like we gotta face on mars we've got a a clever little demon named chupacabra that only seems to pop up where people (06:08) speak spanish we've got more angels you can shake a stick at we've got horny reptilian aliens going after our earth women all over the place but we don't have a whole heck of a lot of answers i know a few years ago whitley strieber who i i consider more of a writer and a thinker than a ufologist i don't think he'd like that that term a ufology he turned his back on the whole field and walked away i'm glad that he's back speaking and writing about the topics and his experiences but he just got tired of of uh of what
(06:37) he was subjected to and for him it was on an international scale jacques valet who in my opinion is probably the most important person to ever take up this topic did the same thing he just got burned out on ufology and ufologists and uh and uh basically you don't see them at these conferences anymore uh there's a newsletter called saucer smear which is just a hoot if you haven't seen it it's funny it it chronicles the various ufo cat fights of the moment an issue last year it mentioned the dispute between a researcher named
(07:10) robert todd who says roswell mainstay jesse marcel was a blowhard who exaggerated his military record and everything else and marcel's son jesse jr writes back to todd with some non-disguised digs at todd's personal life saying in the meantime why don't you get a bottle of booze hide under your mommy's bed and get drunk you're nothing but a wacko so go f yourself you know how many ufologists have wanted to say that to each other but but haven't for one i mean you think of stan friedman our our mutual friend and
(07:47) colleague versus kevin randle and don schmidt you toss in carl flock and some of the lesser roswell luminaries these guys hate each other you think about phil class they're fill class dart boards i was amazed the first time i went to a to a conference and saw that this is an emerging science it's it's a wonder someone hasn't blown a fuse and whipped out an uzi at one of these gatherings when it comes to ufos it seems to me that people who jump onto bandwagons one way or another often end up with a rusty
(08:17) nail in their butts there's no shortage of examples um and you can call it disinformation you can call it infighting or whatever but we just don't seem to be making a whole heck of a lot of headway billy myers amazing photos of those beam ships i remember seeing them so many years ago before i ever knew anything about this topping wow and some of those early photographs they looked incredible they still do some of the later photographs clearly look fake well for people you're either in one camp or the other either
(09:48) i don't know whether ed walters ever experimented with fake photographs but i sure strongly suspect that that story about the model in a former house of his was bogus yet we tend to uh you know we fall in one camp or another we either throw it out or accept it all crop circles those early crop circles with the the the uh the patterns that that have not been duplicated uh by by folks in the and the changes in the chemical composition to the plants and the soil that can't be duplicated and yet even colin andrews admits today 75 (10:21) of all the crop circles he's seeing in england each year are man-made individuals and organizations for whatever reason muddying the waters again and and the world press my colleagues in journalism tend to throw the whole thing out the roswell case itself the alien autopsy film same thing tid bits of information that seem tantalizingly true and yet uh you fall into one camp or another and throw out the baby with the bathwater it's a mess the truth is i i hate to say this but i just don't follow this scene as much as i used to (10:52) i don't log onto the net to check out the latest rumors i i generally do not attend the ufo meetings or conventions anymore i occasionally produce a story or a commentary in las vegas alone but it's not nearly anything like like the previous efforts and documentaries that took almost all of my time i don't watch sightings anymore unless i'm flipping around the channel and there it is i don't go through the tv guide at the beginning of the week and circle the things i need about ufos that i need to (11:18) tape which i used to do i do watch the x-files but heck a lot of people watch the x-files the simple fact is i have tried hard to kick my ufo habit you know it's not quite cold turkey it's more like what you compare to nicotral or or a ufo light i don't mainline the mufon journal anymore i don't sit out in the desert night night after night uh looking for ufos strange things in the sky don't collect you follow just trading cards anymore i don't return long distance calls as many people have pointed out to me from

(11:51) people i don't know who just want to talk about ufos in general or waco or oklahoma city bombing or jfk's assassination or whatever i don't it's still an addiction it always will be but i find myself devoting a lot more time to having a life being normal going to work having a job doing stories about things that are important to my community i still pursue leads about area 51 once in a while which we'll talk about tonight i have been involved in trying to verify the claims and the background of colonel
(12:25) corso which we'll also talk about i'm also uh still absorbing in mountains of information that we've brought back from not one but two trips to russia we're back there in 96 again which we'll also get to tonight but but life i think is too short to deal with the uh the bill coopers uh the new world order conspiracy nuts the uh the underground vats of alien parts where they're in bubbling cauldrons the uh the secret treaties the lead aliens abduct us the paranoid fringe cases the neo-religious zealots and all the rest
(13:25) the basic gist of the article is get out of town you know we're tired we're tired of this ufo crap get out of town i'm a terrible reporter and that's enough of that um i haven't done a ufo story in las vegas series since february of last year but i'm i'm the ufo guy as i suspect each of you have your own circle of friends and family you're the ufo person in your circle i empathize with you i mean i can't i can't tell you for me i'm a public person so it gets a you know it gets a little bit of a wider
(14:01) wider hit in las vegas a couple of editorial cartoons in the state's biggest newspaper one that had me with a i uh the first one had me with a butterfly net chasing a flying saucer and they they had one um where these uh it didn't show me but had these alien hitmen who had come to earth it was called the marshmallow head chronicles and these i had done a series on abductions and these alien hitmen were coming to get me because i was spilling the beans and they had their ray guns looking at two gasoline pumps
(14:28) and um and they were yes of course they are earth men but which one is george knapp they were going to rub me out i had a the media critic he wrote that oh people are rushing home to see my ufo stories not because they're interested in little green men but because they want to be there when i go bull goose looney right on the air i don't need this i don't need this i'm trying to have a life so i have tried to place a little bit of a distance between myself and the field but still i'm working behind the scenes on some (15:00) topics of that i hope will be of mutual interest and these two have been sullied by various ufologists in this emerging science uh philip corso is one of them you've all heard of them by now mentioned a couple of times earlier i think he really is an important new source of information on this topic one of the highest ranking ufo whistleblowers ever certainly the only wisc ufo whistleblower that i can think of that ever worked at the white house predictably though there was some over-hyped promotion for his book and (15:29) boy ufologists just couldn't wait to get their knives into him i first met

phil corso in 1992 before anybody in the ufology field had ever heard of him before anybody in the apology field had ever met him a friend of mine his name is mark sotter he's a journalist who now works for a program called american journal he uh was working on a book about pows prisoners of war who'd been abandoned after the korean war and he ran into colonel corso and and in the course of interviewing him about that topic learned about the ufo stuff (15:58) uh i also got to meet him through mark saunder we were talking about this a book deal at the time for various reasons the book was never written but i continued to have occasional correspondence with him and talked to colonel corso he had asked me to keep quiet about it about what he had told me and i did until the hype about his book started coming out well just just before about a year before that happened uh myself and some colleagues went back to see him and and uh got an update on what he'd been up to got a lot of videotape of him
(16:29) subsequently i've been able to interview him again and i'm impressed by the guy for those of you who don't know about his background he has a long and distinguished military career that is easily verifiable although there are some of our ufological colleagues who want to dispute it anyway got into intelligence work in 1953 he was assigned to the white house staff of dwight eisenhower worked for four years with the national security council was subsequently commander of the ranged battalion at white sands new mexico
(16:58) he commanded the first nuclear missile battalion in germany and he served as inspector general of the seventh army but his most interesting assignment came in 1961 when his longtime friend and mentor lieutenant general arthur trudeau selected corso to head up the army's foreign technology division trudeau and corso were virtually inseparable they were they trusted each other impeccably uh immeasurably while working under general trudeau corso says he was given the assignment of evaluating and exploiting pieces of (17:30) alien material which corso was told came from a crashed saucer in new mexico among the items he says he saw and handled were a uh a piece of metal with really unique properties the atoms he said were all aligned he said it had a hardness and strength which could not be duplicated by human technology he said he saw a charred computer chip he saw photographs and reports concerning autopsies performed on alien bodies he was told the autopsies had been conducted in a special facility at walter reed hospital corso and trudeau farmed out this (18:01) material they say to private labs to government research labs told them hinted to them that this had come from some sort of advanced russian plane that had crashed although without spelling it out and told them to go to work and figure out what this stuff was i have some videotape of colonel corso we can put that first one in here now this this interview was uh toward the end of last summer that's coming from new mexico roswell yeah as well well i think something there might be another crash but these are came from (18:41) new mexico and roswell especially and the general trudeau gave me the job of working on a program put these things out feed them to industry but those provisions featured they could have the patents but they had to feed them out back to our house as a competitive edge of the army and to the american people and the world if necessary the number one was the integrated circuit number two of importance was laser because i had some laser instruments also then fiber optics came out of this the uh imaging devices on my viewing
(19:20) devices came from this some of the work we've done electromagnetism in the icbms and it came from this imagine the the scientists and technicians and the companies that worked on this stuff are not real happy with with your version of it no i haven't heard anything in fact i've heard from scientists at least a dozen nonsense and they're supporting my everything in the book in fact dude i even told you i think that i was not interested in seeing ufos i was all interested in what was in those ufos
(19:49) you know i thought i'm not interested in seeing something fine here but i like to know what's inside that thing did you physically handle the artifacts from the front oh yeah i had them they were in my possession what things did you have what would you have i had integrated circuits like size of a quarter i had a bunch of wires colors would come out i didn't knew i mean i would say wise i didn't know what they were i don't know if they were wise i mean they actually well i didn't know what (20:14) they were they just said we're getting light i had a piece of metal atoms were aligned in it so tough papers didn't you couldn't break it bend it or anything i had super tenacity fibers and it was uh a little atoms were lined in you couldn't

burn it you couldn't cut it and later on the nearest thing in this world that we found today was a spider web there's a spider's spins in atomic aligned uh web you know people say uh military can't keep a secret there's no way a secret like this could be kept (20:43) we kept a secret one way we had to keep the secret for two reasons one is a climate opinion with an iron government as i said there was within our own government we had enemies who would have been brought to destroy all this on us and and timeless cougs so all we did i got the job of going and developing a program which is this customer broke college done and through this program we started feeding it out through industry but this was not normal on paper it went out as normal research and development proposals not to name something yeah you
(21:18) didn't put out a report that's hired some aliens research and development of a public team from somebody's brain and also this was known among a select few mostly combat officers head to head it came we kept us among ourselves because otherwise we were certain that they would have destroyed our organization and we had a good organization general trooper pulled them together just a couple years before [Music] of the things that i've missed out on and i say this and i think the greatest gift god ever
(22:04) gave he created man in his image yeah we had the greatest artifact that they gave us was those bodies and we didn't do enough on those that partially i can take the blame i had the money and the organization and the people do it and we didn't go far enough autopsies were done on bodies but not enough we didn't do enough how they function how their brain functioned and uh we came to a conclusion even in those days that teacher the reason most flying saucers have failed is because our conclusion was (22:35) that this being is part of the guidance system he's part of that saucer where do you suppose that stuff is now those reports those kind of reports i had no idea during when i left the army i was one of the mothers supposed to see that nothing was stolen from the army i delivered my foul what happened to them i've called some friends recently giving some ideas where they might be to try to run them down but i don't know we don't have a military operates the bone bag and in the microphone those days we (23:05) microfilm a lot of stuff and we had i don't i have no idea what happened remember again i've been gone almost 40 years now as i say people criticize me they say well you're cooking i thought well i'm in good company do you know marshall trudeau john macarthur juan brown albert river smith from military i thought i'm a good company that's the company i'd rather be in with those groups those are all people that do about they know about all this i'd rather be in that company than the (23:36) ones criticizing me so story have been extremely difficult performing some of it hasn't been difficult at all it can certainly be shown he is who he says he is he worked where he says he worked and that he was certainly easily qualifies as one of the highest ranking ufo whistleblowers in history however corso admits there is no paper trail to prove any of the ufo-related research ever took place he told me in 1996 that it was imperative the information be kept close to the vest so the operation wasn't discredited or (24:06) co-opted by others in the pentagon or others in the government what makes him credible to me is that he's told incredible stories before and has been proven right i told you that the the the guy who introduced me to him was investigating a a book about pows three times colonel corso has testified before congress on pow issues and at the time he was made his testimony uh the things he were saying seemed absolutely incredible that we had left men behind that there had been a secret war uh underway where we were testing uh we
(24:38) were flying over flying soviet airspace and our pilots had been shot down those things are now a matter of historical record at the same time before he was testifying uh he was thoroughly checked out by the fbi uh by congressional staffers as well my congressional sources have told me that and some of my colleagues who that have traveled around the country to see former friends and fellow officers of his and he gets nothing but glowing reviews from everyone they all confirm that he and general tudo are very close that they kept things close (25:08) to the vest and they also have said that colonel corso talked about this ufo stuff for many years so you know i tend to give them a lot of a lot of leeway the eu ufological community however does not before corso's book was even out long before his book was out ufologists were already taking pot shots there's an english guy named armin victoria um and if he seems to specialize in the in these uh these hit pieces he started putting out stuff that colonel corso could be linked to

segregationist strom thurman wow
(25:44) senator thurman probably was a segregationist at one point in his political career he had probably had to be to get elected doesn't mean he has won now and as i recall he's the chairman of armed services and has served longer in the united states senate than any person in american history so being linked to him i don't think is necessarily a bad thing uh later critics of corso complained that senator thurman had turned on him now first he was too close to thurman and then their griping and bitching and (26:10) moaning because thurman was was backing away from him what thurman had done is withdraw his forward to corso's book there's a lot of interness in politics behind this but i'll just tell you the way that his critics are pointing at is that thurman had no idea this was going to be about ufos he was shocked absolutely shocked when ufos were mentioned in the book and that's why he pulled it back well thurman knew all about it his staff knew all about it because people that i know have have interviewed him about it
(26:37) before the book came out uh what it was is sort of an embarrassment for him when it started getting a whole lot of a whole lot of press and some of the staff members some of his senior political advisors has not been in on the decision to okay that forward for the book so they had it pulled anyway don't read too much into that one of the roswell gurus blew off corso because he supposedly claimed to be a member of mj-12 absolutely untrue absolutely untrue some articles noted he was part of a secret society and this is the first one
(27:07) for me the shikshi knights of malta the knights of malta according to columnists from back in the 50s were ex-military officers who were deeply suspicious of the cia who is it you know a recent issue of saucer smear notes that corso is an illegal fight with hollywood agents look at this guy he's fighting with hollywood agents he's in a lawsuit with hollywood he's probably the first person to ever come to hollywood and get in the fight with the studios or agents isn't he um what isn't known is that corso at least (27:45) the the people i know close to him has basically been robbed you know his book was on the bestseller list for eight weeks and and it's been you know all over the place he's got all kinds of publicity he's got dime one from the book uh he claims that there was uh apparently this story that's come out now is that there were a contract that he was shown but there were pages that weren't in it um so i heard i heard that mr burns his co-author is going to be speaking here at some point you folks if you're going to (28:13) attend that thing you might want to ask him about how that deal worked out because that's the source of the lawsuit phil class has just come out with his his newsletter he notes that in the book there are many exaggerations many errors in corso's book there are there are errors i i happen to see the original manuscript and and while the claims were fantastic and incredible and sensational a lot of the stuff that turned out in this book was not in that first one i don't know where it came from but it didn't come from colonel corso
(28:41) because some of the exaggerations about the impact on technology were not in the first one some of the inaccuracies a little picky things that only phil class can dig out where the headquarters the eighth army air force really was what base it was you know those are errors but i don't know where they came from i i will tell you that uh that colonel corso i found them to be a charming and articulate man with a pretty good memory and a feisty spirit it has been a long time since some of these events happened so maybe
(29:12) memory could cloud it a bit perhaps an overzealous uh ghost rider could could murk up the waters a little bit but again as with crop circles as with billy meyer as with mj-12 i caution you not to throw out the baby with the bath water i'm not here to tell you that everything that colonel corso says is true but a lot of it rings true and i consider him to be an important new source of information so at the worst keep an open mind in regard to him now the way he's been treated is not something unknown to me
(29:44) especially in dealing with area 51 as you might imagine you talk about your knee-jerk reactions conspiracies and disinformation area 51 certainly comes to mind you know i remember getting to sit in on a preview of the summer blockbuster independence day and we're sitting there and watching the movie and uh and they get to the point where the president is informed hey there really is an area 51.
(30:09) and this is in las vegas so everybody's pretty hip to this this topic and uh and these guys in front of me are going see i told you there's an area 51 and it's like you know why you needed a hollywood blockbuster to confirm this stuff i don't know but it was it was a humorous moment you know today area 51 is the subject of movies and documentaries and network features and and newspaper stories and magazine covers talk shows internet chatter tabloid fantasies and ufo debates uh popular science popular mechanics aviation week the new york times the (30:42) washington post 60 minutes nbc abc larry king nippon the bbc italian german australian networks entertainment tonight hard copy a current affair unsolved mysteries sightings encounters the paranormal borderline geraldo montel williams art bell chuck harder the x-files and dozens of less influential media outlets have chronicled the rise of a veritable area 51 cottage industry including a research center and a viewer's guide the ailey inn t-shirts and posters and buttons and bumper stickers videos and satellite images and even as we're going

(31:17) to see in a couple of minutes a bob lazar christmas ornament now ladies and gentlemen ladies and gentlemen 15 years ago groom lake was not even a burp on our collective radar screen true there were some sporadic reports over the years in las vegas newspapers about this base out there along with some oblique references in certain ufo circles if you recall falcon and condor talked a little bit about a secret base in nevada and there was something called the aquarius document floating around but few people outside of nevada or the inner circles
(31:53) of ufology had ever heard of the place three things changed that first in 1984 the u.s military initiated the illegal seizure of 89 000 acres of public land around groom lake just took it and later asked for permission to take it second a ufo researcher named john lear started touting his belief that alien technology was being stored and tested out there and third bob lazar admitted his involvement in the secret effort to back engineer alien technology in a facility near groom lake for better or worse considering how everything has turned
(32:27) out i was instrumental in bringing all three of those developments to the attention of a larger public and in light of all the folklore and fantasy and absolute nonsense and profiteering and distortion and invective which have emerged as a result of those initial news reports i don't think it's exactly an achievement to brag about but it is mine nonetheless concerning ufo allegations there are some things that we can conclude i think with some reasonable certainty saucer-shaped craft have been witnessed at or near that facility since the 1950s
(33:01) more than two dozen former or current employees have told me as much over the years a much smaller number of witnesses claim to have seen alien beings at the base odd glowing craft have been photographed and videotaped in the vicinity of area 51 that much is true last year i did a couple of update stories on area 51 for anyone in the audience who's not familiar with the base or with bob lazar and maybe we can roll that tape right now well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs the
(33:33) interview that launched a thousand business ventures bob lazar's 1989 claims that he saw flying saucers housed and tested near groom lake caused ripples which are still being felt at least four movie projects dozens of screen plays a few books t-shirts and bumper stickers artwork a rock band a las vegas bar a viewer's guide a research center countless news reports even a bob lazar christmas ornament not bad for a place that until last year didn't officially exist the military now admits what the world
(34:04) already knew it has a quote operating location lake but the pentagon says the base has no name by denying the place as a name the defense department hopes to stall a lawsuit filed by former workers who claim they were exposed to toxic chemicals there the lawyer who filed the suit thinks it's ridiculous you just can't have black places you can't have places that don't exist the government cannot create these secret enclaves in which it and it alone determines what laws will govern despite official denials the common name
(34:36) for the base has always been area 51. we recently found this 1967 government map which lists that name subsequent maps left the name blank we also found a 70s newspaper article in which the pentagon mentions area 51 by name what's it called today high-level sources say the military uses the term score event to refer to it who runs the base the cia built it for use in the u2 program this is rare footage taken from groom lake of some early tests current warning signs indicate it's an air force facility but all branches of the military have

program at 51 is the stealth helicopter although the technology isn't far along as for flying saucers the military (35:40) admits it has built these unmanned craft it may not be a coincidence that the air force's only unmanned aerial vehicle squadron is based at nellis whatever is flying around out there still attracts visitors from all over the world it's still newsworthy in europe yes yes now also in europe area 51 is well known this 1989 home video of a glowing orb above area 51 is the first but certainly not the last taken of odd objects in the nevada desert scientist bob lazar said he knew where to set up his camera because he worked at papoose lake south
(36:25) of groom lake but still inside area 51 lazar said he saw nine flying discs of alien origin hidden in hillside hangers there were nine total that i saw each one being different like they had the assortment pack lazar's controversial statement set off a stampede that continues to this day people come by the busload to groom lake to watch the skies this is a classic mothership appearance nearby the rustic town of rachel became a ufo hot spot the town's bar and grill became the little ailey inn whose walls are adorned
(37:00) with alien drawings and poster-sized photos of the base a full line of ufo merchandise including videos t-shirts anti-matter hats and e.t welcome mats is for sale hordes of people come out here from all over from all over from all over owner joe travis has given more interviews than he can remember to news crews from all over the world this crew from switzerland for example arrived just this week public interest remains high even though the government has seized vantage points once used to peer down on the base area
(37:33) 51 is off limits but people still see weird lights in the sky photos have captured glowing globs sombrero shaped craft dual objects with rows of lights things which make unusual maneuvers if anything is increased and over the past uh months you know it's uh just just every week maybe two or three times a week people come in and say they have to see this this orange orange globe or orb whatever you want to call it today the base is hidden protected by motion detectors security forces and the groomed mountains but also by the mountains of
(38:10) legal briefs filed by the pentagon a lawsuit by six former employees alleges the military endangered workers by illegally disposing of hazardous waste at area 51. the government has used national security as grounds to stall the suit it denied the base existed denied it has a name even denied having such hazardous materials as jet fuel and car batteries although both jets and cars have been photographed there as seen in this previously classified film president clinton recently signed an order exempting the base from (38:42) environmental laws but the lawyer who filed the suit doesn't think it will matter in the long run from the very beginning the military has adopted an absolutist position in this case that they and they alone will dictate what information the public receives i don't know if you can hear it because of the video problem but this lawsuit that's going on with the workers who have have filed this stuff is is maybe as important in the long run um and we're not going to get into it tonight but maybe as important in the (39:08) long run as the ufo stuff allegations out there because the things that the government have has done to these to its own workers when it could have kept this thing quiet just by taking care of them giving them medical attention is absolutely unbelievable and the things that they have done in court to thwart any kind of uh any kind of scrutiny of just what's going on you wouldn't believe it klas at my urging uh joined as part of this lawsuit back when it was before a federal judge in nevada it has since gone to the ninth
(39:37) circuit where it's been a mixed bag and is going to be appealed to the whole ninth circuit not just a three judge panel but any each step of the way the government attorneys have been allowed to have behind the scenes meetings with the judge at which the other side is not present and they present something to the judge and in each of these cases so far the judge has sided with the idea of government secrecy i mean some of it is is so incredibly ridiculous the government says it would endanger national security to reveal that there
(40:09) is gasoline or jet fuel out of that base at a jet base i'll tell you if the russian spies can't figure that out then i don't think we have a whole heck of a lot to worry about from them anyway that's the subject for another time back to lazar um i think we can say with some kind of uh some kind of uh believability that disc shaped craft have been flying around out there for a long time bill hamilton who was up here before i was is one of the guys who's who's really done some solid work on (40:38) proving that over the years and for that deserves a lot of credit i think it's also true that there are no flying saucers at or near groomed lake today there are no alien beings at area 51. there are no vast underground facilities at the base nor are there any hangars built into the hillsides of papua's lake three witnesses i know of with congressional uh tied to congressional uh sources have been to the base in the past three years for inspections i've even briefed them before and after about what to look for where to go

(41:09) the hangars are not there whether they were ever there or not is a question that we can debate forever but they're not there now and plus i think it would just make no sense for the military to hide aliens or alien technology when millions of people all over the world suspect as much and thousands of them make the trek into the desert to try to check it out for themselves conclusions about bob lazar are tougher to reach people tend to fall into one camp or another like all these other ufological questions we've been talking
(41:37) about and they religiously stick to their views no matter what evidence is presented to the other side and i will have to admit that i'm a little guilty on that score myself there are doubters who constantly brag about their diligence in exposing lazar's lack of credentials especially his lack of educational credentials well let me just remind everyone that in the very first report that we ever broadcast about bob lazar we said he cannot prove these cred these credentials we cannot find a single professor we
(42:07) can't find a classmate we can't find a diploma we can't prove it so people who uh and stan friedman friend of mine uh constantly bragging about i'm the guy who brought down bob lazar it's almost part of stan's name now uh hi i'm stan the guy who brought down bob lazar friedman um constantly harangues on this point uh and it's the baby with the bathwater thing if he doesn't have credentials can't probably went to school anywhere throw it all out well i'm not sure that (42:35) that's that's how i would treat it criticisms of lazar's story are many and many are very well deserved he is lackadaisical about documentation he is indifferent to whether anyone including friends of his believe him or not uh he is uncooperative especially to anyone associated with ufology in fact i taped an interview this afternoon before i got on the plane with him just to have a special greeting to you folks it was like pulling teeth but we might see that a little bit later he seemingly has little interest in
(43:05) helping anyone to prove his story one way or another there are a lot of gaps there are a lot of things in his story that don't make sense but i think a lot of it makes too much sense to just completely dismiss it for me and for klas tv when we started out way back when in 1989 working on this stuff the key to his story was all always los alamos lab did he work at the lab if he worked at the lab and he worked on classified projects at least made sense that he could also be tabbed to work on a program in nevada so that's where we started
(43:36) and i don't know if you know the history of this stuff but the rigma role that we went through with the lab lasted several years and we never really did get solid answers out of him proving he ever worked for los alamos has just been nearly impossible at first they denied that they'd ever heard of him before when i contacted him later i produced a copy of the lab phone book that had his name in it and they just kind of hemmed and hauled i produced a copy of the los alamos newspaper that had him listed
(44:02) as a lab physicist now they kind of hemmed and hauled still said they had no records after countless phone calls and letters in a couple of years i finally got the lab to tell me by phone that they'd found an id number for him but that didn't that he didn't work for them he worked for a subcontractor called kirk meyer kirk meyer proved to be even less cooperative than than los alamos at first i got a guy on the phone a supervisor who told me yeah we've got records on lazar yeah you can have them
(44:29) uh weeks went by i didn't hear from them didn't get the records i keep writing i keep calling my letters were unanswered they refused to take my phone calls lazara told me that kirk meyer was a scientific headhunter company they'd fill technical and scientific jobs at government labs surely a company that makes its living by filling these kinds of positions would hang on to records of people that they send out to national labs but apparently not because uh finally kirk meyer said well we threw those records away it's too (45:00) much time we don't keep them that long uh lazarus critics formally complained well he was never at los alamos uh now they say even if he was there well maybe he's working as a janitor not on classified stuff this is the kind of reason that lazar doesn't like to cooperate with with ufologists he feels the critics would never be satisfied if he proves he works at the lab they say it doesn't prove he had a clearance if he could prove he worked on classified programs they say it still doesn't prove he was at s4 so (45:25) if he could prove that it still wouldn't prove he worked on ufos so what's the point is what he says for the sake of argument i think it can be proven that lazar did work on classified projects in new mexico i've interviewed three lab employees who remember him who say he was a physicist and that he worked on classified programs joe van netti is the name of one of those guys he worked at los alamos he's listed in the same lab phone book with lazar he later worked on the nuclear testing program in nevada he says lazar is (45:51) telling the truth the other two employees agree but they didn't want their names used now what do the critics do with these guys they ignore them well he doesn't have a diploma so he couldn't have been there was he working at the lab i say yes if he did work there in classified programs it makes sense he went to school somewhere i know the guy he's technically a whiz kid i mean he amazes everyone who's ever been around them uh except for people in ufological circles who prefer to take pot shots

(46:22) where did he go to school i really don't know i mean i have said this before since the very beginning i think it's the weakest part of his story i have pleaded with him as a friend bob if you're lying about your educational background you would not be the first person to do it to get a good job tell me about it you can get through it and he hasn't taken me up on i i have serious doubts about whether i mean just knowing the guy thinking of him sitting through classes at mit taking tests writing term papers i just (46:52) don't see it i really don't but i still am reluctant that does not mean i want to toss the whole darn thing out because there's a lot of other stuff that i think goes in his favor for example he knew when and where flights of disc shaped craft would take place he took people out there three or four weeks in a row they got videotape of it you just saw some of it how did he know i think there's a new book out called dreamland if you've read this thing it's it's pretty nasty and we'll talk about that (47:27) if you want to in the q a afterward but uh it suggests well maybe he was just running around he was running around in the desert and found it out for himself john lear was running around for 20 years on on area 51 stuff he never saw any of these things it was lazar who took him out there told him what night they were going to take place and where they could see him from and he did it again and again how did he know he was also familiar with the small details about the operation of area 51 that eg was the prime contractor because (47:58) that's where he said he was interviewed that they interviews employees at their particular building that special planes fly the employees into groomed lake and the buses with blacked out windows are all also used all that is true we all know that stuff now but we didn't know it before bob lazar said this stuff on air the electrical an electrical engineer that i met who worked at area 51 who is now part of this lawsuit arranged to meet with lazar for a couple of hours asked him a series of questions which would have tripped up
(48:27) someone who had never been out there this the minuscule tim kind of things where the employees eat how do you pay for your meals that sort of thing what the cafeteria looked like and he the the engineer said he was convinced that lazar had been there other people now say that they've run the same kind of tests on lazar and that he failed completely i don't know i don't know how you explain it another thing lazar knew was the name mike thigpen mike thigpen works for something called the office of federal investigations
(48:55) which conducts background and security checks on people who work at nellis and the nevada test site funny little thing is no one had ever heard of the ofi i hadn't heard the ofi bob had not heard of the ofi he thought it was an fbi guy who had come to interview him and had ruffled through the papers at his house and then he remembered something about ofi the ofi is not even listed in the las vegas phone book but lazar remember that mike thigpen is the name of this federal agent we were able to track down this guy (49:22) thigpen find out yes there is something called ofi and yes they do do these kinds of background checks and yes this guy works for him how did he know lazar passed a polygraph exam now there's a lot of people who seem to dispute this thing they say it was inconclusive this book for one that i talked about it's inconclusive well it's not inconclusive i first asked him to take this test he didn't hesitate a bit we took him to a guy a polygrapher a polygrapher who spent all of like 10 minutes getting ready now bob was (49:50) nervous about it he was nervous because of there had been threats on his life allegedly there had been one attempt on his life they had put gun do guns to his head they had done things to his head they had uh shot him up with strange stuff made him drink strange substances and uh and he was obviously nervous well this guy he did two tests on him wham bam the first one he thought well he might be deceptive the second one he said this is inconclusive he suggested the polygrapher suggested that we try another guy

(50:20) the guy we tried is a polygrapher named terry tavernetti and he runs a corporate security operation for a major las vegas hotel he's a former orange county police officer he's an experienced and licensed polygrapher he took his time with bob got to know him went through the story went through the questions put him through the tests and he says and tavernetti says to this day even talking about it he got chills as he was going through the test because he realized this guy is not lying bob lazar passed that test
(50:49) tara vernetti gave the in fact he passed four of them tabernacy gave the results to another polygrapher who agreed no question there's no deceit another guy they passed it on just as a double check and the guy said well maybe he's relating something that someone else told him just as a maybe and then someone else said maybe we should have more tests a fourth polygrapher but the guy who did the tests four of them said he passed people blow that off the people who don't want to hear it blow it off i don't think it's fair to do so the (51:20) most one of the most obvious problems of bob's uh background is his involvement with illegal prostitution now the highest profile witness and the highest profile story you've ever done comes to you and says oh by the way i'm involved in an illegal brothel and the coincidence has it it's right down the street from your house well only lazar could pull something like this you know and my professional life flashed before my eyes and i'm telling you what to do i said we've got to do this story now
(51:56) someone's going to find this out we have got to do it we've got to go on the air you've got to admit it and i really screwed him is what i did because he trusted me enough to go ahead and do it as bob tells the story there were some undercover police officers who knew about this who'd been involved with this this hooker who was running this thing a woman who by the way had been a a prostitute since she was 12 years old but who somehow been corrupted by bob lazar anyway the police were involved i called (52:25) some cops i said this is going to come out some of your guys know about it we don't have to do that part of it deal apparently not because when it went on the air cops raided the place busted bob big stink of course all my journalism colleagues in las vegas just loved this story they never gave any attention to bob lazor whatsoever until he got into trouble and they could stick it to me um you know so this this is kind of a mess and and i've tried to figure out how i would react if i weren't so intimately
(52:57) involved with the story and i guess you know i could say that suffice to say he he went public with his involvement we all know smart people have done dumb things you know if einstein had been busted for drunk driving i don't think it would mean the theory of relativity is thrown out the window there's no question that lazar violated the law that doesn't mean he never worked for the government anyone who knows him knows that he is a rebel he is a look yeah has realized what i said there yeah that makes a lot of sense
(53:30) forget who i'm talking to i mean anyone who knows this guy knows that he is a rebel he's a loner he is an anti-authority guy he has a penchant for racing jet cars on city streets he fires off machine guns he stages these outlaw outlaw firework shows every year in the desert that are a real hoot he likes hookers this is all true on his house he has a pirate skull and crossbones flag over his house this is the kind of guy he is um so it is not unusual to say that he he could get involved in something like (54:04) this why would the navy hire somebody like that for a secret program one possible answer comes to mind a lot of his critics don't like it but but if it fits you wear it i mean he might have been the kind of person they were looking for someone who was technically qualified but who could be discredited if necessary or maybe the discrediting the thing was the with the whole purpose all the way along that was what they had in mind as a way to discredit the whole idea of ufos at area 51 or anywhere else the other telling point about the

his case he was originally facing six felony counts not a whole lot of people get hit with six felonies for prostitution in las vegas in fact no one but the parole and probation people really wanted him to do hard time i mean he was looking at up to 60 years in prison they didn't like him because in his interview with them and the information he was giving he was telling him the same story he has told you or i where he went to school where he worked (55:05) and they couldn't verify it they were mad because they couldn't verify it welcome to the club um when the judge sentenced lazar he noted that the court had had a lot of trouble verifying bob's background i mean bob claimed on the on these papers that he'd worked for the navy out there at a place called s4 if he were a phony if he was running a con a ufo con or cashing in that was the time to come clean because if they could prove that he was lying he was going to do some serious hard time he didn't he stuck to the same story
(55:39) we got a letter introduced in the court from congressman jim bilbray whose office had been helping me all the way along trying to get records from for about bob and his background and uh and uh the congressman's letter clearly stated this is one of the strangest cases their office had ever dealt with and all the agencies that had contacted for lazar's records had stalled every step of the way they hadn't said they didn't have them we're looking for still looking there's also the whole thing about the (56:05) the w-2 form and the controversy i don't think we need to get into that but i'll tell you that there's some weird stuff that happened with that w-2 i had originally got him to request it months and months went by and all of a sudden it showed up a lot some other people john andrews and others have have done some tracking uh there's pretty good indication that that this was a government employer number on there that's no longer used the irs's official version is well we really can't tell if (56:31) we've ever used that employer number or not i mean they can tell you what you had for lunch last december and they don't know if if the government has ever used this employment number or not so you know the story told by bob is is consistent with the stories told by a lot of other people dating back almost 40 years consistent with a lot of what we know about roswell and other alleged crashes if you take lazar out of the area 51 story it's still a story there are too many other witnesses who have claimed
(56:59) knowledge of the program but if you keep him in the story and if you can discredit him you kind of wide swath across all ufology you cast doubt on the crash saucer theory you forever wipe out the silly rumor about ufos in the nevada desert you get in a shot at mj 12 and the secret government while you're at it and you scare the dickens out of anyone else who might be willing to come forward and talk about secret programs that they've worked on which is exactly how lazar's legal troubles have been interpreted by other people
(57:27) who work on those kinds of projects in nevada and i know because they've told me and in this sense the people who suspect the area 51 story to be disinformation may be partially correct but if so it did not the disinformation didn't originate with bob it didn't originate with john lear as some have suggested by picking bob for this program and letting him see these documents and messing with his mind they had a perfectly built in safety valve discredit him you have the mainstream press another reason to vilify ufos
(57:57) you give various ufo luminaries an excuse to attack it as well you give the lunatic fringe something to embrace and embellish which they have done with great vigor at area 51 you know the milk carton kids are all taken out there now for secret experiments uh and you almost guarantee that no official in his right mind will ever get get anywhere near this mess to find out what's really going on anyway we're going to move on now and i don't have a comfortable transition oh wait a second we do have we have (58:27) another tape this is something i taped a while back uh about bob lazar you know all the rumors that people tell about him he's dead he's uh running a drug lab um i asked him to uh put this on tape and let you know that he's okay he's alive and well and and live in las vegas and and here it goes i've been underground people have been hiding me out shifting from hideout to hideout and the government's been on my tail uh i've been killed you've been killed uh you name it i've i've heard unbelievable stories (58:56) radiation detection is is one of the things that you know i spend my time with and i design repair and sell different types of radiation detectors one of the things people thought i did was develop film badges i don't know where they came up with that idea but i i don't do that the main problem i have with the ufo communities is number one here are people that essentially their income is derived from ufos and that's the number one thing i have problems with so essentially for them to make money and (59:30) support themselves they have to come up with ridiculous stories or at least prove that they're at the forefront of knowledge you're dealing with a bunch of people that are essentially a collection of psychics astrologers people that believe every other person on the earth is is an alien that there's reptilians and and all these different species that live underground aliens that walk around the street and just hassle people to annoy them believe me i'm not part of that i don't deal with those people and that's uh you

(1:00:01) know essentially what happened with jacques vallee when he came down here uh you know wanted to know the ufo story came down with his uh movie producers and uh you know his theory has been uh spacecraft or from other dimensions and things like that and i essentially laid it out well this is you know essentially what i was exposed to and uh you know how the crafts work and things like that it has nothing to do with other dimensions and uh you know ever since then jacques hasn't had a very high opinion of me but uh that's essentially carried
(1:00:28) throughout the ufo community if you contradict what they say uh you know again they you know they make their income off of something like that so they have to be the ones that know what's going on a lot of attacks on you personally a lot of attacks on the story a lot of disbelief uh media people ufo people um you stick by the story here now you've had a couple it's been a couple years absolutely it's coming up on four years that's that's what happened it's interesting that nobody from the
(1:01:01) military nobody representing nellis or any of those folks have ever said anything about they probably can't uh [Music] well i there hasn't been much word officially on it at all i in fact i don't think there's been much word officially as far as denial they just say they have no comment right uh any any progress over the last ensuing couple of years in verifying parts of your background are you still actively pursuing that no i don't actively pursue that at all i really people think i'm essentially a
(1:01:37) researcher chase ufo stories or you know gather information i have nothing whatsoever to do with it now before i became interested interested involved in the project um i was one of the greatest disbelievers on earth i mean i'm sure i could have topped phil class i would have nothing to do with it and essentially other than the equipment and technology that i was exposed to i really don't carry my beliefs much further than that you think those ufos or the flying saucers or the discs the equipment that you said you saw
(1:02:13) are still out there i doubt that equipment is still there there's been so much coverage there are so many people looking into that area you know and civilian and otherwise that uh they had ample time to move things and where it is i don't know but i find it difficult to believe that anything's still going on there okay you know about the new one right apparently you i john lear are all uh shriners or 32nd level masons whoever they are uh there are new allianz that it is the shriners that actually have the flying
(1:02:49) saucer technology and uh we came up with the alien story to confuse the public and uh i don't remember the rest of the story but it's really exciting that's the end of the tape so next time you go to a parade you see the shriners and those funny hats and little cars i don't know whether we should take a break now do you need a break or you want to keep going keep going keep going i think the message oozing out of uh oozing out of groom lake and the bob lazar story is is for me at least not only the ufo
(1:03:22) angle but the the lawsuit angle is that no matter how much world conditions change the berlin wall falls communism fails the soviet union collapses we have no strategic enemy anymore no matter how much that changes the military mindset is not going to change because each year they've done more and more to increase the security out at area 51 seized more land uh roughed up more people installed different kinds of security measures and it's it's completely unbelievable i don't know if bob uh if if bob is for real 100 or not
(1:03:58) i know there are some problems with this story and legitimate questions that have been asked and raised by by good researchers but i just caution you again like with phil corso and the other thing you don't throw the baby out with the bath water because this could be a really important story um as i was saying the message oozing out of groom lake is sort of what led me to think start thinking about russia

because clearly we were not getting any kind of breakthroughs from our government i know a lot of a lot of us hope that someday the (1:04:28) government's going to open up the doors and the saucers are in there in there and go ahead and take a peek but i don't see it happening it doesn't at least from what's happening in nevada it doesn't seem to be a trend in that direction so i started thinking about russia in 1993 i was fortunate enough to slip through a window of opportunity in russia the political climate was just right allowing for unprecedented access to previously hidden information about ufos and a lot of topics a lot of people were going over there
(1:04:54) gaining access to to classified stuff i said afterward that i after 1993 that first trip that i feared that the window of opportunity might close and in 1996 i returned to russia and my fears were confirmed although not for the expected reasons that the window i would say is not closed all the way but it's stuck and i think it's going to take a tremendous effort one way or another to get it to move i took the this most recent trip at the invitation of a british broadcasting crew they wanted to put together a documentary and they weren't
(1:05:27) satisfied with just staying in moscow we traveled the length and breadth of the country and i love russia but i'm not sure i'm ready to go back there anytime soon if you want to cue up the not d but e e tape the american cia funds something called the foreign broadcast information service this service monitors foreign newspapers and media reports and then summarizes them for consumption by us intelligence agencies the fbi s reports are not classified but they are not widely accessible still there have been
(1:05:59) some references in western press and and in ufo circles so some of the most interest interesting incidents that have been summarized by this intelligence gathering service in 1993 i was unsuccessful in attempts to contact the most important players that were mentioned in some of these cases but this time around things worked out if you want to roll the tape this distinguished looking man is named igor multsev colonel general maltsev for seven years he was the chief of staff for the entire soviet air defense he was
(1:06:28) the number one guy in the entire russian air force in march of 1990 general maltsev's forces around moscow encountered something of high strangeness maltsev collected all the data and sent a report to the kremlin the events were not reported in russia for a full year and then were picked up later by the fbis to my knowledge i'm the first american journalist to interview malta about these events according to his official report there were more than 100 visual observations of ufos in the moscow area on a single night
(1:06:58) the air forces were placed on alert planes were scrambled the objects were picked up on several radar in the air and on the ground warplanes attempted to get close to these things but they couldn't the speeds were described as many times greater than any known aircraft the objects could appear and disappear at will this is the russian military that's gathering this information general multev's report stated quote i'm not a specialist on ufos but they seem completely devoid of inertia they had somehow
(1:07:25) come to terms with gravity the movement was without sound with startling maneuverability at present time terrestrial machines could hardly have such capabilities the original newspaper article about this report in russia stated that general maltsev's documents offer quote substantial confirmation that ufos piloted by intelligent beings have been visiting russia in our interview general molcev was reluctant to take it much further he conceded that the remarks attributed to him were accurately reported that ufos were truly unknown he said
(1:07:58) there's no way that it could be stealth or some other advanced aircraft but that that's as far as he'd go he said he had no knowledge of any other ufo incidents uh he wasn't really interested in pursuing what happened further then he conceded that his forces had been given a standing order that ufos are not to be fired upon because quote they may have tremendous capacities for retaliation in other words they could kick our ass i think besides he says his planes could not get close enough to do anything even if they
(1:08:32) wanted to now remember this is the same russian air force that when that guy roost flew his biplane or whatever it was into the kremlin oh what was it and they were all upset about that but they don't care that there's a hundred uh unidentified amazing machines flying over russia don't shoot at them maltsev insisted that he was in a position to know just about everything about foreign incursions in the russian airspace he's the boss if it happened he should know about it yet he claimed ignorance about a whole

(1:09:01) raft of other ufo cases and we're going to roll the tape and take a look at some of them right now first film you're going to see was uh something that was kept in a kgb vault for 25 years it was finally obtained with from by abc news with my assistants the triangular object was spotted by a propaganda film shooting over latvia in 1968 they estimated it was seven miles up so it had to be enormous they scrambled planes to go after it before they got there though it went behind a cloud and quote disappeared
(1:09:30) the resident russian skeptic said uh it's a french weather balloon and it's true the french did have weather balloons stop it for a second pause it french did have weather balloons like that but abc checked and no such balloons had been launched anywhere near that time period anywhere in that area now you can roll the next one this next one may 1982 a military survey team working in the cola peninsula saw this spinning object we slowed it down a little bit so you can get a another look at it i have seen similar
(1:09:57) drawings from other parts of the world and to my knowledge no one has come up with an explanation for that anyone got one jellyfish swamp gas this next thing you're going to see is a fuzzy kind of a photo that was snapped in the ural mountains in 1976 a snapshot as i said is kind of fuzzy and doesn't really show much as so many ufo photos don't and the hunter later offered a more detailed drawing that he gave to the russian ministry of defense and that's where the files that i found the man you're about to see is a
(1:10:30) decorated russian pilot a lieutenant colonel who said he encountered a ufo and tried to intercept it he told the superiors that the ufo there is he told his superiors that the ufo shot out a beam of light which disabled his plane he bailed out and survived and kept his mouth shut for several years his story was finally told in a ufo magazine in russia the photo you're going to see is from defense archives the this mig pilot said he had a mid-air collision with the ufo which damaged his wing uh this next photo is of a brush fire it
(1:11:04) was taken by three army officers who say the fire was sparked by a ufo that landed and then zoomed away not all that spectacular next one is two school boys at a town north of moscow saw this ufo they ran home get a camera came back captured a series of eight really kind of amazing photos controllers at the leningrad airport saw one then two stop this for a second they saw one then two then three unusual objects hovering over a nuclear plant the reaction and the audio and video was captured on tape and acquired by abc go ahead
(1:11:52) i think we have audio here no well maybe it's popping up no audio well i'm i'm sorry about that i don't know what the word the audio went but anyway what they figured out was these things whatever they were they had never seen objects viewers stop that um they had never seen objects that could go from zero to two thousand miles an hour uh that fast um i didn't grill general maltsev about any of these specific cases because it was pretty obvious to me that it wasn't gonna tell me anymore
(1:12:44) um as he said repeatedly he was in a position to know about this stuff but he didn't and so if he was telling the truth it meant the information was routed elsewhere if he wasn't being entirely truthful it might be had good reasons for not telling me the truth and as i learned over the next few days of the 96 trip both possibilities had merit following those first fbis accounts about maltsev's reports there were follow-ups with even higher officials the deputy minister of defense general ivan tretyak commander in chief
(1:13:14) of air defense forces and general of the army tried to throw a little cold water on a ufo mini hysteria over after these incidents he told a newspaper that maltsev's report was accurate however most ufo reports can be explained away as misidentifications then he admitted some of the ufos had been photographed that they could be seen visually and on ground radar but not detected on airborne radar he said if special russian tracking stations were to be built chances are the russians would see a lot more of these objects and he admitted that this
(1:13:46) there is a standing order for russian pilots to leave the ufos alone we made substantial efforts to get an interview with minister tretjak both by phone during the trip and before we finally spoke to him by phone and he told us he'd already spoken about this matter he couldn't understand why we wanted to ask about it we said we need video if we need video dude and uh he uh said i'll check with the ministry of defense he did we called him back he said that in their opinion uh they didn't it's not in anyone's best (1:14:14) interest to talk about this any further at this time perhaps in a year or two which is pretty much where we left it now this is a far different attitude from what i encountered just a couple of years before and uh and allow me to set the stage a little bit what it was like in 1993. let's go do the next tape this should be yeah this should be f in 1993 when we went there uh things were busting out all over in russia i mean it was an incredible time dramatic historical events unfolding every every uh where you looked (1:14:51) and the ufo reception we got was much much different spring it's cold it's nasty and this is the kind of stuff that we see almost every day this is in red square communists are on one side the uh the people been democ believing a democracy on the other and there's a whole bunch of cops in between it was a pretty nasty time there were clashes between those who supported the reforms those who longed to return to communism every day there were mass male meetings every day protests there were bombings that were never

(1:15:20) reported here in the west as you'll see there are pictures of troops on the move in downtown moscow we had come up on the communist side of the demonstration and they didn't like us one bit so it was an incredible time to be there on the day we arrived boris yeltsin had seized control of the broadcast airwaves on the day we left uh the their parliament was meeting to impeach him and all kinds of stuff had gone on in between a wonderful time to be there whether or not you're looking for ufos or not
(1:15:50) today however the scene has changed at least as of last year no more mass demonstrations no more open unrest but things are bad probably far worse you can stop the tape down the gap between rich and poor has grown organized crime is virtually out of control over there the communists have made a comeback you've got these scary nationalists talking about the return of the ussr yeltsin has a very tenuous grip on power his health is very bad the russians don't know what is going to happen from one day to the next and many
(1:16:21) are frightened and i think that was reflected in what we found in searching for ufo stuff our success hinged on basically one man he's a russian physicist named dr nikolai caprenov he had been a national security adviser to the russian parliament as well as to their academy of sciences i met him in las vegas in 1992 started asking about ufos uh whether he knew anything over there nah never give it any thought and then as we had a beer or two you know i do know a guy at kgb who talked about it and i do know this guy
(1:16:51) and this guy so we set him up with an office said go find it and the main directive that we gave him the one that really worked for us was don't go to ufologists not that there's anything wrong with ufologists but we'd like to find people who are in a position to know about this stuff but who have never been interviewed before no one has been on hard copy uh not marina popovich or or any of these folks who are perfectly good sources of information we wanted to find something new and that's exactly it's
(1:17:18) because of that rule i think it opened a lot of doors for us in fact it allowed us to gain access to ministry of defense files that no one has ever seen before incidents like these november 89 three military pilots in pursuit of a fast-moving ufo were exposed to intense beams of hot light from an object which zoomed away at incredible speed the pilots were hospitalized became virtual invalids and died of symptoms similar to radiation poisoning june 1980 moscow dozens of military personnel observed a bright egg-shaped ufo
(1:17:53) performed high speed maneuvers and incredible turns appearing disappearing and hovering one officer got within 50 meters of an object but was repelled by something like a force field again this is from the russian ministry of defense classified files june 1980 the same date the town of volsk 20 witnesses in seven separate groups reported ufos including a luminous fear that split into two objects one of the two hovered over the town emitting a bright beam of light another object flew in a zigzag pattern auto engines and radio signals on the
(1:18:25) ground below were knocked out the same objects were seen six more times over the next four months in the same area but the most dramatic incident of all occurred on the night of october 4th 1982 over the village of usovo in the soviet ukraine dozens of witnesses most of them high-ranking military officers reported a ufo free-for-all in the skies for a period of nearly four hours some of the objects were triangular some were elliptical some changed colors others changed shapes some split into smaller objects some (1:18:57) merged into larger objects they blinked on blinked off performed outrageous maneuvers for four hours all of the witnesses statements were collected stamped and classified and then sent to moscow with great urgency and the reason for that is the ufos were maneuvering over a nuclear missile base long-range nuclear missiles included in the classified report was the most disturbing statement of all provided by communications commander davidovich katzman who reported that while the ufos hovered over the missile base the launch control

(1:19:29) panel was somehow activated in his words it was a spontaneous illumination of all displays and someone or something entered the precise control codes which enabled the missiles in other words the missiles were ready to launch but then the ufos disappeared control panel went back to normal an investigation by the ministry of defense was launched almost immediately they came in took everything apart they looked at all the other equipment all over the base no other equipment had been affected no other equipment had ever been affected
(1:20:00) like this before they could find nothing wrong with the control panel they concluded that ufos were somehow responsible for what occurred as if to send a message that perhaps this is your most important and powerful weapon system but it doesn't impress us all that much that same message as you may know was delivered to the u.
(1:20:18) s military in 1975 a series of overflights of u.s bases along the canadian border nuclear missiles some say the launch control code the launch codes were interfered with contrary to what's been said publicly by the governments of the u s and great britain and russia and others ufos do carry clear implications for national security however with the end of the cold war we've seen no change in the attitudes of our governments on these topics for decades they've justified excessive secrecy under the mantle of national
(1:20:48) security they couldn't tell us what's going on but it's all been for our own good and now there's still mum on the subject going to roll tape as i said same one as i said uh working with nikolai capranov opened a lot of doors for us it's coming up and probably the most important door that had opened for us was the one that led to the modest apartment of a man named bora sokolov he was a retired red army colonel from a distinguished military family his grandfather had been a personal guard of
(1:21:18) the czar in the late 70s sokolove was one of an elite handful of officers charged with adapting industrial technologies to military purposes his area of concentration was radio waves and radio astronomy and as we will learn the soviet military had long been monitoring ufo activity but some spectacular sightings hold this for just a second spectacular sightings in the late 70s on the russian finnish border had prompted more direct action a bigger study 1978 colonel sokolov says an amazing order was issued by the soviet ministry of defense it
(1:21:51) went out to every military unit in the vast soviet empire army navy air force everyone in sakhalov's words this order transformed the entire ussr into one gigantic ufo listening post simply put the order said every ufo sighting every ufo encounter every unexplained aerial object every ball of light every anomalous object you see has to be fully investigated the witness is interrogated collect all this stuff into a report and send it to moscow and all of that stuff went to the ministry of defense and colonel sokolov was placed in in
(1:22:25) charge of the study a study like this can never be done again he says and there's a good reason for that one is the ussr the whole country was involved it no longer exists and two this study lasted for 10 full years thousands and thousands of reports poured in he saw the best and he shared them with us um go ahead and roll this tape we'll hear from colonel sokolov why the study had been undertaken in the first place military was interested for three reasons one because of the unpredictable movement of the ufos the quick
(1:23:01) changes in course angles two because of the velocity of the ufo movements and three because ufos observed visually could not be seen on radar and those seen on radar could not always be seen visually the military thought that if the secrets of the ufos could be discovered they would be able to win the competition against our prospective enemies in terms of velocity materials and visibility stealth to build their own stealth pilots recognized ufos as a threat to them there were 40 episodes in which they shot at ufos
(1:23:37) an order was given to pilots to chase ufos and shoot at them but when the pilots tried the ufo speeded up in three cases the pilots would lose control and crash two of the pilots died after that pilots received a new order when they see a ufo change course and get out all the pilots agreed october 5th 1983 i was ordered to immediately go to the ukraine to an icbm base the reason for the urgency was a report from the base commander to the chief of the general staff on october 4th from 4 to 8 pm the base observed a ufo at the same time on the (1:24:17) control panel they received an order to prepare the launch of the icbms

the lights lit up and the launch codes enabled the missiles dozens of officers witnessed this colonel sokolov added somewhat cryptically that the ministry of defense study of ufos is still going on although on a lesser scale and that quote it's unlike the one in the united states but he wouldn't say a whole lot more about that uh all kinds of fascinating uh uh incidents from those files i brought a lot of them here but i don't i can't think of a practical way to show
(1:24:49) them to everyone um the real significance i think though the ministry of defense file is is not in the specifics of the individual cases but rather in the scope of the overall study i mean this was russia's pentagon which had ordered this long-term comprehensive ufo study for the express purpose of exploiting what they considered to be alien technology they wanted to build a stealth and kick our butt we're not talking about ufologists here we're talking about the ministry of defense and that's very serious stuff
(1:25:18) it was vitally important to the crew i was traveling with in 1996 to try to find colonel sokolov again i wanted to interview him i mean he was the key witness for what they hope to be their documentary and i was curious as well as what had happened to him because i knew that he had taken a beating in the russian press after we came back blabbed our mouths off and some ufological publications about what we had found it got back to russian ufo circles and he took a terrible pounding there were still communist oriented newspapers
(1:25:45) there there was a particular ufologist who was not interviewed by us and who was kind of miffed about it who really took off on colonel sokolov and then some of the others who had helped us nikolai capranov our friend had told us if this had happened uh five years ago if this had happened ten years ago five years ago we would have been imprisoned if this had happened ten years ago we would have been shot and i had also heard that colonel sokolove had been having health problems so in our first few attempts to re-establish contact with him we're told
(1:26:15) he don't want to talk about ufos anymore and he didn't need any more heat besides his health was not that good both things turned out to be true excuse me we were never never able to talk to him he avoided us the whole time we found out later that he had been admitted to a hospital he is still alive but not in very good good health even more telling though in this trip we were unable in 1996 to hook up with nikolai who'd become something of a friend of mine we'd been corresponding for a period of
(1:26:43) four years telephone conversations all the time working on a real fun project he wouldn't come to the phone his family at first said he was gone and then he uh just never hooked up and i don't know to this day what the story was there the idea that russians are studying ufos in order to learn stealth technology was intriguing to me because of the allegations about some kind of connection to stealth and ufos that have been raised in connection with area 51.
(1:27:09) similar allegations have been raised about a connection to sdi or star wars technology and through our contacts with the russian academy of natural sciences we interviewed a man named dr romilly avramenko who was and perhaps is still the one of the chief scientists working on russia's anti-satellite weapons program their version of sdi he had the highest possible security clearances most of his adult life so high that for most of his life he wasn't even able to use his real name if he wanted to publish something
(1:27:39) scientific he had to use an alias dr avramenko told us in no uncertain terms ufos are real that we the americans meaning and the russians have known their reel for decades and that the information has been incorporated into sdi research rolled the tape sdi research he even demonstrated what he said was a table top model of a plasma beam weapon for us and i didn't think it was all that impressive but other people i'd seen this thing this blue plastic thing sitting on the table and wonder what it was and he pulls out the razor blade and
(1:28:09) puts it on top and gives us a little demonstration i'm still not sure whether this is significant or not if there's somebody scientific in the audience that can tell us but he showed us what it did it wasn't plugged into anything either well then he told us about ufos the first time i saw ufos was in 1959 i saw it with radar as it was orbiting earth in 1959 the first good radars were made we could see several thousand kilometers we could see what was happening around the earth at the time satellites were easily (1:28:55) countable but we also saw vehicles whose technical characteristics we can't match even now we saw tens of these in 1959 entering and leaving earth's atmosphere surely the existence of these ufos caused problems for the u s defense system you were faced with separating aggressive vehicles from the unknowns are aliens and ufos real for me and my colleagues that isn't even a question i know this government has many programs on this the information about ufos helps us manufacture plasma beams for use in our (1:29:29) star wars the weapons of the aliens we call them both uh dr avromenko and colonel sokolov told us the military studies of ufos were still underway with the help of nikolai the first time around anyway we met with a man who was currently is still in charge of the ongoing study we first had an agreement that we wouldn't use his name uh but later he gave me the permission to do so which is kind of incongruous with everything else we saw during the 96 trip his name is colonel alexander plackson he's an air

(1:29:57) force officer managed to get copies with his help and colonel sokolov of documents that are still classified as opposed to a lot of the other stuff which has been declassified documents that are still classified about russian ufo studies what they reveal is this is an ongoing effort it is high level it is dead serious by the russian military in the documents there are a lot of references to american ufology that makes me believe that they are monitoring developments in ufology around the world it doesn't mean that they believe it's
(1:30:26) all real just shows that they're paying attention to it it's not even a matter of discussion whether ufos are real yes they acknowledge many are misidentifications but they're focusing on how these things work so they can apply it to military and perhaps later civilian technology the name of the ongoing study in ninety three was thread three uh one enlightening section of paper is dealt with russian cosmonauts in space and it also speculated on american astronauts uh they the russians seem to think we
(1:30:55) ran into something on the moon which is a reason that we didn't go back for so many years they also detail uh yuri gagarin claimed that he had seen something in space and would speak about it and more of his first guy in space i would speak about it more if given permission the second according to these documents the second guy in space a cosmonaut tdog took along a film camera and he had a whole array of these devices that he could see outside the capsule dancing around he brought back some some film footage and we got to see
(1:31:24) one one uh one frame of that film it shows seven brightly lit objects out there also in the classified documents as i said several references to things that were seen on the moon by u.s astronauts and how the information had been removed from nasa's public files we did meet with colonel plaxen this time 1996 again thread 3 had ended but another study called group 22 and replaced it on a lesser scale he says that he has not been told to be quiet he's written even articles about anomalous lights as opposed to plasma
(1:31:58) balls as opposed to ufos we wondered how long these studies have been going on found another guy one guy in the country who could answer that question his name is valerie budakov dr budakov has been mentioned subsequently in articles here in the west he had been trained at uh however before we approached him i don't think any other western journalist had talked to him he'd been trained at the moscow institute of aviation where the russian space program was built you want to know about the idea of crash saucers uh whether or not
(1:32:29) uh how the russians view roswell this was a guy who had some answers we could roll this tape his mentor was a guy named korolov the father of the russian space program and he asked him he come to come to uh to speak to him about stalin and ufos coraloff told me that in 1948 he was invited to the kremlin to see stalin this was after the events in new mexico and after the death of captain mantell stalin brought korloff into a room where all the materials were spread on a table western periodicals books articles ufo
(1:33:05) reports from the soviet union information from special channels in the u.s stalin wanted to know what did coraloff think about the material concerning roswell and ufos korlov asked to take the materials home to study them and was told no he had to work there when corelog finished the work stalin asked him again his opinion korloff said the phenomenon is real they do not appear to be dangerous to our country they are not manufactured in the states or any other country and the time will come when it must be further studied (1:33:43) stalin thanked him and said the same opinion was shared by other specialists we know that the us air force possesses plenty of material about ufos we know the us navy also has plenty of material we know about special orders given to keep all of the material secret when curious people ask for the materials they are told they're not there for the near future the most interesting materials will be kept secret the owners of the material don't let it out stop it well that was then

oh the guy looks like carl maldon though
(1:34:18) doesn't he that was then this time around same kind of a story we met with him again he was eager to promote a new book that he's got that he wanted promoted in the west but he had a totally different view about roswell i make that views actually had several of them he said it might have been a saucer but it was man-made by former nazi scientists that we had down there in new mexico he said the russians had done the same thing he said more likely it might have been a v2 missile with from white sands that it was carrying
(1:34:47) green monkeys not alien bodies um it was just a totally different attitude from from the last time we'd we had seen him and uh it's it remains very curious to me uh you know american debunkers have provided air cover for for scientists who don't want to study ufos by poo pooing the entire subject without the benefit of doing a lot of research we found our russian expedition proved i think beyond any doubt that such a position is morally and scientifically bankrupt we're going to roll the tape again
(1:35:15) we have the opportunity to meet with russia's premier skeptic a scientist named julie plattov he works at something called the institute for terrestrial magnetism within the russian academy of sciences that's him dr plattov informed us of the history of official ufo studies in russia he says the national academy of sciences there began formal studies in the 70s that 10 different scientific institutions were involved that thousands of case files have been compiled along with photos and drawings like these and there is general agreement
(1:35:48) that the topic is worthy of study in our 1993 meeting he showed us a bunch of this stuff he said he was a friendly skeptic by that he agrees that ninety percent of ufo sightings are probably misidentifications but he said that uh that is not they're not fully explainable and it doesn't rule out the possibility of extraterrestrial visitations uh the some of the photos he had were pretty good one case in particular had been reported in the west here uh some witnesses had seen a ufo land on a frozen lake and take off they left
(1:36:18) behind this large circular formation on the ice sort of a russian version of crop circles i guess hard evidence if you will the case remained unexplained as far as plateau was concerned he also mentioned that russians had seen dozens of standard type crop circles you can stop it over the years and he summed up his attitude by saying that science should be interested in pursuing the unexplained that the prospect of e.
(1:36:43) t life is very important but that we must follow the evidence where it leads even if it gets under some really weird territory which is the kind of response you'd like from our scientists you know who who won't who won't touch this thing because they say there's nothing to study this time around we met with dr plattov again and and as with dr budakov the attitude has changed he'd gone from a friendly skeptic to an absolute fill class arch skeptic there are no cases but one that is legitimately unexplained he said we would show him
(1:37:14) tape and show him files of things and he would brush them off with the wave of his hand and i can't explain the change of heart there are other scientists though i know you're getting tired of these russian names i'll zip through them there's a guy named professor rem verlam off if you want to roll tape one of the founders of russian ufology currently teaching at the moscow institute of technology he talked to us because he's a specialist in landing site trace cases of our work is not to contact
(1:37:41) the space intellect but to understand how the universe works we wanted to answer three questions one do other worlds and dimensions exist we have measured 22 physical constants to suggest the answer is yes two do our laws of physics exist in those worlds no they don't and the differences can be documented three can we contact this other intelligence the answer is yes but we must be careful we discovered many measurable characteristics within the landing sites the plants inside these circles or impressions were greatly changed plants which were
(1:38:24) inside the circles contained twenty to thirty percent more phosphorus and carbon and they grew at a slower rate we studied 40 elements in the soil through spectrography 20 of those elements were found in concentrations 20 to 60 times higher inside the circles than outside lead was found to be 14 times as concentrated titanium 8.
(1:38:50) 5 times cobalt barium and zinc three to four times we also documented physical and psychological effects inside the circle heart rates and blood flow were sixty percent higher our testing equipment also was affected at times we conducted an experiment to see if the measurement of time might be affected by the energy

inside the landing sites we used both mechanical and crystal timepieces which were synchronized then placed both inside and outside of the sites what we found were that after two hours inside the landing sites
(1:39:28) time speeded up the time pieces were no longer synchronized i fascinating i mean measurable differences in the elements and things like that doing stuff that scientists are supposed to do not going into something with a preconceived idea you dig in the soil you test stuff you put under a microscope and you see what you see he talked about a whole range of fascinating experiments that they had done he even had a sample of angel hair at one point a sort of exhaust product and and had some test results from that he said there had been at
(1:40:00) least six attempts to make pre-arranged contacts with alien intelligence successful to some degree i think along the lines of some of the stuff that dr grier and sea city folks have been doing verlamoff is not alone as a specialist in landing site trace cases there's another guy been working with for about 30 years he's a government biologist he has recognized some truly amazing phenomena his name is dr yuri simakov he specializes in measuring single cell organisms in the soil at places where witnesses say ufos have sat down
(1:40:33) go ahead and roll this tape the soil treat teams with microscopic life outside these circles inside is just barren uh that's one of the findings but he also was able to find uh something that was pretty amazing at one of these landing sites actually these these items were found at two alleged sites hundreds of miles apart years removed from each other what he found in the soil were these tiny colorful balls or spheres of unknown origin neither simakov nor anyone else could figure out what they were he says they contained the building
(1:41:07) blocks of life and that when placed in water they opened up like seed pods we joked that they were like cosmic sperm and i'll tell you about smuggling half the world's supply of cosmic sperm through customs sometime [Laughter] harry is talking about some of the microscopes single cell organisms simply leave the sites they disappear they don't die it's as if they were forced to leave the sites we also experimented with insects insects have different receptors than we do i suspect insects can feel fields not known to us
(1:41:43) or fields that are slightly varied when we placed flies in a dish and put the dish over the landing site the flies went wild buzzing and flying around the balls i can't find any evidence of their existence in any printed material they may be formed as a result of transmutation when oxygen was transformed into sodium under the influence of the ufo or maybe they are containers to carry life from one planet to another still the objects are not known one more thing at the spots where i found the balls the flies we used in our experiments not
(1:42:21) only went wild but were killed and mosquitoes could be found outside the landing site but not inside i did get he gave me half the world's known supply of cosmic sperm and we brought it back and i've had a series of tests done on it and over the course of the years i still can't tell you what it is um it doesn't open up like seed pods we couldn't get the one plant pathology lab to to duplicate that dr w c levin good if you know him from crop circle research he's taken a look at them and he says they are whatever they are
(1:42:51) they're optically perfect they are perfect little spheres appear to be glass-like in in composition although the the chemical composition is a little bit strange he says they're five times larger than any kind of similar spheres that we've ever he's ever seen made and he worked for a glass company for 15 years spheres that are made like that on earth here are used in as chemical catalysts i was told but he can't figure out he says if somebody made them and i don't know how the heck they did
(1:43:16) if somebody made them they had to have a very good reason could be very expensive and very difficult to do it and why it was out in the middle of kazakhstan in the middle of dirt piles outside of moscow and the soil samples no one can answer i know i'm going kind of fast on this but i wanted to cover one more point the question of other roswells and other crashes those things those kinds of stories had been floating around for a number of years you want to switch tapes to the next one uh in russia as well as in

roswell incident where a supposed flying saucer
(1:44:24) crashed in new mexico now they have something new to debate the russian roswell george knapp investigated the case during his recent trip to russia from the port city of vladivostok an aging helicopter took us to the even more remote town of del negorsk known for its mines its chemical plants and the crash on hill 6-1-1 in january 1986 hundreds of witnesses saw a round red glowing object before and during the crash it flew parallel to the mountains they say then plunged into the ground repeatedly bouncing up and down
(1:44:59) valerie dejoni of the russian academy of sciences was the first to reach the crash site on the rocks and trees he found metal fragments unlike those of any meteorite under examination the debris revealed the complex pattern of netting most of the material was sent to academy institutes for analysis the debris included several rare earth elements but no trace of sulfur or phosphorus used in normal industrial processes the journey also found that flint at the crash site had somehow been magnetized something as likely as magnetizing brick
(1:45:29) he says his team report concluded outrageously the object was not made on earth the prevailing view among skeptics is that the object was a secret russian satellite however the 11 institutes which studied the debris have never formally released their findings or the material military sources including this lieutenant colonel say there are no records indicating it was a russian satellite de june also notes that no one from the government ever came looking for their lost satellite although the kgb office in delmagours
(1:45:59) did inquire about subsequent ufo sightings dozens of ufos were seen in the weeks and months after the crash objects which flashed spotlights toward the ground as if searching for something most residents saw them and the general in charge of the russian air force in the region said on television his forces had tracked some of the objects on radar as in the u.
(1:46:20) s there have been other debatable crash reports in russia but none with hundreds of living eyewitnesses and none with several pounds of unusual material george knapp channel 8 eyewitness news this is a note of protocol i told you it was a nine and a half hour flight from moscow to vladivostok the most crime-ridden city in all of russia we flew out in the same storm system that uh killed ron brown the secretary of commerce uh hundreds of miles down to the south but it was it's a complete white out and it was just nuts nine and a half hours they
(1:47:24) and uh and all the doors were open for us and people were openly speaking about this and in 96 without anyone telling them it seemed like the pendulum had swung the other way and uh and people were without any formal orders and people were clamming up about ufos or or they were singing a different tune you know when we were there in 96 boris yeltsin was when we first got there he was 20 points behind in the polls uh to accom to his opponent people were concerned the communists might return to power so maybe the reluctance to get into any
(1:47:55) kind of uh stew was understandable boris yeltsin won but his health and his grip on power are are very tentative so that window of opportunity remains stuck i i think what we learned though is governments do know about ufos uh they are interested in them they do share information they do cooperate in a cover-up probably out of their own desire for self-preservation we know they're lying to us we know that the russian government is lying to the russians and the british government is lying to the british and the american government is lying to (1:48:25) us and we look forward to the day when they publicly admit it but i wouldn't hold our breath i i would just caution you if i could say we learned anything here i hope i've imparted is that with this wild and wacky topic you got to be skeptical you have to be skeptical but try to keep at least an open mind and a healthy kind of skepticism and don't throw out the baby with the bathwater thanks very much for having me [Applause] [Music] here [Music] you

Transcript:
(00:05) [Applause] [Music] what is a conspiracy a conspiracy is a group of people secretly working together for an evil purpose this century everything from assassinations to political coups and alien abductions even the price of oil have been linked to conspiracies the question is are conspiracies are the facts being suppressed or is it all just paranoia on our part amongst all the innuendo about media suppression and government cover-ups it's obvious to some hidden forces constantly manipulate our lives whether we realize it or not (00:49) conspiracies affect us all and they continue to flourish because they remain unsolved to investigate the truth we need to look through the maze of unanswered questions and uncover the secrets of what we call conspiracies one of the most notorious conspiracies of this century claims that the earth has been contacted by alien beings and that the governments of the world kept the truth hidden from us over the last 40 years an impressive volume of information has accumulated as evidence that the u.s government has alien
(01:21) spacecraft stored in vast bunkers beneath the nevada desert a neon city in the dead heart of the nevada desert a city whose lights have long sheltered visitors from the harsh and hidden realities of its barren locality secreted in the hills and sand dunes 140 miles north of las vegas is a military zone known amongst investigators as area 51.
(01:57) [Music] we definitely have a base here that the government won't talk about a large air force base on the shore of groom dry lake very large hangers large satellite dishes probably the longest runway in the world security here is certainly intense on the inner perimeter you have who knows what sort of sensors on the outer perimeter you have what we call the camo dupes they wear camouflage fatigues with no insignia they drive white jeep cherokees with no government markings very sinister force it's a paramilitary force
(02:30) essentially patrolling both their military area and the public lands adjoining [Music] inventor william lear is one of the world's most decorated aviators his revelations were instrumental in exposing the covert activities at area 51 [Music] i think they used it as a underground area to hide recovered discs as early as 1948 or 49 they're here uh they have an agenda and there's not the slightest thing we can do about it area 51 is no doubt part of the larger cia slash military infrastructure which permeates
(03:23) the entire globe at least 35 separate different craft we were being visited by at least 10 different uh species of aliens [Music] is the granddaddy of ufo conspiracy stories john lear is an interesting man with an interesting background associations with various intelligence agencies and i owe him a debt of gratitude because he did help me when i initially began my ufo research he was at the scene of a ufo crash what's what's his name john lehrer came to the station with a pile of ufo documents and was trying to interest our (04:02) managing editor in doing a story about ufos maryland established an intensive program of ridicule against anyone who said they saw flying saucers airline captain john lyric the government has no fears clear hinted that he knew someone who had intimate knowledge of the saucer program and so i kept bugging him to allow us to to meet this person which turned out to be bob lazar in 1989 bob lazar a nuclear physicist came forward with a fantastic story he claimed he had worked on recovered alien craft at a top secret government
(04:35) facility it's kind of a long story how i became employed at that facility south of 51 it's called s4 i was originally employed at los alamos national labs in new mexico while at los alamos labs i ran it to dr edward teller edward teller was essentially the father of the hydrogen bomb because he who came up with the original concept fusion device i send a resume out to him he put in a good word for me and uh i was granted an interview he came over here after one or two of them he would say john they said that you're just (05:13) interested in being my friend to get information on the f-117 i said no that's true and that's not true i'm just interested in ufos well we had to sign an agreement essentially relieving us of our constitutional rights usually if you're employed by someone it's very clear as to who's in charge the way things were set up here i don't know i know on my pay stub it was from the department of naval intelligence in december 1988 bob came in the evening sat down in that chair i was writing out bills and he says john

the test site and he said yeah i just got back i said then what are you doing here and i said they obviously followed you why don't you find out what's going on and then tell us close range what i witnessed craft approximately 52 feet diameter 15 feet high it's quite an unbelievable sight to see something that size lift completely silently later on i was (06:16) allowed inside the craft to see how the reactor was placed and how the gravity amplifiers were configured inside there that was phenomenous feeling entering the seats inside the craft were much smaller than a human could use it was it was obvious that this was uh you know not meant for people to fly in there was only one vehicle that i worked on though there were nine total and different states of repair or disrepair we really don't know how the fuel was manufactured we just know that it was in the craft and we were actively trying to find out
(06:52) what reaction it was undergoing to produce the energy to drive the craft i remember a particular evening in january bob came in his eyes were bright he said john you will never know what it's like to see your first alien i said your kid it could have been a [__] no couldn't have been a doll no that was it he was absolutely positive what i did see was what i believe to be autopsy photos it's uh a creature its chest was could open in a tea fashion the skin peeled back there were also photos of one single (07:30) large organ that was removed that was also cut up and being weighed whether or not they're absolutely authentic i can't say i can only assume because i was working on a craft that that i know to be of alien in nature that the other material that came along with it was probably authentic also i had the test flight schedule for what was going on down at s4 i said well you know how can we see it he said i know we can a place where we can drive in and we know center got out of the motor home when this thing came up behind the
(08:03) mountain from that distance it was just a light but when i got the celestron 8 focused in on it it was the flying saucer and just a few minutes ago we saw one of the government uh extraterrestrial ufos fly over there we've all watched it for about seven or eight minutes we're going to uh stay here for another couple hours here to see if we can show you folks uh an actual extraterrestrial flying saucer being flown by the government they perform maneuvers that were not aerodynamically possible with any other craft and the fact that it
(08:36) it glowed which happened to be a byproduct of how the craft operator we're looking at a craft that was traveling huge distances both the left and the right instantaneously because we got away with it that night it kind of became a habit more or less to keep going out there and on one night we got caught we had geiger counters film video cameras still cameras everything i started setting up the telescope and about that time the broncos come up and said you know what are you guys doing here the following day i was taken in for (09:10) debriefing and threatened and uh really that's when the falling out more or less started with me and the people at s4 uh the day just ended the notes were taken and other people were brought in and you know i left wondering exactly what was going to happen 20 miles from area 51 along highway 375 in the small town of rachel locals have noted mysterious and disturbing events for years people gathered here to discuss the sightings that they had in most places you can't talk about that kind of thing you can't find a place to go that big
(09:44) around and kind of the color maybe of a flashlight but a long streak as it came out i saw a uh a yellowish white bright light rise up from the hill back over in this direction skyward uh hang motionless for two or three minutes then slowly start to descend between 89 and let's say 94 every time i came out i saw someone do a circle and it would go straight up then it would drop and go left or right well i'll tell you i covered organized crime here in this city for a number of years i have dealt with a lot of mob witnesses
(10:18) who told me that they were afraid of being bumped off by the mob people are more afraid of our government than they are of organized crime uh they're worried they're gonna get killed i was constantly followed um my friends were harassed shot at when he got his tire shot out on the freeway this was the first place he came and he said i'm going to turn myself in i said relax you know just you know stay here for a while the news director and i went up to uh to john lear's home and met lazar we interviewed him for a (10:52) period of several hours and were convinced this is a really interesting story hello and welcome to a special edition of on the record groom lake nevada is one of the most secretive spots on the planet it's located on the northeast edge of the nevada test site and is said to be where numerous top secret weapon systems have been tested over the years according to some ufo researchers it's also where the government is test flying alien spacecraft well there's nine flying saucers of extraterrestrial origin (11:19) that are out there the propulsion system is an uh a gravity propulsion system the power source is an antimatter reactor this technology does not exist at all what about aliens any of those up there groom lake i really want to steer away from that right now the first interview i did on tv was in silhouette everyone knew what i looked like at s4 but i didn't want to push back too much i just wanted to say hey leave me alone and uh it was hands off after that no one had followed me and it it had the desired effect

(11:51) everything stopped immediately most of my documents as far as my past history vanished and that was not a natural occurrence further harassment by the authorities brought bob lazar to court facing minor charges of pandering the judge found it almost impossible to determine his identity that shows that he worked for the united states department of naval intelligence i also note that he is in fact listed in the los alamos national laboratory telephone directory it's obvious that it's very difficult to get
(12:25) information on mr lazar from government sources enormously we can't verify his education background the claims for a master's degree from mit and caltech simply cannot prove it he can't come up with uh any diplomas can't come up with any professors who can't come up with any classmates who would verify me a non-person something where i could improve my background so anything i said you know really wouldn't be uh listen to it however i have been able to verify a lot of things about his background
(12:56) that makes sense we know he worked at los alamos lab he knew about the existence of a place called s4 well i confirmed with the government there really is a place called s4 i had never heard about it before they say it exists they just won't tell me where it is our story broke in 89 the ufo watchers swarmed around this area and they discovered two hills one of them is called white sides mountain it's the mountain with the white sides in the distance and the other one discovered more recently was freedom ridge
(13:24) both these hills offered a clear view across the valley of the space that doesn't exist which created a lot of embarrassment uh within the past year the government seized an additional 4 000 acres of land around groom lake the land on which people would peer down on the base i have interviewed now more than two dozen people who worked at that facility who all tell me bits and pieces of the same story that story being we've seen these disc shaped craft some of them have just seen these things sitting in a hangar some of (13:54) them have seen them in flight but clearly that many people telling you that they've seen something over and over again over all that time period suggests that something really is going on out there and there are a number of uh photographs that have taken been taken out there of odd objects in the sky disc shaped objects there are videos that were taken out there by by people who are out in the desert looking to see what they can see about two miles from the military border now on public land i used to map these sensors uh record
(14:24) their locations using the radio and then if you want to sneak around all you have to do is simply uh pull the power plug and you're free to to pass by and then after you pass by you put the power plug back on these cables here are connected to magnetic cylinders buried beside the road on either side they'll show you them follow this cable under here there you have the uh the sensor unit this detects any big piece of metal going by there are uh live guards on the top of various of these hills that are always (14:54) there 24 hours a day their only job is to watch the desert the saucers are in fact gone from area 51 because too many people are out there in the desert looking for it no i'm quite sure that testing stopped years ago i doubt very much that the the base is even any longer there the remnants of it might be one of the earliest locations to be suggested as a possible storage place is the facility at pine gap in australia and because of the top secret facilities that are already there where would i put them i put them in the (15:23) south pacific cover up probably started for pretty good reasons back in the late 1940s when the modern ufo era began it's likely that our country really didn't know what was going on we didn't know where these things were from uh what they were here for what they wanted from us and there probably really was a danger that there might be an outbreak of panic if the public were told that these things are from somewhere else but so many lies have been told over the years since then that i think that uh that once the cover-up is exposed if (15:53) in fact that ever happens that some of these military people would go to jail the government is in a holding status quo they're just waiting for whatever the aliens are going to do we know that lear was intimately connected with the cia people connected with the cia tend to stay connected with the cia from the government people that i know they say the next five years is going to be very interesting the government wants people to be confused about area 51.

(16:25) the government wants to think these dancing lights are are ufos as opposed to advanced weapons systems they don't want us to have a an in-depth knowledge about their strikeforce capabilities [Music] the cia has been a factor in the downfall of many foreign governments most people however are shocked to discover how big a player the cia has been in the politics of allied nations in late 1975 a security crisis existed in australia the prime minister gough whitlam hinted he would no longer allow the cia to operate the top secret communications
(17:07) base known as pine gap by 1 pm on november the 11th 1975 the government was out of power and some would argue the cia was back in control well may we say god save the queen of course [Music] it's taken 18 months to assemble pine gap from pre-fabricated buildings now no airplane can fly closer than two and a half miles to the base the secrecy is total since we agreed in december 1966 the americans could build it pine gap near alice springs has been the center of speculation on the cia's activities
(18:11) here officially it's an experimental space station pine gap was to be a joint facility run by the defense departments of australia and the united states stallings and another senior cia man victor marchetti drafted the pine gap treaty laying out the ground rules for cooperation between the two governments officially this executive agreement between the australian and u.
(18:34) s governments stated that all surveillance information gathered at pine gap would be shared equally there's no doubt whatsoever about it was set up by the cia for espionage and that remains what it's about liberal party leader robert menzies led the longest-serving government in australia's history the world needs the united states of america the world needs the united states of america strong links between australia and the us have been formed allowing for a proliferation of top secret bases all that was about to change
(19:18) [Music] would you trust your international affairs again for the men who gave you vietnam it's the choice between the past and the future it's time for a new government when the women government was elected in 1972 there was considerable concern in washington both raised the question of the american military installations in australia with particular reference to the secrecy uh surrounding them could you indicate your government will take on these questions there now need be no secrecy because uh mr barnard and i
(20:00) can find out whatever we're wanting christopher john boyce is serving 42 years in a state penitentiary for counter-espionage at the age of 24 he was caught selling secrets gathered at pine gap to the russians while working as a cipher clerk at trw communications an alleged front for the cla they were going to cut the australians out of the existing information that was coming down but in any case it was a screw the aussies type project didn't take very long for the whitlam government to get itself offside with (20:33) the nixon administration i have concluded that the time has come for action i objected to the american bombing of hanoi undefended open bombing i complained about that the american ambassador at the time was sent to tell whitlam that they objected very strongly to them they were frightened of the small degree of independence being displayed by the labour government the labour government was regarded as a security risk by the united states and the united states at an official level would have done everything they
(21:21) could to have it removed you don't see the jewels of country staying placed in jeopardy by a party that was seeking a new way for australia early in 1973 whitlam demanded from asis the australian secret intelligence service the names of operatives and where they were actually carrying out their operations and he was told that there were operatives in chile working under the cia involved in the destabilization of the allende government and he immediately informed him to cease that particular operation they didn't and at least two of our (22:01) operatives were there in september 73 when that bloody coup took place at topple salvadorian day enter marshall green the new american ambassador to canberra a senior career diplomat he will be involved in at least three crews most notably the one in indonesia marshall greene actually stated that if the australian government did to in any way take the power away from us multinationals and use the place we would move in the world despite warnings from his colleagues about kur's allegiance to certain u.

(22:48) s intelligence organizations john kerr was president of law asia which is a cia funded organisation in the pacific when i first saw him way back in 1944 or 45 he was part of an intelligence organization in the army then the lease for the renewal of pine gap was due on the 9th of december and large sections of the labor party wanted to close it down because they were not happy with having a foreign base of that type in this country mr whitler made a number of comments in parliament telling the australian public what the pine gap base was about and
(23:35) made various comments about richard stallings who set up the pine gap base and part of the u.s intelligence community actually lived in doug anthony's house in canberra but i've had no associations with cia money in australia as anthony has in october whitlam sat the head of asis and this was followed by the sacking of baba who was the head of asia it's a tender plant that needs nourishment some of the major secrets that deal with the world i was once in were given to the australian soldiers [Applause]
(24:29) well shackley has got a long history of involvement overthrowing other countries governments are attempting to do so and shackley was an organiser of the bay of pigs invasion for cuba shackley was involved in vietnam shackley was clearly an interested party what was happening in australia [Music] [Applause] would be more reliable the hell out of canberra
(25:42) the 11th of november is a very interesting day it's certainly much more than john kergan remembrance today coming back and dismissing the government midland was to address parliament and he was going to blow the lid on the cia operatives in australia he was meant to give that speech in the afternoon the 11th of november 1975.
(26:05) unfortunately 1pm came along before he could do the speech and he was dismissed the parliament you elected in may last year has been dissolved and the proclamation which you have just heard read by the governor general's official secretary was counter-signed malcolm fraser malcolm had just come back from government house he just said i want you to come in and see me straight away the governor general's dismissed the government i said i'll be right in in the most tumultuous day in australian political history the prime minister has been sacked the (26:43) opposition leader has been asked to form a caretaker government and both houses of parliament have been dissolved 1975 was a watershed period in australian history i think to a great extent we were pretty naive you know we knew about um interference in other countries but we hadn't experienced quite the same degree of it firsthand and i think we're unprepared [Music] [Music] the parallels between the kennedy assassination and the whitlam dismissal are staggering really they're both populist leaders well respected and
(27:31) liked by the people of the country both threatened the cia in one way or another kennedy threatened to scatter two wins after the bay of pig's fiasco whitlam threatened to close the bases whitman withdrew troops kennedy threatened to withdraw troops that military mindset joins the chiefs of staff and the cia and in doing so they had to hit back so kennedy was shot in dallas you don't need an assassination down here in australia you just need to have the governor general in your pocket and same same outcome at the end of the (28:03) game did the cia orchestrate the downfall of an allied government what is certain is that the cia is still present in australia and still very active [Music] by the car and the combustion engine despite a hundred years of progress we are still driving vehicles which are essentially the same as when they first appeared the reason according to some is due to a secret pact between big business and big government to stop new ideas being developed despite threats to their lives inventors and renegade scientists persist in this search for that ultimate
(28:35) free energy machine that will revolutionize technology i had the aristotle analysis foundation come to me and say we could send a bomb in here and blow you to bits the people are threatening you cutting off your support putting your multi-millionaire backer in a mental institution turning off your radio station intimidating your companies into into bankruptcy then it's time to go [Music] well free energy threatens the people in power because they are in power because of monopolies on what term fossil fuels coal gas (29:16) so the basic power structure of society is threatened anybody that has the two odds in their head can see the environmental effects of burning things and what they're doing to the world and collectively over this planet we're eating ourselves to death and so we need some energy from some place which doesn't depend on burning things up right now we have the entrenched energy monopolies and cartels you know we have opec and we have the seven sister oil companies to control all the oil and energy but what people have to understand is (29:54) that the people who run the energy business in this world which is the biggest business on the planet turning over four to five trillion dollars a year it's bigger than guns and drugs it's bigger than defense they control the newspapers they control the governments but these companies are so big that they regulate the government which regulates them it's not free nothing is free but cheap and efficient energy exchange is a viable concept now i say that everything in this universe is free energy it's been dreamed of for hundreds of (30:32) years that somewhere someplace as tesla said man will hook his machinery to the very wheel work which drives the universe itself the history of science is the history of the suppression of great inventions a few classic stories nikola tesla nikola tesla is regarded as the founding father of free energy his astounding developments in the generation of alternating electrical current is still being used today his most notorious project involved the transmission of wireless electricity into the atmosphere which allowed for unlimited power to be

(31:08) freely accessed by everyone when his financial backer jp morgan realized that this power system could not be meted all funding was immediately withdrawn tesla's electrical broadcast towers were dismantled and through morgan's many close connections with the media and government tesla's career was destroyed in 1977 bruce de palma unveiled the first prototype of the end machine an electrical generator which uses rotating magnets to generate up to five times more power than it takes to drive it i know about the fact that the japanese
(31:43) government and the indian government have ongoing projects to produce end machines for domestic power my partner is paramahamsatawari who is the director of the nuclear power corporation of india which operates all the nuclear plants in india in late 70s i learned from bruce de palma that he had carried out certain crucial experiments by rotating electromagnets tawari tested a prototype based on de palma's end machine under laboratory conditions the results were deemed too impressive causing disbelief and suspicion among (32:24) conservative government officials and the power consortiums that backed the project tawari was forced to abandon the project completely [Music] it's a major breakthrough that will no doubt make motorists happy and as rob robinson explains the pentagon is also showing lots of interest in this project u.
(32:46) s inventor stan myers released his water powered car engine in 1988 the pentagon flew on the thinner colonel in last week to look at meyer's invention there's talk of possibly using it in the star wars defense program and to run army things myers found it virtually impossible to secure financial backing after certain pentagon officials paid in the visit a number of similar inventions were developed and tested all around the world my best friend was killed over this matter there's a chap here about 10 minutes away from here driving he has been running his car on (33:22) water since 1986 with the government's permission provided that he keeps his mouth shut and with regular intervals using his own words they keep warning him to keep his mouth shut one of our colleagues who will be running car on the water for the 10 years period now he reckons that he's 26 times more powerful than petrol [Music] if you invent a better mousetrap you know the world may be to pass to your door if you invent a free energy machine there'll be a path beat to your door but you don't want those people there
(34:02) one of the pivotal people that i encountered early in my uh career was that grammatical the astronaut edgar j mitchell an apollo mission astronaut founded the neurotics institute in southern california the institute's charter was supposedly to develop alternative energy systems by attracting inventors from all over the country mitchell became extremely interested in de palma's end machine he made de palma a paltry offer to buy out the invention which department naturally refused he said to me that if i ever tried
(34:37) anything on my own in california i would get my head blown off so i was scared to death the cia operates through various very innocent looking fronts to find out what people are thinking and and what they're inventing now what's more innocent than the denying institute founded on transcendental primitive principles to help new age inventors bring free energy into the world and that situation still exists in the united states today where a person really understands what's going on just can't get their idea

(35:11) out because the alternative science and medical fields have been co-opted by the intelligence services and he converted this little engine to run on water this is many many years ago and he used it for several years and somehow the news got out and one day he got visitors and he was told to dump the engine or else three weeks later the man was dead and the coroner's finding was that he fell off the back of the train he was drunk now it happened that he didn't drink even dr townsend t brown the uh electric gravity research
(35:45) scientist uh has on his 16 millimeter film of his lab test which we've got here he has guys with the black suits and black cats come into the place you can see where the legends come from i mean these guys come in and they they look like you know bad bark to black man i mean it's just it's classic and these things do happen [Music] there is no progressive science in a world where every scientific idea is evaluated for its military potential power our energy and control of energy equals power in the new world order that (36:22) is emerging if you control the energy the way we get around when we get electricity away we have our tvs and video cameras and stuff if you do the control of the energy then you've got control of the people [Music] each conspiracy leads to another and eventually they all lead to one grand global conspiracy orchestrated by an ominous network called the new world order the new world order is this long-term scheme that originates from the uh higher concentrations of money on this planet the elitist the aristocracy the royalty is bringing (37:00) all uh control together in a single governing body so that the economy politics and the social order are more easily manipulated this establishment we may consider is the new world order is moving towards a wonderful world government and how is that occurring in some countries we may see it kill other countries we may see political parties breaking down these things may just seem like the course of history really being structured and orchestrated by the strings of the new world water it's [Music] [Music] the new world order is very closely
(37:51) linked in with the international banking cartels and those groups now are manipulating national governments through debt it's very clear that there's a dozen or thirteen family dynasties that collectively control the usa and the banking cartels that forms the four banking entities in the world today these banking families have been doing this the rockefeller interests are one of the prime groups that control some of the biggest banking organizations in the world and through that certainly they are major players in (38:39) controlling the u.s federal reserve and the government of the united states toes the line to the federal reserve because it is privately owned and it pulls the purse strings [Music] i saw the gulf war as an exercise in terror it was a staging of a war which would shock the world when the new world order was declared the enforcement agency for the new world order is very clearly and inarguably the united nations what george bush was saying to the world [Music] of war was that we united states controlled the united
(39:46) because he he was the head of the cia and he is fundamentally a texas oil minion he represents the oil interest [Music] they want to know all about you as an individual well don't take that pencil there is absolutely a connection between the intelligence agencies of most nations and the new world order the orders they get given in many cases are absolutely despicable and some of the worst of it is in the area of chemical and biological warfare experimentation mind control assassination manipulation of foreign governments
(40:22) things where america has become what ronald reagan referred to as the evil empire [Music] anybody who has an interest in civil liberties should be in grave fear of the new world order because what george orwell wrote in his book 1984 was just foreshadowing what he recognized would happen if we just let this scam run unchecked [Music] is a small group of people globally strung together harnessed together make us accept the fact that this is the ultimate way the globe be controlled leading events is a strategy to control
(41:14) the globe nobody knows that's the nature of conspiracies there's no end to them as each piece of information is gathered we simply discover a bigger puzzle what is evident is that there are no simple answers maybe there is something common to all conspiracies that can be discovered by further exploration all we need to do then is ask the right [Music] questions

(00:03) [Music] [Music] [Music] uh the time where i entered the hangar i witnessed recovered alien spacecraft that the department of naval intelligence in the united states was back engineering he was a u.s federal marshal and he was (01:09) sent into the area to pick up a man a fugitive uh when he got to the gate it at groom lake uh he they they they let him on to make the arrest but they required an escort with him and then first they searched him and then they they assigned an escort and and when they prepared to leave the escort handed him a black bag he said put it in your belt here because when this if a siren sounds we pull the bag over our head and lay down on the ground face down and wait till there's an all clear he says there are things here that
(01:43) are very secretive and they can't be seen so the man says well what happens if somebody looks up if if you don't stay down they said they're shot on the spot and ask questions afterwards i have uh had the opportunity over the years to interview again people who have worked at the test site at groom lake one gentleman spent 12 of his 30 years in black programs at groom lake when i asked him i said first of all i said do you believe in ufos and he looked at me with a straight face in one-on-one he said absolutely
(02:18) positively they do exist so can you expand upon that and he said no i can't about a year later we were talking about again activities at groom lake and i asked him i said you know can can you really let me tell me what's happening out there and he said well there's a lot of things are going on there that i won't be able to tell you until till the year 2025 but we have things in the nevada desert that would make george lucas envious we are here at one of the most mysterious places on earth behind these mountains begins the black
(03:38) and up here on the northwest by tonopah and across the top to crystal springs and down here to las vegas this area right here is the department of energy nuclear underground testing area with all their areas labeled there this is called the yucca strip up here is the tonopod test range where the f-117 used to fly out of and now there's other secret programs going on up there this area all across the north here is used for the red flag exercises which is the air force equivalent to the navy's top gun exercises
(04:26) they come out of nellis air force base here and fly this whole area right dead center of the test site is what is known as area 51 also known as watertown also known as the ranch at the very center is groom lake it's about 10 miles on each side and this is where most the secret activity goes on just 10 miles south of the groom lakes complex is an even more secret area this is where the saucers the discs are flown an area called s4 there's nine hangers inside the mountain and the disks are flown up the immigrant valley up in this area
(05:14) they're flown like that and this is where they can be seen from this road mailbox road which is right here it's about 14 miles from there to where you see the discs up in this area up here is the tonopod test range and one of the workers up there at this lake right here one day saw a big door open on the in the dry bed of the lake and a disc come out of there area 51 was basically a navy training base until 1955 when uh in conjunction with the cia lockheed made a secret test space out of it and the reason was to test the u2
(06:08) in 1959 60 and 61 they also tested the sr-71 out of there and it became a perfect area in which to test secret equipment and secret airplanes it was because it was so remote it was bounded on all sides by mountains and it was essentially a million miles from nowhere the security that it provided was just exactly what they needed in the after 1960 it became a area to test not only planes but equipment machinery all kinds of secret things that they had in 1972 there is according to my research a complete blackout of detailed information (06:59) records what have you for a period of 18 months nobody knows what happens between the summer of 82 and i think it was january uh summer of a 72 in january of 74. there's absolutely no records they talk to security guards they don't know what happened there i don't know what happened there i don't really have any suspicions because the flying saucer program began project red light began it's my information in earnest at groom lake in 1960.

(07:33) they didn't attempt to fly one or two of the craft there was a major accident and the testing operation shut down for a number of years the testing operations began in earnest again i believe in 1980 81 82 around that area and the reason i say that is because the security increased drastically uh during that period and i believe that uh just south of groom lake which uh is in the northeast corner of uh of the nevada test site uh is a place called papua's lake it's a dry lake uh there's a secret area there called s4
(08:13) and i believe that that's where they test the saucers out of uh my sources uh are varied uh but the primary source being bob lazar who worked on uh one of the nine saucers that were stored there conor stevens then you investigated rumors about the top secret flying sales investigation project in area 51 yes the rumors became a little more real to me in about 1978 when i discovered my first participant in the changeover of that base to a very special facility where they took up the runway and laid in underground facilities
(08:51) and special laboratories and then relayed it and recon reconstructed the base to make it look just like it did before the material that is now stored at area 51 i believe came from the roswell roswell crash in 1947 a crash at aztec new mexico in 1948 and another crash down along the mexican border in about 1949 or 50.
(09:16) the residue was first taken to los alamos and to other areas in new mexico under the control of the atomic energy commission also see super secret facilities they were smaller and i believe that the real facility was constructed at area 51 when they modified when they changed over groom field to uh it was a field on a dry lake bed when they changed it over to become a special research facility and i believe they transported the material that had been collected and held elsewhere to area 51 about that time at least much
(09:54) of it for the research projects now that that uh changeover came it began in about 1948 47 or 48 probably early 48 when they modified the field changed over the building and the facilities and put in a habitat where they could control an atmosphere for extraterrestrial guests is my supposition now and they also put in laboratories for research and it's been expanded been worked and expanded almost since that time you got confirmation from the military didn't you yes one in particular comes to mind now he's not in the military but he ran
(10:36) uh several large military research programs here in nevada very top level programs the highest classification this is a person from a very prominent nevada family uh well-known it's provable where he worked and the kinds of things that he did he he also confirms that the the alien technology has been in nevada since the early 1950s that it was it was even here before the base at groom lake was built that one of the reasons that the groom facility was built is in order to test this alien technology he told me that there was a live alien
(11:13) in custody for a number of years that they had difficulty communicating with the alien at first but eventually developed some sort of communication abilities he uh he is reluctant to talk he's worried about what will happen to his family but he has agreed to give me a videotaped deposition that would be released only after his death and i think when that comes out it will not only confirm what bob lazar had to say but shed a great deal of light on what our military what our government has known about the alien presence for the past 45 years
(11:47) including roswell las vegas nevada city of gambling city of the thousand lights and what only if you know gate to a world full of military secrets here we started our investigation into the mysteries of the black world because behind the mountains north of the glitter town begins the nevada test site nearly a state by its own surrounded by borders safer than any other border on earth since the iron curtain came down nuclear weapons are tested here the stealth fighter was hidden here a much more exotic planes are flown today (12:38) [Music] our quest brought us to john lear one of the most successful and experienced pilots in the united states the son of the legendary airplane designer william pillier has flown in over 16 000 hours more than 160 different types of aircraft in over 50 different countries holds 17 world speed records it is the only pilot ever to hold every airman certificate issued by the federal aviation administration since the vietnam war has flown missions worldwide for the cia and other government agencies as well as many different experimental planes for (13:21) the navy and air force other insiders have told lear about the secret ufo test flights in area 51 but in 1988 these rumors became reality for him after he met

a young nuclear physicist robert lazar in the summer of 1988 um i was having this house appraised and the appraiser brought along who was very the appraiser was interested in ufos and he brought along a friend of his who was a scientist former scientist at los alamos the appraiser being interested in ufos wanted the opinion of this scientist on ufos and at that time i was doing a lot of (14:01) lecturing there was a lot of publicity about me and ufos in the summer of 88 so i met this gentleman bob lazar and he didn't believe it at all he told me that he worked at los alamos on sdi he worked he had acute clearance uh he had a number of other compartmentalized clearances he uh he knew a lot of secret things he said that if there had been something like this some cover-up that he would have known about it so over the next uh three or four months we got to know bob very well he got to know us and we passed him
(14:41) various information which he checked out with the people that he knew that still worked at los alamos specifically people who had access to the classified library i told him that project grudge which the air force told us told the public was canceled in 1949 was still active he was able to determine through his friends who had access to the classified library at los alamos that it was still going on uh there was another thing that i had mentioned that the one of the aliens that we had captured were kept at a secret place called a yy-2 facility
(15:19) he in fact found out that there was a classified mail stop at los alamos called yy-2 now that doesn't mean it would they kept aliens there but it showed that i knew secret things that were going on there was enough evidence there that that he thought well maybe there is something to this and he wanted to find out so having uh the specialized uh highly uh educated person that he was he held two degrees master's degrees from mit and also knowing dr keller who was the father of the h-bomb he was able to send his resume to dr teller
(15:55) who then called him and uh asked him where he wanted to work dr teller proposed two places either eg g in las vegas or lawrence livermore laboratories in california bob said i want to work at area 51. he didn't tell dr teller the reason but he wanted to get as close as he could to where we thought the saucer testing was going on well during the next six weeks after that he was contacted by egng uh he was given three security interviews and three interviews on his uh basic knowledge they were so impressed that uh that (16:33) apparently uh they went ahead and hired him the first thing that i knew is on december 6 1988 bob came up here as he usually did in the evening i was sitting here writing checks and he sat right in that seat and i said what's going on bob and he said i saw a disc today and i said i was so startled i thought i didn't hear him right he said what and he said i saw a disc today and i said theirs are ours and he said bears and i said you went to the test site he said yeah i just got back this is the first time i went up there
(17:06) i said oh my god i said well what are you doing here i said don't jeopardize your security clearance work up there for a while and find out what's going on he said he said no he said you've taken so much flack over this thing people not believing you i'm going to tell you exactly what i saw and for the next three hours and 47 minutes he proceeded to tell me exactly what he saw on his first trip up to s4 at the nevada test site and basically it was that yes we had nine extraterrestrial vehicles he told
(17:37) me a little bit about the power plants he told me that he'd been briefed on the aliens that flew them he told me that he'd been briefed on a number of other secret things he told me that we in fact did have a secret base on the moon he told me that we in fact did have a secret base on mars uh a number of things some of which were so unbelievable it was had i not known bob to be truthful i would have been very suspect but i had known him for this period of time and i had no reason to to believe that he would tell me
(18:12) anything other but the truth well i had met ed taylor at los alamos one day i had a brief meeting and a talk i had shortly thereafter moved to las vegas and basically left the scientific community to do other work uh sometime later i decided to re-enter and send applications out to several other national labs and also went to ed teller and he gave me a call and he said he might have something that i'd be interested in and suggested that i go for an interview shortly thereafter someone from egng called and told me to come down for an (18:58) interview there they made it very clear that eg had nothing to do with it they were just using the building as a place to do the interview after a short time they said i was basically overqualified for the position but they may have something else in the future and i don't remember how much time lapsed after that but uh

shortly thereafter they asked me to come down for another interview and they said this was involving uh i don't remember their exact wording but they led me to believe it was uh a field propulsion system (19:32) and of course i thought it was something that in secret that we were working on uh later only did i find out that it was uh you know a back engineering program dealing with alien craft i flew out of las vegas mccarran airport and i flew to groom lake in a 737 aircraft we land at groom lake and there's a bus there that drives about 15 miles south approximately i'm i'm really not sure exactly how far uh down to a smaller dry lake bed known as papoose lake and right up against the side of the mountain is the uh
(20:14) s4 installation and what happened to you first when you entered it how did phil receive you uh it was very military like it was certainly not a scientific atmosphere very high security everywhere you you walked you had to have an escort an armed escort even even into the bathroom all doors lock and open with your with your badge and it was a very oppressive atmosphere um how many times did you spend on this atmosphere before you saw the craft for the first time uh i believe i was only there two or three day probably two days
(20:59) before i saw the how they are craft what your pressure was and your feelings when you saw it well my feelings it was very uh i should step back a minute and say that when i first saw the craft the first time it was walking into the hangar and my impression was well this explains all the ufo sightings this is just a secret military aircraft we're working on and that's the end of that it was actually the second time when i saw the craft when i got to enter it and look over it and i finally realized what was going on (21:39) that this is an alien craft and of course this was after i read the briefings and uh that was a totally different feeling that was not a feeling of excitement it was a almost um anonymous feeling that uh a feeling as if you shouldn't even be there as very difficult to describe that it looked like if anyone's familiar with the billy myers uh sightings very astonishingly similar to that uh that craft it was a a very sleek thin looking uh flying saucer shaped craft kind of hard to describe without drawing it but kind of a typical (22:26) flying saucer shape did you see just one type or this one perhaps there were nine total i only got to essentially work back engineer or analyze one of the craft but there was a separate hanger for each of the crafts and uh each one was essentially different uh in its visual appearance did anybody tell you over the u.
(22:57) s navy intelligence got requests from no no not at all that's uh a lot of people have speculated about it that they were either shot down or they crashed but uh the craft seem undamaged so i doubt either of those would be correct can you describe the inside of an alien craft it's very plain it's all one solid color a grayish pewter color the same color as the outside of the craft there are no sharp corners anywhere every device in the craft the seat the amplifier housings everything has a rounded corner on it almost as if it was all fashioned out of wax and then slightly
(23:39) melted so everything curved even where the ceiling meets the floor on the end everything has a curve to it um very very plain very wide open very impractical use of space and there are three levels the lower level houses the amplifiers themselves that swing the three of them the center level is where you enter the craft or the seats and the amplifiers are and the uh top level is a small area and i did not have access to that so i don't know what's up there do you think the alien craft was constructed absolutely alien craft there's no
(24:17) question about it well first of all the scope of the project was to back engineer it if they were united states craft we wouldn't be going backward trying to find out how they were built if we had built them second of all the size of the equipment inside the size of the seats the materials that were in use completely alien to us pardon the pun and you know the fuel element 115 essentially non-existent all these factors together and of course the briefing information stating that they were alien craft um could anybody tell you how the (24:56) propulsion function well that was part of my job was to back engineer that and find out exactly how that operated and they had made some progress but i really don't know how long the craft was was there being analyzed if it was one year or ten years before i got there but it seems like only a modest amount of progress had been made the propulsion system is really an amazing setup there's two parts gravity amplifiers and the reactor that provides the power the reactor itself is a total annihilation reactor

nuclear reaction that takes place of the three fission fusion and annihilation it uses a super heavy element element 115 as it would appear on the periodic chart none has yet been synthesized on earth it's my opinion that this occurs naturally in in certain star systems this element is bombarded in an extremely small accelerator the element under bombardment uh undergoes spontaneous fission and produces any miter particles these are interacted (26:18) with a gaseous matter target and by means of 100 percent efficient uh thermoelectric device is converted into electricity now 100 percent efficient uh any electric device is essentially impossible uh you know the first law of thermodynamics says that's basically impossible there has to be waste heat and things of that sort but there's none detected in in this system that's another amazing form of technology this uh tremendous amount of power the system generates uh operates the amplifiers and also as a
(26:57) byproduct of the 115 undergoing uh this bombardment it produces a very interesting phenomena a gravity a wave as it's known to be called this gravity a wave is it travels in almost the same way microwaves travel this is essentially applied to the gravity amplifiers and by means of the electric current also provided by the reactor it's amplified and focused the amplified signal is shift shifted slightly out of phase and and by virtue of that they can repel or attract a gravitational body the craft can take off on one gravity amplifier
(27:49) there are three in this particular craft uh when it's using just one amplifier essentially pushing away from the earth it's known as omicron configuration for space travel the craft will rotate up on its side face the three gravity amplifiers at the target they'll focus down on a single point some tremendous distance away and the amplifier and the associated and the reactor the associated reactor will be run up to full power and uh they essentially pull the fabric of space distort space and time toward the craft
(28:24) so they can trim traverse a tremendous amount of distance and in virtually no time at all they're not traveling in a linear fashion they're essentially bending space since space the fabric of space essentially and gravity and time are all interlaced when you start distorting gravity you just distort time and space along with it and these are these aren't theories we've known these for a while we just have no way of controlling them but apparently the civilization has found out how um did you manage
(28:53) your people they've done several test flights in it now not out of the atmosphere uh these are short controlled low altitude flights uh essentially they have a prized position here so they're not going to risk taking this to a point where they could potentially lose it as you know at the gravitational pull of the earth or going too high but i witnessed several tests outside the compound and also one you know probably about a hundred feet away from the craft how did the craft behave in the flood very very quietly
(29:36) it lifted off and it made a slight hissing sound a slight blue glow from the bottom probably due to the extreme voltage that's present on the craft after a short time that that disappeared as it rose and just gently glided and later sat down it was very uneventful but almost totally silent and can you please describe the briefing documents and the information contained in it uh it was there were an extensive amount 120 some odd briefing documents all of them very short and essentially what they were doing was
(30:23) just giving me an overview of the other aspects of the research being done on the craft and the bulk of the information all the technical information was specifically dealing with the power and propulsion system which is what i was supposed to be working on but there were documents uh basically stating that these were aliens that possessed the craft there were some autopsy reports that not very in-depth they had no reason to give me in-depth reports on that but they did have pictures and two pictures actually have the alien
(31:01) carcass with the chest cut open in a single organ removed and the organ itself was sectioned it seemed to from my non-medical viewpoint it seemed that this one organ performed uh many functions instead of one there were documents on metallurgical work being done on the craft and really every aspect that separate groups were working on and i'm sure they got a briefing on what my group was working on a very abbreviated one as i did on theirs and this will say where the aliens come from yeah it did mention the zeta (31:44) reticuli system and how that information was extracted from the craft i don't know maybe there were star charts or something along those lines did they contain any information about the um history of mankind the alien involvement and the history of mankind not not really not nothing that said well this is the way things were uh there there there was mention of um um alien intervention in in the past i mean extremely long ago uh something along the lines of uh i have millions of years ago from the information that that i looked at it it seemed that (32:32) uh and there again these are briefing documents so i can't i i can't myself ascertain whether or not these are true i can only assume it because the briefing documents i read that pertain to the propulsion system were true because i i dealt with that but they did make reference to uh contact with the earth over ten thousand years ago uh also with uh genetic alterations that ended in uh a simian being and all kinds of uh claims did you ever meet an alien or some healing body other than in pictures no i've mentioned

(33:14) several times that i'd walk through an area and looked in a small window and saw something small there but i don't i really can't say that was an alien body a lot of people jump on that and say yeah you must have seen an alien but uh there's just as much chance that they were trying to figure out the size difference and how the the seats fit a body and you know they had made up a small mannequin or something i didn't see anything moving around alive so i i always say no i i have never seen
(33:44) a living alley how do you think for themselves that's very difficult to say i i really i really don't know i'm certainly not the most qualified as far as physics goes uh so i really don't know i've i approach things at a very different viewpoint uh they might have been frustrated after a long time walking down the same path and not getting anywhere and they wanted someone essentially to come out of left field and approach it from a different angle with a different viewpoint and i'm kind
(34:15) of known for that why did you went public with information when what why uh that's again a complex question it's not just one reason there's several stemming from from many things harassment to protect myself the fact that this information being contained is is also unfair but there are many many reasons after you went public they will try to silence you in any way oh in every way yes i was uh uh shot at while getting on the freeway here in las vegas uh friends were harassed and taken out of work that that knew me
(34:57) uh many things happened well he was uh he was upset about the security at the base it was an oppressive place to work he was upset that they didn't have better scientists and a more open kind of research that would allow them to finally get to the bottom of how this alien technology worked he thought that that information should be shared with the entire world in order to benefit the entire world at the same time he was going through some personal crises that uh that may that led to him sharing some of this
(35:34) information with some people that he knew once he got caught he was worried about his safety they put guns to his head they told him he was in a heck of a lot of trouble and i think the reason he was willing to talk to me at least what he told me in the beginning was he was trying to save his his hide he figured by going public that they wouldn't dare do something to him it seems to me that that for several months there after he was talking to me there were serious attempts to intimidate him to keep him quiet uh but he had the courage to (36:07) pursue it and i think he made the right decision because i'm not sure that he would be alive today if he had not spoken to the television camera michael i was in las vegas television for 10 years i worked stories about political corruption organized crime illegal drugs i've never done a story anything like this when i first met bob lazar i was only tangentially interested in the ufo material i had done some talk shows about it i knew the public was interested in it but i didn't know if i was going to be (36:36) able to do the story about area 51 stories about area 51 and possible alien technology there had been floating around for as long as i had lived in las vegas but there had never been any thorough investigation primarily because no one who had inside knowledge of the program had ever been willing to talk about it publicly until bob lazar when i met bob i i had a meeting with him and my news director we uh we asked him a lot of questions we asked him the basics of his story it obviously is a fantastic story but we (37:11) decided to go forward with it because bob himself seemed so credible it it became very difficult very soon however because uh trying to verify bob's background proved extremely difficult it is still proving extremely difficult for example we quickly found out that the schools that he said he went to had no records that he was ever there his former employers where he said he worked had no records that he'd ever been there in particular los alamos national lab was the linchpin of his credibility we thought (37:45) if we could prove that he worked at los alamos as he said it must have meant that he went to school somewhere because they don't just hire people off the street and if he worked at los alamos national lab on classified material it made sense that he could have been hired to work at other classified programs such as s4 papoose lake however the people of los alamos lab said they had no records that he'd ever been there they stalled on our requests for information they they wouldn't return phone calls

(38:16) they wouldn't answer letters it was as if they didn't want us to have the answers well eventually we came up with a lot of indications that bob did work there we found for example the the newspaper from los alamos that lists him as being a physicist from the lab we found the the lab laboratory telephone book that lists him as being an employee at the lab we have talked to other people at the lab who worked with him who tell us that bob did work on classified projects that he was a physicist that he was there just this
(38:48) week almost four years after we first started making our inquiries at los alamos we finally got someone from the lab to say yes bob lazar was here yes he worked at the meson facility yes that facility did some classified work it's taken a long time but now we know that bob was there we know we had a security clearance uh but we still know that there are a lot of the records that we're searching have not been produced for us we don't know why what convinced you most that bubble hazard told you the truth
(39:21) well i'm not 100 sure about everything that he says because as journalists we have to be somewhat skeptical but a couple of things stand out in my mind number one is that bob has always told the same story the story that he told me on the first day that i met him about his experiences at s4 is the same story he tells today and most importantly when bob got into some legal trouble which in in the eyes of many people means that he's completely discredited when he got into his legal trouble he told the court system the exact same
(39:52) thing now the the courts the interesting thing is they're trying to verify his background the probation department and they said we can't verify his background therefore he should go to prison well my response to it is welcome to the club you can't get any information on his background bob was facing up to 60 years in prison if he did not tell the truth about his background and the story that he told to the court is the same story that he told to me on the first day and the same story that he's telling today
(40:19) after you interviewed lazar on tv did you come in contact with other witnesses from area 51 several witnesses more than a dozen now in in total have come forward with bits and pieces of information that confirm at least parts of what bob said no one has come forward with the kind of broad knowledge that he claimed but what i have learned from these other people tends to confirm that what bob is saying is true the problem is that none of them have been willing to talk publicly they will give me bits and pieces of (40:49) information privately but i'm restricted from using their names and there's some very good reasons for that there's been an obvious attempt to intimidate these witnesses into keeping their mouths shut the three examples come to mind one is a a former electrical engineer who worked in the television business who moved from las vegas and whom i worked with moved to another city he had told me by phone that he had seen a disc under a tarp in a building at groom lake well i tried to arrange to do an interview long distance interview
(41:20) with a camera crew in the city where he lives he agreed to do it as long as i blacked out his face he comes out the morning after he makes the agreement to uh to give me this interview there's a car sitting in front of his his house two men in suits speaking into a radio he's not giving it much of a thought but they followed him to work when he gets out of work they followed him home no interview he was scared there's a woman who works in the court system here in las vegas in a very responsible position who
(41:48) formerly worked for a major defense contractor here in nevada she had sat in on meetings where she said the discussion between her employer and military officials was about wreckage from roswell which had been taken to area 51 alien wreckage she had agreed to give me this information in a private meeting that we were going to have but the day that the meeting was supposed to happen she didn't show up and i found out later she had been visited by her former employers and they had told her she's still under oath

(42:17) she could be prosecuted but what's more her employers hinted that harm could come to this woman or her family if she talked to me they said we know you do a lot of traveling we'd hate for accidents to happen to you or your family so she will still not talk to me now three years later there was a third example this man who performed the tax returns of persons who worked at area 51 he had called me up on the phone at the tv station and told me he would meet and give me this information the next day he's visited by two men who (42:48) say that they're from the secret service and they wanted to ask him about his tax returns but he said that it was his definite impression they didn't care about his tax returns they just wanted him to shut up and not talk about area 51. so there are a lot of people like that who have information who could confirm bob lazar's story if they had the courage to come forward i can't really blame them for not coming forward because our government or elements of our government or representatives of our
(43:17) government seem to use intimidation and fear tactics to keep these people quiet the only evidence that we got is we were able to steal or otherwise obtain a piece of the fuel that powers the saucers it was element 115 it's a stable element and we did several experiments uh with this we also videotaped these experiments uh the experiment was to prove the high gravitational attraction the the heaviness of the element and other things we proved it to ourself unfortunately whoever is in charge of the cover-up stole it back the other thing was that (44:02) on may on march 21st 1989 he asked me if i wanted to view one of the test flights this was on a tuesday and i said well sure but how are we going to see one and he said there's going to be a test flight tomorrow night just at sunset and i know a place where we can sneak in still be on public land and watch it i said great so i said why at sunset and he said well statistically up in that area there's the least traffic around then so i drove with bob and the real estate appraiser gene off and myself and we
(44:38) drove up there got there just a little bit before sunset i took my celestron telescope we took a video camera uh got out of the car and within maybe 10 or 15 minutes this disc comes up from behind the mountains and starts doing all these fantastic maneuvers uh it was a light a very bright light and you couldn't see the disc form but i had my celestron scope with me which is eight inches extremely powerful and after a few minutes i was able to get it right in the the finder of the celestron telescope and i saw it for myself it was a disc
(45:14) there was no question in my mind and i just watched it go down behind the mountains we had heard about this location and actually the ultimate the information ultimately had come from john lear we found out we heard about the 29.5 mile marker the famous mailbox area so we went up there our first trip was the first saturday in january of 1990 and we arrived there about 10 30 at night and while we didn't see anything on that trip it was a saturday night we found out that the active nights are monday through friday and the weekends are usually shut
(45:51) down but what we did find out there were several other vehicles up there three motorhomes and a couple of passenger cars and talking with those people we found out that they having had gone out there on numerous other occasions had seen plenty so we were determined that and we had understood from the beginning that this was going to be something where on one night you would see nothing and on the next night all hell might break loose so we were prepared for the long haul we were going to continue going out there
(46:22) until we should eventually see something so then upon returning back home i discovered that i could tune in the billy goodman happening out of las vegas in santa monica i could receive it so i started listening and almost the first night bob lazar was being interviewed by billy goodman and i in listened intensely and i discovered from lazar's interview that the best nights to go out there are wednesday nights that they pull out most of the stops on wednesday nights now the reason for that was explained that when they were preparing this (47:01) facility and the operation they did a study on highway 375 the public highway through the action zone ticaboo valley and they determined from their study that there was the least traffic on wednesday nights on highway 375. so that's why wednesday nights were chosen for most of the action although we on and having made numerous other trips determined that almost any weeknight is effective monday through friday but wednesday's always seems to be the most prolific probably for that reason but then of course we

knows so but still nevertheless it seems that wednesday nights still continue to dominate the with the greatest amount of activity out there so our next trip was wednesday february 28th now on our first trip i had gathered together about seven or eight friends and we caravaned out there and saw nothing of course then i started organizing the same group of friends to (48:07) make this second trip but this time was in the middle of the week and lo and behold when it came close to the time to depart we found out that none of our friends could make it work weeknight so pearl says boy i don't think i want to go out there all alone i said oh don't be ridiculous dear i said we obtained this information off radio kveg clear in santa monica being broadcast from las vegas i said there are people all over the western states that are hearing this we have a tangential interest in ufos at (48:43) this point think of the people that have a voracious interest in the subject you're going to have people going out there from all over and i'm sure the word is spreading to other countries of the world you'll probably have people out there from australia and europe and all over the map to say nothing of the people from las vegas close by i said there could be scores even hundreds of people out there don't be ridiculous so we went out there we were all alone i was actually outraged well anyway we (49:15) got out there and i believe we arrived around 3 30 in at the mailbox we decided to go to a little alien for dinner and we came back and got to the mailbox by about 5 30 it was beginning it was dusk and beginning to get dark wednesday february 28 1990 and i got out my lawn chair and suddenly at 7 30 the first craft came up and i was astounded i leaped out of my lawn chair had a camera around my neck my 35 millimeter point-and-shoot camera nikon action touch and i took a couple of shots and then we actually about every 45 minutes a
(49:58) craft would come up one at a time we had we saw six craft that night each one in succession and it was craft number about two or three that was was the most dramatic that is it was the one that came the closest and i took a photograph of it what we actually saw michael was a craft that was ellipsoidal in shape it was pulsating brightly and while we couldn't see the outline of the craft the strict outline we saw this very brightly pulsating ellipsoid and when i snapped some shots apparently the camera with its low end optics that is we
(50:37) didn't have a huge magnifying lens so it didn't bring the craft in so close that would have appeared as a giant blur of light so plus it must have caught the craft in a trough of its pulse because the photograph captured the craft beautifully that is the outline of it so it was just a fluke of being at the right place the right time and having the right optical setup going to bloom lake area 51 what happened to villains this night well on that night february the 21st 1990 i took uh accompanied a crew from nippon television network
(51:26) to witness the test flight of an object over groom lake which is known as area 51. we arrived at the site around just after sundown because according to the information given to us on that same day when we visited mr lazar at his residence he said that if you go there after sundown and stand near the mailbox area of highway 375 looking south towards groom mountains and also to the jumble hills you'll see test flight of these objects and lord behold when we arrived at the scene exactly around 6 45 or so we started
(52:18) seeing and we suddenly started seeing an orange yellowish light suddenly appear on top of jumbled hills making a motion to the right for about 15 seconds or so next exactly at 8 15 pm we had another sighting of the same object that suddenly appeared on top of jumbled hills came up above the hills and [Music] made its appearance went slightly to the right side and at that juncture in time it made a sudden dissension and a back turn which i estimated to be possibly about five thousand feet sudden dissension a back turn
(53:16) dissension and i have never seen anything like that in my life ever and it is definitely a test fight of highly unusual objects a demonstration of technology or propulsion system so exotic right now we don't know what it was but it was being tested at that very night well i've become probably the expert on area 51 in the united states since uh february 26th of 1991 which was my first trip out to area 51 on that trip i got as close as i have ever gotten to a flying saucer it was the first time i'd ever seen a ufo
(54:03) actually i was traveling in a car with with my friend down the road and a very large object flashed over the car and then began to float probably about a mile away from us in the open desert we got out of the car ran towards the object and got within a few hundred yards of a large disc shaped object about 40 feet in diameter

that looked like a a saucer with a teacup on the top of it it glowed a brilliant reddish orange color and then glowed a real bright yellow color on one occasion we thought that the object was actually (54:37) going to explode because it glowed so brilliantly it would shoot up to about 200 feet in the air make a falling leaf motion back and forth and then go back down onto the ground this object was amazing i was so excited because i've never seen anything before like this ever in my life we got our faces burned we had a mild case of radiation poisoning after that we had fevers for three or four days of about a hundred and two hundred and three degrees which we felt was radiation poisoning and since then i've been out to the area
(55:07) 51 area uh probably some 40 50 times or so and have take taken quite literally hundreds of people out there we had gone to a place called rachel where there was supposed to have been this gathering of people one of which i had heard on the radio in los angeles and that's what seemed so intriguing we passed this large group of people in the middle of nowhere out in the desert there was a tour bus and probably 24 cars or so just in the middle of nowhere total darkness we went on by them and went into rachel we (55:41) we stayed there for about 45 minutes just listening to the conversation going on and decided that the place to be was probably the group of people that we had passed about 15 miles back we went there and sat and began watching like it seemed everyone else was doing and then we had the first actual sighting i i looked up in the sky and i thought there was a really bright star up there and i said john is that star kind of moving and right about the same time i saw that he goes yeah i think it is and right about that (56:14) time it's just like like a falling star dropped out of the sky and and and just came straight down to the right above the a mountain range that was about five miles away from us and and just stopped there and hovered and then and then moved around the mountains a little bit making various maneuvers that no aircraft could possibly make and uh then it just it didn't just stop and then it and it lowered itself down below the mountains out of view and that was the the first of uh many weird things we saw that (56:42) night and uh the the people on the bus were there at that time they they all applauded like oh there was a sighting and uh you know it was getting late i was about one well it was not even quite midnight then and they uh so they all kind of applauded and said well that's there and they all got in the bus and left did you recognize any details not at that time at that time that that particular sighting was completely on the other side of this large valley that was at least 15 20 miles across at the point of where where we saw it
(57:13) come down and float across the valley yeah the most dramatic thing that happened that evening was uh after every a large number of the people that had left including the tour bus it was down to three cars and we were sitting in the middle of these three cars and had been watching a light maneuvering uh kind of wildly out on the other side of the valley and were just intrigued as it came straight toward us as if it was singling out uh jeff and i in particular yeah from from this lo immense distance away in a straight line and there was a car
(57:54) on the other side uh on our right side that had the dome light on and they were making sandwiches they didn't see this happen there was a car totally on the left side was going on they didn't see it happen they had the seats down and i think they were making out yeah and we were absolutely stunned uh i i felt absolutely awestruck as this light that we had been watching came straight toward us in just an instant it crossed that long valley and and became actually frightened because we're sitting there we're (58:30) sitting in a pickup truck and i'm looking right over right up like this and it stopped and hovered practically right over us and uh and then it turned on a light from the from the edge of the craft and i mean and when it came over us and stopped and hovered the light seemed to be on the top of it and it revealed like a silhouette of a disc and you clearly say it was it was a disc shaped craft and it made no noise whatsoever just hovering above us you know probably maybe 100 feet you know you know in altitude (58:59) above us yeah yeah and it stayed there and hovered for a few seconds more and that's when i was starting to get worried you know that something else is going to happen now they've checked this out maybe they're going to land or you know i didn't know what was going to go on so i got pretty skirt at that point and right about the same time i got scared uh the thing just zoomed back over the mountains and i mean you're talking about like oh was it 10 you know five five eight ten miles and within a split second it was over (59:25) this mountain range and then and then stopped and then just lowered itself on the other side of the range out of sight we have to understand one fact that area 51 is has three tiers of security systems the outer perimeter security the inner security and also the regular military security plus automated security system we're talking about outer perimeter security area 51 is using semi-private security firms such as wackenhut corporation we call them wackenhut ss because basically it's the way they operate why can't hurt ss

(1:00:16) of course means why cannot special securities corporation of course and they are assigned to guard the outer perimeters of area 51 and they because of the status of being a semi-private status they don't wear any insignias of any kind they wear military camouflage uniforms and carry machine guns and so on they ride unmarked four-wheel blazer type vehicles and they they harass citizens who even dare to drive on any of these dirt roads south of the highway 375.
(1:01:00) we have every right to be driving on these public lands as long as we don't cross the warning side area we were harassed by dangerously maneuvering helicopter over public land on may 16 1991 a group of us all together 18 of us were in a seven car caravan just coming back on groom road after taking pictures of the warning sign area we were coming back to highway 375 but suddenly we heard a throw thunderous sound overhead as if a railroad was passing over our cars when we looked out up there was this military helicopter
(1:01:53) that appeared and came about eight five to eight feet above our cars on purpose harassing us intimidating us and for the next 15 to 16 minutes we were trying to get away from this this helicopter we were frantically trying to drive and go away from this area and we were buzzed by this helicopter continuously for 15 minutes in one occasion this helicopter circled around as we were driving and came front of our cars at almost low level and just scared us and continued this illegal uh maneuvering endangering our lives
(1:02:41) [Music] where is it where is it [Music] there it is here it is there it is for the next stop but here it is yeah it's flying over there i had to put the gain on just to see it
(1:04:03) am i better right right right unfortunately this isn't doing any good i think so who's that gary come shut up i can't look what he's talking
(1:05:20) all right the ufo which yet was filmed by the japanese television crew that night was analyzed by nip and television with the help of latest state-of-the-art computers the result it's definitely no conventional aircraft [Music] foreign [Music]
(1:06:32) but also around las vegas unknown flying objects are regularly observed i took my wife to work one morning and on the way back i was looking out the windows i usually do and i carry my camera with me quite often and i saw this anomaly this ufo in the sky and so i stopped my car and pulled out and uh took some footage of it which is what you're looking at now i guess that's about it and it came on two different mornings as a matter of fact so on two different mornings i took pictures of it
(1:07:34) this was in 1991 and uh it was uh actually we've seen a lot of things around las vegas here it's a great area to spot ufo objects i've seen cigar-shaped ufos i've seen the regular discs and i've seen anomalies of all styles and types around here i've spent many a night all night up looking for ufo things in the sky [Applause] [Applause] one morning when i woke up i was drawing the curtains of the window
(1:08:38) and it was a cloudy day but clear and two they look just like bowler hats dull gray no windows no wheels no not just looked like a bowler hat metal definitely metal there's two of them one was flying in a steady fashion and the other one it looked like the pilot was drunk because it was it was just flying this way and they went down behind some apartments which were only about 100 yards away from me that i was impressed with i told my wife about it and she gave me a strange look and two weeks to the day she was at the (1:09:21) same window i saw the same things and caught me at work and she was jibbering away and i was and from then on we'd seen quite a few i spent a lot of time out in the desert with my camera and i got rather obsessed with it for a while but as you'll see in some of the other footage of what i've got it's quite interesting and it's definitely unexplained it happened when i was at work it was a sunday and it was close to seven o'clock and for some reason i just took my camera to the parking garage roof
(1:09:59) and started filming uh what you see here which are two remote type objects

sort of dancing around and uh in a little while you'll see another craft come along underneath is a little larger and it's very stable and this guy is steadily heading north but these two which are dancing around seem to interact with it and then it goes on its way a few minutes later another craft comes along the base part of the mountain and in between that an airplane going into land at mccarran airport goes past so you get a good idea of the (1:10:39) size and the distance and then these two objects again interact with this large craft and uh as you'll see towards the end of the tape here i follow it around to see where the craft went to and it's totally out of sight it's did you vanished more details no not really no it was just close to dusk they were just lights in the sky it slightly delta shaped i think the objects are that's how they appear anyway when i zoom in obviously the lazar ufos were just the tip of an iceberg a black world as fantastic as a fairy
(1:11:25) tale country or a far away planet yet committed researchers try to trace down the last mystery of these super secret test flights by looking at the maps and by discussing things not only with the sheriffs but also with friends of mine i found a mountaintop in which you can actually climb to the top of the mountain and it's about an hour and a half hike or so it's about seven miles to the top of a mountain which we call morton's mountain since i was the one that first found it climb up the top of the mountain and this is where you get
(1:11:58) this spectacular view of virtually the entire base you can see this particular video was taken at night so because of the fact that we were very afraid of being caught out there still during the day because we weren't really sure whether or not we were over the military's border or not at about 6 a.m every morning they were sending helicopters out literally chasing us around if we were anywhere near their border and the evening times they would send out the security vehicles the the bronco security vehicles who would
(1:12:27) do everything from take down our license plate numbers to actually go through our cars to looking for us in the desert thinking that we were actually stepping across their border this videotape comes from our efforts literally risking our lives at that time to be able to get a good view inside this probably one of the most top secret facilities the united states has above ground specifically what you're looking at is you're looking at uh area 51 at night taken in the taken at around dusk you're also looking
(1:13:00) at another section of the video which was work that looks like was going on on the runway now for some reason the military was carrying out some kind of either construction operation at night now there seems to be a huge halogen lamp that's illuminating part of the field in which you'll see smaller lights which are trucks and and jeeps basically coming and going from this light you'll see on the film what we thought originally was a ship actually coming on and testing and moving around on the on the floor of the valley it didn't
(1:13:32) really move that much at night so that's why we concluded that it must have been some sort of halogen work lamp you'll see for the first time the object which is called old faithful now old faithful is called that because something appears in the sky over area 51 at 4 50 a.m virtually every thursday morning now many times this object is preceded by what in california have become known as sky quakes there is a very large object which we've witnessed out there between seven and eight hundred feet long and
(1:14:04) this object literally comes in from space traveling anywhere between mach 10 and about mach 18 flies over catalina island over southern california and then lands at area 51. this particular object that you're seeing we theorize is what's known as project senior prom which is underneath the project aurora banner and that this object is in fact an unmanned uh 132 nuclear weapon carrying nuke platform that in essence orbits the planet to be able to rain down nuclear bombs on virtually any country at the push of a button
(1:14:40) this object as it's landing you'll see it appear in the sky very dramatic footage of the first time any anything has ever been shot actually physically landing at 51 the object appears at exactly 4 50 a.m comes down in a conventional flight pattern now sometimes this object will shake back and forth violently just displaying all the characteristics of a quote conventional ufo unquote and on this particular occasion it comes all the way down in a very straight line you'll see a field around the outside (1:15:10) of the object and when it comes down between two safety lights you'll see it actually physically land and then when it comes past a second set of safety lights the field around the ship actually blinks off and then you can see that it is some sort of unusual dart-shaped aircraft some sort of experimental aircraft because it does have wheels on it and it does appear to have a a fuselage that is comes up in a point with a light at the top and at the bottom and then comes back at the at the bottom so it is a very unusual (1:15:39) ship and this particular ship was in fact preceded by one of the famous southern california sky quakes [Music] rachel is a small desert nest at the highway 375 which passes the black world its inhabitants are mainly workers of the test site

(1:16:43) rachel's main attraction is the little ale inn the local grill and beer bar owned by pat and joe dravis which became the main information exchange for area 51 enthusiasts from all over the world it not only exhibits ufo memorabilia it also houses a library and a large collection of newspaper articles about secret government experiments documenting that the greatest secret of our time actually is no secret anymore aviation expert and writer jim goodall was one of the first to lifted the veil of silence i am a published author
(1:17:43) i've written for three different publications uh i have a number of articles on black programs and secret projects for jane's defense weekly for interravia for aviation week space technology i have three books right here that i have authored just on the f-117 alone that is my that is where i spend all my spare time is digging i've had my neighbors questioned i've had my mail opened i've had my phones tapped i was called up for desert shield for i mean i'm in the air national guard they held up my clearance at the (1:18:23) pentagon they didn't deny my clearance they held it up because i asked too many questions of my government and my response was that is my job as american taxpayer it's my job to question my government whenever i feel it fit and i do and i make a lot of enemies and i i i'm referred to as that sob from minnesota i have a quite a reputation in the pentagon for being able to dig up information when no one else can what's going on in area 51 today uh based on information from first person interviews i've made over
(1:18:58) the last six or seven years there are at least eight black programs flying out of groom lake out of area 51. that does not include does not count the b2 bomber because it's not a black program it does not count the f-117 which is a virtually a white program today there are at least two very very high-speed aircraft that are have been reported for since 1982 is when we've heard the first reports of them one of them is a small aircraft it goes approximately mach 4 to mach 6 there's an aircraft that has been
(1:19:33) tracked out of the bay area tracon in oakland california by the federal aviation administration center at least eight times since 1986 flying in excess of 10 000 miles an hour going through controlled airspace and a very very large aircraft at that besides the two high-speed aircraft there is a stealth or low observable electronic warfare aircraft it's been referred to as excalibur there is an aircraft that is designed to fly very very high but very very slow and very very quiet there's been some rumblings or reports
(1:20:13) there's a flying triangle much like the canceled mcdonnell douglas general dynamics a12 of um there was going to be an attack aircraft just recently out of lancaster california taking off from palmdale which is air force plant 42 and that's where the b1 was built the b2 bomber is being built there the f-117 is being serviced there in the u-2 operations there has been at least three sightings of triangular-shaped aircraft being launched out of that area they made no noise and just people just happened to look up and see
(1:20:50) these things leaving the uh the area a relatively low altitude but again no noise have any unconventional technologies propulsion technologies involved yes i have had the opportunity over the years to interview again people who have worked at the test site edgroom lake one gentleman spent 12 of his 30 years in black programs at groom lake when i asked him i said first of all i said do you believe in ufos and he looked at me with a straight face in 101 and said absolutely positively they do exist so can you expand upon
(1:21:29) that and he said no i can't about a year later we were talking about again activities in groomed lake and i asked him i said you know can can can you really let me tell me what's happening out there and he said well there's a lot of things are going on there that i won't be able to tell you until until the year 2025 but we have things in the nevada desert that would make george lucas envious another individual who was an nco an e9 which is a the highest grade you get as an enlisted man he's a chief master (1:22:04) sergeant in the air force was a safety specialist he had three different tours of duty at groom lake on various programs now he had no connection with my my friend who worked on other other black programs we were talking i interviewed him at nellis in 1985 86 time frame and i said what's out there and again he look he looked me straight in the eye and he says we have things out there that are literally out of this world i said explain i said i can't but trust me see we have things that are that would that are better than star

(1:22:40) trek better than than anything you can see in the movies instead of the airplanes he said i can't comment there's four levels in sight four excluding the top level the surface which is basically a hanger hangers uh with the satellite there's it's really not too much too but the levels are all operators the first second levels are all elevator where they keep the flying disc ships whatever you call it they bring it to the surface right when i was there they were trying to operate the discs but to my being unsuccessfully
(1:23:24) there's scientists there there's i mean i've personally witnessed high white house officials being there right now i'm basically kind of scared i mean i'm on the run i don't know what everything holds for me i just want to get this time open a security guard at level two of s4 in area 51 and he described area s4 as a facility occupying at least four levels he was aware of four he worked on level two he had passed through level one he never saw level three or level four because no military people were allowed
(1:24:09) below those levels only very people with very specific clearances could go to level three and level four he described level two in considerable detail to us and he said level two consisted of nine hangar bays i guess you would call them because they were the size they would hold a small airplane and there were circular disc shaped craft in seven of the nine bays he described the floor layout he described the security posts the guard positions a an area where bodies were stored in taught large glass cylinders he
(1:24:44) described special equipment he described the monitoring equipment uh the security system to go down to levels three and four he said that they were never allowed down there only specially cleared people with very specific clearances which included at least included a plastic card with magnetic information in it a handprint and a right eye retina scan and put their eye to a little camera and if they passed they could go down if not their instructions were to arrest them immediately and have somebody from above come down
(1:25:21) and get them this is a very vast conflict big place a big place the elevators are right here [Music] there's four elevators three and four are extreme extremely security there are no sentries down in three or four and the levels of doing poor i don't know what goes on down there i heard something about it abby or evie down there i'm not too familiar with what it is but as you get off the elevators you get off and this is level two you walk in the bays are over here they're all separated by like an automatic doors
(1:26:14) that open and close each bay walk down there's five five on each side there's a hallway right there and they can each of these bays have elevators it'll bring them all the way to the top it'll bring the whole floor all the way up with a hydraulic system now as you walk down there's a lot of machinery right here which i have no recollection of what it does i believe it's i've never been in that area my job was to center the century for these three gates and up above in the level complex and sometimes i would
(1:26:54) be walking down here escorting people now over on this there's a hallway down here that breaks off which is a lot of there's a big computer system right here i believe it's a computer system i'm gonna say for sure right here is a level are seven tubes these tubes are about two feet in width they're about six feet in height stand down him they stand up and on end now as you walk in and you look at these tubes i'm just gonna draw a picture of one they're all exactly the same the end uh the human the the creatures inside
(1:27:54) are completely identical there is absolutely way that i can see of identifying each and every one of them individually now there's a aluminum part right here i don't know if it's covering the genitals of them are not but the rest is filled with the solution there's a couple tanks right here i don't know if they're oxygen i don't know what they hold there's no identifying marks on them whatsoever there's no absolutely no air in the tanks it's all solution and the grays are (1:28:38) are are just in here right here they're suspended so i imagine they're being clamped somehow some way to hold them in this complete where their feet is completely off the ground and stuff like that and under here there's about a one foot pedestal of black iron steel like uh it's really polished but it looks like a

black polished anodized iron now the things inside i mean resemble what everybody sees and uh the only thing that's different about them from what i see on all the pictures is the eyes appear to be a deteriorated
(1:29:40) or they're they look like prunes they're uh like your fingers get pruned they're all shriveled up and you can't see no eye socks and there's no visible eyelids or anything like that they have a grayish like uh a grayish pigmentation it's not sk scaly or anything it's like a pigmentation there's no apparent hair on them there's little holes uh not really slits but a little hole maybe an air cart which i don't know the bodies themselves are very very thin they don't they appear not to have any
(1:30:40) breasts or navel or anything like that not that i can see i've done i mean i wasn't able to sit and study them in full view for a while what they i mean i don't think i have heard talk there that i know their systems aren't like ours but they're very thin they look very very frail what convinced you that tennessee told me the truth we we only have uh look at him in the eye and talking to him we've analyzed his voice during the narration doesn't show any signs of stress we've had we've heard rumors of some details
(1:31:34) inside from others that has never been released or published so unless they were on the inside circle and knew what was being held back most people would never know the information that he gave us most of the information that he gave us checked with other information we already had and it has checked since with other information that we have acquired since the time we interviewed him mr martin you came in contact with this action who worked at area 51 yes i was on an american television program called mysteries from beyond the other dominion
(1:32:07) and at the end of the program they gave my telephone number this gentleman contacted me through that telephone number and related to me that he was in fact a master sergeant at area 51 for over 12 years and that everything that had to be taken in and out of the base or transported from one place to another on the facility had to go across his desk of course the man had a very high level top secret clearance he gave me his name he gave me a military id number which i was able to check and his military id did in fact check
(1:32:38) out that he had worked at nellis air force base and had then worked at the area 51 facility he told me a number of very interesting things about how the facility was laid out how many levels the facility had how it was connected to other facilities and he asked me a number of questions about things that he didn't really know about just stuff that he had seen going across his desk and was curious about how certain things work so there was a an exchange of information between he and i uh it is unfortunate that he seems to have disappeared
(1:33:11) he seems to have moved with no forwarding address his telephone number no longer works i was in contact with him for quite a period of time and then the man simply vanished did he ever see an alien spaceship or anybody on many occasions he told me uh chip is what he called himself that he had in fact transported uh disc like saucers what he considered to be alien spacecraft and he remember he was not sure if they were alien or not he never saw the actual paperwork on the craft he was only responsible for transporting
(1:33:42) the objects from place to place however he did transport a number of very large 30 to 60 foot disc shaped craft he was responsible for transporting some bell-shaped objects he said when they were at rest that they were a very dull gunmetal color he did in fact witness on a number of occasions the tests of these craft because they would have to cart them out to a certain place and then they take them off and then the the objects would then fly around and he was asking me how something that looked so dead and so
(1:34:16) lifeless could then glow up the way that it did and and the metal on the ship would actually look as though it was alive as far as the alien bodies were concerned he told me that area 51 had five underground levels to it this was confirmed by three other sources that i had at the facility he also claimed that there were not only living aliens on the base that he not only saw because he was responsible for transporting them physically by jeep from one place to another but also uh that he saw a number of alien bodies
(1:34:46) in very large tanks that the tanks had a silver backing to them that they had a silver strips across the middle and the bottom of the tank they were filled with a blue liquid he said that he personally saw five different tanks that had these alien bodies in them the classic little gray bodies the three and a half to four feet tall but they also had four humanoid aliens that were uh had blondish and reddish hair um very little was unusual about them that would uh demarcate them from actual humans but he was told that these were actual (1:35:25) alien bodies supposedly and this was his speculation now but he said that they were supposedly from the pleiades there are many underground uh alien facilities and they're all over the place uh there's also many underground u.s facilities in 1960 it became apparent to the military that if they were going to have any significant covert operations they were going to have to be underground the reason was people are extremely observant they notice everything that's going on and if there was going to be huge

(1:35:59) transportation of materials men equipment all kinds of stuff that it was going to be uh have to be underground there was a major meeting with all the major contractors the big contractors like morrison knudsen and those type of people and the meeting included the uh the highly specialized area of underground uh operations as far as drilling down there how you move that kind of dirt and they started then basically in 1960 building all these underground facilities right now they're just all over the united states just incredible how many
(1:36:37) there are there's a network of tunnels that connects edwards air force base with the tehachapi base with tonopod test range groom lake george air force base california city china lake it's a tremendous network i have varied and many people who have told me that they exist that they have been down there i have a friend that is a hydraulic engineer on one of the tunnel boring machines it's 28 feet in diameter he works the nevada test site where the tunnels go down almost 3000 feet in addition to this i have had a number
(1:37:19) of ex-military persons uh engineers who've worked in the aerospace industry for the aerospace companies out in the antelope valley such as lockheed northrup rockwell who have related to me their knowledge of underground facilities not in all cases have they revealed what they knew about alien life forms or alien technology but they said that these underground facilities exist without a doubt okay that many aero escape space companies have these facilities that most of our air force bases our naval bases have these type of (1:38:10) facilities underground and that ultra secret work goes on in secure underground facilities now our difficulty has been in trying to come up with the evidence that these facilities are connected with the ufo phenomena so we have had to approach this not only from the viewpoint of listening to testimony but keeping some of these facilities under surveillance so that we could take cameras up there or any means that we can to record phenomena that seem to be emanating from or associated with these facilities and that has been done and people have
(1:39:00) reported seeing classic ufo phenomena around these facilities there are four aerospace covert facilities is what we call the aerospace connection in the antelope valley and also the san joaquin valley rockwell in the san joaquin lockheed mcdonnell douglas and northrop in the antelope valleys and these operations are extremely suspicious they have a surface cover activity they call themselves rcs testing sites that stands for radar cross section and apparently they're presumed purpose is to test various aeroform designs atop pylons
(1:39:44) with radar cross section and the disturbing part is that we have found out with incontrovertible proof that there are extensive underground facilities and for example northrop we have documented to have 42 levels underground now if this is radar cross section testing which is above ground why do they need 42 levels underground also at the lockheed facility out in helendale we had an investigative reporter who saw a blueprint of the building plans for that facility that he wasn't supposed to see it showed that they had an extensive
(1:40:32) underground facility 300 feet down and when this reporter interviewed the person who was in charge of that facility they had a nice pleasant interview until at the end he told the director that he was aware of this extensive underground facility and what could he tell them about that and immediately the man's eyes grew wide and he said this interview is terminated so it's very suspicious and then of course we have other reports of people in the area who say that they have seen alien craft emanating from these facilities
(1:41:14) and terminating at these facilities and other kinds of blue beams strange lights in the sky surveillance orbs size of basketballs medicine balls that survey the area and move in ways that we don't possess that kind of technology in terms of the northern facility which is also known as the ant hill the construction the underground facility was greatly enlarged in the early 80s and what took place there was an enlargement i understand from 13 levels underground to 42 levels underground and we have reports from construction
(1:41:59) workers who actually worked on the site cement truck drivers and at one point michael cement trucks suddenly appeared on the scene five miles long pouring concrete continuously 24 hours a day seven days a week for weeks and we figure at three yards of concrete excuse me nine yards of concrete per truck close to a million yards of concrete must have been poured underground also we understand from the construction workers that three silos were constructed there three underground silos and we were bringing out the fact that saucers have been seen (1:42:44) to just come screaming out of the facility as if they had had some travel distance underground and and yet and also craft would like helicopters would come into the facility and just disappear into the ground so we knew from construction reports and from visual reports outside the facility that something very suspicious in the way of silos was going on norio and i put together the first investigative team to actually fly over these facilities and investigate them from the air with video cameras still camera shots

(1:43:15) it was very exciting and on our first flyover of the northrop facility we spent about an hour in the air on that trip it was historic you can imagine that my heart practically jumped out of my mouth when we're flying over and the pilot unsolicited says to me by the way there are three silos down there now i had learned from my inside contacts that three silos had been constructed there and i was looking for those silos the minute we appeared over the facility i was intensely looking for three silos didn't see any and suddenly
(1:43:52) the pilot says to me but i just told you i was shocked i tried to contain my excitement and i pretended to be rather casual about it and i said i'm sorry i beg your pardon but did you say silos down there and he says oh yes he says you see those white diamonds and sure enough there were three white diamonds now this pilot you must understand we rented the plane in the antelope valley so he flies that area continuously he has students he's a pilot instructor so he's flying over there all the time he told me that on numerous occasions
(1:44:26) when he's flown over these facilities those white diamonds the white covering will be gone to reveal a deep dark hole or silo into the ground not only the black projects but deep black projects program that is taking place about 10 miles south of groom lake groom lake facility of course is a black projects program that that is technologically speaking not in line with higher technology technology that is present uh 10 miles south which is located on papua's lake facility that is where a new type of propulsion system is being
(1:45:15) tested on and again it's my contention that some select u.s pilots have been given instructions on maneuvering these objects we have from all types of reports and sources this established this one fact is that there is some type of pumpkin seed program this is a nickname of a new type of function system using pulse detonation system and this is known as the pumpkin seed program because these objects are they have almost like a diamond shaped uh they form to this now this is part of the black project program however
(1:46:12) what i've been investigating is more than that it's the super deep black projects program which could possibly involve technology much higher than this type of pulse per propulsion system which could be antimatter or some type of anti-matter as mr lazar has been stating the sources of our information are not only from researchers that have received a lot of infos through aerospace connection uh the we have been in touch with several persons that confirm that black project program is ongoing at groom lake facility
(1:47:00) papoose lake facility plus other facilities such as in california the northrop uh mcdonnell douglas and lockheed all of these facilities are conducting some type of uh testing of certain type of aeroforms that resemble almost uh disc and it's possible very possible that the technology behind this could be received by from some intelligence not necessarily uh us in other words we're talking about something uh possible transfer of technology after had uh of course uh got out of service i worked for the government you know
(1:47:55) as a test uh pilot on various different uh particular aircraft while i did that particular activity the i was asked if i would mind uh working on some simulators and i thought that was a good idea good for my future so i did we uh we were then reassigned it was just not myself there were several other fellows like myself engineers that were reassigned to certain companies here in the united states on the various different simulators that were that they were making for the various new aircrafts that they were building for example you know the (1:48:36) f-89 f-94 uh and f-102 and a group of others we spent uh probably close to three and a half four years just in training on simulators and uh just exactly you know how a similar an actual simulator for these aircraft work you know and and the new designs as they came along after they thought that we were trained sufficiently then we were asked to do another project which was more or less in my field is mechanical design that was to join metal together without glue nuts you know or any adhesives so forth you know uh for aircraft purposes to (1:49:26) the the indication was was to make the aircraft uh lighter okay and this this course is uh several years going on in the meantime of course security classifications were going on you know as far as we were concerned and just the individuals that were going to work on these particular projects before going to the to the actual facility where i had done this activity we developed this particular process of joining this material it took quite some time over a period of about four years and then it was indicated to us that

(1:50:02) we'd go on a special project in new mexico which we did and it was about three or four years after we had gotten there that we found out that these were simulators for that we would be engineers on simulators for flying discs there was one particular project i worked on associated with that disc was several years of course it's very time consuming in a translation of scientific data as provided to us by the grays a specific type of gray as this information was given to our scientists and various different engineers that we
(1:50:44) had no association with but they were doing what they call a copy engineering the copy engineering was a process where they had taken an item or a portion of the craft and they were disassembling it writing their procedures and identifying certain things as they took it apart and how it related to from their science our science and could we use that i spoke in a little lecture here a while back that no average pilot could fly a flying this because it was so complicated and so foreign to the individual pilot that there would be no way that he'd be able
(1:51:24) to hop in one even if they gave it to him and said hey or fly this consequently what we did we took their avionics and transferred into our science and our technology and use the avionics that we know of as far as aircraft is concerned the basic principles in all this as far as the aviation was concerned was no different than the than a regular aircraft that we have if you understand that uh say for example a fighter a fighter aircraft it's it's much different than a flying disc and there were certain uh situations
(1:52:07) that we had to resolve and basically we only looked at a couple different things because the flying disc only flies in about three different positions and that is uh at 65 degrees a flat horizontal and possibly vertical but it was very difficult to fly vertical the avionics that we developed for that was for the 65 degrees pitch and yaw and flat flight did you ever see this by yourself i saw a disc from a distance uh if i was describing a disc uh for you to so you'd understand what we're looking at if you did see the bob lazar
(1:52:55) poster uh very very similar this facility i was worked at is is i'd say as far as secrecy is concerned it's much uh tighter than possibly even nellis here and some of the other facilities you know in this country uh the the entrance and the locations and the scenario on on say hey guys you know here this is you know this is this is what this ship looks like it's okay that's what the ship looks like as far as entering the ship no but that was a disc how far away was it oh well i was uh say 10 or 15 feet away
(1:53:38) was it flying i was standing on the ground it was just sitting on the ground on his belly what did you feel in the moment and saw it what did you what was the impression of it i had my impression was as an engineer which is great have you ever seen any aliens we were introduced to grays that were associated with the project but they were i could say that in a time that i spent maybe i've seen the grace a half a dozen times or more but uh i've no more than 10 times i think but they were on uh the reason that we saw him was
(1:54:23) actually for us to get used to being associated with them okay it's no different than say going to africa and seeing a bunch of pygmies and you know looking at those people for a while and then you know it's it's this is a little different than that but it's the same same situation where you're seeing something that's a little bit different than us sitting in this room you know talking right now with their features and their makeup and that kind of thing the conclusion that i have made from (1:54:55) this is kind of a tentative conclusion and it's in several parts number one united states air force is interested in any foreign objects that are invading our skies they would be foolish if they did not conduct a serious investigation of what appears to be superior technology in order to do an estimate of the situation that's point number one number two is over a period of time they could have progressed quite far in the study of this technology far enough that i believe brings us around to point three and that (1:55:40) is you recruit your best minds uh from where the aerospace industry to work on highly classified or what they call black projects in order to see if we could duplicate or develop this technology for ourselves because what every military wants is superiority and advantage over the enemy and of course this kind of technology would offer us an incredible advantage over almost any enemy at least that could be found on earth was extraterrestrial technology already used for cigarette military projects i think it's entirely possible uh the

(1:56:37) sources i have say that that's the reason that we were studying alien hardware in the first place wreckage from roswell and other crash sites so we can figure how how it worked and have a military advantage over our adversaries could be the black manta could be the aurora could be stealth technology one of the things we learned in russia is that they were studying ufos for incorporation into their stealth program and they also studied ufos for incorporation into their sdi program so it was going on there chances are
(1:57:08) very good that it was going on here as well the piece of ufo blower or information that really sticks the closest to home was a letter from a very close friend of mine who wrote a letter to ben rich ben rich is the retired president of the lockheed advanced development company the people that brought you stealth that brought you the sr-71 the u-2 ben was asked you in a letter do you believe in ufos and he wrote back to my friend yes both kelly riefer kelly johnson the founder of skunk works and i are firm believers in ufos well
(1:57:47) this got john andrews uh very very excited so he wrote another letter back to ben said please explain please clarify you're talking we're talking about two categories of ufos both man-made and extraterrestrial and ben wrote back again on his letterhead handwritten which you know you have a copy of saying yes we ufos do exist both man-made and extraterrestrial and we refer to them as unfunded opportunities and he underlines the ufo are these super secret test flights with recovered ufos for real do us government scientists really
(1:58:27) investigate extraterrestrial technology we wanted to find out the truth test the claims following bob lazar's recommendation we drove out to the black world on december 2nd 1992 together with an abc television camera crew first we waited near the black mailbox at the groom lake axis road then followed by a black unmarked fort branco of the wagon hooth special security we changed our location to the campfire hill an elevation on the roadside closer to the base it was a wednesday night and shortly after sunset
(1:59:12) at about 6 15 pm the first mysterious flying objects appeared now it's come [Music] [Applause]
(2:00:31) [Music] [Music] [Music] so
(2:01:37) [Music] [Music] [Music]
(2:04:16) [Music] [Applause] [Music] [Applause] [Music] [Applause] [Music] so (2:06:11) [Music] flares aerial maneuvers or test flights of extraterrestrial spacecraft one thing is sure their flight characteristics were more than unconventional our eyewitnesses were convinced i saw well right over the horizon there um as most of us said so far i saw a light come up and over the horizon probably uh a few degrees over the horizon and it broke into uh first two lights then three lights and then it seemed to string string them all together kind of like a pearl a string of pearls or beads and there seemed to be a connection as
(2:07:16) the light jumped from one position to the next and it was kind of an orange yellow color and it seemed to be sort of swirling around at the same time it wasn't a straight directional thing it's just it's kind of like they were going like this a little bit you know the first thing that was interesting we saw along this ridge out here where a series of um of white blinking lights that seem to be uh as we look through binoculars the same light or or several lights that were moving real rapidly around the sky blinking
(2:07:53) um very unusual all right the one that seems to be attracting the most attention is the one we saw out right that direction that had a strange color and seemed to split describe that one for me yeah well it was an orangish red light that um was rather intense and it seemed to split off into different pieces at one point and uh come back together again and i think that was the most interesting aspect of that we've seen a lot of interesting things tonight what was that they saw in the skies above nevada we'll try and have some (2:08:30) answers next a big ufo convention came to an end in las vegas last night and afterwards naturally some of the members went out in the desert to search for ufos a news crew went along too and sure enough it wasn't long before a mysterious unidentified object appeared not too surprising somewhere up there you see it because this patch of desert is right near a military test site this looked like no aircraft lights that any of these folks had ever seen this was a bonafide ufo sighting i i think it was yeah and ufo means

(2:09:00) unknown flying object and this definitely was nothing i've ever seen before was it a bird was it a plane was it the aurora the secret plane we don't know more to come i'm sure and the air force is not saying anything as usual oh fascinating you have a good weekend of course all of you good night everybody [Music] you

(00:15) hey [Music] have ufos crashed on earth have we made alien contact is the us government covering up a massive ufo conspiracy behind me is one of the most secret military bases in the world deep in the heart of the nevada desert the groom lake test site also known as area 51 or dreamland has been home to u.s
(01:18) stealth projects since the second world war however in recent years a more disturbing story has emerged and that is that the government is back engineering recovered alien spacecraft tonight based on evidence given to us by top military personnel engineers and scientists we can exclusively reveal the ufo technology that's been developed behind me it's a story the us government has tried to cover up for half a century the truth behind dreamland i am convinced based on my research and the individuals whom i've (01:57) had contact in the u.s intelligence community that the u.s government does indeed have craft that meet the description of many of the ufo reports the whole aim of the project was to take these craft or the one in particular that i was working on and try and duplicate its systems and subsystems with earthly materials i'm convinced beyond doubt that we have recovered aircraft alien vehicles that we have made contact with aliens that we are communicating with them in some way or form and that we have vehicles and bodies
(02:33) in preservation i was uh at at that moment standing on the deck of the radar van it was nighttime and uh i was looking up in the sky because there were saucers up there were there any alien bodies recovered no bodies there were four live feeling good guys four live extraterrestrials four alive feeling good extraterrestrial type individuals yes they are here whoever they are wherever they came from whatever they're doing um other intelligences are messing around on our planet i think that too many people's butts are (03:14) on the line with this that they lied to us too long that that a lot of people have stolen legitimate national security money to keep this cover-up going that they have perpetuated disinformation schemes on the american public probably on the british public the air force knows that there was a crash saucer there were alien bodies recovered that there have been aircraft that have gone up to chase ufos and have not come back they know that we're dealing with the biggest story of the millennium set on a remote dry lake bed 80 miles
(03:47) outside las vegas area 51 is just one part of the massive nellis air force base which is roughly the same size as switzerland it was commissioned by president truman in the 1950s as a top secret location to develop and test america's new generation of post-war aircraft in the technology fever of the 1950s the base soon became home to the most exotic flying craft of its day [Music] more recently it is where the f-117 stealth aircraft was developed and tests flown [Music] this is an area that has been known but (04:53) officially denied for many decades we go back quite a ways into the 40s and 50s with the development of the u2 spy plane the sr-71 all of our super-secret aircraft have been developed and test flown out in this particular area the a12 from its inception through its retirement was operated out of only two locations uh area 51 at groom lake was its original home the first aircraft was delivered there in january of of 62 and the last airplane left on june 21st 1968 the u.
(05:32) s air force denies that area 51 exists despite footage of the base and russian satellite photos that we have obtained which clearly show hangers and a huge runway stretching across the lake bed in the face of constant denials of its existence the base has expanded since the 50s with several passenger jets now landing every day carrying hundreds of workers to the base with this level of personnel the few buildings that can be observed above the ground are merely the cover for a large underground facility security at the base is unprecedented and secrecy is paramount (06:16) since the late 50s the military has sequestered hundreds of thousands of acres of land that had joined the base the exclusion zone around area 51 now stretches to 26 miles [Music] the secret status of the base is very very well preserved and even if people are talking about the operation of the u2s back in the 1950s 40 years ago they're still not allowed to identify the base by by name or by location all they can say is it is a remote facility this place is an old anachronism from the cold war this is a place that that harkens back to the old

(07:00) days and because the military is continuing to treat it as a top-secret facility it doesn't exist it attracts attention naturally everyone wants to know what goes on here there is no question that the facility is there and the government has said very little in the past about it that it has the right to test things like the u2 like the sr-71 like the stealth aircraft people forget the stealth aircraft over 10 million dollars spent on developing it and more than a decade before its existence was even announced
(07:34) that's what you do out at groom lake now the real question i suppose is are there any flying saucers out there we took to the skies to see the base for ourselves flying at an altitude of 10 000 feet we edged within one mile of the restricted zone having made contact with the tower we soon found out how seriously area 51 guards its airspace [Music] we're just curious if there is any activity today at the groom lake area [Music] approach controller now is just getting a little
(08:36) concerned that we're getting close now we've just been buzzed by two f-16 fighters they've passed our bow at about 800 to a thousand miles an hour these guys aren't messing around they don't want us to be here but there's another one just gone by the foul there board so they definitely had radar contact with us that was really close [Music] in 1989 one man blew the lid of dreamland his name was bob lazar and he claimed to have worked at the groom lake site back engineering recovered alien
(09:26) spacecraft the base is against the side of a mountain or small mountain big hill there are nine hangar doors and the hangar doors are not just shiny metal out in the desert they are painted or sprayed with a sand texture to them and from what i can ascertain to prevent satellites from photographing the installation so they look like the mountain range it was pretty effective from what i could see on the first occasion when i drove out there all the hangar doors were closed but at close range you could tell that there
(10:03) were doors and they would open we drove around the left side of the installation and there was the main entrance in there and went through some gates and the security check and went inside and it seemed like a typical government building the work that i did basically entailed back engineering the power and propulsion system and i opted to start with the uh the power the the reactor that that ran the craft with the clearance that i had that was known as majestic clearance there were only 22 people at s4 with that clearance to work on the (10:45) craft [Music] the location he worked on at area 51 was called s4 and was housed on papoose dry lake bed a short drive from groom lake when i was brought in by bus normally we had gone around to the left side of the installation and entered the door there and for the first time one of the hangar doors the one on the end was open the bus drove up and we stopped there and cleared his day and the hangar taking up almost all the hangar was the disc uh looked like something right out of a science fiction movie and we stopped got out and for the first
(11:28) time i was led in through that door and as i walked in there i thought well this is the new advanced aircraft we've been working on and this is why people keep seeing flying saucers because it's ours and we've just been testing it probably for all these years um and when i walked alongside it i ran my hand on it i say it it's metal because it was cold so i just uh assume it was a some sort of metal and in fact by the hatch that was taken off there was an opening there and it had a little backwards american flag stuck on (12:04) it so i was positive it was something we had manufactured i was allowed in the craft on one occasion to see the placement of these systems in case it was important to their operation so i was of course escorted in the craft and it was obviously made to be piloted by something smaller than the average human being very cramped in there there was a sub-level where a little collapsing floor member opened and i could stick my head in her upper torso down underneath with a flashlight to see how the gravity amplifiers hung upside down (12:47) uh looked around the placement of the three seats about one-third to one-fourth the size of a normal human see at one point that one point when i was in the craft one of the archways became transparent there were some technicians working on something else that i had no knowledge of so and also something began to scroll up on the screen so it might have been possible that the skin of the craft whether under you know electrical influence or something else could at times become either transparent to look outside or be used as some sort of video screen

(13:34) it was that was pretty amazing when i went outside and looked at it it looked as if it was just a plain piece of metal again [Music] a lot of people say well it must have been exciting to go on there and i always say it wasn't it was a very ominous feeling it um you really had the because it's so i know it sounds silly but it it it's so unearthly in there [Music] nothing had a sharp edge to it it it was this it was if the seats the amplifiers that were in there everything as if it was made out of wax and heated
(14:25) for just a little bit and then cooled off everything had a smooth curve to it even where the a chair met the floor with was blended into it it it was if the entire craft was injection molded no one let alone bob lazar have been able to verify any of his academic or professional credentials in 1990 he was convicted of pandering and declared bankrupt in court he simply described his occupation as a self-employed photo processor is lazara fraud did he work at s4 or was he set up by the military to release certain information about the (15:03) base the notion that he would make a great patsy and he's the perfect scientist to work on such a project is interesting science fiction in the first place we have no reason to say he's a scientist no diplomas no papers no memberships nothing in the second place i worked on a security for 14 years people take security far more seriously than that one of the strange statements he's made there are only 22 people working on this thing well you get more than that working on devising a new mousetrap for the government anyway that makes no
(15:38) sense and you know it has all the trimmings his story of a walter mitty story somebody in his imagination was you know stronger brighter faster than anybody else i did a variety of research relative to bob lazar actually met him i obtained a copy of his uh what they call a w-2 form which is one of the irs documents associated with with pay his particular form indicated that he worked for the u.
(16:11) s department of naval intelligence my investigation of this document and the claims that bob lazar made followed a very strict path of sound research i contacted the u.s department of naval intelligence and indeed uh verified that they were likely responsible for presenting that w-2 i investigated the issue with the internal revenue service they informed me the exact words were it appears to be legit that it was a genuine document it was not something that had been fabricated there were a variety of numbers contract numbers and so forth issued on (16:54) the document which i was able to research again finding that these were highly classified numbers in fact internal revenue service ran into a brick wall when it came to trying to track down uh the actual employer associated with it with the document he gave me uh uh information about his background educational background and employment background i started with uh with his claim to have worked at los alamos lab i figured well that's a good starting point if he worked at los alamos it's pretty likely that he had an education
(17:27) somewhere they don't just hire people off the street and if he worked at los alamos especially on classified projects it's at least reasonable to assume he could have been hired somewhere else in nevada to work on similar projects we went to los alamos and got nothing even close to cooperation they wouldn't respond to our phone calls they say we have no information on bob lazar there's nothing in the files i said are you sure now no nothing in the files i showed him uh the the phone book entry that bob had (17:55) kept that said uh he was there i showed him the newspaper article that that showed that he was there are you certain that you don't have a bob lazar well maybe we had a bob lazar here's an id number but he didn't work for us he worked for someone else basically los alamos lab tried to thwart me at every step we're completely uncooperative and trying to get information about bob and i found that to be the case at every step of the way and trying to verify his background i'm the one that couldn't find any (18:24) records or anything i mean i'm the one that brought that up because i was the first one to run into that initially i couldn't find couldn't get a hold of my birth certificate either and that was one of the things that concerned me is they might be trying to make me essentially a non-person i think it's most likely that bob lazar was indeed set up to be the conduit for certain information relating to this extraterrestrial project on one occasion in the desert bob lazar saw a flying disc being tested

(19:05) i was brought into the hangar for one of the short duration tests and the craft was already outside on the lake bed and lifts it off silently and was drifted around for a bit and set back down and that was uh pretty much of a marvelous sight it's a huge thing it it's like seeing a house lift off the ground quietly it's just you you can't imagine the energy involved to do that and not to make any noise at all there was some audio communication with the craft and so i i can only assume that there
(19:38) were humans on board and somehow they had managed to squeeze themselves into those little seats or put something in there to sit on and obviously they knew how to operate whatever controls there was or fabricate their own or retrofit it with something the apollo space missions of the 1960s stirred america into a space fever but as the country's finest astronauts hurtled skywards in conventional rockets did the president know of the existence of sources and propulsion systems that were literally out of this world
(20:27) [Music] [Music] dr edgar mitchell of the apollo 14 mission and the sixth man to walk on the moon has carried out extensive investigations of the alleged saucer crashes as well as the question of alien contact he met lazar in 1991 i tend to believe that his basic story is true that he was to expose to what he thought were alien craft and attempts to engineer and back engineer i think that his explanation of what's going on and his theory that he's utilizing is probably not on target what i think is credible is the fact (21:13) that he was there the roswell incident in 1947 that there was a cover-up that that was a valid incident and that there has been an active investigation program reverse engineering program and cover-up associated with that since that time [Music] after working at s4 for several months and in clear violation of his top secret clearance bob lazar decided to tell his closest friend gene huff about his work at the base [Music] my reaction was to without pressing him against his will find out more get him to tell me anything i could and (22:03) it wasn't disbelief uh i i think i was actually motivated to further read i started investigating investigating other books on ufos and other researchers information to see if anyone knew anything and needless to say they didn't know what bothered me one month later in march 1989 bob lazar went one step further he decided to take his friends to the desert and show them a flying disc test [Music] i remembered most of the days and times of testing so i believe it was eight or nine o'clock on a wednesday night
(22:44) somewhere in march 89 i believe we went out with gene huff my ex-wife and john lear shortly after the flight time that i had recorded white light came up off the ground and hovered and then we do began doing radical step maneuvers and darting from one side of the sky to the other doing some impossible flight characteristics but at times the craft had glowed tremendously bright where we thought being miles and miles away we thought there was something wrong and the craft was going to explode so much so that we all got behind the car
(23:27) [Music] it actually came closer it came down the mountain range toward us to where we could actually see it was elliptically shaped uh it looked like something that it's it's strange to explain it looks like an explosion that starts to explode and stops and doesn't explode and dissipate that's how bright the light is your brain interprets it as an explosion about to happen on his third visit with his friends to observe the discs at night bob lazar was arrested he was taken to an unknown location for interrogation
(24:03) and never returned to area 51 they threatened my wife they threatened to kill my wife they said they'd stop at nothing they said they thought they made that very clear they couldn't believe that i had taken anyone out there to show them that much less left with information like the flight test data and wanted to know what else i had said who else i had told specifically security agents from the ofi the office of federal investigation had been witnessed doing random security checks at his house there was almost no question in anyone's (24:36) mind anyone in in bob's immediate life who who talked with him on the telephone that his phone was tapped i mean strange things would have it on bob's phone and really continue to this day dennis mariani who was my supervisor called and all he said was do you have any idea we're going to do to you now and that was the end of the phone call they were they were crazy they really were they were completely out of control when you go to work out at those locations you sign away your constitutional rights (25:09) you sign a piece of paper saying if you violate your security agreement and you discuss programs that you're working on without a trial without right of appeal you're going to go to leavenworth federal penitentiary for 20 years that's a real big incentive to keep your mouth shut we had an engineer who worked at this tv station who before he was here had worked at area 51 and had seen one of these craft under a tarp walked into a place he probably shouldn't have been i arranged to do an interview with him he lives in another

(25:38) city in another state he agreed reluctantly as long as i would block out his face well we make the arrangements on the phone the interview is supposed to happen the next day he gets up goes to work there are two men in a car outside of his house talking into a radio they follow him to work when he gets out of work they follow him home no interview i mean it happened again and again and again same scenario it has been very difficult to talk about this it's almost like uh every time i relate the story it gets a little easier but
(26:09) when i first started talking about it it was like my mouth didn't even want to form the words and the sound didn't even want to come out of my throat so i can only guess from that that there was a very strong suggestion given to me not to talk about this not to remember it and if i did remember it not to ever talk about it to anyone this man is a 71 year old mechanical engineer who like bob lazar claims to have worked at area 51.
(26:37) he started working there in the 1950s on a flying disc simulator built to train u.s pilots he said he's been given permission to talk to us about certain specific aspects of his work but asked us not to reveal his identity we received the disc uh from extraterrestrials this particular one that i had had to uh to work on or we did work on was from the kingman crash and that was later on taken to a nevada test site where at the time i didn't know were there any alien bodies recovered nobodies there were four live
(27:19) feeling good guys four life extraterrestrials four alive feeling good extraterrestrial type individuals yes and where were those four extraterrestrials taken initially they were taken to new mexico and then several months later they were taken to the nevada nevada site one of the things i worked on was a flying disc simulator to train pilots to uh to fly this strange uh strange-looking craft designed for humans to fly not for any extraterrestrial supply [Music] his most fantastical claim was that he worked at area 51 with an
(28:10) alien code named j-rod for 16 years on this simulator project j-rod is a grey alien about five foot four his role was only as a as a translator scientific translator that was all if we wanted to put something in the place of what they had he had to agree with it i would have a question you know and i would bring it up in my mind i just how i wanted to present it with him and he'd already know that i had this question and he would already have the answer for me and if he responded it would be in my voice and you wouldn't even open your lips it
(28:52) is possible that he and a few thousand others are working on a project either here or elsewhere just a few thousand other greys few thousand other greys like himself the nearest town terraria 51 is rachel population 150 and home to the most famous bar and grill in nevada the little alien the local residents have seen their highway truck stop turned into the ufo and et center of america tourists flocked to rachel to scan the skies in the hope of having a sighting for all the hype the sightings of bizarre lights in the sky
(29:36) do continue local resident chuck clark has had many unexplainable sightings the most remarkable sighting that i've had in the last three years took place two years ago february february of 93 i watched a glowing object ascend vertically from the area south of area 51 where s4 would be located hang motionless in the air for about 10 minutes and then slowly start to descend all of this while i thought i was watching a illumination footer that was launched from a mortar tube i can hear jets in the background i'll (30:18) zoom back a little bit this is looking straight over steve meddling's ranch right here off 375 highway this is right over the peaks once it got down to the ridge line however uh it was in front of the hill that had cut that he'd come up from behind the hill was about 12 and a half miles from my position it came down to a few feet above the ground at the base of the hill hovered momentarily which is still consistent with what a floor might do in calm air but then suddenly it shot off westward covered 4.8 miles in one to one and a half (30:57) seconds and stopped cold also about 30 feet off the ground hovered just long enough for me to get it focused in my binoculars for maybe two seconds and then it vanished right in place [Music] we've seen video of craft that were luminous that would move across the sky as if it was uh skipping a stone across water or sort of a sewing machine effect what we see across the screen are a series of lights of dashes of light as the object moves from point a to point b and a rather strange warping occurs that's very difficult to unravel

(31:36) until you go frame by frame and you begin to see what is actually occurring therefore we are seeing what you might call a shadow effect of the propulsion mechanism at work [Music] i've spoken to several people who've seen ufos or disc shaped craft out there an attorney who lives here in town who has seen one who saw one land outside the boundaries of area 51.
(32:09) i've spoken to a very high level managerial type who worked for a defense contractor out there for a number of years from a very respectable uh reputable family his credentials are beyond question but he doesn't want his name or face used and he has seen them many times there were a variety of craft that were all essentially generically uh sort of canister shaped i guess you would say they were predominantly disc shaped or rounded like uh one of those chinese lanterns or something or other they appear to be colorful uh at least they (32:41) were multi-colored uh in addition to the lights that seem to be able to take on uh the light of the background they could camouflage themselves somewhat in the sky by absorbing the blue light from the sky and clouds what are these lights in the sky and are they indeed flying saucers we asked us navy physicist and ufo expert dr bruce mcabee to examine the footage basically what you see are lights lighted objects doing things way off in the distance you don't really see any structured craft uh some of the video material very small (33:26) amount that i've seen seems to show lights doing strange things like hovering and then moving suddenly to another location maybe moving slowly and jumping around a little bit i've concluded that they aren't ours [Music] that means they belong to somebody else and you know they're not made here on earth basically so they must be coming from the outside how they get here you know who in quotes they belong to i don't know you know extraterrestrials is a reasonable proposal all the arguments that have (33:56) been put forth and it couldn't be people from another star system in the galaxy or whatever because they can't get here from there those arguments are not physically correct because we could get there given enough time and money and desire to do it however it's clear that these other intelligences whatever they are are far beyond us in terms of technology [Music] now what i'm going to show you is a computer enhanced version of what you just saw and we're just going to look at the one portion where (34:33) the ufo was appearing in the left-hand corner going to the right and then coming back again that's all we're going to see we're going to see it repeated over and over again this part of the frame has been chopped out of the full frame so i'll just let it run and it goes back and forth and back and forth repeating if we stop it and here's the shadow and here's the ufo so basically we have a triangle with one side and two angles that we know and that result is i can calculate the ufo position
(35:01) in three dimensional space right turns out to be about seven thousand feet away from the camera so having analyzed it what we seem to have here bruce is a genuine ufo yes there is an object out there seven thousand feet away it wasn't one of ours it's about 30 feet in size a genuine ufo [Music] [Music] the security at area 51 is formidable the entire perimeter is surrounded by motion detectors and cameras arm guards patrol in jeeps and helicopter gunships are deployed to warn off anyone who challenges the (36:02) borders we headed out deep into the desert over 80 miles outside las vegas traveling down the recently renamed extraterrestrial highway we'd come to see america's most secret base for ourselves the only approach to the base is a dusty 10 mile track called groom lake road anyone approaching the border can clearly be seen for miles and as we've been warned our every move was being monitored by the security patrols and cameras on the hilltops this is as far as you can come to go to the groom lake base it actually says on these signs that use (36:49) of deadly force is authorized there are security patrols all over these hills they've been watching us for the best part of the last hour the motion sensors

security cameras and if i did walk over this line i'd be immediately arrested taken to the guard house and interrogated for anything up to a week as soon as you step over the line past this sign you lose all rights what's amazing to me glenn is that the entrance here so unassuming they've got this rickety sign saying use of deadly force authorized but you literally could if (37:29) you didn't know what you were doing you just carry on straight into the base that's the idea you don't encounter any people here if you went into the guard house that's there about a quarter mile in you'd be arrested immediately because you've already passed those signs they don't want to answer any questions so they don't put any people in vulnerable positions and as you come off the highway up there the extraterrestrial highway there's no sign saying groom lake there's nothing is there no i put up a
(37:53) secret base sign up there occasionally secret base this way but it doesn't stay up for very long and on foot or in car this is as close as you can get to groom lake isn't it this is physically as close as you can get unfortunately you can't see anything from here at all how far are we actually away from from the base we're about uh 13 miles uh north northeast of the base right now right and if we continued up this road if we drove into the base now past the signs we'd be arrested if you drove beyond here 20 feet you'd (38:20) be intercepted as knight fell and determined to see the secret facility we headed for tickaboo peak which overlooks the base seven thousand feet above the desert at our base camp i talked to glenn campbell who founded the area 51 research center in rachel and who produces the groom lake desert rat newsletter he gave up a successful career in computers to devote his life to uncovering the truths of dreamland this is a large facility as big as the state of connecticut it's got lots of unknown unexplored areas
(38:57) that you could store anything you want area 51 is only the best known secret base of a vast complex they could house a lot of different things we don't know about but there's actually no fencing is that yet they know when you cross that line it's simply marked by orange posts every few hundred feet uh there's a it's easy to wander across this line but as soon as you do they're going to detect you and they'll be right on you this is a very harsh military border it's not a place for (39:26) tourists they have military has never said there are no ufos it's never directly denied any of the area 51 stories it would have been so simple when these claims came out these papoose late claims for the military to simply say look we have nothing there they could take a few reporters to this area and show them nothing there the military hasn't done it the military has stonewalled it has remained silent and that's the most damning thing that they can do at 3am we started our final ascent of ticaboo
(39:58) we needed to reach the summit before daybreak in order to see the base lit up for its nighttime test flights even at night the roar of the jet shattered the silence of the desert as we reach the summit under a cloak of darkness area 51 could clearly be seen its runway lights glowing in the distance after trekking for several hours we finally set up camp here some 7 000 feet up and since the crack of dawn we've been watching non-existent flights ferrying non-existent personnel to this non-existent base tikiboo peak
(40:45) is the last safe vantage point where you can clearly see dreamland but how long before this too is claimed by the military the groom lake mystery continues we followed the personnel flights out of the secret base and they've landed here at mccarran airport just outside las vegas there are apparently over a dozen flights every day ferrying the personnel in and out of america's most secret base i was called at a random time the operator would say mr lazar it's now 4 15 a.
(41:36) m we expect you to be at mccarran airport at 4 45 your plane will be leaving at such and such time i drive there check in board the plane and the plane would fly out to groom lake as the groom lake workers headed off in their cars we tried to enter the terminal who could you point me to at the base who could give me some information okay what i want to tell you right now you're trespassing on private property so we thought that was the point you're trespassing on private property you're inside our gate (42:14) and i'm going to advise you right now to leave the premises immediately okay is this going to be to do that immediately this is private property your trespassing leave the premises it seems like if they're getting information is it is it government property or is it just private no comment you're trespassing is there anyone you can point us to to give us any details as we were ejected from the airport yet another janet flight left for groom lakes turning 1500 our investigations have revealed that a private company is working with the us (43:10) military at area 51. we believe this is the company eg and g special projects it's worked for the last 50 years on top secret and sensitive projects with the us government and it's said to control the janet flights that take the workers to the base as well as all the security and technical support for the back engineering of alien spacecraft i did not work for eg directly i was just interviewed in one of their facilities at mccarran airport a short time later i was called back in for this new job at s4 and they had (43:45) explained to me that it dealt with some sort of field propulsion system and i was just under the assumption that this is an advanced type of aircraft that's being worked on and uh i was excited about the position you have to leave a private property okay so i actually cut your camera off does it have any connection with the groom lake basically actually i'm just i'm actually here to leave the property does this company have any connection with the flights that leave mccarran [Music] eg g has been the central civilian

(44:17) contractor for groom lake basically since the beginning they're the people who military folks come and go uh other contractors come and go eg has had the contract since the very beginning so if anyone were to know what's going on out there it'd be eg g they're not talking we phoned eg g to clarify what their role is at the base but they would only confirm that the company is working on several classified department of defense contracts at various remote locations in nevada they would not comment on the exact
(44:49) nature of the work but did state that it was connected with emp electromagnetic propulsion if recovered alien craft are buried deep beneath the nevada desert then the power to release this information to the public lies deep inside the corridors of washington as an intelligence insider said to me the problem isn't obtaining the information it's handling the truth are these alien craft above groom lake or are they man-made have the u.
(45:30) s military developed the technology to build flying discs join us next time on dreamland there's a great deal of legitimacy to this ufo phenomenon to the issue of alien intelligence this is something that's not at all new to the us military there's programs that they're working on today that are 50 years ahead of anything that you and i could even conceive of [Music] the black project teams are operating without oversight from official committees from congress if you will i find that exceedingly distressing frightening the ultimate big brother scenario
(46:10) everything is being run by the et's so far beyond us in terms of technology that uh i don't think we would have a chance i don't think we've yet scratched the surface on what's happening out there with regard to flying saucers there are variety activities some of which are classified throughout what is often called the air force's nellis range complex the range is used for the testing of technologies and systems and training for operations critical to the effectiveness of u.
(46:48) s military forces and the security of the united states there is operating location near groom dry lake some specific activities and operations conducted on the nellis range both past and present remain classified and cannot be discussed [Music] [Applause] [Applause] [Music] previously on dreamland have ufos crashed on earth have we made
(47:54) alien contact is the us government covering up a massive ufo conspiracy behind me is one of the most secret military bases in the world deep in the heart of the nevada desert the groom lake test site also known as area 51 or dreamland has been home to u.s stealth projects since the second world war however in recent years a more disturbing story has emerged and that is that the government is back engineering recovered alien spacecraft it's a story the us government has tried to cover up for half a century the truth behind dreamland
(48:35) i am convinced based on my research and the individuals whom i've had contact in the u.s intelligence community that the u.s government does indeed have a craft that meet the description of many of the ufo reports the whole aim of the project was to take these craft or the one in particular that i was working on and try and duplicate its systems and subsystems with earthly materials i'm convinced beyond doubt that we have recovered aircraft alien vehicles that we have made contact with aliens that we are (49:12) communicating with them in some way or form and that we have vehicles and bodies in preservation they are here whoever they are wherever they came from whatever they're doing um other intelligences are messing around on our planet i think that too many people's butts are on the line with this that they lied to us too long that that a lot of people have stolen legitimate national security money to keep this cover-up going that they have perpetuated disinformation schemes on the american public probably on the british public the air

(49:44) force knows that there was a crash saucer there were alien bodies recovered that there have been aircraft that have gone up to chase ufos and have not come back they know that we're dealing with the biggest story of the millennium [Music] [Music] [Music] [Music] [Music] [Applause] [Music] based on the evidence of former workers
(51:02) and the unexplainable lights in the sky there is little doubt that area 51 seen here in the distance does house flying craft that are literally out of this world if recovered alien spacecraft and bodies have been taken to this remote location since the 1950s could a secret of this size be kept under wraps for so long and if so who's keeping it we're dealing with a cosmic watergate that means that some few people within the government's united states canada britain and undoubtedly other countries have known since july 1947
(51:40) when at least two crashed flying saucers and several alien bodies were recovered in new mexico that indeed some ufos are extraterrestrial spacecraft since project blue book closed down in 1969 there was no official interest in this subject that seemed to say the least a trifle strange when documents that have come out under the freedom of information act in america show the contrary show that organizations like the cia and the nsa are actually very heavily involved in ufo research there's a relatively small number of (52:14) people within the intelligence military intelligence and scientific and technical intelligence community who are aware of what's going on and an even smaller group who are actually organizing top secret research into this phenomenon whenever we'd have a crash the staff people would tell the public information officer use story number 38 in the book and he would he would release details according to a standard procedure for that kind of a story and they never told the truth because that was always the classified information the (52:53) government is fighting tooth and nail it will not reveal any kind of information about that base and as a result workers people who helped win the cold war who dedicated their lives to these secret programs who kept their mouths shut for all these years are dying because of exposure to toxic materials that the government refuses to acknowledge exist out there because they refuse to acknowledge the base itself if it is already explained there's nothing exciting why can't people talk about it presenting cosmic journey
(53:29) one of the most revealing glimpses of just what the pentagon knew about the existence of crash sources and alien contact came in 1989 with the development of a top secret project codenamed cosmic journey cosmic journey is a new experience in live entertainment a new concept and a new dimension this is something that no one should miss and i guarantee you that millions and millions of people throughout the world will remember this for the rest of their life its aim was to display to the public by way of a traveling exhibition
(54:09) the crashed craft and preserved alien bodies that the government had in its possession the pentagon enlisted the help of bob eksler a nasa mission specialist in robotics who was also a respected ufo researcher at a series of meetings in washington in 1989 military officials set out their plans to explore they were devising a variety of kiosks to show the history of the ufo sightings ufos associated with the space program and of course aliens associated with commonly with the abduction phenomena i was shown a photographic rendition
(54:50) that involved an actual what appeared to be some form of an alien creature typical to the uh gray aliens that have been referred to popularly in the publications in the press the creature was encased in uh sort of a glass coffin-like structure that uh uh was being preserved there's a lot of apparatus tanks and so forth probably some form of a cryogenic tank to preserve the the body from decay as part of his indoctrination program excellent was flown out to an offshore norad tracking facility traveling in unmarked black helicopters they headed
(55:35) out 20 miles off the coast of florida landing on what looked like an oil rig as we got into this facility we descended to an area that i would describe as sort of a mezzanine area looking out over a control room this was obviously a norad tracking facility there was a huge screen it represented an area of the southeast quadrant of the united states then there were a series of lights that were floating along sort of like the top of this grid area there were five of them and all were labeled by the way um on the screen (56:18) as ascs and i heard someone make reference to alternative spacecraft the craft went down into this grid into this vortex area and then dispersed and no one

seemed to be concerned at all presenting cosmic journey an experiential entertainment concept of kenneth failed productions [Music] cosmetics i've not since been contacted by anyone associated with the cosmic journey there have been since the publication of the book revealing the uh the project itself there have been a number of plausible denials by members associated with the project and (57:07) of course categorical denials on uh anything related to the more intrinsic alien issues [Music] the only official ufo investigation that the united states will admit to was project blue book it was set up by president truman in 1952 after a rash of ufo sightings over sensitive military areas was it a genuine attempt to investigate ufos or just the smoke screen to keep an increasingly anxious congress and public at bay the public was told everything's under control sign grudge blue book that is the organization that's doing the ufo thing
(57:55) we have access to the finest scientists there was a whole bunch of malarkey that went along with that it was set up as a public information office to answer the questions on the ufo phenomena for the public and their case information their files were sent down from upstairs from where my office was where my desk was usually cases that could be explained away and those were used as sample cases in dealing with the public the anything classified above confidential stayed upstairs and even went higher and never got into the came into the (58:28) preview of blue book at all [Music] i don't think it was a genuine investigation in that the really sensitive reports were filtered out by a more important group than project blue book we have obtained copies of project blue book documents there are literally hundreds of reports of ufo sightings and eyewitness accounts from both civilians and military personnel many that were unexplainable project blue book is still some 40 years later the most important body of evidence admitted by the u.
(59:05) s authorities that we have made contact with extraterrestrials [Music] the investigation was closed down suddenly in 1969 no reason was given blue book was the cover organization that's the one you heard about that's the only one ever mentioned and as recently as last year an air force letter to a senator said blue book was it and when we closed it we got out of the business in reality all these other groups concerned with monitoring the skies we're continuing to look at militarily important cases a light in the sky means nothing but if
(59:46) one goes buzzing down the runway at a strategic air command base where nuclear weapons are stored which has happened and we've got some records on that that's of concern we can say that the recent sightings are in no way connected with any secret development by any agency of the united states you can go and look through the project blue book records and find numerous sightings which have been quote explained and you go and look at the explanation and you find the explanation does not fit the description
(1:00:28) by the witness or witnesses that's evidence that the air force was trying to get rid of the problem by explaining it away at all costs the evidence seems to suggest that the united states government is still investigating ufos the question is who's in charge both the nsa fbi and the cia deny any responsibility because all information regarding extraterrestrials is handled as sci sensitive compartmentalized information even the president of the united states in the white house behind me may not know the whole story
(1:01:06) who's in charge is it the president is it the air force i'm convinced that we still have an analog with majestic 12. a group of outstanding people intelligence community primarily and some technological people are running the show presidents come and go the intelligence agencies go on forever [Music] to the best of my knowledge there is no official ufo investigation unit operated by the united states government however unofficially the records show that the defense intelligence agency through its defence attache system has a
(1:01:45) remit to report on ufo incidents worldwide and that's easily provable despite the fact that the dia maintains they have no interest at all in the subject i tried during my three-year tour of duty to establish contact with an opposite number in the united states i made repeated attempts to do that but consistently drew a blank i was told that since project blue book closed down in 1969 there was no official interest in this subject [Music] i didn't work for the us government i work for a satellite government of this country
(1:02:34) as far as the senate concerned i think there was only one left and that was bob dope and as far as the presidents are concerned the only presidents that i feel that i met at the facilities back in the 50s and 60s were nixon and bush we contacted former president george bush to ask him what he knew about the existence of recovered alien craft and the developments out at area 51 we received a fax response unfortunately we are not able to provide answers to the questions that you send president bush's policy of long-standing (1:03:13) is not to comment on or engage in speculation about alleged classified programs of any kind a close confidant of george bush and a man well acquainted with area 51 was admiral bob inman his credentials are impeccable he was director of both naval intelligence and the national security agency as well as deputy director of the defense intelligence agency and the cia in a telephone conversation with bob xla in 1989 he referred to recovered vehicles becoming available for research do you uh anticipate that any of the (1:03:57) recovered vehicles would never be uh become available for uh technological research outside of the uh military circles again i honestly don't know uh ten years ago the answer would have been no whether his time has evolved they're beginning to become more open on it is a possibility he knew from an official standpoint uh that these vehicles these objects existed that they were in military us military custody and that there were scientific projects associated with those i believe it is the first uh revelation by anyone in a

(1:04:40) high enough uh level capacity within the us government especially within the intelligence community to in effect acknowledge that we are indeed involved that ufos are real that they were developed by non-human intelligence and that somehow or another we have acquired possession of that technology inman does not say much there is no reference there's no mention of ufos spacecraft anything like that the conversation centers on recovered vehicles technology and so forth but admiral inman was aware of the subject matter and we know
(1:05:26) from his executive assistant tom king that there was to be no public discussion of these matters the matters that had been discussed between exler and inman because of national secrecy laws that you not quote him or use his name uh in any manner without his prior approval [Music] inman retired from government service in 1982 to become president of science applications international corporation of san diego interestingly one of the company's primary areas of research is into gravitational propulsion systems the same method of propulsion of flying
(1:06:06) discs that bob lazar worked on at area 51. jane's defense weekly the popular military defense publication published an article about s-a-i-c and the post-script to the article that anyone who believes in the science of anti-gravity to be too arcane too esoteric even for the u.s air force should consider the electric propulsion study undertaken by saic for the astronautics laboratory which is now part of the phillips lab the study's primary objective was to outline physical methods to test theories of inductive coupling between (1:06:46) electromagnetic and gravitational forces to determine the feasibility of such methods as they apply to space propulsion and in simplified terms an anti-gravity propulsion system it remains for some the ultimate quantum leap well it's possible one because i saw the equipment that would do it and two it is theory that would work gravity distorts time and like i said that's not a theory we know that to be true and if you're bending space and time along with it when you wind back up in that place you're there between the ticks of a
(1:07:25) [Music] clock we called admiral inman to find out what he knows about area 51 and why his company is developing this gravity propulsion system let me get right to the point that you're after yep i had occasion in several different jobs to ask the question was there any credible evidence when i was the vice director at the defense intelligence agency the national security agency the central intelligence agency i inquired at each of the three places at different times do you have any credible evidence that would support the existence of
(1:08:09) ufo or you know and the answer was always no james wrote an article in which it mentioned science applications international and it referred to some of the development it was working on as the ultimate quantum leap exotic shall we say gravity propulsion systems what exactly are those and what are they used for flying craft i'm pausing because i want to make sure i don't overstate the case right we're on a little sensitive ground here there have been over the years i thought some of the early allegations of activity out in nevada 15
(1:08:53) years ago could well have been reflection of the prototype testing of some of the stealth vehicles some are clearly scientific phenomena some of it again will be so something as simple as weather balloons right that break loose that get lost and go drifting but there probably is some of it that is directly related to testing of late 20th century early 21st century military technology related partly to reconnaissance in some cases and others to you know attack aircraft [Music]

[Applause] [Music] this is the nellis air force base one of (1:09:56) the top military installations in america it's split into four main areas the toner part and nevada test sites where america's top secret nuclear tests take place as well as the nellis bombing range where the latest jets and bombers are put through their paces it's also home to area 51 so if there are flying saucers being tested over the desert then the personnel at nellis definitely know about it we were contacted by a former radar operator at nellis who confirmed that she had witnessed a classified flying disc test
(1:10:32) out in the test range she left the air force in 1985 and is too frightened to reveal her true identity the flying disc test took place at night in the desert a few miles from the base i was at that moment standing on the deck of the radar van it was night time and i was looking up in the sky because there were saucers up there there were 10 to 15 saucers and they were glowing orange on the bottom the one that was closest to me i could see in pretty good detail was standing with a group of people of whom i did not know
(1:11:15) any of them and they did not appear to know each other so it seemed like we were all very isolated no one was talking to anyone um it was very frightening because what your what i was seeing was definitely something that was very highly classified and there was a couple of people talking inside the radar van who i assumed were officers but no one was wearing any rank insignia and no one was wearing any name tags the maneuvers that they executed were very sophisticated [Music] so my guess is that they were being piloted by
(1:11:57) aliens who knew exactly what maneuvers they could do as part of the test she was taken to what she believes was area 51. we were taken to a medical facility that was very sophisticated someone came and took me into an examining room and they had me lay down on a stainless steel table and someone came in through the door walked around the table up beside the right side of my head saying in a real deadpan monotone voice stay calm stay calm stay calm when he got up by the side of my head he had had a hypodermic needle hidden in
(1:12:42) his hand he brought it up and it went straight into my the right side of my neck and whatever chemical it was went straight to the brain it has taken her over 10 years to come forward with this information it has been very difficult to talk about this it's almost like every time i relate the story it gets a little easier but when i first started talking about it it was like my mouth didn't even want to form the words and the sound didn't even want to come out of my throat [Music] so i can only guess from that that there
(1:13:17) is a very strong suggestion given to me not to talk about this not to remember it and if i did remember it not to ever talk about it to anyone as recently as 10 years ago this lockheed a-12 which flew out of groom lake was still one of the us air force's most top secret military aircraft if you'd seen it in the skies at night you may be forgiven for thinking you've just seen a ufo so how many of the hundreds of thousands of ufo sightings every year are nothing more than military aircraft and is the great secret of groom lake
(1:14:03) just the 21st century descendant of this airplane [Music] the original test pilot was loose shock the first time he saw it i mean he he rubbed his eyes he turned around walked back out of the production hangar at lockheed and walked back in because he did not believe his eyes you know the initially they were going to call it el salvador instead of cygnus uh for the simple reason in spanish that means the savior or jesus christ like everybody everybody who saw the airplane could not believe what they were seeing
(1:14:37) it was a buck rogers airplane this airplane was built designed almost 40 years ago 40 years before that the hottest thing flying was a saverski p35 40 years before that it was a balloon so the technology technology has not stood still so it's a very good possibility that we are looking at man-made transportation for the 21st century the united states air force alone in 1997 according to the latest budget request will spend more than 11 billion dollars on research development and production of secret weapon systems of one kind or (1:15:23) another that's considerably more than the entire research and production expenditure of any other military in the world i am very distressed that the black project teams are operating without oversight from official committees from congress if you will from public oversight with black budgets that no one knows where it's going or what it's being used for i find that exceedingly distressing frightening the ultimate big brother scenario i think the a good part of the reason for keeping everything classified is (1:16:05) because this is an awesome weapon now you think the amount of energy that this system can put out weapon system if you want to look at it as that and it obviously had some weapon potential just think about being able to deploy something like that virtually instantaneously anywhere in the world you know you have a conflict in the middle east how long does it take you to get an aircraft carry over there well it takes a long time here's an awesome weapon power that flies that can move somewhere virtually instantaneously and (1:16:34) you know pound an enemy virtually into dust um yeah that's something to keep awfully secret at you know at any price because that's something you can almost conquer the entire planet with i'm convinced that human beings are building disc shaped craft in fact it was reported that by 1960 the u.

(1:17:00) s military had already developed a disc that could operate silently man-made flying saucers are indeed real this is the avro car which was launched in total secrecy in 1955 less than 10 years after alien sources were allegedly recovered from roswell new mexico a cia memorandum in 1955 stated that the avro car was based on research developed by german scientists in world war ii we have obtained the only film ever taken of the first top secret test flights in canada in 1960 why was the military test flying saucer-shaped flying craft in the 1950s
(1:17:41) when project bluebook denied they existed was it a cover to hide the real alien sources being tested out at area 51 like project blue book the avro car was scrapped suddenly in the late 60s after millions of dollars were spent no reason was given [Music] more recently the lockheed skunk works in palmdale california unveiled project darkstar an unmanned aerial reconnaissance vehicle seen in hangars or in the skies it is a ufo i think it's time that you get a look at the newest star in the world of airborne reconnaissance
(1:18:21) ladies and gentlemen i present darkstar [Music] dark star is a very unusual looking aircraft it has a saucer shaped body and a pair of very long slender wings attached to the back like many stealth aircraft including the b2 its appearance varies drastically according to what angle you see it from if for example you see the aircraft kind of edgeways on you might well think that this was something totally foreign totally unlike any conventional aircraft and certainly much more like what people are described as flying saucers
(1:19:06) i think it's quite possible that some of the things that are being developed in the united states today are of such a revolutionary nature uh and still very secret that when they are seen from time to time as things inevitably do get seen when they're tested that they could be mistaken for what people think are ufos [Music] at any given time of course the technology that we have is five or ten years more advanced than the technology that is on public display but these sorts of things do not fly over the heads of bewildered
(1:19:42) members of the public they fly exclusively in very clearly defined ranges and danger areas so the sorts of things that are being reported as ufos will not be ours in september of 1947 the air force wrote to j edgar hoover a letter saying we checked all of our research projects etc you know this would be not just the air force but the navy and the army everybody and we have nothing that could create these flying disc sightings a big ufo convention came to an end in las vegas last night and afterwards naturally some
(1:20:16) of the members went out in the desert to search for ufos a news crew went along too and sure enough it wasn't long before a mysterious unidentified object appeared not too surprising somewhere up there you see it because this patch of desert is right near a military test site this looked like no aircraft lights that any of these folks had ever seen was it a bird was it a plane was it the aurora the secret plane we don't know more to come i'm sure and the air force is not saying anything as usual [Applause]
(1:20:48) [Music] [Music] if ufos are man-made craft how do you explain the tens of thousands of cases of reported alien abductions every year in 1975 seven loggers were heading home after a day in the forest to show low arizona and came across a bright light in the trees in the distance driving closer they could clearly make out the shape of a flying saucer which was lighting up the forest around them mike rogers and travis walton were in the truck stop mike it had lighted spots on it and and was basically metallic had a metallic (1:21:45) framework my first feeling was that it looked rather beautiful but at that time it wasn't making any noise and it wasn't moving it was just quietly perched there in the air [Music] oh my god when it started to move the sound got real powerful and i i jumped for cover and i got down behind this log and the guys were yelling to get away from there and they were swearing and everything and i was getting you know pretty scared myself and i made up my mind to make a run for it and when i raised up wham something hit (1:22:23) me a beam of energy a bolt of lightning but it wasn't like lightning it was like straight sided like i'd like a deliberate beam of energy but it was so powerful it created like an explosion that lifted him off his feet and blowing backwards and here's travis flying back through the air uh just he landed some distance from where he'd been standing landed flat on his back and as he's going through the air his arms outstretched he he looked lifeless at the time like the concussion of it had already

(1:22:51) killed him or knocked him out or something well i could hear the sounds of movement around me and i uh i had trouble focusing my eyes at first i saw there was light above me and the ceiling was very close i could feel i was laying on top of some hard raised surface but when i finally got where i could focus my eyes and i and i saw these creatures standing over me i just flipped out i just instantly became hysterical i started screaming that was definitely not in the hospital and can you describe what these aliens look
(1:23:38) like well they were basically humanoid you know two arms two legs like that but they uh had very large heads hair no hair huge eyes sort of a pale grayish white skin and they were wearing coveralls of kind of a brownish coverall after spending what travis remembers to be an hour or two inside the craft the aliens put a mask over his face and he awoke in the middle of the road with the craft above him he'd been missing for five days what do you say to people who who say you know these seven loggers in the woods have just made this
(1:24:24) whole story out i mean you know seven people uh are see the same thing they stick by their stories for for over two decades you know ever all of us have taken polygraph tests every theory the skeptics come up with is just absurd and easily proven so well i spent a day with travis and mike rogers he passed the lie detector test their story is consistent there were five other people there after all who saw part of these events unfold who also passed the lie detector test uh his story is consistent it's never
(1:25:03) changed in a court of law that would make the case [Music] i found his story uh profoundly convincing [Music] this is the saratov air base 200 miles outside moscow behind these barbed wire fences is the russian equivalent to area 51. if you thought only the u.s government had flying disc technology then you'd be wrong the russians have been working on a secret project codenamed tarielka since the second world war security here is unprecedented and this perimeter fence is as close as we've been able to get to the base
(1:25:57) we did secure some footage of the flying disc in the hangar the code name for the project is a keep and it has been designed for humans to fly we asked the scientist in charge of the project what propulsion system the craft uses but he would not divulge what he called classified information what is clear is that tarielka is aimed at the commercial market not the military the russian engineers here at saratov see this as an alternative to aeroplane transport in the 21st century where the production and design expertise came to build the teriyaka
(1:26:38) no one is saying but surely it's more than just the coincidence that the base here at saratov is so similar to area 51 both in location and security and as in the u.s the tarielka project was started in the 1940s just after the alleged saucer crash in roswell new mexico i'm pretty sure that the russians have those craft we were told directly by a leading russian scientist who had worked hands-on worked on these things that both the united states and the ussr had had acquired information from captured nazi
(1:27:13) scientists and had built craft like these they knew that we had them we knew that they had them the story i got from the russians before is uh these same scientists who felt that there was an alien connection stalin himself i was told believed in this alien connection that these things came from somewhere else now i think because of the political changes and the political uncertainties in that country even these scientists are are backing off from that position well we're not quite sure if these are alien anymore uh they're they're not
(1:27:42) certain that the kremlin needs any kind of a ufo expose right now the teriyoka will be on display at trade shows around the world in a few years time sold off to the highest bidder the fact that mankind may be transported in flying discs in the early part of the 21st century is a startling transition from science fiction into science fact [Music] have alien sources crashed on earth and have we back engineered these craft to develop our own 21st century flying discs the answer however improbable is yes area 51 does exist and we have (1:28:24) eyewitness accounts from at least two former workers at the base who confirmed the existence of alien spacecraft the truth seems to be out there but will they ever admit it it's likely to be a very long time before we discover what is actually being done out of groom lake now if you look at the intelligence community particularly they seem to wait to anything from 15 to 20 years or more after something has been retired before they acknowledge its existence therefore if things are operational now we may not see them for another 30 40 years (1:29:04) what also happens at that point is that things remain secret so long that the people who originally decided they should be classified are retired or quite possibly dead and it becomes almost impossible to declassify a program at that point because nobody knows quite why the secret is being protected the air force headquarters files up through 1955.

(1:29:32) 9 800 feet of material that's a thousand four door filing cabinets when i went to ask for stuff out of these files only 10 of the boxes i was interested in had been classification review and in those boxes there were withdrawal sheets all over the place so secrets can be kept they are being kept one way that they're being kept as the naivete the people who think if this was going on i would know about it the ego was a powerful weapon they have to know that it has to come out it has to be part of their program
(1:30:07) that it will come out we just don't know what the agenda what the time frame is i think it's very reasonable let's say if contact were made in the 1950s i think it's very reasonable of the government to say let's keep it secret for 40 or 50 or 60 years so we can study it so we can reproduce the craft so we can understand what it is we're dealing with and release it to the society slowly perhaps that's what they're doing now do you think the secret will be out in a few years time
(1:30:38) i'm saying because i've got permission i'll turn my papers over to you in 2002 and then you'll know who i am it's my impression that eventually there will be a weight of evidence so massive that society will admit that they are here and at which point the government will have to admit that they've known a lot more than they've said all along and this isn't just the us government you know this is virtually every government in the world in 1979 the seti program was set up to search the far reaches of space for
(1:31:16) intelligent life it would seem that we now have an answer the real reason for the cover-up is likely to be far more sinister than mere secret technology [Music] we have to consider that the aliens themselves may be controlling the cover-up especially if they don't really want us to know what they're doing here even if there is some communication between the government and them everything is being run by the et's of so far beyond us in terms of technology that i don't think we would have a chance they the officials in charge of this
(1:32:01) information are going to look rather impotent were it known that there are extraterrestrials invading our airspace against whom we have inadequate defense [Music] we have investigated dreamland for over a year whilst we didn't see any flying discs or alien bodies we did see lights in the sky which could not have been aeroplanes military or otherwise we have proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that area 51 and a large underground base out at groom lake does exist we've seen the workers fly in and out of the facility
(1:32:56) and talked to alleged former workers at area 51 about their back engineering of recovered alien spacecraft we've seen actual footage of man-made flying discs both american and russian and there are warehouses across america housing files like these full of ufo reports and alien abductions is this body of evidence just a figment of someone's imagination i think not as we move closer to millennium mankind will have to face up to the startling reality that we may not be alone and that a select group of us government officials have known about
(1:33:36) this for some time [Music] i occasionally think how quickly our differences worldwide would vanish if we were facing an alien threat from outside this world and yet i ask you is not an alien force already among us [Music] [Music] [Music] [Music] [Music]

(00:01) what if ufos crashed in russia would you be ready to see the proof it would not be surprising if saucers had crashed in the soviet union behind the iron curve secrecy was standard operating procedure let roger moore and tnt lead you deep inside the kremlin to witness never before seen evidence that we are not alone uncover the secret kgb ufo files next exclusively on tnt what you are about to see may or may not be true watch the following program and decide if kgb files actually reveal evidence of extraterrestrial visitation (00:49) i can say without a shadow of a doubt that the soviet union was very interested in ufos it would not be surprising if saucers had crashed in the soviet union this is so far the best footage that of an alleged crash ufo or a dead alien that i've seen so far fact one for over five decades western governments have been collecting information on ufos secrecy fact two so did their counterparts behind the iron curtain [Music] fact three now that the cold war is over the truth is finally out [Music] the notion that life from another world

(01:50) may have visited our own is an intriguing one many say that it is true and the documentation exists to prove it but that that proof has been kept hidden from the public for over 50 years with the end of the cold war has come some intriguing if not surprising revelations western governments apparently have not been the only ones gathering information on ufos in brutal secrecy hello i'm roger moore join us now as we embark on an amazing journey of discovery of international injury and possible interplanetary visitation join us
(02:36) as we search for the secret of the [Music] century oh [Applause] [Music] the vastness of russia is overwhelming even to those accustomed to the wide open spaces of america huge tracks of eastern russia are still uninhabited and it was in just such a region remote and far from civilization that something profound happened nearly a century ago in the desolate tunguska region of central siberia in 1908
(03:39) something fell from the sky and exploded on the side of a hill this event triggered an enduring mystery that scientists are still unable to adequately explain there have been other well-known cases of ufo phenomena but it was the roswell incident that changed the way the government officials thought about ufos researcher paul stonehill has done extensive work chronicling ufo sightings in the former soviet union i would say that the most serious research was uh given the impetus by stalin in the 1940s when he found out about
(04:22) roswell it was then that the kgb and the military separately had initiated studies of ufos the kgb as far as we know had never ceased studying them this soviet air force footage was obtained by a group of russian mythologists it was declassified by the ussr's ministry of defense just before boris yeltsin took power what we are looking at is a view from the cockpit camera of a mig-23 vlogger scrambled to intercept two unknown targets what we see now is an apparent merging of the two targets here is the same shot
(05:06) slowed down these are obviously not typical flight characteristics of nato or any other conventional aircraft the mig lost visual contact with this object or objects and there has never been any official identification by attending international conferences and exchanging information over the internet researchers on both sides of the former iron curtain have been able to increase the global understanding of anomalous phenomena richard haynes has been to russia many times and has worked with many of their country's researchers
(05:43) soon after the perestroika the fall of communism approximately 1990 i said to myself i am i think this is the right time to initiate opening doors with the east with people on the eastern bloc who are sitting on their own piles of data but we don't know about it likewise we're sitting on piles of data that they don't know about and so i started corresponding with friends and we formed this joint usa cis aerial phenomena federation and we're now serving a a very positive role which is information exchange
(06:23) the next clip was shot from a mig-25 fox bet and what we're about to see is actually an american f-16 falcon about 200 meters away what happens next is that a new object appears from behind the clouds it was not identifiable the new object suddenly descends and disappears into the clouds once again here is the american plane at the same altitude as the mid and now here is the object as it appears behind the f-16 and here it emerges from behind the f-16 then goes down and enters the cloud bank as with all accounts or potential (07:04) evidence of ufo encounters researchers attempt to authenticate and verify related facts as much as possible in general the more spectacular the report the more important the verification i was intelligence officer for the soviet military for over 30 years my son is a pilot in the russian air force now i can say for certain that there were numerous occasions where air force and navy fighter planes intercepted what we thought were nato aircraft only to find that they were not airplanes as we know them and not belonging to any nation on earth

(07:45) it's no secret we would send planes into their airspace they would fly into our airspace it's like a game like a test constantly trying to test the response of the other side only sometimes some women get shot at in this case neither the soviets nor the americans seem to have any clue as to what this third object is i'm telling you even when you blow it up it's impossible to identify it appears to be about four or five meters across moves with characteristics unlike any conventional plane [Music]
(08:21) now in this final piece of footage we will once again be looking at a cockpit camera view this time from a mig-21 the camera plane and three others were scrambled to intercept an unknown craft flying at very high speed which is visible here as a large cylindrical shaped object and as the russian planes close in the ufo suddenly picks up speed and disappears [Music] here it is once again you'll notice the cylinder seems to be traveling at about the same speed as the legs until about here and then it seems to increase its speed which (08:57) according to pilots must have reached at least mach 3 in about 10 seconds a lot of this footage was declassified after the soviet military failed to identify the object seen here this one shows an interception of temperament pilots there were many cylindrical object interceptions that were reported and investigated we were interested in the high speed potential of these objects the size of this one is estimated to be about twice the size of mc21 with technology available to us and the americans it should not be able to move
(09:32) as fast as it does this footage is still interesting because i don't think the russians had any idea what they were dealing with here their fighters were at least as good as ours and yet here is something that is completely beyond their capability to intercept the acceleration rate of this thing is impossible for any aircraft that we know of there was one tragic incident i know of occurring in the early 1970s in which mig-21s tried to shoot down an unknown craft flying over western russia airspace which failed to respond to soviet pilots
(10:08) the pilots used standard intercept procedure to expel foreign planes out of soviet airspace when the crop did not respond the pilots were ordered to lock on missiles at that point both jets were destroyed based on a weapon not known to soviet military both pilots perished there was an effort within the air force to make it look as if the fighter planes collided but investigators i knew personally at the time said it was not collision they were shut down by something the nsa intercepted a radio transmission that we were copied on (10:49) apparently the russians lost a couple of big 21s or 23s they were trying to intercept something unidentified all i know is it wasn't one of ours you know our department received a number of stories like this involving the soviet military and ufos one of the most intriguing stories we came across was first told in the new book ufos in the ussr by russian author the neomin gregoriovic verishargen he recounts the crash of an extraterrestrial craft and subsequent recovery by soviet officials in the late sixties
(11:27) social there were reportedly a lot of ufo sightings in the area of srilovsky currently known as ekaterinburg on november 27th many residents of schizophrenia observed several fireballs moving across the sky one of the balls began going rapidly down and after that there was a loud sound of an explosion in a few days especially published an article due to the carelessness of some workers
(12:48) had witnessed similar lights before that day this is a copy of this fair loss newspaper from november the 29th 1968 an article on the front page entitled bayozevsky dreams or what was that gives the state sanctioned account of what could have been the actual crash translated the russian copy reads five glowing balls of light appeared over the horizon and started to move in the direction of the city four of the objects moved in opposite directions while the fifth began to rapidly lose altitude and soon completely disappeared behind
(13:29) the forest terrain several seconds after its disappearance there was a deafening explosion and in typical soviet fashion the paper cites the official statement the blast had taken place at the grain storage unit number 27 the explosion was caused by one of the employees who had violated the safety code resulting in a charge of negligence he was sentenced to restitution of the material losses suffered by the state what helps make the account in beresharden's book so compelling is the existence of several reels of (14:05) film which seemed to back up the story while rumors of such film first began circulating some years ago it was not until vera shargen led us to the black market

dealer in possession of these materials that we got our first look of what could be remarkable new evidence if this film indeed corresponds with verishargen's story what we are looking at is the scene of the crash site in peru yosefsky as viewed by a camera on top of a military truck the focal point of this scene is here and indeed appears to be a disc embedded (14:42) in the ground here we see soldiers exiting the truck led by a captain the troops are met by another officer this one a major and then they join other soldiers and officers already on the scene this footage is one of four reels of film acquired during our investigation coming up next this incredible footage subjected to further analysis when we return right after this [Applause] [Music] [Applause] [Music] the two groups that have without question been exchanging information freely are the russian and western ufologists
(15:31) it's with a a sense of full cooperation that much of the formally sensitive information has surfaced at one end of the spectrum the simple ufo sightings which are often accompanied by film or video footage at the other end are accounts of actual contact with alien beings for which most bonafide researchers retain a healthy dose of skepticism interestingly many psychiatrists and psychologists have placed considerably more credence in stories of alien abduction than ufologists though no such encounters have been officially reported
(16:08) in the former soviet union and in spite of efforts by the government to deny their existence documented cases do exist the abductee reports seeing a blinding white light usually hovering high above these abductees have reported under hypnosis that they feel compelled to approach the light as if they are somehow being drawn towards it some have reported seeing doors to the drafts actually opening for them as with their reaction to the light they feel compelled to walk through most abductees have not been able to (16:45) describe the interiors of these crowds other than recalling swirling mist and bright light most reported alien abductions include harrowing accounts of medical experiments subjects describe an examination room of some kind many have reported strange probe-like tools being used on them and they recall the frightening sensation of being examined they're simultaneously being unable to do anything about it typically the abductees will then find themselves back where they were when they first saw the light having no recollection
(17:26) of what just happened other times however upon checking their watches they discover that several minutes have passed without their ability to account for it they literally have lost time many abductees have their memories triggered by a mark found on their bodies the kind they would associate with a needle or some other medical instrument and not surprisingly no such report has ever been verified 100 and yet these stories continue to proliferate are these people really being abducted by aliens or some now claim by members of a secret
(18:08) government agency from the beginning of the communist era the soviet leaders relied on a strong secret police to act as watchdog and often executioner for their rule during the height of his existence the kgb was the largest secret police and espionage force in the history of the planet with more than 300 000 agents according to western authorities the kgb managed to infiltrate every major western intelligence service russia has had countless ufo sightings some have been explained some have yet to be explained the best known events
(18:50) are the dhanagorsk and tunguska [Applause] incidents many ufo researchers feel that the most important russian incident in terms of known crash recovered materials is the dal nagorsk occurrence antonio corneas agrees it's uh the best documented crash uh because we do have the fragments uh they have been analyzed it was a small probe it was not kind of a big object but something crashed on a hill in del negorsk in in january of 1986.
(19:24) witnesses described the object as a sphere of light streaking across the pacific region north of vladivostok investigators later recovered materials including balls of lead and iron bits of glass and a fine mesh netting all of which were tested and are proven to be highly enigmatic the head of the research team concluded that the donor ghost object was most likely an artificial space probe of non-terrestrial origin russia's best known event the tunguska sighting is sometimes referred to as the russian roswell in the early hours of june the (20:03) 30th 1908 peasants of the tunguska river area in central siberia watched in disbelief as a glowing round object with a fiery tail streaked across the morning sky the object crashed in a remote regional pine forest exploding in a brilliant ball of flame residual firestorms lasted for weeks and destroyed an additional 10 000 kilometers surrounding the trash point although the event preceded the atomic bombings of hiroshima and nagasaki by nearly 40 years the aftermath of tunguska was frighteningly similar to that of the (20:42) bombings in world war ii the result was the destruction of an area larger than that of los angeles or moscow it has been speculated that the governments of many countries throughout the world have been gathering information regarding ufos nuclear physicist stanton friedman agrees there's no question that military and intelligence groups overseas are collecting data whether it's in brazil or australia or in england so the kgb has collected information i've talked to people who've gone to the soviet union

(21:16) who have obtained some of that information i have met soviet cosmonaut and other researchers over there there's no question they're interested and again the republics which used to constitute the soviet union cover a huge area they too were monitoring the skies because they were afraid the united states was going to bomb them so when you monitor the skies you pick up ufos no question about it during the communist reign there was no official admission of soviet interest in extraterrestrial activity it has been only recently that this fact
(21:51) has been confirmed the former secretary of the commission on anomalous phenomena alexandra petyukov confirmed that an official state-controlled body did exist during the soviet era we started to regularly collect information from the public and received more than 15 000 reports the thing is that the commission was an official public organization it had an official address today the mindset in russia is far different from what it was during the communist brain the government body that had the most interest in anomalous activity
(22:39) was very possibly the soviet military did high-ranking officers of the russian armed forces really believe they could gain a military advantage from ufos though there has been much speculation on the exact nature of the roswell incident and reports of actual alien beings conclusive evidence of such encounters has proved elusive in 1997 the u.
(23:06) s air force issued a follow-up to its earlier roswell report which they subtitled case closed they try to account for the stories of aliens by suggesting these were simply crash test dummies misidentified so it was with a sense of both excitement and caution that we examined the footage recently recovered in russia this reel contains images of what appears to be a scientific or medical examination of organic body parts the individuals seen here appear to be forensic pathologists or biological research scientists speaking in russian they are seen
(23:47) inspecting the specimen the leader of the procedure describing his actions and the measurements after several minutes of this there is a change in camera angles [Music] now we see the specimen being more extensively examined [Music] [Music] tools are used to cut open what the leader constantly refers to as tissues [Music]
(25:13) he also describes parts that are removed as resembling various organisms the camera angle changes again [Music] and finally the scientists are seen posing for the camera holding up various samples of the dissection if this footage is authentic it represents one of the greatest scientific discoveries of all time one must wonder where this film was shot and what happened to the specimen seen if this is footage of a genuine scientific examination what happened to the results what did the soviets learn and what have they done with that knowledge
(26:09) did agents of the kgb have reason to keep this secret for so many years certainly there are more questions here than answers [Music] coming up next it was an indication that they had recovered something near sverdlovsk and they were keeping it very very secret when we return right after this [Applause] [Music] what you are about to see may or may not be true watch the following program and decide if kgb files actually reveal evidence of extraterrestrial visitation it was in a small house on a side street near the academy of medical sciences
(26:58) the british and american spies met with informants throughout the 60s and learned of one of the most bizarre plots in the world of intelligence during my involvement for a period of at least six years soviet counterintelligence operatives played cat and mouse with western asians in moscow who were interested in our advanced technology programs some new weapons and propulsion system were being developed and the cia was using any means to get information from anyone involved with the project while i was in moscow for a year and a half i
(27:36) had two other agents and a guy from the british secret service we routinely debriefed two russian informants who worked for the ministry of defense we would exchange hard currency for information on new military technology some of this technology is definitely related to ufos one way we often dealt with such incursions

was to feed false information through double agents to give american and british bad leads well we knew the soviets were onto something after we started getting all kinds of smokescreen intelligence that was a sure signal that (28:11) they were hiding something it was an indication that they had recovered they were keeping it very secret [Music] while the ability of western governments to keep secrets is hotly debated one thing seems certain behind the iron curtain secrecy was standard operating procedure here under the soviets freedom of the press and government accountability to the public were virtually non-existent many believe that the american government has had more than a casual interest in the possibility of extraterrestrial presence since early in the 20th century
(28:55) certainly since reports of flying disks in roswell new mexico us defense department and intelligent community involvement in the investigation of ufos has been documented aside from the former project blue book and two recent air force reports attempting to close the case on roswell there has been little made public by the government regarding its interest in ufos one organization that apparently did study ufos was the central intelligence agency one person who confirmed such allegations is this man an agent with the cia for six years his (29:32) area of the expertise was russian interest in anomalous activity though now employed in the private sector as a security analyst he has us not to be identified due to the sensitive nature of both his former status and his current position i joined the cia in 1989 straight off college my mission was to monitor and infiltrate the special sciences section of the kgb the special science section was extremely interested in a number of reported ufo crashes in the former soviet union and the eastern bloc countries from the (30:05) intelligence that our unit was able to obtain uh they recovered at least one portion of a former crash site over the soviet union this former agent was able to confirm interest not only in the 1968 crash near bayerski but in other soviet attempts to recover ufo documentation and technology [Music] senior research scientist dr richard f haynes believes the soviets had good reason to be interested in ufos it's my understanding that the soviet military has had a continuing interest in ufo phenomena for very very many years and the reason
(30:43) being that their air traffic controllers their radar sites their military pilots had been reporting things just as ours had and they had no explanation for them and so the first possible explanation would be that it's a foreign nation test or espionage or something like that of a military nature and if you're in the military yourself then you take that very seriously and you explore it this film footage certainly seems to depict interest by russian military personnel in the object that is seen sticking out of the ground soldiers
(31:21) officers and civilian clothes agents are deployed around the site and they appear to be both guarding and examining the object this is what we found on one of the four reels of film obtained in russia after viewing the footage we were able to determine that it was most likely shot with two separate cameras one apparently a handheld camera which starts out on the approaching truck and a second one seen here on a tripod [Music] as the soldiers march past you can see the cameraman turned to follow the troops here we cut to the other angle the point
(31:58) of view from the tripod camera and here you see the handheld camera as the truck pulls up both cameras change vantage points several times during the filming as if to get better views or perhaps under orders of the superior from this angle we see yet more troops arrive author vinnie minvershagen describes the event in the spring of 1969 a collective farmer found some strange remains in the forest not far from biryozovsky and reported that yesterday to the local security organs in their turn the neighboring military
(32:51) division of air defense troops pvo to provide assistance with the investigation on march 1969 two kgb officers examined the discovery site and sealed it off the nation so [Music] a soviet army unit was brought to the discovery side after close examination of the place they found some wreckage debris of a disc shaped object partially sunk into the ground at first the kgb thought that the debris americans george feiler a retired air force
(34:00) intelligence officer who was stationed at langley is not surprised the russians were so interested in this object we found that the soviets would pay to get information on ufos as opposed to we'll say an f-111 aircraft that they were in a way more interested in ufos than some of our latest aircraft and here you see the man who is probably the head kgb agent directing the cameraman to point his camera toward the disc a total of almost 1200 feet of negative were recovered just on this crash site it is possible that more foam was shot

(34:37) but this is all that we were able to obtain none of this foam depicts the removal of the disc itself and at no point do we see inside the object from this angle we do see the handheld camera shooting behind or inside the disc however that footage if it was in fact ever shot was not included in the kansa film we acquired we can only speculate that it may still be at large we must also speculate on how the object ended up here based on information from berishargen's book and what we can see in this footage we have created
(35:16) this computer animated version of how researchers believe the crash may have occurred [Music] the questions then become where did this object come from and how did it come to crash here and more importantly what has happened to it since [Music] coming up next ten thousand dollars when we return right after this [Applause] [Music] [Applause] [Music] with the change to a market economy here many items never before available to russians are finding their way to store shops some point to this as evidence of a new prosperity
(36:05) others claim that this only fosters greed not seen during the soviet era they say that everything is for sale in the new russia including state secrets and the spies who kept them case in point the intriguing film footage we had acquired proof some say of alien visitation for decades the western powers including the united states viewed the ussr as the world's greatest threat with the dissolution of the soviet union in 1991 a new market economy has emerged along with more freedom for the people but with these positive changes come
(36:46) problems after the collapse of the soviet system there was a transitional period marked by confusion accountability to the old regime dwindled and closely guarded property lay vulnerable to the changes sweeping through the crumbling union those with connections under the old regime found themselves perfectly positioned to exploit the new system in russia involving countless government officials businessmen and organizations controlled by criminal groups so it would be conceivable that documentation might be obtainable
(37:21) through similar sources to provide authentication of the film though most needs prove to be ultimately unproductive we found that with perseverance money and a bit of luck it is possible to acquire classified soviet documents [Music] using a hidden camera we recorded numerous meetings over a period of months in which we attempted to obtain relevant materials this transaction between one of our moscow contacts an interpreter and a local black market dealer proved to be one of the more successful ventures the location of this meeting is a
(38:00) textile factory in the sokolniki district of moscow this office is that of the russian entrepreneur who owns the plant and is used for both legitimate and illegal business after introductions of some initial small talk the american buyer asked the interpreter if the documents are on the premises businessman tells him that he has had difficulty in obtaining the documents and the price has gone up he is told that it is impossible to come up with any additional money [Applause]
(39:20) after consultation with this associate the seller finally agrees to honor the original price the files are then removed from a safe and given to the interpreter to inspect and a cursory verification of their authenticity the transaction is completed money changes hands and what was once
(40:24) property of the state now becomes much sought after evidence for ufo researchers what made this transaction so successful was that among the pile of documents acquired several were extremely enlightening including a top secret kgb report on operations fair loss [__] and a request for military assistance from the soviet ministry of defence if the russians had in fact recovered an extraterrestrial vehicle as they seemed to be doing in this footage they no doubt would have wanted to benefit from its technology we invited ufologist stanton friedman to (41:08) view the recovered footage and to give us his input it would not be surprising if saucers had crashed in the soviet union and if somebody had monitored this on radar from whenever satellites we had satellites they had satellites at that time or just a report from a local person and the kicker is the fact that you get troops out there and a cameraman doesn't necessarily mean it's a flying saucer we need to be a little cautious about jumping to conclusions now i think that film is worth a detailed investigation those things (41:45) cost a lot of money actually to go over it you have different specialists looking at you know are the are the uniforms correct for the time frame is the film actually made in the soviet union we asked russian film expert sergey ganciarov to examine the film for its authenticity he first explained the background of the film cans and uh this is the name of the factory that manufactures the motion picture film in the city of peterslaver this is the type of film type a 2 which is the emulsion after sergey examined the cans he felt that they were (42:28) authentic and consistent with the area and time period from which they had allegedly come now that we've looked at the cans the next thing to do was to actually find out if if the film itself had any markings on it okay in the very beginning of the film we have this word which in russian says nachala or the beginning or the start now the next bit of information are these two items mart which is the month of march 1969 letter g per year so the year of 1969 the month of march okay then we have the two bits of information which says

(43:12) number 267 in russian means emotion or film could denote the real the role or batch and this of course is the number the next thing we see is this bit of information kgb logo and the word archive of the kgb finally sergey konjurov compared the markings on the film itself to what was printed on the cans as you notice right here on the edge of the negative we have the word meaning safety film and chip or type a2 which is exactly the information that you have on a can next we showed the film to russian researcher paul stonehill (44:02) the colors of the film equality uh soldier uniforms uh somebody would have to go into into a special to make a special effort to make a film that feels like uh something that was making made in 1960s i've seen a lot of films made in the 1960s and this film here is almost of the same quality it's not a 1980s or 1990s film the kgb officer that had been looking and touching things looks quite genuine to me my god feeling is this is not something that they had made intentionally to fool people here ufo researcher antonio junius offered us
(44:51) his views on the film i would say that visually it's very impressive the first thing that struck me was the good quality very very very clear footage um you see uh of course it wouldn't be impossible to to to duplicate you know as a hoax uh you would have to hire some actors and so on uh but but it was it was quite well done of course it could even be some kind of disinformation too that the kgb was quite notorious about doing this information for what purpose i don't know but they might have done some kind of training
(45:27) film or something too of course if it was this information aimed against americans or something we never heard of it so that's uh that that's also also dubious finally while mr hernandez felt that the film required more investigation he was impressed and intrigued by it well uh i would say that uh if this is real and i do not have uh the elements to to make that judgment uh this is so far the best footage that of an alleged crash ufo or a dead alien that i've seen so far coming up next let me tell you this does (46:05) not look like a spleen and it doesn't look like any other organ that i have ever seen when we return right after this [Applause] [Music] back in the west not only did the military consider ufos a serious subject but the soviets interest in them as well it seems that in the beginning anyway both sides thought that flying saucers were an invention of the other and that fueled a decades-long campaign of espionage and counter espionage many believe that u.
(46:46) s intelligence agencies such as the cia nsa and the military have not been completely forthcoming with information regarding extraterrestrials the same is apparently true of the kgb some claim that the kgb as well as a us government may have been using the ufo phenomenon as a smoke screen to cover other top secret activity from the very beginning scientist dr richard haynes concurs well all i can say is that there there are verified documents from stalin's time that showed he had an intense interest in roswell what was going on in roswell
(47:24) new mexico in about 19 mid 40s well that makes very good sense from the standpoint that that's where our atomic bomb group was 509th bomb group [Music] from which hiroshima and nagasaki events happened ultimately that's where the pilots trained so it's understandable that moscow would be very interested in this subject from that standpoint if ufos are a cover they they've been used very effectively by both sides so it's to the convenience of the russian government soviet government to continue the (48:01) charade it can be considered a form of disinformation there is an alternate theory regarding ufo disinformation many researchers believe that the government may be intentionally drawing attention to the less credible self-proclaimed ufologists as a means of lowering the perceived credibility of all ufo research [Music] i used to hear astral what they call astral music alien abductees and conspiracy theorists are most often the least believable and at the same time one guy died another got paralyzed third one became a heroin addict (48:56) and could not overcome it is a russian researcher who has studied anomalous phenomenon and pyramidal constructions his beliefs may also seem unconventional when i lived in minsk a gp officer came to see me he filmed all the documents i had i couldn't escape anywhere i believe they ended up in the kgb archives i have information that my researchers of interest not as much for kgb or ca as for presidential structures in the u.

(49:33) s [Music] our individuals like these convenient foils for government agencies with an agenda of suppression outspoken beliefs serve to discourage further investigation and make it much easier to simply write off any ufo account or evidence as nonsense most genuine researchers however believe it is imperative that all potentially genuine encounters with extraterrestrial intelligence be studied carefully to appreciate the difference in attitude here with respect to such unconventional science as the study of ufos it is important to understand some of
(50:17) the cultural contrasts between russia and the west for hundreds of years russian culture has been steeped in religion mysticism and superstition russians seem to have an open-minded attitude towards the paranormal and such unconventional sciences as the study of ufos during the soviet era some of those voicing their beliefs in extraterrestrials were subjected to criticism and censured by soviet officials while the communists said they weren't interested in ufos many around the world were some claim that sightings date back
(50:56) hundreds if not thousands of years much like their american counterparts many modern russian citizens are very open to the possibility of the unusual many people become victims of tabloids like like americans today however so much information had been collected and people read about it in underground magazines have heard about it that they they believe in the extraterrestrial explanation of ufos not so much time travel but as the extraterrestrial and people in russia also are more cynical than the americans in their approach to information simply (51:38) because everything was alive both americans and russians believe they have been lied to by their government about many things including extraterrestrial research if there is mistrust of the government by russian and american citizens it's not without good reason for russians it was more than 70 years of communist rule for americans there has been a steady erosion of trust over the last 30 or 40 years god bless america it's no wonder that many american russian citizens doubt the honesty of government officials how (52:20) paranoid is the belief that their governments could withhold knowledge of extraterrestrials despite officially denying interest in the possibility of extraterrestrial visitation the governments of both the us and the soviet union have without question being interested in what lies beyond our own planet man has always been intrigued by the notion of life elsewhere in the galaxy and both the american and russian space programs represent a considerable investment to explore the unknowns of our universe the first human beings in space were (53:00) soviet were the russians also among the first to encounter beings not from this earth this footage which seems to depict russian pathologists dissecting what appears to be a non-human life form requires further analysis we once again ask stanton friedman for his comments i don't know what to make out of it i'd certainly say it's worth further investigation by my standards it's in my gray basket not black not white maybe worth following up on we then asked film expert sergey gonzero if he thought that the film's characteristics
(53:39) were consistent with the time period from which it was supposedly shot it certainly is consistent with the information on the can it is negative it's got the negative perforations is exactly what the information on a can indicated sergey explains the significance of a flash frame an interesting and possibly important characteristic of the film that was discovered all right now uh a flash frame this is of course the flash frame is that piece of film that is when you push the button on the camera and you start
(54:16) exposure and you stop the camera to stop the exposure and then you restart the camera again by virtue of inertia the camera will sometimes expose either a flash of light or if you point the camera away from the person in front of it you will see some other subject matter those flash frames appear between the takes and sometimes show things and people that are not part of the scene itself you have people that have nothing to do with the information that you've seen on a film before a rapture again an individual in uniform (54:55) you see these people performing a procedure you have somebody in civilian clothes people that you have not seen before as this is in a flash frame segment which was not meant to be as the procedure that was being photographed mr gosheroff concludes that while the film's stock and camera techniques are consistent with kgb and soviet government films of that period he feels that the discrepancies with the subject matter require closer scrutiny anytime you have subject matter of the stipe any additional investigation is (55:33) worthwhile i don't know what to make of these guys with what seemed to be medical instruments certainly in a medical facility judging by the stuff on the wall and it's interesting that you can see their faces which is interesting from two different directions you can tell their identity if you could find people that look like that and they're apparently not afraid of contamination ingesting anything toxic now that could be that they'd already gone through this routine and somebody had said hey there's nothing bad here we then

(56:11) showed the film to dr annette ryan a former lieutenant colonel with the army institute of pathology the first thing that i notice is the way the doctors are dressed they're dressed in these pristine white lab coats and i i think it would be more common for them to be dressed in scrubs or even butcher aprons unless of course they're um know that they're being filmed and they want to look good they uh also look very young but that is consistent with forensic examinations and and that's because senior medical staff
(56:48) usually don't get involved in this type of procedure i also notice that they're wearing rubber gloves but um they're not wearing any other protective gear they're not wearing goggles they're not wearing masks they're certainly not wearing any biohazard suits i would assume that's because they're not concerned with contamination and this of course is typical of russian soviet medicine i mean when we think of chernobyl just remember back that there was a terrible lapse in any type of protection it certainly (57:17) would not happen in the united states i mean it would be unheard of next dr ryan commented on some of the specific medical procedures all right what's happening here is that they're using dissecting scissors to open up the sternum which is a common procedure at that time he's using the proper tool the way they're holding and using the various tools looks correct which indicates to me these people know what they're doing i would say there's little doubt that these are actual russian medical people now if you look closely
(57:51) at this procedure here which is repeated several times in this footage what they're doing is removing a piece of material the one doctor refers to it as an organ or resembling an organ then the deener snips off a small sample which is placed in a specimen jar for later analysis well that's exactly what would be done in a forensic case or in the case of scientific research for instance if if some new species had been discovered they would remove very small pieces for later chemical and microscopic examination
(58:24) the lead doctor also mentions a structure he describes as resembling ribs and here you can see what indeed resembles a ribcage as if this was the torso of some anthropoid or or human-like organism finally though dr ryan was unable to identify the subject matter she believes that the techniques were consistent with those practices in the soviet union during the late 1960s we have little information about the specimen seen here other than the pathologist's description and the kgb code name spared lots committed
(59:02) we wondered though how such a being might appear had it been recovered using only the images recorded on this film and the scant data available technicians have constructed this 3d computer generated model thus with a bit of imagination and some forensic speculation we have recreated what may have been the soviets possession of an actual being from another world coming up next what were the soviets experimenting on in decades past when we return right after this [Applause] [Music] information leaked from intelligent (59:55) sources in the west indicated a belief that the soviets were actually attempting to reverse engineer something not manufactured on this earth whether we'll ever know the full truth about the supposed ufo crash in beijing one thing seems certain if agents of the kgb or any other branch of the soviet government did recover parts of a craft made by alien beings they would have been extremely interested in examining all the materials very closely no doubt soviet scientists would have wanted to determine if the parts of the craft were truly of
(1:00:35) extraterrestrial origin they would have inspected each piece down to the microscopic level and tested for various physical and chemical properties and of course they would have wanted to take advantage of any new technology they could gain from the recovered materials we are unable to solve the puzzle of their physics our physics is based on quantum mechanics theirs is based on parallel worlds a different kind of paradigm a different understanding of history it is similar to the effect of a tv set or a video camera would produce on

(1:01:15) people in the time when pythagoras lived pythagoras would not understand that that is the gap between them and us that's why however hard our engineers or technicians would try to decode their technologies they would fail if something not from this earth had been recovered it would have been brought to a classified military base high in the euro mountains where super secret operations have been conducted since the second world war this incredible footage depicts members of the soviet armed forces and what are believed to be two kgb
(1:02:01) agents inspecting and recovering a crashed flying saucer russian author benjamin verishagan has an idea of the final outcome of this operation as far as i know the debris in their organic parts were taken to metis where the apparatus was disassembled analyzed and then back engineered i heard they were taken to moscow what happened afterwards i don't really know his story seems to be backed up in part by one of the people who claims to have been involved in the operation back in 1969 we found xkgb staffer pavel alexandrovic
(1:03:04) klimchenkov living in seclusion in the briansk region of central russia he remembers the strange wreckage found in barrios at first everyone believed that those debris were part of some novelty aircraft manufactured in the united states or england but having done some measuring and material analysis we came to the conclusion that none of the domestic or foreign manufacturers known to us could have produced this apparatus at least not in the conditions existing on this planet it was then then an order came to transport the debris to the base in
(1:03:59) metish near moscow in attempting to verify the authenticity of this evidence we have had the footage and the film itself examined by several experts we also carefully studied the documents we had procured which lent further credibility to what we had been told among the most telling was this top secret kgb report specifically referring to operations fed lots [__] and describing in detail the recovery operation of their jozefski this document mentions the crashed disc the organic remains and the filming itself there was also
(1:04:37) this secret order from the soviet ministry of defense requesting assistance from military unit 67527 we looked closely at such elements of the footage as the uniforms and the arm patches worn by the soldiers these patches seem consistent with the patch worn by such soviet army air defense companies as military unit 67527 they're all wearing winter coats which don't appear to have much in the way of insignia on them and that that is not out of character for the winter coats they would generally not contain much in
(1:05:17) the way of identification these are all members of the same unit i can see that the weapons are ak type weapons the main battle weapon of the russian army even up through today's date is the optimal weapon yeah it's clearly an ak fixed stock birch stock no muzzle brake milled receiver no question about it that also seems to be consistent with the muzzles of the weapons that i can see in these in this film in addition we had notes from the scientific examination of the recovered organic specimen which seemed consistent with the
(1:06:02) soundtrack of the dissection footage with so many elements in seeming consistency vera shargen's story becomes even more tantalizing and perplexing at the same time is it possible the russians actually recovered an alien craft and its occupant three decades ago if members of the soviet army had knowledge of a supposed ufo crash then what happened to these individuals and if they can't be found today why not in the course of our investigation our goal was to follow every lead to search for every scrap of information
(1:06:46) regarding the incident so named operations vedlotsk [__] the tenuous paper trail we have reconstructed using recovered government documents led us eventually to a lab of the former all union scientific research institute of biology in attempting to obtain records on the individuals depicted in the dissection footage we turned up these additional documents three death certificates all dated march the 24th 1969 within a week after records indicate the examination was performed cause of death for all three cerebral
(1:07:24) hemorrhage dr ryan told us that the odds of this occurring naturally are next to zero the former state-run institute is now a private teaching center known as the moscow medical institute but this is the same facility as seen in the form footage becomes obvious with a comparison of such fixtures as the stone work tables and the distinctive tiling on the floors the difference is that one time experimental procedures have been replaced by routine anatomy lessons with plenty of hands-on experience secretive operations are now openly
(1:08:01) administered educational opportunities but we did find in the basement of the building remnants of this facility's past reminders of a time when procedures

here were not open to the public or subject to public scrutiny what were the soviets experimenting on in decades past at the research institute of biology the answer to that question is still yet to be found indeed many questions about the film footage and the alleged operations vedlocks [__] remain unanswered any extraordinary fines such as the apparent foam record of a crashed
(1:08:45) spacecraft or of what appears to be scientists examining parts of an alien life form require further analysis yet it seems incredible that so many elements of this story from so many diverse sources appear consistent the original account is told by researchers and witnesses the recovered documents and of course the film we have to ask is this footage genuine and if so does it represent an actual case of alien visitation or as it has been suggested was the footage created as part of a cold war disinformation campaign
(1:09:25) one other proposed possibility is that it was simply a military training exercise captured on film again if it is a real ufo crash where are the remnants and what happened to the body of the alien being with all that we have unearthed here the big question seems to be what is the significance of what are clearly some very profound discoveries and will we ever know the full story we hope you've enjoyed visiting russia with us and we hope you've gained some insights on what promises to be a continuing source of intrigue

(00:12) [Music] [Music] [Music] dropping bombs in the middle of the desert all that atomic energy fused sand together that's what gives us really nice glassy green you know texture that people really look for in it so and it's rare you know it's running out it's definitely a you know there's not enough on the planet for it to be an infinite resource so can't even do any more tests so that's why it's so rare all of a sudden you're selling a whole bunch of trinity yeah and why why is that well apparently (01:02) twin peaks came out with an episode last week or so where they make a it's a really cool shot of the bomb going off in 1945 in white sands new mexico and all it is is a two-minute close-up of the bomb going off and then it goes deeply into like this atomic you know everything's going off exploding and all this you know fusion and that's it that's all that happens in the episode it's the only mention of it really and then i guess later in the episode you see a bug crawl out of what the aftermath of the bomb but (01:36) there's no explicit mention of trinite or anything like that and sales just went through the roof like we hadn't sell we sold more in the in one week than we had all year of this stuff so it was but yeah it was bizarre i thought for sure there would be an explicit mention like you said with the trinite ring or something but nothing so that was it really it's really nice because you get to hold that like a bomb exploded in my hand basically that's why i really like trinitite so and it looks pretty cool too
(02:10) it's pretty nice that you have the genuine piece of american history be able to hold it in your hand so that's why i like it a lot and it's all like it's called trina type because it was from the first atomic test it was called the uh for the trinity bomb trinity test site trinity test site that's what it was yeah and that's why it's called um turn it tight that's the only reason so yeah i love my job there's a lot of craftsmanship into the stuff that i do i really like working (02:38) with my hands it's a really unique job i don't think there's any other job where you get to do this kind of stuff every day i work for bob lazar what more can i ask for that was kind of a copy drop moment when i realized who my boss was because when i interviewed with him i had i thought it was just some guy and then i go back home and i kind of start putting two to two and two together when i you know

research what who am i working for and all that and i was like oh my god i'm working for bob because this is a guy i've known about (03:06) since i was 12 years old so my uncle showed me a conspiracy video you know it's the bob tape with the interview with him at s4 and area 51 from the 80s or so and i remember that because that was like the only video i'd ever seen where i actually trusted the it was like the only conspiracy video where i actually trusted the guy and what he was saying so flash forward 10 years later and i'm actually interviewing with him and i'm like oh my god i get to work for this guy the bonus is is that he's (03:32) actually a really cool boss i never i never asked for that i never would have expected that but he's a really cool boss and he's a really cool guy so that's what makes his job so awesome i find to be an endlessly fascinating person he's always working on something different something cool and he and i are always matched on curiosity about science in general so that's the best part is that whenever he's coming up with something new he'll come out to be like hey zach check this out it's super cool
(03:58) and i'm like oh my god you're right it is just that kind of like curiosity about the natural world and science is what really motivates me to come into work basically bob's not a scientist have you heard that stuff before oh yeah oh yeah you hear that all the time you know he's a liar he never worked for area 51 that's why they can believe whatever they want you know bob that i know is like one of the most honest people that i've ever met and i love his ethics as a businessman that's kind
(04:22) of something that i try to you know propagate as a person as well he's got really good principles the more you get to know him the more you realize he's telling the truth yeah yeah that's the bizarre part is that his story is true it's like the most unbelievable story in american history and then it kind of clicked at me as like he actually worked there it's like that was the most unbelievable part to me is like this whole time i thought he was just some crackpot honestly i thought he was going to be (04:44) just some you know another guy that's probably getting these ufo conspiracies like we never landed on the moon i think like the first week i worked here i hope i heard him call somebody out on the phone because they asked him did we land on the moon he's like i personally know somebody who's been on the moon and that kind of set the tone for me like he's not one of those guys he doesn't want to associate with those guys he doesn't want to be just some conspiracy nut so that really kind of started to turn the (05:09) wheels like you know maybe his story's true maybe he actually did work there and understanding him as a person as being like somebody that's pretty honest that only reinforces the idea that yeah he actually worked there and he doesn't care he doesn't care if you don't believe him he doesn't care if you think he's a total crackpot ufo guy um and that to me is probably the biggest indication because liars will always try to go the one step forward to make sure you believe their story and he does
(05:36) not he doesn't care he doesn't want people to believe that actually he'll he just wants to be left alone and run his shot that's it so [Music] he hasn't even told me the full story and i'm not going to press him for it it would be almost really convenient if everyone just didn't believe him i think that's kind of the life that he wants he just wants to be known as bob he just wants to live a normal life so i guess if you know people didn't view him as the area 51 guy it'd be a lot easier to do
(06:11) that in his life and that leads credence to you know me trusting him and trusting his story and all that is unbelievable as it may be [Music] [Music] [Music] [Music] you

Transcript:
(00:01) this week we've heard the contention of ufo researchers that there's a secret government within our government [Music] exactly what's going on up there well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial origin they're being test flown and basically just analyzed this is released by the department of defense they authorized the release

this is one of three videos this one why i want to show it to you they call it the gimbal why it's (00:41) interesting is because here's a fighter pilot he's tracking this object you can see the shape of it and it does this move and when it does this move it doesn't change its velocity its speed anything so i want to see at the end of this video which is only 30 seconds okay what you think of the movement and i know it's like an ir video it's not that great you know but just i will yeah i won't critique it bro there's a whole fleet of them look on the oh essay gosh oh going against the wind the wind's 120
(01:17) knots west it's not an lns though is it it's not news well if there's another thing it's rotated so that's something that people comment on is as it's going it's got this rotation and it's not um you know if what we're seeing is correct and and and it's rotating and it is actually shaped like that let's say it's kind of hard really to see the shape i know it's really hard you know is that in fact the shape or is that if this is just a heat signature are we seeing bloom from it you know
(02:00) just the you know that the infrared image i mean what is the actual visible item look like is it uh and there's a little protrusion on the top or in this case the bottom there you know is that just heat or is that the shape of the craft so we're not going to be able to answer that a lot of people have the exact questions that you're asking there is there any more of this is that this is this is the only video there is there is more but it's not declassified it's not allowed to be out in the public so the (02:33) i happen to personally know these videos are longer okay but what's been released to the public is small snippets because remember the the whole methods and that sort of thing they don't want to release too much any flir video is classified by nature because of what it could show to potential enemies right so there there are a lot much longer videos this is all we get and i'm not asking you to validate what you're seeing here no i i couldn't yeah people have huge questions but why this is interesting a
(03:02) lot of people ask me is that the craft it is interesting that it did rotate like that because the craft that i worked on that when it's when it's going to travel a long distance that is how it operates it flies along and it it puts its belly to the target and then brings all the amplifiers to power and you know it shoots off in that direction now if this did something like that i would say that's yeah we are incredibly similar yeah we don't know but that is kind of the point of me showing i wanted to talk to you
(03:31) about that so you you often discuss your the craft you worked on house like this and then it would turn its belly towards where it wanted to go yeah if it's going to fly fast or long distances it doesn't fly as it would in a science fiction movies it flies with the belly the bottom forward and the occupants if there are occupants inside this craft when it flips and points its belly somewhere can you explain kind of what what happens to this it's generating its own gravitational field so it it really is not just shielded
(04:04) by its own field but it the the earth's field to where you would think they would tilt up and they would fall down inside that really has no bearing on it the craft is generating its own gravity they're standing straight up or whatever you know your glass of water is sitting there and it's not spilling i mean the bottom of the craft is always pulling all matter to it so the way it's designed is that if there's occupants in it as it were to move the occupants would not notice a single difference in (04:31) the graph their gravitation no nothing at all so this craft at any speed so so the tic tac um commander david fraver talks about watching this object that was like a tic tac you know similar to 46 feet whatever and like it would bounce he said like he said to me personally like a ping-pong ball in a glass sometimes it would slow down and it would move and then it would it had no it didn't have to slow down he said as it went to from one point to another just it would bounce off you know and you know go one direction
(05:06) and come back so that's what you're talking about what you call that inertia what you say how you explain that well i mean you know that it might only look that way too it's really difficult if you're difficult to know for sure because if you are manipulating the space around the craft i mean time and space around there it may just appear that way you know it may just be an artifact of the way the craft's operating it's not really bouncing back and forth like that but it's just appearing that way the way

(05:38) they're distorting the space and moving around but either way either way it's something weird it's a it's a gravity-driven craft because you need if you're distorting yeah if you're coming to a dead stop you know from high speed or or making ridiculous movements like that shaking back and forth um yeah that's not a convention it's not conventional technology at all so when when i told you about the way that commander fravor who is you know one of the top fighter pilots in america
(06:02) especially at that time and he described this craft moving the way it did you said that's got to be if it moved like that it's got to be a gravity-propelled craft yeah you really can't move any other way like that and so like the craft you worked on that is the key the gravity propulsion right okay so these videos that have come out in some ways we've talked about this this is in very small ways vindicated some of your story the government has admitted they have a a ufo program albeit a reactionary ufo program
(06:37) to military sightings right back in 89 i think they said the only ufo researcher program they did was project blue book which had come to an end a long time ago and there was nothing going on so if they admitted there was a program so they're they're admitting that that was a lie and that there really was a program continuing which is a big step i'm surprised they did that and they also admitted that there are materials associated with ufos but inside sources say that that there's actually a lot
(07:08) more than just a metal that was discharged from from a ufo that they may even have a craft inside sources meaning people like george knapp who have their finger on the pulse of all this if they admit something beyond the fact that they just have alloys although that's a big deal you know that they have that's a tremendous deal it's a tremendous deal and they said that the alloy itself they're calling it a metamaterial that the design of the material is essential to the way the craft functions which (07:33) kind of makes sense if that's not a surprise yeah right anyway so it's a new day it's quite interesting just thought i'd show you this and you know let's see yeah i'd sure like to see the rest of it but i'm sure everybody would too everybody would too yeah yeah and you know i'm hopeful that something's gonna happen but at least we get little bits and you know in little ways you you and george you know putting his neck out on the line because he believed you from day one he didn't just believe me he (07:59) spent a lot of time and we traveled all over he went with you into los alamos to your work right he put you through two or three polygraph tests yeah this was no no george knapp had you sit down with people who he knew worked at area 51 and landed you know from mccarran on the jada flights landed there and they asked you questions and went put you through your paces he doesn't advertise this but the people he sat you with they said oh yeah he's saying it right so that's another confirmation that george didn't just believe
(08:32) he put you through your paces oh absolutely yeah which is it took a long long time before people don't appreciate that they just get the end result which is that people like george dodgev but but they didn't get to hear all the things he he did that to poke at you see his father yeah it was years to get to that point literally so and you know and over that time you did develop a friendship with george oh yeah yeah yeah how can you not going through something yeah we spent a lot of time together sure and and he found your your name
(09:05) the phone book at los alamos showing that even though they denied you were never there there you were in the phone book right as well as joe the person that i worked with at los alamos george interviewed jovi right and he was in the phone book you know with me we worked in the same place so um i actually the world has never seen you like in los alamos right but i actually have some home video tape of you where you're walking through los alamos with joe van netti you guys are just walking around laughing about how people say you never (09:36) worked there and you're in los angeles i have that footage oh wow and you also go to this one place and you you find a piece of concrete in the ground and in that concrete you brush off some pine needles and you go oh my god and in that footage is your name with like 1981. there you were at los alamos and you had carved your name in cinema oh you know what that is that's where we put in back then they were called earth stations big satellite dish but you know now they're two feet they used to be seven feet across (10:05) and larger and um yeah i remember putting in that pad and putting in a big you know earth station satellite receiver there but yeah that was around 82 or 83 something like that no maybe yeah i don't remember what i don't remember when it was in 81 it doesn't matter but it was in los alamos and you made a joke and you brushed off the pine needles in new york oh yes you stand i never worked there and you know it was funny because you just like rediscovered it so you've never been like really deeply interested in like proving (10:35) everybody wrong that you're right and and that's been admirable no no i don't care in fact like i always said i i prefer everybody don't believe it because nobody bothers me yeah he's crazy and that's it yeah it makes your life if everybody believed the story um i would be hounded till the end of time so really i i don't really care well that is the deal if everybody did believe your story um we'd be looking at something totally different i mean that that might blow up [Music] reality simply isn't what it used to be

(11:11) things are not what they see everything around us is a mental construct we created breaking that down is hard to do and once it's done there ain't no coming back [Music] you

(00:01) [Music] uh jeremy corbell hello nice to have you back for having me yeah no i know last time we had you on we were talking about skinwalker ranch and then we were hinting about how you were like eyeballs deep in the edit for bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers the reason i made this movie because i'm fascinated i want to know too this is what inspired me when i was a kid is this real is this true so my whole goal is to get people talking about it if you watch the movie you will come out of it knowing more about bob
(00:34) and his story especially if you've never heard about it before even if you have there's at least seven points of new information in the movie my name is bob lazar i'm known for working at a classified base known as s4 out of the nevada desert near area 51 and there we reverse engineered alien spacecraft and it's changed my life a lot you know it's probably changed every aspect of it positive or negative [Music] well for the most part negative i mean i it's really difficult to find positive
(01:15) aspects of that i mean i'm sure there are some here and there but most of them were were negative so that's important that everybody watches the movie but why it's so important now that you hear bob lazar's story is because in december of 2017 we heard our government had a ufo program that was called a tip advanced aerospace threat identification program however there was a mother program it was called awsap advanced aerospace weapon system application program that was a defense intelligence agency program
(01:47) to study related phenomenon to ufos so why bob's story is so important now we have lou elizondo who's the head of this government program to study ufos there's a ufo program not just project blue book like the new series that's out and all that stuff it's an old program 1969 it ended there's a new program bob lazar says he worked in a government program to work on power and propulsion so not ufo identification for the military but another program i will tell you here now and i've said
(02:16) it before there are a multitude of ufo programs currently and from past that are actively studying different elements of the ufo phenomenon from biology to crash retrieval so i think in time what i'm saying now will be proven uh maybe there'll be these four programs i mentioned before that are named let's see yeah but there are more than that and i think over time we're going to learn that historically the bob lazar testimony is important and so you be the judge of it he's told you his story because he felt it's important for (02:52) you to know that there is a science and a technology that is being held from you and that technology can change the world and we already know about it and it's non-terrestrial and i think that's what he wants you to know take it or leave it uh bob just wants to live his normal life he never wants to do this stuff i begged him to do it so yeah i think he's i think he's done i think he's told you his story again i'll try to get him for some q and a's when i when i show my movie or that kind (03:15) of thing but he just wants to live his normal life but he felt it important to untwist his story the way people have twisted it over 30 years i keep saying this and i mean it you know the his critics have had the mic from for more than 30 years and we took the mic back and that's the point telling you his side of the story now you're telling me there's a different physics that was your job you were working on that the science was something we were trying to figure out but we knew how the devices would (03:42) operate you know for instance the propulsion of the craft everything that we have whether it's a propeller plane or a jet or a rocket it throws something out the back either high-speed exhaust or a large volume of air it's an action reaction force the action is you throw something out the back and it moves you forward so everything works this is the first time there's a craft that's it's a reactionless craft it's a field propulsion craft and what it does is it creates a distortion in space and time in front of (04:18) it where space actually bends and my analogy to that has always been put a bowling ball in the middle of your bed and then a foot in front of it take your fist and push down on the mattress the bowling ball will roll towards it and that's exactly how the craft work it creates a distortion right in front of it and the craft falls forward there so there's a different physics that well the science that explains how the technology works i mean it's all encompassed as one thing alien technology and science

(04:50) what is the big picture what are the what is the takeaway of your story after you're gone you're not a rebel kid with a with a jet car at los alamos today today is a different bob lazar right right what have we learned what's what's the message of your story the big thing is the suppression of extremely advanced technology and the suppression of unknown science that's it those two things to me is the only thing that's important about what was going on out there yeah i know there's another civilization
(05:31) and like i've said before that's a crime not to tell humanity about that but that's a separate thing meaning that there is something different in science dramatically that we're not allowed to know right right that is a true statement yeah that's a true statement the fact that there is another intelligent technologically advanced civilization we have some of their objects that is really the pinnacle that there's another civilization in existence that's intelligent that we know about
(06:11) and we actually have artifacts from them that can operate so i mean that's that's a big big deal but in my mind that's there's a lot to deal with that however the science and the technology can change us dramatically it can change the way the entire world operates the economy everything so those stick out in my mind as being critically important and we have it no we haven't you don't have to believe it but we do and you've seen it i've seen it and you've touched it i've dismantled it
(07:00) now that this is um kind of out of your wheelhouse you get to calm down a little bit i am sure knowing you you have another project right on the on the back end i do but i'm not going to tell you this time no not not this time no i know but there's so much going on right now and there's so much more to tell i have so much more to give from the footage that i haven't released yet you're going to find a lot like i've released into my youtube channel stuff like that you're going to find a lot of
(07:24) content and information coming out in the next year from me thank you so much jeremy corbell everybody for joining us uh congratulations on the movie um we will see you guys next week and bye [Music] nothing good comes from the for him this is a reluctant ufo messiah he changed his life this week we've heard the contention of ufo researchers that there's a secret government within our government well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs that are out there of extraterrestrial
(08:04) origin the live interview with the shadowy dentist drew international attention portions were broadcast by radio in six european countries and in a nationally televised tv special in japan despite numerous inquiries and feelers dennis has remained anonymous until now his real name is robert lazar he says he was hired to work at an area called s4 which is a few miles south of groom lake at s4 he says are flying saucers anti-matter reactors and other working examples of technology that is seemingly beyond human capabilities (08:38) i did not believe that this should be a security matter some of it sure but just the concept that there's definite proof we even have articles from another world another system you just can't not tell everyone [Music] it was like a twilight zone episode just kept getting stranger the fact that that was happening at all was the weirdest part look it's been 30 years and all of a sudden you raised it to this level you know this is a powerful technology fearsome technology and you just don't want everyone to have (09:32) [Music] it'll become obvious how to make constructive as well as destructive devices from it it's my only guess as to why they have never released information it's kind of difficult once you release the technology to be analyzed and give it to everyone they can just run with it you really can't keep the weapon potential hidden you really can't look with et technology you can literally rule the world well i am telling the truth i i've tried to prove that what's going on up there could be the (10:11) most important event in history you're talking about contact physical physical contact and proof from another another system another planet another intelligence that's got to be the biggest event in history period and it's free and it's real and it's there [Music] you

(00:41) duplicated with available materials i just want to go over with you what it is that you saw to draw it out for people to make a sketch as you're seeing it as if you're there at that moment gotta go back in the past it takes different views to show you different places i'll tell you what the craft essentially looked like i haven't done this in a really long time it had the classic most of it the classic shape however that didn't come out that bad this time so basically that's the shape of the (01:39) craft that's the thing i termed the sport model underneath this floor there are three three large centrical devices hanging from the floor these are on mounts that allow them to completely swivel up to 180 degrees and in 360 degree rotation directly above each one it's a small rectangular object this is on the floor above and these are the gravity amplifiers themselves looking down from the top you'd have the center in the very center there is a small reactor surrounding this in three equally spaced areas are the amplifiers so this is (02:40) looking at it sideways this is looking at it down from the top and under these amplifiers underneath the floor below are the gravity emitters so it's the reactor here powering the gravity amplifiers gravity amplifiers output goes into the gravity emitters at the bottom and the resulting gravity beam or anti-gravity wave can be pretty much put anywhere you want to um there was another level up here now i had access and was permitted to view and look at the operation of this main level with the gravity amplifiers and the (03:23) level below the gravity emitters there is a level above which consisted of these two areas that i'm not all that familiar with i assume they used to be some sort of navigational engine uh people call these large black rectangular areas on the top portholes i believe they were some planar sensor array that just took in information from the surrounding area whether it be patterns of stars or what have you uh and there was their version of a computer or something to make determinations here that takes input from those sensors and
(04:08) then let the craft know how to orient itself and where it was in space so that's what i assumed to be up there i don't know for a fact again that was not part of my job and i was only led to believe that the center antenna is really an extension of the reactor in the center and that's a wave guide which allows the the emission of the gravity wave which forms kind of a heart shape over the whole the whole craft that's how it creates its distortion these uh gravity emitters can be swung all the way up to 180 degrees
(04:52) and this allows the craft to essentially stand on two of them and hover while this one swings up and creates a distortion in front of it allowing the craft to slide forward so that's how they're low power mode uh omicron configuration operate the delta configuration uses all three and unlike science fiction movies where you see flying saucers just flying along like that they actually fly belly first the craft flies along leaves the atmosphere of the planet it turns its belly to the destination the three amplifiers (05:32) focus in on the destination and that's how it proceeds so that's basically the operation of it and overall how things were laid out inside the craft there were three seats in here and uh just around the uh the reactor there are no controls no buttons no anything everything has a nice smooth curve to it there are no right angles anywhere everything is exactly the same color and uh whether it's metal or some other advanced material i don't know again that was part of the metallurgy division and all i can say is it felt cold like metal

(06:15) um but it's actual composition who knows it was ceramic or you know again some advanced alloy or something along those lines but the manufacturing technique is unknown and certainly was back then today 30 years later there are things like 3d printing and now that kind of begins to make sense because it looks like this craft was just built from the ground up like a 3d printer and that would be about the only way to produce some of the things we saw because there were no fasteners anywhere it was just all together not even a seam so
(06:53) um i don't know how that was actually assembled is a good question but i bet it was something along those lines some gigantic printing mechanism or something we would consider a printing mechanism that actually put this together when you were allowed to go into the middle and look down into the bottom layer of this craft what did it feel like to step in like was it instantaneously obvious to you that we could not make this upon walking in the craft yeah it was really in pardon upon it was really unworldly
(07:31) everything again was alien it really was in that uh again nothing is always completely monochrome and things people built there is always seams there's always something other than a radius a curvature there's a sharp edge there's some kind of control everything was different there wasn't even wires in this thing as we started to dismantle it but um it was more of an ominous feeling because we really didn't know what we were getting into how dangerous it was and certainly didn't know how dangerous
(08:03) it was to remove anything or change it look i mean we have energy sources this day and age you can't just remove caps you know off of reactors and have a peak inside and see what's going on and we really didn't understand the energy source we had no idea what you know a housing might be holding back so it was fearsome technology as i've said before and uh you know so was it exciting going inside not exciting in that way it was exciting because we were afraid and really just looked around inside the reason for (08:48) going in was to have a look there was a little access port here where you could push it open and stick the top half of your body and hang upside down and look and see the orientation and how the gravity emitters were hanging from the you know the floor above what was your first indication that it was not human it was not ours it was not made for us well certainly the size i mean this is only about a little over 50 feet in diameter the only time you could ever stand up would be the middle so nobody would make something like this
(09:26) it was extremely uncomfortable move around and the seats were not for full-size humans everything looked like it was child size and the access port i couldn't dream of getting through so there was certainly something smaller operating this the opening port was like a hexagon a hexagon honeycomb with an edge cut out and if you grab the edge and just pushed a little bit the honeycombs would all collapse some sort of flexible metal and all snap open and i remember seeing or saying to myself that's that's something we could make today
(10:01) that that's really because it has a lot of strength standing on it but no strength the other way so you can pop it open use it as an access port snap it closed and it would support weight on it something very simple not that it really stood out i was standing in a ocean of alien technology but i think the reason it stood out was there's something i understand you know and nothing i understand anything else so i kind of grabbed onto that like i see what you did guys here not anywhere else um so the other fascinating thing was um (10:40) it was essentially a pipe i mean if you want to just give you analogies these gravity emitters look like 55 gallon drums and a big oh i'd say 4 inch diameter pipe maybe 10 inches long can maybe a little longer connected the top of the drum to the floor above it's a solid thick pipe somehow they were able to manipulate the structure of that pipe where it would just bend as if it was made

clay so they can apply some form of control to it and have a solid piece of pipe move like a tentacle so they can get very fine movements (11:27) and adjust and point these things wherever they were and then stop stimulating the stuff and they were locked in place like it was welded on there with a giant pipe how do you know that they could bend these pipes that way we did we had one of these setups in the lab when you had made adjustments it would move it would yes that is putting out a gravity wave yeah oh absolutely yeah when we bench tested this uh yeah it worked you've got these seats no seat belts and then it goes belly facing where it's supposed to go
(12:02) how do the occupants not fall out of the seats what's that about well you're thinking about flying around a single source of gravity below you and then as you move around you'll flop but you're cancelling out gravity from every anywhere else you're canceling out gravity inertia and all other effects and the only gravity there's going to be is the center is probably going to be the reactor itself so you're always just pulled and held to the floor here that's always the ground so no matter how you're (12:33) oriented this is always where your pull is so you'd never even know that you're upside down you know in relation to the earth or other things it creates this field around you almost heart-shaped and then that kind of is a cocoon of what we'd call gravity and it holds you so you can just be inside of that field and then wherever you end up focusing that's where you're going to fall to right that's the propulsion okay now of course we never i never had information of us flying the craft at that performance level but it's (13:08) assumed that's how it works from the information we we cleaned but you saw this crap oh i said this craft and these work and you can certainly extrapolate if three of them together worked like this first one we know how it how it operated so there's you know extremely high confidence in that and the craft that you're drawing here is the one that you guys would take parts out of and work on yes is it also the one that you saw the test of yes so they were able to take parts out and put them back in no no no no no
(13:40) they did not this flew on two amplifiers this was already removed i mean i should put a dotted line around here this was on the bench in our room when i went in there this was already out and it still worked i i can't imagine how they made the decision to remove that i'm really glad i wasn't there at some point you were inside and it was activated and something happened to the inside of the wall i guess that is an important part the other to explain that around the wall it was essentially a set of archways which were extruded
(14:22) from the wall all around and we later found these out to be i guess this is a big thing i should touch on uh we found these to be wave guides and this is how the gravity field was being manipulated it almost looked like it was just a design element but it was it became very obvious that nothing here was done for aesthetics everything had a functional purpose and you know even in our spacecraft everything has pretty much a functional purpose there are no house plants or anything just to look at there but these archways
(15:00) were extruded from the base wall and for the most part it seemed they were all the same but in fact they were not one of them and just putting this here so they looked like this all the way around one of them was different and the one time i was in there there were other people also working on there in their own particular group they activated this by some means and we could see from inside we could see right through that i guess the modern day analogy would be a electrochromatic glass where it's normally opaque
(15:43) some energy is applied to it and becomes transparent and whatever the other group was doing this panel here underneath this archway became transparent and we can see the hanger outside they also did something else and we can see something the only thing i can relate it to is some sort of writing some kind of symbols like that i'm assuming that some sort of written written language i i really don't know that's that's a guess on my part but there were symbols that were displayed here and then it went back to (16:18) looking outside so somebody had a handle on how to control what was going on without any wires or switches so that was kind of good to see some somebody was making some progress somewhere again we weren't even permitted information about that and i was fortunate enough just to see it so um now is it possible these other archways uh did something too uh it could be i didn't see it but i know this one this particular one did this is an alien spacecraft right right obviously another entity had to make this right

(16:58) [Music] reality simply isn't what it used to be things are not what they see everything around us is a mental construct breaking that down is hard to do and once it's done there ain't no coming [Music] back [Music] you

(00:00) the mountains appear to float on dry lake beds like spaceships from another world they seem to ride on a viscous material channeled through empty space by heat that rises and separates it vitrifies everything it contacts like a like a green glass honey a goddamn psychedelic liquid drowning the emptiness with imaginations of imagination this desert is packed and punctuated by a thousand gaping holes created in a thousand atomic blasts that defined an era what are they building in the desert north of las vegas what are they hiding what are they
(00:43) hiding i have actually watched a craft do maneuvers one night for about 20 minutes even today ever seen anything that could really move as fast don't open the door because then the bugs come in [Music] well get a few more goodies [Music] [Laughter] [Music] my name is pat travis i own the little alien in beautiful downtown rachel nevada the little alien started in 1988 actually in 1990 but my late husband and i have owned the little alien for since 1988.
(01:27) we were newcomers to rachel well just after that the ufo activity started and it was like a gift that was put in our hands and we needed something for us we had added a couple of motel rooms so here we are with more and better now next time stay the night [Laughter] are we ready to roll again we had tour groups earlier today and it's just you go in you do what you have to do and then come out and mingle with everybody that's what life's all about this isn't work this is fun there are people that come here from (02:09) every country in the world and if you look at all the dollar bills that are signed on our ceiling you'll see so many different countries every state in the united states people have been here from and it's awesome this is really where things started you know and and it's been something that keeps going on the one question that everybody asks is how do i get to area 51 it just goes without saying so we give them we have a little map we teach them directions and let them go and we've had some that (02:48) don't like to listen to us you've got to pay attention it is a high secure area every country in the world has this type but ours is really well known so the world's best known secret base because of bob lazar that's it and when there are secrets everybody wants to know a little bit about that secret you know when bob lazar and george knapp john lear gene half it was just a whole group that was continued to go and it was all something that was brought here and given to us and a lot of articles were (03:28) written because of so many different sightings of so much so many different things that it's like a snowball and there's no end to this people come here from around the world to talk about sightings do i believe all of them probably not but there are many of them i do because when you talk to somebody you know whether they're really projecting something or if it's kind of just a do you believe bob lazar oh without a doubt [Music] if a man is going to tell a lie about something it changes because you don't
(04:10) remember all those things if you tell the truth about something it always stays the same can i prove it no but i can tell you when i tell that my arms will cover with goosebumps it's happening now do i believe that there are aliens that walk among us without a doubt i have no qualms about that it's happened here more than once [Music] that's a fact you

(00:04) [Music] [Music] he's not full of babazar's not nope [Music] all they did was kill his credibility by making people think he was crazy that's how you kill anyone's credibility oh no that person is crazy they can say whatever the hell they want because now everything he says is it's not true but from living in the neighborhood where he lived and meeting people that actually went out there and saw the stuff and the look in their eyes i mean they saw it real testament from real people in this neighborhood (00:54) it has a lot of history here my next-door neighbor he actually had lots of interactions with bob lazar and actually went out and uh proved everything i've seen in the videos he he was one of the people there with him i've never met bob lazar personally but i've met people that worked with him and uh i wish i could i could have been there too i mean talking about two three in the morning watching ufos fly so bob's uh history here in this neighborhood is still alive and well well through some of us yeah and anybody i

(01:28) see just like you i a photographer i see hey you know that's bob lazar's house i mean it's uh i think it's a pretty damn neat you know bob lazar there's so much stuff that we're not being told that it'd be foolish not to believe him i mean why would people just make crap up i mean he's not crazy he wasn't crazy then my neighbor's not crazy they live normal lives it's uh not an attention seeking thing me and other people have seen these things what about new mexico what about arizona all
(02:01) these lights we've all seen something right not some video you don't know if it's been made up or made people have seen stuff and no one's there to explain it to see something like that you're never going to forget it but somebody telling you an exact time exact place to go see something and then it happens i mean how does that give you chills down your spine i mean i have met people in this neighborhood that have had interactions on the mountains and seen the ufos with bob lazar so that's that's one soul on this earth
(02:33) that definitely could testify to it that's not just bob he's someone that could back up that [Music] story [Music] you

(00:01) [Music] [Applause] [Music] it's like something a hollywood screenwriter might have conjured u.s scientists examining and reverse engineering a crashed alien spacecraft studying the bodies of the extraterrestrials at a secret u.s air force facility in 1989 a man named bob lazar went public with claims that this is exactly what was happening at area 51 a name for that secret facility in the desert and said he worked on the alien spacecraft today bob lazar lives in mid michigan where he runs a scientific supply company
(00:46) and he's the focus of a new documentary from investigative filmmaker jeremy kenyon lockheer corbell and narrated by actor mickey rourke the film bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers this story is extraordinary especially if it's true and it all started in the desert just north of las vegas a local scientist who worked at groom lake said to be where top secret weapon systems have been tested over the years he has asked that his identity be shielded exactly what's going on up there what's going on up there could be the (01:21) most important event in history [Music] physical contact and proof from another another system another planet and other intelligence jeremy is with us now via skype pleasure to welcome you to stateside jeremy thanks so much cynthia for having me on in this world of ufos and extraterrestrials how important is this guy who runs a scientific supply company in langsburg michigan right bob lazar is kind of the elvis of ufology he's the guy that everybody has tried to talk with for about 30 years and it's been very difficult he's he's (01:56) hasn't been you know very uh forward and out in the public's eye an investigative reporter george knapp who's my mentor in journalism he broke the story in 1989 but it was very difficult all these years to really get to know who is bob lazar the guy that made these explosive claims and as we see in your film you make heavy use of that on-camera interview that bob did uh back in 1989 tell us why did he decide to talk then uh more than 30 years after the work he said he was doing at area 51.
(02:25) yeah so originally in 1989 whether you believe it or not it is true bob lazar came forward to protect himself he was under threat at that point he was getting personal threats because of the work that he was doing and his personal life and what occurred right after that he showed people the test flights on three occasions from a distance over papoose lake which is a sub area of area 51.

(02:50) people didn't even really know about back then so he came forward really to protect himself he was convinced by george knapp that it would protect him to get in front of if he just said it all at one time then there's nothing else that could be held against him so he sets it all out to george knapp and then goes silent why did he agree to talk to you some 30 years later my charming personality obviously but no he he was a you know i think i convinced him i think after 30 years of people disemboweling his story and and perverting it and changing it
(03:23) inserting their their fiction and their fantasy i think enough is enough i think i was able to convince him that the history books would be written with false information if he didn't come forward again and show people really who he is in his daily life and and be clear on what exactly it is that he's claiming so without uh blowing uh the reason you want people to watch your film jeremy give us a sense of take you know sort out the truth from all the hyperbole and all the fiction that is built up around this man
(03:53) what is it what do you believe he did for the government right well we're pretty much know for sure that bob lazar is a scientist a physicist and that he was employed in 1989 to work at a secret base just south of groom lake on the area 51 complex a site called s4 and there he was tasked with reverse engineering or back engineering alien propulsion so a propulsion system based on gravity wave amplification and a very special super heavy element called element 115 in a stabilized form this was his claim and remains his claim
(04:32) that that was his job that it was an impossible task but that that was his job was to work on the power and the propulsion of a flying saucer that we have nine of at this base just south of groom lake in area 51. it's wild it is it is so as you sat there and you looked at him and and you talked with him and dug into this with him how convinced are you that what bob is saying is true i mean and how close did you get to proving it right so look this is a nuts and bolts story this is not about belief it's either
(05:06) true or it's not true our government is either attempting to reverse engineer alien spacecraft or they're not i think looking at bob's story now i mean the problem with bob why his story won't go away is because it's really hard to dismiss him you watch him i mean he passed four polygraph tests you watch him not only do you want to believe him you get the sense he's telling the truth and it's very frustrating to your world view now are we ever going to prove it definitively i mean unless somebody walks me into (05:37) that base i don't think so but we've come very close through through the breadcrumbs of his story over 30 years things have occurred over these 30 years that weren't possible to know before for example i found the individual got on the phone with the individual who did the security clearance for bob to work at the base that couldn't have been done 30 years ago when george knapp was was trying because of just the you know time the envelope of time gave us more opportunity bob also knew about this hand scanner
(06:05) that everybody thought was you know fiction it was made up well those photos were just declassified and i was able to show that indeed there is a scanner a biometric scanner was used at that time just like he said and everybody mocked him for it so all these little things i've been able to kind of parse and find out over these 30 years and having bob talk to me directly on camera for the viewer i mean it's pretty amazing i think it's hard to dismiss bob i think to minimize the message you dehumanize the (06:34) messenger and that's what people have tried to do for three decades but now i think you know we took the mic back telling this story clear and as bob wants it you know told which is direct that actually was a moment that stuck with me as i watched your film was his reaction when you put down these declassified photos of this scanner that he said oh my gosh i mean that was he he could not have it it was a very believable reaction let me just say that well because it was real i mean people always talk about this story like it was
(07:05) a believable reaction and i get that but let me tell you you're seeing it as it's unfolding in my documentary this is what happened bob's one rule for me to totally insert myself into his life i mean give me that box full of tapes i'm going to get them digitized you know these 30 year old tapes he let me into his life completely you know which is against his nature but the one restriction he had on me i can't make anything up i can't sensationalize a story that is already sensational so it really was the easiest documentary

(07:36) in the world i just had to show you what i saw and that moment is powerful he is so surprised to be vindicated to see this hand scanner that he had talked about for through almost three decades and people thought it was laughable turns out he was right how did he know tell us a little about bob lazar's uh what he tells you he thought when he first set eyes on this spacecraft that he was working with what did it look like what did he think okay yeah so this is really fascinating bob is so analytical he was given a
(08:05) whole bunch of briefings before he actually saw his first disc and you know he looked through the briefings and they were saying wild things i mean talking about another civilization another specie of being that came from another star system and he didn't know what to think about this he's a he's a rocket guy an engine guy a you know a propulsion guy but he walks up he sees the disc for the first time and the first thought that crosses his mind on the secret base in nevada the first thought is wow this is what (08:34) everybody talked about flying saucers but wow they're ours we made them he thought people were silly for believing in ufos however when he stepped inside the craft to look at a part of the propulsion system when he actually stepped inside the flying saucer that's when he said it felt ominous because the seating was about half the size that you would have for a normal sized human you know it one of the questions that's kind of comes to mind in in your film and things written about bob lazar is so here's this guy that was employed as
(09:07) a physicist with this task how did he get access to all of the kind of documentation why was he chosen right and so this is one of the big question marks look the detractors the first thing they go after to try to dismiss bob's story is his unprovable education he claimed that he attended classes at cal tech and mit neither of which have record of him so you have this issue here you've got a very smart person we cannot for 30 years we cannot prove his education yet i have proven and has george knapp back in 1989
(09:41) definitively bob lazar worked at los alamos as a physicist i actually interviewed and got on record another physicist who is in security briefings with bob lazar didn't know anything about ufos he just remembers bob lazar from that time so we know he got a really smart guy who's got incredible abilities we can't prove his education some people say well this is part of the setup you know maybe it's a catch and release you know they wanted to show somebody all this stuff and slowly try to leak some of it out and (10:08) and bob admits maybe he's the perfect patsy for all of that but what what he is firm on is that this technology exists he saw it he used his own hands he dismantled it that's very different than anything he read in the briefings about aliens or this sort of thing he actually physically worked on a gravity wave amplification system powered by element 115 this is incredible stuff so so bob really separates what he read from what he had his physical hands on one flying saucer one craft which is extraordinary enough if you believe bob
(10:43) lazar but that's the delineation that's the difference with bob lazar he knows what he worked on he was told a lot of stuff read a lot of briefings that had to do with other programs associated with his power and propulsion program such as biology that kind of thing but he can't prove that part one of the things that struck me as i watched your film is the normal everyday life of bob lazar at home going to work at his company um do you think his neighbors in mid-michigan would have any sense that this guy is (11:15) kind of like you say he's kind of so central to the ufology culture yeah i guess they didn't explain that well enough i mean he is absolutely the reason you know the words area 51 i mean bob lazar is the icon with his coke bottle glasses i was in india and i found a kid that was selling chai and he were talking about ufos and he lifted his hands by his eyes and jiggled his hands like coke bottle glasses he says bob lazar i mean he's famous all around the world the the the standard flying sasha we know about is (11:47) you know kind of iconicized into popular culture that's because of bob lazar they mentioned part of what he told in things like the x-files and independence day there's a babazar character there's area 51 beef jerky there's shot glasses of everyone it's you know it's incredible how this has permeated popular culture because of bob lazar and yeah that's he's had some incredible impact but yet the people in his daily life they know what he went through it was painful it was difficult it was (12:17) not a good feeling they weren't good times it brings up terrible memories in fact when i showed bob the film the first cut i mean i thought he was gonna hightail

it you know he he absolutely it brought up all these negative you know memories for him so no the people in his life the average people in his life they don't even talk about ufos with bob to them he's just bob does he still feel as though he is under siege is he feel as though he's being watched did he have any trepidation about coming (12:48) forward and kind of digging all this back up again yeah well there's a very dramatic moment in my movie which everybody can see and again that happened that actually happened what you see in my movie so the joke was after 30 years who cares what he has to say he is kind of done with it he figured this very little monitoring done on his life by any of the agencies i mean however he was raided by multiple agencies while in new mexico under very very dubious circumstances you know we thought that was very strange but we thought there was nobody
(13:18) listening we thought nobody cared well on one of the last filmings i did at his house the next day his business was raided by the fbi right there in michigan and actually was rated by multiple federal agencies and you know they had 25 26 forensic collection agents looking for paperwork was the official thing that they said it didn't quite uh stand up you know to why they would have so many agencies there and it got even weirder and you'll see that in my film so yeah i think there is some interest obviously (13:49) from government agencies in if bob lazar is telling the truth and if indeed he did get a piece of the fuel source a stable form of element 115 out of los alamos where it was machined in 1989 that would be something jeremy carville his latest film is bob lazar area 51 and flying saucers jeremy thank you for sharing your work with us and thanks for speaking with us thanks so much for having me on it's a real pleasure and i just hope that everybody that hears this their curiosity is weaponized this story is extraordinary especially

(00:04) [Music] how much monitoring they do with me i'm sure it's virtually none after all this time well the same thing hold on a second let me um do you have your phone on you yes um let's at this point uh take our phone let me just throw them let me put them in the ground over there i'll turn mine off i mean maybe this has been kept from us for a good reason a lot of people agreed to keep this secret so first of all who am i to upset it and second of all well might outthink these guys maybe they went over
(00:49) all these scenarios already and they know how up everything will be so there's no guarantee that this revelation is gonna make everything great there's just as much chance it's going to make everything terrible and i'll be to blame for that they identified themselves as fbi and um they said you're bob lazar right and then you know one of them got on the radio saying yeah he's here apparently they also had my house take down and they were deciding whether or not to go there the conveyor belt of vehicles
(01:31) and agents and police did not stop the whole thing it was like a twilight zone episode they came in and then they said there'll be a few other people coming here just got a couple questions to ask you in a short time the street filled up with vehicles and the building completely filled with agents it was really something else did they identify themselves initially as yeah it was fbi identified themselves then came in state police and a few other agencies i don't remember who but um there were a lot a lot standing room (02:11) only in the building it was it was crazy yeah they had like a forensic truck they had a bunch of different agents they gridded off the building i mean obviously they're they're looking for something yeah yeah and what they said they were looking for some paperwork an old order from two years ago about a customer that you know ordered some potentially toxic material which they could have called for but uh this was certainly way over the top i looked up to select the right key and they were right beside me

(02:45) it was quite surprising considering you could see all around here and there would generally have to be a vehicle or something somewhere but i just pulled up got out picked the key and then they started talking from behind me i thought that was really strange of course it got much stranger as the day went on what got stranger about it well just the sheer amount of people that came agency after agency i mean they had computer experts here going through you know all the computer equipment we had here they have people

(00:04) [Music] that was kind of a coffee drop moment when i realized who my boss was because when i interviewed with him i thought it was just some guy and then i go back home and i kind of start putting two and two together when i you know research what who am i working for and all that and i was like oh my god i'm working for bob because this is a guy i've known about since i was 12 years old so my uncle showed me a conspiracy video you know it's the bob tape with the interview with him at s4 and area 51 from the 80s or so (00:36) and i remember that because that was like the only video i'd ever seen where i actually trusted the it was like the only conspiracy video where i actually trusted the guy and what he was saying so flash forward 10 years later and i'm actually interviewing with him and i'm like oh my god i get to work for this guy you who's killing the hydrogen car? bob lazar, converted his corvette to run on hydrogen - YouTube https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=08_vsmdqm84

Transcript:
(00:02) so you read all over the internet about people and they run their car in water and hydrogen fuel cells and so on you're running your car on hydrogen you can't run a car on water but you're using water right you use water as the source material you run electricity through it and it breaks it down into hydrogen and oxygen and then you can burn the hydrogen all right so you found a way to store a lot more hydrogen anhydrite the equivalent of a full tank of gas you want to fill up your car how much hydrate do you need
(00:32) well i'll show you no way yeah that's the volume it takes to store enough hydrogen to propel this car close to 400 miles just about what it gets running on a full tank of gas wow and it's a lot safer than gasoline really yeah these tanks can be shot at with incendiary bullets or cut in half with a chainsaw and you could throw a match on them they just smolder like a cigarette and you can't say that about a gas tank now if you stored hydrogen and just compressed gas in a tank it certainly explodes catch on fire here
(01:18) only the hydrogen that you need is released from the tank when the tank's heated it produces hydrogen and the car burns it so there's never much gaseous hydrogen in the system at any given time wow so these are the these are the fuel lines no what are these these are these are the this provides power to the heater in the tank and also reads back the temperature of the tank why is that important well when you apply heat to hydride it releases hydrogen so as power is applied to here it heats the hydride right and then the gas comes out the big
(01:57) hose is on the end they have four hoses do they all mix into one big hose or something because you can only get hydrogen out of hydride at a certain rate with a certain temperature and a single tank you can't get it out at the volume you need so you really just split into four smaller units heat them separately and it works just fine okay now behind me bob is getting ready to blow something up bob is blowing up water well okay he's not blowing up water because as he said to say you're powering your car on water
(02:32) is the same thing as saying if you're running your car on gasoline you're powering your car on dinosaurs and we know that's not the case um this is what this is a hoffman apparatus and it's used to produce hydrogen and oxygen from water for fun just because it's cool well if you just have a use for hydrogen and oxygen or for demonstration purposes it works just perfect all you got to do is fill it with water that's just regular water right well actually water with a little citric acid potassium (03:04) hydroxide anything like that the more conductive you make the water the faster hydrogen will come out and each one of these sides is supposed to be hydrogen and oxygen right one will be hydrogen will bubble up out of one and oxygen will bubble up out of the other remember water is h2o right so when we break the bond of water apart we'll get twice as much hydrogen gas as we do oxygen oh so what happens is the water it just goes away right it gets converted into so each one of these tubes the water just goes down (03:38) but what's left is the gas right and there'll be more on this side yes that's the hydrogen side exactly and that's the negative oh so it matters which way you hook these up so you got to hook up positive to what is the positive is going to make positive will make up the oxygen and the negative will make oh no the hydrogen okay so we've just connected it there right and just by turning it on you can see bubbles start pouring up out of there seven up kinda so those bubbles are well they're (04:13) not the same so these are hydrogen bubbles and those are oxygen bubbles right and there's this is whiter there's more of them right well you can see it's really why is there more oh h two oh right there's twice as much hey that actually makes sense so i'll close it off so it saves seals the gas in and then you'll see it'll start filling up oh we could we don't have to go away overnight if this will do it while we're watching yeah it'll be relatively quick and what we'll do

(04:44) is take a little sample of the hydrogen gas and light it right and you can see what are i mean what are these you just have electrical current going to uh well it's a piece of platinum foil and the reason you need platinum in there is because that's it's very corrosive to a metal for electrolysis to occur i mean it's really ripping the atoms of the metal apart but platinum is highly resistant to corrosion now this is a slow method right and you know it consumes a fair amount of electricity now the electricity is being produced from (05:20) solar panels or wind generator it doesn't cost you anything so who cares but still you don't want to wait you know hours and hours and hours and hours to refill a vehicle you want something that can produce hydrogen at a fairly quick rate so let's go ahead and extract some of this okay look at that wow so there's power of hydrogen you see just from water something exploded so this is the same thing that was inside the lab yeah that was a small tabletop model this is a large industrial version essentially
(06:04) which connects right to the water main right and produces a much higher volume the water main your water garden hose right yeah garden hose you can plumb it in like you connect your you know dishwasher or just connect to a garden hose right and it's powered by either solar array solar panels which convert sun into electricity or a wind turbine takes the wind converts it to electricity or any other way but the idea is just to use complete green energy ideally i like to run this one on solar new mexico gets a lot of sunlight
(06:41) so that's really all there is to it you connect it to a water line plug it into your solar panel and open the water line and it starts producing hydrogen and when it has a sufficient quantity in there let the hydrogen out and you just leave it plugged into your car overnight now this is the same as those other two tubes right right hydrogen and oxygen all right whichever one is for the oxygen we have no use for so we just vent off into the air and the height is very nice of you i'm sure the earth would be proper well it
(07:13) could use all the oxygen it can get so the hydrogen using the water pressure is compressed into the hydride tanks the water pressure like a syringe it pushes it right into the tank exactly well there's a standard gasoline fill but also there's a hydrogen in it which you just click on leave it on overnight and as the generator makes hydrogen it compresses it in there at a nice slow rate and the tanks become full oh for a period of about eight hours or so there are little points here and there that do have to be addressed i mean
(07:56) when it comes right down to it you don't want fuel tanks inside the vehicle this is a prototype so ideally eventually you'd want the tanks outside just like a fuel tank is the second thing is you're dealing with an unusual gas hydrogen not only is lighter than air but also it burns with an invisible flame and is completely odorless which is not a good thing now propane is odorless too they add a uh you know that pretty strong scent to it um and you can't really do that with hydrogen because if you
(08:31) add any kind of chemical to it the hydride has a problem storing it it can poison the hydride and lose its ability to hold hydrogen so that's something that needs to be addressed if you have a hydrogen leak and somehow the gas is getting in the car you'd never know and it could accumulate in the car you go to light a cigarette there could be an explosion in a case like that so you need things like a hydrogen gas detector so it'll let you know if there is a hydrogen lake but i mean it's it's still an extremely safe system

(09:03) why can't everybody do this i mean gas is you know going on five dollars a gallon right it's terrible the whole country is falling apart we're you know killing people all over the world for oil and this you're driving a car on this and you can do it and you can convert any other car yeah unless i'm sure there are cars that have some technical problems but yeah essentially any car can be converted the whole problem to it is the material in the hydride the hydride itself one of the main components of it is
(09:34) classified as a weapon material and it can only be used in thermonuclear weapons and because even though it's not a dangerous material explosive or anything by itself just because it's used within those nuclear weapons right that are obviously secret and the components thereof but um because it's used in those it can't be used for any other civilian purposes so you can't even purchase the material no which is why we had to make it you made it yeah they made it but it isn't isn't that don't you need
(10:07) big particle accelerators and yeah so that was the the one loophole you can make the material you can't buy it so where's the part you have a particle accelerator yeah so all you have to do is build a particle accelerator and you can make all the hydride you need the biggest thing that stands in the way right now is just getting that material inside the tank that hydride material right and then the reason you can't is because it's a weapon material but there's nothing dangerous about it no no it won't blow up a weapon right
(10:42) well beryllium is used in a weapon too you know right basically this whole thing boils down to how you store the hydrogen so we found a metal we have a material that we can store the hydrogen in we have a material we can safely store hydrogen in and a sufficient quantity to replace the gas tank on a car so we can provide enough hydrogen to drive a car as you normally would use green energy to make the hydrogen either solar or wind power there's a medium to store it in and that's it both problems are handled (11:26) all the other little bells and whistles can be taken care of in time but the basic system works it has for a long time wow that's it yeah if we had just a fraction of what the oil companies are wallowing yeah the budget of one day in iraq this entire system would be available to everybody

Transcript:
(00:19) one of the discoveries that emerged out of modern quantum theory is that so-called empty space isn't really empty at all it's actually full of energy so instead of being like kind of a quiet empty lake it's more like the froth at the base of a waterfall or something and this energy is basically electromagnetic in nature and the energy density is quite high in fact it's so high that when it was first discovered mathematically it was thought to be some kind of artifact of the mathematics but then as time went on there were an
(00:53) even nobel prize winning experiments that showed that this energy and so-called empty space was really there we don't usually notice it because it's so homogeneously distributed it sort of be like sitting in a bathtub with uh at exactly your body temperature you might not notice notice the water but under certain circumstances it can be disturbed or perturbed and then it has has effects as i mentioned some some effects on atomic emission for example is what eventually ended up in a nobel prize for willis lamb of yale
(01:30) university it's called the lamb shift and this is a recognition that in fact this energy disturbs atoms so atoms aren't sitting in a void they're sitting in the sea of energy so once uh quantum theorists realized that energy was there the next question was well is there any way to tap it and it was thought originally that probably not it might be like trying to tap the heat energy around us and you can quickly prove for thermodynamic reasons that it'll take more energy to tap it than you'd get out of it so you don't come (02:03) out ahead but back in about 1984 researcher at hughes laboratory by the name of robert forward showed that there was a particular effect called the casmir effect which demonstrated that in fact this energy could be tapped when you go to look at the numbers you find out that there's enough energy in the volume of a coffee cup to evaporate all the world's oceans if you could get it all of it so this raised the issue among theorists well can we manipulate this energy uh could we tap it for space flight application (02:48) for example and um there are a couple ways to go could we get propulsion out of it could we use it as an energy source and so these are the areas that modern theorists are looking at but one of the more interesting aspects is that if in fact it does look like there's a route from here to there then you know we consider the possibility that well maybe there are other civilizations who've been down this track ahead of us and so it opens up the possibility that you can't reject the possibility of for example et visitation out of hand

(03:21) usually here where einstein said you can't go fast in the speed of light well that's something out of special theory of relativity and it really is you can't take an object and speed it up and then through the light barrier because it'd take an infinite amount of energy mass to do it but it turns out it's a faulty conclusion to say therefore you can't go fast in the speed of light because once you get into general relativity you have some options the options are to change the properties of space
(03:50) itself so that locally the velocity of light is engineered to be faster than the usual value the best way to explain how it is how it comes about is that it's actually the idea of stretching space expanding space on one side of the craft and shrinking space on the other so that you're not only moving forward through space the space itself is like moving forward on a rubber sheet about the same time you're pulling the rubber sheet and expanding it so then relative to the outside environment you can be going at
(04:29) say the speed of light along the rubber sheet but the rubber sheet itself is moving relative to the rest of the universe then your net motion is faster than the speed of light so the implication then is well if you can manipulate this zero point energy c get it out of the way then if something tried to accelerate you it would it would be easy you would have no quote inertia be you know rather than using humongous amounts of energy to try to propel you through this tremendous force drag that you get from the vacuum fluctuations
(05:04) you could throw bbs out the back i suppose and take off like a shot and so in fact the air force was sufficiently interested in that that they set up a program called mass modification in which i and my colleagues were interviewed to find out all the details of our modeling inertia as a vacuum fluctuation phenomena that might in principle be manipulated to see if there was a possibility in some far distant future of reducing the inertia of a spaceship so that ordinary propulsive means could be used with relatively low energy
(05:41) requirements and so they did a year-long study and went around to various universities and laboratories and asked people to tell them about experiments they might be able to do to determine whether our model was correct so again there's there's another indication that these are not just fringe scientists with science fiction ideas uh but basically these are kind of mainstream ideas being published in mainstream physics journals and being taken seriously by mainstream um military and nasa type funders a whole volume of (06:25) space would be in a special state so the pilots for example would not feel inertial forces either and so under those conditions of promoting a situation which you get rapid inertia of a spaceship the people inside would under those same space manipulated conditions not feel tremendous inertial forces here at the institute for advanced studies one of our main interests is exploring the possibility of tapping or mining this vacuum fluctuation energy zero point energy but we call it zero point because even if you froze the universe down all
(07:07) the way down to absolute zero where most motion would be frozen out this energy would still be there it's a very fundamental kind of energy but we're looking to see if we can't extract it for many uses not just spaceflight application i mean the grand outcome would be that if you could use it to power everything from electric toothbrushes to aircraft carriers to automobiles to homes to to space flight one of the main areas of interest actually in terms of potential use that we've been approached by many (07:53) people is a possibility of having a very cheap energy source for desalinization which is very hard to make antimatter in large quantities and keep it bottled up but it has been it has been done protons antiprotons have been generated in accelerator experiments and then captured and kept contained for some periods of time so that's that's an area that i know the air forces has been interested in and pursues research on uh you know sometime before this millennium is out i'm certain that probably that will

(08:40) come to use if there aren't other alternatives that that are simpler i routinely make presentations and briefings to various branches of the government i've been taking out on aircraft carriers by the navy and shown what it is that we have to replace if we have new energy sources to provide new fuel methods of course nasa is funding some of these breakthrough propulsion physics ideas the air force various labs in the air force are pursuing um fundamental studies on these kind of exotic ideas so so there's a lot of uh government
(09:23) interest it's getting to the point where modern theoretical physicists are loathed to rule out any possibility i mean now we're talking about parallel universes and membranes of many dimensions and i mean the physics is just getting as wild as it can possibly be and sandwiched in among all those alternative possibilities is the possibility that some of these concepts might actually play a role in in space flight application where civilizations ourselves in the future or maybe more advanced et civilizations are present could (10:06) perhaps travel long distances in relatively short times of course we see claims and not just among the public but among military pilots and good observers typically in the military that there appear to be something like craft flying around with anomalous behavior on the other hand in terms of some of the characteristics that seem to be attributed to them and giving the kind of physics and direction physics is going you can't rule out that maybe maybe some are are some kind of craft or probes maybe even more likely probes and craft
(10:59) from some far away civilization of course one of the intriguing things as we start looking into the possibility of reducing inertia and so on and then you see these supposed sightings in the sky which turn on the dime right angle turn and so on and the reason we used to reject those out of hand was that it appeared to be there was no inertia there and until recently that was sort of an inconceivable idea to a physicist so i think physicist is probably pretty justified and saying you know that doesn't sound like anything
(11:42) you can imagine to be craft could imagine it to be some form of plasma phenomena or whatever but but not a craft and so now as we get this new evidence that well okay maybe inertia can be modified then it does make you sort of sit back and take a second thought about it but when you consider that our electromagnetic technologies you know century old basically and then realize that you could have advanced civilizations out there that are millennia beyond us there really is no way of saying whether they might have some other way of making
(12:22) contact or find other ways like wormholes or just sending probes here or whatever could be well beyond our imagination the case that norad has on correlated targets that they can't account for and from time to time satellites see things called fast walkers which seem to be energetic signatures moving faster than can be accounted for by known planes for example people of some credibility and credentialing are willing to come forth and say despite the giggle factor for this area we think there's something there that
(13:09) should be taken more seriously well it's another mark that um kind of an idea whose time has come to take it seriously this should not be an area considered taboo by modern scientists here you have a guy who shows up before congressional committees doing whistleblowing activities and under circumstances where a lot of people if they could find holes in his credibility we've been more than glad to try to destroy his stories and his credibility and they didn't and so then you suddenly have a photo like that coming forward and saying that (13:50) he has evidence from his own experience that there was crash retrievals and technologies that he personally was involved in distributing out why would a guy with that kind of background make it up had a chance to ask him about it once and he said well the way it came out in the book is not exactly the way it was but it's really that we waited until there were developments in regular american industry and then we would solve stuff that might accelerate those developments that isn't that the developments got started on the (14:29) basis of what we had because we didn't want anybody to know we had it you can't probably dismiss it out of hand because it's hard to come up with the reason why he would have just made it up because he's a very sort of patriotic kind of guy so yeah that is really this shows this shows the cutaway you can see the uh the four ejection seats actually there there are two facing us but there are also two that are sort of facing away from us on the other side of that central column you can see the uh the oxygen tanks down
(15:12) here in the corner that that actually go all the way around the inside of the skirt

(00:04) [Music] [Applause] [Music] [Applause] thank you very much good evening tonight we are investigating the real x-files if indeed the truth is out there we may well have found some of it on the show tonight an internationally famous french psychic who says he moves objects only with the power of his mind and you'll see what happens when we put him to the test we travel to one of the most haunted locations in the world and is it possible to dream the future at a london research center we monitor the dreams of a man who says he can (01:03) and then discover if they come true first though some people say that if there really are captured ufos the authorities couldn't keep it a secret somehow word would get out well maybe that's what we're about to see information that's leaked out area 51 is the most secret military base in the world many people have seen strange lights performing maneuvers above it and recently president clinton placed a huge exclusion zone around it so it's now impossible to view the base what are the dark secrets that lie
(01:35) inside area 51 the american government denies that this place even exists but this russian satellite photo tells a different story showing huge hangars and an enormous runway the place is area 51 in the nevada desert it was built in the 1950s to test top secret aircraft the stealth fighter was developed here securities tight inside and outside the base american scientist robert lazar claimed he worked in the highest security section called s4 the security was unbelievably oppressive there was a security guard everywhere
(02:19) following you all the time you there was never any free discussion allowed which is the basis of science recently lazar caused a sensation when he revealed that he'd been ordered to investigate the propulsion systems of captured alien spacecraft my work involved the back engineering of an extraterrestrial craft specifically the propulsion and power source the ufos are very typical as far as a typical ufo is it's two inverted dishes two inverted pie plates if you wish and with a hump on the top metallic looking no wings no fins
(02:54) no visible propulsion stock source inside they're very sparse if you come in the main entryway you'll see three seats the central reactor and wave guide that goes to the ceiling the three gravity amplifier surrounding it and you'll really see just about nothing else the authorities immediately denied his claims and now he says they've tried to erase his identity from all official records george knapp is a well-respected investigative reporter with klas tv he broke the story including the claim that lazar worked at los alamos in new (03:30) mexico where the atomic bomb was developed the lab denied any knowledge of his existence denied that he'd ever worked there we came back with a phone book from the lab that shows bob's name in it that he he was in fact there they still denied any knowledge that he had ever worked there i asked bob if he'd be willing to take a polygraph test and he didn't hesitate the polygraph examiner after conducting a series of four different tests concluded that bob is telling the truth about what he saw out there about (03:56) working at the base about seeing the flying saucers about working on anti-gravity propulsion systems telling the truth i had a former employee quiz him for a period of two hours about simple things not where the flying saucers stored but uh where's the cafeteria how do you pay for your meal what's it look like inside those sorts of things and that employee is convinced that bob really was out there were you threatened i was threatened and my wife's life was threatened also and why do you think that those threats
(04:22) were not carried out probably because that i went public in the recent blockbusting film independence day the plot features area 51 and a recovered alien spacecraft as you can see from the repairs we've been trying to put her back together since the late 1960s it's long been suggested that alien spacecraft have crashed on earth it's only happened in the last few days the most famous incident happened allegedly near roswell air base new mexico in 1947 eyewitnesses claimed they saw wreckage of a flying saucer (04:56) and injured extraterrestrials whatever happened at roswell there's no dispute about the many official documents which indicate the american government knows more than it's letting on about ufos how do these craft get into the hands of the u.s government i really have no idea how the crap got there i don't believe there were crashes because the craft weren't damaged and that's about all that i can say how do you know though that these were extraterrestrial craft first of all we were back engineering (05:26) the technology which means we're taking a finished product and trying to figure out how it was originally designed and developed second of all the technology that we're dealing with doesn't exist did you ever see them fly they were frequently tested they were tested normally on wednesday nights when the traffic was lowest in the area i saw one test close up and several tests at a distance of about 15 miles certainly the american military have been testing saucer shaped craft this top secret research film from the (06:01) 60s has just come to light but even after nearly 30 years the security services still refused to talk about it more recently work on so-called black projects has been carried out at area 51 including the stealth aircraft and strategic defense initiative weapons to be used in outer space but were they only developed to protect america against earthly enemies or was there a more urgent purpose behind president reagan's star wars project perhaps we need some outside universal threat to make us recognize this common bound

(06:39) i occasionally think how quickly our differences worldwide would vanish if we were facing an alien threat from outside this world this unique nasa transmission shows an object following the space shuttle [Music] the picture flares in what could be a magnetic pulse next is this a missile or laser weapon being fired from earth at the ufo the ufo changes direction and accelerates away at what experts believe to be a speed of up to nine hundred thousand miles an hour could it be the ufo was taking evasive action from star wars missiles fired a
(07:20) bit from the earth many believe this is only the latest evidence of a continuing series of cover-ups of the real truth about ufos

(00:00) the following show has been sponsored by tridot productions good evening and welcome to ufo line i'm gene kaufman with rivalzar bob are you set for the show oh am of course in this instance popular demand just needs but john demanded that we help him become more popular at the uh end of last week's show we touched on the subject of god and the switchboard lit up and so john decided to come back so we could uh break god over the coals this week now bob lazar and john leary and i don't agree on many things in fact if we only
(00:58) talked about things on which we agreed it would be an hour of dead air but i think the one thing in which we all do agree is the conflict between mythology and theology and probably the lack of the stereotypical omniscient omnipresent omnipotent god so i think to start this off maybe we should tell people what our religious backgrounds are from our youth genre i was brought up in uh christian science and uh went to sunday school for many many years up until probably i was 11 or 12.
(01:29) okay and obviously that's where john got all the scientific uh knowledge was from the christian scientist john is it true that the christian scientists go up and use the stanford linear accelerator and rather than turn the power on they actually pray that god will accelerate the particles into the target the only thing that was suspicious to me is that my grandmother was in christian science and uh my mom although she made us go to sunday school she would take us to the doctor and we were told you know that we weren't
(01:56) supposed to tell grandma what was going on right well you were really raised yeah i was christian really no i'm gonna get wait wait wait my sister teaches in uh christian science sunday school down in uh in the valley oh santa yeah chandelier no kidding absolutely by the way if anyone would like to give us a call and speak with us about god or if god himself would like to call us our number is on your cell phone 731-1230 how about your religious background no bob's lying on the air go on now tell us how you were raised (02:44) i was i guess i was raised jewish i'm not exactly sure i was forced to go through a bar mitzvah by the way i'm offering a five hundred dollar reward for any videotape of bob at his pharmacy and uh i was raised to luther and i went to a parochial elementary school and was confirmed in the lutheran faith i had to to memorize an entire book called the lutheran catechism and actually spit it back out on command and um yes i could probably say the scientific statement of being wait how can there possibly be a caller (03:13) let's go ahead and take it through go ahead you're on ufo line bring me how can there possibly be a car or don't you think anyone's listening all right you know we've all read from time to time and i've read it too if the people really knew about all the ufos and other species other beings and other planets it would burst that bubble and our theology would be ruined forever well that's ridiculous because the same ultimate god divine intelligence whatever you want to call it that created us would also have to have (03:48) created them so i don't see any um conflict there whatsoever it wouldn't burst my bubble about what i believe about god just to find out if there's other species on other planets so that they can whiz through the time warps and in sauces or whatever what has that got to do with god anyway what god do you believe in i'm going to say a divine intelligence that created uh emanating from this divine creator eliminated everything that we can possibly see and he operates through us i guess and where did you first learn about that

(04:23) where did i first learn about it uh i guess as a child but i wasn't uh i'm not steeped into any particular religion because those are man-made you know my instinct tells me that something had to have made me the marvelous teacher where i can think things out and rationalize and create uh write come up with ideas that were never there before that that was not talked to me i just if they just happened and where did this guide come from maybe it's not for us to know ah maybe we're not if we knew it then we'd beat god
(05:01) wouldn't we see the problem is that that uh most of us were taught about religion in our youth and obviously established religion has been going on for millennia prior to us being born and i think a a very good question is where the original concept of a god came from now whether you believe that god is an interdimensional spiritual god or you believe that there were actually beings from elsewhere who were misconstrued as gods in ancient times a good question is uh where the original concept of a god came from with caves
(05:35) then what made them think there was a god if there was no establishment right yeah he's going to bring up something like not aborigines the people who were brought up in the bush they have no traditional religion but yet they they know that there's something more than them and they find something to worship it's an instinct in man that we know there's something beyond us and and these people weren't taught anything about religion and yet they just know it it's just not kind of in our dna
(06:02) i think and we just call it by different names different religions because they want everybody to believe the way they do but yet innately in our bones we know there's something more than enough it's just foreign i don't think you can draw that conclusion at all because you were surrounded by religions from the day you were born it's uh it's almost an unanswerable question whether the possibility of a supreme being someone from elsewhere that people would worship that would be superior in all ways is a natural solder
(06:34) as you say conveyed in dna i i don't think we can say that because you know in our nature but are you going along with the zechariah is that what you're promoting well it doesn't really matter what idea you go along with it it seems that there was some sort of catalyst the question is was there a catalyst that made people think there was a gods of sorts uh historically or is it a natural thought did when when cavemen were were when they heard thunder and saw lightning in the sky would they presume that that was a god a
(07:08) superior beating or would they think for instance it was a monster no they would think it's something stronger and bigger than them which for people who are not they weren't civilized yet or educated that would equate with something bigger than me the thunder like must be something awful it doesn't matter to them in their primitive minds that was the equivalent of our speaking of goddess power or creator it doesn't matter he's more primitive but yes it's always been in my opinion and but i'll listen and see what other (07:40) premises you come up with here okay well thanks for your opinions okay next follower go ahead you're on ufo lines hello yes yeah just got a couple things to say and that is uh recently been called by the lord and uh on the phone or no no not loud yeah hello no i'm just gonna like give a brief flexibility but uh very brief very brief well you know anyway um maybe i'll just get to the media matter anything that has to do with ufos and stuff has to do with the devil and if you if you haven't found that out

(08:22) then you haven't found the truth of the matter and if you dig deep you'll find the truth because god is the entire light and satan used to be able to hold the light but he got removed from his position and how do you know that uh god has doesn't enlighten you with this knowledge of of which is out there and a bunch of people are telling what's going on in government and in the world and it all boils down to good and evil and if you'll accept it you'll go out and search for information which will lead
(08:57) to your belief in what i'm i'm now believing but i don't think they could ever happen there well i don't think so either because satan satan's the great deceiver he's obviously deceiving you so good luck well thanks for the call and uh i can only say ain't that nothing next call go ahead you're on ufo yeah two questions sir i don't know which one i dare ask before you ask first because i probably won't get there after second but something that amazes me i can't even call the ark bell show but (09:31) every night i i listen uh this program in one year and yours tonight and uh most other nights see whatever else is available for talk and nobody listens to us now luckily well have you ever heard his show you probably understand no on the contrary uh at least his first half hour 45 minutes he's in news house he watches a lot more of the regular press and then i care too but by doing that he gives the best you know helpful recap john you know art belt why don't you give us your opinion on that well i think our
(10:15) puts on a pretty good show now i haven't heard it in a long time because i used to be on it like starting at 11 but i couldn't get any more because it came over another channel or station that that i couldn't get but uh i enjoyed being on this program he's on right now i got him in my other ear really oh yeah well who cares [Laughter] go ahead you're on your life hello yes go ahead uh are you talking about belief in god well we're just talking about the connection between ufology and theology but yeah
(10:47) i guess it basically goes to believe in god well i believe in the ancient egyptians there's that the god is the all-in-all well that explains it well the olympian it's an essence of being is the only essential being that is and everything else that resides within it and then besides within everything because everything is in its mind so you you don't believe in god as the stereotypical god who was flying around talking to people out of the sky in the old testament then no no i think what they call the gods
(11:20) were people that they imagined as a superior being but in addition to so so you do believe that if there is an omniscient omnipresent omnipotent god he's certainly not anyone who is interacting with the uh with the jews and the the well pre-christians back in the old testament well the all-american being everybody and they can i think people are limited by their own interpretation of it but uh the uh the light and the darkness that jesus speaks of his prominence and he's the first manifestation or the first concentrated form and then (12:02) it manifests as wrath about the actual manifestation of physical existence so now do you do the um egyptologists also believe this about ammon and ron i don't know what they believe and i could care less so you're talking about i'm on the same like the end of two dunk i'm on the i'm he says in the bible that all things will be put under the father and now that then the son will also be put under the father that god may be all enough and it's actually the basic belief of christianity too it comes from (12:44) the old belief in egypt so do you believe in in heaven and hell that after you die you go to heaven or hell well i'm not too concerned with that i think that's a mental state you put yourself into i think you create your own heaven and hell well even after your dad i believe you're reincarnated or you obtain a spirituality to where you understand what the spirit is about okay well thanks a lot for your input sure let's go ahead and take another call go ahead you're on ufo line hi gene yeah this is bill
(13:19) how are you hi joe great hey uh i just want to i have a few comments okay i wanted to talk talk talk in different terms but since we're talking about god okay well just for bob's information you know god was in town in october visiting a company that's taken over the test site and his name is keller and we got all part and he didn't even call us right that's what i was going to ask you to call bob however he was visiting out here uh talking to some hungarian physicists that are part of this new organization (13:58) that'll be uh you know over uh was in town talking to some hungarian

physicists that's right okay okay were these guys you worked with previously they they apparently are yeah where did you hear this from uh i'd rather not say okay it wasn't there right no it wasn't john lear it's straight though uh one of the other things bob you know your project code names you identified back in 89 and 92 to george map yeah project looking glass you know i heard this on a couple programs on the television (14:40) here in the past two weeks you know they used it uh in the context of going back in time i was wondering if uh you had any information on that this project looking glass no not really as far as i know they were just looking at using uh a gravity lensing effect to create a small time distortion and we're talking about something on a millisecond okay nothing uh as bold as someone attempting time travel or you know technically yeah i've got a couple more items here did any uh just that you viewed out the uh test site when you were there
(15:20) did they have a hexagon turret or did you notice any with a hexagon turret turret yeah well i'm calling the top the turret you know no no no though the subfloor which separated the you know first level where the gravity gravity amplifiers are as this no i'm talking about the top of the cross no no the round circular thing that i call it but everything was smooth everything was smooth no flat surfaces separating the bottom in the top about three foot section instead of it's coming to a point or two no too sharp edge no nothing like
(15:58) that okay when you're inside now did you get did you get a chance to feel the waveguide where you're in the waveguide that comes out of the reactor yeah what was it cold or hot it was cold okay how cold just i guess cooler than room temperature that's yeah i've made the same comments about the skin of the craft itself that's why i said it was it was metal because it felt cool but that was my yeah only observation it could have been some other exotic material but but you didn't try and stick your tongue to it
(16:29) right now yeah it wasn't that cold anyway yeah it's uh well it's insulated too one other thing uh the other item i got is uh you know your small grades that you got in your s4 software that test yourself it's not my sports author but yeah okay well you know whatever yeah uh i thought that possibly you know you you were instrumental in in that design weren't you in the design of the craft yeah in the addition of the the version of the aliens that were in there no no no testers self-obligated to put (17:03) those in there for some reason okay right they wanted it just to show a scale yeah i noticed they're putting out eight inch version of that uh little dude that was inside the s4 you know you're different yeah i heard that yeah in fact the president of tesla corporation emailed us this morning and told us that but we hadn't seen it in it i guess i hadn't really looked for it has anyone seen any local hobby shops i brought them all out of the california oh you out of the little alien model i brought them all yeah
(17:30) tester said have picked them up that that only the hobby stores are selling hobby shops no major change like wall martin toys or us thank you so much is it a pretty good model how do you guys it's not bad i've been uh they've been you know uh buying them well that's great yeah is that all you got for us though well i got i got another item uh the other point that i wanted to make uh you know you describe the disc is uh the disk drive as being capable of bending space time yeah okay and we all know that the space
(18:06) time has interfaced uh where the space is interfaced with time so therefore i i i wondered if space time and gravity are all interrelated i wondered if the operations personality you know during the time that you viewed liftoff uh did they uh did they have any kind of barricades or anything or uh indicate that you shouldn't stand too close well it was out on the on the edge of the dry lake bed there we go no one was outside yeah okay no one was outside at all i just everyone just lined up by the uh you know hanger door yeah i was just (18:44) just wondering you know about uh some memory loss and that type of thing if you were close to that distortion field no wait it wasn't close to it dropped that closer no hey you got a good you got a good man on there john laird you got any questions for john hey treat him nice okay i spent a short time with him but he's a he's okay guys all right all right thanks very much okay now do we have a go ahead you're on ufo line hello yes go ahead here we're talking about the existence of god well we were talking (19:19) about the yeah the collision of ufology and theology and its relationship to god yes well i was thinking in terms of i guess theology tries to prove god's existence through faith or revelation or authority and i i know that there are

philosophers and some theologians that try to demonstrate um the existence of god through the idea of reason and uh thomas aquinas with what they called the five ways in which he gave a argument for the existence of god one of the arguments was the idea of the unmoved mover argument (19:58) in other words that um since everything is in motion in the world there had to be a first mover which he claimed was god another one is the cosmological argument you know that that says that everything had a beginning and had an end you know comes into existence and goes out of existence so um since nothing can can't cause anything else um there must have been at least one necessary thing to cause everything else you know and then there's three other arguments but um i wanted to get in the idea of time of the idea of time which we have very (20:45) little of thanks do we have another caller okay go ahead you're on ufo line how are you doing good hey mr lazar yeah once again it's me the skeptic of klav you skeptic of klav yeah i wanted to uh point out some of the similarities that i've seen between uh ufos and holographic projections okay why don't you do that go ahead you're on ufo line hello [Laughter] john i noticed you brought the book the gods of eden by william bramley with you did you have any citations you were going to uh you know a couple of real interesting
(21:37) things uh you know the one quote that i like is he says uh you know and for those of you that don't know who william bromley was he wrote the gods of eden he says in his uh his outrageous theory was human beings appear to be a slave race breeding on an isolated planet in a small galaxy as such the human race was once a source of labor for an extraterrestrial civilization that remains a possession today to keep control over its possession and to maintain earth as something of a prison the other civilization has brought a
(22:11) never-ending conflict between human beings has promoted human spiritual decay and has erected on earth conditions of unremitting physical hardship this situation has existed for thousands of years and continues today and he goes on to say that one thing they had to do is create a god to keep control to keep people fearful that if they didn't do what they were supposed to do that there would be some kind of retribution what i'd like to do is uh kind of get an idea here with all three of us is what your current belief
(22:41) is i know you're raised as a christian scientist no i'm playing at you john it's highly unlikely that there is a god and okay i would say that in the stereotypical christian judeo omnipresent omniscient omnipotent sense that there is no god and if there is one i don't think anyone's seen any evidence of him in other words uh if there is a god i certainly don't think he was flying around parting seas and you know hiding behind burning bushes and things like that playing games with people in the old possum that was (23:19) somebody else so yeah whoever if if indeed all of that happened it certainly wouldn't someone who someone who instituted the big bang and i don't know where he was when he did that but if he did that i don't think he would be so petty that he would be down there nuking sodom and gomorrah bob and i had a discussion this afternoon that rather it's hard to understand why god would have allowed if he is who he's supposed to be why he would have allowed free will and allowed all of the human conflict to the (23:49) point where he'd have to punish people from being bad uh when uh because god works he could have programmed everyone to be good and never had any headaches whatsoever well he works in strange ways he certainly does right why would god superimpose the tornado belt on top of the bible bone right right and uh let's go ahead and take another talk go ahead you're on the ufo line yeah is it me again well only you can say okay very well i was disconnected was a skeptic of klav yes yeah i was gonna start talking about uh the (24:24) similarities you've seen a lot of the weirder sightings that you have and uh and holographic rejection okay first of all why is it that most of the clearer sightings of the actual crap usually appear in areas that are highly dust concentrated moisture concentrated or like ice crystal concentrated like a both breeze uh nevada mexico southern california well you can see what about everywhere you know swamp areas are you trying to talk about projecting a hologram yeah i'm just it seems funny though okay have you ever tried to project the (25:02) hologram of the laser well i can see even the minor lasers that we have even the minor lasers have you tried to project a hologram with a laser no i haven't because i don't oh but you can if you have material in the air that you can reflect without a heavy metal fog yeah okay i'm just saying i mean i mean a hologram is really obvious you know it's it's basically the color of the laser you know you can have an argon blue green or you know krypton laser or you know combination yeah but there's no full (25:39) color three dimension you know obvious three-dimensional image without scan lines on it it's uh i don't mean to shoot down your idea but and a lot of the sightings in remote areas i mean who would have all that equipment out there and shine something in the side just hoping that some hillbilly would drive by and see it it felt like there's nothing much of a return well let me go further into it anyways it's my it's my personal belief and since i have no proof to to give this and that's a personal

(26:06) belief but i've seen even some of the more minor hologram technology and it's pretty good and i'm sure that if somebody's investing millions and billions of dollars into this that i'm the holograph can be really good and funny enough a lot of them they seem to perform amazing feats with no respect to inertia gravity they disappear and reappear at will they don't show up on radar and usually a lot of the photographs and and video camera footage of this they turn out to be kind of almost translucent looking oh i
(26:40) agree that most of the photographs and sightings are you know absolute funk also i just don't think that they're uh that holograms would it would explain a lot of that well i called you before and i talked about okay some of the i think that this is my personal theory some of the crafts are being driven because our technology is that far advanced now that we can produce some pretty amazing aircraft some of them are holographic technology and others are hoaxes and i think if you tie it all together i don't get me wrong it's not that i
(27:13) don't believe that that there is an intelligent life in space that would be ludicrous but i think what we're seeing in the media and what's being projected and it's funny how you should talk about the single the connection between god and ufology because what we're seeing today is is like a diversion it's a scam i don't if they have all this technology why aren't they just coming down and saying hi what can we do to stop them if they can if they can manipulate time and space they're not necessarily (27:42) motivated to do that the earthquakes seem to have this sense of self-importance that we feel they would do that that would only be if they had just arrived and they wanted to say hi we're here and we're your space brothers uh you know there's a lot of information that indicates they've been coming here from millennia and they are no more obligated to uh to drop in and say hi then you are on a herd of cattle so also uh you know bob lazar worked in a back engineering program it has four in central nevada on et desk
(28:12) and uh which used gravity proposition and they distort space-time and actually do cloud use that they're invisible on radar well actually the gravity fields and i feel odd saying this would bob here but i guess he's not motivated to say it but anyway they just sort the space time around the craft and they do bend light and so a lot of things that you're claiming could be handled by holograms are true but there are other explanations and one of course is that gravity does all those things that you're attributing to a hologram
(28:46) well i could go around all night about you know the advances of our technologies but i wanted to get to one more point and that is the connection with god and ufos and to me what i see is a very strong connection between eastern philosophy and new age theology which we seem to be directed into with everything from dolphin rhetoric to ufos into into crossing between eastern theology um and kind of pseudo-christian science all right well uh thanks for the call go ahead you're on your phone hey you got a good show going there tonight guys
(29:31) thanks uh mr lazar a couple of months ago they showed some wreckage on tv of explosive spacecraft and sort of like a six-hand print they cleaned the money control of the disk did you see anything like that on the disk you've seen a handprint i think he's talking about the access top we filmed some of the hardware there was i just read about it on the internet no i didn't see anything with a hand print um did they punch in numbers 11 the slightest idea i'd like to know that myself okay and uh mr mayor what do you think (30:08) the spirit world is the spirit world yeah you got me okay thanks it's the liquor store i think okay go ahead you're on your way oh yes go ahead what is time it's uh 11 35. next color okay so uh okay so uh anyway john were there any repercussions about your groom white groom lakes report last week well indeed there were gene as a matter of fact a certain colonel screamed and i quote find out where that little son of a gun is getting his information sorry colonel but you'd be surprised how information slips through date 700.

(30:56) and speaking of gate 700 here's a tip for all you test site workers who that who are asked to remove your watches jewelry and necklaces and other metallic objects before entering certain black areas it's not the jewelry or valuables they're worried about it's your watch if they let you take your watch to work you uh you'd wonder why it's always wrong by two or three hours when you get home and hey here's a quick physics lesson for all you physicists uh that don't get to go up to groom lake
(31:24) what is the smallest component that makes up all matter it's an smu or singular mass unit negative or positive charge arms can bind to an smu to make up and down quartz for instance the up port is made of an smu and two positive charge ons and a downport is made up of an smu and one negative charge on the up and down ports make up the neutrons protons electrons and neutrinos and what about the rest of the standard model with their charm and strange and top and bottoms that's all bs and the answer to the
(31:55) age-old question what is the speed of time the answer is the speed of time is inversely proportional to the amplitude of the gravity flux and what is the theory of cognitive dissonance cognitive dissonance is the mind involuntarily rejects information not in line with previous thoughts and or absence and to wrap it up here are some of the little grey alien jokes going around the cafeteria groom lake last week what do they call an ugly female on vader reticulate who give up a greyhound what type of mustard do the greys use on (32:30) their hot dogs oh i couldn't get that one grey coupon what are the two most common surnames on zeta reticuli primer in theater yeah and finally what's the first thing that goes through your mind when you need a grave [Music] a breeding plant and that's the groom lake area 51 report for december 29th 1995.
(32:59) john lear bob lazar and gene hubb wish you a very happy new year to all of you at debt one bob i'd like to introduce a new term into the english language everyone's familiar with homonyms words that sound the same but are spelled differently and synonyms words that mean the same thing the new term is a lyrium a lyrium is something that sounds true but isn't so just go ahead and write that in your webster's dictionary where it's along you know those jokes reminded me that john told me a story about him having a
(33:26) dream last week that he died and he went to heaven and when he went to heaven saint peter met him at the pearly gate and we're showing him around heaven as they were walking around they ran into george adamski and john said george i've been wanting to die i literally have been dying to talk to you uh what were those actual photos of uh et crafts that you took or was that some sort of uh focus set up for dancing you said no you know we made all those up there were no actual ep crafts and john was disappointed and (33:52) just kept on walking and lo and behold he ran into dr alan heineck and he said dr heineck uh what was all the hidden information in project blue book and and didn't you really have actual alien information to convey to steven spielberg when you were a consultant on close encounters with the third kind and he said no really there was nothing to any of that i just took it to make the money as a consultant and i never saw any evidence of the et visitation whatsoever so saint peter kept showing john around heaven and finally they ran into god and (34:20) john ran up and said god please tell me certainly those things can't be the only life in the universe and god said no really john they are all of the rest of that is just everyone's imagination god's children are totally confined to the earth and disappointed john walked blade shaking his head and he said man this conspiracy is bigger than i thought if you want to give us a call dial 731-1230 or hit star 1230 on your cell phone let's go ahead and take another call go ahead you're on ufo line
(34:49) yeah why'd you cut me out who are you and the one you cut off don't you forget already for any conflict between you your apology and the concept god what is the basis is it your purpose to ridicule the belief system yes yes okay thanks for a call so uh what do you guys think the the you know people and again i was raised a christian and and had big questions and uh it seems like with all the holes in the god story people seem to think that god uh in a stereotypical form uh test people's faith that a baby is born with brain cancer (35:31) and dies a slow death which drains the family emotionally financially and then at the end of all this they can still have it literally strengthens their faith in faith in god because they were tested it seems like that is an unreasonable scenario since if god made everyone there was no reason to make uh everyone uh worthy of being tested so anyway let's go ahead and take another time which is probably seen guy which brings up the point that uh if he didn't exist it would have been necessary to invent him right (36:02) right go ahead john you're a pro i didn't invent him but it's a great show tonight and uh i've called in before um i appreciate what you guys are doing i think it's great that there's a format on the radio for this and it's long overdue and tonight i wanted to ask mr lazar i knew he hates talking on the radio and he hates being on the show but he's he's a voice in the darkness that's great go ahead um what i'm wondering is in the disc that you worked in was did you see any (36:34) evidence of at all any type of air filtration device or anything to purify the area no nothing at all i i didn't see anything that looked like an air vent uh a screen anything that would indicate that there was any airflow anywhere in fact a lot of people who have heard you know bob's story and and they think that since they were able to fly these discs around the dry lake fed uh six or seven years ago that certainly they must be taken to the moon and mars and elsewhere and uh other than the propulsion which (37:03) bob worked on there are a lot of other problems in navigation and the life support systems and then the things you're you're speaking about now i i kind of figured that and the more i hear about these things the more i'm convinced that all they really are is just minor shuttlecraft to go from a big ship down to here they may they may be because i i don't see how you could possibly traverse the the distance of the galaxies in such an uncomfortable manner i mean i don't i don't care if you're a monkey or a human (37:30) or if you're i mean if you could cover great distances in a short time uh you don't need bathrooms yeah what if you get stuck somewhere in between well then there's a big problem okay probably have like an intergalactic triple-a right bob allegedly those uh 59 foot crafts were capable of interstellar travel though that would be allegation anyway yeah i mean bob read that he didn't take one for a spin so the ones that he worked on had they been replicated with or the one you were in uh when you worked in there were you in (38:05) there on your own or was there a tower would you know i remember i didn't i wasn't even allowed to go to the bathroom on my own i kind of figured that um the other people that you were working with were you all working on the exact same thing no no no it worked on the buddy system there were just two people at a time worked on a specific thing the guy i worked with his name was barry and we worked on one particular part another group worked on another particular part so on and so forth and the groups did

(38:31) not have communication between them and you were kept segregated absolutely yeah and i imagine that's true with everything it's bad science really it sounds pathetic yeah well it's the military taking control over everything it sounds like more than more than the military well thanks for uh the opportunity to speak on the radio again thanks for the call tonight we're speaking about the conflict between cf our guest is john lear and bob lazar is with us and i'm gene huff and if you want to give us a
(39:00) call dial 731-1230 or hit star 12 30 on your cell phone let's go ahead and take another call go ahead john ufo line yeah i wanted to ask about what you were talking about a few minutes ago what's uh your best guess of how these crafts were coming from a very long way five light years 50 light years or a million light years no guess whatsoever well it's i don't know i don't know i mean i've heard things but yeah i i don't know i don't know if they're true well he reads in briefing reports that there's (39:33) gene interprets but this uh is holding out on you that uh these crafts came from zeta reticuli so what what is that around 40 light years somewhere 38 something like that and uh but i mean i have no proof that that's the case right and bob also uh did not know or was not told they're showing what the parameters were of a jump quote unquote you know if you just sort of space time to a destination for instance uh i don't think bob you weren't led to believe that they could have a giant jump right over a (40:06) span of 20 or 40 light years did you say it was a successive no i said i didn't think it would be a an unbelievable distance like that just because of the energy density required to distort you know space to that degree so i think it would have to be a relatively localized phenomena that was artificially created and repeated at a high repetition rate and of course the requisite to that would be the fact that gravity propagates instantaneously because if you were at the mercy of the speed of light there are electromagnetic waves

than you could try there at the speed of light so obviously for all that to be true gravity must propagate instantaneously right well that's an arguable point but but for that to work it must be that way not necessarily because it destroys time also right okay exactly so let's take 40 light years how long would the round trip take if i was i don't know see we don't know we've tried to figure that out before because (41:04) we don't know what the recycle time is i thought it was 12 milliseconds you thought it was 12 million i think we were trying to come up with uh if it was 12 seconds and if each jump was three a use it would be 60 hours that's what we've had what about the life expectancy of the visitors that i have no knowledge of that at all it depends where they land if they land down south probably about 10 minutes okay hey thanks for the call oh man so anyway do you think these people are going to want to kill us for talking
(41:41) about that we haven't got uh really much god talking all right uh of course there's nothing in it for us i mean nothing would be better than if all of the god stories were true and uh so you don't believe it no no in fact as you know i don't i not only do i not believe the god stories i don't believe there's any afterlife not that there's anything in him for me if there isn't i hope there is i this is an instance where i hope i'm wrong nothing would make me happier so you uh i don't think there's any (42:08) devil or anything like that like that uh first caller that uh no no that i mean the devil is the lamest of all i mean i can at least be someone hoping for a god but they blame everything on god they play if something good happens they give god credit and if something bad happens they say he was testing their faith i really don't even know why there was a need for a devil they blame everything on gun anyway let's go ahead and take another call go ahead you're on ufo line yeah i got a question for bob what don't (42:36) you have a question for john hey bob it's jeff uh just saying hi for my mother and jay shampoo um if the spaceships go up into space do they have gravity in the space you know do they need seatbelts or what if the spaceships go up into inside the crab yeah inside the craft totally that that i don't know you know i don't know if there's a localized gravity field that's you know leaking from the reactor or how that's uh so you think they can control gravity inside and outside the ship i really have never (43:17) put any thought into that at all i spent you know i was just uh spent my time thinking about how the grass has propelled i really never thought about that didn't you say that inside the craft that uh that people would be the occupants would be in total equilibrium therefore they would need to there wouldn't be gravity there wouldn't be g's in the turns as perceived by an observer yeah but would there be a localized gravity field that that i don't know i never even really spent much time thinking about (43:44) that but there's no seat belt so i guess it was an interesting question then some degree yeah all right well nice talking bob i'll talk to you all thank you for the call okay so uh anyway bob you just got a letter today from zachariah sitchin uh asking uh uh if you'd like to ask him any questions about any of his books i know when we met him a few weeks ago you had gotten a copy of the god was it the gods uh god just eaten no that's william bramley it was jealousy this is revisited yeah john didn't like (44:17) it sorry we went to outer space or exactly uh so have you read much of it and if so what do you think uh i haven't finished it yet so zechariah is really but i do i do find the book really interesting it's i do lean towards believing zachariasis mission has been raped over the coals on the internet lately by the typical guys of course no one is beyond attack i mean as people attack einstein they attack carl sagan there's no nothing nothing is sacred on the internet's end but i think the one one point that people miss is that (44:57) people are satisfied this you know a lot of people fall back and say well i just don't know and that's an easy out i mean sitchin has correlated a lot of historic worldwide information and i look at all of his books as saying well what if why why did civilizations have to evolve to a certain point and then destroy themselves and we find the residual evidence lying around and we just say well i don't know uh i think a lot of guys aren't willing to admit that they've got some preconceived notions they (45:27) a scholar signed on recently a guy who is an authority on mesopotamian writings and babylonian writings and things of that sort and he started off by pretty much saying that people that believed in ufos were really kind of nuts and there was no documented information at all about ufos so that was a starting point and uh i think people like that need to open their minds up a little bit we're not we're not demanding that god doesn't exist we're just saying it doesn't make sense and it's certainly curious (45:57) as stated why don't the switchboard is what up let's go ahead and take some more calls let's go ahead you're on the ufo line yeah do you guys believe in the unified field if i feel theory maybe yeah do you guys believe that there is a unified field bob why don't you take that one you mean do it are you are you talking about the unified field theory yes that all the for all the that uh are interconnected in some way yes yes then you believe in god well if i'm going to call that god that's okay well all right take a look

(46:33) how much energy do you think it takes to run your brain i really don't know very small amount have all the energy in the universe if you're if you're capable of walking and talking and thinking then how can you say that all the energy in the universe as a unified field doesn't can't have those same properties only at a far greater length just from a physical standpoint god must exist why because because you exist because the minor amount of energy that makes up your body that makes you run is capable of all those things the (47:07) massive incredible infinite amount of energy the unified field will not be capable of those things it's not the energy it's not the energy itself that's capable of that i mean you can look at the uh you know look at us under cloud a typical thunderstorm as you know the power of several exploding hydrogen bonds and there's a huge amount of energy it doesn't display any intelligence the level of energy has nothing to do with that not the universe itself doesn't work there's a bunch of in what way you know
(47:35) there's you know billions upon billions of stars with your fusion reactors burning end on end you know throwing matter out in the universe stars exploding all that there's energy all over the place in all different forms and every way you can imagine it's not displaying any intelligence to me it's following physical law and doing things that that you know that occur naturally yeah there is some people make an argument that it's fate or some sort of destiny as opposed to life being a series of chemical (48:02) reactions and i don't think anybody's got any actual proof either way it still goes back to the same thing as what you know where did the concept of god come from uh what was the catalyst were there people flying it down out of the sky and people said well obviously that's a god they're smarter than me they can fly they can do everything i can't do take evolution for example i mean evolution is taught as fact and yet it doesn't even follow it doesn't even follow a scientific law doesn't mean follow scientific method
(48:32) it doesn't follow scientific matters absolutely not first of all nobody was there to observe it we haven't observed it happening how we've observed the adaptation but we've never observed first of all first of all it's a theory of evolution it's the proper term for it and it doesn't have to be observed but since there's a there's a missing link in in all of the kingdoms which is stated in the bible but not stated in evolution they use archaeopteryx like that's a missing link but it's not
(49:00) there's missing there's missing transitional functions we're going to talk about missing links in the bible this will be a three and a half hour show and there was the worst reference you could possibly yeah i i think you have illusion resources i may have been an external catalyst somewhere along the way uh whether that was god or not is questionable but uh but the kingdoms are created individually in the bible all right well actually you have to examine where the stories in the bible came from and if you
(49:28) if you do take a look and do some research on that you'll find that a lot of the bible stories in the old testament are actually a synopsis of much older stories uh from older languages from sumerian acadian uh that's certainly babylonian and then they made it to hebrew and and german and into english so by the time you or i i mean i don't know you could be a scholar or something but by the time the typical american read a bible it had been distorted greatly from hebrew and a lot of those the story of the flood is much older (49:58) than is attributed to the writing of the old testament so a good question that of course is a question of faith though because you've got to the only way you know you either believe that it hasn't been changed or you can't i mean that's the whole basis one of the things i agree with zachariah is if you don't read hebrew you haven't read the bible this is true and i do understand your point on that but the concept of the contest and what you're supposed to receive from it are the same if you have faith in it and (50:29) like i said that's that's always going to be debatable because it's a matter of faith well when you require faith it's just like bringing another dimension into an argument really there is no right you can't you can't get into all right well where'd you watch your input okay go ahead uh next caller you're on ufo and if you'd like to give us a call 731 one two three or hit start 12 30 on your cell phone go ahead carla yeah yes go ahead oh hi i didn't know that was me uh i

(50:53) a post script and insane and it's rational the suggestion kind of is that the reason i or anyone would believe in god is we were just kind of taught it as a child you know or we read it somewhere whatever and yet about eight minutes ago you an adult not a child said you mean towards believing zechariah because you read it in this book and it's based on like sumerian tablets which were also written by men would you explain to me what the difference is between my hearing about something as a child and believing it
(51:24) and you as an adult reading something and leaning towards you going back to where the concept of god came from what sessions information says that there were beings coming from elsewhere and this is where the concept of the god came from he says why do you believe one more than the other one as facts are reliable like i said one has taxed about what is neither one of them real i'm surprised in their life say you lean towards deleting something and you're an adult and yet you're putting down someone because they don't (51:55) need something what exactly did you say that you were leaning towards believing that you said it you said all right and they were based on old sumerian tablets well those were people who made those deaths near human beings that made those tablets and their human beings wrote the bible that is true right and and that's why i'm seeing the bible doesn't follow any logical progression whatsoever in the sumerian writing and the siberian writings have some scientifically verifiable information also so you have to examine where the (52:30) stories in the bible came from you're you're attracted to the bible go ahead you're on uso life yeah i got a quick question for john lear yeah um back in 1989 when you were the state the mufon state director you and i and another individual were out in the hills out near blue diamond you had us looking for a secret doorway out in the hills well this doesn't surprise me do you remember that john yeah i'm trying to remember the guy's name gas money for that no i was just wondering john has thought that
(53:09) maybe we had the wrong area that he was going to continue and of course the only real one is in your toilet well john at the time you said you had believed and and you thought you might try to look around for that and i never heard if you ever found that no we only went out that once or twice and we never bought it okay thanks a lot okay well we're uh kind of running out of time here we're gonna wrap up we need to take a couple more calls yeah we can go ahead there you go go ahead you're on ufo lines
(53:51) am i on yes okay i just i have to call back because the previous two callers really irked me i've had classes in the history of science magic witchcraft and religion and these people need to take some serious anthropology courses and if um if university of las vegas offers them these people need to sign up and they need to listen i need to learn their history what are you thinking about specifically the origin of the bible the origin of the bible most definitely came from other religions if you look at other
(54:21) religions absolutely a lot of the people i find that are what i call bible pounders really know nothing about the origin of them they really don't they they're pre-programmed into what other people want them to believe right and they're guilted into it also it's difficult to keep questioning the bible in fact when we met zechariah sitchin we asked him how he got involved in in trying to find out where the old testament stories came from and he said he was he had uh actually found what was it he (54:48) oh he had they were reading genesis 6 and and uh he had found what he thought was a mistake when they came to the word nephilim which meant god's plural and uh he stood up and told the teacher that he had found that and uh what did the teacher and that was when he was 10 years old and that's what started his uh his quest for trying to find out what was really going on that's that's how you find the truth you must ask questions and that's why we need people like you guys on the radio a lot of these are very good people you (55:20) know attorneys doctors all people from all walks of life leave it up to the church feeling that certainly they're being given a fair shake from the church and and of course that's another story also that's true too in closing i just wanted to say briefly that if you look at the world's religions though you will find a common denominator in many stories and in in many beings that are sort of half god half men beings there's vishnu muhammad jesus i mean you could there's probably 20 or 30 of these (55:49) different people right my personal opinion is these were probably plants and that's all i have to say you also we're out of time here on ufo line please here's a call back next week now if we've offended anyone we apologize we um if if there is a god and if we have offended him i'd like him to go ahead and take this opportunity to strike john laird [Music] john the proceeding show has been sponsored by tridot productions university

Transcript:
(00:03) [Music] good evening and welcome to ufo line i'm gene huff here with bob ozar bob are you set for the show no in fact this is the last place i want to be tonight that's the spirit our guest tonight really needs no introduction in the las vegas listening area he's got a famous family name and he's made an infamous name for himself in ufo research and that guest of course is john lehrer welcome john thanks james so john i think a good place to start might be uh of all the stories that fly around us
(00:48) about you and ufology i think one that i jumping right into this right right one that a lot of people don't know is how did you get interested in ufology how how did what was the catalyst that actually made you pay attention to what's going on well you know my dad was always talking about this stuff he was he had made a sighting and uh um i had never been all that much interested because i didn't think there was anything to it as a matter of fact 1980 i remember corresponding with uh john andrews that of testers
(01:15) that there was nothing to it then in 19 but i'd heard all the stories that all the guys hears but in 1985 uh a friend of mine who i flew with in laos uh during the southeast asian conflict he flew eight tens he came to uh nellis air force base on his way somewhere and he came out he hadn't seen him in about 10 years and in the conversation i asked him where all he'd been based in the since i'd seen him then one of the places he mentioned was bent waters england that's the united states air force base
(01:43) about 70 miles northeast of london and i said oh bent waters well that's supposedly where that flying saucer crashed in 1980 said no john not supposedly it did he said i didn't see it because i was confined to quarters but i know the guys who did and he gave me the names of um major ted conrad uh colonel chuck halt and uh general uh williams and i said what are you what are you telling me that this stuff is true and he said yeah it sure is and that's what started me off so i spent the next two years you
(02:10) know i thought i had known a lot of secret stuff i worked on off for the cia for many years and i thought it knew a lot of stuff but this is one big thing i missed out so that's what started me okay if anyone would like to give us a call you can call 731-1230 or hit star 12 30 on your cell phone uh john what's the latest i mean you're always good for an outrageous prediction uh why don't we get your comments on some of the the recent happenings what are your thoughts on the alien autopsy itself uh i think it's (02:41) it's it's not real it's just personal opinion there's no particular reason but it doesn't look like a real alien as if i'd seen a real alien before do you think somebody faked it for money uh could be i really don't know what this story is well bob has a giant list of past john lear predictions and statements and accusations that he'd like to go through to see which ones you still stand by and which ones you change your mind on so bob you want to go ahead and hit the list sure i do (03:10) [Laughter] okay let's see here let's start at the bottom the driver shot kennedy the driver of the limo shot kennedy what do you think i'm not convinced that uh still not convinced that uh he didn't do it of course everybody's dropped it by now but i went back but you still think it's possible it's possible um i went back and viewed some film that a guy had that was uh uh really close up and he was trying to sell that film the only one was the zapruder film uh yeah it was the enlarge from one of (03:45) the supposed second through third generation films with and he was trying to show me the pink of the driver's hands on the wheel while this supposed shooting scenario was going on but but it wasn't all that convincing okay the five mile square five square mile roof over area 51. uh yeah that was uh rocks okay one and one the two billion aliens living along the mountains they're inside the mountains along highway 93.

(04:16) that was pretty far-fetched i have to admit it's hard to believe that even use that okay i gotta say my favorite ones for last uh the underground tunnel from boulder dam to area 51. there's underground tunnels all over the place and so you think somewhere around the dam you can get in a tunnel and drive to area 51 underground nellis or anywhere you want edwards uh george air force you can drive from boulder to edwards underground uh it's it's not i don't think you can drive it they have these magic they call maglev
(04:53) or something man they got a maglev train in there you must be kidding me no question no doubt about it in my mind as a matter of fact and they built that without anyone seeing them dig the tunnel yeah what do they do with the dirt and the rocket lines well i don't think that i don't i think it's the process of digging the holes that the dirt is decomposed there was a decomposed dirt okay the uh patent that i showed you a couple years ago that came that the two uh los alamos guys got for that train that grew for (05:30) that digging uh equipment that that use the same process but that would be a major undertaking to construct the you know maglev train under there you have no idea how far those things extend i talked with the guy who works in l.a with a guy who was worked at holloman and he talked you know they talked about getting on this maglev and going different places you know it's just not out here it's all over the place yeah i'm gonna stick by that one okay don't call acid rescue if we're here with john larry
(06:00) if you wanna give us a call now seven three one one two three oh okay uh let's see here i don't want to say that one yet what about the uh people are food for aliens what about that old kind uh i'm probably stick by that yeah you're kidding me yeah i'll have to stick by that okay um what about that little story about um abductees getting these implants and then at some point in time someone's going to have this device that resembles a tv remote control and uh be able to control these guys all in masks
(06:42) yeah whatever they want to buy that one i'm getting scared okay what about um the stealth cider the liquid crystals on the top and bottom of the stealth fighter so from above it looks like the ground and from below it looks like this guy they didn't use that on the stealth fighter but it may have been used on another airplane [Music] which airplane was that too bad they can't see the your expression okay uh 70 different species of aliens 80 80 probably 80 uh have visited okay well where where do you get a
(07:20) number like that from the different drawings that the people have made of the different types all the drawings i've seen with the expection expansion did i say that with the expectations with the exception of uh the reptilian type guy and the pickle man the the remainder of them look exactly essentially the same exactly like the great now these books and books and books of all the different things okay was that your watch alarm um the jailer um yeah i guess it was a jail down somewhere on the nellis range to (08:09) put all the ufo researchers at one point in time yeah if i said that i was a little bit off base there but not on face with those other things okay um now we're getting into my favorite ones here well not yet reptilians since we mentioned them there is a reptilian race and uh where does this come from where did he come from no where i mean where does his information come from the reason i bring up reptilians is because at one time i called you had a ufo drawing somewhere that you showed me and um i thought it looked pretty neat
(08:46) and wanted to get a print of it you said i had a call bill hamilton or something like that yeah and you gave me his number i called and got his wife or girlfriend on the phone and she said that bill's not here right now he's down the block uh because uh one of the neighbors was having some problems with a reptilian and i i thought it was a joke and she was serious and i said well what do you mean and uh she said well he was out hassling her in the front yard now this always has left an impression with me that these reptilian (09:22) guys are out walking around hassling people on the street and well that's in california i'm not familiar i don't remember that story but the fact is there is a reptilian race and they are around and they don't walk down the street so you think they're an advanced race apparently like the grays way way ahead of us is there any contact with them now uh supposedly at the test site uh there has been contact with uh with a species called a reptilian what that they're working there in some capacity or they're just (09:57) in captivity they're just there and the story was related to me about a guard who had to be or guards who had to be shown photos uh about three to four weeks just flash photos uh of these species before they were put on duty so that they were sitting there and guarding something and one of these things came walking down the hall and these guys dropped out of a heart attack uh seeing this weird looking thing what would uh what do you do you have any ideas about the motivations and what is this a is this a joint venture with humans and

(10:33) the reptilians similar to the old stories about the greys or or exactly what is there i don't know what this is no i just can't spy that you believe all this stuff well when we first met in uh i don't know i didn't believe in flying you didn't believe in flying saucers and uh yeah but it's kind of like george knapp saying you know on uh in some of his interviews that i have gone way overboard you guys gotta remember that i've got about three or four heads to your head start on you guys i guarantee
(11:04) you in three to four years i'm not gonna be saying yes to these questions okay uh venus nice place to live now yeah i know you have trouble with that i have a lot of trouble with that because there's a sulfuric acid atmosphere the surface temperatures are never just close to the energy in there no wood probes have gone there from our country and other countries russia specifically and uh you don't think we can doctor the information the whole point of why would we what is the big secret so what if it's habitable but
(11:36) we want people to think that we are the only ones whoever runs the show they want people to think that we are the only people there couldn't be life on mars there couldn't be life do you think there's life on venus probably is one of them that lady that shows up to the ufo convention uh i don't know i don't know but what do you think the surface temperature is on venus around the equator it's probably like earth what about the cloud i know you're gonna give me that stuff about the clouds and i don't know
(12:10) whoever how it works and like you say we're we're dealing an opinion you know i don't have any facts i haven't been there and not you but that's the famous old bob lazar come back have you been there no i haven't been there but neither of you and you're just taking data that the government sells you on what they want you to know okay and let's jump into it because i know you're coming up uh atmosphere on the moon and water on the moon yeah in certain places there is there's not a great deal but there's (12:42) enough to uh do you think there is that three mile high or 30 mile high dome that city inside it's a six mile high tower and i don't know if there's a city inside it kind of looks like an antenna but yeah heavens is pretty good that it's there [Music] and for those who haven't heard about it's in the uh hoaglan tate moon mars connection it's about a three hour tape and he goes through uh orbiter pioneer and a lot of the other data and shows where this tower is it's right directly
(13:15) in the center of spinous media and when the moon is full uh it's in the direct center of the moon so do the uh do the astronauts that orbited and walked on the moon are they aware of this and staying quiet yeah they are and i met had dinner with one of the four uh psychologists that was assigned to the apollo astronauts and they assigned a psychologist not so much of the the weird stuff they saw but the fact that they couldn't tell the public and that's what bothered all of the astronauts the most that's what sent uh
(13:51) boermann overboard and and a few others they were really bitter at nasa for not being able to uh to tell the truth about what's going on yeah but strangely enough edgar mitchell the sixth man on the moon came out here to visit me and he was out because he was interested in all the ufo information so on and so forth in fact even said that all the astronauts have gotten together and they have kind of a powerful group that they formed i don't remember what they called it but um he didn't mention anything a lot (14:16) i'm sure that in one day to you he would have told his uh deepest darkest secrets the dancer told him and we pointed that out to him also so you do have a good point there okay um i gotta look at what i didn't check off here the driver's shotgun and the final question for that well john how about this what's your what's your current view of the big picture i mean now you say we've got reptilians here where they're lying to us about uh uh you know survivable atmospheres and temperatures on the near planets (14:52) uh what do you think the big picture is i can remember you know six seven years ago not that you were necessarily responsible for it but but ufo researchers always have something big is gonna happen at the end of this year something big is gonna happen that was october 92 and i made the mistake of making several and so i don't do that anymore i have no idea what to do we don't need to put we you know predict a big invasion so what do you think the status is the big picture you know any impending doom or (15:23) christmases the government guys that i know uh all they can say is the next five years are going to be very very interesting but we've heard that you know for the last 10 years or 20 years whatever so it's just kind of nice to just sit back and watch and know the stuff that we know to be real uh uh and kind of well i'm talking about the stuff you told us i assume that's real so john what are your thoughts on the land grab out here in central nevada everyone made a big deal of it you were among some of the first you jim goodall

(15:58) sean martin gary schultz people like that who climbed up and and viewed down on area 51 and and you uh how dare you mention john but uh you know obviously you knew that they were keeping photographic logs of uh you know the persistent intruders in that ledge of the land grab what do you think about all the people whining about it when they actually caused the land gathering oh big deal you know area 51 is just one of many areas they've got you know and they were smart to draw the attention there and get people from (16:35) looking at where where other stuff is going you want to go ahead and take a call sure okay let's go and take a look go ahead you're on ufo line hello hi how are you doing fellas good all right season's greetings um [Music] [Music] and was chairman of the board for 30 years they were a large supplier of uh components for a military aircraft uh and he sold us in 1960 he was involved with the government in anti-gravity research from about 1957 to about 1960 1960 down in fort witchuka uh and he had had a couple of sightings and a friend
(17:39) of lots of friends that had a couple of sightings it was interesting now that i look back the people that he used to bring home we are people that you know were very involved with the cover cover-up general uh jimmy doolittle um uh several of those guys that he used to bring home and he was very he knew a lot about it he got a lot of criticism because he went down i think it was to bolivia to sell some uh uh aircraft equipment and he was quoted by the press as saying flying sausages were real and uh he got a lot of slack over that (18:12) but like i say i used to talk about it all the time but it didn't interest me because i'd never seen one and it just i wasn't interested i was interested in the spy planes because there's 71 stuff like that see i have my father was in the airport 25 years and i've lived here in las vegas for roughly about 22 years 23 years now and um i've had experiences airport stations back when that pairing was really just really was not much around there you know how bad it is you know how much it's grown over there
(18:45) i've had some experiences out in the valley of fire and stuff i've had some experiences and i had to go something to the hospital and everything that the military hospital up there they kept me up there for like five days and you know taking tests on me and doing doing what not allowing me to find out what happened and i know that when i came out of when i came back my parents came to pick me up from up there my parents forgot all about it didn't know anything about what happened and so it's just like i felt to me it
(19:17) felt as the government went and did something with them keep them from remembering it but i mean it was clear as a bell yeah they have a very good way the government does of uh erasing people's memories it's very good i talked to a uh lady a couple of months ago who was with the air force and stationed at uh toronto protest range 1970 1981 and her memory for that whole time is just coming there's nothing there she has uh you know flashes of weird stuff going on but no real memory really nice lady what do you think they
(19:59) might have done do you know how they go about doing that no you don't i think that's something we should find out because of how bad the defeat the government [Music] and to americans yeah well uh i agree with you but i don't think there's much hope of uh ever bringing this down that's like that's like finding who is the person that you know or at least bring the person who really killed kennedy to justice you know how they confiscated a lot of

(21:30) that film um he had he had some film and he put it on he let's look at it now um he told us times and dates and everything of how they uh how they were planning on having them assassinated computer film is the very what is it seven seconds or whatever you generally get to see and and all of the shots before the president got there uh all the shots of the grassy knoll of everywhere just general area shots someone has that somewhere it proceeded all of that on the film and that's what what was that photographed do we know
(22:16) that well yeah there was the pruder film taken before the little cliff uic of kennedy was the grass you know and around the general area i think i saw that on arts and entertainment yeah i didn't know that was actually photographed by him yeah i thought i knew what you're talking about too about the driver um bill who's his name and i know advice from him and stuff like that but he's dead now and like i said it wouldn't make a difference now because he's not going to be going to he's not going to be brought to trial
(22:47) and is he dead i thought he was alive in mother in georgia or something he that's kind of our fault we really don't even feel like all right i hate that when that happened okay see you guys all right bye-bye i miss that all right what's the difference anyway uh if you'd like to give us a call number seven three one one two three oh and if you're on a cell phone you can hit star 12 30 if you'd like to ask john leo bob labar or uh any of us any questions john uh you you know you're somewhat of a
(23:51) central hub you're you're a high-profile guy and a lot of people approached you to tell you stories about being abducted and you know i i know that a lot of people even approached you that work at nellis air force base and other places i can i presume that you conclude by now that not all of these people can be crazy and not all of them are searching for attention i mean yeah you've seen a number of people what about we get asked all the time about whatever happened to john grace the guy that wrote those (24:19) vladimir valerian hilarious vladimir moved to oregon and uh he has the real nice business going he still writes that what forget what the name of his magazine was but uh he's doing well what did he do for an ellis didn't he work for nellis yeah he was a tech sergeant and uh he worked in i'm trying i think he's been so long ago i was over to his office a couple times huh well how about the area 51 report some of the hearing systems this is going to be a weekly thing boy there's so much stuff going on first
(24:55) of all up at groom we have two new proof of concepts ready to fly one will fly next week and the other around march and both are very very fast and remember that helicopter we built about 10 years ago that could carry around 250 troops now we have one that can carry 600 fully armed combat gritty uh troops and over at sandia they have that nuke remember sandy that you basically built over there on paiute mesa they have a new computer that is a billion times faster than the past in commercial use today australia hey do
(25:25) you know who invented the internet it was darpa the defense advanced research projects agency and they did it in 1967. what they first saw was the exponential use of the personal computer and saw the internet as a direct way into homes hearts and minds of the public this computer up at sandia can track what anybody ever wrote or said or wherever anybody ever went on the internet with their pc and not only that whether your pc is on or not they can access your hard drive anytime they want and hey what's going on at uh tonopah we
(25:58) have the new counterinsurgency airplane that's being used out at aviano in the bosnian conflict the security is so tied up with ttr that now they have three fences instead of one and the entire support team which consists of about 350 people are bulleted right out the flight line instead of back down at the gate like when the f-117 came out and speaking of the 117a whatever happened to the f-19 the f-19 went down the skunk works uh assembly line right next to the 117 used the same engines 404s but was a navy bird and was a batwing type
(26:31) aircraft they made about 60 of them it turns out that the f-117a was just a cover for this other high-tech and whoa what's flying out of the northern nevada secret facility it's black and it's fast all you can see at night is a contrail which looks like a green neon tube about a mile long they've been doing some low altitude work around idaho between midnight and 4 am that dude really gets along about 4 or 5 000 miles an hour low altitude and flying saucers apparently the aliens can't fly any better now than they could (27:02) in 1947 because we recovered two of them in the past year right here in nevada one came down between the dam and kingman about a month or so ago and one in northern nevada last year and that's it for the test night update for friday december 22nd 1995 this is john lear and bob lazar wishing all of you at deck one and hey don't want to get you guys over at station nine a very merry christmas bob now who can argue with that you're right no i gotta jump on the computer let me see that little sheet of paper (27:38) [Music] they can access your hard drive in a pc whether or not your computer's on yeah you should get your about as hard as you can exactly how would they manage your feet like that all right well i don't know aside from them coming over and turning it on i'm telling you uh [Laughter] we named the disease that bill cooper got that that many of us got was called the ufo disease right and the ufo disease when you start out this business and and uh you hear you know and see some stuff that really happens real real but

(28:23) uh you start adding on to it and and like billy just he just got too far out he started taking stuff that i had in my files yeah and that's my favorite story in fact maybe you should you know please our audience and tell them the story about oh krill uh that oh krill was a name that you and john gray said they'd given to you know for the people that don't know who krill was that john grace who then worked for the air force uh wrote a treaties or something on aliens that he wanted they felt the public should know
(28:54) and i forget what it was all about but he didn't want to put his name so he said well how can we uh whose name can we use and i said well you know the navy had an incident um that uh they supposedly contacted an alien in the late 50s and the name was krill c ll why don't we call uh this guy krill k-r-i-l-l and it'll be just kind of an inside joke and so john says okay and how about some initials and i said i don't know i'll pick one and suddenly o-h so then uh john for only hostage or something original
(29:28) original hostage yeah well that wasn't our intent it wasn't it was just picked out a few was it okay and then when bill cooper got a hold of his story uh he had seen that in the in the navy and the oh h stood for original hostage and we just picked those initials out of it right and he had read that whole report so about this uh flying disc that they what if there was an an alien piloted flying disc that crashed between boulder dam and kingman in the last month supposedly yesterday and uh what was it able to fly away or (29:59) did someone have to go pick it up supposedly there was some staged uh chemical accident or road accident or something where people were diverted from the dam uh for a day or so so that they could recover that oh that's what that story was behind that spilled on there was there was a real dispute well they did close i remember in in recent months they did close the demo somebody told me that and i remember downtown and first slider i remember that there was an accident with with uh some taiwanese or something but i didn't
(30:29) remember still when the guy told me this guy was trying to think i didn't remember now where was the other crash you said there were two of them supposedly in northern ireland oh and and why do you think it is that these things uh crashed especially if i'm presuming these are are capable of interstellar travel or are they some type of scout ships out of a mother ship i'm just curious as to why they would be able to fire from another star system and then crash so routinely that question is asked a lot you know a
(30:56) lot of times [Music] maybe i don't get enough simulator training boy i don't know [Music] so it's so hard for me to digest this i mean i can understand well i'm not even going to start a fight so are you uh go ahead we'll we'll start it here and we can end it up in the area so have you uh have you been walking back into the general your whole community i remember wasn't in the early 90s that they tried to ban you from the mufon convention here in las vegas yeah i hosted the movement i quit because you have a couple guys
(31:32) quick and uh i hosted the mufon convention here in 1989 i guess it was and uh it was it was a real popular but uh i kind of was disinvited i couldn't speak at my own uh hosted uh convention and i did a little talking all through 91-92 but it cost me two good jobs so i quit talking about ufos at all the the one job was american trans era was a captain there for uh six years and they hauled me in one day and they said you don't actually believe in flying saucers dude and i said well yeah as a matter of fact they (32:08) do and they said well we can't have anybody working here flying passengers and believes that so i lost that one the next one i had was with orbital sciences and horrible sciences operates the l-1011 that carries the pegasus rocket that uh that launches payloads into space and i was hired as a project pilot and the uh

senior project manager called me up one day and said john we applied for your clearance and i don't know what you've done but neither the us air force or nasa uh wants you on this program
(32:39) so that was a second job so i kind of lied pretty low now you don't need to pay those bills huh absolutely um so listen let's you've been around certainly involved ufology as long as just about anyone you've seen the personalities uh evolve unfold and even change so maybe we could go down the line here and hear some gossip and uh exactly what your thoughts are on these people how they started off and what their stance is now for instance let's start off with stanton friedman my buddy stan obviously stanton friedman
(33:10) did a lot of good things um uh he went to bat certainly believes that the the earth is being visited by life from elsewhere uh specializes in the old-fashioned mufon stuff here's some crosstalk freedom of information act documents blah blah blah in recent days on the internet i've seen a lot of criticism of friedman that uh out somewhere he won't answer questions for people unless they buy one of his books and and he signs it and and people have attributed some sort of a change in his personality have you seen that (33:40) uh yeah i haven't talked to stan in many years i really thought he did a good job uh as far as he went what turned me off to stan freeman is that when bob came out and talked about working at the test site and stanton was in town just about the time this was all going on up at my house and he didn't even make the slightest you know request to meet bob or talk to him and i wondered here's the supposed premier ufo researcher of the century and he doesn't even want to talk about it so kind of turned me on to stan
(34:12) okay you want to go ahead and take another call sure let's go ahead go ahead you're on ufo line yes good evening john good evening bob and is gene up there yes well good evening gee yeah greetings from uh the billy goodman happening uh from that have been happening i'm not there but uh billy's gonna be listening to this tape shortly doing billy right actually the reason we decided to do this show is we missed the old billy goodman show here in town and uh and tried to get some late night talk going
(34:43) well you're doing an exceptional job and i'm glad that uh you know uh about the last time that you spoke uh on the air was on the happening as far as i know remember probably so probably so yeah yeah the old vegas world right yeah that's right all right yeah we had an afternoon show there for a short time so i just wanted to give you my garden is uh is billy doing the uf is the scientific spiritual having still still going oh uh he's doing a show back out of providence rhode island oh he's still up there uh three to five
(35:18) or no three to six every afternoon five days a week but wsub out of connecticut actually is where the uh station is at right now well billy's a great host and he was always a good time people criticized him because he let anything go but you know that that provided for a fun show if he didn't pass judgment on everyone like we're just getting ready to do right now well john the last time i saw you was over there at el dorado high school yeah i remember that and of course bob came out that night and it was nice not willingly
(35:50) incorrect of course not willingly but at least it was nice to see you both together so uh merry christmas and seasons greetings to you and everyone else all right thanks for the call say hi to billy for us okay i will okay he'll hear this okay right yeah i didn't want to tell you uh recover one thing i think i told you both as uh south of town here meeting a guy on some business and this guy grew up in new mexico just about 60 miles north of farmington he's about 70 years old and we get to talk and we're talking about (36:20) you know something totally unrelated with you opposed and in the conversation he said that he was a uh a roughneck on a uh for working for el paso natural gas and he started talking about seeing this thing land and and i said what year was that and he said 1948 he starts talking about a disc and i realized i'm talking to one of the only guys that's ever come forward uh that was at the crashed aztec now you know the bills time and wrote the book crash at aztec and it's been thoroughly discredited by bill moore and (36:53) all those guys but there is a lot of good information and uh i always believed it to be real but i never met anybody who actually saw this guy was one of five workers at el paso natural gas that were standing there in heart canyon when this thing crashed it was 100 feet in diameter it had a small hole in one of the windows that they could peek in and see there was four aliens on the main deck and apparently there was some on a lower deck and they were there for five hours before the military got there and rounded them up and uh (37:25) and swarmed the secrecy and all that this guy has never told anybody this story in all these years he's 70 years old now but it was pretty interesting i went home i talked to him first and i tried to see if maybe he'd read bill simon's book but no he hadn't so i went home and got the book and brought it back and he read it for a couple days and then i came back and interviewed him and he there's of course there's some maps and drawings in bill stein's book and he told me what was true and what was false there

(37:52) was a picture of a pole being poked through uh this hole in the window to catch the latch and open the door and he said the pole in the book is much too big it was a thin rod that came off one of the welding trucks with uh el paso natural gas he also also in billstein's book it said helicopters came there and he said when i was there there was no helicopters but he said it was really an interesting experience that he never told anybody about it and it was kind of neat to uh to meet the guy how was that covered up
(38:22) i mean something 100 feet in diameter i imagine people saw that inbound so on and so forth they must have had a cover story it was such a remote area i mean nobody there wasn't that many people around me this was just you know an aztec new mexico yeah i'm not familiar with where that is well it's east of farmington and it's uh it's a very desolate area farmington if i remember is almost on the edge of the state the police chief was one of the guys that uh was there uh and they briefed him on secrecy he (38:51) was later given a job in long beach as the police uh chief there for 20 years then moved back to parmington and uh bill steinman interviewed him and he just refused to talk about you know just really refuse to to discuss the incident so that brings to mind uh [Music] what your current views on that do you still think that there is an underground base in dulce yeah you know what story i'm referring to absolutely the guy that got out of there and the the vats of amber colored liquids why you know that there have been plenty
(39:37) of people gone up there snooping around oh yeah there's no signs there saying secret underground bays and the indians no of course not but i mean they've you know covered the mountains i mean these guys were ufo enthusiasts like yourself and they were you know would have been more than happy to more than happy to find anything i mean they didn't find any event any even ground disturbances did you see any of this to any of the work that jim delatosa did no well he he spent six weeks there with real sensitive (40:05) uh um monitors recording monitors and they were almost kinds of uh power and stuff being generated around there you know it's been full of your electromagnetic emissions guys yeah it's been four or five years they've talked about this so i don't have a lot of this stuff over off the top of my head but uh it was a it was a very good videotape on what was going on in dulce and do you think anything is still there or if it's telling me yeah sure the air force guy that i know that was there refers to it not as dulce but i think he (40:38) called it section b [Music] what about uh the guy from los alamos whose name i can't remember either my memory is so fantastic the guy we both know oh yeah yeah i think we better not mention his game because he works with tesla well what about his name tom [Music] we called him poufon or something yeah i know wasn't he a preacher yeah yeah because you started insulting jesus and everything and then he did not do that near his birthday okay john you you brought up bill moore before and uh bill moore always seems to take it
(41:17) personally upon himself even if it's transparent to try and discredit anything that he has not sponsored or anything he has not approved yet i remember george knapp and i met with him a few years ago when he came up here and and uh moore said that he didn't believe bob lazar's story but he had some information that actually there were there was an alien settlement out in central nevada before the white man moved west and we made jokes about how surprised the pioneers must have been when they came right over there wagon like a twilight
(41:48) zone episode and there was a flying disc space there but what do you think bill moore is up to why do you think he feels compelled to try and squelch anything that that surfaces that he is not sponsored i think it goes back to the cover-up where everybody thinks the air force is in charge they're not it was the navy navy's always been in charge of the cover-up and they used the air force's whipping boy now the air force uh what bill moore got hooked up with was afosi uh the airport air force officers special (42:16) investigations and what they were trying about they themselves wanted to know what was going on uh so they enlisted bill to pass around you know some good information some disinformation to ferret out uh the truth and i think he got mixed up with af afosi and they don't know what's going on what was the the uh disinformation that bill moore spurred around uh he claims to have uh fabricated the the bandwidth steel and dolce and there's a bunch of other stuff fabricated the benno with steel yeah he was the one that supposedly fed (42:49) benowitz the information on dulce okay so um as we marched on the ufo gossip list what do you think of linda howe i thought i think a strange harvest still stands when did it came out in 1979 or 1980 that was very good and it was a great film and it was down to earth and and lately she's been called every name in the book because she has gotten ufo researchers send german spread out and now she speaks her mind on crop circles and numerous other areas is pretty much a correspondent do you think that uh that linda has degenerated or (43:21) deteriorated his incredible influence i haven't heard what linda said in the past years yeah a big deal about uh an asteroid running into the earth yeah i remember it that was about four that's when we started calling her chicken yeah on the internet i read uh that she was on the some other radio show here in town and uh played an audio tape of a crowd of people running from bigfoot you know it happened oh that's right she's on uh it's young and other uh our bell show i don't know i've never heard it but i

(43:51) just see people talking about it on the internet and and uh yeah i haven't heard but but strange harvest both the book and the uh gotten after and and uh and criticized and this guy comes on bill cooper and he says i can't vouch for all of what leader says but i can vouch for 50 of what he says because i saw it in the navy so i got invited bill up and i talked to him he said yeah i worked in the office of pearl harbor and he said i was uh the um helped the briefing team get out the projector now later he became part of (44:26) the briefing team but all he was was the guy that brought the projector and he said he had keys to the faith and he would sit at night and read these documents and that's you know where he originally came up with a lot of this stuff so we talked for a while and unfortunately i think i contributed to his downfall because i gave him copies of all my research stuff that i had collected and pretty soon not maybe a month or two later not only could he vouch for uh 50 of what he said he could now badge for 150 or whatever and it just went from there
(45:00) it just got so far out that it was ridiculous but bill cooper did start out and he honestly did see those papers in the navy well i if i remember directly amongst those favors he said he saw documents about that the military was actually involved in the kennedy assassination now they may have been about involved but i find it difficult to believe that there would be any hard copy alluding to that laying around that a chief petty officer could get in and read don't you find that hard to believe yeah but as he told me the story he had the keys
(45:31) to stay for all issues was locked up and i think i think the kennedy thing was one of the things that he vouched for before uh all this rest the information got mixed in and i am sitting here you guys are never this nice off the radio listen we got to talk about something so cooper was the assistant to the commander of the pacific fleet do i remember that no it's been six years since i talked about that the first time cooper said anything or the only thing i ever heard him say directly was at your house john and (46:07) and uh the only thing he had claimed at that time was that he was on a ship and saw a ufo come out of the water tumbling into the sky and that and that was it and later it came tumbling back down to the water and two years later that object had become the size of two aircraft carriers right but uh let's see who else should we gossip about let's get on the list tim good i have nothing i've never heard anyone say anything bad about tim good he's uh was a good friend i saw him a couple times in england he came out here
(46:47) i drove him up to the chest side with his girlfriend who smoked in the back of the van and uh you know showed him the hospitality when he wrote that book he he wrote two things that were really dishonest he said uh john privately admitted to me that two of his sources had turned out to be bogus and i said you know who would those two sources be uh jim and he said well one is bill cooper he said cooper was never my source i was his source you know and the other one was uh he said benoit's and i said i've never thought that ben works is (47:21) wrong i always thought that downwards was correct about the stuff he's he talked about so he promised retracted his next the next book he never did so i'm still a little uh kicked off it came good so what do you think of the uh the push

nowadays you know they had the uh the budget office investigating the roswell crash and it seems to me that that the uh opponents of the roswell crash are a lot more vociferous nowadays now that jessie marcella said they walk on his grave they act like he's an idiot a [__] that he wouldn't (47:52) have known what was going on i'm specifically speaking of the project mogul balloon uh story uh don't you think that they're going way overboard and trying to just start adjusting ourselves and intelligence yeah but the thing is and and here i go making another prediction i don't think we're ever going to know the truth i i don't think it's in the cards ever uh every once in a while you're uh like i just heard the other day oh yeah april april's going to be here they're (48:18) going to start releasing information i don't think that they ever intend to tell anybody because the problem is the first little bit of information will lead to more and then people are going to want to know more and more and they can't tell them a little story and and why is that what do you think that the top two or three determining factors are i mean i i think we're beyond uh the point where they think people will go crazy i think that there's nothing to do that has to do with religion and the fact is that religion is the (48:47) fabric that holds society together people fear a god fear that if you do something bad there will be retribution um if you were to remove this religious factor they think that society would start breaking down um if the first thing comes out like oh yes we uh we recover saucers from somewhere but we don't know where people are going to start you know questioning whether god is real that kind of thing and i think that's what they don't want to happen i don't know if that if that would be the case well you know they can always
(49:23) pray that god made the aliens too i always contended ufology and theology collide head on and the bottom line is that no one can be elected president of the united states if they say they don't believe in the stereotypical christian judeo god it says in god we trust on our money absolutely and so you remember when that was put on no no 1962 oh really i wasn't old enough to have anybody get there is that right what did it say oh it said silver certificate for that and god we trust him right and uh so anyway i i think that's the battle no
(50:00) one wants to wage i mean there's no sense and i think the real question is when we see someone like george bush or bill clinton i don't know who knows what when we see them go to church on television i'm curious if that's just for show and they're playing to the bible yeah it would be really interesting so let's see if we need some more gothic names well we're talking about gossip names let me create this picture of uh hold it up here all right area 51.
(50:27) just sent it to me and i got it for christmas and this was taken in september of 1965 and these are the two a12 vendors and this is the yf-12 hanger and this was the supported stuff they had f101ds and f104s chasing the uh the planetary test program these are the u2 hangers right here and that's maintenance and this is the old room white control tower see that little bitty thing right there and that was the fire station right next to it those are the barracks and that further that way uh they call baja and that's where they kept the uh
(50:58) the eight um a12 try handlers i forgot what's the difference between the ys12 and the sr-71 it wasn't one it was the nose right yeah the a12 was the was the cia bird and that was a single place one and then when the air force when sac found out that cia was flying their own spy plane they went to pentagon and said hey this can't happen we're supposed to fly spy missions so they had milwaukee build a proof of concept which is a two-place a12 which became the yf-12a and they built three of those and then they built about 35 sr-71s in (51:32) the air force through them unbeknownst to the air force the cia kept applying them uh on uh deer mission well we're about to i think we want to take one more let's go ahead and take a call before you stand out there go ahead john you're off line hi uh i called him last week and i just heard you guys talking about the uh yf-12 and sr-71 differences one thing i'd like to point out on the air that i've never heard anyone really discuss a lot about these aircraft is that the yf-12a carried four (52:04) huge long-range nuclear-tipped missiles and they the air force was constantly trying to justify this in front of congress and my theory has always been this aircraft was specifically designed to intercept ufos at high altitudes and the reason for this is because of the post doppler radar system of the dead aircraft carried which would give a false signature to any aircraft that it was scanning to fire missiles at and this was something that was totally unnecessary going up against soviet aircraft at the time because none of the soviet aircraft

(52:43) at the time had radar warning detectors that could tell where a plane was radar scanning it from that's interesting and the ys12a also carried uh cameras which were mounted below the engines on either side which were designed for air-to-air photography because the cameras pointed forward and rear work whereas the spy version had cameras mounted where the missiles were pointing downward to take photographs of land right and it's always been my theory that the idea was to intercept the ufos because this thing could travel at mach
(53:23) 3 and ufos could generally have versus speed up to mach 4 from a sudden stop and this was our best hope at the time of using something to do this because there was just nothing else available to even attempt it what would make you think that ufos would be vulnerable to missile attacks well if you used to pull stop the radar system and you were scanning them they wouldn't be able to tell exactly where you were scanning them from and if you fired a missile the missile was going at mach 4 which it had to because the plane was traveling at mach
(53:56) 3. you're assuming that the the crafts are flying conventionally right if they're just hovering there there was it would be a stroke of luck this is what they would be hoping for you you've got to realize that this was the best they could do [Music] well there were two camera pods one mounted under each engine okay and they also had radiation sniffers mounted with them and different things that could detect anomalies and the uh the cameras were mounted below the engines on pods with one camera facing forward
(54:38) one facing rearward well i'll take care of that all right i also wanted to ask bob lazar real quick about the electromagnetic pulse effect from the disc craft um are these is this done with a separate generator unit inside the craft or is it all connected to the main power unit or it's all connected to the main power unit the the amplifier the amplifiers are pulsed [Music] 10 microseconds apart and that's if you're referring to the pulse i mean the reach turned on sequentially like so that's not a separate (55:13) self-trans unit that can be removed from the craft it's it's part of the way the craft works right and that's just a side effect of the way the craft works exactly i see i also have information concerning a new warhead that the united states air force is putting on the new advanced cruise missile which is an electromagnetic pulse warhead this came out in an issue of uh i have the magazine around here somewhere well any nuclear warhead will produce an election well yes but this does it without a nuclear charge this
(55:42) does it using an electromagnetic coil and a small explosive charge just enough to destroy the missile the idea is that this thing will produce such a massive electromagnetic pulse that it would you know be used against uh headquarters installations uh financial targets where you want to disrupt money systems how how and how on earth do they achieve that i don't know but it's been published in a magazine here it is here's the article it's in an issue from uh july august 1993 journal of military aviation
(56:17) volume two number four and uh this has a special thing in here on the upgrades on the b-52 and it says a recent addition to the alcm is the so-called non-lethal or disabling warheads which are well suited for regional or low intensity conflicts the air force has disclosed the development of a non-nuclear electromagnetic pulse generator an emt burst is generated by creating a magnetic field in a coil and then compressing it via conventional explosives okay well thank you for the info we have to end your phone lines for the night (56:50) but thanks for the call and give us a call another time we'd like to thank everybody for listening and thank our guests john lear john i hope you come join us again and we'd like to wish everybody a merry christmas and we'll see you next time thanks we will

Transcript:
(00:01) [Music] [Music] good evening and welcome to ufo line i'm gene huff here with bob rogar bob are you set for the show yeah tonight we'll be taking calls on ufo related topics with tonight's emphasis being on hypnotic regression so if you'd like to give us a call just dial 731-1230 or hit star 1230 on your cell phone bob back in 1989 when you had lost your security clearance and we're no longer in the disc back engineering program out of s4 in central nevada you saw the help of a hypnotherapist

and
(00:49) that fact has been totally blown out of proportion by some of the wilder ufo researchers to the point where they've said that your brain was actually turned on when you went to work and turned off when you left now i'm not going to mention the name of the main culprit spreading that rumor here excuse me i've had a cold all week so i obviously know these rumors aren't true but could you clarify for the listeners exactly why you decided to seek some assistance through hypnotherapy the only reason i went there is because (01:15) of the absolute wealth of information i was exposed to uh from technical drawings to uh you know lengthy reports and i just wanted to see what hypnosis would help me remember uh in depth you know as far as recreating some of the drawings and things of that sort but uh much of the stories that you've heard are really not true that pertain to this okay so anyway after bob made the decision to use hypnotherapy he tried to contact this woman who had helped his ex-wife with smoking however she was no longer there and in
(01:48) what bob and i both consider to be a fortunate coincidence we were both introduced to a man who has both my and bob's respect and trust something that is almost unattainable and that man is las vegas hypnotherapist lane keck welcome lane i'm happy to be here delane could you give us a brief explanation of what hypnotherapy actually is hypnotherapy uh uses hypnosis to evoke a relaxation in a client and in that relaxation all of your senses are enhanced you can hear better you can feel better you can remember things that may have
(02:31) escaped your conscious memory but you can bring them back and recall them hypnotherapy is actually used to go back in to help a person achieve a goal and whatever that goal is if they're not achieving it in the way that they desire you can use hypnotherapy and uh help them remove whatever blocks or fears are there and once that's done they can easily achieve that goal okay it seems to me that the abduction phenomena has brought hypnotic regression into the limelight more than ever before and i'm sure you're aware of the accusations
(03:09) about from people about hypnotherapists actually leading people back to memories that aren't really there i know that type of activity is beneath you but i'm curious as to whether there's a fine line between escorting someone back to a real memory and leading them back to a non-existent one so is that such a fine line that it that it could inadvertently happen or would it have to be malicious in the form of someone actually trying to exploit the poor soul seeking now well in in both cases uh i'm sure it has
(03:37) been maliciously used to exploit people and there is a fine fine line that if the hypnotherapist is not trained and aware they can certainly lead someone into uh believing that certain things uh occurred things from their imagination they could uh you know register as a real happening and that's why whenever i talk about hypnosis i constantly remind people that they can lie under hypnosis just as easily as out because they have uh the power of their own thinking but they can also be misled by someone who is guiding them
(04:27) what do you think about uh cells hypnosis being used to try and retrieve it i guess specifically on u.s online would you talk about abduction memories or what's your opinion of self-hypnosis that would seem like it would be so biased to me because you're you're almost leading yourself into uh into thinking something it lends itself to that and that's why i do my best to lay out all of the possibilities if this could just be imagination that it could be let me stop here and give an example of a case that i did when a person came in (05:03) they thought they had been abducted because when they went to a movie and watched one of these abductions and someone being lifted up into a spacecraft they would start to vomit and have uh violent reactions or when they would read about this in a book they would have violent reactions and in reality when they came into the office i explained that there's different possibilities let's look at it let's go back and recall what they did remember but uh in in doing that uh what we found was that they had had (05:40) in uh our birth that was a cesarean delivery and so their subconscious mind remembered their birth and when someone came in and violently opened up their living area and lifted them out of that warm safe secure peaceful place they had a tremendous amount of fear from an early early age level and that translated into them later on seeing these movies of someone being lifted up aliens lifting someone up and that was where their real fear was coming from they did not have an alien abduction at all so there are different possibilities and what i do (06:26) is lay them out and then let that person go after those memories and get their their idea their understanding of what really happened and try my best not to bias them in any way if anybody has any questions for wayne then give us a call at 731-1230 on your cell phone hit star 12 30. um wayne does his little therapy have some practical limits and do you ever see it being sensationalized too much or even being abused i do uh it i believe that it is extremely powerful and most people would probably think i was a little uh (07:06) strange for uh some of my beliefs but at the same time it is sensationalized quite often and i just as an example uh you can use hypnosis to help someone stop smoking that's been smoking for years and they can go in and say hey i have one session that did it no problem um hypnotherapy is wonderful and great and in reality it will work that way just one 15-minute session with a certain percentage of people but most people have a say with a cigarette there's a tremendous emotional connection with that cigarette

(07:49) and so a 15-minute session will only work temporarily or it will uh not work at all so the point is that uh when this hypnosis takes place and this person walks out they may be a very small percentage of people who didn't have a strong emotional connection that cigarette and they'll go out and tell everyone all you have to do is have a 10-minute hypnosis session and you'll be free of the cigarette which isn't the case at all sometimes it takes more in-depth work so it can be suspicious sensationalized lane have you uh
(08:24) ever regressed someone that you in your opinion you think was actually abducted by aliens i mean what you're i guess i'm not asking what your take is on it but i mean do you think uh that has actually occurred and anyone that you've regressed that's a fair question i'll say first that i they don't pay me to make a judgment they pay me to guide them back but i do have my own opinions of things and yes i would say that uh a small percentage of the people that i've worked with and i've probably worked with 80 people
(09:05) plus or minus a few oh yes and i believe that there were a small percentage that were actually abducted now i can't swear to it that it happened on the stack of bibles but from all indications and all the signs that i look for there are some that i truly believe have been abducted yes i just have such a hard time buying that but a lot of people have a hard time buying my story i think call her on yeah let's go ahead and take a call go ahead you're on ufo live hi this is glenn campbell glenn how are you hi the obvious
(09:46) question is what does lane think of bob and bob's story and bob's obsession my reaction to bob the very first time he came into my office was wow what have i gotten myself into now um story uh did stretch me until bob came in in i believe it was 1989 um i had not had one client i think i've been practicing as a clinical hypnotherapist for eight or nine years and i hadn't had one client who had come in who had thought they had been abducted or had been abducted but after bob came on and uh and i worked with him and then the (10:38) resulting uh media coverage after that i've had uh like i said probably 80 people who i've worked with since so this was something new for me when bob walked into the office and i handled it the same way that i handle every client that comes in we go back and try and remove the block he was wanting to remember certain things and we go back and remove the blocks which kept those memories from coming forth and there there was a tremendous amount of fear and imprinting and some techniques that the government had used that i recognized um
(11:20) that not too many would recognize and protect over the block uh well the obvious ones were fear uh threats to his life to his family's life that type of thing there was something that i call the orion response when bob described for me these techniques of they were shouting threats and i believe it was like pointing with her fingers on his chest and making uh loud threats at the same time things like that uh that bypasses our ability to block things from the subconscious it gets the message straight in and if you do it loud enough
(12:10) or fast enough it's done with either movement or sound then those techniques are very excuse me very powerful and as you describe those to me i recognized them right away and knew that they were using some very powerful techniques and with bob uh there's a lot of signs that i look for that most people probably wouldn't be aware of one thing i remember bob told me this one story about when he was in this um certain area and they threw a golf ball i believe it was at um this and it bounced off of this field and (12:56) it's i believe it broke or shipped the tile on the scene and every time he told that story it came up you know two or three times over a number of sessions and every time he told it he had exactly the same reaction and in hypnosis those uh

reactions are are very evident and in doing that he was doing the same thing repeatedly every time he had the same reaction every time over something seemingly insignificant but those are some of the things that i look at is it is not really possible to fake those reactions uh yes it is but they were so numerous (13:42) in so many places that he couldn't have done his in my opinion he couldn't have done his homework uh enough to have pulled it off also glenn at this point in time bob's story wasn't even public no one other than just those in bob's immediate environment knew who he was or anything about his story so it would have you know it would have been way premeditated for bob they're trying to fool wayne into thinking that someone threw a golf ball off of the reactor into the ceiling tile that's for sure what was the reaction
(14:15) there was that uh oh dear we were gonna get in trouble no the reaction more was uh humor and sometimes when our emotions don't know how to handle things people laugh instead of cry or when people get uh when they're threatened sometimes they go and uh and it was more of a humor which was which showed me that that influenced him tremendously but it was registering as a haha and it was covering up the real uh emotions of probably his feelings of what have i got myself into uh this is you know something that uh is weird strange so
(15:03) you know in that way also it was indicative of uh covering up those emotions that anyone any normal person would have felt under that certain situation that's very good i thank you very much all right glenn thanks for the call uh elaine we got a person that called in wanting to know uh if you can address your credentials education required to become a clinical hypnotherapist and you know your background experience and all that i do have a bs degree but it's in business management with a minor in psychology
(15:38) my real training came probably about 17 years ago thereabouts when i went into a hypnotherapist as a client and had a couple of healings in my body and it so impressed me i wanted to learn more never thinking i would ever be a hypnotherapist but in doing that and continuing to learn from this hypnotherapist who is helen bockham that i work with now at serena's clinical hypnosis she has taught out at the university and at the community college i took all of her courses but more more of my learning came from being
(16:21) in her chair working on myself then came from the actual classes although they're very important i've read all the books i've taken the trainings and certifications from the different organizations national societies hypnotherapists train and test there's licensing that goes on with that it's actually licensed by the city in las vegas um certification comes from individual organizations not a statewide organization that's recognized like a psychiatrist or a psychologist but that training with helen went on for years
(17:04) and years and uh uh since then i've taught classes myself and um i've held uh vice presidency of national organizations and i've really put forth the testing of hypnotherapists through that organization so that not just anyone can slip in and become a hypnotherapist without back in 1989 when bob and i showed up at your door his story wasn't really public knowledge and you couldn't have had any idea what he was involved in i was i'm wondering what your thoughts were when you heard what he was telling you and at what
(17:43) point you really understood the the uh you know when you grasped what his story was that he was actually working on e.t discs and i remember the look on your face but i just really certainly did take a while because this was certainly an instance where you weren't leading anyone anywhere you didn't know where he was going really i wonder what your thoughts were on that uh in the beginning it was just another case of someone wanting to recall memories that had been somehow suppressed and i remember sitting at the desk
(18:17) at my desk and bob was talking about these pictures of desks i thought he said out where he worked and he started talking about the deaths and i was this didn't mean anything to me at that point and i misunderstood him and when i realized he was saying this then i thought wow and then as as we went on uh you know i it hit me like a ton of bricks wow yeah here i am on the edge and uh when when you guys came into the office you didn't impress me as any weirdos or you were very serious about what you wanted to achieve and you
(19:05) certainly drilled me to find out um my credentials and background and so uh you know i thought you know this is legitimate they're wanting to find something out they're not just in here trying to they didn't spend their money to come into my office to try and pull something over on me and as we continued i realized he was very serious about this and was working um to you know uncover these memories and i realized also that he came in to get some of the memories i didn't know the whole story i was just helping him in the beginning (19:51) to pull up some of these memories but i certainly didn't know the whole story so as as it unraveled i was uh shocked and uh extremely interested okay if you've got a uh question for elaine keck or bob lazar give us a call at seven three one one two three or if you're on a cell phone hit star 12 30.

(20:14) let's go ahead and take another call go ahead john uso line uh hello um i'd like to address this to mr lazar and uh uh hypnotherapist okay um excuse me elaine keck excuse me i'm very sorry um i'd like to address the possibility of hypnotic suggestion for uh mr lazar as far as what as far as um as far as for example many of the things you've seen or the fear that you've been given is kind of it doesn't seem like it's it's it doesn't seem like it's uh what's the word i'm looking for it it doesn't seem consistent uh for (21:03) example they they suppose they erased you from society almost right for the most part yeah okay but now we're talking about the government we're talking about people's department of energy why do they overlook the facts of of home books and yearbooks and yet allow you to approach the media with something that's possibly the most damaging material concerning national security that we've ever had it almost sounds like it's instrumentative you understand what i'm saying yeah i see what you're saying but i mean
(21:37) why did the overlooked double things like that i i really don't know i mean that's your guess is as good as mine and i i doubt possible is the information that you have is meant to be is meant to be carried by you [Music] i think it's possible really it's really i mean i mean it's the national security risk it just seems too far to let somebody just go to the news with it you know what i'm saying yeah but it is such an easy thing to discredit you know it's one of the things that they said there it's it's you know the (22:09) most highest security program and secrets that are kept there but they are the easiest thing in the world to keep quiet one of the things you were saying that you were taught basically with with hypnosis right no no no he just used hypnosis to recall some of the material that he was shown at his work and we just used the hypnosis to uh to help him recall he recalled most everything uh consciously already before he ever walked into my office yeah i wanted to redraw several schematics and a couple other things just go back and get more detail about
(22:51) the things that he did remember and your question uh i remember bob asking that very same question to me he said do you think it's possible that they just gave me this information so i would have it and they may want to get information out you know is that possible can we find out in hypnosis if uh if that could be don't ever find anything to uh to show that he may have been he may have been subject to to a hypnotic suggestion uh not not in the sense that that we're talking about here um all of the uh
(23:37) fear techniques that they use of course is in a way hypnotic suggestion but uh we could not find anything where they uh tried to hypnotize him to tell him to go out and reveal certain information or anything like that that uh that was not the case at all okay uh lastly uh if i could i have one more question from mr lazar uh kind of off the subject i spoke with him last week on the air and it was uh he had a statement regarding uh fixing aircraft but i know it's a little bit off the subject but if it's okay i'd (24:13) like to go now oh sure go ahead uh yeah uh you you stated last week that us being able to engineer non-winged aircraft capable of the speeds that are being seen was highly unlikely but i've been doing some reading and i've been kind of keeping my eye on things and there's some things that point that we could for some time and uh have you ever heard of frozen smoke yeah that's um we call that the clear stuff yeah yeah uh well there's there's materials it's called arrow gel is what the real
(24:49) name right okay as uh substances like frozen smoke and ceramic and a whole bunch of different really super lightweight alloys well it's not an alloy no no there are other allies though the cermet's not an alloy but there are alloys that they're using that are very lightweight and highly heat resistant okay used for these types of aircraft secondly engine efficiency is is really is really getting dynamic and and out there oh i agree with that but still you are orders of magnitude are still away from (25:23) the capability of these crafts and flying with no wings well there's okay like for example the f-117 is is very on aerodynamic right if the computer sails the plane calls out and i'm thinking you position thrusters you position engines in different places you can pretty much make anything fly and if it's lightweight enough and heat resistant enough and you have remote control suddenly g-forces aren't that big of a factor neither is speed well i have to kind of disagree with that first of all if you (25:58) eliminate the thrusters nothing's going to fly right okay and that's what we're dealing with in these crafts right well i'm not saying eliminate the thrusters i'm saying they're becoming very small and very efficient oh i i absolutely agree i mean one of the points that i have said or brought up before is that people have claimed this technology is uh you know i think i even heard some other ufo researchers say it's a billion years ahead of us or half a million years ahead of us and uh i don't think that's the case i

(26:28) think you know and eventually what we're seeing may be uh you know 100 or so years off in the future if even that much looking at the rate of taking the way technology is moving along right now but uh i still think with what we have now it is completely impossible to even come close to emulating the operation of these classes okay now that brings me to my second point well we're going to kind of have to cut you off there because the lines are getting full and uh you know we got to let some other callers in here but thanks for your call
(26:58) okay go ahead you're on ufo line hello yeah go ahead hi i have some questions for mr lazar concerning maybe some recent memories that he may have of uh from working at the base right well what i'd like to know is if uh there was any information divulged to him as to the culture of these beings that that supposedly operate these craft and if of the nine craft that he supposedly uh saw were they all from the same culture or were they from different cultures well first of all they really didn't divulge much
(27:37) information about uh what was the first question about the concerning the culture of a being well does it was any information divulged as to where they were from or how they live or or what they're all about uh very little the only hint that i got was that the craft apparently came from the zeta reticuli star system so i assume that the beings that were in it came from there too but there was no direct inference to that as far as the crafts themselves i was not allowed to inspect the other ones however i was told that they all had the (28:15) same power plant and propulsion system and assuming that's true you can only assume one or two one of two things that either the craft were made in the same place and there are different models of it or that these craft are from different places and essentially you have a subcontractor producing the power of plants and ingredients for these things similar to what we do here on earth right but uh i mean the only two theories i can come up okay the last question i have for you is uh have you seen the recent alien
(28:51) autopsy videos and did you see any photographs of the alien beings and do they match up i did see an autopsy photograph um it it was a a bust shot it looked nothing like what i saw on tv on the fox channel i find that very difficult to believe for several reasons um but i don't know if we want to go into that right now but um yeah i i i personally don't don't believe that to be authentic i i guess i can touch on a couple of them i mean one of them is uh and they're minor points but but they seem to annoy me
(29:36) that um in that time and even today you would not have gone through something like that without taking still photographs i think you kind of have to agree with that because that film is certainly no documentation sure that would have all been that could have all been done first before that brief autopsy was done i believe that was a preliminary autopsy not the actual autopsy [Music] no some of the photographs would have to have been taken during that well you don't you didn't see all of the room in their autopsy either
(30:08) but you didn't see any flashes from camera bulbs either or a photographer you wouldn't necessarily see that if the room was lit enough oh i don't think so not in 47 i think the only way you're going to see our photograph developed properly is with a flashball then but i mean there's just several minor points like that and uh from what i understand that uh what was it a million dollars or something close to that that these guys were paid for but that's true too it seems to me i see that offer from (30:41) what i understand was put up before uh what are your thoughts did you hear about the counteroffer that came through from unnamed washington lawyers to buy the film before it was ever released no i've heard other stories but i don't know you know you don't know if they're authentic i mean and also they say that kodak has analyzed the film and as it turned out kodak still has an open offer to analyze that they have never looked at it they say they can conclusively prove it one way or another the only person that (31:11) looked at it was the guy that either used to work or does work for kodak and it was in his personal opinion uh as far as the special effects people uh that guy they talked to that said boy we can't do this uh i had the opportunity of speaking to uh one of the special effects people that are working on my movie who knows the guy pretty well and off off camera he said oh yeah absolutely we could do something like that so you know there's a lot of conflicting information and uh you know it's hard my gut feeling is it

(31:42) seems like it's funk but you know who am i to criticize anyone it seems to me that if someone was going to perpetrate a fraud strictly for money that that and and if that was going to be uh made of rubber let's say that they would have replicated a typical gray a grade that you know how everyone perceives the gray as a emaciated toddler so i'm a big head i i can't understand why anyone going for money would have made that alien the way it appears to top it off the critics both disagree if you talk to special effects experts
(32:16) they'll say yeah i can do it and if you talk to forensic experts they'll say well this is an altered body so what's the truth what is it yeah it's gonna be one of those why would you why would you alter a body by adding extra fingers instead of making it easier just by cutting your thumb off and having four fingers like everyone describes right and in this day and age though really you it would probably be difficult to find an honest special effects i searched who would say i can't do that true you know they they they can do
(32:47) everything almost everything would be fake and and we we've gone round and round about things like this before when it comes to photographic evidence when you consider state-of-the-art technology as it exists nowadays how could you know there will be a time in the not too distant future when when anyone uh what i'm referring to here is that bob read in some reports that the the uh that these aliens had presented uh photographic evidence of the earth over 10 000 years old and uh i don't know that anyone could (33:19) present any form of photographic evidence that could prove anything to anyone considering that everyone can be saved that's true too well we'll have to wait and see okay thanks for your time thanks for the call okay go ahead you're on ufo line hello are you there couldn't hold on any longer hello go ahead you're on ufo line yeah um you know one thing i noticed about that alien autopsy uh saying that so far i've heard nobody talk about uh in some scenes they show that uh that leg that was all uh mangled or (33:55) whatever it was uh it was on the left leg and some scenes and on some chains it was on the right leg that i don't watch it uh if you haven't if you're on tape pay attention to that real real close that seems like an awful big mistake that someone screw up on but i've seen it we've seen it over and over again really it wasn't from uh you know because it was shot on film it is possible that during the transfer the film might have flipped over [Music] i mean did other were there any other objects in the room that might have (34:30) reversed well i don't uh i guess that's possible i mean i'm just trying to give them the benefit of it yeah well i i i thought of that myself and i guess i just haven't analyzed that close enough to correlate other objects along with it we're not as familiar with the film as you are you saying that in in some frames one leg is hurt the other one is not in disrepair that's right and in other frames the the injured leg is now repaired and the other leg is injured that's right it's on the left leg and 17
(35:04) it's on the right leg and other scenes so what's your opinion of the autopsy fraud well it's just it if that's true then i'd have to i'd have to say yeah there's you know there's some kind of yeah right after this yeah so uh you know i i think that somebody i've never heard of anybody talking about that yet and uh um you know of all the critics so you know maybe that isn't uh maybe they have reversed that film and that's already been taken into account nobody's
(35:32) mentioned that uh seems like somebody should have said something about that you know i'm sure i'm not the only one who saw it so uh you know being over that millions of people saw it you know i'm sure there's been a lot of people wonder about that yeah there's certainly been a lot of hot debate about it so a lot of people really aren't looking for anything to refute it they'd love it for it to be true so they're not being too critical yeah i guess so anyway i just uh i just started throwing my two cents on that (36:04) anyway all right well thanks for the call okay go ahead you're on ufo line hello um you know i was wondering about where you stand as far as um the idea it seems uh bob that you are more concerned with the hardware uh and the technology i am then the question of is there actual extraterrestrial visitation now what i want to know is bob and the other gentleman's name's dennis no lane tech i know there's lane kick there and this is gene gina okay now gene i heard you say that you thought that alien abductions (36:42) was mostly a bunch of bs no no no i didn't say that i think george knapp said that last week and it was hs for horseshit but yeah uh but no that was not uh that was i and i he said a lot of it he didn't say all of it and i think his point was that as lane is represented here tonight uh uh you know some people may have been abducted but not everyone who says they've been abducted has necessarily been abducted and i think you'd probably agree with that would you oh sure sure i'd have to agree with that (37:12) but then there's the question of it seems like uh mr uh bob that you usually give a standard question as far as when somebody tries to ask you about is there such a thing as extraterrestrial intelligence visiting this planet from either another solar system or another galaxy and i was wondering if both well it seems like you say well your guess is as good as mine in other words you haven't actually seen them so you really don't know well that's yeah that's exactly why i like to kind of draw the line between (37:48) you know what what i know for a fact and you know what might be true the information he saw implied that but and and you know i certainly think that it's true but bob doesn't want everyone hanging their hat on just some words he read on paper so he was he was in a flying disc and he worked on the revulsion system they can say yes this is here and the report said it was from zeta reticuli but he didn't go there and verify that as a point of origin so i i i get frustrated with it just like you do and that he draws the line there

(38:20) we all wanted to proceed and they sound a little bit but uh maybe it's good that he stops there well can i can i uh uh uh ask the question of both of you gentlemen do you believe that we are being visited by extraterrestrial intelligence that are being similar to us from another solar system or another galaxy at this time hmm what similar to us well let's say that the entities as far as they're not spiritual beings or angels or anything of that nature about as far as i would stretch is to say that i firmly believe that that did
(38:57) occur whether that's occurring now i i don't know and i say yes you say that you say yes yeah what do you base that on then well just the breadth of the information coming from around the entire planet again i don't believe everyone who said they were abducted has been abducted but i don't think absolutely everyone is lying either i i and and look at the pictures look at uh look at everything from military and civilian pilots uh from even you know navy personnel out on the ocean uh uh people like lane keck who certainly (39:30) doesn't lead anyone down the road and these 80 people and and maybe won't vouch for 70 of them but the other 10 it appears to him something happened and i think i it's the weight of the collective information leads me to believe that yeah this isn't a mass hallucination something's going on and then there's the one that there are there are an eternal amount of stars out there you know the chances of some other life forms being out there other than ourselves that's guaranteed really as far as pure
(39:59) numbers alone but i wanted to address wayne as far as he was talking about self-hypnosis that's lame elaine i'm sorry elaine uh you were saying that self-hypnosis really may not be that effective and um you had somebody on the show last week that was saying that they were using a tape that was um opening up the mind to reveal a possible abduction scenario and you're claiming lane that self-hypnosis may not be enough well let me address that first i have to say that i believe that self-hypnosis is the absolute best tool that we
(40:41) have to go in and find the truth as to what it is that we've experienced we have that ability to go in and pick it apart if we'll just ask seek and knock and if we know how to do it so it's the best tool that is available and it is effective and yes it can be used uh in a way that um can mislead and we can mislead ourselves as many of us do or have done uh so we are capable of doing that as well but i do have to say that it's the best tool available and uh i believe in okay let's go on to the (41:28) next caller lionzer thanks for the call go ahead you're on ufo line hello yes go ahead yes uh many years ago uh fact it was in 1972 i watched a uh a flying uh disc uh it stood still over the santa ana newport freeway entertained and it sat there for about 20 minutes and you can see the rib under structure on it it was not shiny but it looked like reflective fire light and then all of a sudden it just shot off uh towards the ocean another time we were in tamworth and we saw that three of us watched this it looked like (42:08) a huge chicken coop how is blue a flying chicken it was the chicken my sister saw the same thing in montana it looked like a large rectangular crate almost like a box car and it came down over this over santa single mountain was this in the daytime yes broad daylight it just floated down over the center amount and it disappeared but i i wanted to ask you about the propulsion on these as i understand that it starts with a hyper a very high voltage electric electrostatic field well there is one present on the craft

(42:45) yes and then it employs the wave guide to create the uh well the wave guide guides the uh gravitational the gravity wave essentially yeah and then it uses um cavity resonators to amplify or attenuate the uh high frequency weight not exactly now i believe i understood that this was how it propels it in different directions by uh these three or four wave guides yeah there's in this one particular craft there are three gravity amplifiers three wave guides and it it moves in a very unique fashion it doesn't it to move forward for instance that (43:28) one or two of the wave guides are swung out in front of the craft and it creates a distortion in front of it and because the distortion it kind of acts like a gravity well almost like a downhill and the craft rolls forward or essentially slides forward in the gravity distortion that's that's how the the craft move moves around in the omicron configuration like the more or less low power mode if you will use the captive resonators nope there weren't any on this one well they're not that we'll see michelle at (44:01) farmer restaurante 1750 south rainbow bob you and i have been department with steven seagal tagalon kelly lebron zechariah hitch and george knapp numerous others and i never heard anything but compliments how about you no i gotta agree with that that's it's a great all right so go see michelle if you get a chance let's go and take another call go ahead you're on ufo line yeah um i do have something i want to ask bob uh for some time and i forgot all about it which i hung up though a few minutes ago
(44:31) i think it was john lear who talked about the bucky ball you know what that is yeah it's a yeah it's what that's a buckminster fullerene it's a carbon molecule okay yes what did john lear have to say about that how would well i was unclear what it was that's why i'm asking you oh i know what did he say about it well i don't know it was just some kind of weird mysterious thing that you know that uh and i wasn't sure what it was but that's that's what i was calling yeah it's a
(45:07) carbon molecule named after buckminster fuller but it is a cool name a buckyball uh-huh so that's well that answers your question so what does it do okay go ahead you're on ufo line hello yes go ahead yeah i've got a question for lane um hypothetically let's say somebody comes into your office and unbeknownst to you they work currently out of the classified section of the test site or whatever and they're having some problems that seem to be completely unrelated to uh anything involving we're talking
(45:50) about tonight and then as you delve in deeper you start to recover things that are obviously involved in high level national security uh what kind of a moral dilemma does that put you in and what do you do that is an excellent question and what i'm there to do is to help that person to achieve an emotional balance within themselves and what we would do each step of the way is just weigh it out and i would certainly draw it to the attention of the client if we were getting into some areas that i knew were classified
(46:44) and it would be an individual call according to my integrity or i would probably say the holy spirit would guide me and i would not um go after any of this information uh for my own use only if they were consciously aware that it was important for their healing for their emotional or mental healing uh would i then uh address it and it would be on a case-by-case basis and whatever well uh the only reason i talk about what happened with bob lazar is because he has given me permission to do so he went media wide with it and i haven't (47:35) i'll give you case histories but never any names and what if what if some representatives of the government come and see you and say we want to know what you've been talking about with one of our people is are you uh permitted under confidentiality do not discuss it could get to be a real mess and bob would bring me something in jail i'm sure if they allowed him to do so okay well thank you very much thank you you're welcome okay go ahead you're on ufo line hello yes go ahead yeah i'm wondering i (48:14) was in contact with the person who was working at the tonopah experimental range and they were radar operator uh at times they would find themselves going up there and checking in at the uh in the facilities up there and the next thing you know they knew it would be six months later and they had completed their assignment they were headed back to vegas wait wait wait wait they what do you mean the next thing they knew would be six months later literally the next thing they knew would be six months later the only time that they've had any kind (48:45) of aggression that has been done they remembered being in a clinical office with a nurse and a doctor approaching them with a needle the nurse was gently restraining the person to kind of like tell them not to be nervous and the doctor proceeded to inject them in the back of the head now i understand that there are so many people working on classified projects that you can't send spies out and tap that many phones to make sure they're not talking so doesn't it make sense that they would develop some sort of way to

(49:15) make sure that these people have some sort of a memory loss well that would be awfully convenient but uh with modern pharmaceuticals that's entirely possible is it not that that i don't know it would seem like that would be very difficult do you think it's it's in their own best interest to try and develop something like that i don't think so i'm more surprised to spy on people well i mean if i was them i would get more spies to spy on people because i imagine you would cause a lot of personal conflict in someone's mind it's (49:42) the only thing they can remember do you think they care about that honestly no i don't think they care about anything bob didn't answer my question didn't i read that um that they electronically monitored the phone lines and then a computer actually searches the audible for certain keywords and that's to decide whether they can actually see i saw that on uh i think an episode of 60 minutes where they were trying to track down some drug dealers and they uh i think they had a large computer system
(50:11) set up that they bought they were doing it in columbia or something to that effect and uh they borrowed some equipment from our intelligence agencies and it would scan all the phone lines in colombia and look for specific words and just pick them out and uh so i imagine they could use something similar to that you know but since so much communication is done with people that have classified clearances and people who don't and that maybe want to know what's going on like you gentlemen apparently do since you
(50:40) have the show that a lot of these conversations would be carried on over uh not over the phone but in person right so yeah it would be to their benefit to develop something like that well this is the indication that i've received from more than one individual and i think it's something that that would be pretty scary if that in fact was again it's it's very frightening just as the rest of the whole phenomena is to some people so i'm not so sure i would want someone uh handling classified information that was (51:08) very important who had been given these drugs i don't think that these drugs would be developed to the point where you could trust anyone to do the proper job when they were on these drugs if they would exist okay thanks for the call we got a one more call here go ahead you're on ufo line listen i was abducted i had children by these aliens yes go ahead anyway i was just calling elena's listen of course everyone this is george now i'm listening to the show and it's great but i just think bob has really been mean to (51:48) these people that are calling in with you know they're trying to be nice they have legitimate concerns and he's being mean though hey george thanks for the great plug on the news last night well of course you deserve it how's it going it's going great we get some good questions elaine's a great guy always yeah thanks for all those uh people that you send me uh i think you screen a lot of them uh i handle a lot of your uh entertainment i think give me my cut lane i thought you guys asked the show okay
(52:23) thanks guys okay go ahead you're on ufo line hello go ahead yeah uh as related to one of the previous callers i used to teach a course at one of the institutions in higher learning here and one of the students approached me one time who said that she worked out at the teleport range and she told me that she went to the airport got on an airplane and then came home and did not remember what she did all day and she was very emotional about this but whatever that's worth to you hmm that's that's just really strange (53:02) i wonder uh i i wonder what's going on or what was going on up at the toner pod test range i mean for all i knew that was going on up there around that time or in the past anyway was the uh the cell for the self-right in fact i had a friend

that worked up there but uh i this is the first i've heard of anything like that going around so you don't have any information as far as you know drugs or hypnosis being used for security reasons for people working up there no i don't i would actually like to find out more about it myself (53:29) okay well thanks for the call okay well we're going to pretty much wind it up here for ufo line this week i'd like to thank our guest lane keck lane thanks for all your help it's been a pleasure anyone like to get a hold of lane they can reach him at serena's hypnosis clinic i believe that number 384-4420 correct and of course uh bob lazar and i'll be back next friday night at 11 so please join us on ufo line we'll see you then you

(00:16) [Music] george knapp is an emmy-winning commentator and investigative reporter at klas tv in las vegas he has won dozens of national and regional journalism awards including recognition for his 1989 documentary ufos the best evidence that program introduced the world to bob lazar and his allegations of alien technology at nevada's area 51.
(01:12) knapp's other ufo research efforts include groundbreaking work in the former soviet union his those works have been profiled by cbs news abc news nbc news the bbc and numerous other national and international news organizations please give a great mufon los angeles welcome to george knapp if i brought enough stuff here i am absolutely amazed how many people would come out on a on a weeknight to learn about this topic when there are obviously a lot of things you could be doing and i'm sure a lot of you have family members and friends who think
(02:00) you're you're crazy to be coming to learn about a topic that most of the world most of the official world at least considers to be absolutely nuts but hopefully tonight we'll have a little bit of fun we're certainly going to cover a lot of ground or at least try to got a lot of video to look at and i i can almost guarantee that your butts are going to get sore before we run out of stuff to talk about i got a letter uh not too long ago from cycop the committee for the scientific investigation of claims of the
(02:30) paranormal you know those folks phil class's group we all know who they are and what they represent it was a fundraising letter because i subscribed to the skeptical inquirer they're always asking me for money about four or five times a year this letter um was asking for a contribution based on a letter that had been sent to scott cycop and here's the letter that they say was sent to them dear cycop i was hoping you could send me facts about aliens i am doing a project on ofo i am 14 years old and live in louisville
(03:00) i was convinced that i was a alien when i was a child my family told me i was put in their home by some government and they get paid to keep me my sister says i am part of some big government experiment to see if aliens can be like humans i guess that's why i'm such a believer the cycop writer then in tones how this letter struck such a chord with those compassionate souls back east there at cyclop headquarters and i found myself imagining how they it would make a powerful infomercial for this group if they could they could only land sally
(03:31) struthers to do it you know the letter went on to decry the upsurge in such television programs as the x-files and sightings and that influential film that's now a tv series buffy the vampire slayer it scoffed at the power of prayer it uh at public officials who rely on astrologers at government research into remote viewing and how these expenditures somehow endanger medicare and things like that only they could be so dense to think that the public accepts buffy the vampire slayer as the intellectual equivalent of a
(04:02) national geographic documentary the fact is that regular people like you and i know the difference between a news program and a movie or a sitcom no one i know prays to the teenage mutant ninja turtles i almost wish cycop was right to an extent i wish there was this huge segment of the population a much larger segment of the population that did take the time to think about the ufo question in serious terms but that is not the case not really and i think the reason is it for it is kind of all around us uh ufology likes to label itself as an

(04:35) emerging science we hear that all the time i think it was the theme of one of mufon's conferences a couple of years ago but it isn't i mean i i don't think it is not even close uh people like like you and i like to come to conferences and gatherings like this looking for answers but we don't really get them it kind of reminds me of the jerry lewis telethon you know every year uh he tells us oh we're right around the corner you know they'll go right around the corner from that from that cure just
(05:02) just keep on coming back and you know the next year there really isn't a cure you know i think the problem the roadblock in this sense is ufologists it's a slightly presumptuous kind of a term i mean anybody can anybody wants to be a ufologist is a ufologist you know there's no degree to speak of i've been at this for about 10 years now a pretty big chunk of my life but not nearly as long as a lot of people have a modern ufo era is going on for 50 years or so and i can't think of hardly any conclusions that we can all
(05:35) agree on you know what are these visitors what do they represent where are they from why are they here all the big central questions we'll agree on those um so much for emerging science you know that what we do have is a lot of a lot of bickering a lot of nastiness a lot of infighting the problem as i said is ufologists uh we we have no uh shortage of uh of semi-important or important sounding topics things like we gotta face on mars we've got a a clever little demon named chupacabra that only seems to pop up where people
(06:08) speak spanish we've got more angels you can shake a stick at we've got horny reptilian aliens going after our earth women all over the place but we don't have a whole heck of a lot of answers i know a few years ago whitley strieber who i i consider more of a writer and a thinker than a ufologist i don't think he'd like that that term a ufology he turned his back on the whole field and walked away i'm glad that he's back speaking and writing about the topics and his experiences but he just got tired of of uh of what
(06:37) he was subjected to and for him it was on an international scale jacques valet who in my opinion is probably the most important person to ever take up this topic did the same thing he just got burned out on ufology and ufologists and uh and uh basically you don't see them at these conferences anymore uh there's a newsletter called saucer smear which is just a hoot if you haven't seen it it's funny it it chronicles the various ufo cat fights of the moment an issue last year it mentioned the dispute between a researcher named
(07:10) robert todd who says roswell mainstay jesse marcel was a blowhard who exaggerated his military record and everything else and marcel's son jesse jr writes back to todd with some non-disguised digs at todd's personal life saying in the meantime why don't you get a bottle of booze hide under your mommy's bed and get drunk you're nothing but a wacko so go f yourself you know how many ufologists have wanted to say that to each other but but haven't for one i mean you think of stan friedman our our mutual friend and
(07:47) colleague versus kevin randle and don schmidt you toss in carl flock and some of the lesser roswell luminaries these guys hate each other you think about phil class they're fill class dart boards i was amazed the first time i went to a to a conference and saw that this is an emerging science it's it's a wonder someone hasn't blown a fuse and whipped out an uzi at one of these gatherings and when it comes to ufos it seems to me that people who jump onto bandwagons one way or another often end up with a rusty
(08:17) nail in their butts there's no shortage of examples um and and you can call it disinformation you can call it infighting or whatever but we just don't seem to be making a whole heck of a lot of headway billy myers amazing photos of those beam ships i remember seeing them so many years ago before ever knew anything about this topping wow and some of those early photographs they looked incredible they still do some of the later photographs clearly look fake well for people you're either in one camp or the other either
(08:44) they're all fake or they're all all real uh the truth however may be somewhere in between we forget that there were a lot of other independent witnesses who weren't part of myers cult who saw these beam ships or at least said they did uh you know we we also forget that we had a lot of people that infiltrated his group uh for that had varying uh motives journalists included undercover journalists wouldn't be too hard to discredit a a slightly kooky one-armed farmer uh what about the mj-12 documents same sort of a thing you
(09:16) know they're filled with uh with things that just invite criticism uh inconsistencies in the type style and all that stuff that's been uh been criticized

but uh at the same time information intriguing information that really rings true and that uh that seemingly could not have come from sources of other legitimate inside sources gulf breeze three kinds of viewpoints there these are real photos of real ufos ed walters faked the whole thing or it's the government playing mind games with a gullible public
(09:48) i don't know whether ed walters ever experimented with fake photographs but i sure strongly suspect that that story about the model in a former house of his was bogus yet we tend to uh you know we fall in one camp or another we either throw it out or accept it all crop circles those early crop circles with the the the uh the patterns that that have not been duplicated uh by by folks and the and the changes in the chemical composition to the plants in the soil that can't be duplicated and yet even colin andrews admits today 75
(10:21) of all the crop circles he's seeing in england each year are man-made individuals and organizations for whatever reason muddying the waters again and and the world press my colleagues in journalism tend to throw the whole thing out the roswell case itself the alien autopsy film same thing tid bits of information that seem tantalizingly true and yet uh you fall into one camp or another and throw out the baby with the bathwater it's a mess the truth is i i hate to say this but i just don't follow this scene as much as i used to
(10:52) i don't log onto the net to check out the latest rumors i i generally do not attend the ufo meetings or conventions anymore i occasionally produce a story or a commentary in las vegas alone but it's not nearly anything like like the previous efforts and documentaries that took almost all of my time i don't watch sightings anymore unless i'm flipping around the channel and there it is i don't go through the tv guide at the beginning of the week and circle the things i need about ufos that i need to
(11:18) tape which i used to do i do watch the x-files but heck a lot of people watch the x-files the simple fact is i have tried hard to kick my ufo habit you know it's not quite cold turkey it's more like what you compare to nicotral or or a ufo light i don't mainline the mufon journal anymore i don't sit out in the desert night night after night uh looking for ufos strange things in the sky don't collect you follow just trading cards anymore i don't return long distance calls as many people have pointed out to me from
(11:51) people i don't know who just want to talk about ufos in general or waco or oklahoma city bombing or jfk's assassination or whatever i don't it's still an addiction it always will be but i find myself devoting a lot more time to having a life being normal going to work having a job doing stories about things that are important to my community i still pursue leads about area 51 once in a while which we'll talk about tonight i have been involved in trying to verify the claims and the background of colonel
(12:25) corso which we'll also talk about i'm also uh still absorbing in mountains of information that we've brought back from not one but two trips to russia we're back there in 96 again which we'll also get to tonight but but life i think is too short to deal with the uh the bill coopers uh the new world order conspiracy nuts the uh the underground vats of alien parts where they're in bubbling cauldrons the uh the secret treaties the lead aliens abduct us the paranoid fringe cases the neo-religious zealots and all the rest
(12:55) and unfortunately in the eyes of everyone else uh you and i in this room were all those people we're all nuts even the straight arrow no-nonsense by the book researchers who really want to find the truth earnest people like yourselves want to get to the bottom of this we're all nuts i uh i had the pleasure seeing this is a las vegas publication you probably can't see it but they've got on the front page here it's a something of a likeness of me my head looks even fatter than it does in person
(13:23) and i'm riding in a flying saucer and the basic gist of the article is get out of town you know we're tired we're tired of this ufo crap get out of town i'm a terrible reporter and that's enough of that um i haven't done a ufo story in las vegas series since february of last year but i'm i'm the ufo guy as i suspect each of you have your own circle of friends and family you're the ufo person in your circle i empathize with you i mean i can't i can't tell you for me i'm a public (13:57) person so it gets a you know it gets a little bit of a wider wider hit in las vegas a couple of editorial cartoons in the state's biggest newspaper one that had me with a i uh the first one had me with a butterfly net chasing a flying saucer and they they had one um where these uh it didn't show me but had these alien hitmen who had come to earth it was called the marshmallow head chronicles and these i had done a series on abductions and these alien hitmen were coming to get me because i was spilling (14:24) the beans and they had their ray guns looking at two gasoline pumps and um and they were yes of course they are earth men but which one is george knapp they were going to rub me out i had a the media critic he wrote that oh people are rushing home to see my ufo stories not because they're interested in little green men but because they want to be there when i go bull goose looney right on the air i don't need this i don't need this i'm trying to have a life so i have tried to place a little bit of a

(14:56) distance between myself and the field but still i'm working behind the scenes on some topics of that i hope will be of mutual interest and these two have been sullied by various ufologists in this emerging science uh philip corso is one of them you've all heard of them by now mentioned a couple of times earlier i think he really is an important new source of information on this topic one of the highest ranking ufo whistleblowers ever certainly the only wisc ufo whistleblower that i can think of that ever worked at the white house
(15:25) predictably though there was some over-hyped promotion for his book and boy ufologists just couldn't wait to get their knives into him i first met phil corso in 1992 before anybody in the ufology field had ever heard of him before anybody in the apology field had ever met him a friend of mine his name is mark sotter he's a journalist who now works for a program called american journal he was working on a book about pows prisoners of war who'd been abandoned after the korean war and he ran into colonel corso and and (15:54) in the course of interviewing him about that topic learned about the ufo stuff uh i also got to meet him through mark saunder we were talking about this a book deal at the time for various reasons the book was never written but i continued to have occasional correspondence with him and talked to colonel corso he had asked me to keep quiet about it about what he had told me and i did until the hype about his book started coming out well just just before about a year before that happened uh myself and some colleagues went back
(16:24) to see him and and uh got an update on what he'd been up to got a lot of videotape of him subsequently i've been able to interview him again and i'm impressed by the guy for those of you who don't know about his background he has a long and distinguished military career that is easily verifiable although there are some of our youth ufological colleagues who want to dispute it anyway got into intelligence work in 1953 he was assigned to the white house staff of dwight eisenhower worked for four years with the national (16:53) security council was subsequently commander of the ranged battalion at white sands new mexico he commanded the first nuclear missile battalion in germany and he served as inspector general of the seventh army but his most interesting assignment came in 1961 when his longtime friend and mentor lieutenant general arthur trudeau selected corso to head up the army's foreign technology division trudeau and corso were virtually inseparable they were they trusted each other impeccably uh immeasurably while working under (17:24) general trudeau corso says he was given the assignment of evaluating and exploiting pieces of alien material which corso was told came from a crashed saucer in new mexico among the items he says he saw and handled were a uh a piece of metal with really unique properties the atoms he said were all aligned he said it had a hardness and strength which could not be duplicated by human technology he said he saw a charred computer chip he saw photographs and reports concerning autopsies performed on alien bodies he was told (17:54) the autopsies had been conducted in a special facility at walter reed hospital corso and trudeau farmed out this material they say to private labs to government research labs told them hinted to them that this had come from some sort of advanced russian plane that had crashed although without spelling it out and told them to go to work and figure out what this stuff was i have some videotape of colonel corso we can put that first one in here now this this interview was uh toward the end of last summer that's coming from new mexico roswell
(18:37) yes roswell well i think something might be another crash but these are came from new mexico and roswell especially and the general trudeau gave me the job of working on a program put these things out feed them to industry but those provisions featured they could have the patents but they had to feed them out back to our house as a competitive edge of the army and to the american people and the world if necessary the the number one was the integrated circuit number two of importance was laser because i had some laser instruments

(19:13) also then fiber optics came out of this the uh imaging devices on my viewing devices came from this some of the work we did electromagnetism in the icbms and it came from this imagine the the scientists and technicians and the companies that worked on this stuff are not real happy with with your version of it no i haven't heard anything in fact i've heard from scientists at least a dozen nonsense and they're supporting my everything in the book in fact i even told you i think that i was not interested in seeing ufos i
(19:46) was all members of what was in those ufos you know i thought i'm not interested in seeing something fine here but i like to know what's inside that thing did you physically handle the artifacts from the front oh yeah i had them they were in my possession what things did you have what would you have i had integrated circuits like size of a quarter i had a bunch of wires colors would come out i didn't knew i mean i would say wise i didn't know what they were i don't know if they were wise i mean
(20:12) they actually well i didn't know what they were they just said we're getting light i had a piece of metal atoms were aligned in it so tough papers didn't you couldn't break it bend it or anything i had super tenacity fibers and it was uh a little atoms were lined in you couldn't burn it you couldn't cut it and later on the nearest thing in this world that we found today was a spider web there's a spider's spins in atomic aligned uh web you know people say uh military can't keep a secret there's no way a
(20:42) secret like this could be kept we kept a secret one way we had to keep the secrets for two reasons one is a climate opinion with an iron government as i said there was within our own government we had enemies who would have been brought to destroy all this on us and and timeless cougs so all we did i got the job of going and developing a program which is this customer broke college done and through this program we started feeding it out through industry but this was not normal on paper it went out as normal research and development
(21:15) proposals not to name something yeah you didn't put out a report that's higher some aliens research and development came from somebody's brain and also this was known among a select few mostly combat officers head to head and came we kept us among ourselves because otherwise we were certain that they would have destroyed our organization and we had a good organization general trooper put them together just a couple years before were you and your group ever able to determine where these things are from (21:51) why they're here no they will determine although one of the remiss of the things that i missed out on and i say this and i think the greatest gift god ever gave he created man in his image yeah we had the greatest artifact that they gave us was those bodies and we didn't do enough on those that partially i can take the blame i had the money and the organization and the people do it and we didn't go far enough autopsies were done on bodies but not enough we didn't do enough how they function how their brain functioned
(22:28) and uh we came to a conclusion even in those days that teacher the reason most flying saucers have failed is because our conclusion was that this being is part of the guidance system he's part of that saucer where do you suppose that stuff is now those reports those kind of reports i had no idea during when i left the army i was the one who was supposed to see it that nothing was stolen from the army i delivered my foul what happened to him i've called some friends recently give him some ideas where they might be to (22:58) try to run them down but i don't know we don't have a military operates the bone bag and the microphone those days we microfilm a lot of stuff and we had i don't i have no idea what happened remember again i've been gone almost 40 years now as i say people criticize me they say well you're cooking i thought well i'm in good company do you know marshall trudeau john macarthur juan brown albert river smith from military i thought i'm a good company that's the company i'd rather be in with those (23:31) groups those are all people that do about they know about all this i'd rather be in that company than the ones criticizing me so story have been extremely difficult but fooling some of it hasn't been difficult at all it can certainly be shown he is who he says he is he worked where he says he worked and that he was certainly easily qualifies as one of the highest ranking ufo whistleblowers in history however corso admits there is no paper trail to prove any of the ufo-related research ever took place he told me in (24:00) 1996 that it was imperative the information be kept close to the vest so the operation wasn't discredited or co-opted by others in the pentagon or others in the government what makes him credible to me is that he's told incredible stories before and has been proven right i told you that the the the guy who introduced me to him was investigating a a book about pows three times colonel corso has testified before congress on pow issues and at the time he was made his testimony uh the things he were saying seemed (24:31) absolutely incredible that we had left men behind that there had been a secret war uh underway where we were testing uh we were flying over flying soviet airspace and our pilots had been shot down those things are now a matter of historical record at the same time before he was testifying uh he was thoroughly checked out by the fbi uh by congressional staffers as well my congressional sources have told me that and some of my colleagues who that have traveled around the country to see former friends and fellow officers

(25:00) of his and he gets nothing but glowing reviews from everyone they all confirm that he and general tudo are very close that they kept things close to the vest and they also have said that colonel corso talked about this ufo stuff for many years so you know i tend to give them a lot of a lot of leeway the eu ufological community however does not before corso's book was even out long before his book was out ufologists were already taking pot shots there's an english guy named armin victoria um and if he seems to specialize in the (25:34) in these uh these hit pieces he started putting out stuff that colonel corso could be linked to segregationist strom thurman wow senator thurman probably was a segregationist at one point in his political career he had probably had to be to get elected doesn't mean he has won now and as i recall he's the chairman of armed services and has served longer in the united states senate than any person in american history so being linked to him i don't think is necessarily a bad thing uh later critics of corso complained
(26:04) that senator thurman had turned on him now first he was too close to thurman and then their griping and bitching and moaning because thurman was was backing away from him what thurman had done is withdraw his forward to corso's book there's a lot of interness in politics behind this but i'll just tell you the way that his critics are pointing at is that thurman had no idea this was going to be about ufos he was shocked absolutely shocked when ufos were mentioned in the book and that's why he pulled it back well
(26:32) thurman knew all about it his staff knew all about it because people that i know have have interviewed him about it before the book came out uh what it was is sort of an embarrassment for him when it started getting a whole lot of a whole lot of press and some of the staff members some of his senior political advisors has not been in on the decision to okay that forward for the book so they had it pulled anyway don't read too much into that one of the roswell gurus blew off corso because he supposedly claimed to be a member of (26:59) mj-12 absolutely untrue absolutely untrue some articles noted he was part of a secret society and this is the first one for me the shikshi knights of malta the knights of malta according to columnists from back in the 50s were ex-military officers who were deeply suspicious of the cia who is it you know a recent issue of saucer smear notes that corso is an illegal fight with hollywood agents look at this guy he's fighting with hollywood agents he's in a lawsuit with hollywood he's probably the first person to ever come
(27:38) to hollywood and get in the fight with the studios or agents isn't he um what isn't known is that corso at least the the people i know close to him has basically been robbed you know his book was on the bestseller list for eight weeks and and it's been you know all over the place he's got all kinds of publicity he's got dime one from the book uh he claims that there was uh apparently this story that's come out now is that there were a contract that he was shown but there were pages that
(28:03) weren't in it um so i heard i heard that mr burns his co-author is going to be speaking here at some point you folks if you're going to attend that thing you might want to ask him about how that deal worked out because that's the source of the lawsuit phil class has just come out with his his newsletter he notes that in the book there are many exaggerations many errors in corso's book there are there are errors i i happen to see the original manuscript and and while the claims were fantastic and incredible and sensational (28:35) a lot of the stuff that turned out in this book was not in that first one i don't know where it came from but it didn't come from colonel corso because some of the exaggerations about the impact on technology were not in the first one some of the inaccuracies a little picky things that only phil class can dig out where the headquarters the eighth army air force really was what base it was you know those are errors but i don't know where they came from i i will tell you that uh that colonel corso i found them to be a charming and (29:05) articulate man with a pretty good memory and a feisty spirit it has been a long time since some of these events happened so maybe memory could cloud it a bit perhaps an overzealous uh ghost rider could could murk up the waters a little bit but again as with crop circles as with billy meyer as with mj-12 i caution you not to throw out the baby with the bath water i'm not here to tell you that everything that colonel corso says is true but a lot of it rings true and i consider him to be an important new source of information so

(29:35) at the worst keep an open mind in regard to him now the way he's been treated is not something unknown to me especially in dealing with area 51 as you might imagine you talk about your knee-jerk reactions conspiracies and disinformation area 51 certainly comes to mind you know i remember getting to sit in on a preview of the summer blockbuster independence day and we're sitting there and watching the movie and uh and they get to the point where the president is informed hey there really is an area 51. and this is in las vegas so (30:09) everybody's pretty hip to this this topic and uh and these guys in front of me are going see i told you there's an area 51 and it's like you know why you needed a hollywood blockbuster to confirm this stuff i don't know but it was it was a humorous moment you know today area 51 is the subject of movies and documentaries and network features and and newspaper stories and magazine covers talk shows internet chatter tabloid fantasies and ufo debates popular science popular mechanics aviation week the new york times the
(30:42) washington post 60 minutes nbc abc larry king nippon the bbc italian german australian networks entertainment tonight hard copy a current affair unsolved mysteries sightings encounters the paranormal borderline geraldo montel williams art bell chuck harder the x-files and dozens of less influential media outlets have chronicled the rise of a veritable area 51 cottage industry including a research center and a viewer's guide the ailey inn t-shirts and posters and buttons and bumper stickers videos and satellite images and even as we're going
(31:17) to see in a couple of minutes a bob lazar christmas ornament now ladies and gentlemen ladies and gentlemen 15 years ago groom lake was not even a burp on our collective radar screen true there were some sporadic reports over the years in las vegas newspapers about this base out there along with some oblique references in certain ufo circles if you recall falcon and condor talked a little bit about a secret base in nevada and there was something called the aquarius document floating around but few people outside of nevada or the inner circles
(31:53) of ufology had ever heard of the place three things changed that first in 1984 the u.s military initiated the illegal seizure of 89 000 acres of public land around groom lake just took it and later asked for permission to take it second a ufo researcher named john lear started touting his belief that alien technology was being stored and tested out there and third bob lazar admitted his involvement in the secret effort to back engineer alien technology at a facility near groom lake for better or worse considering how everything has turned
(32:27) out i was instrumental in bringing all three of those developments to the attention of a larger public and in light of all the folklore and fantasy and absolute nonsense and profiteering and distortion and invective which have emerged as a result of those initial news reports i don't think it's exactly an achievement to brag about but it is mine nonetheless concerning ufo allegations there are some things that we can conclude i think with some reasonable certainty saucer-shaped craft have been witnessed at or near that facility since the 1950s
(33:01) more than two dozen former or current employees have told me as much over the years a much smaller number of witnesses claim to have seen alien beings at the base odd glowing craft have been photographed and videotaped in the vicinity of area 51 that much is true last year i did a couple of update stories on area 51 for anyone in the audience who's not familiar with the base or with bob lazar and maybe we can roll that tape right now well there's several uh actually nine uh flying saucers flying discs the

what the world
(34:04) already knew it has a quote operating location lake but the pentagon says the base has no name by denying the place as a name the defense department hopes to stall a lawsuit filed by former workers who claim they were exposed to toxic chemicals there the lawyer who filed the suit thinks it's ridiculous you just can't have black places you can't have places that don't exist the government cannot create these secret enclaves in which it and it alone determines what laws will govern despite official denials the common name
(34:36) for the base has always been area 51. we recently found this 1967 government map which lists that name subsequent maps left the name blank we also found a 70s newspaper article in which the pentagon mentions area 51 by name what's it called today high-level sources say the military uses the term score event to refer to it who runs the base the cia built it for use in the u2 program this is rare footage taken from groom lake of some early tests current warning signs indicate it's an air force facility but all branches of the military have
(35:10) used it along with most major defense contractors the common thread has always been e g and g which has had the contract to operate the facility since the beginning what goes on there today plenty highly placed sources say the base employs about 1800 people one of their main missions is to evaluate russian defense systems equipment that's in the hands of unfriendly nations like iran and iraq another program at 51 is the stealth helicopter although the technology isn't far along as for flying saucers the military
(35:40) admits it has built these unmanned craft it may not be a coincidence that the air force's only unmanned aerial vehicle squadron is based at nellis whatever is flying around out there still attracts visitors from all over the world it's still newsworthy in europe yes yes now also in europe area 51 is well known this 1989 home video of a glowing orb above area 51 is the first but certainly not the last taken of odd objects in the nevada desert scientist bob lazar said he knew where to set up his camera because he worked at papoose lake south
(36:25) of groom lake but still inside area 51 lazar said he saw nine flying discs of alien origin hidden in hillside hangers there were nine total that i saw each one being different like they had the assortment pack lazar's controversial statement set off a stampede that continues to this day people come by the busload to groom lake to watch the skies this is a classic mothership appearance nearby the rustic town of rachel became a ufo hot spot the town's bar and grill became the little ailey inn whose walls are adorned
(37:00) with alien drawings and poster-sized photos of the base a full line of ufo merchandise including videos t-shirts anti-matter hats and e.t welcome mats is for sale hordes of people come out here from all over from all over from all over owner joe travis has given more interviews than he can remember to news crews from all over the world this crew from switzerland for example arrived just this week public interest remains high even though the government has seized vantage points once used to peer down on the base area
(37:33) 51 is off limits but people still see weird lights in the sky photos have captured glowing globs sombrero shaped craft dual objects with rows of lights things which make unusual maneuvers if anything is increased and over the past uh months you know it's uh just just every week maybe two or three times a week people come in and say they have to see this this orange orange globe or orb whatever you want to call it today the base is hidden protected by motion detectors security forces and the groomed mountains but also by the mountains of
(38:10) legal briefs filed by the pentagon a lawsuit by six former employees alleges the military endangered workers by illegally disposing of hazardous waste at area 51. the government has used national security as grounds to stall the suit it denied the base existed denied it has a name even denied having such hazardous materials as jet fuel and car batteries although both jets and cars have been photographed there as seen in this previously classified film president clinton recently signed an order exempting the base from (38:42) environmental laws but the lawyer who filed the suit doesn't think it will matter in the long run from the very beginning the military has adopted an absolutist position in this case that they and they alone will dictate what information the public receives i don't know if you can hear it because of the video problem but this lawsuit that's going on with the workers who have have filed this stuff is is maybe as important in the long run um and we're not going to get into it tonight but may be as important in the (39:08) long run as the ufo stuff allegations out there because uh the things that the government have has done to these to its own workers when it could have kept this thing quiet just by taking care of them giving them medical attention is absolutely unbelievable and the things that they have done in court to thwart any kind of uh any kind of scrutiny of just what's going on you wouldn't believe it klas at my urging uh joined as part of this lawsuit back when it was before a federal judge in nevada it has since gone to the ninth

(39:37) circuit where it's been a mixed bag and is going to be appealed to the whole ninth circuit not just a three judge panel but any each step of the way the government attorneys have been allowed to have behind the scenes meetings uh with the judge at which the other side is not present and they present something to the judge and in each of these cases so far the judge has sided with the idea of government secrecy i mean some of it is is so incredibly ridiculous the government says it would endanger national security to reveal that there
(40:09) is gasoline or jet fuel out of that base at a jet base i'll tell you if the russian spies can't figure that out then i don't think we have a whole heck of a lot to worry about from them anyway that's the subject for another time back to lazar um i think we can say with some kind of uh some kind of uh believability that disc shaped craft have been flying around out there for a long time bill hamilton who was up here before i was is one of the guys who's who's really done some solid work on
(40:38) proving that over the years and for that deserves a lot of credit i think it's also true that there are no flying saucers at or near groomed lake today there are no alien beings at area 51. there are no vast underground facilities at the base nor are there any hangars built into the hillsides of papua's lake three witnesses i know of with congressional uh tied to congressional uh sources have been to the base in the past three years for inspections i've even briefed them before and after about what to look for where to go
(41:09) the hangars are not there whether they were ever there or not is a question that we can debate forever but they're not there now and plus i think it would just make no sense for the military to hide aliens or alien technology when millions of people all over the world suspect as much and thousands of them make the trek into the desert to try to check it out for themselves conclusions about bob lazar are tougher to reach people tend to fall into one camp or another like all these other ufological questions we've been talking
(41:37) about and they religiously stick to their views no matter what evidence is presented to the other side and i will have to admit that i'm a little guilty on that score myself there are doubters who constantly brag about their diligence in exposing lazar's lack of credentials especially his lack of educational credentials well let me just remind everyone that in the very first report that we ever broadcast about bob lazar we said he cannot prove these cred these credentials we cannot find a single professor we
(42:07) can't find a classmate we can't find a diploma we can't prove it so people who uh and stan friedman friend of mine uh constantly bragging about i'm the guy who brought down bob lazar it's almost part of stan's name now uh hi i'm stan the guy who brought down bob lazar friedman um constantly harangues on this point uh and it's the baby with the bathwater thing if he doesn't have credentials can't probably went to school anywhere throw it all out well i'm not sure that
(42:35) that's that's how i would treat it criticisms of lazar's story are many and many are very well deserved he is lackadaisical about documentation he is indifferent to whether anyone including friends of his believe him or not uh he is uncooperative especially to anyone associated with ufology in fact i taped an interview this afternoon before i got on the plane with him just to have a special greeting to you folks it was like pulling teeth but we might see that a little bit later he seemingly has little interest in
(43:05) helping anyone to prove his story one way or another there are a lot of gaps there are a lot of things in his story that don't make sense but i think a lot of it makes too much sense to just completely dismiss it for me and for klas tv when we started out way back when in 1989 working on this stuff the key to his story was all always los alamos lab did he work at the lab if he worked at the lab and he worked on classified projects at least made sense that he could also be tabbed to work on a program in nevada so that's where we started

and they just kind of hemmed and hauled i produced a copy of the los alamos newspaper that had him listed
(44:02) as a lab physicist now they kind of hemmed and hauled still said they had no records after countless phone calls and letters in a couple of years i finally got the lab to tell me by phone that they'd found an id number for him but that didn't that he did work for them he worked for a subcontractor called kirk meyer kirk meyer proved to be even less cooperative than than los alamos at first i got a guy on the phone a supervisor who told me yeah we've got records on lazar yeah you can have them uh weeks went by i didn't hear from them
(44:32) didn't get the records i keep writing i keep calling my letters were unanswered they refused to take my phone calls lazara told me that kirk meyer was a scientific headhunter company they'd fill technical and scientific jobs at government labs surely a company that makes its living by filling these kinds of positions would hang on to records of people that they send out to national labs but apparently not because uh finally kirk meyer said well we threw those records away it's too much time we don't keep them that long
(45:01) uh lazarus critics formally complained well he was never at los alamos uh now they say even if he was there well maybe he's working as a janitor not on classified stuff this is the kind of reason that lazar doesn't like to cooperate with with ufologists he feels the critics would never be satisfied if he proves he works at the lab they say it doesn't prove he had a clearance if he could prove he worked on classified programs they say it still doesn't prove he was at s4 so if he could prove that it still wouldn't (45:26) prove he worked on ufos so what's the point is what he says for the sake of argument i think it can be proven that lazar did work on classified projects in new mexico i've interviewed three lab employees who remember him who say he was a physicist and that he worked on classified programs joe van netti is the name of one of those guys he worked at los alamos he's listed in the same lab phone book with lazar he later worked on the nuclear testing program in nevada he says lazar is telling the truth the other two employees agree but they
(45:54) didn't want their names used now what do the critics do with these guys they ignore them well he doesn't have a diploma so he couldn't have been there was he working at the lab i say yes if he did work there in classified programs it makes sense he went to school somewhere i know the guy he's technically a whiz kid i mean he amazes everyone who's ever been around them uh except for people in ufological circles who prefer to take pot shots where did he go to school i really don't know i mean i have said this before since the (46:27) very beginning i think it's the weakest part of his story i have pleaded with him as a friend bob if you're lying about your educational background you would not be the first person to do it to get a good job tell me about it you can get through it and he hasn't taken me up on it i i have serious doubts about whether i mean just knowing the guy thinking of him sitting through classes at mit taking tests writing term papers i just don't see it i really don't but i still am reluctant to that does not mean i (46:59) want to toss the whole darn thing out because there's a lot of other stuff that i think goes in his favor for example he knew when and where flights of disc shaped craft would take place he took people out there three or four weeks in a row they got videotape of it you just saw some of it how did he know i think there's a new book out called dreamland if you've read this thing it's it's pretty nasty and we'll talk about that if you want to in a q a afterward but uh it suggests well maybe he was just (47:31) running around he was running around in the desert and found it out for himself john lear was running around for 20 years on on area 51 stuff he never saw any of these things it was lazar who took him out there told him what night they were going to take place and where they could see him from and he did it again and again how did he know he was also familiar with the small details about the operation of area 51 that eg was the prime contractor because that's where he said he was interviewed that they interviews employees at their (48:02) particular building that special planes fly the employees into groomed lake and the buses with blacked out windows are all also used all that is true we all know that stuff now but we didn't know it before bob lazar said this stuff on air the electrical an electrical engineer that i met who worked at area 51 who is now part of this lawsuit arranged to meet with lazar for a couple of hours asked him a series of questions which would have tripped up someone who had never been out there this the minuscule tim kind of things

(48:31) where the employees eat how do you pay for your meals that sort of thing what the cafeteria looked like and he the the engineer said he was convinced that lazar had been there other people now say that they've run the same kind of tests on lazar and that he failed completely i don't know i don't know how you explain it another thing lazar knew was the name mike thigpen mike thigpen works for something called the office of federal investigations which conducts background and security checks on people who work at nellis
(48:58) and the nevada test site funny little thing is no one had ever heard of the ofi i hadn't heard the ofi bob had not heard of the ofi he thought it was an fbi guy who had come to interview him and had ruffled through the papers at his house and then he remembered something about ofi the ofi is not even listed in the las vegas phone book but lazar remember that mike figpen is the name of this federal agent we were able to track down this guy thigpen find out yes there is something called ofi and yes they do do these
(49:25) kinds of background checks and yes this guy works for him how did he know lazar passed a polygraph exam now there's a lot of people who seem to dispute this thing they say it was inconclusive this book for one that i talked about it's inconclusive well it's not inconclusive i first asked him to take this test he didn't hesitate a bit we took him to a guy a polygrapher a polygrapher who spent all of like 10 minutes getting ready now bob was nervous about it he was nervous because of there had been threats on his life
(49:54) allegedly there had been one attempt on his life they had put gun do guns to his head they had done things to his head they had uh shot him up with strange stuff made him drink strange substances and uh and he was obviously nervous well this guy he did two tests on him wham bam the first one he thought well he might be deceptive the second one he said this is inconclusive he suggested the polygrapher suggested that we try another guy the guy we tried is a polygrapher named terry tavernetti and he runs a corporate security operation for (50:25) a major las vegas hotel he's a former orange county police officer he's an experienced and licensed polygrapher he took his time with bob got to know him went through the story went through the questions put him through the test and he says and tabernetti says to this day even talking about it he got chills as he was going through the test because he realized this guy is not lying bob lazar passed that test tara vernetti gave the in fact he passed four of them tabernacy gave the results to another polygrapher who agreed
(50:55) no question there's no deceit another guy they passed it on just as a double check and the guy said well maybe he's relating something that someone else told him just as a maybe and then someone else said maybe we should have more tests a fourth polygrapher but the guy who did the tests four of them said he passed people blow that off the people who don't want to hear it blow it off i don't think it's fair to do so the most one of the most obvious problems of bob's uh background is his involvement
(51:25) with illegal prostitution now the highest profile witness and the highest profile story you've ever done comes to you and says oh by the way i'm involved in an illegal brothel and uh coincidence has it it's right down the street from your house well only lazar could pull something like this you know and my professional life flashed before my eyes and i'm telling you what to do i said we've got to do this story now someone's going to find this out we have got to do it we've got to go on the air
(52:00) you've got to admit it and i really screwed him is what i did because he trusted me enough to go ahead and do it as bob tells the story there were some undercover police officers who knew about this who'd been involved with this this hooker who was running this thing a woman who by the way had been a a prostitute since she was 12 years old but who somehow been corrupted by bob lazar anyway the police were involvement i called some cops i said this is going to come out some of your guys know about it we don't (52:29) have to do that part of it deal apparently not because when it went on the air cops raided the place busted bob big stink of course all my journalism colleagues in las vegas just loved this story they never gave any attention to bob lazor whatsoever until he got into trouble and they could stick it to me um you know so this this is kind of a mess and uh and i've tried to figure out how i would react if i weren't so intimately involved with the story and i guess you know i could say that suffice to say he he went public with (53:04) his involvement we all know smart people have done dumb things you know if einstein had been busted for drunk driving i don't think it would mean the theory of relativity is thrown out the window there's no question that lazar violated the law that doesn't mean he never worked for the government anyone who knows him knows that he is a rebel he is a look yeah just realize what i said there yeah that makes a lot of sense forget who i'm talking to i mean anyone who knows this guy knows that he is a (53:34) rebel he's a loner he is an anti-authority guy he has a penchant for racing jet cars on city streets he fires off machine guns he stages these outlaw outlaw firework shows every year in the desert that are a real hoot he likes hookers this is all true on his house he has a pirate skull and crossbones flag over his house this is the kind of guy he is um so it is not unusual to say that he he could get involved in something like this why would the navy hire somebody like that for a secret program one possible answer comes (54:09) to mind a lot of his critics don't like it but but if it fits you wear it i mean he might have been the kind of person they were looking for someone who was technically qualified but who could be discredited if necessary or maybe the discrediting the thing was the with the whole purpose all the way along that was what they had in mind as a way to discredit the whole idea of ufos at area 51 or anywhere else the other telling point about the prostitution thing hit me when i was reading some of the court records on his

(54:36) case he was originally facing six felony counts not a whole lot of people get hit with six felonies for prostitution in las vegas in fact no one but the parole and probation people really wanted him to do hard time i mean he was looking at up to 60 years in prison they didn't like him because in his interview with them and the information he was giving he was telling him the same story he has told you or i where he went to school where he worked and they couldn't verify it they were mad because they couldn't verify it
(55:09) welcome to the club um when the judge sentenced lazar he noted that the court had had a lot of trouble verifying bob's background i mean bob claimed on the on these papers that he'd worked for the navy out there at a place called s4 if he were a phony if he was running a con a ufo con or cashing in that was the time to come clean because if they could prove that he was lying he was going to do some serious hard time he didn't he stuck to the same story we got a letter introduced in the court from congressman jim bilbray whose (55:43) office had been helping me all the way along trying to get records from for about bob and his background and uh and uh the congressman's letter clearly stated this is one of the strangest cases their office had ever dealt with and all the agencies that had contacted for lazar's records had stalled every step of the way they hadn't said they didn't have them we're looking for them still looking there's also the whole thing about the the w-2 form and the controversy i don't think we need to get into that but i'll (56:08) tell you that there's some weird stuff that happened with that w-2 i had originally got him to request it months and months went by and all of a sudden it showed up a lot some other people john andrews and others have have done some tracking uh there's pretty good indication that that this was a government employer number on there that's no longer used the irs's official version is well we really can't tell if we've ever used that employer number or not i mean they can tell you what you had (56:35) for lunch last december and they don't know if if the government has ever used this employment number or not so you know the story told by bob is is consistent with the stories told by a lot of other people dating back almost 40 years consistent with a lot of what we know about roswell and other alleged crashes if you take lazar out of the area 51 story it's still a story there are too many other witnesses who have claimed knowledge of the program but if you keep him in the story and if you can discredit him you kind of (57:04) wide swath across all ufology you cast doubt on the crash saucer theory you forever wipe out the silly rumor about ufos in the nevada desert you get in a shot at mj 12 and the secret government while you're at it and you scare the dickens out of anyone else who might be willing to come forward and talk about secret programs that they've worked on which is exactly how lazar's legal troubles have been interpreted by other people who work on those kinds of projects in nevada and i know because they've told (57:31) me and in this sense the people who suspect the area 51 story to be disinformation may be partially correct but if so it did not the disinformation didn't originate with bob it didn't originate with john lear as some have suggested by picking bob for this program and letting him see these documents and messing with his mind they had a perfectly built in safety valve discredit him you have the mainstream press another reason to vilify ufos you give various ufo luminaries an excuse to attack it as well you give the lunatic fringe something to (58:03) embrace and embellish which they have done with great vigor at area 51 you know the milk carton kids are all taken out there now for secret experiments uh and you almost guarantee that no official in his right mind will ever get get anywhere near this mess to find out what's really going on anyway we're going to move on now and i don't have a comfortable transition oh wait a second we do have we have another tape this is something i taped a while back uh about bob lazar you know all the rumors that people tell about him he's (58:33) dead he's uh running a drug lab um i asked him to uh put this on tape and let you know that he's okay he's alive and well and and live in las vegas and and here it goes i've been underground people have been hiding me out shifting from hideout to hideout and the government's been on my tail uh i've been killed you've been killed uh you name it i've i've heard unbelievable stories radiation detection is is one of the things that you know i spend my time with and i design repair and sell different types of (59:05) radiation detectors one of the things people thought i did was develop film badges i don't know where they came up with that idea but i i don't do that the main problem i have with the ufo communities is number one here are people that essentially their income is derived from ufos and that's the number one thing i have problems with so essentially for them to make money and support themselves they have to come up with ridiculous stories or at least prove that they're at the forefront of knowledge

(59:35) you're dealing with a bunch of people that are essentially a collection of psychics astrologers people that believe every other person on the earth is is an alien that there's reptilians and and all these different species that live underground aliens that walk around the street and just hassle people to annoy them believe me i'm not part of that i don't deal with those people and that's uh you know essentially what happened with jacques vallee when he came down here uh you know wanted to know the ufo story
(1:00:06) came down with his uh movie producers and uh you know his theory has been uh spacecraft or from other dimensions and things like that and i essentially laid it out well this is you know essentially what i was exposed to and uh you know how the crafts work and things like that it has nothing to do with other dimensions and uh you know ever since then jacques hasn't had a very high opinion of me but uh that's essentially carried throughout the ufo community if you contradict what they say uh you know again they you know they
(1:00:35) make their income off of something like that so they have to be the ones that know what's going on a lot of attacks on you personally a lot of attacks on the story a lot of disbelief uh media people ufo people um you stick by the story here now you've had a couple it's been a couple years absolutely it's coming up on four years that's that's what happened it's interesting that nobody from the military nobody representing nellis or any of those folks have ever said anything about they probably can't uh
(1:01:11) [Music] well i there hasn't been much word officially on it at all i in fact i don't think there's been much word officially as far as denial they just say they have no comment right uh any any progress over the last ensuing couple of years in verifying parts of your background are you still actively pursuing that no i don't actively pursue that at all i really people think i'm essentially a researcher chase ufo stories or you know gather information i have nothing whatsoever to do with it now
(1:01:43) before i became interested interested involved in the project um i was one of the greatest disbelievers on earth i mean i'm sure i could have topped phil class i would have nothing to do with it and essentially other than the equipment and technology that i was exposed to i really don't carry my beliefs much further than that you think those ufos or the flying saucers or the discs the equipment that you said you saw are still out there i doubt that equipment is still there there's been so much coverage there are so many people (1:02:21) looking into that area you know and civilian and otherwise that uh they had ample time to move things and where it is i don't know but i find it difficult to believe that anything's still going on there okay you know about the new one right apparently you i john lear are all uh shriners or 32nd level masons whoever they are uh there are new aliens that uh it is the shriners that actually have the flying saucer technology and uh we came up with the alien story to confuse the public and uh i don't remember the rest of the (1:02:58) story but it's really exciting that's the end of the tape so next time you go to a parade you see the shriners and those funny hats and little cars i don't know whether we should take a break now do you need a break or you want to keep going keep going keep going i think the message oozing out of uh oozing out of groom lake and the bob lazar story is is for me at least not only the ufo angle but the the lawsuit angle is that no matter how much world conditions change the berlin wall falls communism fails

(1:03:30) the soviet union collapses we have no strategic enemy anymore no matter how much that changes the military mindset is not going to change because each year they've done more and more to increase the security out at area 51 seized more land uh roughed up more people installed different kinds of security measures and it's it's completely unbelievable i don't know if bob uh if if bob is for real 100 or not i know there are some problems with this story and legitimate questions that have been asked and raised by by good researchers
(1:04:05) but i just caution you again like with phil corso and the other thing you don't throw the baby out with the bathwater because this could be a really important story um as i was saying the message oozing out of groom lake is sort of what led me to think start thinking about russia because clearly we were not getting any kind of breakthroughs from our government i know a lot of a lot of us hope that someday the government's going to open up the doors and the saucers are in there in there and go ahead and take a peek but i don't see
(1:04:33) it happening it doesn't at least from what's happening in nevada it doesn't seem to be a trend in that direction so i started thinking about russia in 1993 i was fortunate enough to slip through a window of opportunity in russia the political climate was just right allowing for unprecedented access to previously hidden information about ufos and a lot of topics a lot of people were going over there gaining access to to classified stuff i said afterward that i after 1993 that first trip that i feared that the window
(1:05:02) of opportunity might close and in 1996 i returned to russia and my fears were confirmed although not for the expected reasons that the window i would say is not closed all the way but it's stuck and i think it's going to take a tremendous effort one way or another to get it to move i took the this most recent trip at the invitation of a british broadcasting crew they wanted to put together a documentary and they weren't satisfied with just staying in moscow we traveled the length and breadth of the (1:05:30) country and i love russia but i'm not sure i'm ready to go back there anytime soon if you want to cue up the not d but e e tape the american cia funds something called the foreign broadcast information service this service monitors foreign newspapers and media reports and then summarizes them for consumption by us intelligence agencies the fbi s reports are not classified but they are not widely accessible still there have been some references in western press and and in ufo circles so some of the most
(1:06:03) interest interesting incidents that have been summarized by this intelligence gathering service in 1993 i was unsuccessful in attempts to contact the most important players that were mentioned in some of these cases but this time around things worked out if you want to roll the tape this distinguished looking man is named igor multsev colonel general maltsev for seven years he was the chief of staff for the entire soviet air defense he was the number one guy in the entire russian air force in march of 1990 general maltsev's
(1:06:33) forces around moscow encountered something of high strangeness maltsev collected all the data and sent a report to the kremlin the events were not reported in russia for a full year and then were picked up later by the fbis to my knowledge i'm the first american journalist to interview malta about these events according to his official report there were more than 100 visual observations of ufos in the moscow area on a single night the air forces were placed on alert planes were scrambled the objects were picked up on several radar in the air
(1:07:03) and on the ground warplanes attempted to get close to these things but they couldn't the speeds were described as many times greater than any known aircraft the objects could appear and disappear at will this is the russian military that's gathering this information general multiv's report stated quote i'm not a specialist on ufos but they seem completely devoid of inertia they had somehow come to terms with gravity the movement was without sound with startling maneuverability at present time terrestrial machines (1:07:32) could hardly have such capabilities the original newspaper article about this report in russia stated that general maltsev's documents offer quote substantial confirmation that ufos piloted by intelligent beings have been visiting russia in our interview general molcev was reluctant to take it much further he conceded that the remarks attributed to him were accurately reported that ufos were truly unknown he said there's no way that it could be stealth or some other advanced aircraft but that that's as far as he'd go he (1:08:03) said he had no knowledge of any other ufo incidents uh he wasn't really interested in pursuing what happened further then he conceded that his forces had been given a standing order that ufos are not to be fired upon because quote they may have tremendous capacities for retaliation in other words they could kick our ass i think besides he says his planes could not get close enough to do anything even if they wanted to now remember this is the same russian air force that when that guy roost flew his biplane or whatever it was into the

(1:08:39) kremlin oh what was it they missed it and they were all upset about that but they don't care that there's a hundred uh unidentified amazing machines flying over russia don't shoot at them maltsev insisted that he was in a position to know just about everything about foreign incursions in the russian airspace he's the boss if it happened he should know about it yet he claimed ignorance about a whole raft of other ufo cases and we're going to roll the tape and take a look at some of them right now
(1:09:07) first film you're going to see was uh something that was kept in a kgb vault for 25 years it was finally obtained with from by abc news with my assistants the triangular object was spotted by a propaganda film shooting over latvia in 1968 they estimated it was seven miles up so it had to be enormous they scrambled planes to go after it before they got there though it went behind a cloud and quote disappeared the resident russian skeptic said uh it's a french weather balloon and it's true the french did have weather balloons
(1:09:36) stop it for a second pause it french did have weather balloons like that but abc checked and no such balloons had been launched anywhere near that time period anywhere in that area now you can roll the next one this next one may 1982 a military survey team working in the cola peninsula saw this spinning object we slowed it down a little bit so you can get a another look at it i have seen similar drawings from other parts of the world and to my knowledge no one has come up with an explanation for that anyone got one
(1:10:05) jellyfish swamp gas this next thing you're going to see is a fuzzy kind of a photo that was snapped in the ural mountains in 1976 a snapshot as i said is kind of fuzzy and doesn't really show much as so many ufo photos don't and the hunter later offered a more detailed drawing that he gave to the russian ministry of defense and that's where the files that i found the man you're about to see is a decorated russian pilot a lieutenant colonel who said he encountered a ufo and tried to intercept it
(1:10:37) he told the superiors that the ufo there is he told his superiors that the ufo shot out a beam of light which disabled his plane he bailed out and survived and kept his mouth shut for several years his story was finally told in a ufo magazine in russia the photo you're going to see is from defense archives the this mig pilot said he had a mid-air collision with the ufo which damaged his wing uh this next photo is of a brush fire it was taken by three army officers who say the fire was sparked by a ufo that landed and then zoomed away
(1:11:10) not all that spectacular next one is two school boys at a town north of moscow saw this ufo they ran home get a camera came back captured a series of eight really kind of amazing photos controllers at the leningrad airport saw one then two stop this for a second they saw one then two then three unusual objects hovering over a nuclear plant the reaction and the audio and video was captured on tape and acquired by abc go ahead i think we have audio here no well maybe it's popping up no audio well i'm i'm sorry about that i don't
(1:12:24) know what the word the audio went but anyway what they figured out was these things whatever they were they had never seen objects viewers stop that um they had never seen objects that could go from zero to two thousand miles an hour uh that fast um i didn't grill general maltsev about any of these specific cases because it was pretty obvious to me that it wasn't gonna tell me anymore um as he said repeatedly he was in a position to know about this stuff but he didn't and so if he was telling the truth it meant the information was (1:12:51) routed elsewhere if he wasn't being entirely truthful it might be had good reasons for not telling me the truth and as i learned over the next few days of the 96 trip both possibilities had merit following those first fbis accounts about

maltsev's reports there were follow-ups with even higher officials the deputy minister of defense general ivan tretyak commander in chief of air defense forces and general of the army tried to throw a little cold water on a ufo mini hysteria over after these incidents he told a
(1:13:23) newspaper that maltsev's report was accurate however most ufo reports can be explained away as misidentifications then he admitted some of the ufos had been photographed that they could be seen visually and on ground radar but not detected on airborne radar he said if special russian tracking stations were to be built chances are the russians would see a lot more of these objects and he admitted that this there is a standing order for russian pilots to leave the ufos alone we made substantial efforts to get an interview with minister tretjak
(1:13:53) both by phone during the trip and before we finally spoke to him by phone and he told us he'd already spoken about this matter he couldn't understand why we wanted to ask about it we said we need video if we need video dude and uh he uh said i'll check with the ministry of defense he did we called him back he said that in their opinion uh they didn't it's not in anyone's best interest to talk about this any further at this time perhaps in a year or two which is pretty much where we left it
(1:14:20) now this is a far different attitude from what i encountered just a couple of years before and uh and it allowed me to set the stage a little bit what it was like in 1993. let's go do the next tape this should be yeah this should be f in 1993 when we went there uh things were busting out all over in russia i mean it was an incredible time dramatic historical events unfolding every every uh where you looked and the ufo reception we got was much much different spring it's cold it's nasty and this is the kind of stuff that we see
(1:14:58) almost every day this is in red square communists are on one side the uh the people been democ believing a democracy on the other and there's a whole bunch of cops in between it was a pretty nasty time there were clashes between those who supported the reforms those who longed to return to communism every day there were mass male meetings every day protests there were bombings that were never reported here in the west as you'll see there are pictures of troops on the move in downtown moscow we had come up on the
(1:15:27) communist side of the demonstration and they didn't like us one bit so it was an incredible time to be there on the day we arrived boris yeltsin had seized control of the broadcast airwaves on the day we left the their parliament was meeting to impeach him and all kinds of stuff had gone on in between a wonderful time to be there whether or not you're looking for ufos or not today however the scene has changed at least as of last year no more mass demonstrations no more open unrest but things are bad probably far worse
(1:16:00) you can stop the tape down the gap between rich and poor has grown organized crime is virtually out of control over there the communists have made a comeback you've got these scary nationalists talking about the return of the ussr yeltsin has a very tenuous grip on power his health is very bad the russians don't know what is going to happen from one day to the next and many are frightened and i think that was reflected in what we found in searching for ufo stuff our success hinged on basically one man he's a russian
(1:16:29) physicist named dr nicolai caprenov he had been a national security adviser to the russian parliament as well as to their academy of sciences i met him in las vegas in 1992 started asking about ufos uh whether he knew anything over there nah never give it any thought and then as we had a beer or two you know i do know a guy at kgb who talked about it and i do know this guy and this guy so we set him up with an office said go find it and the main directive that we gave him the one that really worked for us was don't go to ufologists not that there's (1:17:01) anything wrong with ufologists but we'd like to find people who are in a position to know about this stuff but who have never been interviewed before no one has been on hard copy uh not marina popovich or or any of these folks who are perfectly good sources of information we wanted to find something new and that's exactly it's because of that rule i think it opened a lot of doors for us in fact it allowed us to gain access to ministry of defense files that no one has ever seen before incidents like these november 89 three (1:17:33) military pilots in pursuit of a fast-moving ufo were exposed to intense beams of hot light from an object which zoomed away at incredible speed the pilots were hospitalized became virtual invalids and died of symptoms similar to radiation poisoning june 1980 moscow dozens of military personnel observed a bright egg-shaped ufo performed high-speed maneuvers and incredible turns appearing disappearing and hovering one officer got within 50 meters of an object but was repelled by something like a force field again this is from the (1:18:04) russian ministry of defense classified files june 1980 the same date the town of volsk 20 witnesses in seven separate groups reported ufos including a luminous fear that split into two objects one of the two hovered over the town emitting a bright beam of light another object flew in a zigzag pattern auto engines and radio signals on the ground below were knocked out the same objects were seen six more times over the next four months in the same area but the most dramatic incident of all occurred on the night of october 4th

(1:18:35) 1982 over the village of usovo in the soviet ukraine dozens of witnesses most of them high ranking military officers reported a ufo free-for-all in the skies for a period of nearly four hours some of the objects were triangular some were elliptical some changed colors others changed shapes some split into smaller objects some merged into larger objects they blinked on blinked off performed outrageous maneuvers for four hours all of the witnesses statements were collected stamped and classified and then sent to moscow with great urgency
(1:19:10) and the reason for that is the ufos were maneuvering over a nuclear missile base long-range nuclear missiles included in the classified report was the most disturbing statement of all provided by communications commander davidovich katzman who reported that while the ufos hovered over the missile base the launch control panel was somehow activated in his words it was a spontaneous illumination of all displays and someone or something entered the precise control codes which enabled the missiles in other words the missiles were ready to launch but
(1:19:44) then the ufos disappeared control panel went back to normal an investigation by the ministry of defense was launched almost immediately they came in took everything apart they looked at all the other equipment all over the base no other equipment had been affected no other equipment had ever been affected like this before they could find nothing wrong with the control panel they concluded that ufos were somehow responsible for what occurred as if to send a message that perhaps this is your most important and powerful weapon system but it
(1:20:13) doesn't impress us all that much that same message as you may know was delivered to the u.s military in 1975 a series of overflights of u.s bases along the canadian border nuclear missiles some say the launch control code the launch codes were interfered with now contrary to what's been said publicly by the governments of the u s and great britain and russia and others ufos do carry clear implications for national security however with the end of the cold war we've seen no change in the attitudes of (1:20:42) our governments on these topics for decades they've justified excessive secrecy under the mantle of national security they couldn't tell us what's going on but it's all been for our own good and now there's still mum on the subject going to roll tape as i said same one as i said uh working with nikolai capranov opened a lot of doors for us it's coming up and probably the most important door that had opened for us was the one that led to the modest apartment of a man named bora sokolov he was a retired red army colonel from a
(1:21:15) distinguished military family his grandfather had been a personal guard of the czar in the late 70s sokolove was one of an elite handful of officers charged with adapting industrial technologies to military purposes his area of concentration was radio waves and radio astronomy and as we will learn the soviet military had long been monitoring ufo activity but some spectacular sightings hold this for just a second spectacular sightings in the late 70s on the russian finnish border had prompted more direct action a bigger study
(1:21:45) 1978 colonel sokolov says an amazing order was issued by the soviet ministry of defense it went out to every military unit in the vast soviet empire army navy air force everyone in sakhalov's words this order transformed the entire ussr into one gigantic ufo listening post simply put the order said every ufo sighting every ufo encounter every unexplained aerial object every ball of light every anomalous object you see has to be fully investigated the witness is interrogated collect all this stuff into a report and
(1:22:18) send it to moscow and all of that stuff went to the ministry of defense and colonel sokolov was placed in in charge of the study a study like this can never be done again he says and there's a good reason for that one is the ussr the whole country was involved it no longer exists and two this study lasted for 10 full years thousands and thousands of reports poured in he saw the best and he shared them with us um go ahead and roll this tape we'll hear from colonel sokolov why the study had been undertaken in the first

(1:22:51) place military was interested for three reasons one because of the unpredictable movement of the ufos the quick changes in course angles two because of the velocity of the ufo movements and three because ufos observed visually could not be seen on radar and those seen on radar could not always be seen visually the military thought that if the secrets of the ufos could be discovered they would be able to win the competition against our prospective enemies in terms of velocity materials and visibility stealth to build their own stealth pilots
(1:23:30) recognized ufos as a threat to them there were 40 episodes in which they shot at ufos an order was given to pilots to chase ufos and shoot at them but when the pilots tried the ufo speeded up in three cases the pilots would lose control and crash two of the pilots died after that pilots received a new order when they see a ufo change course and get out all the pilots agreed october 5th 1983 i was ordered to immediately go to the ukraine to an icbm base the reason for the urgency was a report from the base commander to
(1:24:08) the chief of the general staff on october 4th from 4 to 8 pm the base observed a ufo at the same time on the control panel they received an order to prepare the launch of the icbms the lights lit up and the launch codes enabled the missiles dozens of officers witnessed this colonel sokolov added somewhat cryptically that the ministry of defense study of ufos is still going on although on a lesser scale and that quote it's unlike the one in the united states but he wouldn't say a whole lot more about that uh
(1:24:42) all kinds of fascinating uh uh incidents from those files i brought a lot of them here but i don't i can't think of a practical way to show them to everyone um the real significance i think though the ministry of defense file is is not in the specifics of the individual cases but rather in the scope of the overall study i mean this was russia's pentagon which had ordered this long-term comprehensive ufo study for the express purpose of exploiting what they considered to be alien technology they wanted to build a stealth and kick
(1:25:11) our butt uh we're not talking about ufologists here we're talking about the ministry of defense and that's very serious stuff it was vitally important to the crew i was traveling with in 1996 to try to find colonel sokolov again i wanted to interview him i mean he was the key witness for what they hope to be their documentary and i was curious as well as what had happened to him because i knew that he had taken a beating in the russian press after we came back blabbed our mouths off and some ufological publications about what we
(1:25:38) had found it got back to russian ufo circles and he took a terrible pounding there were still communist oriented newspapers there there was a particular ufologist who was not interviewed by us and who was kind of miffed about it who really took off on colonel sokolov and then some of the others who had helped us nikolai capranov our friend had told us if this had happened uh five years ago if this had happened ten years ago five years ago we would have been imprisoned if this had happened ten years ago we would have
(1:26:07) been shot and i had also heard that colonel sokolov had been having health problems so in our first few attempts to re-establish contact with him we're told you don't want to talk about ufos anymore and he didn't need any more heat besides his health was not that good both things turned out to be true excuse me we were never never able to talk to him he avoided us the whole time we found out later that he had been admitted to a hospital he is still alive but not in very good good health even more telling though in
(1:26:36) this trip we were unable in 1996 to hook up with nikolai who'd become something of a friend of mine we'd been corresponding for a period of four years telephone conversations all the time working on a real fun project he wouldn't come to the phone his family at first said he was gone and then he uh just never hooked up and i don't know to this day what the story was there the idea that russians are studying ufos in order to learn stealth technology was intriguing to me because of the allegations
(1:27:04) about some kind of connection to stealth and ufos that have been raised in connection with area 51. similar allegations have been raised about a connection to sdi or star wars technology and through our contacts with the russian academy of natural sciences we interviewed a man named dr romilly avramenko who was and perhaps is still the one of the chief scientists working on russia's anti-satellite weapons program their version of sdi he had the highest possible security clearances most of his adult life so high that for most of his life he
(1:27:36) wasn't even able to use his real name if he wanted to publish something scientific he had to use an alias dr avramenko told us in no uncertain terms ufos

are real that we the americans meaning and the russians have known their reel for decades and that the information has been incorporated into sdi research rolled the tape sdi research even demonstrated what he said was a table top model of a plasma beam weapon for us and i didn't think it was all that impressive but other people i'd seen this thing this
(1:28:04) blue plastic thing sitting on the table and wonder what it was and he pulls out the razor blade and puts it on top and gives us a little demonstration i'm still not sure whether this is significant or not if there's somebody scientific in the audience that can tell us but he showed us what it did it wasn't plugged into anything either well then he told us about ufos the first time i saw ufos was in 1959 i saw it with radar as it was orbiting earth in 1959 the first good radars were made we could see several thousand kilometers
(1:28:50) we could see what was happening around the earth at the time satellites were easily countable but we also saw vehicles whose technical characteristics we can't match even now we saw tens of these in 1959 entering and leaving earth's atmosphere surely the existence of these ufos caused problems for the u s defense system you were faced with separating aggressive vehicles from the unknowns are aliens and ufos real for me and my colleagues that isn't even a question i know this government has many programs
(1:29:24) on this the information about ufos helps us manufacture plasma beams for use in our star wars the weapons of the aliens we call them both uh dr avromenko and colonel sokolov told us the military studies of ufos were still underway with the help of nikolai the first time around anyway we met with a man who was currently is still in charge of the ongoing study we first had an agreement that we wouldn't use his name uh but later he gave me the permission to do so which is kind of incongruous with everything else
(1:29:53) we saw during the 96 trip his name is colonel alexander plackson he's an air force officer managed to get copies with his help and colonel sokolov of documents that are still classified as opposed to a lot of the other stuff which has been declassified documents that are still classified about russian ufo studies what they reveal is this is an ongoing effort it is high level it is dead serious by the russian military in the documents there are a lot of references to american ufology that makes me believe that they are monitoring developments in (1:30:24) ufology around the world it doesn't mean that they believe it's all real just shows that they're paying attention to it it's not even a matter of discussion whether ufos are real yes they acknowledge many are misidentifications but they're focusing on how these things work so they can apply it to military and perhaps later civilian technology the name of the ongoing study in ninety three was thread three uh one enlightening section of paper is dealt with russian cosmonauts in space and it also speculated on
(1:30:52) american astronauts uh they the russians seem to think we ran into something on the moon which is a reason that we didn't go back for so many years they also detail uh yuri gagarin claimed that he had seen something in space and would speak about it and more of the his first guy in space would speak about it more if given permission the second according to these documents the second guy in space a cosmonaut tdog took along a film camera and he had a whole array of these devices that he could see outside the
(1:31:20) capsule dancing around he brought back some some film footage and we got to see one one uh one frame of that film it shows seven brightly lit objects out there also in the classified documents as i said several references to things that were seen on the moon by u.s astronauts and how the information had been removed from nasa's public files we did meet with colonel plaxen this time 1996 again thread 3 had ended but another study called group 22 and replaced it on a lesser scale he says that he has not been told to be quiet he's written
(1:31:55) even articles about anomalous lights as opposed to plasma balls as opposed to ufos we wondered how long these studies have been going on found another guy one guy in the country who could answer that question his name is valerie budakov dr budakov has been mentioned subsequently in articles here in the west he had been trained at uh however before we approached him i don't think any other western journalist had talked to him he'd been trained at the moscow institute of aviation where the russian space program was (1:32:25) built you want to know about the idea of crash saucers uh whether or not uh how the russians view roswell this was a guy who had some answers we can roll this tape his mentor was a guy named korolov the father of the russian space program and he asked him he come to come to uh to speak to him about stalin and ufos

coraloff told me that in 1948 he was invited to the kremlin to see stalin this was after the events in new mexico and after the death of captain mantell stalin brought korloff into a room where all the materials were spread on a table (1:33:02) western periodicals books articles ufo reports from the soviet union information from special channels in the u.s stalin wanted to know what did coraloff think about the material concerning roswell and ufos korlov asked to take the materials home to study them and was told no he had to work there when corelog finished the work stalin asked him again his opinion korloff said the phenomenon is real they do not appear to be dangerous to our country they are not manufactured in the states or any other country and the time will come when it must be
(1:33:41) further studied stalin thanked him and said the same opinion was shared by other specialists we know that the us air force possesses plenty of material about ufos we know the u.s navy also has plenty of material we know about special orders given to keep all of the material secret when curious people ask for the materials they are told they're not there for the near future the most interesting materials will be kept secret the owners of the material don't let it out stop it well that was then oh the guy looks like carl maldon though
(1:34:18) doesn't he that was then this time around same kind of a story we met with him again he was eager to promote a new book that he's got that he wanted promoted in the west but he had a totally different view about roswell i make that views actually had several of them he said it might have been a saucer but it was man-made by former nazi scientists that we had down there in new mexico he said the russians had done the same thing he said more likely it might have been a v2 missile with from white sands that it was carrying
(1:34:47) green monkeys not alien bodies um it was just a totally different attitude from from the last time we'd we had seen him and uh it's it remains very curious to me uh you know american debunkers have provided air cover for for scientists who don't want to study ufos by poo pooing the entire subject without the benefit of doing a lot of research we found our russian expedition proved i think beyond any doubt that such a position is morally and scientifically bankrupt we're going to roll the tape again
(1:35:15) we have the opportunity to meet with russia's premier skeptic a scientist named julie plattov he works at something called the institute for terrestrial magnetism within the russian academy of sciences that's him dr plattov informed us of the history of official ufo studies in russia he says the national academy of sciences there began formal studies in the 70s that 10 different scientific institutions were involved that thousands of case files have been compiled along with photos and drawings like these and there is general agreement
(1:35:48) that the topic is worthy of study in our 1993 meeting he showed us a bunch of this stuff he said he was a friendly skeptic by that he agrees that 90 of ufo sightings are probably misidentifications but he said that uh that is not they're not fully explainable and it doesn't rule out the possibility of extraterrestrial visitations uh the some of the photos he had were pretty good one case in particular had been reported in the west here uh some witnesses had seen a ufo land on a frozen lake and take off they left
(1:36:18) behind this large circular formation on the ice sort of a russian version of crop circles i guess hard evidence if you will the case remained unexplained as far as plateau was concerned he also mentioned that russians had seen dozens of standard type crop circles you can stop it over the years and he summed up his attitude by saying that science should be interested in pursuing the unexplained that the prospect of e.
(1:36:43) t life is very important but that we must follow the evidence where it leads even if it gets under some really weird territory which is the kind of response you'd like from our scientists you know who who won't who won't touch this thing because they say there's nothing to study this time around we met with dr plattov again and and as with dr budakov the attitude has changed he'd gone from a friendly skeptic to an absolute fill class arch skeptic there are no cases but one that is legitimately unexplained he said we would show him
(1:37:14) tape and show him files of things and he would brush them off with the wave of his hand and i can't explain the change of heart there are other scientists though i know you're getting tired of these russian names i'll zip through them there's a guy named professor rem verlamoff if you want to roll tape one of the founders of russian ufology currently teaching at the moscow institute of technology he talked to us because he's a specialist in landing site trace cases of our work is not to contact

(1:37:41) the space intellect but to understand how the universe works we wanted to answer three questions one do other worlds and dimensions exist we have measured 22 physical constants to suggest the answer is yes two do our laws of physics exist in those worlds no they don't and the differences can be documented three can we contact this other intelligence the answer is yes but we must be careful we discovered many measurable characteristics within the landing sites the plants inside these circles or impressions were greatly changed plants which were
(1:38:24) inside the circles contained twenty to thirty percent more phosphorus and carbon and they grew at a slower rate we studied 40 elements in the soil through spectrography 20 of those elements were found in concentrations 20 to 60 times higher inside the circles than outside lead was found to be 14 times as concentrated titanium 8.
(1:38:50) 5 times cobalt barium and zinc three to four times we also documented physical and psychological effects inside the circle heart rates and blood flow were sixty percent higher our testing equipment also was affected at times we conducted an experiment to see if the measurement of time might be affected by the energy inside the landing sites we used both mechanical and crystal timepieces which were synchronized then placed both inside and outside of the sites what we found were that after two hours inside the landing sites
(1:39:28) time speeded up the time pieces were no longer synchronized i fascinating i mean measurable differences in the elements and things like that doing stuff that scientists are supposed to do not going into something with a preconceived idea you dig in the soil you test stuff you put it under a microscope and you see what you see um he talked about a whole range of fascinating experiments that they had done he even had a sample of angel hair at one point a sort of exhaust product and and had some test results from that he said there had been at
(1:40:00) least six attempts to make pre-arranged contacts with alien intelligence successful to some degree i think along the lines of some of the stuff that dr grier and sea city folks have been doing verlamoff is not alone as a specialist in landing site trace cases there's another guy been working with for about 30 years he's a government biologist he has recognized some truly amazing phenomena his name is dr yuri simakov he specializes in measuring single cell organisms in the soil at places where witnesses say ufos have sat down
(1:40:33) go ahead and roll this tape the soil treat teams with microscopic life outside these circles inside is just barren uh that's one of the findings but he also was able to find uh something that was pretty amazing at one of these landing sites actually these these items were found at two alleged sites hundreds of miles apart years removed from each other what he found in the soil were these tiny colorful balls or spheres of unknown origin neither simakov nor anyone else could figure out what they were he says they contained the building
(1:41:07) blocks of life and that when placed in water they opened up like seed pods we joked that they were like cosmic sperm and i'll tell you about smuggling half the world's supply of cosmic sperm through customs sometime [Laughter] harry is talking about some of the microscopes single cell organisms simply leave the sites they disappear they don't die it's as if they were forced to leave the sites we also experimented with insects insects have different receptors than we do i suspect insects can feel fields not known to us
(1:41:43) or fields that are slightly varied when we placed flies in a dish and put the dish over the landing site the flies went wild buzzing and flying around the balls i can't find any evidence of their existence in any printed material they may be formed as a result of transmutation when oxygen was transformed into sodium under the influence of the ufo or maybe they are containers to carry life from one planet to another still the objects are not known one more thing at the spots where i found the balls the flies we used in our experiments not
(1:42:21) only went wild but were killed and mosquitoes could be found outside the landing site but not inside i did get he gave me half the world's known supply of cosmic sperm and we brought it back and i've had a series of tests done on it and over the course of the years i still can't tell you what it is um it doesn't open up like seed pods we couldn't get the one plant pathology lab to to duplicate that dr w c levin good if you know him from crop circle research he's taken a look at them and he says they are whatever they are

spheres that are made like that on earth here are used in as chemical catalysts i was told but he can't figure out he says if somebody made them and i don't know how the heck they did
(1:43:16) if somebody made them they had to have a very good reason could be very expensive and very difficult to do it and why it was out in the middle of kazakhstan in the middle of dirt piles outside of moscow and the soil samples no one can answer i know i'm going kind of fast on this but i wanted to cover one more point the question of other roswells and other crashes those things those kinds of stories had been floating around for a number of years you want to switch tapes to the next one uh in russia as well as in
(1:43:42) america uh we heard several of them but the the best one was in a place called down the gorsk uh on the other side of russia where it took a nine and a half hour flight to get there which it was an adventure in itself and this is a report that i produced when i got back that sort of showed what we found leaving three people dead we'll tell you what happened and our own george knapp goes to russia in search of ufos [Music] it's the loudest tease anyone's ever been argued for years about the roswell incident where a supposed flying saucer
(1:44:24) crashed in new mexico now they have something new to debate the russian roswell george knapp investigated the case during his recent trip to russia from the port city of vladivostok an aging helicopter took us to the even more remote town of del negorsk known for its mines its chemical plants and the crash on hill 6-1-1 in january 1986 hundreds of witnesses saw a round red glowing object before and during the crash it flew parallel to the mountains they say then plunged into the ground repeatedly bouncing up and down
(1:44:59) valerie de joni of the russian academy of sciences was the first to reach the crash site on the rocks and trees he found metal fragments unlike those of any meteorite under examination the debris revealed the complex pattern of netting most of the material was sent to academy institutes for analysis the debris included several rare earth elements but no trace of sulfur or phosphorus used in normal industrial processes the journey also found that flint at the crash site had somehow been magnetized something as likely as magnetizing brick
(1:45:29) he says his team report concluded outrageously the object was not made on earth the prevailing view among skeptics is that the object was a secret russian satellite however the 11 institutes which studied the debris have never formally released their findings or the material military sources including this lieutenant colonel say there are no records indicating it was a russian satellite de june also notes that no one from the government ever came looking for their lost satellite although the kgb office in delmagours
(1:45:59) did inquire about subsequent ufo sightings dozens of ufos were seen in the weeks and months after the crash objects which flashed spotlights toward the ground as if searching for something most residents saw them and the general in charge of the russian air force in the region said on television his forces had tracked some of the objects on radar as in the u.
(1:46:20) s there have been other debatable crash reports in russia but none with hundreds of living eyewitnesses and none with several pounds of unusual material george knapp channel 8 eyewitness news this is a note of protocol i told you it was a nine and a half hour flight from moscow to vladivostok the most crime-ridden city in all of russia we flew out in the same storm system that uh killed ron brown the secretary of commerce uh hundreds of miles down to the south but it was it's a complete white out and it was just nuts nine and a half hours they
(1:47:24) and uh and all the doors were open for us and people were openly speaking about this and in 96 without anyone telling them it seemed like the pendulum had swung the other way and uh and people were without any formal orders and people were clamming up about ufos or or they were singing a different tune you know when we were there in 96 boris yeltsin was when we first got there he was 20 points behind in the polls uh to accom to his opponent people were concerned the communists might return to power so maybe their reluctance to get into (1:47:55) any kind of uh stew was understandable boris yeltsin won but his health and his grip on power are are very tentative so that window of opportunity remains stuck i i think what we learned though is governments do know about ufos uh they are interested in them they do share information they do cooperate in a cover-up probably out of their own desire for self-preservation we know they're lying to us we know that the russian government is lying to the russians and the british government is lying to the british and the american government is lying to (1:48:25) us and we look forward to the day when they publicly admit it but i wouldn't hold our breath i i would just caution you if i could say we learned anything here i hope i've imparted is that with this wild and wacky topic you got to be skeptical you have to be skeptical but try to keep at least an open mind and a healthy kind of skepticism and don't throw out the baby with the bathwater thanks very much for having me [Applause] [Music] here [Music] you

(00:42) [Applause] thank you
(02:26) i we're thrilled to be here my wife anna say hi anna um i don't know if you heard this story but our our luggage has become a ufo we know we know our suitcases were objects we know they were flying at some point and we know their uh their their whereabouts are unknown at this time so we went and got got some clothes i promise we did take showers and we did brush our teeth so we're not dangerous anymore um i know the a couple of things about denmark i didn't know a whole lot but i knew a couple of things that the the (02:58) most important uh people to know were the berg family yarlsberg and carlsberg and and maybe their their cousin the two bergs um but actually the the one thing i did not know about denmark previously that i have learned in the 24 hours we've been here is about the most powerful the most intimidating force in this city of copenhagen and that is i mean more fearsome than the cia more fearsome than the men in black and that's the bicycle mafia be afraid be very afraid you know because these guys they're they all seem perpetually angry and they
(03:35) will run you down and not look back i'm hoping we escape unscathed here i thought uh today we would have some fun and uh and i would share with you sort of my journey along chasing this ufo mystery bob lazar area 51 in particular some of the stories and adventures that adventures in saucer land i guess you could call it how i got sucked into this topic and why i've become hooked on it permanently and some of the interesting people and and uh adventures we've had along the way and share with you my perspective not only
(04:10) as a as a man who's interested in this topic but also as a reporter as a journalist because i find myself increasingly at odds with the other people in my profession i think the segway from what we heard from robbie is seamless in that a lot of what we know about area 51 and ufos comes from hollywood instead of from journalists people who are in my profession the people who should be telling this story are news people around the world us and here but they aren't they aren't doing it and why they are doing it is something
(04:43) that we'll explore today so let's get right to it the the story that we're here to review today is sort of traveled all over the world many times and i know in some ways that it sounds preposterous on its face the idea that some slightly off-kilter nerdish guy in glasses could be hired into a classified program even though his educational credentials are practically non-existent his work history is sketchy at best he's been discredited and dismissed by people he worked with and for there is no way that this guy should (05:19) ever be allowed access to top secret materials or to classified files no way let alone that he would be able to blow the whistle on some of the deepest darkest secrets of all time and yet if we press number one i think you will recognize this guy's face snowden you thought i was talking about bob lazar right we know that edward snowden really did work for the cia in the nsa even though he had no college degrees even though he dropped out of high school he dropped out of the military he was working as a security guard (05:52) right before he was hired by the cia and then later the nsa private contractors for the nsa he was able to access the most sensitive information in the u s government which he subsequently and promptly leaked it's run number two i am here to talk about another slightly nerdish whistleblower a guy named bob lazar is it fair to compare bob lazar and edward snowden i think it is and i'll take you through this twisted tale step by step and you can tell me if this comparison is valid or not both of these guys worked on classified (06:24) projects for spooky agencies both presumably were not qualified to be in their positions and so a lot of people have doubts about them as a result their personal lives were spotty their educational credentials were questionable both were very bright guys whose lack of former credentials was not an impediment to getting work in places that seemingly should be off limits to them i think bob lazar's story the one you're about to hear demonstrate that those three letter agencies that we talk about in ufo gatherings like this will hire

(06:56) anyone if it means there's a better chance of getting the job done uh it's the same reason that the cia came to my hometown las vegas to hire mafia guys to help kill fidel castro because those are the guys who could get the job done that really happened it's why deals were cut with the cia and the dea and various drug cartels over the years or why we had on the government payroll the u.
(07:20) s government payroll these scumbag dictators like manuel noriega or saddam hussein it's why journalists and entertainers have been recruited over the decades i mean these agencies do what they need to do to get the job done they will make a deal with the devil if that's what it takes and i think that relates directly to the story of bob lazar that we're going to hear it's now 25 years since i got sucked into this world of area 51 and flying saucers and bob lazar november next month will mark the 25th
(07:51) anniversary of when we went public with bob's identity and i'll tell you some stories as we go along but right up until the minute when i revealed his name and showed his face for the first time bob was grabbing the videotape i mean ten minutes before he went on the air um trying to grab that tape because he had changed his mind he is the most as you will hear he's if he's the ufo messiah he's the most reluctant messiah you're ever going to hear about um i had no idea of course when i started this thing that 25 years later
(08:22) the story would still be going that people would still be asking questions about it that it would travel all over the world many times over you know i was pretty sure at the time it was going to change bob's life there was no question about that and i guess it would probably cause at least some kind of fleeting interest in the time in the base itself in area 51 the one that with no name the one with many names but i had no idea that this was going to change my life so dramatically as well and it has i mean i'm here i'm speaking
(08:52) to an audience in in copenhagen about area 51 and it's a long way from home it's just an amazing little journey since the theme of this gathering is sort of about ufos and the media i thought i would explore with you how this story has spread uh how it became sort of a transcendent meme uh the way in which this story has spread i think by itself that mechanism would be of interest to those three letter agencies intelligence agencies and and how this thing goes around the planet and also to sociologists you know
(09:27) certainly to academics who study media information theory it has been uh kind of astonishing at least from my end and i've had a pretty good seat i started as a journalist in las vegas back in 1991 excuse me 81 and i work mostly in television but i've also done print and as i mentioned in the introduction i do some radio here and there and over the years i think i've probably covered just about every kind of news story you could imagine in las vegas what you would expect a las vegas reporter to cover
(09:57) organized crime political corruption sex scandals a celebrity goofballs environmental catastrophes drought the foreclosure crisis drug dealers gun runners murders bikers fires stick ups pot dealers crack peddlers scams rip-offs scumbags boneheads and butch cassidy and the sundance kid i covered it all along the way and some of those stories i've broken have been pretty good some of them not so good and in my hometown at least i'm considered a pretty good reporter or at least i was all that kind of changed in 1989
(10:31) when i became the ufo guy i'm sure this is true for most of you who are here in this room because in your family in your circles you're the ufo guy or gal right if there's a ufo sighting in in norway or something and it makes it into the paper people in your family crazy uncle bob or something comes and asks you about what you think about the ufo story we're all the ufo people so you're going to be able to relate to some of the things i'm going to tell you about here um i am the area 51

guy i'm the ufo guy
(11:01) in my community it's as if it's tattooed on my butt i'm sure it'll be mentioned when i die that's going to be right there in the obituary in describing what i did in my life is that i was the ufo guy in area 51. i mean not a day goes by when i don't get emails from ecuador or iceland or somewhere in between about a ufo sighting or a flying saucer event everywhere i go in las vegas and my wife can tell you about this we get stopped and people want to talk about ufos we're sitting and having (11:30) dinner people come up and slide into the booth and they want to tell me their story and um you know that that's okay to some extent and i understand it and they want to ask the same question uh what do i really think about ufos well the reality is they don't want my opinion about ufos they want to tell me their ufo story because they've everybody's got one so it's at restaurants i'm in a grocery store uh in a bar standing in a urinal at a men's room people want to tell me about the ufo
(11:58) stories that's a real thing hey do you really believe that stuff and i'm okay with that but for some reason it drives my colleagues and journalism crazy it just drives them nuts they don't know how to handle it the general public seems deeply interested in this subject and every time we do a ufo story or some kind of series on television the ratings spike they go up it indicates the public is hungry for reliable information on this topic and yet other journalists who presumably should be you know servicing the needs and the interests of (12:29) the of the public don't want to touch it and it's just really strange i mean it's a great subject potentially the biggest story in the history of the planet and even if it weren't true even if this was some kind of a mass hallucination long term it would still be a huge story plus from my perspective as a journalist it's a hell of a lot of fun to chase this around i get to come to copenhagen for example i mean but to my colleagues the folks in this room all of us myself included are ufo buffs ufo believers ufo crazies
(13:03) i mean it's subtle terms like that that they use in their stories ufo buffs and believers it's tools that are used by journalists to sort of put ufo folks in their place uh you know those who don't believe the subject matter is legitimate they're called skeptics or scientists but the rest of us are buffs and believers i never thought of myself as a buff or believer i'm not the ufo reporter i'm a journalist i'm a reporter who happens to be interested in ufos and there's there's a distinct difference there i
(13:34) think it's a legitimate news story and as i said this has driven my colleagues in journalism really crazy um 1989 as i said is the year that i officially went nuts uh because that's when we broke the story about bob lazar and area 51 and and when i had broken those other stories i mentioned you know i'm just a reporter when i talk about ufos in area 51 i'm crazy i'm a fruitcake at least in the eyes of my colleagues i can't tell you how many times i have been pilloried by radio disc jockeys in the morning
(14:03) when they run out of belch barf and fart jokes or something they'll take a shot at me my friends at nevada's largest newspaper the review journal have had a lot of fun at my expense over the years that one of the first they've done a series of editorial cartoons that i have on my wall at home by the way one of them showed me with a butterfly net chasing a flying saucer that was the first one there was one that had it was called the marshmallow head chronicles and it was two extraterrestrial hitmen had come to (14:34) earth and they had their ray guns here they were coming to kill me because i'd spilled these ufo secrets but they're standing looking at a at two gasoline pumps and the one guy says the other of course they are earth men but which one is george knapp um i think they're making fun of maybe my stout figure or something like that i had done a uh series of reports about alleged alien abductions and you know the medical procedures that come along with that the abductees talk about and the uh the review journal had a (15:01) column they called it the headline was they were kidnapped by extraterrestrials and they they talked about the medical procedures and they dubbed me a grand mullah in the church of cosmic proctology which i thought that was funny the newspaper critic he was writing a story about how people were rushing at home at night to see my stories about ufos the second series that we ever did he said that they were rushing home not because they care about flying saucers but because they wanted to be there quote when george finally goes bull

and rolling free in their soccer sockets will he crash and burn before our very eyes that was in our newspaper funny stuff i figure it comes with a territory i'm a public figure i'm not thin skinned about it i'm okay with it because i know the public's okay with it i don't write stories for them to be read by other journalists i write them for the public to read and this is a subject that the public is interested in the part that bothers me (16:02) and since we are talking about ufos and media the part that bothers me is that reporters and columnists other journalists are so willing to write this story off to dismiss it to make fun of it to poke fun at you and me and anybody else who's interested in it without doing any of the work they do the wise cracks because it's easy and they don't do the work uh if they've certainly never spent hundreds of hours sitting out there in the dark in the dust of the desert around area 51 waiting for something to happen trying (16:31) to dodge these security patrols and coyotes and dust devils things of that sort trying to keep from getting arrested or busted by the helicopters or out there they haven't read the books they haven't read the documents they had haven't interviewed the witnesses none of the stuff that you would do in any other kind of story that's your job is to do that kind of stuff before you make a judgment about a particular topic or the credibility of a witness or something like that and i'm sure many of you feel the same
(16:56) way i don't know what the coverage is like here in denmark pia was telling me you don't get a whole lot of serious media coverage but maybe that can change they see all of us in this room as nuts and and while i think that is terribly unfair and inaccurate in the general sense the fact is and you know it as well as i do that this subject does attract a lot of people whose elevator doesn't go all the way to the top floor you know um for the past couple of weeks i've been getting emails from this lady in california who
(17:27) uh wants me to contact the former director of the cia admiral james woolsey she wants him to stop harassing her via electronic mind control she's woolsey she says has been forcing her to have sex with a large contingent of asian men who she doesn't know so she's been banging these asian guys and she's blaming the cia guy and wants me to see if i can get him to stop it i'm not sure i can help her out when i first got started in this uh did the first series on the ufo stuff in area 51 i get contacted by this lady
(18:00) she's calling me up every day gotta talk to me gotta see me in person can't discuss this uh on the phone she had to see me i'm fine i finally relented she shows up at the station she's wearing the skimpiest possible halter top and holding this kid who it turns out of course is an alien hybrid baby and within the first five minutes i met this lady i knew details about her sex life that i didn't want to hear because she said it was while she was engaged in a certain sex act with her boyfriend
(18:27) out on their front porch that she looked up and saw her first flying saucer and she told me this allow and i'm not making up one word of this she told me this elaborate story about how they had beamed her up on the ship she'd been up there a couple of times and the first time she was up there she was in a lineup with other earth women and they looked looked her over and they told her you know in our they had them in bathing suits like a miss america pageant or something and they told her in their alien opinion that she didn't (18:54) needed to get breast implants and again i'm not making this up and that was the one part of the story i could really believe because there was ample physical evidence staring me in the face right there um i get these letters from a 75 year old woman in northern california she says she has these sexual romps with aliens every time her husband leaves for town they live on a ranch every time he leaves the aliens come and have their way with her and she even drew me and anatomically correct picture of what alien genitalia looked (19:27) like now you want to you want to open up that on an empty stomach in the morning it's not something i i have been pestered by a millionaire transsexual abductee by a guy who says he's the twin brother of jesus christ who says aliens are coming and they're really mad uh i had a guy fly from australia one time used he said he used the last money he had in his bank account to fly to see me and to see if i would go to area 51 and use my contacts out there to tell the aliens to stop abducting him that's a sad (19:58) that's a sad story that's funny but it's sad at the same time because that guy really thought he was being abducted and he thought i could possibly help him talk to some aliens out of area 51. i had this guy who contacted me and i don't know how i got sucked into going to his house but he convinced me that he had worked for the military he had some ufo information he says i communicate with the aliens on a regular basis and he showed me the device and it was it we went out into his backyard and it (20:24) was a a bird bath with an old record rack on top and a headlight from a car that was just sitting there like it was not connected anything that this guy said that was his device for uh communicating with aliens i get uh letters from alleged aliens that tell me they're watching me i get them sending me poems and songs i've had assorted death threats over the years from people who say that they say that they're the government and they're going to get me they say i'm the government uh they think i'm an agent i mean i've (20:54) been around the block on this i went on the montel williams tv talk show one time but just somebody just sent us a copy of it and there was a people on there it wasn't just abductees they were abductees who had been aliens in a previous lifetime and i'm supposed to follow that um you know so it it let's roll some video the next one the area 51 video it kind of comes with the territory so um for major media you know that's all they see is people like that they never get beyond the obvious they never start to look at (21:25) area 51 legitimacy you can turn the video down i mean the audio down the legitimacy of whether there's a real story there or not um so i i think it's really their loss because they're missing the boat this is a story that got out anyway area 51 as mentioned it's known all over the world now it's created an oxymoron of sorts of the highest order the world's best known secret base how can you be so well known and secret at the same time it's kind of odd it's a place that is famous for being (21:55) secret uh and for decades for decades the government has pretended it wasn't there it's their own fault area 51 you know this uh most classified military technology in america's arsenal has been tested out there it's a place where constitutional protections legal protections do not apply it's a place where environmental laws in our country are exempted it's where you can be shot just for walking into the place area 51 also known as the box the ranch the watertown strip and dreamland it's the base that began in 1955. uh

(22:31) it's the place where the u2 that's the the camo dudes that set up on the on the on the uh hill if you try to walk up to area 51 they're the ones that come and grab you and they have cameras all over the security is really oppressive uh they if you get too close they'll fly helicopters jets all kinds of things at you they have they have motion detectors 12 15 miles away from the base out on public land that will let them know if your car drives down that road they know you're coming so they can get ready
(23:00) they have all kinds of sophisticated technology uh to to tell them when somebody is trying to get in i bet all kinds of people offer to hey let's sneak in there and i thought that's a really bad idea well look let's get a whole bunch of winnebagos and we'll go driving across the border and they can't stop all of us yes yes they can and uh so i've i've tried to talk them out of that stuff um you know area 51 even without bob lazar is a pretty interesting place the u2 the sr-71 stealth technology all manner
(23:30) of cia monkey business has been taking place out there over the years it's a fascinating place but the history of area 51 and the history of my my own personal history all changed a day and it was 1987 two years before bob lazar a guy named john lear walked into the tv station and told me a story and lear had a certain amount of credibility at cal es his father of course had invented the lear jet john had run for the state senate he was an ex-cia employee who had flown basically every aircraft in the world and he had helped us break a really big (24:03) story my boss was a guy named ned day who is a a muckraking crusading journalist in in nevada he's dead now but at the time he had broken the story it was a huge story about the existence of the stealth fighter john lear would go out to area 51 look around take photos like these and he knew that something like a stealth fighter was flying around out there so he and his buddy jim goodall told ned day ned day breaks the story it goes national it goes international about the existence of the strange technology out there (24:36) ned gets pulled in by the fbi they hauled him in and put a bright light it was like right out of the movie scene how dare you endanger national security don't you know this puts everyone in the country at risk and the russians are going to find out all this stuff he was really worried that he was going to go to prison for a while and of course his ultimate answer to them was look you may have thought you had a secret out there with this technology but if i as a reporter can find it out

then certainly the russians can find it out (25:02) so i did you a favor anyway john lear gave us that information about stealth technology so he had credibility with us he walked into the station with a big stack of ufo documents and dropped them on ned's desk and ned said look i'm not interested in this i can't do this story if it was true that there's ufos or flying saucers at area 51 i'd already know about it so it can't be true so he gave john the brush off i was eavesdropping as good reporters tend to do and i said hey let me take a look at (25:30) that stuff so i started reading his pile of ufo documents it included the mj12 papers and some other things citing reports from oh these are some of the spy planes that have been tested out of area 51. this video had been classified for a long time but they finally released it decades later um anyway so i started reading john's stuff and um i thought well that's kind of interesting and at the time i produced a show called on the record it's a little public affairs program it airs at six o'clock in the morning and nobody
(25:59) watches it normally it'd be a show that you'd have somebody that's the a12 which was also developed out there and that's footage from area 51. um anyway so we have john lear uh on on the record this show that i did that nobody normally watches and the phone starts rigging off the hook and so i had him on a second time and i got an even bigger response from the public and i thought hey this is kind of interesting maybe i'm going to have to look into this ufo topic so i started reading it everything
(26:25) i could get my hands on and i figured this is how cocky i was at the time i figured well what the heck you know what this topic needs is a good reporter give me six months i'll have this baby all figured out you know i'll have this mystery solved and here it is 27 years later and i still have no idea what's going on um so that's how i sort of got sucked into it john lear did give me this information i read it i find it's interesting the third time i had john on this program he slipped a hint that he knew a
(26:56) guy who'd just been hired at area 51. don't want to say too much about it but if this goes public if he goes public with the information it's going to blow the lid off this story i thought well i'm going to keep that in mind well the guy that he knew turned out to be bob lazar i'll skip some of the steps about how we we ended up meeting let's play a little clip of the lazar the 25th just sort of give us a recap of the story i don't know sometimes i really do regret it regard it and almost (27:23) i i almost feel like apologizing to him saying that you know i'm sorry i let things out can i have my job back 25 years after he was forever transformed into bob the ufo guy bob lazar says he regrets ever talking about flying saucers or a secret base in the nevada desert or any of the things that made his name known all over the world there isn't a day i don't get emails and you know i try and get this across to him look i don't even want to talk about it anymore you know well i don't believe
(27:52) the story great pass it around you know i really don't want you to because it makes life difficult for me a quarter century ago not many people outside of nevada had ever heard of area 51 the mysterious base 100 miles north of las vegas a place the government said didn't exist it was the location of choice for all manner of black projects spy planes that were kept secret from the public and that's my driveway that's bob that's gene huff and bob's wife tracy and chris and we're just waiting there for five
(28:26) o'clock to roll around former c.i.a pilot john leer remembers the day that area 51 became a household name this is home video he shot as a klas news truck prepared to broadcast a live interview from lear's home lazar was understandably nervous yeah he was nervous because he was putting it all out on the line there and here he was going to you know reveal all this secret that he'd signed you know that he was going to never tell anybody it's not only a crime against the american people in the interview
(28:59) lazar's face was hidden and he used a pseudonym dennis which was the first name of his boss out in the desert well there's several uh actually nine flying saucers are claimed he worked intermittently at a location called s4 south of groom lake the main facility of area 51. he said the hangars had been built into the side of a mountain disguised as desert and inside were a set of nine flying saucers months later he revealed his identity to the world and said the technology he'd worked on was from somewhere (29:33) else that it was being taken apart to figure out how it worked okay so he says he told us man i remember that day so clearly in may of 1989 we put him on the air i had not interviewed him before uh we had somebody cancel an interview a live interview for our five o'clock news when i was anchoring there and we said well maybe that saucer guy would do it so we put him on and the phone went crazy people could not believe that my bosses go rushing in is this guy for real and my news director and i bob bob stodol (30:04) said gosh if this story is true if we can verify at least some of it it's going to be gigantic so we started a project i spent the next eight months working on trying to verify lazar's background and any other details that we could come up with about area 51. we had heard rumors about something that looked like flying saucers being tested out there for a long time yet no one had ever come forward until bob um so he said there's nine flying saucers into the built into the hangar and the side of the mountain the facility known

(30:35) as s4 he said that he saw one of these things that was in flight he called it the sport model and it looked like you saw the uh the artwork there it's looked like what uh billy meyer's beam ships like the the sport model they called it he said that uh anti-matter reactor would create its own gravitational field uh that gravity was in fact the key to interstellar travel that it allowed one of these spaceships that generates its own gravitational field it could bend space and time which is what a lot of people jacques valet and
(31:06) others have said it looks like how these flying saucers get around the fuel lazar said was something called element 115 a super heavy element that did not exist at the time but does now i mean it's preposterous stuff it's outrageous it's ridiculous who in the world could believe such a story coming from a guy with a sketchy background like bob it turns out quite a few people believed it because the story exploded like a bomb i mean it launched thousands of product lines made untold numbers of media appearances possible
(31:40) the meme was on the loose let's play this next one area 51. you could have just handed me a piece of the ufo from area 51. there's never been any spacecraft there's no area 51. there's no recovered spaceship oh excuse me mr president that's not entirely accurate it would probably take an indiana jone-sized warehouse to stash all the pop culture references to area 51 the oh so secret facility the place that did not officially exist for decades is the rock star of military bases literally there's a rock band named area 51 and (32:21) another named element 115 which is supposedly the fuel for flying saucers there's an area 51 video game an area 51 bar what better way to unwind after a long day than a glass of groom lake red wine from the ailey inn maybe spend a few minutes staring at the paintings you picked up at the area 51 art show while perhaps listening to the bob lazar music video the story that bob lazar told 25 years ago has gone around the world many times over when you get yourself in position and in the quarter century since then the world
(32:57) has beaten a path to area 51's door every major news organization in the world has written stories the base has inspired documentaries and tv dramas dozens of books have been written fiction and nonfiction hundreds of news articles many of them critical of lazar and skeptical about his background his tale launched a thousand product lines every trinket you can imagine along with assorted businesses a aaa baseball team and the world's only extraterrestrial highway running right past the entrance to groom lake
(33:32) president obama recently made a point of publicly acknowledging area 51. what's really going on at area 51. and former president bill clinton told jimmy kimmel he'd looked into those stories about space healing so first i had people go look at the records on area 51 to make sure there was no alien down there even the kardashians have made a trek out into the desert that's a security guard look how that that uh you know that story moved throughout the internet so quickly and not just the internet but but news
(34:01) in itself like was in the first 48 hours after the broadcast it was in japan back in las vegas for a visit lazar recalls why he came forward in the first place he had traveled to the s4 base only a handful of times but began to get scared i began to get worried in that while they've given me all this classified information they're not calling me anymore they won't take my phone calls in the meantime apparently they're deciding what to do with me look at it for a variety of personal reasons lazar couldn't keep (34:34) the story to himself he shared his tale with john lear and gene huff they and a few others made treks out to the outskirts of s4 because lazar said he'd learned when the test flights of the saucer would take place three weeks in a row a glowing object appeared over the mountain look how bright it's getting look at it now and just a few minutes ago we saw one of the government uh extraterrestrial ufos the time when bob said there would be a test there was a strange light jumping around in the sky above the location where he said it

(35:05) would be at the time and date he said it would be you know here the craft took off when i said it was taking off from past the the mountain range which was papoose lake s4 south of area 51 you know in a restricted area so it's not like anyone was out there with a model plane or anything and uh you know flew around in incredible maneuvers and impressed everybody to the point where we got scared and got behind a car fearing the thing was going to explode but um really how do you explain that right right now i can't tell you how many times i wish
(35:39) gosh shouldn't i have copyrighted a piece of that or something the wife reminds me quite a few times with the thousands of products and books and tv shows and and things of that sort the references to area 51 that have gone everywhere robbie mentioned about the movies and the idea of hyper reality and that is so true i can remember being there was a special screening of the movie independence day and i had already been reporting on area 51 for 10 years you know pounding away at these stories in ufo circles that had gone everywhere
(36:09) but it was still sort of filtering out to the general public and we had the special screening of the movie and there's that scene where the secretary of defense says ah mr president yeah there really is an area 51. and people in the audience are going see i told you it was real i was like i've been reporting on this for years now now it took a movie to tell you it's real that there really is a place called area 51.
(36:30) uh by the way as a side note i told pea i was bringing some stuff along it it's in the bags it in the baggage wherever that is but some some uh trinkets and souvenirs from area 51. i got an a little alien christmas ornament with an alien on it a couple of hats from the area 51 museum which is the atomic testing museum it's got a room full of stuff about half of it from my house the area 51 baseball team we got a hat from that an area 51 cookbook anyway i'm dead donating it to your organization if you want to bid on it maybe it'll make (37:04) some money or something like that um you know i was thrilled with some of this stuff that president clinton spoke publicly about area 51 president obama spoke about it well he did that by the way if you'll recall while he was honoring shirley maclaine which seemed kind of somehow fitting but i was a little bit worried when i saw the kardashians heading to area 51.
(37:24) in the tv business there's a phrase known as jumping the shark when a show has gone too far uh to be credible anymore uh that's what we call it jumping the shark and i don't know if the kardashians may have jumped the shark from the first stop but when they started going to area 51 i thought this has gone too far you saw at the end of that video clip this original footage of a saucer test flight that lazar and jean huff and john lear and others had witnessed not once not twice but three weeks in a row
(37:53) lazar knew when these test flights would take place he knew where they would take place there had been no news stories about it no coverage uh in anywhere officially and to this day the story is there is nothing at papua's lake there's never been a facility there even though satellite photos show a road that goes down there and uh there's no base there's no facility there's nothing but a dry lake bed at papua's so how did bob know how did he know this stuff it's one of the points we're going to (38:22) come back to play this next little clip of this this a little bit better look at that saucer that's a freeze frame uh there's some enhancement that was done that's that's the object that was flying above papoose lake and i don't know it looks like a flying saucer to me uh over the years dozens of people have captured their own images of things flying around out there there's a classic sombrero shaped ufo that was flying around out there weird lights now some of these things like everything
(38:50) else they're misidentifications they're military planes secret aircraft secret platforms of one sort or another but a heck of a lot of them look like flying saucers and if we've been flying them out there since the 1950s which is how long people have been seeing seeing them if it's a classified project when do we get a look when did they declassify it when they roll it out of the hangar last year i don't know if you read this story here if it got much publicity but the cia formally announced last year (39:19) that area 51 exists hooptie freaking do you know area 51 exists we've known that it exists we've got satellite photos we know people who worked out there the

the world has no you can stop it um the world has known about it for a long time so cia goes public with this announcement i'm wondering what are they up to well they they wanted to use it as an explanation to brush away all reports of ufos don't worry i think what the words were remember all those ufos you were seeing in the 50s and 60s that was us hahaha i don't even and (39:53) you know at the same time they acknowledge that the base was real they did something else sneaky they said the real reason that these rumors about flying saucers at area 51 had been started is because people outside the base were seeing weird things flying around and they mistook them for ufos well you know and they they're implying that these are u2's and sr-71 and stealth technology uh it's similar to the earlier cia release that was done a couple of years ago to explain away all ufo sightings that's all us they said it's the agency
(40:25) it's our secret planes and they they made a campaign about it on twitter well it's uh i don't even know where to start with that uh the u2 there's a great big gangly plane that has big long wings it doesn't look like a flying saucer it doesn't hover silently it doesn't fly up and down like this it doesn't land in people's corn fields or backyards it was designed to not be seen at all same for the sr-71 the a-12 the stealth technology those are not flying saucers this is suggest that people are seeing (40:57) those planes and and that's the cause of the stories in area 51 is ridiculous um more importantly the stories about flying saucers in nevada didn't start because there were people outside the base seeing things flying around they started because people inside the base started leaking the information and one of those people was bob lazar i'm not going to try to convince you beyond any doubt that lazar is telling the truth for most people you know that horse has left the barn you've already made up your mind about
(41:26) it chances are if you're here to hear some of this you probably give him at least some credibility um you know that that legend is galloping around down the road and and around the world and most people have made up their minds as i said i i will give you two thoughts on this though one is that my belief it's a moot point anyway as robbie graham was saying because this area 51 story is now permanently etched into the public consciousness whether anybody likes it or not it's taken on a life of its own (41:55) independent of bob lazar lazar by the way did not work in area 51 although a lot of people say that he was at s4 and and we've already made that distinction earlier this year there was a tour they now take tours out there 851 regular tours if you as a tourist you want to go to las vegas and take a drive out there they'll put you in a vehicle take you right up to the edge of area 51 you can take a couple of snapshots and you go back home earlier this year i aired a story about a tour group they had their driver who
(42:24) was relatively new uh to the job and they're talking they're yacking at him as he's driving up to the gate yeah yeah yeah blah blah blah he blows right through this sign the warning sign that says stop her you will be shot uh he goes right through it and they're driving along and they're wondering hey where's that base you know where's the camo dude shouldn't we be stopping here and all of a sudden bam he's right on on their butt uh pulled them over pulled out guns uh threatened to arrest
(42:50) them they wrote them up big citations the guy can never is never allowed to go back uh so other drivers have to go there but there was a big mess and i helped negotiate the fine downs these people um didn't have to uh dig into their pockets too bad but as the video from that camera show this driver is telling his own reality about you area 51 oh yeah the mothership is often out there hovering over the base and there are secret underground facilities where the aliens they mix up vats of uh human and alien parts and to (43:23) create these hybrids i mean total nonsense totally made up but there's the guy who's official tour guide for area 51 making this stuff up um and it sort of goes to the point that it's taken on a life of its own and we couldn't stop it if we wanted to the second thing i wanted to convey is how we pursued this story as journalists i did not go into this as a lark it wasn't a joke i approached it as a story and i knew there were great risks involved in this because of our credibility our credibility of the whole (43:55) station was on the line if we screwed this up and promoted this guy as uh as some ufo messiah and it blew up on our face we might not ever recover the station's credibility was on the line and i know it looks preposterous from the get-go and that many of our competitors wished it was preposterous but that's not how it's turned out my friend and colleague stan friedman has been outspoken about area 51 and bob lazar he thinks it's possible he buys the idea there could be flying saucers out there but he doesn't buy (44:26) lazar and he's been way out in front i have to give stan credit for doing some of the legwork unlike a lot of bob's critics stan has gone to area to mit and caltech and looked for bob lazar's educational credentials and he found them lacking and i i applaud him for that but because that part of bob's story is weak stan has written the whole thing off which is what a lot of people have done i don't know how to remind i've tried to remind stan about this in person and i've said it in public a (44:57) few times but uh the important thing is with lazar is that the information about his educational background was in the very first story that we aired the very first report that identified him we said we could not verify his background and i'll i will confide to you this i don't believe he ever went to those schools i don't believe bob lazar could get a degree from caltech or mit for a very simple reason at american universities when you get a degree an undergraduate degree you have to take all kinds of core courses in subjects

(45:27) that you may not be interested in literature i cannot possibly imagine an anna you know bob i can't imagine bob lazar sitting through a class in a in american lit or reading poetry or something like that he'd never stand for it there is no way in hell that he sat through that stuff to get a degree so what do we do what do we do with that do we throw out the story uh would but here's how i rationalize it is bob would not be the first person to lie about his educational credentials in order to get a good job
(45:58) as his friend of a long time i've given him the opportunity bob look come come clean on this let me know about uh if it's a lie come clean on it get it behind you and he's never given me that that satisfaction of saying yeah it's a lie he maintains the story i don't know what the true story is whether they could make his records disappear i have found people who said he was at caltech who said that they remember him being on the campus but that's not enough to make the point as far as i'm (46:27) concerned it doesn't matter i don't care whether bob lazar went to caltech the lie the fact that he would lie about it is problematic but i don't think it's a reason to toss out the entire story because people do lie about their background in order to get a great uh a great job the thing with bob is uh he is an interesting guy i know a lot of people think that he's a fraud that he never worked out there uh for me the key was always did he work at los alamos national lab because it seemed to (46:56) me that if he had worked at los alamos in a scientific capability on classified projects then it's conceivable that he would get hired to work at some place else in the nevada desert so we went to los alamos i went there a couple of times i started writing letters to them to see if bob had ever worked there and they said no we have no records of them whatsoever and then i found a headline in the los alamos newspaper that says there's bob lazar as a physicist what about that nope we don't have him he never worked here
(47:24) then i found a phone book from the lab that lists his his name and number there he is uh well we still can't find the res the any records on him so i wrote to a company uh a kirk meyer it's a headhunter company it hires people uh for the lab and fills positions in scientific and technical jobs they had hired bob i called them up and said yeah did you hire him do you have records yeah we've got the records on him we hired him we got him the job at los alamos great can i get a copy of those no problem
(47:53) that was uh that went on for two and a half years where they first said that they would give me the records then they said then they delayed it then they stopped taking my calls all together and then they said quit bothering us someone got to them i mean they had them and then they didn't have them but i became convinced for other reasons that bob was there i talked to people he worked with who said he was there and he worked in classified positions on classified stuff i went to los alamos and bob lazar took us in (48:24) it was on a sunday and we had a camera rolling on it he took us into the gate waves at the guy at the front they let him on it let us in and then he took us into los alamos and it was like a rabbit in his own borough taking us through these buildings uh obscure places waving to people along the way gave us a little tour all of it recorded on video how did he know you know it's the same thing with the uh the flying saucer test you don't believe that that bob uh worked at s4 or area 51 how did he know about the test there had (48:55) been no newspaper stories about it he knew when and where it would take place and the video captured it i interviewed all the people that went with him on those trips and they all verified the story just as he told it how did he know here's some other stuff that he that he knew there was an agency called ofi bob thought it was the fbi i said who did your background check you know when you were getting your security clearance i think it was the fbi it was a guy named mike thigpen i called the fbi up they said we don't (49:24) have any mike mike big ben we'll do background tests come to find out what it was is there was an agency called the of i office of federal investigation i had never heard about it before but sure enough turns out that's the agency that does background checks for people who work at the nevada test site and although area 51 is not part of the nevada test site officially it's attached to it and they do that work and sure enough they have an agent named mike thigpen how did he know how did bob know that a

(49:52) guy named mike thigpen worked for an agency that i had never even heard of before those facts were confirmed um it's it's weird stuff uh that happened during that time period it's hard to convey to an audience sitting in a room like this but it was a strange time to live through break-ins at bob's house they would break into his house leave all the doors and windows open and write stuff on his blackboard or move things around there was a time when he and a friend he was getting really nervous because (50:20) strange things were happening in his life they go to a gym to work out and bob was started carrying a gun somebody had taken a shot at him he had this gun in the glove box locks the car goes into the gym comes back out an hour and a half later the cars to the door are open the windows are rolled down the glove box is open the gun is laying there on the seat it's like somebody wanted him to know he was under surveillance i would he would call me in the middle of the night i might go over to his house rushing over there
(50:47) and he's peeking out the window and i know this will make him sound paranoid peeking out the window holding an uzi because he thought people were messing with him they were messing with him i mean he they threatened to kill him they threatened to make him disappear they were following us around wherever everywhere we went into bars to work uh i had a series of uh phone calls at the station this is really ticks me off people who called up offering to give me additional information about area 51 and i'll get into some of those (51:15) specifics in a minute six people who had called to offer me additional information and said yeah agreed to be interviewed were visited one right after another there was a guy who was a tax preparer his name was roy byram he did tax returns for offices officers at nellis air force base and they got to know him pretty well and they were on an out-of-town trip when they were sitting around drinking some beers and these guys told them about area 51 flying saucers s4 the whole story as told by bob he agrees to tell me that story
(51:50) on the phone the very next day he gets visited these two guys who said they're from the secret service they said we hear you've been issuing threats against the life of the president and we can tell you that if you're talking to the wrong people and saying the wrong things you can go to prison well he saw that as a threat because of him talking to me there was a lady who works in the clark county court system she had been a stenographer a company called holmes and narva it's a defense contractor (52:15) she sat in on meetings at which she took dictation air force guys cia and her boss these contractors when they talked about roswell and the roswell wreckage and some of that material go into area 51. she said after the meeting they would not only take all her notes they would take the ribbon out of the typewriter so that nobody could reconstruct what she had written and so she was she told this story to a cop a police officer who i know and he offered to make an introduction so i called this lady up i said let's get together i'll hide your (52:48) identity don't worry i won't get you in trouble she agreed to tell me this story very next day she gets a knock on the door and these two guys show up they said we're from holmes and narvey you do know that you're still under a security clearance you're still under security restrictions you can't talk to anybody she goes what are you talking about they go we know that you and your daughter your daughter lives in la you live in las vegas and the two of you travel back and forth a lot you know there's a lot of desert (53:13) out there something bad could happen if you were to say the wrong thing they were threatening her daughter's life she was scared to death i tried to get a hold of her 10 years and then 20 years after that that our first conversation she still wouldn't talk to me she was scared i had a guy who was an electrical engineer who had worked at klas tv and he before working there he had been at area 51 and he said he walked into a a big hangar and there under a tarp was something that looked like a flying saucer (53:41) well he was living in seattle at the time that he told me this story and so i i contacted him i said look we're working on a series about ufos would you give me an interview would you do this on camera i'll black out your face he goes yeah sure next morning i mean the very next day there's two guys sitting in a car uh clean military haircuts talking into a radio sitting out in front of his house and they followed him to work and when he got out of work they're sitting there and talking on the radio and they (54:07) followed him home he was scared you knew they were trying to intimidate him and he wouldn't talk to me what that told me six people in a row boom boom boom same thing is that they were listening to my phone and that really ticked me off that they would monitor back there before we had the nsa listening to everybody's phones uh that they were listening to my phone and it really took me off but it was real i had so many people uh if if this story was just about bob lazar we would never have done it but i had more than

(54:38) two dozen people who had worked at area 51 50s 60s 70s and 80s who told me bits and pieces of the same story i had the guy who was a golf pro at nellis air force base who knew all these uh all these uh high-ranking officers who told me the same story about roswell wreckage going to area 51 and saucers being tested and uh he told me that story he's another one who got a visit um there was a guy who his name was glenn pace and back in the days of above-ground nuclear testing in nevada with the most nuked place in the world
(55:11) he was it was his job as a spotter he was one of the only people in nevada testament that was allowed to use binoculars so he'd be out there when they would be planning these atomic tests he'd be in a building sometimes for days at a time waiting for the test to take place and he had these binoculars he was at a place called area 15 which looks right over into area 51.
(55:32) and he said they used to watch these what looked like flying saucers over papua's dry lake all the time his boss was an a german physicist one of the nazi scientists who came over under operation paper clip named otto kraus who told him about alien technology being tested out there i had a guy named howard cannon he was a united states senator from nevada he was a man who practically built area 51 because he would get all the secret appropriations the money that went into building it he was like the father of (56:02) nellis air force base he's a retired brigadier general uh from the air force a decorated war hero he was very good friends with the men who built area 51 the guys from the skunk works lockheed when howard cannon lost his last election they gave him as a going away present the ability to fly in the sr-71 there's only 30 people in the world that are 40 people in the world have ever been in one and he got to fly in it that's how close he was to these guys howard's son alan's a friend of ours had had these conversations with his dad
(56:37) about ufos howard had never the senator had never spoken about it publicly but he finally agreed through his son to tell me the story about area 51. i went over and interviewed him the last interview before he died and he came this close to spilling it all his best friend in the senate was barry goldwater i don't know if you remember that name but goldwater had run for president goldwater had tried to get into wright-patterson the stories about the blue room and he'd been told no you can't get in and you can't ask about it
(57:06) never ask again well howard cannon had the same experience he told me that story before he died he went right up to the edge of saying there's flying saucers at area 51 and then he said this what would be the point of telling that they would deny it they'd call it a lie you're never going to get to see that technology they're never going to let it out so what would be the point howard cannon is a man that i i believe one other source i'll tell you about then we'll move on it's a guy whose name i can't give you (57:33) but there was a book by a lady named annie jacobson about area 51 and it's a tremendous book about the history of all those those secret planes andy jacobson at the end of her book though has a capper where she says she talked to this old guy who said that there were flying saucers out there but they're not alien flying saucers they'd been built by the nazis captured by the russians and what crashed at roswell was a one of these russian nazi uh technology that the the aliens were not aliens they were uh (58:05) refugees from a concentration camp would just look like aliens it's a ridiculous story but i knew immediately that the source of it was a guy that i had stalked i stalked him literally for three years because i knew he was in a position to know he had worked at area 51 in a management capacity and finally i got him to open up he invited me to his house he said you want to talk about the atomic bombs and testing and he's going through his scrapbooks and i'm looking at these pictures of bombs and everything he goes

(58:35) he stops closes the book he goes that's not what you're here to talk about is it i said no not really so i know what you're here for and then he started telling me a story about saucers aliens this is a guy who he's not bob lazar his credentials are not uh questionable he was in the position to know and he laid the story out for me somewhere along the line though he changed it and by the time annie jacobson got a hold of him it was not aliens which by the way he told me that the alien looked like ross perot who was (59:05) a billionaire businessman a little skinny guy with great big ears anyway along the way there are some very real people who had told me bits and pieces of the story it's not just bob let's play one of them this guy named jim goodall uh wrote books about stealth technology he was a friend of john lear did you ever get any information about a facility at papua's like the one he described i have a friend of mine he's a retired senior master sergeant he was early on in the f-117 program and they had full their badge area
(59:40) restricted area badge he can go anywhere in the nevada test site up to it including area 51. so they had a humvee and they drove around the the uh was it groom range yeah grim range and they're on papoose lake there's there isn't there isn't anybody around and all of a sudden they're surrounded by guys in black uh uniforms with their hands on their weapons wanting to know who they were what are you doing here and my buddy said we're just we have some we have some downtime we're just exploring the (1:00:18) area he said you turn around and you leave and don't come back they just kind of popped up out of nowhere he doesn't know where they came from they didn't see any vehicles all of a sudden they were there and he left because there was three or four guys with them they left what do you make of that that there might be something at papua's or was or well according to bob that's where that's where the the nine hangarettes are in this you know camouflages on the side of the mountain uh i'll give you one other thing about
(1:00:48) s4 and papoose there was a guy named jerry friedman he's an archaeologist and you wouldn't think an archaeologist has anything to do with flying saucers jerry freeman was studying the path of the 49ers that was the there was a gold rush of 1849 when thousands of people fled west to try to strike it rich and a lot of them had covered wagons and settlers and they they had a certain path that they followed and jerry freeman was trying to reconstruct the path that the 49ers had taken and he thought that they had gone right
(1:01:18) straight across the nevada test site and in fact had been at papua's lake so what he did was very bold of him he infiltrated the test site from going west to east and walked all the way across it dodged security patrols he would walk uh in the night time and then hide during the day and he made it all the way across let's show that freeman stuff he made it all the way across the test site uh to papoose lake these are pictures that he had set up with an automatic camera that's papoose behind him that's the place where bob lazard said
(1:01:49) he worked so freeman again walking at night and and hiding in the day gets all the way to papua's he finds the evidence he's looking for the 49ers he carved some something into the rocks there but as he's sitting out there at night right at papoose uh it's a sad story by the way he died a doorway opens up he said he's sitting there and a doorway of light opens up in the middle of the sky and things come out people come out objects come out and then it closed up again now he's not a flying saucer guy
(1:02:24) i he walked all the way across across the test site not realizing that that land is still contaminated with all kinds of nuclear fallout and he died to cancer two years after uh his his journey but anyway he gave a little piece that sort of goes along with what jim goodall just said about people coming out of nowhere remember papoose lake where lazar said there's this facility built in the side of the mountain uh does you know there is nothing there officially uh the last piece of information is the some some um a

(1:02:57) ufo guy named james wildermuth i never knew of the guy before he's an european guy here and he sent me these images that he found on google earth normally this would have been cleaned up but somehow he found it you tell me what it looks like anyway he uh he used google earth to take a good hard look at this and he found some lines uh on the side of papoose that looked like exactly what lazar had been describing he puts the he put the pins in there but you can see the thin outline of these lines nine of them nine containers
(1:03:41) a friend of mine was an investigator for congress and he had he had the highest security clearances he thought that something was really going on at area 51 i gave him a briefing and he made them let him in they flew him in a blinding snowstorm to s4 and papoose but they took him to the other side of the facility he got out and looked around his name was dick d'amato he worked for a senator who oversaw the budget and looked around out there and he said this was five years after bob lazar's story came forward
(1:04:10) and um he said there was nothing there but he didn't look in this side and it sure looked like hangar doors to me or at least some lines that indicated that something could be there that's good uh i want to give you a couple of pieces of of what lazar says now because his his views on things have changed quite a bit as you might imagine so many crazy stories have been told about bob over the years that he's running a meth lab that he's got a string of hookers down in south america that he's dead
(1:04:39) once a year somebody comes up with a story that bob is dead it's no wonder that he's tried to leave all this stuff behind him and wants nothing more to do with it it took me a long time to coax him into doing this interview earlier this year to recognize the 25th anniversary i'm hoping to talk him into going on coast to coast maybe in november but i wanted to uh sort of share with you a couple of the pieces the stuff that he is comfortable talking about and that is that the technology the science involved as i mentioned at (1:05:08) the beginning he claims that these craft operate on an anti-gravity sort of mechanism let's play that clip where he talks in detail about that alone is something amazing look that can change everything we know today just having a machine to produce artificial gravity because look look at what that does we know gravity space and time are all tied together there are your shields like on star trek that you know deflect micro meteorites there is your protection from radiation without heavy shielding there is something that with an intense
(1:05:43) enough focused field you can actually bend space and there is something that can actually alter the flow of time i mean that's the missing piece of pie didn't they actually freeze a candle yeah now that's when it was connected to the gravity amplifiers where they could focus it and uh that was they froze a candle yeah they had a they had a candle lit out to set it up for you um again there's a large in the craft itself there are three long pipes um i'd say uh well i don't know about what's that
(1:06:19) three four feet in diameter maybe five feet long anyway they dangle the three of them at the bottom of the craft these produce gravitational waves and they can focus them to a point or spin them apart those are what you call the wave guides yeah okay yeah they're part of the uh power source control mechanism and the uh wave well the wave guide is what i actually call the inner link between them but that that's the gravitational engine um they had one of those devices out along with the subsystem that connects it so
(1:06:58) they can produce the power from the reactor it runs the gravity amplifier and they can focus and change the gravity beam that comes out of it they took they were speaking of berry took a candle put it close to the mouth of it lit a normal flickering candle flame and then activated the reactor the gravity wave came out as expected and the candle flame remained luminous and stopped moving and yeah because like if it's gonna freeze it the photon should stop being emitted if it's gonna you know change the characteristics
(1:07:37) look how can the combustion continue to take place without the convection inside the flame because actually the reason a flame is elongated is not not really because of heat it's because of gravity because gravity pulls down and you know convection moves flames upward it's like in in a zero gravity environment flame is a ball obviously there's nothing to pull things around but anyway if uh like if you negate the gravity around it why is it still pointy how can it still be making light and why doesn't it move
(1:08:15) well i mean he from what barry said it's not just gravity but it's also time locked you've distorted that yeah they essentially froze a piece of time there and i you know what do you say i mean you're it's empirical evidence you're looking at it it's not it's not a see it it doesn't make sense that you could see it and uh look it the stuff i saw there was the most unbelievable literally because it it it defied what what we knew as physics and uh at least i thought it did and maybe what (1:08:52) we knew was a little incorrect and just needed viewing from a different angle um we do know now that research into anti-gravity is at the top of the list of what american tech companies are doing and defense department folks are doing and anti-gravity propulsion is something they want very badly bob said that the key to it was this element 115.

(1:09:16) he had a piece of it i saw it in fact he had a little experiment they did with what's called a cloud chamber where they had it looked to me like light they had a piece of this 115 in this chamber they put some smoke in it and it seemed and then had a beam of light through it and the light bent bob at one point when he thought he was going to die had this piece of 115 in a it was in a lead casing in a disc shaped casing and he had it in front of a particle accelerator in his house and he had the accelerator on and all he
(1:09:49) had to do was flip a button if this stuff was real as he described it flipping that button would hit it with i know it's photo protons electrons whatever it was that would make it explode an annihilation that would have left a great big hole in las vegas and he had that piece i saw the experiment what happened to it uh that's that's a story for another time it's it's in a spot now where nobody could get to it but it's still there one of these days maybe after bob's gone i'll go dig it up as at the time that he told us
(1:10:24) the story about element 115 element 115 did not exist it does exist now it's been synthesized they've made it in a lab it only lasts for micro seconds but it is real they've confirmed that it's now on the element chart and in this piece bob talks about uh 115. they finally did synthesize lm 115 that had the properties that i that i stated um not um but it wasn't stable yeah it wasn't stable uh now each element has isotopes for instance you know let's talk about hydrogen we're all familiar with hydrogen
(1:10:59) hydrogen has three isotopes they're all hydrogen there's hydrogen protium which be the technical name deuterium and tritium well tritium is a radioactive hydrogen deuterium is another stable isotope of hydrogen and regular protein ordinary hydrogen is the hydrogen we all know they're all hydrogen they have different amounts of neutrons in them they all have one proton which makes them hydrogen now this is a true for all elements you can have the amount of protons in them determines what element it is so element
(1:11:38) 115 has a 115 protons in it it's element 115. now depending on the number of neutrons it has it will still be element 115 but it can be any number of isotopes of it we've synthesized 115 we made one isotope we have a radioactive one now they just need to continue on working with it i mean they made just a few atoms but we'll see what other isotopes they come up with one of them or more is going to be stable and it will have the exact properties that i said or could we make it or does it have to be natural as
(1:12:12) you speculated about that well it's natural it'd be difficult to find it to get some usable material i do not think you can make that synthetically it's just it takes too much time i mean to make you know an ounce of it or even a gram would take a tremendous amount of time because not all the interactions are successful i mean you can bang particles together all day long and one may get stuck and then you've got an atom and how do you contain you know this single atom so how do we get 500 pounds of it where'd that come from
(1:12:47) well it had to either be synthesized by the extraterrestrials that bought it in the first place or you know maybe there was a location where they came from where look if this was a naturally occurring material we know that the material in the universe essentially all the atoms of all elements came from hydrogen i mean all you really need is it is just atoms of hydrogen to make anything once they start collecting together large quantities of them gravity just begins to push them together under their own weight it's kind of sort
(1:13:22) of like a rorschach test it's aha they made 115 he was right it really does exist somebody doesn't want to believe it says 115 doesn't behave anything like bob lazar said it's sitting around in a pile of 500 pounds or something right i mean sort of like that what is this right you have to i mean you just have to start accumulating what do you believe it or not and i personally again i prefer you don't believe it um you know just begin accumulating the facts that you can you know you can verify and um

(1:13:54) and really be careful where you get the facts from because if you see documents obtained by someone that you know they say are official i've seen the most ridiculous things on the internet um you know here's uh a report from some government agency going yeah everything bob lazar said is fabricated and we've verified it with the main office in philadelphia and i mean you know just nonsense stuff um you know verify it yourself and if you start adding up all the facts like the people that were with me at the (1:14:26) time you know have an obvious advantage because they knew me before all this stuff happened they knew at the time i didn't even believe in flying saucers or life from other planets i mean to me those were just crazy people that bought into these stories coming to the end here um you know i guess you you say can you could you really keep a secret like that wouldn't it leak out well it has leaked out you know it's it's whether or not you pay attention to it or not that matters one of the guys if there's anybody who
(1:14:58) would know about this being true it's a guy named ben rich who was the head of skunk works which was the lockheed company that built all the blackest projects the sr-71 the u2 stealth all of that ben rich who headed up skunk works for such a long time if anyone in the civilian sector would know it would be him so i asked him about it on the day that they unveiled the stealth fighter at nellis air force base they had it sitting on a tarmac and they invited the media to come in and i was the one of the guys that was
(1:15:30) there that day and so ben rich was available for interviews and i went up and asked him mr rich great to meet you i asked him a couple of questions and then led up to this one you know a lot of people say there's alien technology and stuff you developed and he can stop for a second looks at me and he kind of laughs nope just good old american know-how but before he died ben rich said this in a public uh comment because the reason i'm asking is friends of his had asked about ufos and he said it was real but he said this to an engineering
(1:15:59) audience he said we already have the means to travel among the stars but these technologies are locked up in black projects and it would take an act of god to ever get them out to benefit humanity anything you can imagine we already know how to do it we have the technology to take et home it won't take someone's lifetime to do it we have that capability now to travel to the stars he died a few months after that but he was trying to tell the world something this stuff is real um that what bob has said is real i'll
(1:16:30) end with one last little piece of bob because you know people wonder what goes on in his life there's all those rumors i told you about before and i put him in the question to him in a couple of different ways about whether he would do it again and he goes back and forth basically i think he would say no but here's what he told me back in may but that drives him crazy i mean you need to answer this now i need an answer how much how many times you get that you know in a week still after all oh i get you i get it there isn't a day
(1:16:59) i don't get emails and you know i try and get this across to him look i don't even want to talk about it anymore you know well i don't believe the story great pass it around you know i really don't want you to because it makes life difficult for me i'm trying to do serious research i'm you know i've got contract with governments and other companies for r d work and aside from you know other scientific interests and i want this divorced look if i went and did everything i can to prove my
(1:17:32) story and reached a tipping point for where people like stanton friedman and you know people along those lines um said you know what this is beginning to look factual do you know how that would annihilate me that would destroy my business it would make it impossible for me to operate and you know i'd have a continuous flow of questions annoying people i'm sure offers to do things that i am not the least bit interested in there's got to be part of you somewhere in there even though it would be counterproductive there's (1:18:04) got to be part of you that wishes god damn it i i know what happened it's true no look i know what happened is true there's no doubt period there's there's no delusion and there are some things i can say that that will bolster the case and i'm not going to um it's going to stay that way i do regret at this point bringing anything forward look at the time i'm in my early 20s i went you know what this is a crime against the american people this is just bs and everybody deserves to know what's going (1:18:41) on you know and 25 years goes by you get a little older and your priorities change and you know what they told me is this is a security matter and

really what's the public going to do about this you know how reactionary they are it's there's a bunch of different reasons this is being kept quiet nothing that they'd bother telling me but the bottom line is they're right the bulk of the people are complete morons and i'm sorry maybe they are right and this really should just be just be information that's handled out
(1:19:18) on a on a need to know basis to some people where it would benefit them you know i know you don't like to hear it but there's a lot of people after you're in this field for a long time you kind of come to the same conclusion maybe maybe it doesn't really need to be out i believe in the people's right to know that's my job and so i pursue it in that that vein but you have to wonder whether it's really a good idea or not you know the the pursuit of this story has led me taking me all over the world
(1:19:47) chasing different kind of ufo stuff my views have changed so much from from those days about just thinking of nuts and bolts flying saucers is there a government cover-up i mean this is really as earlier speakers were suggesting it's it's much bigger mystery than than that whether or not flying saucers are coming from other planets or not jacques valet uh my hero in the ufo field i had interviewed him back in these days when he came to investigate lazar and asked me some questions and we've become much closer friends but he said i'm
(1:20:19) going to be so disappointed if it turns out that the answer to the ufo mystery is that aliens are coming from another planet and flying saucers to visit us because he suggests that the the way these uh craft behave the technology they have it suggests that the ultimate answer is so much bigger so much more wondrous than something as simple as that these things that we see in the sky are just a small part of something much bigger you know the universe is far more more mysterious than maybe we can imagine or can imagine then the glimpses
(1:20:52) that we get of these craft are i think part of some much larger learning curve uh the this is about reality itself the nature of the world around us and i get the feeling that we can understand it only a tiny sliver and that its true nature is being withheld from us and maybe is beyond the ability of our small tiny brains to understand but you know we have to try i i think that it is the duty of scientists and journalists to investigate the unexplained not to explain the uninvestigated and thank you very much you

Transcript:
(00:26) hi i'm robert from exopolitics germany with frederick from mexico politics denmark and we're sitting here with george knapp a man who actually wrote ufo history and who's actually a part of you for history himself you created part of ufo history welcome george thank you you're making me sound old well i'm making you the trying to put you in that historical context that you that you actually came up with area 51 you're responsible for setting that term into the world it's not a heavy burden
(00:58) don't you feel a little yeah well it goes it varies between whether i should be blamed for it or accept or be prideful of it i think it's a little bit of both you know i think uh probably the the people out there wish that it had never happened the people who run the base because we've created so many problems for them since those stories first aired in 1989 25 years ago tens of thousands of people have gone out to the base to see whatever it is that's flying around out there every news organization in the world has
(01:28) sent cameras and crews government investigators have gone there it shined a light on government secrecy black projects that had never been made possible before there are those who say maybe the government created these stories that they leaked them to me and i did their bidding because they wanted to focus the focus to be something away from what they really do out there and on ufos which is ridiculous and to those folks i say anyone who had that plan in mind really screwed up because as a result of the ufo stories you know
(02:03) so much attention has been shined on area 51 i'm proud of it i i am i'm proud of it recently you talked to bob lazar again 25 years after uh the main his main story broke out how how how how did that come about again i mean how he's been very reluctant to stepping forward how how did that well you know i think i'm probably the only person in the world the only interviewer who can get bob to do that he's sort of shied away from it he's like to he'd like to leave that chapter of his life behind and (02:34) because of the friendship that we've developed over the years it's harder for him to ignore me so i pestered him about it for quite some time and finally talked him into doing an interview for the 25th anniversary figured if there ever there was going to be a time when he should sit down and talk about it in a contemplative sort of way to think back on what has happened over a quarter century it would be now and bob is sort of of the same mind as i am is that it he's amazed that 25 years later people are still talking

(03:00) about this you know i think we both knew that it was going to change his life when he when he came forward with this information but had no idea it would it would change the world i mean that it would still be a topic of discussion a quarter century later bob lazar is the one who who supposedly worked at area 51 with extraterrestrial craft recovered from the us government trying to rebuild their technologies and what made you think that his story is true in the beginning well first is that just the way it sounds bob has a certain amount of (03:34) credibility i mean he just he doesn't try to uh exaggerate he keeps it i mean it's a fantastic story any way you look at it but uh his story has stayed the same it stayed consistent over the years he never added extra stuff to it that was number one number two is i became convinced that there really was an effort to discredit him to remove some of his records to pretend that he never worked in places where i know he worked i mean we we can go into the details about it but it was pretty clear to me that someone was messing with his (04:02) reputation and thirdly is that if it had only been bob telling this story about things that have been going on at s4 and area 51 chances are we would not have moved forward with the project but the fact is that more than two dozen people have come forward with bits and pieces of the same information people who have worked at area 51 in the 50s 60s 70s and 80s who have told me pretty much the same thing people who have seen saucer-shaped craft out there in hangars saucer-shaped craft flying in the desert being transported people who say that (04:38) what goes on out there is trying to figure out how this technology works so that we construct it reconstruct it with earth materials instead of building something that we came up with the idea for where is the technology from exactly where do they have it from where did they recover it i don't think anybody knows i mean i'm not sure even the people who run that program know bob said that he had read these briefing documents that suggested it was from another planet a planetary system uh zeta reticuli but the fact is he he he (05:10) is suspicious of these reports he thinks that maybe they were telling him something just just to simplify it as opposed to um giving him the actual truth i i'm not quite sure anyone knows where they came from and in on some levels it does not make sense because as he described the craft these weren't shot down these weren't craft that we had shot out of the sky and they're all crumpled up he said they were the ones he saw the minecraft were in as far as he could tell working order they looked solid they weren't in tatters i think
(05:40) there was one of the craft that he said there was a great big hole shot through the middle almost as if they did an experiment to see if art artillery could could blow a hole in these things but the sport model which he saw fly was in perfect working condition it seems like someone just kind of gave them to us who that someone is we don't really know could it could it be that it actually that pablo style was used to to plant actively a story into the public imagination about this i mean that's also a theory is that a
(06:10) possibility and i've talked to bob about that many times over the years in the beginning it was probably kind of sensitive because you know he's got his life on the line his life is in danger at some point and he doesn't like to accept the idea that he was used as a pawn over the years he's opened up to that possibility and we both agree it's possible at some level but as i said to you before if the plan was let's use bob as a pawn to distract attention from something else that's going on at area 51
(06:39) then that plan is a miserable failure because as a result of bob telling the story about the saucers all those people came from all over the world they're still going on out there so if you wanted to fly a secret test aircraft of some sort it's hard to do it because so much attention is focused every single day there are people out there with cameras and binoculars looking in the sky to see what's going on because of bob's story every news organization in the world has been out there

asking questions
(07:06) congressional investigators saying hey what's going on out here how are you spending our money uh you know this is a lot of unwanted attention and i can tell you they're not happy about it because they've told me you know we we used to be followed around these guys would follow us around go to bars and restaurants they'd they'd follow all of us who were involved in in telling that story and a few of those guys years later after they got out of uh working for that those contractors told us that that was their job
(07:34) i would run into them in bars and they told me i was following you around you know they were they were checking us out putting us under under scrutiny and that also is another topic that's a sore spot with us but you know if the plan was to distract attention away from something else out there it was a terrible terrible failure bob accepts the idea that maybe he was used to some extent and i have too that maybe someone some faction inside the government inside the navy wanted to see let's run it up the (08:06) flagpole and see if the public freaks out if they knew that we had alien technology from somewhere else how would the public react and they picked a guy who could be discredited later i mean you look at him he's not the first person you would think would be picked into the most secret program in the world he's a smart guy and he and he thinks unconventionally so in one sense he might be very qualified to come in with a fresh point of view because as bob said the technology had been out there for a while and they (08:35) weren't making progress at all he came in and he gave him a fresh view and helped him gain a better understanding of what they had but he was not the top guy he didn't have a phd he never claimed that so why was he chosen well i think he might have been chosen because he's a guy who could be discredited earlier you let him tell that story and then you pull the rug out from under him you know because he look you look at him you know his his house he would fly a pirate flag over his house uh he raced jet cars have these gigantic
(09:04) jet cars in his in his front yard he liked hookers prostitutes uh he liked machine guns he's a very unconventional guy someone who you got to figure i wouldn't give him a security clearance because he you know you never know when he's going to go off the deep end do something crazy he's rebellious by nature he doesn't like authority he doesn't like taking orders so you think he was given the security clearance in the first place because he was like that i do i do think in that sense he might (09:31) have been the most qualified person in the world for that job he's smart he's technically capable he knows science but he's a guy who could be destroyed in the in an instant if you needed to pull the rug out from under it okay could you summarize for us biggest revelations coming from bob lazar bob lazar says he was hired to work into this program that was under the auspices of the u.
(09:53) s navy and he worked at a facility called s4 south of area 51 and groomed lake and that this facility was built in the side of a mountain that there was a series of hangars nine different hangers built into the side of this mountain designed to look like desert in each one of these hangars was a saucer-like craft a craft that was from somewhere else bob said that he was primarily working on the propulsion system which he said was an anti-gravity propulsion system the fuel is something called element 115 a heavy element
